Workers at the YFZ Ranch were busy last week constructing a new ground storage tank for the ranch's public water system. The tank is going up near one of the ranch's new water wells in the northwest quadrant of the ranch.

Filing open now for City, School, Hospital District seats

Filing is now underway for seats on the Eldorado City Council, SCISD board of trustees and Schleicher County Hospital District board of directors

Five out of seven seats on the City Council will be up for grabs this year. The seat currently held by Juan Rojas in Ward #1 will be on the ballot, as will a one-year unexpired term in Ward #1 for the seat now held by Bill McCutcheon, who has already announced that he will not be seeking re-election.

Other city council seats to be decided this year include the one presently held by Toni Sudduth in Ward #2 and the seat now occupied by Tommy Minor in Ward #3. Both of those seats have 2-year terms, as does the office of Mayor, presently held by John Nikolauk, which will also be on the ballot.

Persons interested in filing for a place on the city council ballot may file in person at Eldorado City Hall.

Three school board seats will be decided this year including SMD-1, held by Eddie Albin, SMD-2 held by Jan Wanoreck, and SMD-5 held by Lupe Sanchez. At press time Jan Wanoreck was the only candidate to have filed school board.

Persons interested in filing for a place on the SCISD ballot may file in person at the school administration office.

Hospital board seats held by Ricky Fuessel, Susie Richters and Jim Martin are also up for election, each of the seats carries a 2-year term. Also, an unexpired term for the seat held presently by J.D. Doyle and an unexpired term for a vacant seat will also be on the ballot. At press time no one has filed for any of the hospital board seats.

Persons interested in filing for a place on the hospital district ballot may file in person at the Schleicher County Medical Center business office.

Annual Tornado Warning drill slated for Tuesday A.M.

Severe weather may strike with only a few minutes of advance warning. Do you have a way to receive a warning? Do you know what to do?

At approximately 9:30 a.m. on February 28th, the National Weather in San Angelo will transmit a practice tornado warning. The warning will be transmitted through NOAA All Hazards Radio (formerly NOAA Weather Radio.) Many area radio and TV stations and Emergency Management offices may also relay this warning. The call to cancel the practice tornado warning will go out at 9:45 a.m.

The test warning will be issued for the following counties: Throckmorton, Haskell, Fisher, Jones, Shackelford, Nolan, Taylor, Callahan, Sterling, Coke, Runnels, Coleman, Brown, Irion, Tom Green, Concho, McCulloch, San Saba, Crockett, Schleicher, Menard, Sutton, Kimble and Mason counties of Texas.

TORNADO SAFETY RULES

AT HOME: If you have a tornado safe room or engineered shelter go there immediately. Go at once to a windowless, interior room; storm cellar; basement; or lowest level of the building. If there is no basement, go to an inner hallway or a smaller inner room without windows, such as a bathroom or closet.

Get away from the windows. Get under a piece of sturdy furniture such as a workbench or heavy table or desk and hold on to it. Use arms to protect head and neck. If in a mobile home, get out and find shelter elsewhere.

If at work or school: Go to the area designated in your tornado plan. The most interior room, on the lowest floor without windows.

Avoid places with wide-span roofs such as auditoriums, cafeterias, large hallways, or shopping malls. Get under a piece of sturdy furniture such as a workbench or heavy table or desk and hold on to it. Get down low and use your arms to protect head and neck.

OUTDOORS: If possible, get inside a building. If shelter is not available or there is no time to get indoors, lie in a ditch or low-lying area or crouch near a strong building. Be aware of the potential for flooding. Use arms to protect head and neck.

If in a car: Never try to out-drive a tornado in a car or truck. Get out of the car immediately and take shelter in a nearby building. If there is no time to get indoors, get out of the car and lie in a ditch or low-lying area away from the vehicle. Be aware of the potential for flooding.

SkyWarn training slated Tuesday P.M. at Fire Hall

The Eldorado Volunteer Fire Department will host an annual training session for persons interested in severe weather preparedness and storm spotting in advance of the 2006 Spring thunderstorm season.

The training will begin at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 28, 2006, in the Eldorado Fire Hall. The public is invited to attend.

Operation Skywarn trains volunteers each year throughout the Concho Valley in methods of storm detection and communication as it seeks to augment other detection and warning systems employed by the National Weather Service. The aim of the program is to save lives by improving advance warning and storm reporting procedures.

Persons interested in becoming a SkyWarn storm spotter must have a reliable method of communication such as amateur radio or general mobile radio service. SkyWarn training is also essential. For more information contact Meteorologist Hector Guerrero at 325-944-9445.

Is the YFZ Ranch under high-tech surveillance?

Construction never stops inside isolated polygamous enclave

A large Air Force AWACS jet took several slow turns over the YFZ Ranch late Tuesday afternoon, prompting several local citizens to question whether law enforcement authorities were raiding the property.

The huge 4-engine jet, sporting a dish shaped radar dome on its back, was seen making several low passes over the ranch.

Local pilot, J.D. Doyle was one of the first to notice the plane. He stopped by the Success office to alert editor Randy Mankin.

By that time, however, the plane could be seen gaining altitude and flying eastward away from the ranch.

Sheriff David Doran said that he, too, had seen the plane but that he was not aware of any move that state or federal lawmen might be planning in an attempt to apprehend fugitive FLDS prophet Warren Jeffs.

Doran said he suspects the plane is one that has been assigned to the U.S. Customs Service. He said he is aware that the federal agency has taken an interest in the ranch, especially since a federal warrant was issued for Warren Jeffs' arrest last year.

It is doubtful if the radar dish, which is primarily used to detect other aircraft, would be of any use for surveillance purposes. However, is the plane is in use by the U.S. Customs, it is likely to be other sophisticated surveillance equipment.

There has been much speculation that Jeffs is hiding at the YFZ Ranch, especially since authorities in Arizona and Utah issued warrants for his arrest last year. Sheriff Doran, however, says he has no evidence that would indicate Jeffs is on the property.

Still, lawmen from several western states have begun to ratchet up the pressure on Jeffs and his followers.

In Colorado City, AZ., the traditional home base of the Fundamentalist Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, a series of depositions were taken last week in an effort to determine the status of equipment recently removed from property owned by the United Effort Plant Trust. A Utah judge stripped Warren Jeffs from control of the UEP last year. For decades the trust functioned as the financial arm of the church Jeffs now leads.

Bruce Wisan, a court-appointed special fiduciary charged with overseeing the assets of the UEP, appears determined to find equipment that went missing from Colorado City shortly after Jeffs and his lieutenants lost control of the trust. Colorado City police officers were reportedly among those being

This stockpile of propane tanks at the YFZ Ranch would tend to suggest that there several more buildings planned for construction there. There are already more than a dozen large residential buildings on the property, the largest of which encloses some 29,000 square feet. There is also a meeting hall/school building and a massive white temple, not to mention a dozen or so mobile homes, travel trailers and numerous barns and shop buildings.

Early voting underway now in Democratic & Republican primaries

Early voting began Tuesday in the Democratic and Republican primary elections. Balloting is being held in the Schleicher County Clerk's office for both primaries.

Early voting by personal appearance will continue through the close of business on Friday, March 3, 2006. Primary election day is slated for Tuesday, March 7, 2006.

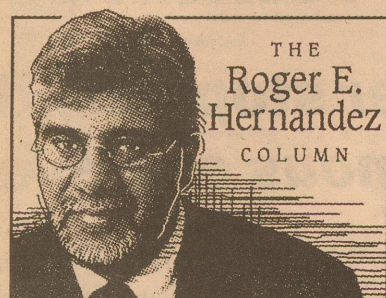

There are no locally contested races in either primary and only one local race that will be contested in November, that for the Precinct #2 commissioner's seat. Bill Clark, the incumbent in that race, is running unopposed in the Democratic Primary. He has drawn a challenge from Lynn Meador who is running unopposed in the Republican Primary.

Whose values are being implanted where?

We all have images we abominate, even if your taboo isn't my taboo.

The Confederate flag. Taking down the Confederate flag. That photograph by Andres Serrano of a crucifix dipped in urine. That monument of the Ten Commandments that Judge Roy Moore installed at the Alabama Supreme Court.

Ah, the much-hyped Culture Wars. Conservatives versus liberals in a fight for survival.

Hernandez
COLUMN

Do not believe it. In the United States, like in other democracies, these "wars" are not real wars.

You don't think the Confederate flag should fly at the South Carolina Legislature? Boycott the state. You're angry they took it down? Go protest. You say government should not fund "art" like "Piss Christ"? Write your congressman. You say government should not "sponsor" a religious symbol like the Ten Commandments? File a lawsuit.

What if you don't like a cartoon of Muhammad wearing a bomb for a turban?

For some Muslims the response is to burn embassies, kill a few people who had nothing to do with the drawing, and protest with signs that say: "Behead those who insult Islam" and "Freedom go to hell."

My taboo will become your taboo, or I will kill you.

Muslims -- religious zealots and otherwise -- understandably feel offended by a caricature stereotyping all members of the religion as terrorists. The disgust is not surprising in a faith that prohibits adherents from making any depiction of their prophet.

But no insult excuses the murderous frenzy across the Middle East in recent weeks. Even the most ardent opponents of Andres Serrano's sacrilegious handiwork did not demand his execution for insulting Christianity.

The problem, then, isn't that Muslim protestors object to the caricatures, a perfectly legitimate stance. It's that they object to the right to publish them.

This challenges the most fundamental assumption of free societies, where opinions are protected no matter how repellent. Worse, there have been challenges to the right to publish the caricatures even in a context of unquestioned journalistic responsibility.

A small group of demonstrators protested at the Philadelphia Inquirer because the paper ran one of the offending cartoons. The riots have become a huge global story that readers need to understand, and which they cannot understand unless editors show them the actual drawings.

Black people did not protest pictures of a Confederate flag over the South Carolina Statehouse in articles about the controversy; Jewish people do not riot when a photo of some lunatic in a Nazi outfit is used to illustrate a story about, well, lunatics in Nazi outfits. Context matters: Where are we if our media can't publish something that is purely informative, with no animus to offend?

The Inquirer is an exception among American newspapers, most of which have not run any of the caricatures. They have crossed the line from editorial decision-making to self-censorship.

Yet here we are, trying to implant our democratic values in the Muslim world. The way things look, the implantation of values is going in the opposite direction.

You wanna fill 'er up with Regular, Ethyl or Evian?

Back in the day you could drive into a gas station, we called them filling stations then, and an attendant would come to your car to ask what you needed.

Usually, as he approached the driver's window he would ask, "Fill 'er up?"

Since I could rarely afford the 3 or 4 dollars it would take to fill the tank, I would usually reply, "Gimme a dollar's worth of regular." It might be as much as two dollars' worth if I was feeling flush.

For that princely sum the attendant would not only pump the appropriate amount of gas, he would scrub the bugs of the windshield, wash it down then dry it off with a chamois (side and rear windows, too), check the air in the tires, including the spare in the trunk, then he would raise the hood and check the oil and water, belts and hoses.

With that I would drive away, set with enough gas to get me to school and back for a few days, plus what little running around I could afford to do.

My, oh my, how things have

OVER THE BACK FENCE

by Randy Mankin

changed.

Now, the two bucks that would once buy me a half-tank of gas won't even buy a gallon. A "dollar's worth" probably wouldn't be enough to get you out of the driveway.

I saw an editorial cartoon the other day where a man drove up to a gas pump where the gas station attendant stood ready with his cash register drawer open. As the bewildered driver looked at the posted gas prices the attendant smiled and said, "Fill 'er up!"

Let's just think I'm complaining, the same analogy would apply to just about every product in America. Everything from new cars to a gallon of milk, prices are up.

Car manufacturers defend their prices by pointing to governmental safety regulations and fuel economy standards. "If it wasn't for the government," they tell us, "things would be cheaper."

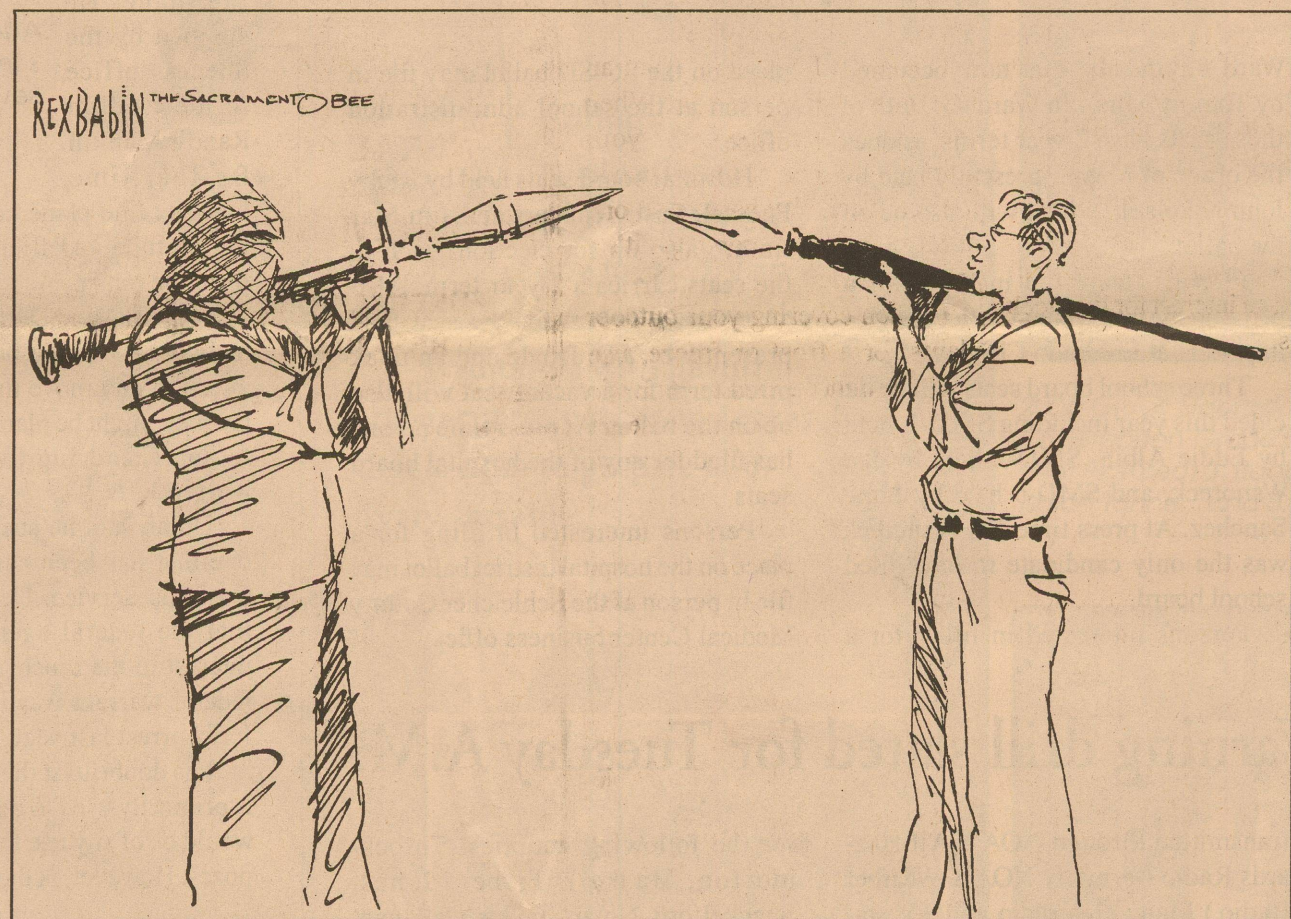

It's much the same with gasoline. Environmental regulations have prevented new refineries from being built, while additives required by government help drive up the already high price.

But if you think gasoline is high, try buying bottled water. While oil producers have to absorb millions of dollars in exploration and development costs, then pay ever increasing prices to lift crude oil to the surface, transport it to the refinery and turn it into gasoline, bottled water distributors need only turn on a tap.

Did you know that bottled water doesn't have to meet the same restrictions that are placed on our public water supply?

Then, calculate what a gallon of premium brand bottled water costs as compared to a gallon of gasoline.

Now, consider for a moment that the French water brand Evian spelled backward is NAIVE.

Almost a football overdose

When I got out of the Army I made myself two promises: I would never be cold again and I would never take long walks. Since my discharge, I haven't taken any more 20-mile hikes (marches) like I did in the Army. I have been cold, but not for very long. When my son Kevin told me he had bought me a ticket to the Cowboys-Rams game, I prepared for cold weather. I went to Wal-Mart and bought hand warmers, body warmers, foot warmers, heavy socks and gloves. I ordered a fleece cap from a catalog. I checked my supply of hooded sweatshirts, scarves and heavy coats. I was not going to sit in the stands and freeze. It's December, right?

I really didn't pay much attention to the weather forecast, which called for temperatures the day of the game to be in the seventies. I just knew a surprise cold front was going to come through and I was going to be prepared for it. When we left Kevin's house for the game, I was wearing a turtleneck shirt under my hooded sweatshirt and I carried an Eddie Bauer coat with me. My wife gave me a funny look.

by Tumbleweed
Smith

Kevin's 15-year-old son Jackson came with us. We got to the stadium parking lot early enough to toss the football back and forth. We were not the only ones doing that. Footballs of all sizes were sailing all over that parking lot. When the parking lot got crowded and we lost our playing area, we had a tailgate snack. As darkness approached, we headed for the stadium. I left my coat in Kevin's vehicle and carried my sweatshirt with me. It made me feel a little better when I saw other fans carrying quilts and heavy coats. There were also people wearing shorts and t-shirts. I never put on my sweatshirt. The game was fun, even though the Cowboys lost to the Rams 20-10.

While visiting Kevin and his family, we watched the Cotton, Sugar, Orange and Rose Bowl games. Wow. I had not done that in years. I observed things I hadn't noticed before, like coaches taking solitary sideline strolls during the games. Some were wearing headsets, some weren't. Some set a blistering pace, some were slow and ponderous. I saw Parcels doing that at the Cowboy game and he looked mighty lonely. Very seldom did a player ever approach him during the game. I thought the sideline walks might be just a Parcels thing, but all bowl game coaches did the same thing.

Another thing I noticed was some kind of cosmic problem with kickers. So many misses, both professional and college. All the bowl games we watched had final scores just 3 points apart. Alabama beat Tech 13-10 in the Cotton Bowl. West Virginia beat Georgia 38-35 in the Sugar Bowl. Penn State beat Florida State 26-23 in the Orange Bowl. Texas beat USC 41-38 in the Rose Bowl.

I hated to see Tech get beat. I'm glad West Virginia won because of the mine tragedy in that state. I was glad to see Penn State coach Joe Paterno win against Florida State. The Texas win over USC was the biggest thrill. Vince young owned that field. I've never seen a quarterback so at home.

Texas fails to submit hurricane aid application in time

by Ed Sterling

AUSTIN — Top officials thought Texas was going to get $2 billion of a $20 billion hurricane relief appropriations supplement from Congress.

U.S. Sens.

Kay Bailey

Hutchison and

John Cornyn

were among those surprised to learn Texas was left off the list of requestors.

Gov. Rick Perry's office said Texas' request was made.

Railroad Commissioner Michael Williams, whose job it was to communicate with the White House on hurricane-related funding needs and provide details, said he did his part.

Both senators said they would continue to work to get adequate funding for Texas.

Funds coming for services

On Feb. 16, Lt. Gov. David Dewhurst and House Speaker Tom Craddick, R-Midland, jointly announced the Legislative Budget Board had authorized the Health and Human Services

Commission to draw upon funds to pay for nursing homes, mental health care, trauma care and other programs.

The funding, which totals about $240 million, is a stopgap measure. Last summer, Gov. Perry asked for $655 million to cover the programs.

Since then, the agency has been waiting for the 10-member Legislative Budget Board to exercise its budget execution authority. Dewhurst and Craddick sit on the board.

Expenditures include:

- $4.3 million in general revenue and $4.3 million in federal funds to increase the personal needs allowance for long-term care facility residents from $45 to $60;
- $75 million in general revenue and $115.7 million in federal funds for nursing facility rate increases;
- $27.6 million in general revenue for EMS/trauma care; and,
- $13.4 million to expand the capacity of mental health state hospitals.

"By funding these services," Dewhurst said, "we are one step closer to delivering the highest-quality care to those who really need it — the elderly and the frail."

Report out on AP exams

Despite a 61 percent increase in the number of Texas students taking Advanced Placement high school classes since 2001, Hispanic and African-American students are underrepresented in these classes, based on percentage of population.

This information comes from the College Board's Advanced Placement Report to the Nation.

The report said 35 percent of the state's high school students are Hispanic, but only 32.2 percent of AP examinees are; and, African-American students, who make up 13.5 percent of the Texas high school population, make up only 6.8 percent of the Texas students who took AP exams.

"Ideally, the student population in AP classes should reflect the demographics of the school system as a whole," Education Commissioner Shirley J. Neeley said.

• Here's a tip straight from an air-conditioner repairman: When you write your check for your mortgage or rent, clean or change your air filter. You have to do one or the other every month, so it's a great reminder.

• When covering your outdoor plants for a frost or freeze, use sheets or light blankets, not plastic tarps. Moisture can condense on the underside of the tarp and harm your plants.

• "To keep a pen handy but out of the way, I Velcro-ed it to the underside of the lip of my kitchen counter. It's there, just not noticeable. I can pull it out with ease and stick it back just as easily. It is right below where my phone is on the wall, so I never have to scramble for a pen." -- C.C. in Texas

Eagles baseball team drops home opener

by Syllas Politte

The Eldorado Eagle's baseball team got off to a shaky start in their home opener, Monday February 20th. Hosting the very talented 3A opponent Midland Greenwood would prove to be too much for the Eagles.

Errors and a lack of offensive production seemed to be the major cause for the loss.

New Eagle Baseball Coach Geoff Pilcher said "Greenwood is a good 3A team and they have some very talented pitchers who can throw 80 mph pitches." Those pitchers ended up striking out the eagle offense 8 times. Senior Andy Mejia had the eagle's only hit of the game.

The Eagles gave up 5 errors to Midland Greenwood's none. "Anytime you give up that many errors you're probably not going to win," said Pilcher. He also remarked that he would like to see his team compete better.

This was not the Eagles day to play baseball. Greenwood got out to an early 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning off of a home run, and ended the first inning with a 3-0 lead.

The Eagles gave up 3 more runs in the top of the 2nd inning, bringing the score to 6-0.

came on Mejia's single in the bottom of the 2nd and that's as close as any Eagle player got to home plate.

The third, fourth and fifth innings saw the Rangers score 2 runs each inning, ending the game in the bottom of the 5th by the 10 run mercy rule.

This weekend the Eagles will compete in the Sonora Tournament playing Big Lake Thursday morning at 10 am. The winner of that game will play the winner between Sonora or Bracketville.

If the Eagles want to advance to the state playoffs this season, they are going to have to step up and be able to handle pitching of this caliber. Dropping the home opener is never easy, and with a Senior led team the Eagles are sure to get this team headed in the right direction.

Pitching powers Lady Eagles past Central

by Syllas Politte

Freshman pitching proved again to be just what the Lady Eagles needed to get a win over the San Angelo Central JV Tuesday February 23 in San Angelo.

On this night two freshman pitchers combined for 4 hits and 11 strikeouts. Freshman Cassandra Buitron pitched 3 innings and had 5 strikeouts giving up 1 hit and Freshman Bridgett Mitchell pitched 4 innings giving up 2 hits with 6 strikeouts recording her second win of the season.

Again, for 6 innings Tuesday the Lady Eagles were unstoppable with the collapse coming in the 5th inning.

The Lady Eagles showed that defense is one of the strengths of this year's squad.

Coach Daniels said, "We played a lot better defensively tonight and the pitchers did a real nice job." The Lady Eagles gave up 2 errors on Tuesday which was a vast improvement to the 5 errors recorded the previous game.

Mitchell said, "I thought we were more focused defensively, and it showed by us having fewer errors."

Defense was a bright spot, but outstanding hitting from the freshman sluggers led the offense again.

Freshman Haley Higgins and Corie Williams provided the spark that ignited the Lady Eagle's hot bats.

Higgins went 3 for 4 with 2 runs scored, 2 runs batted in and the only extra base hit with a triple. Williams also scored 2 runs on a 3 for 5 night hitting.

Are you ready for a WILD time?

submitted by Lyle Horwood, 9th grade, Sterling City High School

Consider attending a Wildlife Intensive Leadership Development known as The Texas Brigades, which is summer camp for youth.

Do you know a youth who would benefit from the involvement of this program?

Well, I did and now I try to tell others—talk to your son, daughter, grandchild or friend. It is a great opportunity and can be life changing.

Applying for the Brigades is simple you fill out an application form and type a single page essay on --why you would like to attend the Texas Brigades. The application can be found online on the website : www.texasbrigades.org. The deadline to apply is April 1, 2006.

Eldorado youth are encouraged to apply --if you are accepted there is scholarship money available thru the Game Association, contact person is Doug Garvin.

"Tell me; I forget. Show me; I remember. Involve me; I understand." This is the Chinese Proverb that the Texas Brigades has adopted as their motto.

The program is true to its motto as we are involved in every way possible.

I was fortunate enough to be selected as a cadet for the Buckskin Brigade summer before last. It was an opportunity of a life time. I left the Brigade with an increased knowledge of white tail deer and a new appreciation for wildlife management. After working all year I qualified to return as an assistant herd leader this past summer. I continue to learn more and desire to return as a helper once more. I would like to encourage all youth to check the Brigades out.

"Only in the Texas Brigades will a young person learn the life cycle of the turkey, what deer eat and why, how to age a quail, and the adaptations of the large-mouth bass. Through these and other activities, participants learn valuable leadership and critical-thinking skills that promote teambuilding and communication.

Each Texas Brigade is a five-day program for students ages 13-17 years.

You will hone your communication skills, try aging and scoring deer, discover the importance of water quality and watersheds, learn how to manage wildlife habitat, and develop a land ethic. Some of the top wildlife and fisheries professionals in Texas serve as instructors and mentors.

In addition to learning animal anatomy and behavior, aquatic ecology, botany, habitat management, and population dynamics, you will learn valuable life skills. Communication is the key as you write news releases present educational programs, and get comfortable being interviewed by radio and television reporters.

There are four programs to choose from: Bobwhite Brigade, Feathered Forces, Buckskin Brigade, and the Bass Brigade. Check our website for dates and locations, www.texasbrigades.org. If you are interested in wildlife and fisheries biology, natural resource conservation, or just enjoy the outdoors, you should apply to the Texas Brigades. You are guaranteed to love it!"

Senior Karina Sanchez had the only other run batted in for the Lady Eagles.

Higgins and Williams have both been consistent putting the pat on the ball over the last two contests. Higgins said, "I have to thank my Dad for the new bat."

I'm sure it is more than the bat. Higgins leads the team in RBI's and runs scored.

In the first inning the Lady Eagles jumped out to an early 2-0 lead over the Lady Bobcats. Then they scored 2 more runs in the 3rd and 1 run in the 4th to bring the score to 5-0.

The Lady Bobcats scored 3 runs in the 5th inning making the score 5-3, but that was as close as they would get. The Lady Eagles put it out of reach in their part of the 7th scoring more runs bringing the finals score to 7-3.

The Lady Eagles will be at home against the same Central team they beat Tuesday in a rematch at Lady Eagle field.

The game will start at 4 pm. Hopefully the Lady Eagles can come out with the same results. This is an exciting team to watch, so plan on making the game and cheering on the Lady Eagles as they go for a perfect 3-0 record.

Texas Cooperative Extension Service Offers West Texas Beef 706 Programs

by Steve Byrns

SAN ANGELO – Texas Cooperative Extension will host West Texas Beef 706, a four-part workshop for cattle producers, beginning March 1.

Dates, times and locations are:

- March 1, 5:30 p.m., Producers Livestock Auction for dinner and program kickoff, calf management and feeder calf evaluation.

- June 15, 5:30 p.m., Angelo State University's Management, Instruction and Research Center for dinner and review of calves at feeding mid-point, and observe best beef quality management and selection practices.

- Aug. 3, 5:30 p.m., Angelo State University's Management, Instruction and Research Center for dinner and review of calves as finished market steers. Review performance data and discuss grading and grid marketing.

- Aug. 22-23, 8:30 a.m., Angelo

State University's Management, Instruction and Research Center, for hands-on grading, virtual feedyard/packing plant tour, beef carcass cutting, tasting session, and program wrap-up.

Dr. Dan Hale, Extension meats specialist at College Station, said the program offers cattle producers a special opportunity to learn the best management practices to improve their cattle and profit margin.

"Participants leaving this program will have a much greater insight as to what's making money in today's cattle industry," said Hale. "The program centers around tracking a group of feeder calves from purchase to slaughter. The results may surprise even the most seasoned producer."

Every beef producer should attend Beef 706, said Joe Pat Hemphill, a cow/calf producer from Coleman.

"Whether you've been producing beef more than 50 years as I have, or you're a newcomer to the business, the information presented in Beef 706 is important and pertinent to our ever-changing industry."

Van Horn rancher Jon Means said the program is one of the most beneficial courses he's ever attended. "To be involved, hands-on, in the evaluation of a live animal and follow that particular animal to its value in the meat case is an insight to anyone in our business," said Means. "I would encourage every producer to attend."

The program is limited to 40 people. Contact Lori Sleeper, Texas Beef Council at (800) 846-4113, loris@txbeef.org.

Individual registration is $45 payable to Angelo State University at the first meeting. Hale said the Texas Beef Council is contributing more than $400 per person to cover most of the program's cost.

2006 REPUBLICAN PRIMARY BALLOT INITIATIVES

In December 2005, the State Republican Executive Committee agreed to place the following language on the March 2006 Republican Primary ballot:

Photo Id:

The Texas Legislature should enact legislation requiring that voters provide valid photo identification in order to cast a ballot in any and all elections held in the State of Texas.

Yes

No

Private Property Protection:

The Texas Legislature should place on the next constitutional amendment election ballot a proposition to protect private property from being taken for economic purposes.

Yes

No

Spending Cap:

Every governmental body in Texas should be required to limit any annual increase in spending to the combined increase of population and inflation, except for additional spending authorized by vote of the people or for official state of emergencies declared by the federal or state government.

Yes

Action postponed on proposed premises registration regulations

At their meeting Thursday, February 16, commissioners for the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC), the state's livestock and poultry health regulatory agency, postponed taking action on proposed regulations that would require identification of physical locations where livestock, exotic livestock, domestic fowl, and exotic fowl are held, managed or handled.

Dr. Hillman, Texas' state veterinarian and TAHC executive director, explained that postponing action on the proposed rule that would make premises registration in Texas compulsory July 1, 2006, does not mean that the issue has been resolved. TAHC commissioners will reconsider the proposed rule at a future commission meeting. The time, date and place will be announced in the Texas Register, on the TAHC website at <http://www.tahc.state.tx.us> and by public announcement. All commission meetings are open to the public.

"Although commission action on the proposed regulations has been postponed, we continue to encourage voluntary premises registration, which, as of today, includes more than 7,000 of the state's 200,000, or more, farms, ranches or other facilities," said Dr. Bob Hillman, Texas' state veterinarian and TAHC executive director.

Premises registration is the foundation for the three-tiered National Animal Identification System (NAIS), which, when fully implemented, is designed to enable animal health officials to trace the movement of diseased or exposed livestock or poultry within 48 hours. The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has spearheaded NAIS development since 2004, with the cooperation of national species working group committees.

In Texas, HB 1361, passed and signed into law in 2005, authorized the TAHC to institute an animal identification program consistent with the NAIS, and to collect fees, to offset some costs of agency operations.

"More than 600 persons submitted comments regarding Texas' proposed premises registration rule during the comment period which ended February 6," said Dr. Hillman. "The commissioners also listened to concerns from nearly 80 persons at the commission meeting Thursday, which was held in an Austin."

"Although the TAHC commissioners recognize the need for an improved animal identification system, they need additional time to consider complaints regarding the $10 per year fee, concerns about livestock and poultry identification and reporting requirements that, eventually, may be implemented on a national basis; and fears about the potential loss of privacy," said Dr. Hillman.

Dr. Hillman explained that premises registration, the only aspect of the NAIS currently under consideration in Texas, involves providing the TAHC with a contact name, phone number, physical address and the species (but not the number of animals) housed, managed or handled on a site, such as a farm, veterinary clinic, arena, or livestock market. Information is confidential. A unique seven-character premises identification number (PIN) then is issued for the site.

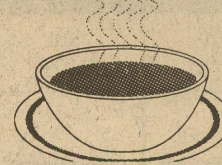

All states have begun implementation of premises registration.

Premises registration is required in Wisconsin and North Carolina. In Indiana, registration will be required starting September 1, 2006. Premises registration currently is voluntary in all other states. About 200,000 premises in the U.S. now are identified.

"National working groups for each involved species are developing recommendations for the second and third tiers of the NAIS, which, depending on the situation, will involve identifying either individual animals, or groups of animals, leaving their premises of origin or moving in commerce. The third tier will involve animal movement reporting and tracking, making it possible to locate diseased or exposed animals quickly," said Dr. Hillman.

Links to additional information about the NAIS are posted on the TAHC's web site at <http://www.tahc.state.tx.us>.

Warren Jeffs remains elusive as colony at YFZ Ranch continues to grow questioned. On Tuesday of this week, the prophet's 32-year-old brother, Seth Jeffs, asked a federal judge in Denver to return property confiscated from his 2005 Ford Expedition after he was arrested on Oct. 28, 2005 and charged with shielding Warren Jeffs from prosecution. Reportedly among the items Jeffs wants returned is a laptop computer and an electronic global positioning system.

No ruling was issued in the case and Seth Jeffs attorneys, as well as federal prosecutors will submit written arguments so that the judge may further weigh his decision.

All the while a federal grand jury is believed to be considering evidence collected from Seth Jeffs' vehicle. Grand jury testimony is secret by law and federal authorities remain tight-lipped about any progress on that front. It is known, however, that FBI agents attempted to serve a number of grand jury subpoenas in Colorado City, AZ recently. Some reports say the G-men attempted to serve as many as 66 subpoenas but were only able to successfully deliver a handful. It is believed that some of the men who managed to avoid the subpoenas are presently at the YFZ Ranch near Eldorado. It is unknown when or if the FBI will try to reissue the subpoenas.

Meanwhile, construction at the YFZ Ranch continues unabated. With the group's massive temple apparently complete, workmen have turned their attention to construction a large ground storage tank for the ranch's public water system. The system is licensed by the Texas Commission on Environment Quality and is supplied by wells drilled under permit from the Plateau Underground Water District.

Also going up is another large residential building similar in size to one Schleicher County chief tax appraiser Scott Sutton measured in late December 2004. That particular building enclosed more than 29,000 square feet.

Another large building is going up near the site where the ranch's sewer plant is slated to be built. Construction on the plant was halted, however, when several parties, including Tom Green County, the City of San Angelo and the Upper Colorado River Authority contested the ranch's application for a wastewater permit. As yet, there has been no settlement on that issue and the TCEQ has not issued a final permit for the wastewater plant.

an intermediate solution, the Texas Department of State Health Services said earlier this month.

"If children have outgrown a safety seat but are less than 4 feet 9 inches tall, they need a booster seat," said Frank Luera, director of the state health agency's Safe Riders Traffic Safety program. The booster seat lifts the child so that the seat belt fits correctly — low on the child's hips, Luera said.

Miller's Tales OF MISBEHAVIOR

by Matthew E. Miller

MAN ACCUSED OF DYING ACQUITTED

The Durango Herald (Colorado) reports that a passerby found a man, possibly dead, lying on the ground. The passerby refused to perform resuscitative measures or even to check for signs of life. Unprovoked, the man on the ground awoke.

MAN DRINKS TOO MUCH

The Campbell Reporter (California) reports that at 2:35 a.m. on a Sunday, a man got too drunk and passed out on someone's porch.

HOUSE'S DIGNITY ASSAULTED

The Union (Western Nevada County, Calif.) reports that a caller complained that at 5:30 a.m., someone squirted liquid on her house.

ONE-MAN CRIME SPREE THWARTED

The Daily News (Longview, Wash.) reports that late one Wednesday, the Washington State Patrol stopped a white Ford van driven by a man reported to be passing counterfeit $20 bills in a convenience store. Troopers found methamphetamine and heroin in the van. The man tested positive for drugs and admitted he knew the bills were counterfeit. Police booked the man for taking a motor vehicle, for forgery, for narcotics possession, for driving under the influence and for driving with a suspended license.

THIS IS SAD

The Arcata Eye (California) reports a woman sat for hours in a car by the side of the road, waiting for her boyfriend, who had set off on a quest for a taillight fuse. Prone to losses of consciousness, she could not drive. She waited for him, but he did not return.

CRIME-FIGHTING SPIRIT TEMPERED BY HUSBAND

WALB-TV News (Albany, Ga.) reports how a man confronted and detained two unarmed teenagers who were burgling his backyard shed. His wife retrieved his pistol and said, "I got the gun, honey. You want me to shoot him?" The man told his wife not to shoot anyone, just to call the police. The couple held the prisoners at gunpoint until police arrived.

PUBLIC NOTICE BY SCHLEICHER COUNTY

Chapter 258 of the Texas Transportation Code (AChapter 258") authorizes a county to clarify the existence of a public right of access over certain county roads. Under Chapter 258, the commissioners court of a county may propose and, after an opportunity for affected landowners to object to the inclusion of certain roads, to adopt a county roads map that includes each road in which the county claims the existence of a public interest because of documented county ownership or as a result of the county having continuously maintained the road since before September 1, 1981.

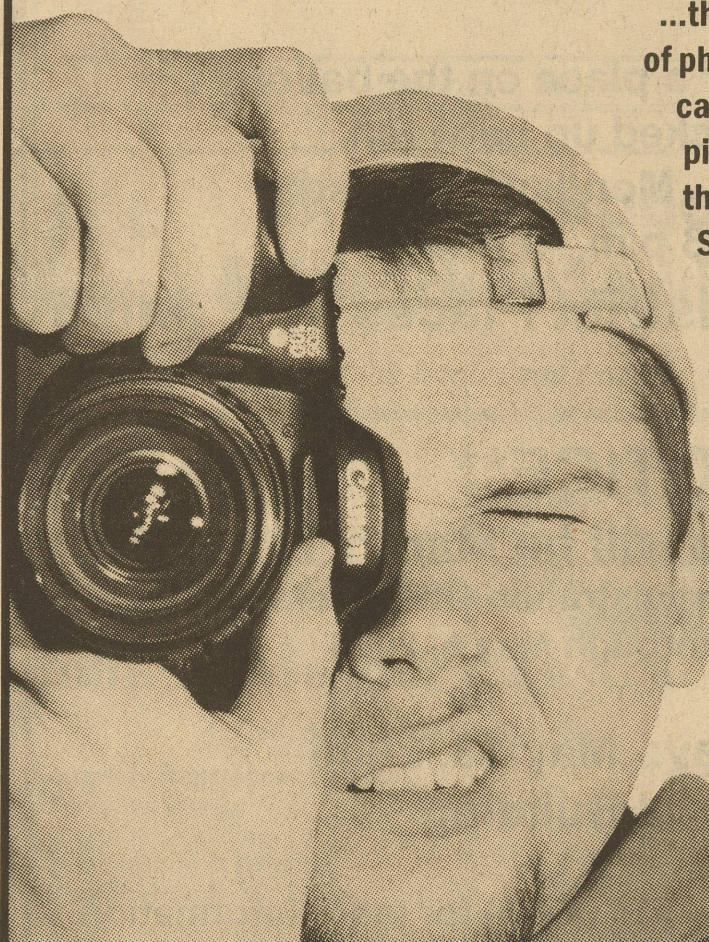

Schleicher County (ACounty@) claims the existence of a public interest in certain county roads that are included on a county roads map that has been proposed by the County Commissioners Court for adoption by the County under Chapter 258. A map that shows the county roads proposed to be included on the Chapter 258 county roads map will be available for public inspection during regular business hour in the Schleicher County Courthouse.

Under Chapter 258, any person asserting a private right, title, or interest in a road which the County has included in the proposed county roads map may protest the County's claim of a public interest by making a protest at the public meeting described below, or by filing a written protest with the County Judge at any time before the public meeting.

The Commissioners Court of Schleicher County will hold a public meeting for the purpose of allowing any person asserting a private right, title, or interest in a road in which the County has claimed the existence of a public right of access, by including it on the proposed county roads map, to protest the County's claim under Chapter 258. That meeting will be held beginning at 10:00 a.m. on March 13, 2006, in the Commissioners Courtroom at the County Courthouse, 2 North Divide Street, Eldorado, Texas.

For protest forms or for further information, visit the office of County Judge Johnny Griffin in the Schleicher County Courthouse, or call at (325) 853-2766.

Our Customers Speak Out!

Progressive Dental

"Having an ad in the San Angelo Area-Wide Phone Book brings in twice as many new patients to our office than other books. These ads have increased the awareness to more people of the services available to help them right here in San Angelo. Our ad is very educational to the community. I would definitely recommend advertising in the Area-Wide Phone Book to other businesses. The San Angelo Area-Wide Phone Book is very cost efficient compared to other advertising sources."

Oh, Baby Cakes!

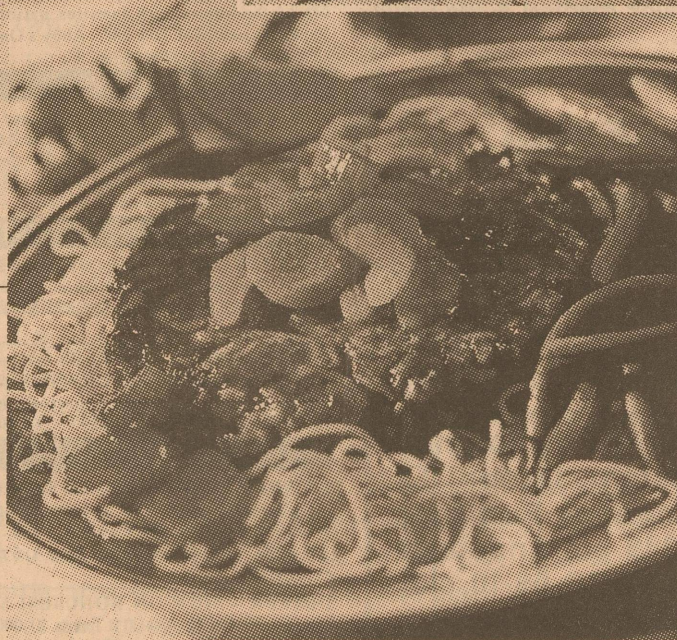

Spring celebrations call for fresh new recipe ideas. Try an up-to-date twist on the traditional with flavorful main-course patties and cakes that are fun to prepare and very versatile.

Crab Cakes With Cilantro Salsa

Zesty White Bean Burgers

Asian Patties

FAMILY FEATURES EDITORIAL SYNDICATE

Get set for springtime entertaining with a well-rounded lineup of delicious cakes and patties that require fresh ingredients and little preparation. Whether served as an elegant entrée or appealing appetizer, surprise guests with a pretty, hands-on dish perfect for just about any gathering.

Prepare a classic seasonal favorite — minus the meat — with Zesty White Bean Burgers, or jazz up the menu with restaurant-style crab cakes topped with cilantro salsa. Always keep one chef's tip in mind: "Choose quality ingredients to ensure these patties and cakes deliver only the finest flavors to your table," says Kim Anderson, test kitchen expert for Progresso Foods.

No matter how you serve them, these little gems are sure to shine this spring! Visit www.progressofoods.com for more fresh springtime recipes and ideas.

Patty Pointers

Keep these handy suggestions at your fingertips:

- Clear a kitchen workspace with ample room to mix and shape the patties.
- When working with sticky mixtures, wetting your hands with water or spraying them with cooking spray helps prevent a mess.
- Consider mixing and forming the patties up to 24 hours before cooking. Store them tightly covered, or sealed in plastic wrap, in the refrigerator.
- Freeze patties 30 to 45 minutes to firm them up before cooking — they won't fall apart when placing them in the pan.

Crab Cakes With Cilantro Salsa

- Cilantro Salsa
- 1 can (15 ounces) Progresso black beans, drained, rinsed
 - 1 can (11 ounces) whole kernel sweet corn, drained
 - 1 large tomato, chopped (1 cup)
 - 1/2 cup chopped fresh cilantro
 - 1/4 cup chopped red onion
 - 2 tablespoons lime juice
 - 1 tablespoon olive or vegetable oil
 - 2 teaspoons ground cumin
 - 1 teaspoon sugar
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt

- Crab Cakes
- 3 cans (6 ounces each) crabmeat, drained
 - 1/2 cup finely chopped green bell pepper
 - 1/2 cup Progresso Italian style bread crumbs
 - 1/4 cup chopped cilantro
 - 2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/8 teaspoon ground red pepper (cayenne)
 - 1 medium green onion, sliced
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
 - 2/3 cup Progresso Italian style bread crumbs

1. Stir together Cilantro Salsa ingredients; cover and refrigerate.
 2. Stir together Crab Cakes ingredients except 2 tablespoons oil and 2/3 cup bread crumbs. Shape into 16 cakes, each about 2 inches in diameter.
 3. In 12-inch skillet, heat oil over medium heat. Coat crab cakes with 2/3 cup bread crumbs. Cook in oil 3 to 4 minutes on each side, turning once, until golden brown. Drain on paper towels. Serve with salsa.
- 16 servings

Veggie Parmesan Cakes

- 1/4 cup Progresso Italian style bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Zesty White Bean Burgers

- 1 can (15 ounces) Progresso cannellini (white kidney) beans, drained, rinsed
- 1 cup Progresso plain bread crumbs
- 1 can (4.5 ounces) chopped green chiles, undrained
- 2 medium green onions, chopped
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/4 cup yellow cornmeal
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 5 slices (1 ounce each) Monterey Jack cheese
- 5 whole wheat hamburger buns, toasted
- 1 1/4 cups shredded lettuce
- 1/3 cup guacamole
- 5 tablespoons salsa

1. In blender or food processor, place beans. Cover and blend until slightly mashed. In medium bowl, mix beans, bread crumbs, chiles, green onions and egg. Shape into 5 patties, each about 1/2 inch thick. Coat each patty with cornmeal.

Asian Patties

- 1/2 cup uncooked brown rice
- 1/4 cup dried lentils (2 ounces), sorted and rinsed
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1/4 cup finely chopped cashews
- 2 tablespoons Progresso bread crumbs (any flavor)
- 2 tablespoons stir-fry sauce
- 4 medium green onions, finely chopped (1/4 cup)
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 medium stalk celery, sliced (1/2 cup)
- 1 medium carrot, sliced (1/2 cup)
- 1/2 cup water

1. In 2-quart saucepan, heat rice, lentils and 1 1/2 cups water to boiling. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 30 to 40 minutes, stirring occasionally, until lentils are tender and water is absorbed. Cool slightly.
 2. Mash rice mixture slightly with fork. Stir in cashews, bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons stir-fry sauce, the green onions and egg. Shape into 4 patties, each about 1/2 inch thick.
 3. Spray 10-inch skillet with cooking spray; heat over medium heat. Cook patties in skillet about 10 minutes, turning once, until golden brown. Remove patties from skillet; keep warm.
 4. In same skillet, heat remaining ingredients except noodles to boiling. Reduce heat to medium. Cover and cook about 5 minutes, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are crisp-tender. Add patties. Cover and cook over medium heat 5 to 8 minutes or until patties are hot. Serve sauce and patties over noodles.
- 4 servings
