HE SPRAYS HENS.
THE NEW FARM PLAN.
HEADS AND FISTS.
FIRST AID FOR HOOVER.

Thousands that would not read an Einstein pamphlet will read this.

Walter Darsey, colored, of Atlanta, Ga., confessing to chicken stealing on a wholesale basis tells the judge, "I just sprays 'em with emoriform. Then stand back and wait. In about five minutes they flop off the roost and are ready for my sack."

That's more interesting to man of us than the distance of the fathermost star.

The "William and Mary" plan to subsidize exports of farm products is rejected by Mr. Hoover. The Senate plans, nevertheless to try it.

The plan is to give farmers exporting wheat, etc., a bonus of one-half the American traffic on all the wheat or other farm products exported.

After consulting the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce and the Treasury, Mr. Hoover says the plan would enrich the speculators and reduce world prices, since foreign markets would have to meet the competition of subsidized products.

Also, says the President, the plan would cost the country $200,000,000 a year, cause much bankruptcy and it would not solve the farm problem.

Farmers will cease moaning when they realize that the bonus money would be paid not directly to them but to merchants exporting products.

It needs "no ghost come from the grave" to tell the farmers how little they would get of that bonus. Wheat gamblers and the middle-men would get it. The farmer in his taxes would have to pay part of it.

Mr. Tunney, world heavyweight champion, retired, has been visiting George Benard Shaw on a small, sunny island in the Arctic Sea.

Tunney is barely thirty. Shaw is seventy-three. And Shaw, who has NGT retired, has no idea of retiring.

The head lasts longer than the fists.

Eight hundred delegates to the Red Cross Convention called upon President and Mrs. Hoover, and contributed first "First Aid" by refraining from the usual hand shaking nonsense.

Why eight hundred intelligent human beings should want to squeeze the joints of the hand and tug at the muscles of a busy man is not easily understood.

Handshaking should be abolished, since it means nothing and spreads germs.

Germany permits all survivors of the Emden to add "Emden" to the rest of their name. Thus Friederich Garbe is Friederich Garbe-Emden. Emden destroyed eighteen steamers and one cruiser before an Australian cruiser ended its career.

On the same basis Colonel Colonel Lindberg, Atlantic Ocean.

The recent rains have renewed the smiles of prosperity in Grand Old Schleicher.

We are prepared to supply the people of Eldorado with ICE. Would appreciate a portion of your trade. We deliver.

Short Wool is Bought For 34

Del Rio, May 14.—THE Val Verde Wool and Mohair Company has sold 400,000 pounds of short wool to Tom Richey of Lampasas, at 34 cents a pound, it was announced here today.

While other wool concerns in Del Rio have sold wool at 32 1-2 and 33 cents per pound, this was the top of prices in Texas for eight months' wool this spring. Wool of the three warehouses here were cleaned up by the sale. —San Angelo Standard.

Lions Elect Officers

The Eldorado Lions Club ended what they believe a very successful year yesterday and elected officers for the coming year. Several new improvements have been made through the work of the Lions Club the past year and we feel that it is something to be proud of in such a short time of the organization and everything being new and the officers being very ignorant of their duties. There has been quite a few expressions made by the citizenship, according to Mayor Fred O. Green, that the Lions Club has done more for the good of Eldorado than any other organization in the life of the town.

The only thing lacking in making this organization a complete success and we hope that this will be better this new year, and that is the attendance of the members at the luncheons. The average attendance of the members has been what you might call good, but this is not enough. The club started out with thirty charter members and now has the total of forty active and two honorary members. The members of this club will not be satisfied with less than 75 members. There are so many things that are to be done for the town that it needs this number to carry out their program. Everything will be easier for the Club to handle as they will be better acquainted with their work and with their past experience many more improvements should come through the work of this organization.

The following officers were elected, President, Joab Campbell, re-elected, Vice-President J. A. Whitten, Secretary-Treasurer, L. T. Barber, re-elected, Tail Twister, F. M. Bradley, Lion Farmer, Fred O. Green, re-elected, and Directors, John F. Isaacs, E. C. Hill, Don McCormick and W. R. Cobb.

Two members were taken in the club at the Wednesday Luncheon. They were H. F. Wiedemann, manager of the West Texas Lumber Company and T. W. Johnson local stock farmer.

Utility Companies Find Newspaper Ads Bring New Business

"Observing the use of large news-paper space by merchants, the electric and gas shops of the Pittsburgh utilities used 27 full pages last November and December. November business jumped 53 per cent compared with the preceding year. December business increased 30 per cent. The total gross business for the two months was $543,000. The news-paper space cost less than 5 per cent. The electric and gas shops closed the year with handsome net earnings on the invested capital.

"In Minneapolis and St Paul the central station company undertook a sustained newspaper effort to call attention to a low rate applicable to all current used ever a nominal amount monthly. Within a short time there was a very large increase in the new customers who participated in the low rate or the third step in the rate schedule. Advertising on an optional low rate schedule at the rate of 100 a day. "These examples are cited be-

Senior Class Puts on Play

On last Friday evening at the High School Auditorium the Senior Class 1929 put on their Class Play, an annual event for the Seniors of the Eldorado High School. It was well attended and in the opinion of many was the best play staged by this class in several years. The play was directed by Miss Jewel Flanagan, English teacher in the high school and the characters proved to be well coached and carried out their parts to almost perfection.

Investigation To Secure Holdover Traps For Stock To Be Shipped

There are some optimistic people in Eldorado yet. The Railroad Committee has made plans for the shipping pens for Eldorado and a committee will be appointed to see if there is a way of securing three or four hundred acres of land to use as a hold-over trap for stock that is to be shipped from Eldorado.

[This will greatly help the town as well as the snippers. People who ship from here will have a place to hold their stock until they are able to get cars here and this way the stock will not have to be penned up, making a loss to the shipper. This motion was made by J. A. Whitten at the meeting of the Lions Club and a committee will be appointed by President Campbell at the next meeting.

W. C. Mund is rapidly getting his new Barber shop in readiness for opening about the 23rd. of this month. He is installing a shower bath and will have a very modernly equipped shop.

Eldorado Defeats Sonora in Baseball

The Sonora Broaches evaded the Eldorado Eagles nest last Wednesday, only to get scratched up and plastered with a 6 to 3 defeat. Lefty Smith had the visitors well in hand for more than half the game when an error made by a wild throw from Wince Murphy accounted for the seventh by Ratliff who took full charge and the home team never in danger any more.

John McClelland did the pitching for the visitors and kept them guessing for several innings until a safety and a walk after two men were out placed things just right for the three base blow delivered by "Little" Murphy. The other scores were accounted for by a two base hit by Prince Murphy with the sacks loaded and later in the game a perfect squeeze play was executed by P. Murphy, scoring Hayne Graves from third.

W. Murphy led the attack with a triple and a single out of three times at bat. The Eagles have played only three games this season and are still hitting the 1000 percentage column. Big Lake was due to play here last Saturday but due to the heavy rains over this section were unable to get here. They are scheduled to play here this week end.

The Senate has passed the Farm Relief Bill but a three inch rain all over Schleicher County would bring more relief to our farmers.

Jess Ramey was in the city Wednesday smiling over the recent showers.

E. T. Trail Buys Ford Agency Here

Mr. R. T. Trail, of Brady, was here again Thursday and closed a deal with A. A. Bush for the Ford agency here. Mr. Trail has been connected with the Ford Agency at Brady for several years and understands the Ford business from the ground up. We regret to lose our friend Bush from our business circles but welcome our new friend and trust that his will be a wonderful business while he sojourns with us. Mr. Trail will take the business over in about ten days.

Fire Alarm Turned In As Car Burns

Tuesday night as O. W. Evar was filling his car at the Evar Motor Co., Garage, while his motor was running, the car caught on fire and was destroyed. The fire alarm was sounded and the truck was immediately brought into use and extinguished the flames in a short time. No further damage was done.

The town fire force soon turned out after the alarm was sounded, the hour being about bed time. Some reached the scene just as they were finishing their dressing.

Rails Bought For Railroad To Eldorado

J. A. Whitten announced at the Lions Luncheon Wednesday that most of the rails and material for the extension of the Orient to Sonora was already bought and on the road to San Angelo. The surveyors are at work and real railroad work will begin soon. It is not at all impossible for Eldorado to have rail connections by the end of 1929.

The Oil well being drilled by the Ft. Mc Kavett Oil Co., on the Louis Tisdale ranch will be drilled to 3,500 or 4,000 feet. The work was resumed the first of this week.

THE CAT CAME BACK—AND SO DID I

I did not forfeit my rights to come back to Eldorado, nor to engage in any kind of business.

I am opening up a New and Second Hand Furniture Store in the Rex McCormick Building and will appreciate at least a portion of your business.

Mrs. T. K. Jones Entertains Ranchman's Wives During Executive Meeting

Mrs. T. K. Jones entertained the visiting ladies to the Executive Meeting of The Sheep and Goat Raisers and many of the Schleicher county ranchmen's last Thursday at her ranch home on the San Angelo Highway. There were quite a number present but Mrs. Jones, as the people know is a very capable entertainer and the entertainment given the ladies was highly praised.

Both visiting men and women of this meeting frankly expressed themselves as one of the best that they had ever attended.

Wool Scouring Plant Activities

J. M. Jones, Manager of plant

The Wool and Mohair Scouring Plant, which was established at the A. & M. College of Texas in 1919 as a result of the active interest taken in wool and mohair shrinkages by the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas, has proved very helpful to the sheep raisers of the state. Active operation of the plant was begun in 1921 and during the ensuing eight years, more than 48,000 pounds of wool showing an average shrinkage of 60.5 per cent have been scoured for wool growers of Texas aside from thousands of pounds scoured from the Ranch Station flocks or experimental purposes. Valuable data have also been secured from scouring mohair samples, which will be discussed later on.

During the years 1918 and 1919 the estimated shrinkage of Texas wools was 67 per cent according to the Annual Wool Review published by the National Association of Wool Manufacturers. In 1927 the same publication estimated the shrinkage of Texas wool at 6 per cent or 6 per cent lower than in 1918 and 1919 before our wool scouring records were available. The wool growers of Texas have been generous enough to attribute the lower estimated shrinkage to the results secured at the Wool Scouring Plant.

Estimating the 35,000,000 lbs. of Texas wool as having a shrinkage of 61 per cent, the total amount of clean wool would be 3,650,000 pounds. An error of one per cent either way on the part of the buyers would result in a gain or loss to the wool growers of Texas of 350,000 lbs. An error of 5 per cent in estimating the shrinkage on such a basis would result in a gain or loss to the growers of 1,750,000 lbs. of clean wool, worth in recent years about $1.00 per pound.

Benefits Derived by Growers Who Patronize the Wool Scouring Plant

1. They have learned to know their grades of wool.
2. They have learned that there is frequently a very wide variation in wool shrinkage even within the same flock and there are regional variations.
3. They have learned the approximate production of clean wool per animal which after all is very important in the improvement of the flocks of the state.
4. Some growers claim that the Wool Scouring Plant is responsible for their being able to sell their wool on a 5 per cent lower shrinkage basis than before the plant was established.

Anyone wishing to send wool or mohair to the Scouring Plant will find banks at the First National Bank, L. E. Sumner, County agent or at the Success Office

THE HORRIBLE DREAM

(By Helen Craddock)

The Freshman Class of '29 is a noisy, worthless lot. They do not care what kind of grades they make Or whether it is cold or hot— I had a vision of all that was left for our class of 42. The dream was very queer, but also very true.

I saw Lucile Oglesby as a sour old maid— I thought I heard her say— "What! you don't know your Algebra?" Then after school you'll stay."

In the opera I saw Margaret Bradley. Her dress was above her knees. She was singing "La Poloma" And was afraid to sneeze.

Then I saw Master Jim West With a little black mustache— Sorry to say but a sour old maid appeared And he married her for her cash.

Hassell Ratliff, I saw as a bachelor— Growing bold and living alone— He seemed to have plenty of money But kept it as a dog would a bone

And there was Bernice Bricker A plump little rancher's wife. They seemed to have plenty of money— She leads a happy life.

I saw Grace Ratliff with her back all bent She was washing clothes For her husband Dan— I wouldn't do that for any old man.

Then my horrible dream came to an end I hope it will not prove true For I am sure they can all Find other things to do.

FRESHMAN YEAR

(By Francis Ballew)

When the Freshmen first entered the study hall they felt very foolish, at least I did. Part of us even took seats in the junior and senior sections of the room. Of course, we wanted to act big and make people think we knew just how to do, but that is one time we all got very badly fooled.

As soon as you enter the doors of the study hall the sophomores, juniors and especially the dignified Seniors start their unwanted chorus of "Fish! Fish! Fish!" We freshmen surely do not like that because some of us do not even know how to swim; therefore, we can not be fish.

When we went to get our first high school book and also, the first assignment, we felt very proud of ourselves. This foolish pride was soon shattered and knocked to tiny strings, because when we came back to the study hall the other grades began clapping their hands and the general shout of "Fish! Fish!" Burst upon our ears.

We finally got settled but did not like the idea of having to walk in front of the other high school pupils who always called us "FISH!" This was because we were not used to hearing things called fish which could not swim.

Next year is coming and with it there will be another eighth grade; that is, if any of them are as fortunate as we were. "JUST WAIT."

There was once a young lady named Alice, In her heart she held no malice, When offered a hut, She said "You poor NUT— I'll live in nothing less than a palace."

Ashes to ashes Dust to dust— Show me a smart Senior Before I bust.

Grace tells us that her grandmother says she remembers the time the stores sold more baking powder than face powder.

Dahlia Fae says she used to study more than she does now. Poor thing! It must have unnerved her so much.

One good point about Morris Whiten—he doesn't chunk paper at the basket like the other pupils do.

We sincerely hope that Edward doesn't wake every one up snoring the next trip he takes!

We wonder where the teachers of to-day get the things they tell their pupils not to do.

Miss Tyson: "Eva I want you to tell me who the English Sea Dogs were."

Eva: (pondering over the question): "Well, I don't exactly know but I reckon they were the French."

Hassell: "I wrote a note to Pauline and asked for a box." Grace: "Did you get it?" Hassell: "Well did I and how. She gave it to me on the ear."

Mr. Williamson: "When do the leaves begin to fall?" Bell: "The night before exams."

UP AND DOWN

One morning in MAY, Evelyn Anderson and Bernice Bricker had planned to go on a trip. As they started, it began to rain, which made the road, with many CROOKS and turns in it, very hard to travel. They went on, however, and reached KENT. There, they went to Bernice's friend's home, and while going they saw the janitor ring the BELL. He was giving them a SAMPLE of his accurate time. At this lady's home they ate dinner. An EBON-haired man said GRACE. The first course was BULLION soup served with BROWNIE crackers. When they took leave, their friends put a GARLAND of DAHLIAS on the car.

From there they went WEST. The dew on the grass shone like JIMS, the sky was BALLEW and the MARTINS were singing like spring CHICKS. They passed over a SWIFT stream and their FORD was drowned. They had to get out and WADE. They decided to turn a new PAGE and never buy another car like that. Finally, someone came to their rescue, but as they were starting they hit a SHARP rock that nearly ruined a tire. Just as they stepped out of the car Bernice found a GARNET ANNA PEARL. This made them regain their CHRISTIAN religion after almost losing it over the tire. They had their tire fixed, however and went onward.

They passed through a part of the country where Indians had lived and FAUGHT at one time. They found some old Indian GRAVES and other relics. After seeing these sights, they entered a small town. Evelyn who was the ELDER decided that she would find the SLOEMAKE(R) and have him fix her shoe that she ruined while crossing the stream. After eating lunch, they came to the decision that it was best for them to go home.

When they reached home they decided to travel no MOORE.

AIM TO DEVELOP BETTER RURAL NEWS
College Station— As an aid to county and home demonstration agents in gathering and writing constructive news of farm and home demonstrations for their local newspapers, an Extension News Writing contest is announced by W. H. Darrow, editor of the Extension Service. The contest is to begin August 1st and last one year, during which time the contestants will be given various aids from headquarters designed to sharpen the nose for news. Exhibits of printed material in the six classes of competition will be made at A. & M. College the summer of 1930 and judged by a group of editors.
[The contest is a recognition of the local newspapers as an important medium for extending the results of demonstrations to the entire rural public. The Extension Service is encouraging the closest cooperation between its agents and newspapers, not for the sake of self-seeking publicity, but to make demonstration work effective on the farms and in more homes.]

TERRACE BY LEVEL, NOT BY EYE
College Station—"Trying to run terrace lines by eye instead of the farm level invariably proves disastrous, yet instances are reported nearly every month of the attempt being made," according to M. R. Bently, farm engineer in the Extension Service.
A Tarrant county farmer tried it the other day and succeeded in drawing the water to the center of the field at the rate of a three-foot fall in 250 yards. M. C. Counts, county agent, straightened the mess out at a cost to the farmer of seven days' work, worth, as he expressed it, "the price of two levels."
"In Concho county last year Roy Terry, county agent, located three terraces on a field belonging to J. M. James, running the lines uphill, according to the boy who was helping. Lack of time prevented the building of terraces on the rest of the field, but when the rains came the boy discovered to his amazement that the terraces were true, and when harvest time came Mr. James gathered 23 bales from the 85 acre field. He estimated that half of it came from the terraced portion. A neighbor on similar unterraced land made only 27 bales from 160 acres.
"With thousands of farm levels scatterer over the state and with hundreds of men besides county agents trained to use them, there is no need of botching up a field by running lines by the eye. It just can't be done," Mr. Bently says.

Wife: "Do you realize, dear that it was twenty-five years ago to-day that we became engaged."
Absent-minded Professor: "Twenty-five years! Bless my soul! You should have reminded me before. It's certainly time we got married."

The Pessimist (Proposing): "Darling I love you. Will you be my widow?"

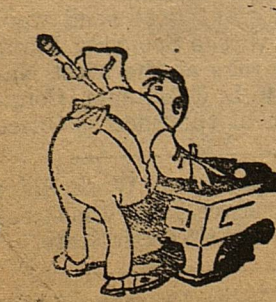

Boxing Instructor (after first lesson): "Now have you any questions to ask?"
Beginner (in a daze): "Yes, how much is your correspondence course?"

Roberts: "Are you sure your new invention will work?"
Edwards: "No; I'm only sure I'll have to do it myself."

WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TRAFFIC BULLETIN

The May term of hearing before the Railroad Commission will begin at Austin May 14. Several important cases are on the docket for consideration, among them being carriers application for cancellation of present carload commodity rates and ratings on approximately one hundred commodities and substitutions of [Tariff 60 (Southwestern) class rates and Western Classification ratings. This department will attend the hearings and take such action as may best serve the interests of our membership.

The re-opened Canned Goods section of Consolidated Southwestern Cases, hearings on which were held in Chicago, Oklahoma City and Fort Worth has been set for the oral argument before the full Commission at Washington on June 18th.

Effective July 1, 1929, the ICC will require counsel to register and be admitted to the Commission's bar which is established thru amendment to their Rules of Practice. Heretofore, no restrictions have been placed on practitioners. Under the newly adopted rules attorneys-at-law licensed to practice before the highest state courts and U. S. Supreme Court and those not attorneys but having such legal and technical qualifications as will enable them to render valuable assistance to the Commission, will be admitted upon compliance with requirements laid down in the rules.

Date for oral argument in Docket 20703, Rates on Dool and Mohair from all points west of the Mississippi River to eastern destinations originally set for May 18th has been indefinitely postponed.

A meeting of the Central Grain Committee who have been handling the general western grain investigation instituted by the Commission under the Hoch-Smith Resolution, was held in Fort Worth this week to consider the numerous features of the Examiner's proposed report and determine on further procedure in the case.

The official record of carloadings for the five weeks ending March, 2, 9, 16, 23, and 30, total 4,807,944 as against a total of 4,752,559 for the same period of 1928.

This department has taken up with the grain carrying lines in Texas with the view of seeing that all necessary precautions are taken in the matter of adequate car supply for movement of the forth coming grain crops.

LISTEN TO THIS ONE

In the time past in some countries where people are uncivilized, they worship idols and different kinds of false gods, but we thought that the people of the U. S. had become partially civilized but after reading an article written by a pastor of the Great Zion Church of Illinois by the name of Volivia or something like that, we are much in doubt as to the truth of civilization. The article was headed "The Earth is Flat" and was a rather long drawn out article which included many statements very much against the long teachings that the earth was round. We cannot give his arguments in full about this question as we want to try to put other things in the paper that are of greater importance than the narrow ideas of this would be Second God.
 He goes on to say that the sun and moon, the stars and other heavenly objects go around the earth instead of the earth revolving around them. This may be true and he may be the second God for all we know but we sincerely doubt the truth of this.
 He states that the earth has only one pole and this being the north pole, that it is flat and on the north side it is surrounded by ice bergs and no one could penetrate them. We do not know what is supposed to be on the other sides of the earth but we imagine the laws of gravity take care of them.
 Another's statements. We are willing to take the statements that have been made by hundreds and hundreds of scientists.
 He even predicts the end of the world in 1935 claiming that all the Bible points out the time for then.
 According to newspaper statements, the City of Zion is managed and owned by this wonderful man and most all of the inhabitants almost worship him instead of the true God. He claims that no one wearing bobbed hair, will get to the city of heaven, and many other narrow ideas that he relates in his article.

 We really feel sorry for a person living in this time and even thinking himself smart enough to tell when the end of the world is coming. We do not think that it shows any intelligence, just the reverse.

MAKING THE COUNTRY SAFE FOR HEALTH

Colleg Station—The battle for rural health through sanitation isn't won yet, but steady improvement is noted from year to year, home demonstration authorities of the Extension Service say. Indeed, it is not too much to expect, they think the fly may soon be almost entirely excluded from houses due to the constant screening of more and more homes. Last year 4100 homes were reported by home demonstration agents to have been screened, or flies, mosquitoes and other insects controlled in various ways, or sanitary one-houses built. The country is a naturally healthful place to live if simple precautions are taken but lack of information, agricultural distress, and high costs have combined to retard sanitation measures.

HOUSES

As a small boy, one of the most amazing passages I found in the New Testament, and one that taxed my credulity most, was the one containing assurance of "houses not made with hands." Had I not believed in God's word, I would have branded it a glaring falsehood.
 Young manhood came, and with it—broader perceptive powers. Rambling through a wooded pasture, I saw a snail creeping by the side of a fallen tree-trunk he was occupying his house, which hands had not part in building. It was a real home, too; one that filled every requirement of its owner.
 You and I live in houses not made with hands—these wonderful bodies of ours. They have been called temples, where the spirit of God dwells. Whether they are so, I must let the builder of the universe judge. I know that such a spirit may dwell here—if the temple be kept clean and fit for such a tenant. The spirit of God, it seems to me, has but little room in a temple dedicated to moral leprosy.
 We may own a hundred hand-built houses; may go in and out of them as we please; we may regard them as the last word of architecture, beauty and comfort; we may lease them to others; but, this house not made with hands is different; it requires our first and best care. Even the most trifling neglect may destroy it forever, and, when we once forsake it, we cross its threshold no more.
 It is my house not made with hands that gives me the most concern; it is worth inestimably more than any habitation that I myself might create. Therefore I will keep it clean inside and out, and be vigilant too to protect it from dangerous and destructive influences. I want it to last at least a hundred years, if possible.

KNOW TEXAS

Two hundred and thirteen states the size of Ronde Island could be included in the area covered by Texas.

From Texarkana to El Paso is further than from Texarkana to Chicago.

Annual production of raw materials in Texas approximates $1,500,000,000 in value or about 7 per cent of the total for the United States.

In the forests of East Texas are standing 17,000,000,000 board feet of pine and 7,500,000,000 feet of hardwoods. Annual production of 1,500,000,000 board feet keeps Texas near the top in America lumber production.

For nine years Texas has led all the state of the union in value of farm crops and there is not even a remote prospect that it will ever lose its place at the top of the list.

To lengthen the life of linens, remember these rules for their care:

Tablecloths and napkins of linen damask should be washed at home, if possible. Otherwise, select a reliable laundry where cutting solutions are not used.

New linens should be laundered before they are stored away. Then pack them in chests subjected to even temperature, always avoiding the concentrated heat of radiators and pipes. Cedar chests are probably the best containers.

Linen enjoys exposure to sun and dew; in fact, no substitute compares with this means of keeping them beautiful white. It also helps to preserve whiteness to wrap linens in fast colored paper when storing them.

An Easy Sunday Dinner Fruit Cup

Chicken fricasse Rice, Buttered spinach, Tomato salad, Ice box pudding and Iced tea. (Chicken, spinach and pudding can be prepared on Saturday.)
Eggs With Rice a Good Entree
 Use one and one half cups boiled rice, 6 hard-boiled eggs, one and one half cups white sauce, one tablespoon chopped parsley and one ts. Worcestershire sauce. Pile not rice on platter, cut eggs in quarters and nest in the rice; spread over all the white sauce and seasoning and sprinkle top with chopped parsley.

When Asparagus Arrives

Try baking asparagus with cheese sauce. Lay stalks (which have been boiled tender but not soft) in buttered baking dish and pour over them the cheese sauce, which is the usual white sauce containing grated cheese. Spread buttered crumbs over top and bake in a hot oven until crumbs are brown.

An Economical Salad

Finely shredded spring cabbage, diced apple and celery mixed with mayonnaise and garnished with chopped sweet pickle makes a tasty and economical salad that fits nicely into spring menus.

Prevent Odors of Cooking Cabbage

A teaspoon of vinegar added to the water in which cabbage is boiled will overcome the unpleasant odor.

CUPID TOO HASTY

One expects modern young folks to be fairly rapid, but some of them are exceeding the speed limits with their premature love affairs, too early marriages and runaway matches.

There are eleven states where girls 12 years old can marry if they have the consent of their parents and 36 where they can marry at the ages under 16. Even where the regulations are stricter, some youngsters are contemplating marriage at ages when they have scarcely finished playing marbles or dolls.

Parents often consent to very early marriages, feeling their children might run away if thwarted. Sympathy should be felt for families in this predicament but if they could stiffen up a little bit and give a little demonstration of discipline, there will be a better chance for a prudent marriage, also more likelihood that these young folks will bring up children who will be popular in the neighborhood.

The community often has to care for the children of imprudent unions, so it is well for marriage laws to be fairly strict. And these young folks who are so impatient for the sweets of matrimony that they are married first and tell the old folks afterward, hit quite a blow at loving hearts.—Human Interest Editorials.

ATWATER KENT
ELECTRO-DYNAMIC RADIO

It's the truest reproducer of speech and music you ever heard.

The tone is amazingly real. You hear all the notes in the musical range—without exaggerated thundering in the bass, with the same reality in the high notes. The receiver takes two power tubes—which means great volume, when you want it, without distortion. There is just one electric switch, and one cord to the lamp socket. It costs less than a coat an hour to operate this set.

Model 46 is so well made it will last a lifetime. And, because of big-scale production in the largest and finest radio factory, low priced. We offer it on terms that make it still easier to own this marvelous set.

CHAPTER IV

Comrade Pilk Henwether

I have never received a more royal welcome than that tendered us by those living at the Home. They had heard us coming a long way down the road—that is one of the advantages Grandmother Page has over most cars—and when we came around the turn the Home Band burst into melody.

"Burst," is absolutely the right word, as you would realize if you had heard the sound and had seen the expression of the players. Grandmother Page shied and nearly jumped into the ditch. The air was "The Star Spangled Banner," but the slide trombonist evidently had the wrong music. tuoso! I have never heard a bass-drum played more feelingly, even in Sousa's Band. What expression, what shades of meaning the artist put into it! You could just picture the bombs bursting in air. First came the boiler factory motif, then a minor counterpoint melody of bursting quick-detachable tires, and finally a reversion to the original theme in the major key, ending in a magnificent crescendo, a sort of tone-picture of a courtship between two coast-defense guns at two hundred yards range.

It was magnificent! Grandmother Page was shamed to absolute silence for the first time since we have been acquainted. As we pranced up to the gate the melody grew a trifle thinner. All the players seemed to be working just as hard, but there-suit was discouraging. One by one the artists would cease playing and shake their instruments with a puzzled look. At length none was left but the bass-drum player. He hammered away regardless until the leader took the drumstick away from him. Colonel Stewart the acting head of the Home, met us with outstretched hand. He was a fine, hearty old fellow with white hair and a close-cropped military mustache.

"The boys certainly appreciate your kindness in giving a show for them," he told us. "We're eight miles away from anywhere out here and they don't get many chances even to see moving pictures."

As I shook hands enthusiastically with the bass-drummer, Colonel Stewart said:

"This is Comrade Pilk Henwether. You'll have to speak pretty loudly to him, as he is nearly stone deaf."

"We're sorry we couldn't play that piece all the way through," apologized the bandmaster. "We know all the notes, but it's so cold that the wind instruments all froze up. I told the boys not to blow damp, but I guess they couldn't help it."

"Never mind," I soothed. It's probably all for the best."

He looked at me suspiciously, but apparently saw no guile in my eye because he went on cheerfully:

It will be all right when we get Then we'll play it again for you. nks and a cordial welcome to

We had a lovely time that afternoon. The old soldiers were as eager to play as the children. In the summer-time they had lots of visitors, but in the winter it was rather dull. The Home is on Three Bears Lake, eight miles from the town of Fair Oaks at the other end where the railroad station is. As a consequence few people take the trip in winter except for some special reason.

Colonel Stewart had lost a leg at Antietam. That did not interfere with a lively desire to learn the fox-trot, and Maryella spent an hour teaching it to him.

The bass-drummer Pilk Henwether, discovered in me a kindred soul.

"I like you, Mr. Bilbeck," he confided at the top of his voice. "I can sort of tell what you are talking about because you make faces when you speak."

The undertaker's bus arrived just before dinner. We all ate together in a large mess-hall. The dwellers at the Home cook their own meals and do all their own housework.

"That's the chief objection I got to the home," said Pilk Henwether, hardly raising his voice about a shout. "There ought to be some female veterans. I'm durned if I like washing dishes."

The dinner was good, all except the dessert, which was a fallen angel-food cake with ice-cream.

"Henry Klingman made it" Pilk confided, "and I think it's punk, if you want my honest opinion. But I wouldn't let him hear me say that because it would only hurt his feelings."

As Comrade Klingman was in the room and Pilk Henwether spoke in his ordinary tone of voice, there seemed little doubt

If you are considering the purchase of an automobile, you owe it to yourself to check the new Chevrolet Six against any other car—value for value and price for price!

Here, in the price range of the four, is offered a smooth, powerful, six-cylinder valve-in-head motor—which delivers better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline—and whose smooth, quiet, velvety operation, with its complete lack of drumming and vibration, is a revelation. Here are beautiful bodies by Fisher—with fittings by Ternstedt... rich, deep-tufted upholsteries and adjustable driver's seat. And throughout the entire chassis are found numerous examples of advanced engineering—such as quiet, non-locking 4-wheel brakes... ball bearing steering mechanism... and automatic acceleration pump.

But no mere recital of features can give you any conception of Chevrolet's value leadership. So we urge you to come in and see for yourself why over 500,000 people have chosen the new Chevrolet Six since January 1st!

Greater Productive Efficiency!

LOWER cost—greater productive efficiency. These are vital factors to the manufacturer who is planning to move his factory away from congested centers of population.

—Widespread power distribution and improved transportation facilities have fitted the smaller cities and towns for industrial purposes. Where living costs are lower, a lower wage scale is as effective as high wages in the large cities. Where living conditions are pleasant and home owning within the reach of moderate incomes, workers are conservative, productive, permanent. Where getting to and from work is unhurried and uncongested, valuable human energy is conserved.

THE cities and towns of West Texas have all these advantages to offer. With its 70,000 horsepower of electricity available, its three great generating stations and 15 auxiliary plants, this company insures industries abundant uninterrupted service, similar to that enjoyed in the great metropolitan cities.

He says the other one was shot off at Chancellorsville, but it's my private opinion he lost it running a buzz-saw after the war was over. Anyhow he draws an extra allowance as a one-armed man."

FIFTH INSTALLMENT

What Happened Before

THE Sheridan Dramatic Club of which Tom Bilbeck, the narrator, Maryella, the girl he cares for, and Jim Cooper the rival, are members, are to give Pygmalion and Galatea, at the Old Soldier's Home. Mr. Hemmingway, husband of one of the actresses, thinks Bilbeck is in love with his wife. The escape of prisoners from the local penitentiary keeps Bilbeck busy at his newspaper work, so that he gets away from the dramatic group. But Maryella summons him and starts telling the story of "Dillyanna" who believes that everything that happens turns out to be for the best.

The players arrive at the Old Home and meeting Pink Henwether and others.

Now Go On With The Story
Conversing with Comrade Henwether had its embarrassing drawbacks at that. It is true it didn't matter what you said to him, but on the other hand he had the trick of pretending that he heard perfectly and replying to what you said.

Thus unexpectedly when I asked him to pass the bread he responded: "Yes. He has got a funny nose, hasn't he? That's Herb Ahlswede. But don't let him know you think so, because he is sensitive—terribly sensitive. Until I learned to be careful about it I used to make him mad when I spoke about it."

The forty-four caliber look which Comrade Ahlswede shot in his direction would have pierced anything but a rhinoceros-hide; but Pink Henwether prattled on obviously.

"It looks as if he drinks, don't it? But that can't be, because he ain't allowed to here at the home. It's durn curious, and I've been puzzled about it ever since I come here eight years ago com next September."

Comrade Ahlswede half rose from his chair with a durable-looking iron-stone-china cup in his hand from which he hastily gulped the coffee. I was torn between a desire to appear polite and an impulse for self-preservation which was urging me to get under the table when Colonel Stewart rapped sharply on the table and a neighboring hand drew Ahlswede back into his chair.

"That's one thing I pride myself on," shouted Comrade Henwether, leaning closer so that I could hear him. "I am considerate, I am, and never hurt anybody's feelings if I can help it. No matter how funny a thing looks to me I shut up about it."

Then changing the subject hastily he observed in a confidential shout:

"That's a mighty pretty woman you have with you—the blond one, I mean. She ain't your wife, is she?"

I hook my head frantically. "No? Well, I guess you are kind of sweet on her just the same. I'm old but I can tell from the way you looked at her and the way she looked back at you—well, I miss my guess if there ain't a wedding party soon!"

Mrs. Hemmingway was blushing to her ears.

Pink Henwether saw it.

"Notice how she's blushing?" he observed. "I wonder if she could have heard what I was saying to you. If you want her, my boy, go in and win. I shan't stop you. If I was a little younger I am blessed if I wouldn't try it!"

Colonel Stewart rapped on the table again, but Pink failed to hear it. Finally he sent one of the men who waited on the table with some kind of a message to my friend. The aide tapped Comrade Henwether on the shoulder and motioned toward the swinging door at the rear of the room.

Pink rose reluctantly.

"I know what's the matter," he growled. "I got to eat my supper in the kitchen. I most always do."

Then he laughed, a laugh of triumph.

"But I fooled him this time! I got all through before hee caught me!"

Expostulating loudly with his guide, Comrade Pink Henwether was led away past the swinging doors to the kitchen, where a loud rumble from time to time reassured us that he still retained the powers of speech.

CHAPTER V

All For The Best

At eight o'clock the Soldier's Home Band played an overture in the theatre, which was improvised from the stable at the rear of the institution.

I will do that band justice. We had not heard them at their best out in the open. To get the full benefit of their talent you have to get them in a small building where there is no escape either for you or the sound. Never have I heard so much music in so short a space of time.

The curtain rose on Galatea and her apprentice at work. I did not have to make up until the first act was pretty well along, so I stood in the wings to watch. Maryella was resplendent in a flowing Greek robe and Mrs. Hemmingway's pearls which added just the final touch to the soft glowing flesh of her neck.

When I had finished my approving inspection of Maryella I allowed my glance to stray to Mrs. Hemmingway herself. She was dressed as before, except that beneath the skire of her tunic she was wearing voluminously ruffled pantlets which modestly covered the criticized hiatus between the tunic and the ankle. She had said that she would fix her costume so that her husband would not object, and she had succeeded—but at what a cost!

I had just barely become accustomed to Mrs. Hemmingway's concealed supports when Jim Cooper, the warrior, stalked on the stage. But what an altered gladiator he was! It was difficult to tell whether he was infantry or cavalry. His chest preceded him by at least eight inches. If you didn't look below the waist he would scare you to

It costs very little to recondition a MODEL T FORD

THE Ford Motor Company is making a new car, but it is still proud of the Model T. It wants every owner of one of these cars to run it as long as possible at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Because of this policy and because of the investment that millions of motorists have in Model T cars, the Ford Motor Company will continue to supply parts as long as they are needed by Ford owners.

So that you may get the greatest use from your Model T, we suggest that you take it to the nearest Ford dealer and have him estimate on the cost of any replacement parts that may be necessary.

You will find this the economical thing to do because a small expenditure now will help to prevent costlier repairs later on, increase the value of the car, and give you thousands of miles of additional service.

For a labor charge of only $2.60 you can have your generator put in first-class condition. A new universal joint will be installed for a labor cost of $3. Overhauling the carburetor costs $1.50; steering gear, $3.50; radiator, $7.50. A complete overhauling of the rear axle assembly runs between $5.75 and $7 for labor. An average price of $22.50 covers the overhauling of the motor and transmission.

These prices are for labor only because the need and number of new parts depend on the condition of each car. The cost of these parts is low, however, because of the Ford policy of manufacturing and selling at a small margin of profit.

He advanced to Galatea and told her in many tones that he loved her. She spurned him and when he tried to embrace her, she spurned him again in the same place, rather roughly this time. Something must have become unfastened or broken because he stood for a minute panic-stricken and then before our horrified gaze his chest sank cawn slowly and lodged conspicuously at his waist.

It was lucky that we were waiting for the end of the piece.

The rest of the piece was a trifle unfamiliar to most of the audience and the beauty of the lines probably lost upon them.

Tom's Cabin" vouchsafed Comrade Henwether to the slide-tron board, "but we won't let them know we think so. That's a sure thing."

He was the one that's in love with the fat fellow."

As the play was to go on and break the big drum over his head when a number of his fellow veterans made him subsist by placing their hands over his mouth.

At the beginning of the second act when the curtain went up on the standing on the pedestal where the statue had been. Comrade Henwether took one look at it and exploded into merriment.

It had to be all for the best; that I had to stand there because of my head.

One of the borders or hanging pieces of scenery was a yellow, licking flames were crawling over like serpents, it had not gained much headway yet, but it was a difficult place to reach.

I leaped from one pedestal. My first thought was for those old men crowded into the improvised audience chamber. Whatever happened there must be no panic.

I stepped to the footlights. "Colonel Stewart" I said, "will you please instruct your barge to call assembly and draw your want to play another piece. Where'll your hand be without me to play the bass-drum? Besides, I thought something like this would happen so I hid the music!"

Chuckling, he was yanked through the doors.

We picked up the threads of the story and tried to go ahead. I stood there with hands upraised and eyes fixed upon the spot where Maryella would enter. It was a hard pose to hold even for a few minutes, owing to the interruption I had been obliged to make there in that strained position for considerable time. My arms began to feel like leaden weights and a spot on my shin started to itch. It seemed as if I couldn't possibly keep from scratching over and scratching it.

It was maddening!

"It's all for the best; all for the best," I kept repeating. "If it didn't itch I wouldn't know it was alive."

But that didn't stop it. I seem as if it would take forever for Maryella to make her entrance and kneel at the foot of the statue.

"It's my dearest wish that my beautiful statue would come to life."

I tried to think how it would be possible to make it plausible for the first move of transforming the statue to be that of scratching the shin.

At last she crossed the stage. She knelt. She looked up at me. She paused. It seemed as if the words would never come. What was the matter? I counted ten. At last I looked down upon her. She was trying to speak but could not. Her eyes were fixed with terror upon a spot above my head. I turned quickly.

One of the borders or hanging pieces of scenery was a yellow, licking flames were crawling over like serpents, it had not gained much headway yet, but it was a difficult place to reach.

I leaped from one pedestal. My first thought was for those old men crowded into the improvised audience chamber. Whatever happened there must be no panic.

I stepped to the footlights. "Colonel Stewart" I said, "will you please instruct your barge to call assembly and draw your men up for inspection outside? Please hurry."

The colonel saw that there was some unusual reason for my request and did as I asked. The familiar blare of the bugle brought the old soldiers instantly to their feet and they filed out in orderly fashion at the word of command, not knowing what it was all about.

I told the women of the company to get out as quickly as they could just as they were and asked the men to help me put out the fire if possible and save whatever property we could.

The hope of extinguishing the blaze soon vanished. All water connections in the stable were frozen up and there were no chemical extinguishers. We tried to beat out the flames, but owing to the location above it proved impossible.

By the time we decided to abandon the building the fire had spread to the dressing-rooms and we could save nothing but a few things that were standing around the stage. Jim Cooper managed to rescue the barge and I got out with the papier-mache statue of myself. No one was hurt.

We stood, a disconsolate array watching while the barn burned. There seemed no one to blame for the occurrence of the fire, which had doubtless been caused by defective insulation in the electric wiring. As we had not put that in ourselves there seemed no reason why we should be considered at fault.

"It's all for the best," said Maryella brightly. "I didn't know my lines in the last act anyway."

Jim Cooper was standing dejectedly with the handle of the barge in his hand. The padding which was supposed to be on his chest had settled down once more and he had moved it around in back of him out of the way. It was a curious looking place for one's chest.

"I suppose it's all for the best he said, "but I wish I had been able to save my clothes. The Greeks must have designed this costume of mine for summer weather."

"If you're cold," I said, "think of me."

"I suppose everybody thinks I started that fire," complained the voice of Comrade Henwether. "But I didn't. The way I get blamed for everything that happens around here ought to be reported to the President of the United States."

To Identify Genuine Aspirin

THE increasing use of Bayer Aspirin every year is proof that it has no ill effects. It is the accepted antidote for pain. It always helps; it never harms. Quick relief when you've a headache, or cold; or are suffering from neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatic pains yield, too, if you'll only give these tablets a chance. But you want genuine Aspirin, so look for the Bayer Cross on every tablet. The box always bears the name Bayer and the word genuine printed in red.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacturers of Monacette, Germany.

This sidewalk proposition from the school house to town has been completely forgotten, it seems. This will be one of the best problems for the Eldorado Lions to start their new year on with. Say folks, this project should not be forgotten, as we have remarked several times before. This is the worst needed improvement that Eldorado demands at the present. Get out and talk it and see what the people will do about it. We have never seen them fall down on anything that they really believed to be essential to the town, and if there ever was anything essential, this is the one. It must be built and it will be built some time or other and this seems the best time to start. The summer will be the appointed time.

Mrs. Taylor Stillman was here this week, guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jones on the ranch.

J. S. Pelt, of Pharr, Texas, is visiting his daughters, Mesdames W. L. McWhorter and W. T. Whiten, this week. "Uncle Sam" says it's too cool here for him.

The Eldorado Lions Club was well represented at the State Convention of Lions at San Angelo last Friday. They were not so much in number but those that attended were capable of roaring fairly loud and more capable of taking on their share of the "feed" offered at the convention. Those that attended were: Fred O. Green, J. A. Watten, Ford O. Glesby, L. M. Hoover, Ed H. and Mr. and Mrs. Josh Campbell. They report a very enjoyable trip and praise the entertainment offered by San Angelo very highly.

PAINFUL INDIGESTION

"I SUFFERED a good while before I found something that would help me," writes Mr. E. W. Berry, of Neosho, Mo. "My trouble was indigestion, pains in my chest and a tight, bloated feeling that would make me feel smothered. "Speaking of this to a friend of mine, he told me that Black-Draught was good for this trouble. I went over bought a package. It certainly did help me, so I continued to use it. "I am in the transfer business, and sometimes when I would be hungry and ready to eat, I would have a call and would have to eat later. Then I would eat too much or too hurriedly. This would cause indigestion. After I started using Black-Draught, I found it did me a world of good. It is splendid for biliousness and stomach troubles."

Continuous Refrigeration

— 2 cents a day!

WITH

SUPERFEX OIL BURNING Refrigerator

This marvelous new Refrigerator brings rural homes another "city convenience"—continuous self-generating refrigeration.

In the country home, where sources of food supplies usually are farther away, the need for effective refrigeration is greater than in the city. The Superfex supplies this need at a daily cost so low that it saves many times over in avoiding food spoilage. And it saves thousands of steps.

From just a little more than a pint of kerosene daily—costing about 2 cents—the Superfex gives continuous refrigeration. Year around service (12 months) for less than the cost for two month's supply of ice—and think of the convenience—the health insurance—the economy.

Come in and see this marvelous refrigerator. Let us place one in your home for a free trial. See them on our floor.
