January 2, 1931

We greet you this 2nd day of January 1931, may you have much contentment during the coming year.

One of your needed resolutions for 1931 should be, a new leaf turned and a trip every Sabbath day to the house of God, surely the people of Eldorado and Schleicher county will have time for one day in seven to meet at the place of worship and commune with God.

Eldorado needs a hospital, eleven patients from here were in the San Angelo Hospitals at one time last week and the first of this.

Among the new officers that will be sworn in this week is F. M. Bradley County Judge, and O. E. Conner, Sheriff and Tax Collector, these two gentlemen need no introduction from the Success they are not old men but have been here a good while, but they will need one thing and that is the co-operation of every one in the performing of their duties to the best interest of all concerned, lets give it to them.

The Success wants to know of all your visitors both coming and going lets make it full of news each week. Phone us any item of news.

Sheriff Leudecke will quit his post this week, he has been serving as sheriff for the past sixteen years, and during that time, picked up one of the Calvin Coolidge habits, "He did not choose to run," and consequently will retire in peace this week. Just what his plans will be for the future he has not disclosed, but said he would be away from Eldorado the most of this year.

 The County Clerk and County Treasurer, John F. Isaacs and Mrs. A. E. Kent will hold office another two year by the will of the people, they have been faithful to their trust or at least have found favor with the Sovereign voters to that end.

WHY LET YOUR CREAM STATION CLOSE

The Success Editor was in conversation with Mrs. Roy Andrews, who buys cream for the creamery, and she informs us that she is getting very little cream and would have to close this station again unless more patronage is obtained. Having had this station in hand for some two years, ourselves we know that there is more work than pay in running it, but in a years time brings a good many dollars to the county for the rural people who have milk and cream to see that this station is kept going. The more you make and the more you bring on the larger station you will have, there is no such thing as getting too much. So The Success would like to see the Cream Station kept going and have a good patronage. It will bring back money to this county every week of the year, and this is no advertisement for Mrs. Andrews, it is boosting a community need.

Earl Chriesman and family of San Angelo attended the funeral of Mrs. B. A. Whitten last week.

The Editor and wife spent Christmas afternoon at Christoval with the tribe of G. M. Holland, all the Holland children were together for the day. Some coming from Stanley, New Mexico, for the occasion.

Judge and Mrs. J. A. Whitten, were called home from Mineral Wells last week to the funeral of Mrs. B. A. Whitten, Mrs. Whitten was at Mineral Well for her own health and will have to return there as soon as the condition of her son and grand children will permit.

BETTER COTTON SEED FOR TEXAS OKLAHOMA ARKANSAS AND LOUISIANA

DALLAS, Tex. Dec. 29 (Special) Mobilization of 350,000 bushels of State certified pedigreed cotton-seed by the 21 members of the Texas Certified Cotton-seed Breeders' Association to be placed at the disposal of the Cotton growing industry in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana immediately, to combat the production of low-priced short-staple cotton in this territory, was announced here today by B. A. Stufflebeam, general manager of the organization.

The announcement also declared that financing through the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank at Houston, to the extent of approximately $500,000, has been arranged for the Association.

A call for leaders of the cotton producing, marketing and brokerage organizations, together with representatives of the Federal and State Agriculture departments, bankers, A. & M. College officials, and others interested in the cotton industry to meet at the Baker Hotel in Dallas at noon on Saturday, Jan. 3, was issued simultaneously by Stufflebeam.

Complete plans for the distribution of the certified seed "to the places where it will do the most permanent good" in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, will be worked out by representatives of the various interested groups, at the Dallas meeting, and distribution will begin immediately thereafter.

"Due to a combination of unusual conditions which prevail this year, because of the low prices received by growers for low-grade cotton, and to the drought which has affected home-grown seed for 1931, there is presented a remarkable opportunity to solve permanently the problem of the production of short-staple cotton", said Mr. Stufflebeam.

"To take the fullest advantage of this situation, and help the cotton growers of the Southwest produce a longer staple product on which foreign growers are absolutely unable to offer him any effective competition, the members of the Association have voluntarily pooled their seed, withdrawn their individual selling organizations from the field, ceased all competitive selling effort, and united their entire resources so that the cotton growers may reap the fullest benefit from this unprecedented opportunity. The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, at Houston, has recognized the opportunity this presented, and lent its heartiest support by extending financing to the extent of nearly half a million dollars to the Seed Breeders' Association."

It is expected the general plan to be followed in distribution of the certified seed will include allocation of various standard varieties to localities they are best adapted to, and distribution of sufficient seed for farmers to plant small "seed blocks." From these seed blocks may be produced sufficient highgrade seed for the growers to plant their entire acreage in 1932.

Details of distribution of the seed available, and the method to be followed, will be worked out with leaders of the industry at the Dallas conference and the actual seed distribution will begin immediately upon completion of the detailed plan. The seed at present is held in 18 Federal bonded warehouses throughout Texas.

A SURFACED ROAD TO EVERY FARM

The American Country Life Conference at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, has taken a stand for a "surfaced road to every farmer's gate." It was pointed out that of the 3,000,000 miles of road in this country, only 300,000 miles, or 10 per cent, are state and federal highways. The remaining 90 per cent are classified as local roads and few of them have all-weather surfaces.

At least 80 per cent of all farmers are served by dirt roads which become virtually impassable to motor traffic in the winter.

The conference favors the use of surfaces whose wearing qualities will be adequate, but whose original and maintenance cost will be low. Such surfaces, bound by asphaltic oils, have been used in various parts of the country for many years, and have made splendid records of inexpensive service.

It was brought out at the conference that many farmers are forced to keep their motor vehicles at the junction of dirt roads with hard-surfaced main highways, and to transport themselves and their families between those point and their farms by horse-drawn wagons. Until such conditions are corrected, agriculture will continue to struggle against tremendous odds.

THE LOOK OUT FOR OIL

In a recent address, E. B. Reeser, President of the American Petroleum Institute, pointed out that the world is staggering under a weight of surpluses of raw materials of all kinds. The fall in the price levels of such staple commodities as wheat, coal, wool, textiles, base metals and the like is principally due to the fact that supply has exceeded demand.

Petroleum is, and has been for several years, in the same boat. As the use of the automobile increased and a great war-time demand for oil came into being, the industry searched feverishly for new sources of supply and better and more efficient refining methods. As a result, the United States has had the blessing of an always adequate supply of oil products at a fair price.

However, the increase in demand began to slack, while oil development continued. The inevitable result was production far beyond consumption. Surpluses oil then either had to be wasted or stored—this last an expensive procedure. Efforts of the major oil producers to limit production were defeated, in the beginning, by the activities of irresponsible whose sole aim was to drill, sell and move on to the next field.

Now, it is said, the work of the industry in the interest of conservation is beginning to produce results. In a number of great fields the unit system of operation—generally believed to be the most satisfactory way of limiting production—has been adopted with success. Both the thinking public and the oil industry are looking toward a time when demand and supply will be adjusted.

Efficient highgrade seed for the growers to plant their entire acreage in 1932. Details of distribution of the seed available, and the method to be followed, will be worked out with leaders of the industry at the Dallas conference and the actual seed distribution will begin immediately upon completion of the detailed plan. The seed at present is held in 18 Federal bonded warehouses throughout Texas.

DEBATING THE TARIFF

The debate over the tariff is apparently endless.

On one side are the high-protection zealots, who advocate tariff walls that will keep almost all foreign products out of the American market. On the other side are the "free-traders," who advocate a prompt leveling of all duties to allow foreign and domestic producers to compete here and abroad.

The trouble with the latter viewpoint is that it overlooks the vast difference between American wages and living standards and those in foreign countries. The trouble with the former is that, once the principle was adopted the buying public would be forced, in many instances, to pay an exorbitant price for commodities, and interchange of products between nations would suffer a death blow.

Wisdom dictates a middle course. By all means protect American workers and industries. But, at the same time, we must remember that now, more than ever before, foreign trade is vital to prosperity.

TREAT MINING WITH CONSIDERATION

The mining industry is in exactly the same trouble as a number of other basic industries—output of the mines exceeds demand. Prices have dropped steadily for some months. The general business depression has caused curtailment in the buying of metals, as it has caused curtailment in the buying of almost all other commodities. A vast influx of foreign metals has contributed to this unfortunate situation.

This is a problem that must be solved by good generalship which recognizes and acts in accordance with economic conditions. That mine leadership is doing this as evidenced by an intelligent program to adjust production to demand. The various metal-producing states, by careful legislative treatment of a great industry, can do much to assure mining a prosperous future. To do that is only the part of wisdom. When an industry employs hundreds of thousands of workers and is the principal purchaser and taxpayer in many states, it should—if for selfish reasons only—be treated with consideration.

RESOLVES

Custom has long, and not unwisely, associated the New Year with good resolves. It is fortunate for man that in the succession of days there should be one to serve as a starting point toward better things. For, as Robert Louis Stevenson wrote: "There is but one test of a good life, that the man shall continue to grow more exacting about his own behavior."

It is about the only sure way of progress, not only for the individual but for the race. Few things are harder to carry out than a good resolve. But there are many witnesses to the truth of Thoreau's heartening assertion: "I know of no more encouraging fact than the unquestionable ability of a man to elevate himself by conscious endeavor." —Country Gentleman

THE VALUE OF FERTILIZER

It looks, at first glance, as if it was a long jump from a great Wall Street financial institution to the farmer a thousand miles away. It doesn't occur to some folks that whatever affects the farmer affects the biggest banks in the country. The bankers know that, whether the farmer does or not. The Guaranty Trust Company of New York, for example, has just printed a study of fertilizers, not primarily for the information of the farmer, but for the information of the big business men who are the Trust Company's customers. It is important news to them that sales of fertilizers in the United States have continued strong during the financial depression, so that the total for the year will probably equal the record of 1929, which was next to the largest year in the fertilizer business.

From an investment point of view, the Trust Company argues, the fertilizer business ought to be a good one, since farmers are learning more and more the dollar value of fertilizers. "The average yield in the principal wheat-growing sections of the country, the company reports, "without the use of fertilizers, was only 12 bushels to the acre; the average cost per acre was $13.73 and the average cost per bushel was, therefore, $1.14. Wheat grown on the same land, under the same crop conditions, but with a properly balanced fertilizer, yielded an average of 23 1/2 bushels to the acre, with an average cost of 67 cents a bushel."

That tells the story of the dollar value of fertilizer to the farmer. And if it be argued that what is needed now is not more wheat, which is probably true, it is also true that, no matter what the market price of wheat may be, the farmer who grows it most cheaply will come nearer to making a profit than the one who does not use every possible method of increasing his acre-yield and cutting his bushel-cost.

A San Antonio, Jew's clerk asked him for a raise. The Jew said: "Why do you want a raise? There are 365 days in a year; you work 8 hours a day and that is 122 days; there are 52 Sundays in a year; you get them off. That leaves you 70 days. There are 14 holidays and two Jewish holidays, which you get, which leaves you 54 days. You take an our off for lunch moves 14 days, which leaves you 40 days. You get Saturday afternoons off, which makes 26 days, which leaves you 14 days, and I give you two weeks vacation each year. When in the Hell do you work anyway?"

LIONS CLUB GIVE LUNCHEON
By Eli McAngus

Eat! Well I guess we did. The Eldorado Lions Club gave the Football Boys an invitation to attend the Luncheon Wednesday noon, December 17.

After an introduction by Mr. Bradley, in came the eats and you can guess what happened next. Eat! Boy, but it sure was good, and if you don't believe my expression of it, ask several of the other boys who were there. Several interesting talks were made by the members of the Club. Coach Williamson expressed the thanks and gratitude of the boys for the support and entertainment the Club as well as the town have given them this year.

ORGANIZATION OF GIRLS GLEE CLUB

By Helen Craddock
After an announcement at school, Miss Lucile McWhorter met with all the girls interested in a Glee Club Tuesday afternoon and told them of future plans for a high school Choral Club. The name chosen for the Club was "The Melody Makers" or the "Double M' Club." All of the members seem interested and are looking forward to future success.

The members of this club so far, are as follows: Pauline Rape, Cora Sauer, Mary Delle Williams, Lola Davis, Margaret Sheen, Marjorie Thornton, Bina Sue Martin, Lucile Oglesby, Lorene Shoemake, Grace Radliff, Elvora Andrews, Anna Ruth Spurgers, Sammy Leudecke, and Fay Kenny.

They are hoping to get more members soon. The girls choral club will appear in a number of programs during the second semester.

Miss McWhorter, who has recently moved to Eldorado has had considerable experience in glee club work. In addition to high school membership in a glee club she was also a member of Woman's Glee Club of Southwestern University in 1928-29. During part of last year she directed a choral club at Bronte.

ASSEMBLY THURSDAY, DEC. 18

By Bill Currie
Santa Claus visited the school Thursday morning at the regular weekly program. He had prepared an excellent program and acted as announcer himself.

First on the program was a reading by Louise Bruton entitled "Three Truly Wise Men." This was followed by a piano solo by Eloise Whitten. Eddie Reynolds then gave a reading. Last on the program was a play "Telling the Story" given by the fourth grade. This showed how happy a sick little girl was made by being able to give her Christmas presents to the poor children of the community.

Santa Claus then bade us all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. The program was enjoyed by all and was very appropriate for the time of year.

The New International Encyclopedia, The Americana, The Americanized Encyclopedia, and Collins New Encyclopedia, are the encyclopedias which occupy the shelves at the front of the study hall. The reference books are as follows: History of Nations, Southern Literature, The New International Year Book, Home and School Reference Work, Harvard Classics, Popular Science, Several Books on modern Europe, two large Webster Dictionaries, Who's Who in America, American Citizenship several Home Economics books, The Volume Library, Miologies, and many books on Europe. All these books are placed at the front of the study hall so that students may use them at any time. All other library books are kept in the library and are checked out to students at two periods during the day.

ELDORADO EX-STUDENT

By Fannie Hardt
During the past week the registrar of Southwestern University, Georgetown, Texas, sent the mid-term grades of Fannie Hardt to the principal of the Eldorado High School. It is a custom of the colleges to report on all the freshmen so that the teachers of the high school may keep posted as to the work which the former high school students are doing in college. It will be remembered that Fannie Hardt who is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. L. D. Hardt, who were formerly connected with the Methodist Church in Eldorado and now live in Paint Rock, was valedictorian of the graduating class of last year, 1930. Her friends in Eldorado rejoice over her excellent record in college, thus far.

OUR YOUNGEST HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT

By Thelma Taylor
The first grade whose teacher is Mrs. Milligan had a tree. On Friday morning all kinds of mysterious packages were scattered around the tree on a little which the tree was standing. Holvie Enochs brought the Christmas tree. Miss Lee's first grade class also had a tree. These little pupils were very excited as this was their first tree to be had at school.

The second grade class had a Christmas tree too. Seems as if Mr. Pruitt it going to have quite a few Christmas trees to burn up. There was much trading when the children drew names. It is said that two small girls had a fuss over one little boy's name. They could not come to any agreement so they have stopped speaking. We won't mention the boy's name as it might embarrass him. Betty Jo Whitten brought the tree.

The third grade had their annual festival. They had the tree all decorated and had a very good time. The fourth grade had a tree. The snow was glittering on the branches of the tree and you would think it had been snowing. The suspense was (Continued next page)

METHODIST CHURCH SERVICES FOR SUNDAY JAN., 4, 1931

Sunday School at 10:00 a. m.
Preaching both morning and evening

The literature failed to reach us last week in time for distribution last Sunday, but the lesson for Sunday, John The Baptist, Luke 1:63-79. Below is a few words on the life of John by Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

John the Baptist was six months older than Jesus. Announcement of his coming was made to aged Zacharias, the priest, when he was offering the incense in the Holy Place in the temple at Jerusalem. That privilege was determined by lot and many priests never had that distinction, for there were so many of them. The 90 year old man could not believe what the angel Gabriel said and was made speechless as a sign until after the baby was born. When Zacharias came forth to pronounce the benediction on the people who had been waiting in the court his lips moved but no sound was heard. They "perceived that he had seen a vision in the Temple." That should be the objective each time we go to worship in God's house. After the annunciation came to the Virgin Mary she went to visit her relative Elizabeth, for she had been told that she too, though advanced in years, would bear a son. The unborn John gave signs of life when Mary came in and it was just then that Mary uttered the Magnificent in thanksgiving.

When they came to circumcise the baby John all would call him after the father-Zacharias. Elizabeth said he should be called John, and when the father was asked they handed him a writing tablet but his speech came back just then and he said "John." The nature and work of John were described in the Benedictus, a song that Zacharias gave at the time and in the prophecy of Gabriel when the birth was announced.

TRATING THE NEW YEAR RIGHT

There could be no better way for us to start the new year than to determine to do what we can, as individuals, to advance American progress and maintain the American principle of government.

Plain ordinary laziness on the part of citizens has produced sad fruits in recent years. It has caused high taxes, has been at least partly responsible for the business depression and has allowed the encroachment of government on private affairs to become a genuine menace.

Nineteen-thirty-one may prove to be a crucial year for the United States there is, at present, an undeniable trend toward socialism; toward a dictatorship of the office-holder. Unless checked, it will eventually get beyond all control. And it will be the citizens of the nation who suffer.

It might be said that the best way for us to go forward is to turn backward, in one particular, and again af-

Pale and Weak

"I THINK Cardui is a wonderful medicine, for I improved greatly after taking it," says Mrs. A. W. English, of R. F. D. 4, Roanoke, Va. "When I was just a girl of 13, my mother gave this medicine to me, and it did me a great deal of good. I was weak and run-down. After I had taken Cardui awhile, I felt much better. In 1924, my health was poor. I felt miserable, and hadn't enough strength to do my housework. It took all my willpower to keep up. I was pale and weak. I got Cardui again and took it. My improvement was wonderful. I can recommend Cardui to others, for my health was so much better after I had taken a course of the Cardui Home Treatment."

THE HOME GOES FORWARD

If consumption of electricity is an index of progress, the general business difficulties of the present year have not seriously hampered the forward development of our living standards.

For the first nine months of 1930 the total consumption of electric power by all classes of consumers was slightly above that of 1929, and 14.3 per cent above 1928. Domestic use was 14.4 per cent greater than in 1929—a rate of increase comparing favorably with that of former years. This increase is a reflection of the stimulated use of electric appliances.

Small commercial consumers showed a gain in consumption of 10.2 per cent over 1929 and large industrial users a decrease of 5.1 per cent. However, even in the case of the latter, consumption was 10 per cent greater than in 1928.

The fact that electric rates go down as sales go forward was again demonstrated. Domestic rates, on the average, have decreased 3.1 per cent since the beginning of the year.

Nineteen thirty has generally been considered a "poor year," which makes electric progress all the more remarkable. But electric power and living standards have virtually become synonymous. Each year finds the American home on a higher plane than ever before.

CONSISTANT PROGRESS

During 1929 the manufactured gas industry sold 524,115,000 cubic feet of its product to 12,139,000 consumers. Service was provided by 905 gas manufacturing plants, using 107,500 miles of main.

Since 1919 gas sales have almost doubled, and the number of purchasers has increased about 50 per cent. This remarkable progress is due to a number of causes, preeminent among them being the fact that gas is the most clean, efficient and economical fuel for both home and industry. No expensive and dirty storage places are required, and gas heat can be made entirely automatic. Gas has taken its place with electricity as an indispensable service.

ARGUMENT DOES NOT

HOLD WATER

AA critic of our constitutional right in the United States to own firearms, the necessity of laws to prohibit private ownership of firearms by showing that a larger proportion of people are recently presented an exhaustive article in which he attempted to prove murdered with guns in this country than in other nations.

By the same line of reasoning, he could probably show that more people per thousand are killed by automobiles in the United States, that more people per thousand are burned to death in fires and that more people per thousand meet with accident and death in constructing high buildings, at street crossings and in sports than in any other nation, all because our people are more active and generally more energetic, aggressive and careless than are the people of the rest of the world.

The critics of private ownership of firearms does not go on to show that in every time of national emergency, the United States has raised troops capable of using firearms, more rapidly than other nations. The argument that millions of law-abiding private citizens should be denied the ownership of firearms for either sport or protection on the theory that this would remedy the crime situation, the murder situation or the suicide situation, is visionary, far-fetched and impractical.

Prohibitory legislation which penalizes the masses in the hope of correcting the few, has always in times past created conditions worse than those it sought to remedy.

The Diary of a Freshman

THE HI-DIVIDE

the person who got your name was awful to have to sit and wonder what going to give you. But when the time came they could not check their joy.

The fifth grade had the prettiest tree of all in my estimation. The limbs were loaded down with packages. They had the tree at three o'clock.

The sixth grade had a box. This was the only room to have a box but their box was just as pretty as the trees. It was all decorated in Christmas Colors. The pupils were just as proud of it as the others were proud of their trees.

The seventh grade decided they would have a tree for several reasons. One of these was, because they found they wouldn't get to have one when they graduated to High School so would have one for the last time. (That is the last time for some of them.) We're not insinuating that anyone might fall in their grade but you never can tell. They had their tree at three o'clock p. m. Friday after noon.

P. S.—Miss Allen wished all the Sophomores a Merry Christmas and it seems that they are in for one. Her Christmas present to them was a real nice quiz. A very appropriate present, no doubt.

MIDTERM EXAMS

Midterm exams start on January, 14, 1931, and last three days. These ordeals will be much dreaded and they mean misery for the student body of the Eldorado High School. Some of the students should not dread them much as they saw practically the same exams over the same work last year.

The exams are to last half a day on each subject, or three hours if you wish. We are not going to take up any class periods to review as each student is to do that at home for himself.

All of the students have had a long holiday and should now be ready to study and review for the midterm exams. We expected Santa Claus to bring us presents and many pretty gifts but you can't depend upon Santa to pass you on the midterm exams.

(Fish!) Many of the students may do like the boy did who went to a class in Michigan and the professor gave a final exam. The boy wrote on his paper, "The Lord knows, I don't, Merry Xmas" and handed it in. The professor returned his paper with the following on it. "The Lord gets a hundred, you get zero. Happy New Year."

FALCON FEATHERS

By Joe H. Moore
Mr. Smith: "Where did these rocks come from?"
Old Tiver: "The glacier brought 'em."
Mr. Smith: "Where is this glacier?"
Old Tiver: "Gone back after another load."

Stranger: "Is Sonora a good place for the rheumatism?"
Old Man: "I guess so that's where I got mine."

Land Lord: "Sir, I'm going to raise your rent."
Tenant: "Thank you, for I can't raise it myself."

Englishman (On phone): Yes, this is Mr. Arrison. What, can't you hear? This is Mr. Arrison—Haitch, hay, twohars, a hi, a hess a ho and a hen!

Waiter: "Round steak madame?"
Miss Bradshaw: "Shape! doesn't matter so long as its tender."

ASSEMBLY DEC. 31, 1930

The student body marched to the auditorium by a march played by Gusta V. Graves. The program was rendered by the Third grade and Mrs. Robinson, the third grade teacher, proved that there was great promise of intertainers from this class.

Jack McClatchey was the announcer as well as taking an important part in the intertainment.

The first number on the program was a play "When Books speak for Themselves." A great lesson was taught from this play as to how people should care for books because of their value.

Genevieve Ramsay then gave a reading, "Any Mail for the Murphy's?" This was followed by a play called "Health Crusade." This play brought out the danger of dirty places and the necessity of sanitation.

The last number on the program was exercises given by the students of this class. Mr. Holt stated that we should not be surprised if we happened to see the Seniors on the stage pulling off these stunts sometimes.

The classes then returned to their respective rooms, better prepared for the days work.
