INVESTIGATIONS TO BE MADE ON HIGHWAY EAST AND WEST THROUGH SCHLEICHER COUNTY

Three New Business Houses For Eldorado

The bids were opened and the contract let on Thursday, March 27th for three new business houses to be erected in Eldorado in the near future and to be constructed of brick and tile. Two of the buildings are to be the property of W. H. Parker and the other belongs to T. K. Jones. All of them are to be erected on the main street of Eldorado. The Parker buildings are to be on the lots formerly occupied by the grocery store of W. H. Parker and son which has been moved to the rear of the lots. The building to be erected by Mr. Jones will be on the lot now occupied by the Roach & Cloud Produce Company, immediately south of the First National Bank. L. B. McCleary, local contractor, was low bidder on all three buildings and was awarded the contracts. There were about fifteen bidders who submitted bids.

The contract for the Jones building calls for a brick and tile structure, 30 x 80' in size. It is to be constructed for a theater and will be occupied by the Palace Theater Company, which is managed by Johnnie Flynn. It is to be constructed with a balcony, raised floor and celotex ceiling so that it can be used for the talkies later. It is to be modern in every way and will be a credit to any town the size of Eldorado. The approximate cost of the building is to be $12,000.

The two buildings belonging to W. H. Parker are also to be constructed of brick, tile and steel with plate glass front and side walls are to be of face brick while the rear wall is of tile. The floor is to be cement. The lowest bid on these buildings was $7,586, and was made by L. B. McCleary. The corner building will be occupied by the grocery business of W. H. Parker and Son while the other is to be rented for a dry goods store. Work is to be started on these buildings within a few days.

It is expected that the beginning of the work on these three business houses in Eldorado will hasten the construction of a number of other buildings in the business section of Eldorado. The First National Bank has already purchased the corner lot which is now occupied by the Palace Theatre under a long-time lease. Arrangements have been made so that when the new theater building is completed the bank will start work on a two-story building. Other buildings are also in prospect on lots joining new theater building.

Favorable Talk on Securing Road Through to Menard East and Connecting With Old Spanish Trail on the West

A project of much interest has been brought up among many of the citizens of Schleicher County in regard to securing a highway through the county, running east and west.

At present the county has no road, you might say that can be traveled in rainy weather in these directions. The road is only a dirt surfaced road which makes it almost impassible during the bad months of the year. The county has as you know only one hard surfaced road, that is the highway north and south and does not extend very far into the more thickly populated portions of the county.

This project has met with favor among many of the Schleicher citizens and will be taken up with the Commissioner's Court at their next meeting, to find the most satisfactory method of building this road. It is believed during the administration of the present officials of the State, which are very strong in favor of the good road systems of Texas, that this can be made into a State Highway. If this is possible, it would cost the people very little considering the worth of the road, to build it.

Many of the large land owners are in favor of building the road, whether the state assists or not. They believe the time is here, when the people demand good roads and are going to travel the best road regardless of the direction.

The east and west end of the county has no road that they can be assured of travel, into Eldorado. In building this road it will give the people a better connection with other paved roads and also give them an outlet to all surrounding towns.

Trustee Election To Be Held Saturday

An election of great importance will be held Saturday, April 5th. The election of School Trustees. This election is a small affair in the minds of many people but the election of men who are capable of helping run the school is one of the most important factors in the development of a town or county. Although these men receive no pay for their services, they are willing to give their time and effort for the cause. Without them the school would be a failure. Every one should take a greater interest in the school election and help to build one of the best schools possible.

Four trustees will be elected this coming election. The school board has named four to be placed on the ticket, but there will be space left for you to choose any one that you may care to have placed on the ticket.

CANADA COMING TO THE RESCUE

W. L. McKenzie King, prime minister and minister for external affairs for Canada, has placed his bill to stop the export of liquor to the United States on its second reading before the Canadian Parliament.

The prime minister says that liquor cannot be transported into the United States legally and must enter thru the agency of the rum runners, bootleggers and criminal gangs who make a profit out of defying the laws of the country.

Premier King assured the members of parliament that the step was not dictated by the United States but is purely a Canadian issue instead to safeguard the morals of public service. He said that it would cost the Canadian government in revenue loss the sum of $15,000,000 annually, but did not believe that a member of parliament would contend that revenue should be raised by cooperating with bootleggers and gangsters.

A THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

By AMOS R. WELLS
A STORY OF KOREAN HONESTY

Once a Korean youth, longing for an education, came to this country and went to school in Colorado. They had a college supper which the Korean was asked to attend, but did not have the dollar charged for a ticket; so the student selling the tickets told him to take one and pay him later. A few days later the Korean was suddenly called home because of a death in the family, and the student who gave him the ticket thought he would never see his dollar again; but about three months later he received a letter with a strange postage stamp and containing an international postal order for one dollar. At once the American student formed a different and wholly favorable idea of Koreans and of all Asiatics.

No one can estimate the far-reaching influence of a single act of honesty and faithfulness. If it is done by a Christian, the attitude of many men toward Christianity is immediately more favorable. Here is a sure method of evangelizing the world; let men see Christ imaged in your life!

FORREST ALEXANDER TO ASSIST CENSUS TAKER

Forrest Alexander, has been appointed to take the census for Precinct 1 and 2, exclusive of the town of Eldorado. Mr. Bradley will have Precinct 3 and 4 including Eldorado.

Foreign-Born are Counted In Census

FIFTEENTH CENSUS OF THE UNITED STATES

In 1790, when George Washington was President of the United States, the Government counted the number of people in this country. It has been done every ten years since that time, as required by the Constitution. The next time for this to be done is in April, 1930. This is called "TAKING THE CENSUS" of the United States.

The Government will appoint men and women to go from house to house in every city and on all of the farms, all over the United States. These men and women are called "Census Enumerators." Each one of them will have a sheet of paper with printed questions, and these questions will be answered by all the people of the United States. Everybody who lives in the United States, whether a citizen or not, will be called upon to answer the questions.

The following are some of the things the Government wants to know about each person in the United States:

- Your name.
- Your age on your last birthday.
- The name of the country in which you were born.
- The name of the country in which you father was born.
- The name of the country in which your mother was born.
- If you were born in a foreign country, you will be asked to give the year in which you first came to the United States, and the language which you spoke in your home in the country from which you came.
- There will be other questions to answer, telling whether you are a citizen, and whether a native or naturalized citizen.

You will be asked to tell the kind of work you do; whether you own the house in which you live; the value of your home if you own it, or the amount of the rent if it is rented.

Talk these census questions over with your home folks, so that if you are not at home when the census-taker calls he can get correct answers.

Do not be afraid to answer all of the questions, for the President has promised that the census-taker will be the only person who will know what your answers are. The census has nothing to do with taxation, or military service, or school attendance, or the regulation of immigration, or the enforcement of any law. It will never be used to harm you or your family, or to get you into trouble of any kind.

The census-taker will have a certificate of appointment from the Government. Any person not having this certificate was not sent by the Government. Tell your friend about the census, and that the census man is coming, so that you can help Uncle Sam in this work.

Whitney Well Makes HEAD SATURDAY NIGHT

The Phillips Petroleum No. 1, J. A. Whitney, located about four miles north of Eldorado, which has made several heads of gas and oil in the past, at a depth of 4127 and 4950, made its new head last Saturday night of oil.

The well is now about 6150, and the drilling has been made in a blue shale for the past thousand feet. This formation is a very soft formation and has given the drillers considerable trouble, as cementing had to be done every few feet, to prevent cave ins and loss of tools.

The formation in which the drilling is being made in at present was found at about 5200 feet and has been almost the same formation continuously up to the present depth. According to the drillers, this depth of the same formation for such a depth is out of the ordinary.

Dean J. M. Gordon, Texas Tech, To Deliver Commencement Address At Eldorado

Dean J. M. Gordon, Dean of the School of Arts of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, has accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement address at the closing exercises of the Eldorado High School on May 15th. The program will be at the school auditorium beginning at 8: P. M. Dean Gordon has been at Texas Tech since that institution was founded and before that was connected with a number of other colleges. At one time he was president of Oklahoma Teachers' College, Ada, Oklahoma, and later he was president of Tulsa University.

There are eighteen members of the senior class of the Eldorado High School. These are as follows: Boys—William McAngus, Edwin Kent, Darrin McGivray, J. C. Kinchen, Kenneth Green, J. C. Bullion; Girls—Alta Stevens, Garnette Lueddecke, Elta Mae Lueddecke, Victoria Jones, Elizabeth Bradley, Mattie Cates, Ruby Wilson, Vera Wade, Bernice Newlin, Fannie Hardt, Loyce Sharp, and Dahlia Joe Johnson.

Petition Is Circulated To Retain County Agent

Mr. J. E. Hill, vice-president of the First National Bank was circulating a petition this last of the week, seeking the signatures of the taxpayers of the town and county, to retain the services of the county agent L. E. Sumner. These names will be sent to the Extension Department with the wishes that they leave him here. It is rumored that they are wanting him at Uvalde. The people are more than satisfied with the services of the agent with the amount of signatures on the petition. Mr. Sumner has proven to be a very capable man in this line of work and has done much to bring about better work on the farms and among the sheep and cattle breeders of the county.

He was offered several openings during the Fat Stock Show, which he declined. Mr. Sumner has expressed himself as enjoying the work with the Schleicher people and wishes to remain with them.

DRAFT LUNCH DAVIDSON

Texas has come to the parting of the ways. The present way will lead to financial chaos, higher taxes, the same inefficiency and bad management in government affairs.

There is no hope from the present crop of candidates for Governor that will in any way benefit the state and the professional politicians, office holders, demagogues and loud ranting spouters with their fancy platform based to catch and fool voters, to the public. They are mostly appeals of prejudices and partisan politics.

Four years from now Texas will be in worse shape and more debts will be piled up against the State. More nuisance taxes, income taxes, and other modes of taxes will be sought by the Legislature to make up the deficits caused by incompetency and extravagance.

The traveling of the sac path has piled up a deficit of over eight million dollars against the penitentiary system about three times what is worth in less than ten years.

What prospects have you for a ease the increasing burdens on the tax payers.

Change under the management of men who have never successfully managed a private enterprise of any consequence.

Shall we listen to the continued blasts of hot air from candidates whose experience in the past and whose records have nothing to commend or shall we take the other path-way which will lead to our real business management of state affairs and with substantial assurances of betterment in our state government?

For ten years or more we have been having a government run by politicians elected on partisan issues, and the voters have reaped their reward in impeachments, high taxes, deficits, extravagances and inefficiency.

The hour has struck for the people who honestly desire a safe and sane government of state affairs to do their own selecting of a candidate capable of leading them out of the present deplorable condition. A man who will inspire confidence in Senate and Legislature, and who from his own record as a successful executive is capable of taking the lead in the government of our great State.

The man of the hour is Lunch Davidson. Let the people draft him to make the race for Governor.

He is the Moses to lead us out of the wilderness of discord and incompetence. —Uvalde Leader-News.

PIONEER WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. S. F. Garvin, 79, one of Schleicher's early pioneer women and mother of Mrs. Pete Owens, with whom she has lived for the past several years, and since the death of her husband.

Mrs. Garvin was born in Henderson County Kentucky, March 15, 1851 and was married to J. D. Garvin October 24, 1868 in Arkansas and to this Union was born five children of which three survive. She moved to Schleicher County about 33 years ago and settled on the land now owned by F. B. Gunn, and it was through the efforts of this early pioneer family that the farming industry of this county has been developed. She joined the Christian Church early in life and has been a constant attendance at the services since her stay in this county. Especially in the years of her strength. The remains will be laid to rest in the Eldorado cemetery Friday Morning, Elder F. R. Keele of the Christian Church conducting the services. She is survived by one daughter Mrs. Pete Owens, two sons Joe Garvin of Hext and Dave Garvin of San Angelo. The Success extends condolence to the bereaved.

COMPLETION ON COURTHOUSE CONCRETE RESERVOIR NEAR SQUARE

A concrete reservoir which is being constructed on the court house yard is nearing completion. The tank was built to take the place of the old one that has been standing in the corner of the court yard for many years and now is not large enough to serve the water needs of the court house lawn, which is being made one of the most attractive lawns in this section of the county. Bermuda grass, trees and flowers of all kinds are being planted on this lawn. The new tank will hold many thousands of gallons, and will furnish ample supply of water to all parts of the yard.

F. M. Bradley was called to Fife, McCulloch County Saturday to the funeral of an Uncle, Tom Mitchell, who died Thursday, March 27. Mr. Bradley was accompanied on the trip by W. L. Isaacs and wife, Misses Margaret Bradley and Margaret Isaacs.

Scholastic Census Of Eldorado District Shows Large Increase

According to L. D. Hardt, who has just completed the enrolling of the scholastic in the Eldorado Independent District, there are now a total of 610 children living in the district. The enrollment for 1929 was only 492; the increase, thus being 118. The increase is accounted for by the enrollment of children who are six years of age and by the steady growth of the town of Eldorado due to the coming of the railroad.

There are four schools in the Eldorado district which have enrolled a total of 531 pupils during the present session. Nineteen teachers are employed in the district.

Light Shower And Snow

A light shower followed by a thin covering of snow last Friday morning caused the farmers and ranchmen to take new life and better hopes that a good rain might follow. This little dampness did very little good materially but will be a help to prolonging the life of the weeds and spring grass that is doing its best to grow with the warm spring weather that is existing in our district.

The skies since has been covered most of the time with wandering clouds that are always a welcome and gives the people a better spirit toward a coming rain.

The conditions in Schleicher, as far as a spring season is concerned are not favorable at present for planting. The winter grain is standing up under the dry cold winter weather better than has been expected.

The farmers that have been successful in their work in the county for the past years have most of their land in first class condition and still have confidence in the weather man and are patiently waiting for him to turn on the water so they can start their spring planting soon.

A great number of the ranchmen are still feeding, although not near so much as a few weeks ago. The lambing season is getting well under way and the grown sheep are in very good condition, considering the cold dry winter that they have just gone thru. A good lamb crop is predicted for this spring and some of the lambs have been contracted for ten cents a pound and others at $0.50 per head, fall delivery. This is somewhat lower than last year's prices but considering the past sheep sales and hard times talk that has been carried all over West Texas, this seems to be a fair price.

Interesting Biographical Sketches

There are several interesting biographical sketches of the older citizens, who help pave the way for the settlement and development of the county. Due to the lack of space of all the older settlers are not in a separate chapter but the main ones are given special mention which will be very interesting to those knowing or even heard of these people. The life history of many are cited in this booklet.

Eldorado The County Seat

It describes the creating of Eldorado into the county seat of Schleicher county. The moving of the first settlement of Verand to town which is now Eldorado, with its many progressive citizens and beautiful homes, a place of little opportunities but at the present time is among the most progressive and prosperous little cities in West Texas. Some of the first sighted citizens that saw the future of this little city were willing to sacrifice much in the development of what is now Eldorado and Schleicher County.

The Coming of the Railroad

A full description of the troubles encountered in trying to get a railroad through Schleicher. The dream of twenty years becoming a reality is fully related. From the very first when the citizens subscribed the $100,000 for a railroad, and only realized a meager, but which in the past year was aid in securing the Santa Fe Railroad through Schleicher.

Picture of Olden Times and Present

There will be several pages that present the hardships that the older settlers had to deal with during the times that it took from three to six days to make a trip to San Angelo. Also there will be pictures of the present time.

One hundred and ten pages of reading and several pages of picture illustrations will comprise this little booklet which will sell for only one dollar. A history that you will be proud to preserve for future use.

There are already many orders on the files for these booklets and we will be surprised of the thousand that were printed will serve the want list.

A cartoon carried on the front page of the Southern Advance is an exact likeness of the law enforcement of today in many respects. The picture consists of four characters. The law with his double barrel, with a very mean look, drawing it on the small offender a little bird who has stolen a few cherries, while another character, the real Eagle, is called Real Crime, is holding in his talons the fourth character, Humanity. The law is paying no attention whatsoever to the real crime but is pouring it on the small ones. This picture is the real life of some of the great officials that we have to put up with. They are afraid to get after the Real Crime or they are paid off, as the real crime offenders have the dough and that is what it takes to get by with 90 percent of our would be law enforcers of today. They are a nuts little fellow, where they think that they have a cinch.

GUNMAN'S BLUFF

Edgar Wallace

COPYRIGHT BY EDGAR WALLACE

ELEVENTH INSTALMENT

Luke finds out by telephone that his old bachelor apartment is still untenanted, and enters it by the fire escape. The police become suspicious and call on Margaret for the key to the flat. She accompanies a detective to the place. Luke hears her voice outside and locks himself in an inner room. The detectives and Margaret away before they burst in the door and seize Luke. They find a gun and a license in his pockets and immediately suspect him of being concerned in the jewel robbery, although they do not recognize him as Maddison. He manages to escape down the fire ladder and jumps into a passing taxi.

Maddison goes to his old bachelor quarters, is taken for a burglar, escapes from the police and tries to get in touch with detective Bird. The Connor gang learn of this, sandbag and imprison him in an underground cell near the river where he is certain to be drowned when the tide rises. Meantime Margaret revisiting Luke's old rooms, finds a sheet of paper on which Luke had begun a letter to his friend and lawyer saying that he is desperate trouble. Margaret's joy over the discovery that Luke is alive and in London is tempered by the statement of Detective Bird that the man concerned in the jewel robbery, whom she now knows was Luke, had been going around for two years with the woman whose accomplice he was.

Gunner Haynes drops into Joe Connor's hiding-place just as Connor's men are fastening Luke's feet with a chain to a large block of rock salt, intending to throw him in the river, where the salt will dissolve, the chains drop off and the body will be found without marks of violence. Haynes defies the Connor gang and takes Maddison into the yard, pausing as he sees two men climbing the fence.

Now Go On With The Story

Returning as quickly as he came to the place where he had left Luke, he lifted him and went cautiously and gingerly down the slope toward the water. There would be a boat here. Presently his keen eyes discerned the dim shape of it as it moved uneasily on the rushing tide. He had considered the possibility of leaving Luke to be discovered by the police, and had rejected that plan. He owed a debt to this man—he could not leave him to discovery and disgrace. If what Connor had said was true, Maddison, in his capacity of brigand, was as much wanted by the police as Connor himself.

He drew the boat to the broken stone causeway with the heel of his boot, and put Luke aboard by the simple process of laying him level with the edge of the wharf and rolling him into the boat. It took a few minutes to balance him. As he himself stepped astride of the man, he heard the sound of voices in the yard, saw the flicker of electric lamps. Untying the painter, he pushed off with his hand, dragged an oar from under the reclining figure and paddled his way to midstream, keeping a sharp lookout for the river police.

He saw the launch coming down-stream at full speed, and drove his boat into the shelter of two moored barges as the tiny steamer swung in a semicircle. "A bit late," muttered the Gunner.

He was free from detection now, unless he met another party, and finding the second oar, he pushed Luke down between the two seats and sitting, rowed steadily downstream.

In an hour there would be day light; already the eastern sky was whitening. The Gunner knew a safe-landing near Rotherham; the tide was turning and would, he judged, carry him to safety.

He judged wrong, and saw, before he had reached London Bridge, that he could not make his destination in the darkness. He took his decision quickly. Stooping over the side of the boat, he filled his hat with water and dashed it in the face of the slumbering man. Luk shivered and groaned, and the Gunner repeated his experiment. He heard the moaning voice of the man at the bottom of the boat. "My head . . ."

"Keep quiet!" hissed Haynes. "I'm taking you to London Bridge Stairs."

There was no answer, and the Gunner prodded with his heel at the uneasily moving cargo.

"Do you hear me?"

"Yes, I hear you. What has happened?"

Haynes did not reply, but pulled at his oars and in a minute Luke heard the jolt of the boat striking against the stone.

"Can you get up?" The Gunner's hand gripped Luke's wrist and drew him to a sitting position.

With the boathook he drew the little skiff against the steps and came to land. It took five minutes before Luke could follow him. His knees gave under him, and he wanted all the support that his companion could give him.

"Sit on the steps," commanded the Gunner, and Luke obeyed. "Now try to stand."

For five minutes Luke sat crouched up, his face in his hands, and then the Gunner's voice aroused him.

"There are too many people passing over the bridge to please me," he said. "We had better get up before it's light."

He assisted the half-unconscious man to rise to his feet.

Neither spoke as they climbed the steep flight until they emerged flush with the footpath. The people who were hurrying across the bridge took little notice of them, and gripping his companion by the arm, the Gunner led him down toward Tooley Street. When he saw a slowly moving cab he hailed the driver and bundled Luke inside.

"My friend's a bit under the weather," he explained to the cabman with a smile. "Drive me to Lennox Street, Clerkenwell."

There was a large block of model buildings in Lennox Street, and for years the Gunner had had his secret headquarters in a fairly large flat on the ground floor. It was a place to which he very seldom came, and of whose existence the police were ignorant. It was his pied-a-terre, jealously preserved for emergencies. He had slept there two nights before, and the woman who came in daily had made the bed. Upon this he laid Luke Maddison.

"They must have given you a pretty large dose," he said. "I'll make you some coffee."

Luke shuddered. "Coffee—ugh!"

"Gave it you in that, did they? That's probably why you're not dead."

He pulled down the blinds before he lit the gas; then, going into the little kitchen, he made coffee.

The Gunner had kept house in places as wide apart as Biarritz is from Munich, and knew how to brew that delicious beverage. When he came back Luke was sitting on the side of the bed, his head in his hands. "A couple of aspirins ought to put you right," said the Gunner, and went in search of the little white pellets.

Luke gulped down the medicine, and then for the first time became conscious of his benefactor.

"Aren't you Gunner Haynes?" he asked.

Haynes smiled.

"That is my name."

"Where is Connor?"

Again that cryptic smile.

"In jail, I hope," said the Gunner. "Now, Mr. Maddison, are you well enough to talk?"

Luke looked up eagerly.

"You know me, then?"

The man nodded. "I knew you the first time I saw you. There's one thing I want to ask you—is it true, the story that Connor told? That you were in that smash-and-grab raid at Taffanny's?"

Luke nodded.

"I drove the car. I hadn't the slightest idea what they wanted me to do or what it was all about until it was too late."

"So you're the bearded man?" mused the Gunner. "That certainly is amazing. I'm not asking you to explain—"

"I'll explain as soon as my head stops splitting," groaned Luke.

It was after two that afternoon when he awoke from an easy sleep. His head was still thick, his mouth tasted like a limekiln, but after a cold wash at the kitchen sink he was near to his normal self; and over a cigarette and a cup of tea he told the story from start to finish, and this time reserved nothing.

The Gunner listened in silence making no comment until he had finished.

"Did you tell Connor this story?"

Luke nodded.

"Yes except that naturally enough I didn't speak about my wife and the—money. Why do you ask?"

Gunner Haynes pursed his lips.

"I don't know. Connor is a pretty bad man. Your only hope is that he's sent down for a stretch—by which inelegant word I mean a term of penal servitude. If he gets away with this police raid, supposing they find nothing on the premises—and like a fool I gave him plenty of warning—Connor is the sort of man who would investigate the most unlikely story if he thought there was a chance of money in it. And that is going to make your reappearance a rather difficult matter."

He lit another cigarette and started past his guest.

"Tell me why your wife hated you—you rather glossed over that part of your yarn."

Luke was silent for a long time.

"I don't think it's very difficult to understand," he said. "She thought I was responsible for the death of her mother. He shot himself."

"But why did she understand that?" persisted the Gunner. "Allowing that Danty Morell is a very plausible gentleman, she would hardly take his bare word." He thought for a moment, then asked suddenly: "When that boy shot himself did he leave any message behind?"

Luke shook his head. "I heard of none—nor was anything mentioned at the inquest."

"Who found his body?"

"Morell was in the room and made his discovery."

The Gunner nodded.

"And immediately after that Mrs. Maddison's manner changed. Of course, you weren't married then, but that is a fact, isn't it? If that is a fact, it means that Danty carried some evidence to the young lady that was quite sufficient to make her play this trick."

"I'm not blaming her," began Luke. He saw a flicker of amusement in the man's eyes.

"You are?"

"Well, not exactly," drawled the Gunner. "I've given up blaming people. There's no profit in it."

He flicked off the ash of his cigarette carefully into his saucer.

Follows His Old Chief

Hon. Edward Terry Sanford of Tennessee, Associate Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States, who died within a few hours of the late Chief Justice Taft.

"You can't make a sudden reappearance; you can't even get to Ronda and be sure you'll get away with it," he said. "You've got yourself mixed up with two bad gangsters—Connor and Morell."

He rose and paced up and down the small room, his eyes narrowed, his brow corrugated in thought.

"It's Connor that's worrying me. If he's held for trial, that problem is settled. If he isn't, and suppose you come back from Ronda, he'll be able to trace all your movements. Have you got your passport?"

He saw Luke thrust his hand inside his shirt, and a look of blank dismay came to his face.

"I've lost it somewhere."

Gunner Haynes's lips clicked impatiently.

"If you lost it at Keel's Wharf then you're in the soup," he said. There's only one thing to do and that is to get your passport back. There's another thing; I want to see the letter that that boy wrote before he shot himself."

Luke shook his head.

"I don't believe he wrote a letter, and if he did it was certainly destroyed."

Ten minutes later the Gunner left the house on his quest.

Haynes was not prepared for the kindness of Margaret's welcome. In a sense it was a little embarrassing. He had come not to give but to seek information. It was vitally necessary that he should not betray the fact that he had any communication with Luke.

"I'm afraid I was very rude to you the last time you came, Mr. Haynes," she said as she sat down behind her little desk and signalled to him to sit.

"You rather hurt my feelings about —" she hesitated—"a friend of mine, who isn't much of a friend as he was," she smiled.

The Gunner nodded.

"That's the best news I've heard for a long time," he said. "I was a little impertinent. I remember I asked you why your husband left you. I wonder you didn't send for the police."

She laughed at this.

"Do you know where my husband is now?" she asked, and when he shook his head her heart sank.

She had had a vague idea that this man might have come into touch with his benefactor.

"I can tell you where Mr. Morell is now," he said, with a twinkle in his eyes, "but that's not going to help you very much. I've come to repeat my impertinence, Mrs. Maddison. At the back of my mind I've got a notion I can help you and your husband, who I have reason to believe, is in Spain." He said this deliberately, his eyes challenging hers.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP
 MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 24, 1912.

Of Eldorado Success published weekly at Eldorado, Texas for April 1st, 1930.

State of Texas, County of Schleicher. Before me a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared L. T. Barber, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Editor of the Eldorado Success and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 411, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are: Publishers, L. T. Barber and Agnes A. Wright, Eldorado, Texas; Editor, L. T. Barber, Eldorado, Texas; Managing Editor, L. T. Barber, Eldorado, Texas; Business Manager, L. T. Barber, Eldorado, Texas.

2. That the owner is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its name and address as well as those of each individual member, must be given.) L. T. Barber, Eldorado, Texas; Agnes A. Wright, Eldorado, Texas.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgages, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.) A. T. Wright, Eldorado, Texas; Mergenthaler Linotype Company, Brooklyn, New York.

"Therewith To Be Content"

I ran across this paragraph in the note-books of Samuel Butler:

"I imagine that life can give nothing much better or much worse than what I have myself experienced. I should say I have proved pretty well the extremes of mental pleasure and pain; and so I believe, each in his own way, does almost every man."

Charles M. Schwab, at last reports, had more money than I—but just what can he buy with it?

Three meals a day. They will cost more to serve than my three, but if Charlie enjoys them any more he is going some.

A roof over his head. It will be a wider and steeper roof than mine, and more rain will run off it; but the rain that runs off mine will be just as wet, and underneath I shall be just as

A good night's sleep—if he's lucky. He can own more of the world's surface than I. But, try as he may, he can not breathe up any more of its air; he cannot absorb any more of its sunshine; he can not bribe the bean to give him any more invigorating bath; nor the evening stars to shine any brighter over his estate.

The world is full of pleasant sights and sounds and smells, and his ears and nose and eyes do not bring him any sensation a particle more sweet than mine bring to me.

Compared with the blessings we have in common, the few blessings which he has and I have not are insignificant.

The habit of contentment is formed, not from without, but from within.

"There is no duty we so much underestimate," says Stevenson, "as a duty of being happy. By being happy, we sow anonymous benefits on the world which remain unknown even to ourselves; or, when they are disclosed, surprise nobody so much as the benefactor. A happy man or woman is a better thing to find than a five-pound note. He or she is a radiating focus of good will, and their entrance into a room is as though another candle had been lighted."

It is strange that contentment should not be more widespread, considering how very common and close a hand are the elements that go into it.

Work is one big ingredient. Simple tastes—the power of finding great satisfaction in little things—is another.

The power to take things as they come, and enjoy them to the limit, is another. St. Paul, for instance, did a good-sized job, and left a shining record.

He was forever "pressing forward to his goal." Yet it was he also who wrote:

"For I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content."

ANNUAL CEMETARY MEETING

Do you want a caretaker at the Eldorado Cemetery this year? Will you help pay for one? Do you want to know how much money was collected last year; how much was spent and what it was spent for? Do you want to vote for the Officers for the coming year? If Eldorado is to have a pretty Cemetery, will you help by coming to the Court House for the Annual Meeting at which reports will be made and Officers elected. Come, if you are interested in any of the things mentioned above. Saturday, April 5th, 3:30 P. M.

W. T. Conner, Pres.
 Mrs. L. M. Hoover, Sec.

PISTOLS

The Massachusetts legislature is considering a bill to prohibit the manufacture of pistols within the state.

Nowhere else in the world are pistols sold so freely as in this country. And nowhere else in the world are there so many murders. Rifles and shotguns are used for sport. Pistols are made for shooting only one kind of game. Think that over. The only purpose for which a pistol is made or used is to kill human beings!

The knowledge that one carries a pistol invites attack. Most shootings arise from the fear that the other fellow will shoot first. The unarmed man is less likely to be shot than is the gun-toter.

IRISH

Wherever you go you can find folk of Irish descent. And wherever you find them you will find them with a finger in the political pie. Politics and fighting seem to be gifts with which every Irishman is born. One of the greatest leaders of the American Revolution was General Sullivan. A McMahon was a Marshal of France and afterwards President of the French Republic. Admiral O'Higgins is one of Chile's national heroes. O'Reilly street in Havana is named for a Cuban patriot of Irish descent. One of the members of the French cabinet which took office in February is named Hennessey. Tradition has it that the O'Bregons of Mexico were really O'Bliens. Three Presidents of the United States have been of Irish stock. Men of practically unmixed Irish descent control the government of New York City and Boston and of many other American cities.

The secret seems to be in the Irishman's innate ability to adapt himself to his surroundings, a quality which many other races seem to lack.

CHINA

The North China Republic seems to be on the way to firm establishment on the basis of democracy, as we understand it. That part of China has been free from war since 1923. The name of the old city of Peking has been changed to Peiping, which means "City of Peace." The leaders of the Nationalists party have inaugurated an educational program looking toward the establishment of a constitutional, representative government.

SAVATION

Fifty years ago, on March 10, 1880, six young women dressed in strange-looking blue bonnets with red ribbons across them and wearing blue capes lined with scarlet, landed at Castle Garden. They were the advance guard of the Salvation Army, sent across the Atlantic by General William Booth, that inspired son of a Jewish pawnbroker, to carry his militant Christianity, with the aid of the brass drum and the cornet, into the slums of America.

They and their successors have leached down to levels which the churches had never plumbed and lifted thousands of hopeless, weak and miserable human beings into a new

TEXAN AND TEXANS

By WILL H. MAYES

"All Texans for all Texas"

Business Before Politics

The only reason why political years harm business is that too many people have single-track minds, and get so excited about politics they neglect business. If one-half the thought, talk and the energy given to politics in Texas could be diverted into business and industrial channels this State would have almost magic development. If something could be done to spur business men to attend at least one business meeting of some kind for every political gathering held, great progress would be made; and if every street corner group found talking politics could be diverted into a committee for community advancement, even the least progressive places would take on new growth. Texas is a great State, but it runs too much and too often to politics. Business should take first place.

Building As A Whole

When a town or community decides that it is self-sufficient and not dependent on the rest of the country its progress stops. There can be no real life without outside contact. There are isolated sections of this country that were among the first to be settled but that are not as good for habitation now as when first occupied. There are ghost towns, now dead, beyond all hope of resurrection, scattered here and there among those that have been kept to the advantages of keeping up with the times. No place can lag behind its neighbors and keep up its pride or influence. Watch the march of those about you and keep step with Texas. It's great to be a Texan, if one knows

Texans Should Know Texas

Texans should get ready, and begin now, to hold a centennial celebration of a kind and on a magnitude to draw every citizen of Texas to it. While entertainment would be necessary to draw crowds, the greatest need is to show Texans, as well as the outside world, what Texas really is. Most of all, Texans need to know their State. "Statewide State pride" will result from a knowledge of what Texas has done, should get ready for a celebration of all he can about his state.

Scenic West Texas

Texans should get ready, and begin now, to hold a centennial celebration of a kind and on a magnitude to draw every citizen of Texas to it. While entertainment would be necessary to draw the crowds, the greatest need is to show Texans, as well as the outside world, what Texas really is. Most of all, Texans need to know their State. "Statewide State pride" will result from a knowledge of what Texas has done, should get ready for a celebration of all he can about his state.

Scenic West Texas

Unless a hindrance fall, more Texans will tour their State this year than ever before. They are learning that the mountains and hills of West Texas afford scenic attractions that are unsurpassed by other states. Marfa and Presidio are each erecting $200,000 hotels to take care of the expected travel to Southwest Texas. Tourist camps and hotels from the Rio Grande to Carlsbad Cavern will be thronged with tourists who will be out to see the mountain country and the wonderful cavern just over the State line. West Texas hospitality will be taxed to the utmost in caring for the crowds.

Civic Club Improvements

Civic clubs in Texas are dispelling the idea that they meet merely to eat, sing senseless songs and laud themselves. There is hardly a club in the State that is not actively engaged in enterprises for the good of its community—caring for orphans, establishing libraries, educating boys and girls, establishing and improving parks, operating playgrounds, building huts for boy and girl scouts, assisting all meritorious enterprises, and building up town and community spirit and pride. In a few places these clubs are largely inactive in civic matters because they can not do big things that make a show. Some people are that way too. At Sabinal, the Rotary Club has set out pecan trees in the park and this started other clubs to donating shrubbery and plants and otherwise beautifying the grounds. The results of a good example can never be foreseen.

Wisconsin Advertises Texas

That foolish Wisconsin reality board that undertook to keep Wisconsin people from buying Texas lands did a fine publicity stunt for Texas, and especially for the Rio Grande Valley. Northern people are pouring into Texas by the train-load to see for themselves what it is all about, and they are buying land. Many large sales are being made, one at $3,500 an acre for a 10 acre tract near McAllen.

Texas should not boycott Wisconsin manufacturers, who sell $140,000,000 worth of machinery in this State every year, but it might be well to divert a big part of that trade to other States just as a reminder that Texas doesn't need Wisconsin any more than Wisconsin needs Texas. It's great to live in Texas.

That Pecos Gateway

Barney Hubbs, now sole owner of the Pecos Enterprise, foresees a wonderful future for Pecos, which he boasts as the "Gateway" to Carlsbad Cavern, where new wonders are being found; to the Davis Mountains, the play ground of America, and to the Pecos oil field, where liquid gold flows from the ground. Hubbs is a typical Texas builder, who believes the first duty of the press is to tell the world in no uncertain terms that Texas, and especially his own part of Texas, is the best of all God's fine creations.

Adopting Chain Store Methods

Much is being said about the inroads of the chain store business upon that of the independent mercantile. The Corulla Record broadly intimates that this is largely the fault of hometown merchants and says they can't depend on local pride and sympathy for business. They must modernize their stores, must feature service along with quality merchandise, meet competition in prices, and adopt modern advertising and publicity methods. The chain stores themselves have shown the home-owned stores the way to success, if they will but follow that way. The independent stores have all the advantages, but too many of them are not progressive enough to use it. The old merchant ruts are worn too deep for safe travel any longer.

Truck Crops Increased

Truck crop acreage has been more than doubled around Jasper in the last few years and the growers have organized an exchange for handling their products. Reports are that more than 200 solid carloads will be shipped from Jasper this spring, consisting largely of tomatoes, radishes, cucumbers, beans, watermelons, roasting ears, bell peppers, egg plants, ogra and squash. A few years ago Jasper County farmers were satisfied to grow only cotton and corn. These are still grown, but vegetable shipments now increase their receipts about $200,000 a year.

Farm Auction Sale

Killeen, an enterprising Bell county town, started something new a while back; a farmers' lunch club. Now it has inaugurated a farm auction sale, at which an experienced auctioneer employed by the Chamber of Commerce, sells at auction, without cost to the farmers, any thing they may wish to sell, from the farms. Farmers are invited to bring in machinery, farm animals, anything they don't need or want on their farms, and the auctioneer will sell them to the highest bidder. Other chambers of commerce will watch the success of this movement with interest.

Strawberry Festival

Carriazo Springs will hold a "Strawberry Festival", April 5, and is expecting 10,000 people to come and eat all the fresh strawberries and cream they want. The town is working to make itself known as the strawberry center of Texas. East Texas strawberry-shipping towns now have sure-enough rivalry.

Wright's Paragraphs

We will consider Texas a good place in which to live again when the time comes, if it ever does, that the name of Jim Ferguson no longer appears in print in the newspapers of general circulation in this state. When that bird's blatherings are confined to his own "Forum" the paper in which road contractor's ads need to appear, you remember, then we'll consider the journalistic field purged. But if newspapers must publish what issues from his mouth, then for the sake of our continued good digestion, we wish they would hold our copy "until we call for it." —Ozona Stockman.

Brother White seems to not favor another administration by Farmer Jim, but he should not be so hard on his exchanges who do favor, or at least be charitable to our fellow man. We are for Tom Love that means we are as far from Jim Ferguson as politics can put us. "Uncle Bill Kellis" think we like Crow, but who's business is it if we do. There fore we feel like if one of our exchanges want Jim, we want to read of the reason he wants to support him. So Brother White if our choice does not meet with your approval just skip or shut your eyes, until we get through and forgive us of our short comings. We might be right.

Lynch Davidson would make Texas a good Governor, he's a good man, but we have very little use for good men these days, but we could support Lynch with good grace.

We are at least getting to where we don't get excited when we hear the train whistle. With three oil wells going down within the shadow of Eldorado, with good quality of oil already found in one, it won't be long until the liquid gold will be bringing handsome returns to some of our people.

If you don't think it is going to rain, ask Ac McCartney, he can remember when "it did rain and he claims he's still a boy."

Miss Jeanette Henderson is home from Hockaday School, Dallas, Texas spending the spring holidays. She is to return to school Sunday April 6.

BLIND MAN IS FOUND
Man believed to be Frank Bradley is found following dog on Highway No. 30

Picked up by a tourist in the outskirts of Abilene on Highway No. 30 a blind man at first believed to be Frank Bradley of Eldorado, Texas, was slater identified as George Hopkins of Kansas City. Although seemingly normal at times and possessed of partial vision of objects moving in a straight line, the man would become strangely unable to follow its course once the object swerved from a direct line. This queer condition seemed to be partly brought on by a nervous ailment which appeared to be greatly aggravated by memories of by-gone athletic contests. Through information secured from the collar on the dog he was following identification was made possible and a relative notified.

The Kerr brothers, Jack and Carl, are out for baseball. Both boys placed on the football team. Jack was tackle and backfield man and Carl played guard. Jack played on our basket ball team. Jack is trying out for first base on the baseball team and Carl is trying for catcher. We expect great things from these two brothers.

At baseball practice we see: Elzie Moore getting nervous and throwing the ball wild. "Fat" Williams getting hit with a ball. Jim West doing various stunts at shortstop. "Big" Bill McGilvary hurling the pill across the plate with the calmness and perfect control of a veteran pitcher. Brownie Bullion dodging Bill's fast pitched balls.

Farmer Jones Says:

"Whos, ye dad burned mulces! Whos! Hello neighbor Brown. How be ye and yer family? We are all well. Hev you about got all yer plowin' done? Well I would have been done plowin' but I been going up and watchin' the baseball boys practice and play some games. Did you see the games Friday and Saturday? Well, I got plenty of kick out of them. That boy they call Elzie good baseball player. He knock ed a home run Friday. I kinda changed my mind about him since that. I'll watch him and see if he keeps it up. Boy, I sure was glad to see him knock that there home run.

Now that little boy whose name is Jim West is purty good too. Now he—Mr. Brown, are you going? Well come back agin and I'll tell you about Jim West. So-long neighbor.

Get up mules! We gotta get this plowin' done so we can see all the baseball games next week. Get up!"

"RABBIT" JACK ELDER

Well, well, I heard a good one on Jack. Elzie Moore told it and I will tell it to you. Here it is, "One time Jack was working on a bridge. He was way up high when his foot slipped and he fell. His brains were lashed out on the rocks below. About this time a greyhound came along and the men who were working with Jack knocked the dogs brains out and put them in Jack. Jack soon recovered.

Everything went along nicely until Jack and several boys went hunting. As the boys strolled through the woods a rabbit sprang out of some bushes and scampered through the tall grass. Jack's greyhound mind then took control of his actions and he tore out after the rabbit. "Yap-yap. Bow-wow art-art." barked Jack as he chased the badly frightened rabbit. Jack did not catch the rabbit and he soon turned to normal. When the boys told what Jack had done people would not believe them.

Several weeks ago Jack, J. C. and Carl were in Christoval. While they were driving through a pasture a rabbit jumped out of the grass as before. Jack who was driving, stopped the car and started to jump out and give chase but J. C. and Carl held him in. They had a hard time keeping Jack in the car until they got to town. Now if any of you see Jack running around barking like a dog you will know he is only chasing rabbits.

APRIL FOOL

"Mr. Holt, is April Fool's day a national holiday?" asked Jack Elder. We had to catch Mr. Holt to keep him from hurting Jack. Can you imagine a big, red-headed, boy like "Red" asking if April Fool's day was a national holiday?

SCHOOL ENDS

School ends May 15. The graduation exercises will be held the night of May 15. There is plenty of work to be done by every pupil in school if he is to pass. The seniors especially should be working.

NEWSPAPER STAFF

There are only eleven remaining on the newspaper staff. Vera Wade is the new associate editor of the senior class.

In the Interscholastic League Essay Contest, Hazel Bruton won first place and Frances Ballew second. Hazel's essay entitled "Legalized Lobbying" will represent this school in the district contest to be held April 15.

Spelling and Declamation contests will be held this week. Some of the contestants have been forced to withdraw because of illness or other reasons, but we expect good work from those who are entering these events. This week ends the fifth six week period, and some people are now beginning to get anxious about that credit for this year. If these persons only continue to be a little worried for the next six weeks, they may derive great benefit from that as well as the concerted credit.

Nearly all of our students are back at school, and that makes things seem more natural around here. We should be able to do better work now too, when, rather if, we ever get some of the things we missed.

Miss Allen: "I will read you this theme, 'The Freshman Across The Aisle'."

Garland: "Did a Freshman write it?"

Miss Allen: No, A student.

Louise Raver is a new student in our high school. She is a Junior.

We wonder: Where Mr. Smart went last Friday night.

Why Bill's shirt is red instead of his hair.

Why Eli stays around the post office. Why Miss Orsborn watches William so? Who Garneate was with Friday night. Why the jail house is so popular when he comes around.

THE FRESHMAN ACROSS THE AISLE

Oh! the freshman across the aisle is a very bright, intelligent, and smart young man because he is in high school and not with the babies in the grammar grades, according to his ideas. He is even more intelligent than a dignified senior, even if it is his first year in high school, according to his ideas.

This "Fish" is a good natured, wide awake, and pleasant somebody until he thinks about being in high school and then he changes immediately and is more dignified than any senior in school.

He is very fond of the girls and by the time he gets to be a dignified senior he will be a hundred percent "ladies man."

He is a little better, in every way, than any other "Fish" or person in school, according to his idea.

He knows more about the world and all it contains than those people and could go almost any where and not get lost according to his ideas. He keeps his hair brushed back and makes it stay that way by using the nicest and best hair tonics there are because he is better than any one else. He never knows any of his classmates because he is so important.

But one can't expect any more from a "Fish," so what's the difference?

The "Fish" off 29-30 gradually turns to "Jelly Fish" in ways and especially actions.

THE DISADVANTAGES OF GOING TO COLLEGE

You say you are going to school this fall? Well, let me tell you, I've been to one too many of the things. You may think it's grand but it surely is not.

For one thing, at college you have to stay in a dormitory with a bunch of other boys or you and some one else have a room together. One is about as bad as the other. I've tried both. Now in the dormitory you just positively can not keep one thing. Perhaps the one who sleeps in the next bed will wear out the tie your girl likes best or use up all your hair oil or even borrow the sheets off of your bed because some nut has squeezed tooth paste all over his. Anyway, you do not have a thing you can call your own.

And in a room it is nearly as bad. Your roommate might be even worse than any one in the dormitory. Maybe he has some girl his "cuckoo" about and he raves about her all the time.

He makes you so sick that it makes you want to kick him. He writes this girl a dozen times a day. As he never has any stamps he borrows yours and never returns them. Then when you want to write your own girl all your stamps are gone. If you say anything about it to your roomy he acts like you are breaking his heart by even referring to stamps.

And when you get to be a Soph

MONEY TALKS

THE INVISIBLE ELEMENT

There is one phase of our service that you can always see, such as keeping an accurate account of your funds—

But it is THE INVISIBLE ELEMENT— That loyalty and wholehearted concern for the welfare of our patrons—which really makes our service a little different and a little better.

"DEPENDABLE SERVICE"

you are expected to go out and beat up on all the little old green Fish. Then you do not have a minute left to write your girls. Besides, half of the time, the Fish you jump on is a little bit bigger than you and you get the worse end of it. You come out if it looking like a lap dog that has met up with an alley cat.

And then if you come out for football or something like that your time is all taken up with that. Besides, you can't get a decent thing to eat because you have to eat at the training table. Yeah, it's a training table all right. It trains you so you can do without when you try to get a job after college is over, and you get a peace where you don't get much more than a street cleaner.

And there is another thing. Some folks think that after you go to college you can get a good job drawing lots of money. Well, it just isn't so. You get a place where you nearly work your head off and then in a month you don't get enough to buy a pair of gnats pajamas.

And besides, after you get to be an ex-student you always have to go back for banquets. After you get there everybody is asking you to donate something to the "fund for buying cats to dissect", for the Biology class, or to some guy that belongs to only nine of the Frats and can't join the other seven he would like to because he had run out of money.

Hump! Some folks think that college is a great thing, but I'll never go to another one.

SENIOR PLAY

A committee consisting of Vera Wade, Victoria Jones, Bill McGilvary, and William McAngus selected the senior play. The play is "Kicked Out Of College." This play will be a knockout. Don't miss it, it will be given May 2.

The Senior class has ordered cards and invitations for the graduation exercises.

There will be a "Senior Day" sometime before school is out. J. C. Klachen and Lylee Sharp and Elizabeth Bradley are on the committee to arrange for Senior Day. Garnette Lueddecke and Alta Stevens are on the program committee. This committee will arrange the program cards, fix the time of the programs, etc.

LETTING OF STEAM

Every human being has a right to say what he thinks, and so long as in saying it he does not directly incite others to crime or offend public decency, nobody has a right to stop him from speaking his mind. That is the sum and substance of our Constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech. There is hardly a person living who does not at time yearn for the opportunity to "let off steam" by expressing his opinion of the way the world is run, and of some of the people who have a hand in running it. A good many people are fanatics on the subject of speaking their mind. They love to attract attention to themselves, and to abuse those in authority. When officials try to suppress them, these vociferous ones are happy. It proves that the world is all wrong. They immediately become, in their own minds and the minds of others like them, martyrs to the cause of free speech. There is only one intelligent way to handle such people. That is to let them talk, preserve order in the crowd that is listening to them, and pay no attention what they say. And that is the way in which the Communist demonstrations early in March were handled in most American cities and elsewhere in the world. That didn't suit the Communists. There is no glory in being allowed to talk. What they want is to be prevented from talking. That gives them a high degree of satisfaction and gives color to their claim that free speech is not allowed in this country. So when they found, in New York, Chicago and elsewhere, that they were not going to be interfered with, they began to throw things at the police in the effort to provoke retaliation to which they could point as evidence of oppression. Talking hurts nobody unless the effort is made to suppress it. Like dynamite, these agitators are dangerous only when confined. Give them a chance to let off steam by talking their heads off, if they want to, and the rest of the world will go about its business without bothering with them. Try to smother them and a good many honest but stupid people will begin to wonder whether after all there isn't something in their claim that they are being persecuted. And that is the impression they are trying to convey.

HIGH WAGES REDUCE COSTS

One of the amazing discoveries which has been made in industry in America is that the higher the wages the less the cost per unit of production. Almost all of the larger American industries have learned this, but in Europe there has grown up a legend of the American workman as a sort of Superman, capable of accomplishment far beyond anything the European worker could achieve. There must be some magic in the air of America, Europeans believed, when they heard of American wage-earners owning automobiles and radios, having bathtubs in their homes, keeping their children in school clear through high school, and having scores of other luxuries which were forever beyond the reach of the worker in the Old World. They are beginning to learn that there isn't any magic about it. Sir Percival Perry, chairman of the Ford Motor Company, Limited, which controls all of the European Ford companies, has just issued a report in which he shows that the European worker can do just as much as the American and do it just as cheaply, provided he is paid proportionately as high wages and given as efficient equipment with which to work. We are employing Englishmen, Irishmen, Dutchmen, Frenchmen, Belgians, Danes, Germans, Italians, Spaniards, Swedes, Finns and Turks," says Sir Percival, "working in their own countries but doing the same job with similar tools under equal factory conditions. We compare how long it takes each respective man to complete his work."

And what they found out was this. The highest wages are paid in the Danish factory, and there the cost per unit of production was lowest. The lowest wages were paid the Belgian factory, and there the cost per unit was highest. The comparison was exact, for the same things were being made under the same conditions except in that matter of wages. They raised the wages in the Belgian factory and instantly production costs dropped.

That sort of demonstration is going to revolutionize industry all over the world. The old theory that labor was a commodity to be sought in the cheapest market has been pre-empted well exploded in the United States for a decade. Now the rest of the world is learning our secret. That won't hurt us, but will help everybody. Anything which increases the buying power of any people is of benefit to all the other people who have goods to sell. And prosperity depends upon the interchanging of commodities.

INTERESTING WRITERS

make an interesting Magazine. The new life and new enthusiasm that has been put into the New Christian Herald by Dr. Daniel A. Poling and Stanley High is emphasized by the quality of the authors who are writing for us:

SCHOOL NOTES

At Baseball practice we see:
"Buck Kent trying to catch, but can not."

"Fat" Williams talking so fast his mouth seems to be in perpetual motion.
"Shorty" Morgan chopping hot skinkers.
J. C. Bullion galloping across the diamond to catch a high one only to find he had misjudged it and it fell where he was the first time.
"Bear" Edmiston having because he had to play outfield.

DEBATE

Victoria Jones and Vera Wade will compose the girls debate team which will represent this school at San Angelo on April 18.
J. C. Kinchen and J. C. Bullion will make up the boys team. J. C. Kinchen is also a tennis player and J. C. Bullion is a track man.
These debating teams have been working a great deal getting in shape for the district meet. They expect to win.

Things we see:
Jack Elder talking to Miss Orsborn about debate.
Elzie Moore trying to get out of debating.

"Toby" Bradshaw in Mr. Holt's office.
Coach Smart blush at least a thousand times a day.

Elj McAngus getting put off the girl side of the play ground by Mr. Holt.
Buck Kent walking moodily along wondering how it happened that he was defeated in tennis.

SPEAKERS ENTERTAIN SCHOOL

The chapel program was given by pupils trying out for Eloquentness, Speaking and Declamation.
Garland Bullion made a talk on "Mevius New Criminal Laws."
Several of the grad pupils gave their declamations.
Everybody expected Elzie Moore to give his declamation but for some reason he did not.

Such assembly programs afford good training to young speakers and these programs are enjoyed by all.

TWO BASE BALL GAMES THIS WEEK END

The Eldorado Eagles will again try their luck at base ball this week end. Friday they will journey to Sonora where they will try to avenge the defeat that they suffered the opening of the season. The team are feeling confident that they will win this game and break the ice and start winning instead of losing any more games this season.

They have lost three that they have played so far but that is no discouragement to them or the fans. Both of the games were good games and both teams played a good brand of baseball.

Saturday will catch the Eagles in their own nest, when the Ozona team comes here for a game. This promises to be a real ball game. The Eldorado boys are planning to take this game away from the visitors. This is the first engagement with the Ozona team and there is no way to compare the standings of these two teams. But every fan can feel assured that he will see a good game if he goes to see them play Saturday.

A large crowd of rooters is expected to follow the boys to Sonora Friday and help the Eagles bring home the bacon. And a larger one is expected to attend the game here Saturday.

The business men of the town have given considerable support in the way of money, that was appreciated very much by all the boys and the coach, but they want your personal support on the field next Saturday afternoon.

Coach Smart has been very unfortunate this year in the way of athletics but no blame whatever should be placed upon him. He came here and undertook to coach a team that was absolutely green in experience of football and with a small number of light boys added in with this inexperience, which made it impossible to place a winning team on the field. He has worked very hard with the boys and has done his best and should be commended for the spirit that he drilled into the boys. He had them fighting to win most of the time and when they lost they took the defeat in a sportsman like manner, the way that all the teams of Eldorado have done in the past years.

Miss Lella Parker of Eldorado, Tex was one of the ten Sul Ross Co-Eds who hiked the 30 miles from Fort Davis to Alpine, in less than eight hours: to prove that girls are endurance men.

The girls are members of a college education class, in hiking. Although there were some sunburned necks and blistered heels the fair hikers came through in fine shape.

Mr and Mrs George Crawford of Laporte, Texas are making an extended visit with Mrs Crawford's parents, Mr and Mrs Tom Nick.

Mrs. A. J. Roach returned this week from Abilene where she has been with her daughter Mrs. T. J. Bailey, for the past week who has been ill, but was much improved on Mrs. Roach's return.

interscholastic school events, but many have had to drop out on account of illness. But it will still be a help to our school as well as to the pupils.

Those entering spelling contest are Elizabeth Bradley, Gusta V. Graves, Viola May, and Dixie Fought. The ones entering Eloquentness, Speaking and Declamation are Garland Bullion.

The following are entering Declamation: Garnette Luedecke, Vera Wade, Ruby Wilson, Lorene Shoemaker, Dahlia Fae Johnson, J. C. Kinchen, J. C. Bullion, Victoria Jones, Elzie Moore, Jack Elder, Loyce Sharp, Fannie Nardt, and Kenneth Green.

There were three to enter Essay Writing, they are Frances Bailew, Evelyn Anderson, and Hazel Bruton.

There were about twenty boys coming out for track events. After all I believe it will be a successful meeting, and next year we are counting on having more.

50 Years' Use of Black-Draught

"About fifty years ago," says Mr. Lewis G. O'Shields, of Portersville, Ala., "my mother gave me the first dose of Black-Draught, and I have taken it ever since, when I needed a medicine for constipation. I have used this remedy all my married life, in raising my children. I have used Black-Draught for heartburn, as I have had spells of this kind, off and on, for years. This follows indigestion, and indigestion comes close on constipation. I have found that the best way to head off trouble is to begin taking Black-Draught in time. It relieves me of dizziness, tightness in the chest and backache. By getting rid of impurities, Black-Draught helps to keep the system in good order. I always keep it in the home, and have recommended it to many people, in my time."

THEBFD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT
For CONSTIPATION, INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS
WOMEN who need a tonic should take CAROL. Used over 50 years.
