YFZ Ranch facing more TCEQ penalties

Environmental penalties levied against the YFZ Ranch near Eldorado by the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality now total more than $34,000, according to information released by the agency last week. The fines include $20,373 that ranch officials have agreed to pay for violations that occurred between May 2004 and April 2005. The violations include failing to get permits or approved plans for a sewage system, a concrete plant, waste dumping, disposal of used oil and bulk mineral storage.

A TCEQ administrative judge must still approve the agreement and a hearing is set for May 10.

Now comes word that TCEQ investigators have filed a second enforcement order against the ranch for violations ranging from illegal burning of garbage, to the unauthorized discharge of wastewater and the improper composting of building material and refuse.

The new violations, documented between April and August of 2005 mean that the YFZ is facing another $14,140 in potential fines, plus penalties of $10,000 per day if the violations are not corrected.

An agency spokesman declined to say if the violations were discovered during routine inspections or if state investigators had received complaints from ranch neighbors.

Jeffs' brother reportedly reaches plea deal with Feds

Seth Jeffs, younger brother of fugitive FLDS Prophet Warren Steed Jeffs, has reportedly reached a plea bargain with federal authorities and a change of plea hearing has been set for May 1st in U.S. District Court in Denver.

According to documents filed with the county by Seth Jeffs' lawyer, Daniel Smith, "The government and the defendant have reached a disposition which is intended to resolve all charges in this case."

Jeffs, 32, of Hildale, UT, was indicted by a federal grand jury in November on charges of shielding his fugitive brother from authorities.

Warren Jeffs is wanted by the FBI on charges of Unlawful Flight to Avoid Prosecution. He is also wanted in Arizona and Utah on charges of arranging and performing underage marriages. The Utah charges are by far the most serious. Warren Jeffs is wanted in the Beehive State on charges of Rape as an Accomplice, a 1st degree felony that carries the possibility of life in prison.

Seth Jeffs' charges stem from a traffic stop that occurred on Oct. 28, 2005, in Pueblo, Colorado. At that time he was arrested on suspicion of prostitution after his cousin, Nathaniel Steed Allred, who was traveling with Jeffs, said he had been paid $5,000 for sex.

A subsequent search of the vehicle uncovered more than $200,000 in cash plus numerous envelopes addressed to "The Prophet" or to "Warren Jeffs" as well as pre-paid cell phones and phone cards.

6th Graders learn about Holocaust through butterfly project

As told by Nathan Jimenez, 6th Grader, to Ilse Williams, SCISD service-learning coordinator

We studied about the Holocaust during World War II. We learned about many, many Jewish children who were kept in a camp called Terezin. Then almost all of them were sent to Auschwitz where they were killed. Altogether 1.5 million children died in the Holocaust.

The Houston Holocaust Museum is doing a butterfly project; the butterflies represent children who died in the holocaust. Our class made 37 butterflies. Each one of us made our own butterfly. We put all these up on the ceiling in our classroom. Then we "adopted" a child from the concentration camp. We held a kind of memorial in our class, and read a poem our child wrote while in Terezin. Then we learned from Mrs. Gonzales if our child lived or died. If the child died, we had to take that butterfly down. Only Colt's, Nelly's, mine, and Brianah's "child" survived (all four of us read the same poem by Alena Synkova).

Altogether 1.5 million children died in the Holocaust. That is why the Houston Holocaust Museum is setting the goal of receiving 1.5 million butterflies.

A sentence that stuck with me from all we learned was from a surviving woman who looked around after the war and saw all these children gone. "There shouldn't be a place without children," she said. "It makes for an unhappy place."

If you want to help, help us make more butterflies. Color them and cut them out. Make them in any way you want. Take or mail them by May 2nd to the Eldorado Middle School Office.

Eldorado Middle School
Attention: 6th Grade Class
Box W
Eldorado, TX 76936.

We will collect them and send them to the Houston Holocaust Museum.

Brianah Creek and Nelly Hernandez read a poem by Alena Synkova, a Jewish child held in Terezin Concentration Camp in Czechoslovakia. Alena was among the 142 children at Terezin who survived; over 6,000 who were deported to Terezin did not.

The immigration debate devolves into farce

"I don't think there should be a St. Patrick's Day," declared Lou Dobbs on his CNN program. "I think we ought to be celebrating what is common about this country, what we enjoy as similarities (sic) as people."

Dobbs made the point to show he is an equal-opportunity nativist. He isn't just angry at Hispanics who refuse to become Real Americans. No, it's those damn Irish, too. They've been coming for 160 years and still refuse to assimilate.

The immigration debate, devolving into farce. On both sides of the issue.

THE Roger E.
Hernandez
COLUMN

Right-wing Neanderthals waving the American flag, alleging that most Hispanics support a "Reconquista" to take back the Southwest.

Left-wing radicals waving the Mexican flag, staking their ludicrous claim to "Aztlán," the mythical place of origin of the Aztec people.

For almost the entire life of the republic, the flying of foreign flags has proved harmless -- and in some ways quintessentially American -- during ethnic celebrations or at political rallies that are about a particular foreign nation.

So, no complaints about Cuban flags at anti-Castro rallies, Mexican flags on Cinco de Mayo, Italian flags on Columbus Day, Israeli flags in synagogues. Only nativists who ignore the past century of U.S. history can take seriously the claim that green beer and "Kiss Me, I'm Irish" buttons threaten anything that is American.

In that ignorance, they find allies among their foes.

Those recent rallies were not ethnic festivals or protests directed at Mexico, or Castro, or Paraguay. The purpose of those marches was to show support for policies that allow immigrants -- illegal immigrants, yes -- to become part of the American fabric. You make that point by flying American flags, as many people did during the marches, to show that the vast majority of Hispanics aspire to become American like the Irish, Italians and Jews who came before.

But along with the American flags, a smattering of people carried flags of Mexico and other Latin American countries and, worse, signs proclaiming the Southwest belongs to indigenous people who speak Spanish and whose skin tone is the correct shade of brown.

Believing stupidities about Aztlán only gives nativists an opportunity to say separatism is a popular cause in Hispanic communities. They can go right to the videotape for "proof."

The truth is that only Aztlanistas and nativists, ideological mirror images of each other, take the Reconquista thing seriously. Only a handful of kids and aging Chicano activists support the notion that the Southwest ought to be a separate homeland for certain (but not all) Hispanics.

And even they must know -- it must be said -- that if Mexico ended in what is now Colorado, immigrants would still be desperate to cross over, into Wyoming.

The only sensible solution to the problem of 12 million illegal immigrants is to give them and their children the opportunity to become as American as anybody named O'Reilly. Even if nativists say they will never assimilate, even if Aztlanistas say they should never assimilate.

Border Security and the Global War on Terror — Part 2

Taking the necessary steps for Border Security

Our immigration crisis is real. It is an issue of national security and must be dealt with quickly and decisively. However, any solution to our border security crisis must contain three parts -- 1. It must enforce current laws, increase the number of well-trained border patrol agents and utilize advances in technology to apprehend illegal border crossers; 2. It must create a Non-Amnesty Temporary Worker Program that is citizenship neutral that allows a legal avenue for people who want to find work and provide a better life for their families; and, 3. It needs to find a way to deal with the more than 10 million illegal immigrants currently in the United States.

Our goal for border security should be to put the right tools, assets, equipment and people on our border to interdict every single person that is trying to enter this country illegally. But the vastness of the border requires innovative ideas to guard it successfully.

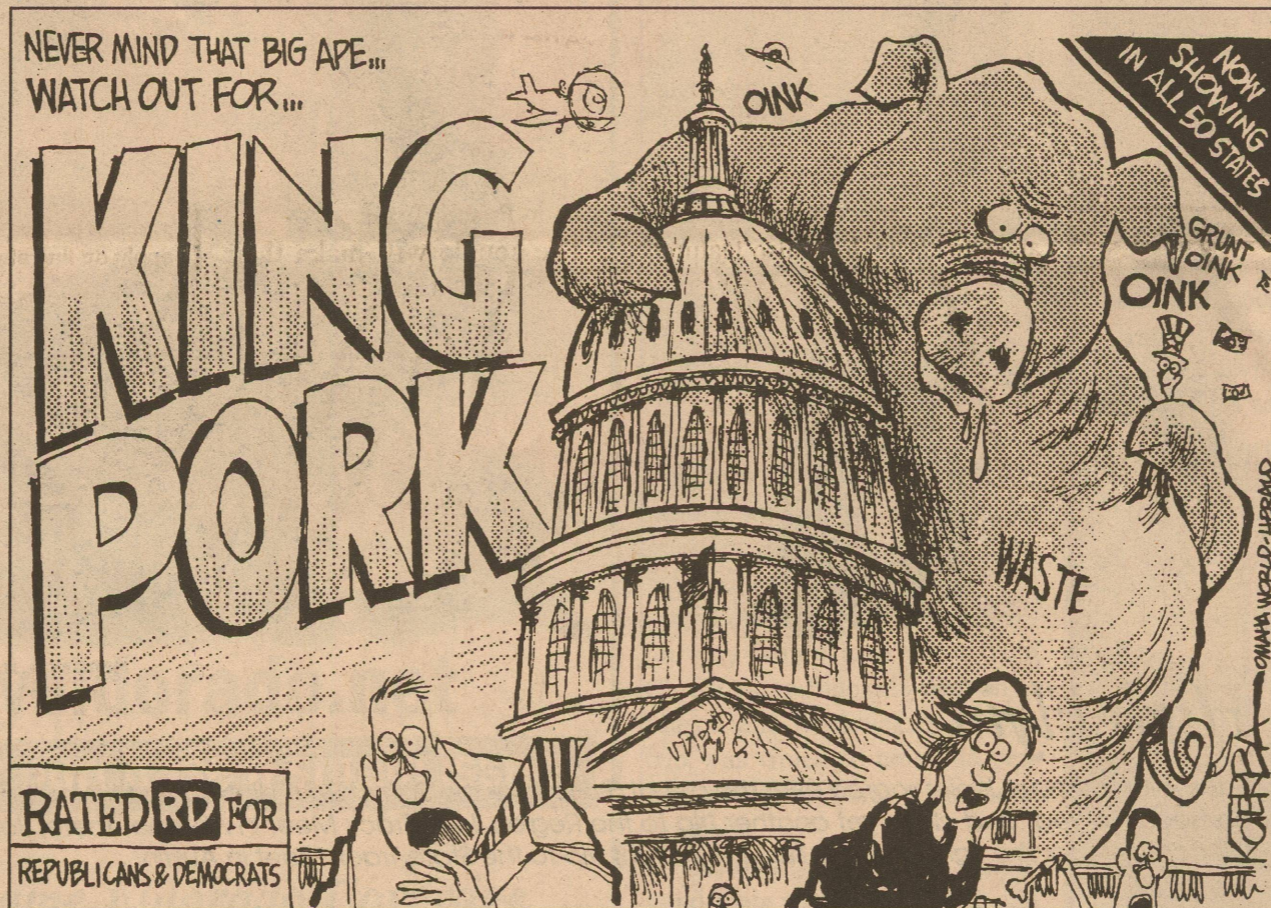

Simply hiring more border patrol agents and building fences has not fixed the problem over the last decade and it will not fix it now. New technologies must be incorporated into any solutions. Some technologies include creating virtual fences with motion and ground sensors that can monitor areas without encroaching on private property; or, where a physical fence is required, using infrared cameras to leave no square foot of land unwatched. Utilizing unmanned aerial drones that provide an "eye in the sky" is another possible solution. Giving our border patrol agents access to these new technologies should reduce their burden and help them stop illegal border crossings.

However, meaningful immigration reform must consist of much more than just added border patrol agents, taller fences and improved technology. It will require changing how people can enter the country legally. If we can reduce the number of people trying to enter the country illegally, it will be easier for the border patrol to catch those that aim to do us harm. A Non-Amnesty Temporary Worker Program, with the proper checks and balances, will allow us to document and track workers and we will be in a better position to know what their financial impact is on our communities.

Springtime in Texas

Life seems to begin in he springtime. The earth feels cleansed, blessed again, purged of winter's darkness. We witness the season of hope and renewal.

Spring is when you want to get a cane fishing pole and a can of worms and go to the creek, even if you've never done that before. It's when you want to sit and watch a bug for about an hour. Or just stretch out and stare at your shoes.

Spring is when you think about going barefooted and wearing fewer clothes. You might even get out that bicycle and take a spin. Or climb a mountain. It makes you feel frisky, like you're three years old and you've just finished taking a bath.

You pull out the ice cream freezer and begin to imagine how the fruits of summer will taste. You think about swimming and convertibles and warm, sensuous nights.

No season offers more promise than springtime. And no place shows off its spring wardrobe any better than Texas. When it's springtime in Texas, fields of blue and red and yellow appear and the air is

by Tumbleweed
Smith

scented with wildflower perfume.

The early leaves on mesquite trees are a shade of light green artists find hard to duplicate. Lawns come back to life. The earth warms. The sky boils. The wind howls.

Seeing Texas in the spring is like seeing New England in the fall. We experience the colors and our lives are enriched. Texas is the birthplace of spring. Flowers are arranged among the cactus and rocks in natural bouquets.

The silence of the prairie is broken by the piercing sound of birds. Welcome to the spring, they seem to say. And they show off their colors, too. Mockingbirds dart about, flashing their white tail feathers from the tops of juniper bushes. Cardinals and cedar waxwings provide a spectacular

Any temporary worker program must follow certain guidelines: First, it should be citizenship neutral and not provide for amnesty of any kind. Second, the temporary works should not participate in Social Security. Instead the Social Security taxes should be used to provide healthcare to the temporary workers. Third, temporary works should waive birthright citizenship for any child born to that temporary worker while in the country. Finally, once we have a viable program that provides reasonably tamper proof identification cards for workers that employers can rely upon, then we must vigorously enforce the law against employers who chose to not comply with the law.

Lastly, if we are to truly have comprehensive reform, we must find a way to transition from where we are to where we want to be by dealing with the 10-12 million people currently in this country illegally. We should establish the proper fines and penalties for being in this country illegally. However, the fines and penalties should fit the wrongdoing and not be so draconian as to discourage participation in the worker program.

As the debate continues in Washington and I will continue to strive for a solution that is grounded in common-sense. This is a critical issue that must be handled civilly and respectfully. If we are not mindful of this we stand to jeopardize our security and the prospect of meaningful reform.

Governor to Speaker: Main goal for session is tax reform

by Ed Sterling

AUSTIN — On April 12, five days before the opening of a special session of the Texas Legislature, Gov. Rick Perry sent a letter to House Speaker Tom Craddick.

In the letter, Perry declares: "Once legislators have met the goal of reforming the current tax system, I will then consider expanding the call to other meaningful issues facing our state."

Picture an ox and cart in Perry's mind, with tax reform as the ox and school finance reform as the cart. Perry has been pressured to put the ox and cart side by side.

The ox must lead, however, because the Texas Supreme Court ordered legislators to do one thing: give local school districts the freedom to adjust property tax rates meaningfully, instead of merely fixing rates at the maximum. The task must be accomplished by June 1.

Perry's Texas Tax Reform Commission, chaired by former state comptroller John Sharp, produced a 92-page document with language that substantially reforms the tax code.

In those pages are words to create a business tax based on adjusted gross receipts. Adjustments, or deductions, are based on how much compensation is paid to a firm's employees, or on the amount of a business's cost of goods sold.

Note: Cost of goods sold is found by establishing the cost of a company's beginning inventory and adding net purchases in a business year to get a cost of goods available for sale. Cost of ending inventory is subtracted from that amount, and the total is cost of goods sold.

Most businesses would pay a 1 percent tax, but retailers and wholesalers would pay 0.5 percent under the Perry-Sharp plan.

On April 11, the Texas Association of Business, which represents more than 140,000 businesses and millions of employees, added its stamp of approval to the Perry-Sharp plan. Earlier, 23 other major associations and groups endorsed the plan.

But as of April 16, no House member had come forward and offered to carry the Perry-Sharp plan as a bill in the special session, which started April 17.

Dems ask for new ethics rules

State Reps. Jim Dunning, D-Waco, Garnet Coleman, D-Houston, and Pete Gallego, D-Alpine, on April 13 proposed to amend House rules so that issues before the Legislature in the special session would be more "transparent" to all Texans.

The trio's "Open the People's House Reform Plan," outlined in a letter to all House members, would take some of the mystery out of the legislative process by requiring:

- real-time record votes on all questions so the public can hold officials accountable;
- real-time Internet access to all floor amendments;
- conference committees to meet and vote in public; and
- the House to abide by the same open meetings laws required of every other governmental body.

OBITUARIES

Robert Fuson

SAN ANGELO — Robert Fuson, age 46, of San Angelo passed away Monday, April 10, 2006, in Louisiana. Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 15, in Johnson's Funeral Home chapel, with the Rev. Jason Smith officiating. Interment will follow in Eldorado Cemetery.

He was a lifetime resident of San Angelo. He was born on Oct. 24, 1959, to Joe Everitt and Rosie Lee Rose Fuson. He graduated from San Angelo Lake View High School in 1978. He and a few classmates built three houses here in San Angelo before graduation. After high school, he continued his education in iron works. In 1982, he graduated with a 99.9 grade average, one of the best two scores in his class. The Iron Works Association of America took them to the World Fair in Tennessee. There, he was handed his journeyman's certificate.

On Aug. 8, 1980, he married Darlene Hirst and had three children. Robert was a wonderful husband, father, grandfather and friend. He never knew a stranger, and he helped everyone he could. His family didn't end at home. He also had a family on the jobs he went to with the Fluor Daniels Company. He liked going fishing with anyone who wanted to go with him. He loved watching his nephews race their cars on the track. He always got a rush from that. He always put God and family first, and he believed in hard work and being a mentor for whoever would learn. He did have a best friend through high school and all the way through life. Daniel Hirst was his best friend and loved him very much. One thing you could count on was that Robert couldn't wait to come home to his family and do the things he loved, but just as much, he missed his family from work and couldn't wait to go back. Robert will be missed by everyone he has left behind, but more importantly, we can't wait to see him again.

He is survived by his wife, Darlene, of the home; three children, Jessica Banks and husband Rodrick, and James Fuson, all of San Angelo, and Richard Fuson and wife Tammy of Sonora; two grandchildren Seth Fuson and Kyra Fuson, both of Sonora; his mother, Rosie Fuson of San Angelo; two brothers, Charles Fuson of San Angelo and Joe Fuson of Plano; four sisters, Donna May Fuson of San Angelo, Joann Middleton and husband Alvin of Tampa, and Jennie Watson and Mickey, and Lois Gonzales and Jerry, all of San Angelo; lots of nieces, nephews, all of his in-laws and friends that love him very much. He was preceded in death by his father, Joe Everitt Fuson.

Mr. & Mrs. Mario Robles

Whitten-Robles wed in double ring ceremony

Family and friends gathered on February 25, 2006 at the First Baptist Church in Comanche to witness the wedding vows of Courtney Whitten and Mario (Rocky) Robles. Dr. Van Christian officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Penny and Sam Whitten, Jr. of Schertz, Texas. The groom is the son of Rosa and Mario Robles of Eldorado, Texas.

The bride wore a satin A-line dress with lace embroidered cap sleeves, side draping, and beaded metallic embroidery on the bodice and skirt. The dress also featured a chapel train. She also wore a fingertip veil with crystal beads and flowers and metallic edging. Her bouquet consisted of mixed berries and a variety of colored flowers.

For an old and borrowed item the bride carried her great-grandmother Fisher's handkerchief. For something new she wore special jewelry, and for something blue she wore a garter. She was given in marriage by her parents.

The bridesmaids wore apple red, floor-length, satin dresses with wraps, and the groomsmen matched with black tuxedos and red ties. The groom wore a black tuxedo, white shirt, vest, and tie.

The church was decorated in the shades of berries, with floral arrangements throughout. Pillar candles and accent candles provided lighting, and white tulle with lights completed the decorations.

Serving as Matron of Honor was the bride's cousin, Megan Espinosa of Eldorado. Bridesmaids were the bride's cousin, Katy Clingan of San Angelo; sister of the groom, Myra Robles of Eldorado; and friend of the bride, Katelyn Fitzgerald of Carrollton. Serving as flower girl was Nadia Robles, and Bailey Surber registered the guests.

Serving as Best Man was the brother of the groom, Javy Robles of Eldorado. Groomsmen included friends of the groom, John Ray Espinosa of Eldorado, and William Robledo of Kingsville. Also serving as groomsmen was the bride's cousin, Casey Poynor of Little Rock, Arkansas. Taren Ray Espinosa served as ring bearer for the ceremony.

Seating guests were ushers Dusty Clingan, Jason Brock, Johnny Lee Arispe, and Joey Bullard. Casey Jay Bingham sang and played the piano, while Paula Howard accompanied on the organ.

After the ceremony, a reception was given by the groom's parents at the Blue Moon Café in DeLeon, Texas. Following the reception, the newlyweds left for their honeymoon to Frisco, Texas.

The couple will make their home in Denton, Texas.

Missionary service slated at Agape Assembly of God

by Myles Miller, Pastor

During the last few years it has become apparent to all that Islam is not only a belief system of people half a world away, but it is a system that affects our nation and the whole world.

On May 7, 2006, at 6:00 p.m., Agape Assembly of God will host a missionary couple for a special service.

This couple (we call them Mr. and Mrs. John Doe because of the threats Christian missionaries face in many Muslim nations) have been preparing for several years and are now going to an area of the world with a population of 33,000,000 people, over 98% of which are Muslims. Come and hear what they have found out by visiting and studying that part of the world.

Mrs. Doe grew up as a daughter of missionaries in France (which is a difficult country for Christian evangelism, in its own right.)

Mr. Doe has felt a call to the Islamic world for about 10 years. After getting married and while preparing for the mission field, they have served as house parents at a children's home in Texas.

The members of Agape Assembly of God invite the whole Eldorado community to hear this interesting couple with a unique calling.

Who said it?

"In the first place, we should insist that if the immigrant who comes here in good faith becomes an American and assimilates himself to us, he shall be treated on an exact equality with everyone else, for it is an outrage to discriminate against any such man because of creed, or birthplace, or origin. But this is predicated upon the person's becoming in every facet an American, and nothing but an American... There can be no divided allegiance here. Any man who says he is an American, but something else also, isn't an American at all. We have room for but one flag, the American flag... We have room for but one language here, and that is the English language... and we have room for but one sole loyalty and that is a loyalty to the American people."

Rep. Mike Conaway returns from tour of Iraq

WASHINGTON, D.C. - This past weekend, Congressman Mike Conaway (R-TX) returned from his second trip to Iraq in the past year. He traveled to Iraq as part of a Congressional delegation that met with the military commanders and troops fighting in Iraq.

"It was good to meet with our military leadership and our troops on the ground," said Conaway who serves on the House Armed Services Committee. "Our soldiers are committed to the cause of establishing freedom and democracy in the heart of the Middle East. As a member of Congress, it is my responsibility to see first-hand how our military effort is progressing and to meet and show support for our troops."

Seth Jeffs

There was even a large glass jar bearing Warren Jeffs' photo and a label reading, "Pennies for the Prophet."

At the time of his arrest, Seth Jeffs said he was delivering the items to the polygamous group's compound in Eldorado, Texas.

The younger Jeffs reportedly refused to divulge where his brother might be hiding and told police, "the prophets are often persecuted."

Prosecutors won't say what kind of plea arrangement they have made with the younger Jeffs, but clearly he and his attorney have decided that it would be better to cooperate with authorities, at least on some level.

News of Seth Jeffs' plea deal comes less than two weeks after U.S. District Judge Robert E. Blackburn ruled that the traffic stop was legal and that authorities could keep the evidence they seized as a result of the stop.

"Sisters on the Fly" interrupt Texas road trip for brief stop in Eldorado

Eleven vintage travel trailers and one modern wheeled wonder stopped briefly Monday morning on the Schleicher County courthouse square, before heading east toward the Texas Hill Country and a planned layover in Fredericksburg.

Anyone who saw them knew immediately that something out of the ordinary was going on.

"Sisters on the Fly are rallying in Texas!" Maurine Sussman of Phoenix, AZ, told The Success as the group circled their wagons and piled out for a group photo.

The group of travel trailer aficionados and dedicated fly fisherwomen began their "Texas Cowgirl Caravan" earlier that morning in Christoval. The stop here in Eldorado was about more than publicity, however. It gave the women a chance to look over the place where one of their members once called home.

Marty Edmiston of Mertzton, but formerly of Eldorado, is a member of the Sisters on the Fly. The organization counts some 476 women from 47 states among its member. Their ages range from 28 to 83.

The first leg of the women's journey would take them from Christoval to Eldorado then on to Mason and Fredericksburg. The trip was timed to coincide perfectly with the Texas Bluebonnet season.

Eventually the women plan to wind their way to Granbury and then on to Grapevine where a large contingent of Sisters on the Fly plan to converge for a Spring gathering.

Maurine Sussman explains that it was only five years ago when she and her sister Becky sat on a drift boat in Montana fly-fishing. One of them, Maurine says she can't remember which, caught an 8 lb. brown trout and the two women celebrated with a glass of wine.

That's when the women decided to invite their friends to share their future adventures and the "Sisterhood" was born.

At one point, as the women traveled the country looking for fly fishing opportunities, it was decided that it would be more practical for them to bring their bedrooms with them. That led to the birth of the now famous Cowgirl Caravan.

Each vintage trailer has a number and name. The brands include Scotsman, Aloja, Scotty, Teardrop and Airstream. The trailers, and pop-up campers are decorated in a western motif, mostly to fit the personality of its owner. And...each home has its own feather bed.

The trailers range in age, but many date from the 1950s, but there are a number of modern models.

Maurine explained that several of the group's Texas ladies extended an invitation to the membership to visit Texas this spring and take in the wildflowers.

Several area women are members of Sisters on the Fly, including Marty Edmiston and Joyce Aiken of Mertzton, as well as Nancy Davis and Cele Gandy of Christoval.

As part of the tour the group will camp at an old drive-in movie theater in Granbury before going on to Grapevine where they will tour the Texas Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

Maurie said there would be no fly fishing this time, just fun and fellowship.
