SCOUT MEETING

[The Scouts met at Judge Whitten's office last Friday night to hold their regular meeting. At 8:15 the Scouts repeated the Scout oath, pledging themselves to do better in 1929.

Mr. McMasters was here to tell us a Scout Story "Red Lillies." Scribe.

ANTI-PUNCTURE CONTEST

Saturday evening at 2:00 o'clock the Boy Scouts met in town for mobilization or getting to a place of disaster. Being no disaster, we staged a contest for Anti-Puncture to get auto drivers. Picking up all nails, wire, and pieces of glass. The Fox Patrol won first by decision of Mr. J. L. Ratliff and Mr. S. E. Jones.

Scribe.

THE TOWN DOCTOR

SAYS

KNOW YOUR ATMOSPHERE

Two men were driving a beautiful winding roadway through a rolling wooded country when after starting and had, there rounding a curve they suddenly fore, been annihilated; others came upon a number of cars at a standstill.

There was an accident, there was no police officer, but no barrier of stoutest iron or electrified steel, no highway's "Road Closed" or "Bridge Out" could have been more effective; cars east-bound and westward ho stand still as if cementbound to the pavement, for a mother Seganku had chosen this arterial highway for an ostentatious promade of her progeny.

The mother polecat and a lot of little polecats were going places, and in their going, behemoths of gasoline-driven iron and steel—brothers in creation of odoriferous atmosphere whose path she crossed became as statues.

We glance neither to right nor left she led her little family across the highway, while a score or more of earthly dwellers looked on with awe and apprehension and marveled at her boldness, nerve and determination.

There is no doubt but that many of her kind had ventured to cross that road but faltered after starting and had, there rounding a curve they suddenly fore, been annihilated; others had looked across the highway and wished they were on the other side; others had peered out at the whizzing automobiles and turned back with fear and trembling in their hearts, and many more were content to stay where they were. But this little kitty knew the power of her atmosphere, decided to get somewhere, made known her intentions, started, kept on going, and so where she was going—to the other side of the road.

The moral to communities is this: Recognize the power of OUR atmosphere (concerted effort—pulling together) decide on what kind of a community you would like yours to be, then start, individually and collectively, thinking and DOING those things that will make it such—looking neither right nor left until you "get where you are going to."

And remember, that the town that says, "It can't be done" will lose its trade to the town that does it.

There are many reasons for the ease of steering the new Ford

THE new Ford is exceptionally easy to steer because of the well-proportioned weight of the car, the steel-spoke wheels, the co-ordinated design of springs and shock absorbers, the size and design of the steering wheel, and the simple mechanical construction of the steering gear.

The Ford steering gear is of the worm and sector type used on high-priced cars and is three-quarter irreversible.

In simple, non-technical language, this means that the car responds easily and quickly to the steering wheel, yet there is no danger of the wheel being jerked from the hands of the driver by ruts or bumps in the road. A light touch guides the car, yet you always have that necessary feel-of-the-road so essential to good driving.

Strength of materials and careful workmanship give unusual stability to the Ford steering gear and housing.

The steering worm, for instance, is splined to the steering worm shaft and is stronger, of course, than if a single key were used to hold the shaft and worm together. The steering worm sector is forged and machined in the same piece with its shaft.

The housing of the steering gear mechanism is made of three steel forgings, electrically welded together. This housing is then electrically welded to the steering column. Such a one-piece steel unit is naturally much sturdier than if several parts were used and bolted or riveted together.

Throughout, the new Ford steering mechanism is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no attention.

The only thing for you to do is to have the front steering spindles, spindle connecting rods, and drag link lubricated every 500 miles and the steering gear lubricated every 2000 miles.

For this work, you will find it best to consult the Ford dealer. He has been specially trained and equipped to help you get the greatest possible use from your car over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.

ELDORADO IN 1906

This column will carry the happenings of Eldorado and articles published in The Success from July , 1906.

William Finley, father of H. W. Finley was a visitor in Eldorado during the week of July 20.

On July 25th a celebration was held at the Adams school house.

The crowd was entertained by the Eldorado Band until dinner was called by Harry Jackson, Master of Ceremonies. After dinner the band rendered a few selections and then the opening address by Judge Whitten was given, welcoming all visitors. A few candidate speeches were then given. The cigar race followed which was won by Steve Ross in 27 seconds. Frank Douglas saved his entrance fee by making it in 30 seconds.

A ball game was played between Rudd and Eldorado, Rudd met defeat.

The dance started at 6 o'clock and lasted almost all night.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF

MRS. S. E. ETHERIDGE

Her awful pain we know was great

But now she's gone to rest. And oh, the joy when we shall meet

In that home for all the blest.

Upon her bed long weary months Her pain with patience bore; She now has gone to her reward To suffer never more.

To know her was to love her, To all she was a friend; A smile she had for everyone All through until the end.

She's left an ugly broken gap No other can abridge. Sweet memories only now we Of dear Mrs. Etheridge. By Zadie McAngus Littlefield, Texas.

Love used to make the world go round but now it makes it go flat.

Good-will is the premium on the peace policy that keeps it from becoming lapsed.

Prohibition is having its day, but anti-prohibition is having most of the nights.

A real party man is one who remembers what and why were the issues in the last campaign.

The new census won't do much good for some people unless it gives the telephone numbers of the bootleggers.

THE COOPERATIVE SPIRIT

How fine it would be if all the people in the community would work together in common purposes. There has been developing in this community a spirit of this kind for some time. The people have come to the conclusion that we must build our town and make it grow in the business as well in a social way. The birth of this spirit was the Eldorado Lions Club, organized for the purpose of building this cooperative spirit among the citizens. It has already brought forth some good results, caused by the meeting together of the business men of the town as well as some of our prominent ranchmen and stock farmers.

The life of this club depends on the people of the community. Every citizen in the community should be interested in the improvement of its own town and county. They should be glad that they live in this community.

This cooperative spirit is the whole proposition of growth of any community. It does not imply that we should always agree on every proposition, that is almost impossible. Discussions, exchange of ideas and even differences of opinion are the very things that bring facts to light and settle problems that face any community. Get the cooperative spirit and lets put Eldorado on the map.

HOW ABOUT THIS ONE

Advocates of college training will have to do some explaining. We read of the man in Columbia University who attended classes for many years and received a dozen or more degrees. But some newspaper reporter had to get hold of the story before the world knew about it. Piling up those sheepskins didn't avail this man much. Of course this would not necessarily be an argumnet against college training. On the other hand it may be considered an argument for it. It shows that by application a man may qualify for many degrees and honors. The college can only grant these. The student himself must put them to good use. The case in point is of the man who, under the terms of a will to receive an annual bequest, must have attended college for the score or more of years.

To build and not to destroy is a sentiment that stands by itself, and may be applied to all phases of activities.

J. D. WESTBROOK ATTENDS CONVENTION IN FT WORTH

Amazing, is the only word to describe adequately the engineering progress reflected in new Frigidaire products, shown at the organizations convention in Ft. Worth, according to J. D. Westbrook local dealer, who has returned from the meeting.

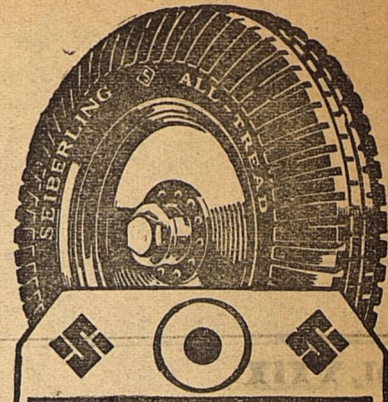

"The electric room cooler exhibited at the convention, indicates that refrigeration will ultimately rank with heat in its importance o the welfare and comfort of the human race," he declared. "This cooler tests has lowered the temperature of an average size room ten degres in thirty minutes and at the same time reduced the humidity ten per cen.

Personally, I was no interested in the new cold control for household models, which was also displayed. Shis is a small dial with six notches. Simply by turning this dial, the housewife is able to get any one of six freezing speeds in the dessert and ice trays. The freezing time of ice cubes is cut nearly in half. Ice cream now keeps perfectly, with this device attached.

"The convention went wild with enthusiasm when informed that the cold control has been made so that it can easily be attached to models now in use."

A new household model, selling at the lowest price in Frigidaire history also was announced the local dealer said.

These news notes are prepared by the students of the Eldorado High School and submitted to The Success for publication.

Eagles 22—Sonora 20

Thursday afternoon the High School Eagles journeyed to Sonora for a contest with the Sonora team. The game was not as fast as usual due to the cold and dampness. The half ended with the Eagles leading, 12 to 8. [The third quarter ended with the Eagles leading six points. In the last few minutes of the game Sonora scored six points and tied the game at 20 all. Graves one of the Eagle's forwards tossed a field goal and the game ended the Eagles winning by two points. The Eagles had only five men due sickness and bad weather.

Graves was high point man with 10, while G. Ratliff held 7 for a close second.

Sonora has not been able to defeat the Eagles since 1927, when they won a foot-ball game 6-0 from a crippled Eagles' team. Later the Eagles smothered them on the home field 20 to 0.

Friday and Saturday three Eagles go to the district meet at San Angelo. They are not predicting that they will win the district but they intend to give the victors plenty of trouble.

SENIOR'S RESOLUTIONS

The student's of the three lower grades in the high school have been wondering whether the Seniors have been carrying out their resolutions. [They are listed below. See if you can get any information as to whether they are sticking to them or not.

- To prove at least proposition for Mrs. Holt.
- To take a chance at translating a few Spanish sentences to surprise Miss Tyson.
- To mak A in department each motnth.
- To be the most dignified Seniors that have ever left Eldorado High School.
- To leave for College in September.

It seems as though Elta Mae Leudecke has been dreaming quite a bit about the future since the close of 1928. She has dreamed that:

- Miss Flanagan will teach here next year.
- Jack Elder will gain fifteen pounds between now and May.
- Some girl who is in High School will marry by September.
- Eldorado High School will rank among the better schools in Texas in Interscholastic Work.

 5. Dalia Fae Johnson will start making A's in Department.
 6. Harold Isaacs and Jim West will become prize fighters.

THE BELL RINGS

The bell rings; I have to go to geometry class.

There I have a lot of time to pass
 We're supposed to work on a notebook,
 But all I do is sit and look.

The bell rings: I go to room seven,
 And the class isn't like heaven.
 I sit and peck and peck and peck.
 And when I get through my paper is a wreck.

The bell rings: I pass down to history,
 Just another terrible hour for me.

What do I care if the Americans gain;
 I wish that Columbus had stayed in Spain.

The bell rings: A study hall.
 The bell rings: A lunch for all.
 It rings again: I hear its call
 An dthen again a study hall.

The bell rings: Just one more class

And then to English I silently pass.

Maybe I write of folks in Rome.
 The bell rings: and I go home.

PROFESSORS

[There are math profs,
 And chem profs,
 And profs without number:
 There are english profs,
 And profs that rave and thunder:

There are quiet profs,
 Deep-thinking profs,
 Some are good, some better,
 some best,

But this talked-of absent minded one,
 Is worse than all the rest.

"Your face will make a clock stop."
 'And yours will make one run.'

"Are you going to Indo-China on your world tour?"
 "Yes, Siam."

 Grace—"That's nothing, a man once lived on water for 20 years"
 Marjorie—"You don't say?"
 Grace—"Yes, he was a sea captain."

Gusta V—"Lawson, I see in the paper where two people died eating chocolates."

Lawson—"Well, what of it?"
 Gusta V—"Well I was just thinking how safe we are!"

Miss Tyson—"Harold, stand in the corner for talking out and turn around; we don't want to look at you."

Harold—"But I want to look at you."

BANKERS IN NATIONAL MOVE FOR UNIFORM FINANCIAL PRACTICES

Would Promote Greater Consistency Among All the State Laws in Respect to Banking Conditions—Uniformity of Practice and Understanding Will Make for Greater Convenience, Efficiency and Safety for All Business.

By S. J. HIGH

President State Bank Division, American Bankers Association

RAPID interchange of business and the quick transportation of goods in the United States, coupled with almost instantaneous means of inter-communication by telegraph, telephone and wireless, have welded the country into an economic unit. The nation is not, in a business sense, conducting its affairs in water-tight compartments, as in a measure it did in the days of slow travel and remote places, but styles, methods, commodities and business practices flow freely today in all directions. Therefore it is desirable that finance, trade and industry throughout the country operate along generally uniform or at least consistent lines, so that a contract or an agreement or obligation in connection with business transactions shall mean virtually the same thing in all parts of the country. Particularly necessary in this connection is the establishment of uniform financial and banking practices so as to facilitate the flow of trade along accepted and understood lines.

S. J. HIGH

Banking in the United States is recognized as a semi-public type of business and is therefore subject to laws to define the scope and character of its activities. These laws at present set up a great diversity of conditions under which banking is conducted in various parts of the country since they come from both state and federal authorities. The national banks are all chartered by the federal government and therefore operate on the same lines in every state of the Union, but there is no such regularity in respect to the conditions under which the state banks chartered by the respective forty-eight states must conduct their business. All state banking codes, while they have similarities, also have many great dissimilarities in respect both to the national bank laws and the banking laws covering state bank operations in other jurisdictions.

Bankers Move for Uniform Laws
 The State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association, which now includes in its membership banks of all descriptions throughout the country subject to all the variations of state and federal banking laws, is committed to the effort to bring about greater consistency and uniformity among the statutes of all these various jurisdictions. This body is conducting a vigorous nation-wide campaign urging that active steps be taken to secure greater co-ordination in banking legislation, more equitable conditions and more uniformly efficient public supervision of banks in the several states.

The organization is particularly concerned with fostering this movement by bringing about more uniformly desirable conditions throughout the United States in respect to the public supervision of banking institutions by the state banking departments. It is on record as favoring the policy that the important office of state bank commissioner should be kept as free from entangling partisan politics as the judiciary itself and should be completely detached from all other functions of state government.

It is also on record as favoring the policy that the tenure of office of state bank commissioners should be made more secure and lasting than is now the case in many state jurisdictions and that this important public officer be granted sufficient compensation and discretionary power so that the office shall attract and retain the services of men of outstanding executive ability and successful banking experience.

It is also a part of this policy that the bank commissioner's ability to serve well should be strengthened by providing him with adequate forces of bank examiners, selected on the basis of merit from men having the requisite qualifications of honesty, ability, training and banking knowledge to carry out the duties of their offices on the highest plane of usefulness to the public as well as to banking.

The Trend of State Laws
 The Association's State Bank Division has recently concluded a nation-wide survey of state banking legislation and conditions and in general has discovered a definite trend along the following lines:

There is a distinct tendency among the states to raise the minimum capital required for banking institutions to $25,000 and also to give the bank commissioners or the banking boards sole power as to the granting of charters for new banks, thus enabling them to use discretion as to the need or desirability of adding banking facilities or the fitness of the organizers to enter the banking field. In this connection many states are creating banking boards to act in an advisory capacity with the state bank commissioners.

There has also been observed a tendency to increase the compensation of the bank commissioners and to lengthen their terms of office and to give them power to appoint necessary deputies and examiners so as to build up an adequate force to carry out their responsibilities and duties. An important augmentation of the powers of bank commissioners in some states is found in laws giving them complete charge of insolvent banks and their liquidation as distinguished from more costly liquidation through the courts.

In the Public Interest

Distinctly in the public interest are laws prohibiting or limiting an officer or director of a bank from borrowing from his own bank unless his collateral security is approved by a majority of the board of directors of the bank. Also there is recent legislation noted providing for closer supervision and regulation of building and loan associations, credit unions, finance companies and private banks.

In some states measures have been enacted broadening the field for investment of funds of savings banks and trust companies, which have materially enhanced the service that these institutions can render, particularly in the way of co-operation with their customers in personal financial management. Another type of legislation, important especially to banking in view of the frequent efforts to defraud banks, is that which makes the issuance of worthless checks a misdemeanor with specific penalties.

The State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association endorses in the fullest degree in principle the development of banking laws along the foregoing lines and is actively engaged in fostering the spread of such legislation wherever its services are considered useful both to banking and to the public. Uniformly sound banking institutions and practices, together with common methods and understanding, will materially add to the convenience, efficiency and safety of business in serving the well-being of the public in all parts of the nation especially in those transactions involving dealings between different localities.

AMERICA LEADS THE WORLD IN SAVINGS

The past year saw the greatest gains in savings in a single twelve-month ever recorded in the United States, bringing the total savings deposits in banks to over $28,400,000,000 on June 30, 1928, held in more than 53,000,000 individual accounts. It is reported by the American Bankers Association. These are the biggest figures in this field shown by any country in the world.

These figures are indicative of prosperity more general than any time since the business depression of 1920, the report declares. Only three states failed to show a gain and the 1927 volume of savings constituted an increase of more than $2,337,000,000 above the 1927 figure. The gain per inhabitant for 1928 over 1927 was $11 and the gain in number of savings depositors was 2,496,079, an increase of 5.2% as against a growth in the population of the country of 1.2%.

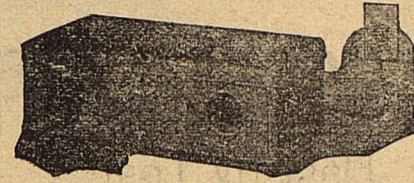

The gain in savings per inhabitant in New England and the Middle Atlantic states over the previous year was $36. These groups of states, with 29.9% of the population of the United States and 52.8% of the total savings deposits, have the largest savings rate per inhabitant, of any area in the world. The per capita savings for the United States as a whole this year stands at $237 as compared with $227 last year.

"An acre of alfalfa for every cow Howard County, Iowa," is the slogan adopted by the county bankers association there after watching several hundred thousand dollars go out their county last winter for feed.

How to Raise Poultry

BEATING TROUBLE TO THE DRAW

In the roistering days of the old Wild West, the fellow who was quickest at getting his gun into action had the best chance for a long life. Consequently, it was not surprising that men spent hours practicing the art of beating the other fellow to the draw. Their lives might some day depend on it. Today, far less effort invested in preventive measures would save the lives of thousands of fowls that now are sacrificed annually.

For one thing, too little attention is often paid to weeding out the unfit. Chicks that are obviously deformed or hopeless weaklings should be killed at once. Weaklings contract diseases that healthy, well developed chicks would throw off easily, thus making easy the spread of trouble among the rest of the flock. It is most certainly false economy or none at all to save some of the fowls one often sees in flocks otherwise fairly well cared for.

Another way of beating trouble to the draw is to adopt every possible means for eliminating vermin of every description. Lice, mites, ticks and all other such pests sap the vitality of fowls to a point where they easily become prey to all kinds of diseases. Constant vigilance is needed to guard fowls against these tiny enemies. They should be inspected periodically and dusted with a good lice powder if there are any parasites on their bodies. Lice powder should be added to the dust bath and let the hens use this at will. Their quarters should be thoroughly cleaned out at frequent intervals and every nook and cranny should be sprayed with a strong solution of dip and disinfectant. Whitewash is another preventive that is not used nearly so much as it should be. It is well to apply it at least twice a year and put it on hot. If two or three ounces of dip and disinfectant is mixed in each gallon of white-wash it will be very effective in killing mites and other insects. It should be forcibly sprayed on if possible, as that will drive in into every crack and crevice where parasites might find a hiding place.

Tainted foods, too, can cause no end of trouble. Mouldy grains are particularly dangerous. Damaged or cheap inferior feeds of any kind should not be fed at all. Cheap feed is dear at any price. Limberneck, bowel disorders and other troubles are caused by eating spoiled feed. Feed of the best quality only should be fed.

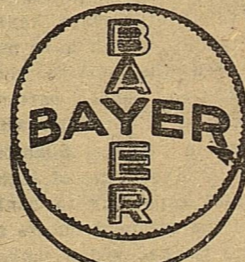

In plain everyday cleanliness, however, comes the greatest protection against the possible invasion of disease. Houses should be so constructed that they can easily be kept clean, and have either solid board or concrete floors that will permit of easy cleaning and disinfecting. Clean quarters cannot very well harbor disease germs. Special care should be exercised in disposing of the droppings. Noxious gases arising from droppings are very harmful to the fowls. Furthermore, the droppings harbor disease germs without number and intestinal worms besides. Droppings should be removed frequently and used for fertilizer away from the flock. Dead birds should be burned or buried deeply and a regular use of a good coal tar dip and disinfectant, will prove very effective in preventing many diseases and insect pests.

Of course, disease may take its toll of any flock, no matter how carefully cared for. As a rule, however, any extra effort invested in such preventive measures as those described above will pay big dividends. Strong, heat-thy fowls, protected as much as possible from the various sources of disease, will resist epidemics that would wipe out others. They are also more vigorous and productive in every way.

Borah, Good American Grow Your Own Fur Coats Einstein's Discovery Publishers, Cheer Up

Senator Borah, Good American, fears that if we build cruisers without making arrangements satisfactory to Britain we shall have a shipbuilding race with England.

If necessary, why not have it? But Britain couldn't afford it and knows well that we shall never attack Britain unless we first attacked.

The British, while they could dominated the seas, and were proud of it. Whoever didn't like it could lump it. That condition existed from the day when Nelson at Trafalgar wiped out Napoleon's chances of British conquest up to 1924.

It is Uncle Sam's turn now.

Airplanes, submarines, fast cruisers, will answer any question from any other nation, and this country should have the answer ready.

Grow your own fur coats at home. Mr. Vernon Bailey of the Agricultural Department tells you that muskrats, supposed to need big swamps, can be raised like rabbits or guinea pigs, in small pens. They need only enough water to keep comfortably wet and cool in summer. This will interest California rabbit raisers, among others.

The world of science, including Bertrand Russel, called the greatest living mathematician is interested in Professor Einstein's announcement that electro-magnetism and gravity are practically the same. The discovery, says the learned Dr. Pupin, of Columbia University, places Einstein beside Galileo and Newton.

All interested in physics await a demonstration that there is only one kind of force in the universe; that light, heat, motion, electro-magnetism, gravity are all the same. Einstein seems to confirm part of Herbert Spencer's definition of evolution which describes the "retained emotion" as undergoing a transformation from "an indefinite, incoherent homogeneity to a definite, coherent heterogeneity."

More interesting to practical publishers of newspapers is the fact that the big Woolworth concern plans an enormous advertising campaign amounting to $300,000,000 the first year. Abandoning the theory that selecting the right location makes advertising unness, proves the wisdom of Woolworth's president, Mr. H. T. Parson.

Get the best position for your store, by all means. But get also the best position and the best copy for your advertising in a newspaper.

Have what the people want, then let the people know you have it. That's the secret of success.

Work fearlessly for the right and you will be honored and appreciated, AFTER YOU DIE.

Mrs. Pankhurst thought women should vote. Since they created the men for wars, they should have something to say about wars.

Everybody agrees with Mrs. Pankhurst now, and Mr. Baldwin who opposed her, will unveil her monument.

When she was alive, demanding justice for women, they put her in jail. She starved herself until she was released, justice not liking the idea of disposing of her corpse and that is what it would have had to do.

Released from prison, she renewed her fight, chained herself to their railings before the Commons, was jailed again, and again she entered self-imposed starvation.

Her courage won. British women vote in the House of Commons and help to make laws. Mrs. Pankhurst lies in her grave, her death hastened by hardship; and those that hounded her now honor her.

She is satisfied.

FELT BAD AFTER EATING

"FOUR YEARS ago, I suffered with heartburn and bilious indigestion. Whatever I ate disagreed with me. Gas on my stomach made me very uncomfortable. My tongue was coated and my color was bad. I needed a good laxative, and so my mother-in-law gave me some Black-Draught and told me to take it. I found it helped me very much, so I bought it for myself. Seems it was the very thing I needed. It is a fine family remedy, and I use it when I need something for constipation.

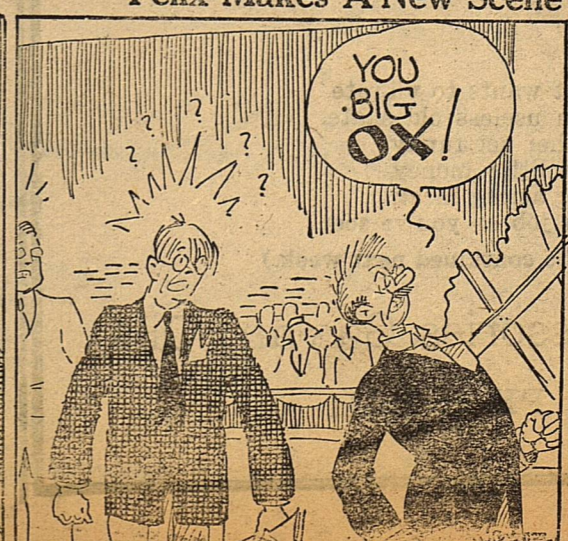

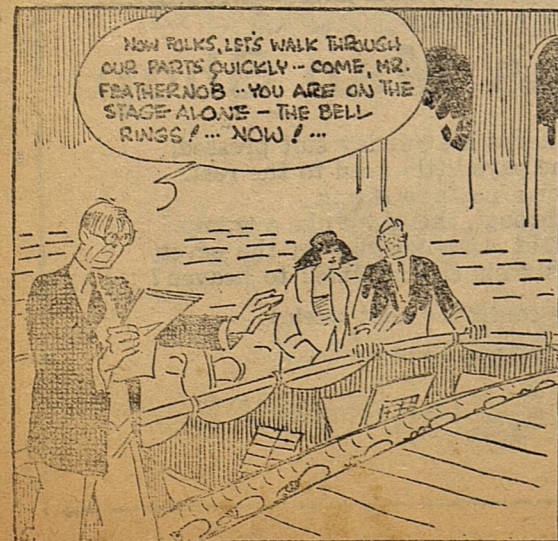

"I also give Black-Draught to my children whenever they need something for colds or upset stomachs. Our whole family takes Black-Draught."—Mrs. G. C. Leary, 103 North Alston Ave., Durham, N. C.
