

Tahoka 3-D Band wins Area contest, to march at State!

The Tahoka High School 3-D Band is having an extraordinary year, and Monday the band is seeking their ultimate title, as they perform in the UIL 1A State Marching Contest. This is only the second time the band has achieved a chance to march in the State competition, according to Director Carroll Rhodes.

"The first time to advance to State was in 2007 when we were 2A but in all actuality the high school was already in 1A numbers. Two years ago we came in fourth at Area but only the top three advanced, but those three were the top three in 1A in the state," said Rhodes.

The Tahoka 3-D Band will leave this Sunday for San Antonio and will perform Monday, November 7, at 10:32 a.m. at the Alamodome. The Drum Major Retreat will be at 11:42 a.m. to find out who advances to finals, which will start at 7 p.m. The Drum Major Retreat for finals will be at the conclusion of both the 1A and 2A bands and will be at approximately 10:30 p.m. For those Tahoka 3-D fans who are unable to come to San Antonio, they can go to www.uiltexas.org for continual updates (click on the Music link, and then click on the 2011 State Marching Contest link).

Tahoka ISD Superintendent Steve Burleson is releasing students and staff from attending school Monday so that fans may follow the band to see them perform at San Antonio. Classes will resume Tuesday morning. "We greatly appreciate

Mr. Burleson and Tahoka ISD for allowing school to be out this Monday so more may attend the Tahoka 3-D Band's performances. The phenomenal crowd support definitely makes a difference in our performance and also puts the judges in a very positive frame of mind. Thank you to each and everyone for their constant support," said Rhodes.

The Tahoka band was one of only four out of 23 bands to qualify for the state contest at last Saturday's Region A UIL 1A Marching Contest at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo. The Tahoka 3-D Band competed against other 1A bands from the four regions of El Paso, Midland/Odessa, Amarillo, and Lubbock for the opportunity to advance to the state marching contest.

"Marching early that morning in the biting cold and gale force wind, the 3-D Band placed fourth in the pre-lims, qualifying for the finals that night which featured the top 10 bands. At the finals, the weather warmed up and the wind died down to just a typical Amarillo 15-20 miles an hour. The 3-D Band stepped it up and placed third and qualified as one of the four to advance to State. The order was Sundown, Sudan, Tahoka, and Canadian. Tahoka was only two points behind Sudan in the rankings," said Rhodes.

"To say we are overjoyed and extremely proud of these outstanding young people who have been willing to sacrifice, to work hard, and to do what was necessary to improve to this level of competition is an understatement," said Rhodes and assistant director Johnathan Smith.

"As usual, our Tahoka fans were amazing with the large number who traveled the 2-1/2 hours to Amarillo to see us perform and stayed through finals. There are no finer fans than Tahoka. The 3-D Band loves you and thanks you from the depths of our hearts," they added.

Fans are encouraged to make the trip to San Antonio for Monday's event.

District Attorney Brian Kingston makes re-election bid official

PAID POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

District Attorney Brian Kingston officially announced Monday his plans to seek re-election as the 106th Judicial District Attorney representing the counties of Garza, Lynn, Dawson and Gaines counties. Republican Kingston was elected District Attorney in November 2008. "My campaign message has not changed: I am a very Hard-working, Fair and Experienced attorney, and I hope to once again earn the vote of the residents of these counties on March 6 and November 6, 2012," stated Kingston.

A resident of Lynn County, Kingston has served as District Attorney since January 2009 and was previously an Assistant District Attorney for more than 14 years in Midland, Lubbock and Travis Counties.

"As a prosecutor of felony cases, I lead my staff to abide strongly by the motto framed in our office lobby (Article 2.01 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedures) which states that our duties are not to convict but to see that justice is done," Kingston said.

"The daily responsibility of the District Attorney is the prosecution of felony crimes such as child abuse, rapes, robberies, murders, weapons violations, drugs, theft, etc. and in training other attorneys in prosecuting felony cases," Kingston said. "Having been actively engaged as a trial lawyer for over 20 years, I love being a part of the courtroom," Kingston added. "I also greatly enjoy teaching others about the law."

Not only has Kingston been active in educating and assisting area law enforcement with law enforcement education, but he also has been an instructor of the law at police academies in Austin and Lubbock, the Sheriff's Academy in Lubbock, The Texas Department of Public Safety, The University of Texas School of Law and the Texas Tech University School of Law.

"I am passionate about representing victims of crime. I am tough on crime, yet I respect the humanity of

Michael Munk announces intent to file for 106th District Attorney

PAID POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Michael Munk of Post is announcing this week his intent to file as a candidate for District Attorney for the 106th Judicial District. Filing opens for the position on Nov. 12. His announcement is as follows:

"My name is Michael Munk and it brings me pleasure to announce that I am running as a Republican candidate for District Attorney for the 106th Judicial District this upcoming March. I have been working as a prosecutor in your district, which includes the counties of Dawson, Gaines, Garza and Lynn, since 2006. During my first year, I worked in Lamesa as a Victim Advocate. After passing the Bar Exam later that year, I continued working for the office as an Assistant District Attorney, eventually becoming promoted to First Assistant, until the end of 2008. In late 2008, I was elected as the Garza County Attorney where I currently hold office. Over the years, I have developed strong relationships with the various law enforcement agencies, friends, and citizens of the district that still exist today. Those that know me can attest to my dependability and selfless commitment to the pursuit of justice.

MICHAEL MUNK

"The Office of District Attorney should be entrusted to an individual that exemplifies integrity, possesses a genuine dedication to justice, and has a proven track record in criminal prosecution. They must be able to administrate a staff of attorneys, while still taking cases to trial themselves. They must delegate as well as execute. Most of all, they must put justice and public service ahead of themselves and be willing and able to be there for your communities for not simply one or two terms, but for many years to come.

"Whether as a victim advocate, felony prosecutor or elected prosecutor, I have made public service in this district my career and my priority. I believe my years of experience have prepared me for the great responsibilities required by this Office and for the challenges that lay ahead in bringing about a positive change to our district. I hope we can make this change together! Please visit my website at www.MUNKforDA.com to learn more about me and the achievements I have already made in your communities. And I respectfully request your vote on March 6."

NATIONWIDE ALERT:
Emergency alert system
nationwide test slated
on TV/radio Nov. 9

On Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 1:00 pm. CST, the Federal Communications Commission will conduct a nationwide test of the Emergency Alert System (EAS). The purpose of this test is to find out if the system will really operate correctly. The test will last approximately 3 minutes.

"While we have all experienced some form of this test locally at one time or another on a radio or television station, this will be the first time that this occurs on radio and TV at the same time," said David Corder, Homeland Security Unit. "The fear is that some folks will only catch a part of it and take it for the real thing," he added.

During the test, the public will hear a message indicating "this is a test." The audio message will be the same for everyone, however due to limitations of the EAS, the video test message may not be the same and may not indicate "this is a test." This is due to the use of a "live" national code - the same code that would be used in an actual emergency. Also, the background image that appears on video screens may indicate "this is a test" but in some cases there may be no image at all.

Toilet bat, printer mouse invade T-Bar Country Club

by JUANELL JONES

Tahoka's T-Bar Country Club golf course has its share of wildlife, with coyotes and skunks, and an occasional deer, common invaders during the night time hours, but this week The Lynn County News staff learned of some more "creative" critters that have plagued secretary Cherry Gandy at the clubhouse recently.

Gandy was trying to use her computer printer when it suddenly quit on her, and when she opened the top of the printer to look inside, a little mouse was peeking right back at her as if to say, "Hey, who opened my door?" The mouse had apparently taken up residence inside the printer, and had chewed through the tasty wires inside.

"We took the printer outside and banged around on it, trying to get mouse out, but he would not come out of there. We finally had to put some De-con poison in the printer to get rid of it," said Gandy.

Gandy had only had the printer six months, so she called the company to see if the warranty would cover the damage. When she asked if the warranty covered "wires chewed up by a mouse that lived in the printer" she was told "probably not" by a skeptical technician.

"I think he thought I was kidding, but I was serious!" said Gandy with a laugh. "When I convinced him that this wasn't a crank call, he said the warranty would not cover that," she said.

Another invader was found hanging on the rim of the toilet in the men's restroom, she discovered when she went to clean the bathroom. When Gandy found a tiny bat hanging from the rim inside the toilet, she slammed the lid shut in a hurry and called one of the golfers inside to help her get rid of the critter.

"We didn't have any gloves, but we had a couple of thick head covers (for golf clubs) that he put on his hands, and he reached in and grabbed the bat. It squealed!" said Gandy with a grimace. "Anyway, he took it outside and released it, and it flew off," she said.

Bulldog basketball season gears up

High school basketball season is gearing up, with the Tahoka Lady Bulldogs already having one scrimmage under their belt (at Slaton on Oct. 29), and another scrimmage set at Slaton on Nov. 5 (see schedule in this issue). The first game of the season is on the road, at Seminole on Nov. 8 for the girls' teams, with the next two games at home, hosting Ropes on Nov. 12 and New Deal on Nov. 15. The girls then play away games throughout November.

Anthony Catherall is the head coach for the Lady Bulldogs.

The boys JV and varsity teams begin their season on Nov. 18 at Slaton, followed by a slew of road games and a couple of tournaments in early December. The first time for the Bulldog boys teams to play at home is a Tahoka JV Tournament Dec. 1-3. The first regular home game for the varsity boys is not until Dec. 13, when Tahoka hosts Bovina.

B.C. Lee is head coach for the Bulldogs.

Early voting ends Friday

Early voting for marking ballots in the Constitutional Amendment Election began Monday, Oct. 24 at the Lynn County Courthouse basement courtroom and continues through Friday, Nov. 4. As of Tuesday morning this week, only 25 ballots had been cast in the county during the early voting period.

The election will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 8 at four polling locations in Lynn County, including the Life Enrichment Center in Tahoka, the Green building in Wilson, O'Donnell High School in O'Donnell, and the Community Center in New Home. Several months ago, Gandy had to call someone to get rid of a swarm of bees that were making their home inside the clubhouse. Armed only with a fly swatter, Gandy sat at her desk looking at hundreds of bees in the room with her until the bees were exterminated a couple of weeks later.

"It's like Wild Kingdom out here sometimes, I guess," says Gandy. "Who knows what's going to show up next?"

ALTHOUGH I once attended school, and even have a college degree stored somewhere around the house, and have been fortunate to have lived quite awhile, I still am frequently startled to realize there are lots of things I don't know.

Just a list of things I don't know would take reams of paper and years to compile, and what makes it worse is that many of those things I don't know have been known by people around me all their lives.

The most recent thing that tipped me off was reading the menu for one day last week at the senior citizens center in Tahoka. The last item on the list was ambrosia, a word I didn't recognize at all.

To me, ambrosia sounds more like a disease than something you eat (perhaps the fear of acting like a yellow-livered coward), so I did a little research and discovered that it is a very sweet cantaloupe, a popular musical group that I never heard of, or the food of Greek Gods.

There is even a business in Lubbock called Ambrosia Catering, which probably doesn't stay too busy if their only customers are Greek Gods, as there are not many of those still around.

I got those definitions from a website called Ask.com, and while I was on the site, I typed in the question, "Did Jesse James ever murder anybody?" The answer which came up was "Jesse James murdered 16 people." This, of course, raised another question, like how do you murder somebody, and is it fatal? Anyway, whoever set up the website murdered the English language.

Not sure it's still on TV, but there used to be a program called "Are You Smarter Than a Fifth Grader?" I never watched it, because I already have enough complexes, but my wife says she did once, and the answer to the question is of course not—any adult who has been out of school for more than a decade can't answer questions about things fifth graders are studying these days. We can still beat most of them arm-wrestling, however.

DON'T FORGET to go vote next Tuesday on the incomprehensible proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution. Good luck trying to figure out from the way the propositions are worded just how you want to vote.

Also, don't forget to stay up and set your clocks back an hour at 2 a.m. Sunday; it probably is illegal to set it back at 10 or 11 p.m. Saturday when you go to bed.

Ministers who normally preach until 12:15 should set their clocks back an hour and a half. That way, the congregation will still get out before noon.

all those involved," stated Kingston. "I have always been approachable, hardworking, fair and compassionate and as District Attorney of the 106th Judicial District, I will continue to work with those convictions."

"Individuals are always welcomed to make an appointment to visit with me or my staff regarding the work of the district attorney's office or regarding personal issues in which our office might assist," Kingston stated.

Regarding the recent publicity involving an alleged misdemeanor charge, Kingston states, "With great sadness and humility, I apologize to the citizens of the 106th Judicial District for the events which transpired on Sept. 9, 2011. Alcohol is not a part of my lifestyle. With that being said, I encourage all those with misdeeds to ask God for forgiveness, to take care of business regarding their misdeed and claim as I have the Apostle Paul's words in Philippians 3:12-14: "Not that I have already obtained all this, or have already been made perfect, but I press on to take hold of that for which Christ Jesus took hold of me. Brothers, I do not consider myself yet to have taken hold of it. But one thing I do: Forgetting what is behind and straining toward what is ahead, I press on toward the goal to win the prize for which God has called me heavenward in Christ Jesus."

As always, Kingston encourages anyone with questions or comments to contact the District Attorney's Office directly at 806-872-2259. Appointments to discuss cases, victim's issues or to obtain information regarding professional services such as counseling are available.

Kingston was appointed by Gov. Rick Perry in 2001 to serve as Vice Chairman for the Governor's Planning Council for STOP Violence Against Women. He is a member of the Texas State Bar Association and the Texas District and County Attorney's Association.

Prior to his career as a prosecutor, Kingston practiced civil litigation for Hammerman and Gainer in Austin and for the firm of Lynch, Chappell, Allday and Alsop, also in Austin.

Kingston Graduated in 1987 from South Texas College of Law in Houston and earned his undergraduate degree from The University of Texas at Austin in 1984.

An Army Veteran, Brian Kingston proudly served his country as a U.S. Army military policeman from 1976 to 1979. He and his family are active members of O'Donnell's First Baptist Church.

TWDB seeks support for Proposition 2 on amendment ballot

(Information from the October issue of the Texas Water Development Board)

Late in September the Texas Water Development Board released its 2012 Draft State Water Plan for public comment.

"The report confirms that we do not have enough water to meet the state's demands during times of drought. The State Water Plan also estimates the state's population will increase by approximately 82 percent over the next 50 years, while existing water supplies decrease by 10 percent," said Melanie Callahan, Interim Executive Administrator, in the TWDB newsletter.

"Current estimates indicate that $231.2 billion will need to be invested in the state's water-related infrastructure over the next 50 years," said Callahan.

Proposition 2, a proposed constitutional amendment, provides a portion of the needed financial assistance identified in the State Water Plan. The proposition will allow for the issuance of additional general obligation bonds by the TWDB in an amount not to exceed $6 billion outstanding at any time for water supply, water quality, and flood control projects. These self-supporting bonds are used by local communities all over the state to address water-related infrastructure needs. Election Day is Nov. 8.

Potential Medicare cuts could be devastating to rural hospitals

You've heard the old saying no news is good news. That may not be entirely true as it relates to what is happening in the nation's capitol and the work of the so called Super Committee. In a statement recently by Don McBeath, the Director of Advocacy for TORCH (Texas Organization of Rural Community Hospitals) and David Pearson, TORCH's President, they recently visited Washington D.C. and the offices of 22 House offices that have rural hospitals in their districts as well as the two senators from Texas and expressed the potential devastating impact that could befall Texas' rural hospitals should the Super Committee make Medicare cuts to rural hospitals a part of the federal budget. Presently there are reportedly 3 or 4 plans with cuts to rural hospitals in the works, but McBeath and Pearson found that legislators are not being forthcoming with any details and it's all being carried out behind closed doors.

There is also speculation that the Super Committee will be unable to develop a solid plan by the November 23rd deadline which would send the task of finding $1.2 to $1.5 trillion in federal budget cuts back to the entire Congress. If Congress then fails to develop a plan by December 23rd, then automatic 2% cuts across the board would be triggered, and that would include cuts in Medicare payments to hospitals and other providers.

McBeath and Pearson reminded lawmakers that rural hospitals historically have higher levels of Medicare patient volume and when the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 was passed, rural hospitals were granted some protections from Medicare cuts and in turn also created the Critical Access Hospital and Sole Community Hospital programs which kept many rural hospitals in Texas and across the nation intact and their doors open. Just as back in 1997, it seems that Medicare cuts are on the table once again, but the big difference is that this time they are not discussing any protection for rural hospitals.

If you are concerned about the future viability of rural healthcare in Texas, you can contact U.S. Rep. Randy Neugebauer at 202-225-4005 and ask him to contact Texas Representative Jeb Hensarling who is on the special budget cut committee, and ask him to protect rural hospitals.
