ELDORADO TO HAVE RODEO JUNE 21 & 22, GOOD PROGRAM, COME.

Three Counties Offer Rail Bonds.

Interest from a new angle has been stirred in the projected construction of a new railroad from San Antonio northwest to San Angelo, by receipt of information from Junction that Kimble, Sutton and Schleicher Counties offer a $400,000 bonus for rail connection with San Antonio and the port at Corpus Christi.

At present the Gulf & West Texas Railroad Company, organized to promote the railroad between Corpus Christi and San Angelo via San Antonio, is awaiting action by the Frisco system on surveys by its representatives with the possibility that it might take over the Gulf & West Texas project and construct the new line. These surveys contemplate a route through Fredericksburg, Mason, Brady and Eden.

When the road was first projected—before the Frisco took a hand—two possible routes were considered generally between here and San Angelo and one of these was via Junction, Sonora and Eldorado. There has been little discussion of that route, however, since the Frisco survey, and that fact is believed to have inspired the Kimble-Sutton-Schleicher County offer. Some have read into the bonus proposal an invitation to some railroad other than the Frisco to step in and build the line.

Weaver H. Baker of Junction, general attorney for the tri-county committee that announces the bonus, pointed out the already well known fact that the never-used old Orient roadbed, extending through Eldorado in Schleicher County all the way to San Angelo, could be made available with very little work—Dallas News.

ERVIN MUND ANNOUNCES FOR TAX ASSESSOR.

Ervin Mund, one of our prominent young stockmen, announces this week for the office of Tax Assessor, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July.

Mr. Mund is well known to most of the people as he has lived for many years in this county and is qualified to fill the office should the voters see fit to elect him. He will appreciate your vote and influence and will try and meet each voter before the primary.

H. Mund was in the city Saturday and while here advanced his subscription to The Success another year.

WORK ON HIGHLINE TO SONORA BEGINS

Men went to work this week in actual construction work in building the power line from Eldorado to Sonora, they expect to take the plants of Eldorado and Sonora over April 1st.

The line from Eldorado south will carry 13,000 volts, but is being built for 66,000 volts. It will not be long until Eldorado will have 24 hours electrical service.

THE ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

The assembly program was in charge of Miss Armstrong. Several interesting numbers were given by children of the grammar grades. Special music was given by Miss Boyd. The program was rendered well and enjoyed by all the students and teachers.

JUNIOR NEWS.

The Junior Class is proud to report that they have several boys who are making first team work in baseball this season.

The rest of the Junior class pins came last week.

Since the Juniors have their class pins they have been studying harder so that they may be seniors next year.

The Junior Class will have a surprise for Miss Flanagan when she returns. They have finished their "History of American Literature" by Payne.

Dalia Fae has stopped eating lemons to reduce.

LOCALS

Several students have missed school this week on account of flu.

Mrs. Robert Milligan has been teaching English in Miss Flanagan's place since the latter has "flu." The students think a great deal of Mrs. Milligan.

The rules and regulations regarding the Interscholastic League Work have come in. The students taking part in this work seem very anxious to see the books, and to know what will be expected of them.

The seniors received their invitations this week and like them very much although they were not the exact invitation they had ordered.

School will close on May 23. We have approximately two more months of toil yet but if each student would do his or her best this will not seem long.

Miss Flanagan is back in the school room after several days' absence with the "flu."

The fifth grade is happy to have their teacher back again.

There was no baseball game for the boys this week-end, but they will play Menard next Saturday.

Everyone in History passed on a quiz this week. This was the second time this had happened since the beginning of school.

Mr. Holt has forbid "Keeps" being played on the school grounds, and some of the boys have changed the name to "High School Marbles."

CARE OF LIBRARY BOOKS

The final estimate shows 968 volumes in our library. This is an unusually large number for a school of this size. By various means we hope to gradually increase the size of the library.

A good way to preserve the library is to care for the books placed in your hands. These books are school property. It is often said that good.

Long Oration Spoiled

Evening for Senator

A prominent man in public life—a senator, it may be said without fear of embarrassing him—was the principal speaker at a recent banquet. More than that—he was the victim of one of those persons whose duty it is to speak as curtain-raiser to the main attraction of the evening and who forgets himself in his own flow of oratory.

He went on and on and the reporters were getting restless and worried about making the final editions with the principal speaker's important talk. Finally, the senator handed a reporter a message: "How long can you men wait?" He was given the time and then asked in a message how long the gentleman speaking was going to hold the floor. He courteously replied—for it can again be safely said that the curtain-raiser was also a member of the upper house of congress—that he thought he would speak only 20 minutes longer. Time went on and the speaker went on, and when it became apparent that he would go on for some time longer, the gentlemen of the press received another note from the important senator. It read: "All prophecies are withdrawn."—Philadelphia Record.

Joys of Exploration

Found in Adventure

One is often asked what is the attraction and what are the joys of polar exploration. The answer is—Adventure—going where man has never gone before. Achievement—discovering something of value to mankind such as the whale-fishery of South Georgia; or ramming your way through ice or any difficulties under steam or sail. The wonderful pure beauty of these regions . . . and last, but not least—comradeship—the comradeship of men. Men who fight alongside you, toil with you, laugh with you, and chaff you. . . . Pals who stand by each other through thick and thin; who share trials, hardships, joys, dangers and food, and are determined, at all hazards, to "see it through" together. For such men you feel a great affection, and the results are teamwork and loyalty of the finest, highest quality, with joy of memory that never fades away.—From "Under Sail in the Frozen North," by Commander F. A. Worsley.

Beauty From the Beast

What so free, do you think, as a reptile gliding along in its own Southern swamp? Yet ever these wild creatures are being trapped and killed and made into leather shoes.

The tanning of a reptile's skin is accomplished by means of secret mixtures known only to manufacturers. English and Dutch merchants first put on the market goods made from the skin of a water snake of Java and Sumatra. The women of Paris carry bags made from the skin of the terrible python, and probably never think of it, though they would shrug their shoulders and tell you they were terrified of snakes. Even the fearful boa constrictor contributes its skin to the call of fashion.

Electric Chair Death

Denounced as Brutal

When the governor of New York in 1888 signed the bill that abolished hangings in the state and provided death by electric shock for certain classes of criminals, the people of New York arose and denounced it as a brutal measure.

It is hard for the present generation to understand the agitations and uproars caused by this step. In our day electricity is a household drudge, and electrocution has been established in 19 states.

But in the eighties electrical development was just beginning. To the average citizen there was something diabolical in the proposal to inflict death by such a terrible and unseen power. Preachers thundered against the chair from their pulpits. Newspapers condemned it in blistering editorials. Doctors and scientists were not even sure that electric current would kill.—Frederick Tisdale, in Liberty Magazine.

Lesson for April 1

JESUS THE SUFFERING MESSIAH

LESSON TEXT—Mark 8:27-33.
GOLDEN TEXT—Whoever will come after Me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow Me.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus the Great Hero.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Heroism of Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Cost of Being Loyal to Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Interprets His Messiahship.

I. Peter's Confession of Christ (vv. 27-30).

Two questions of Jesus provoked this confession. 1. "Who do men say that I am?" (vv. 27, 28). This question referred to the opinions of the people regarding Jesus. Some believed Him to be John, the Baptist, some Elijah, and some, one of the prophets. They all recognized Him to be a teacher or prophet with more than human authority and power. Jesus was not content with this acknowledgment. Had He been satisfied with this He would not have been molested in Jerusalem, for the Jews willingly acknowledged Him as much more than a human teacher. 2. "Who say ye that I am?" (vv. 29, 30). Jesus persistently claimed to be the God man, the very Son of God incarnate. He wanted the personal opinion of the disciples concerning Himself.

II. Jesus' Teaching Concerning the Cross (vv. 31-33).

He charged the disciples not to make public His Messiahship as that would precipitate the crisis. The disciples had much need of instruction yet, to prepare them for the crucial hour of the cross.

1. What He taught (v. 31).

(1) "The Son of Man must suffer many things." He suffered physical weariness and hunger, ridicule and contempt and even misunderstanding.

(2) "Be rejected of the elders, chief priests and scribes." These were the nation's official representatives, the very ones who should have known and received Christ and recommended His reception on the part of the nation. Truly He came to His own and His own received Him not (John 1:11).

(3) "Be killed." This announcement was startling to the disciples. They had not yet come to realize that redemption was to be accomplished through the passion and the cross.

(4) "Rise again." Though this was utterly incomprehensible to the disciples, He showed them that this would be the glorious issue of His death.

2. How the disciples received His teaching (v. 32).

So unwelcome was His teaching touching the cross that Peter, the spokesman of the disciples, rebuked Him. Peter later saw through this darkness the light of glory on the hilltops beyond (1 Pet. 1:3, 4).

3. Jesus rebukes Peter (v. 33). He told Peter plainly that his attitude was due to his being under the influence of the devil.

III. Jesus Going to Jerusalem to Die (Mark 10:32-34).

Jesus went to Jerusalem with the consciousness of the awful tragedy of the cross before Him; the treachery of Judas, the fiery persecutions of the priests, the unjust judgment, the delivery to Pontius Pilate, the mocking, the scourging, the crown of thorns, the cross between malefactors, the nails and the spear all were spread before Him. He moved on to His goal, not by external necessity but a fixed purpose. He had not only come to minister but to give His life a ransom for many." The joyous outlook of the victory which was to be accomplished through the shedding of His blood led Him forward (Heb. 12:2).

IV. The Cost of Discipleship (Mark 8:34).

The law of the Christian life is suffering. To follow Christ means to turn one's back upon the world. To repudiate the world means to incur the hatred of the world; to be Christians means to share Christ's suffering.

1. There must be denial of self (v. 34). There is a wide difference between self-denial and denial of self. All people practice self-denial, but only Christians deny self.

2. The cross must be taken up (v. 34). This means the suffering and shame which lie in the pathway of loyalty to God. To live the godly life means suffering (11 Tim. 3:12).

3. Christ must be followed (v. 34). This means to have the mind of Christ (Phil. 2:5) and to perform the service of Christ. The blessed issue of following Christ is a life of freedom here and now, and eternal life hereafter.

Must Cry Unto God

It is not enough for the soul to be in need; the soul must also cry unto God. Need alone is the begetter of despair, but need with crying is the birthplace of prayer. The very distresses the soul is in are the birththroes of such prayer.—James H. McKonkey.

Governor Moody, at the request of the State health officer, has proclaimed the week beginning Sunday April 1st, as health week.

As there is no municipal body in Eldorado, to direct the clean up that Eldorado is so much in need of, I am requesting the mothers Club to assist me in encouraging the citizens of Eldorado and Schleicher County, to respond to Governor Moody's proclamation, and each citizen begin Monday April 2nd to make their premises as sanitary as possible and each succeeding day during the week see if you can make any improvement.

Respectfully,

Many Requisites for Career of Medicine

Whoever is to acquire a competent knowledge of medicine ought to have the following advantages: a natural disposition; instruction; a favorable position for the study; early tuition; love of labor; leisure. First of all, a natural talent is required, for when Nature opposes, everything else is in vain; but when Nature leads the way to what is most excellent, instruction in the art takes place, which the student must appropriate to himself by reflection, early becoming a pupil in a place well adapted for instruction. He must also bring to the task a love of labor and perseverance, so that the instruction, taking root, may bring forth proper and abundant fruits. . . . Possessing these requisites to the study of medicine and having acquired a true knowledge of it, we shall thus in traveling through the cities be esteemed physicians not in name but in reality. But inexperience is a bad treasure . . . the nurse of timidity and audacity. For timidity betrays want of powers, and audacity a want of skill.—Hippocrates.

Totally Indifferent

He was a veteran actor, with an extremely indifferent outlook on life, appearing in a very good show but in a minor part.

"How's the play going?" asked a friend on meeting him.

"Pretty fair, I'm told," drawled the actor.

"What's it about?"

"Don't know."

"For heaven's sake," exclaimed the friend, "surely you've seen the thing, you're in on it?"

"No," returned the veteran of the boards. "Several times after the first act I've thought of going round to the front to see what it was all about, but somehow I've never quite got there."

Pearl in Every Book

There are people, it seems, who value things in proportion to the price that is put on them; and because the Bible can be bought for a few pence, or a few shillings, pass it by as a common thing. "Why should we buy your cheap little books?" scornfully asked a man in Burma. The colporteur replied: "Yes, they are cheap, only two pence a copy, but I have seen the people of Ceylon buying oysters at one pence, in the hope of finding a pearl. And here—there is a pearl in every book." It was a happy answer, and the colporteur spoke better than he knew, for the pearl is the best symbol of beauty born of pain.—Montreal Herald.

Saw Much Difference

in Log Structures

Cabin and log house are synonymous to most persons today, but in the early days of Ohio, when such structures were common for residence purposes, there was a nice distinction between the two, it is brought out in the journal of Thaddeus Mason Harris, a preacher of Dorchester, Mass., who, in search of health, traveled in the summer of 1803 from his home to Marietta, Ohio, and published a record of his travels. He wrote:

"The temporary buildings of the first settlers in the wilds are called cabins. They are built of unhewn logs, the interstices between which are stopped with rails, caulked with moss or straw, and daubed with mud. The roof is covered with a sort of thin staves split out of oak or ash, about four feet long and five inches wide, fastened on by heavy poles being laid on them.

"If the logs are hewed; if the interstices be stopped with stone and neatly plastered, and the roof composed of shingles nicely laid on, it is called a log house.

"A log house has glass windows and a chimney; a cabin has commonly no window at all and only a hole at the top for the smoke to escape."—Kansas City Times.

Way of Avoiding the "Madding Crowd"

We can never get people out of our eye. Wherever we go they are with us, great crowds of them. They have filled up the subway before we arrive. They have packed the elevated train before we get there. They have jammed every store before we decide to go shopping. If we go into a bank we are compelled to stand in line. If we want to buy a theater ticket we stand in line. If we want to buy a bunch of radishes we stand in line. No matter where we go there are a hundred people ahead of us. They swarm like the frogs and locusts of ancient Egypt. Egypt had ten plagues. We have only one, the plague of people.

We could get on better with them if they were not so close to us. They elbow us and jostle us and shove us and step on us. Even when we get them out of our eye they tarry in our ear. When we go into the inner chamber and shut the door, we cannot shut it tight enough to keep out the sounds of people. We hear them day and night. "Night" is only a poetic expression, for New York city is like the New Jerusalem. There is no night there. A Biblical writer informs us that once upon a time there was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour. No one has ever made such a statement about New York.—Rev. Charles E. Jefferson in the North American Review.

Only Five Holidays

Universal in States

With all the many holidays which bless this country, it comes as a surprise to learn that there are actually only five days in the year which are celebrated everywhere in the United States and its possessions. These are New Year's day, Washington's birthday, the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving day and Christmas. The states have other holidays. The tally is interesting:

Labor day has the greatest popularity, being observed in 43 states; election day comes next with 43; Memorial day follows with 38; Columbus is honored by 35; Lincoln by 26, and Armistice day by 23. In the South the birthdays of Jefferson Davis and Robert E. Lee are still observed by 10 and 9 states, respectively, and 4 of the southern states celebrate April 26, the date of the surrender at Appomattox, as Confederate Memorial day.

Making Tidal Predictions

The machine used for predicting tides is termed "a mechanical prophet with brains of brass." This machine, which weighs about 2,500 pounds, is about 11 feet long, 2 feet wide and 6 feet high. It was conceived, designed and constructed in the office of the coast and geodetic survey and put in operation about 1910 and has been used continuously for tidal predictions by the government. This machine is designed to calculate simultaneously the 37 factors that go to make up the tide. These factors depend upon the relative position of the sun, moon and earth, and also upon the shape and size of the harbor through which the predictions are made.

Diners Need Solitude

Of all esthetic human activities that of dining is most successfully and properly conducted in solitude. Those who miss appetite are suffering from a lack of concentration upon their viands. They have lost appreciation of aroma and of flavor by allowing competing sights and sounds to enter into the performance of a ceremony which should partake of religious austerity. If I ever set up as a physician I will send no nervous wreck through the horrible ordeal of sitting at some long table in a health farm and dining amid the clatter of the nascently red-blooded.—Heywood Brown, in Vanity Fair Magazine.

Stone Bathubs

In Mexico and many of the Central American countries where the tropical heat makes the water in city mains too warm for pleasant bathing the people use a plan adopted hundreds of years ago in those regions. Bath-tubs are cut from solid rock near a natural spring of pure water, or fed by a stream through bamboo pipes. These stone baths are near the homes of most of the wealthy citizens, and all hotels have them attached to their buildings. Travelers from Northern countries find these cool baths very refreshing.

HISTORY SCHLEICHER COUNTY

(By Alvin Lueddecke)

Schleicher county, the high divide of Texas, was a dangerous place for the marauding Indian in the early days. The Indians, in coming back to Mexico with stolen horses and cattle would have to cross the high divide and here more than one went down to a grassy grave. They would often fear crossing the divide and follow the course of Dove Creek, which is along the edge of the divide on the North, until they were past the limits of Schleicher county and continue toward Mexico. In 1871 a group of Indians raided the DeLong and Sanders ranches, scattering all of Sander's cattle and stealing many horses. The Indians attacked the herders next day and killed some of them. General McKenzie, of Fort Concho, followed these Indians and captured them. He brought them back to San Angelo and one year later sent them to Oklahoma. (6).

In 1864 Capt. J. J. Cureton started on a buffalo hunt, but he heard that there were Indians in the territory and took it on himself to find them. He appealed for help to capture these Indians and with 17 cowboys, 150 Texas Rangers, and 350 Militia attempted to do so at Dove Creek Springs. The Americans did not succeed in capturing them but got most of the horses. The Indians made their way unmoistened in Mexico. This was the last raid of any importance in Schleicher county, but others small groups of Indians stole horses in and around Schleicher county after that time. (7).

The first commissioners court of Schleicher county met July 25, 1901. Those present were: A. B. Prior County Judge, F. C. Bates Jr County Clerk, Henry Mills Sheriff, O. C. Yaws, W. D. Ake, and James Garrett. At this meeting the Schleicher county school house was rented for a temporary court house and orders were taken for county record books and for the stationery necessary. (8).

In the second meeting of the commissioners court, R. H. Bucklew was appointed constable of precinct 1, and A. D. Hobbs appointed constable of precinct 2, under bond of $500 each. The court also ordered that an election be held in Schleicher county Sept. 10, 1901 to determine whether or not intoxicating liquor should be sold in Schleicher county. The following officers were appointed to hold the election: P. H. McCormick for precinct 1, W. S. Casey for precinct 2, J. N. Barkley for precinct 3, and J. W. Eufrey for precinct 4. It also set the following salary for officers: Sheriff—$25.00 per month, County Clerk—$25.00 per month, and County Judge—$50.00 per month. (9).

The third meeting of the commissioners court was a special meeting called for the purpose of considering the terms of the election determining the sale of liquor in Schleicher county. It was found that there were 25 votes for prohibition and 37 A gainst prohibition. This meeting appointed P. H. Andrews County Attorney, and the fourth meeting appointed C. C. Doty first assessor of taxes of Schleicher county. (10).

No Written Constitution

England and France do not have written constitutions in the generally accepted sense of the term. The present government of Great Britain is based upon a series of acts and fundamental laws passed since the signing of Magna Charta. Parliament, however, is supreme and can make laws which do not agree with those acts often spoken of as "the British constitution." The government of France is based on several organic acts passed after the fall of Louis Napoleon. These acts do not constitute a written constitution in the sense of our constitution.—Exchange.

Inert Gases

Both nitrogen and helium are inert gases, without chemical action on other substances and they would probably remain indefinitely unchanged in sealed containers. Nitrogen may be obtained by removing oxygen from the air or by the decomposition of certain ammonium compounds. Helium is found in certain natural gases from which it is obtained, or it may be separated from atmospheric nitrogen by passing it over heated magnesium, or from liquid air by means of fractional distillation.

Tribute to a Pretty Girl

I know a pretty girl not a day over eighteen, and the most impudent human being I have ever known. Not bad impudence; it is the beautiful kind of "nerve" smart women know how to exercise. The impudence she displays in a young man would be rudely exposed, but when exercised by this pretty girl men almost regard it as divine. A shadowy word they use a great deal and know little about.—E. W. Lowe's Monthly.

county court house were approved by the court Feb. 11, 1902. The selection of material and construction to be left in the hands of J. J. Rice. This court house was estimated to cost about $2,500. It was completed in June 1902 with a total cost of $2,468.14. It was painted by F. J. Miller, at a cost of $239.35, and the first county record book bought for $34.00. The court house insured to the Central Fire Insurance Company for $2,400. (11).

ElDorado, the county seat of Schleicher county, was established in 1895, and its first large store was owned by Silliman, Gray and McCartney. C. C. Lamb had a small store and livery stable before the large store was put in. He later sold his store and livery stable to Tom Williams. A. B. Prior moved his ranch house to ElDorado and used it for a hotel. He later sold this house to Sam Holland, who used it for a hotel until 1923. C. C. West was the first post master of ElDorado and Dr. Robinson, husband of Mrs. Kate E. Robinson, was Schleicher county's first doctor. The present drug store was built by E. E. Sturicklan and is probably the oldest business house in ElDorado at the present time. ElDorado has made much progress since that time and is now one of the leading towns of West Texas. (12).

The people of Schleicher county took an early interest in public roads. On Feb. 15, 1902, the commissioners court order that a tax of 10 cents on the hundred dollars be placed as a tax to go to the road and bridge fund. (13).

Schleicher county now has some of the best roads in West Texas. ElDorado, the county seat of Schleicher county is connected to San Angelo and Del Rio by the Del Rio-Canadian Highway. On August 13, 1902, the commissioners court ordered that 25 cents on the hundred dollars be placed as a tax to go to the public school. (14).

The first public well in Schleicher county was drilled in the corner of the public square in November 1902, for the purpose of watering the fifty shades trees to be set out by W. B. Silliman in February 1903. (15). Many electoral campaigns and

Important Announcement to every owner of a Model T Ford

ON MAY 25, 1927, when Henry Ford first announced his plans for making a new car, he announced also that he would continue to make parts for the Model T Ford. He said:

"The Model T Ford car was a pioneer. It blazed the way for the motor industry and started the movement for good roads everywhere. It broke down the barriers of distance in rural sections, brought people in these sections closer together, and placed education within the reach of everyone. We are still proud of the Model T Ford. If we were not, we would not have continued to make it so long."

For twenty years, the Model T Ford led the automobile industry and it still serves more people than any other automobile. Over one-third of all the automobiles in use today are Model T Fords—an indication of the sturdy worth of the car and its value to people in all walks of life the world over.

The Ford Motor Company will continue to make replacement parts for these cars "until the last Model T is off the road." That is a part of Ford service. That is what Henry Ford meant when he said: "We believe that when a man buys one of our cars we should keep it running for him as long as we can and at the lowest up-keep cost."

Because of this policy a considerable part of the Ford manufacturing plants is given over to the making of parts for the Model T Ford. These replacement parts are made of the same material and in the same way as those from which your car was originally assembled.

Make it a point, therefore, to see the nearest Ford dealer and have him look over your Model T Ford. You may find that a very small expenditure will enable you to get thousands of miles of additional service, and at the same time protect the money you have invested in your car.

The Taste Test

Walter and Lawrence were in the habit of saving a part of their dessert from the evening dinner for consumption the next afternoon, and, in accordance with this custom, two small cakes had been placed in the cracker jar for them. William, being the first on the scene the next afternoon, went to the jar. He found only one cake, and a large piece had been bitten out of that. Full of wrath, he went up stairs and roused his brother.

"Say," he demanded, "I want to know who took that big bite out of my cake?"

"I did," sleepily answered Lawrence.

"What'd you do that for?"

"Well, when I tasted it I found it was your cake, and so I ate the other one."

Hospital in Lonely Spot

What is probably the loneliest hospital is on the Victoria river and serves the vast cattle raising district of northern Australia. The nearest railway and post office is 80 miles away, and it is 400 miles to the nearest doctor, dentist or druggist. Mail for the nurses stationed there arrives every six weeks and supplies are brought in once a year. There virtually is no road to the institution, and it requires teams of 40 mules each to haul these supplies for the last 80 miles. Because of the loneliness, two years is all the nurses are allowed to remain on duty.

Explaining Myopia

Some justification for calling a near-sighted motorist a "poor fish," was advanced recently at the convention of the American Academy of Optometry. It was said that near-sightedness, or myopia, is prevalent because man has not yet completely lost some of the characteristics of a fish. His eyes naturally diverge to the right and left instead of looking straight ahead. The finer muscles of the eye, in trying to correct this and retain the parallelism of the vision, subject the eyes to a strain which produces myopia.

Famous Old Church

The Trinity church (Boston) corner stone was laid in 1734, as an outgrowth of King's chapel. The first building was of wood, 90 feet long and 60 feet broad, without any external ornament, neither tower, steeple nor window in the lower story of the front of the building. There were three entrances in front, with neither arch nor porch. The inside, in contrast with the exterior, was very handsome, the paintings and arches considered the finest in the city. It was supplanted by the granite structure in 1828, with a noble square tower. This was destroyed by fire in 1872 and rebuilt.

Made Baths Popular

This business of taking a daily bath, although now pretty well established as a hygienic measure, really got its start not as an aid to health, but as a beauty fad. The woman who made the bathtub famous was none less than the little West Indian Creole, born as Tascher de la Pagerie, who rose to be Empress Josephine.

Before the advent of the Nineteenth century baths had exclusively been a sign of ill health, an eccentricity, in fact, indulged in only on medical advice. Josephine's habit of bathing every day in chiseled silver bathtubs, and of constantly washing in silver basins of all shapes and sizes, therefore, surprised France not inconceivably.

It does seem that Josephine carried the bathing business a little far. According to the records she spent three hours each morning at her toilette, what with selecting the day's make-up, costume and accessories. But as social arbiter of the day she did establish the bath as a fashionable practice in the European courts.

Apparently it wasn't to preserve that schoolgirl complexion that Napoleon's consort went to such ends. The records reveal that she spent 3,000 francs a year for rouge, or approximately $300 translated into prices of today—a considerable dab of rouge!—Baron De Meyer in Harper's Bazar.

Saw Heaven as Land

of Perpetual Summer

In religion as developed by the Assiniboin Indians those who were good went to a hot place after their death and those who had been at odds with established customs went to an eternal punishment of frigidty. This tribe frequented the Northwest, where the higher altitudes and mountain climate impressed them with the idea that continual sunshine and freedom from winter's icy blasts constituted about the highest happiness obtainable, says Father De Smet, a missionary who lived for a while with the Assiniboin.

"They believe that in this heaven the climate is tropical and game is abundant and the rivers are well stocked with fish. Their hell is the reverse: its unfortunate inmates dwell in perpetual snow and ice and in the complete deprivation of all things," he wrote. Thus, this tribe, instead of saying that a departed one had "gone west," referred to his having "gone south."—Detroit News.

New York Had No Show

Towns as well as persons have always shown a disposition to get the "big head" on any possible provocation. When the Erie canal was in course of construction Governor Clinton of New York visited Lockport, which the citizens dreamed was to be the great inland city of the continent. Buffalo was hardly born. Lockport was to be the key of the commerce that was to flow from the Great Lakes and the true seat of the great flouring mills and manufactories north of Mason and Dixon's line. The governor did not throw any cold water on their enthusiasm, but ventured to remark that New York city would derive immense advantages from the canal. Whereupon the wisecracks shook their heads and said to him: "Too far from Lockport, governor. Too far from Lockport!"

Various Plans Are Suggested by the Department of Agriculture.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The pure-bred dairy sire is the greatest single factor in increasing the average production of dairy cows. This fact is generally recognized; yet 75 per cent of the dairy bulls in service in the United States are either grades or scrubs. Furthermore, according to the bureau of dairy industry, United States Department of Agriculture, a survey of the 48 states has shown that those states or sections of states having the highest percentage of pure-bred dairy sires are also leading in average milk production.

Suggest Various Plans. Various plans to introduce pure-bred sires are suggested by the department, such as countrywide and statewide scrub-bull-eradication campaigns, co-operative bull associations, bull clubs, better sire trains, and others. The first three of these plans are discussed in detail, and bull clubs are mentioned briefly in Circular No. 6-C, Pure Bred Dairy-Sire Introduction, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

A country-wide scrub-bull-eradication campaign is an organized effort within a county to inform every dairyman of the importance of breeding only to a good pure-bred bull and to make definite arrangements to replace inferior bulls with pure bred ones that are well grown, of good conformation, and from dams with high yearly milk and butterfat records.

Organizing a Campaign. The campaign is carried on in co-operation with the extension service of the state college of agriculture. Considerable time and effort are required to organize such a campaign. At least three weeks should be allowed for a survey of the bull population of the county and for organization of local committees to conduct the campaign. The circular describes the various steps to follow in planning and conducting the campaign. Suggested posters for advertising purposes as well as copy for business men's advertising are included.

When a majority of counties in a state are interested in better dairy-sire work it is often advisable to conduct a campaign on a statewide basis. A statewide campaign may require from several months to a year. Many suggestions of value and much interesting detail concerning scrub-bull-eradication work may be found in the circular, a copy of which may be obtained from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Two General Classes of Feeds for Stock

There are two general classes of feeds. Corn, barley, wild hay and corn fodder are fattening and energy supplying feeds, and are classed as carbohydrate feeds. Oats, wheat bran, linseed oilmeal alfalfa hay and clover hay are growth producing and are classed as protein feeds.

The calf needs protein materials to make growth, but one should be careful in supplying these not to use feeds which are too bulky. If the calf has to eat a large amount of oats to get the growth material it needs then it will not be able to eat enough corn or barley to put on the fat or finish desired.

Calves fed at the South Dakota experiment station which received one-tenth oats in their ration did not make as rapid gains or develop as much "finish" as calves which got corn and linseed oilmeal without the oats. It will be a good practice gradually to take the oats out of the ration after the first two or three weeks and use a small amount of linseed oilmeal instead.

Feeding Sweet Milk

All of the successful growing rations found at the Wisconsin station have been built around milk, Professor Halpin says. He prefers feeding the milk in the sweet form, though many others differ with him. The experiments at Wisconsin indicate that chicks will consume more sweet milk than sour and will do better on it, he says. The fact that sweet milk put out in the morning may be sour by night should be no cause for suspicion or alarm.

Butter for New York

New York city, which is so big a market that it goes far in setting prices and standards, is showing a preference for light-colored, lightly salted butter. This may do away with the use of butter coloring and may lift the price of winter butter even higher over the yellower summer product than it is now. The reason is that some of the lighter-colored winter butter may have to be stored to take care of summer demand.

Goats for Milk

Goats bred for milk production produce from one to two thousand pounds of milk a year, with an average test of about 4 per cent. From two to four quarts of milk per day is considered very good production.

Goats are very rarely kept in this country for milk production under average farm conditions. They are more economical than cows and can be kept perhaps where cows could not.

Leafhoppers Cause Alfalfa "Yellows"

Insects Attack Other Legumes, Such as Clover.

Man's minute enemies, the insects, have been found guilty of one more crime against farm prosperity. Prof. A. A. Granovsky of the University of Wisconsin revealed in a paper presented at the meeting of the American Association of Economic Entomologists in Nashville, Tenn.

Professor Granovsky reported that it was proved last summer beyond a doubt that the common potato leafhopper is responsible for a damaging disease of alfalfa—"yellows" or yellow top.

"During the summers of 1926 and 1927 yellows was very common in Wisconsin," said Professor Granovsky. "It was observed that several species of small insects, known as leafhoppers occurred in great numbers over the affected alfalfa fields."

"Preliminary experiments conducted at the Wisconsin agricultural experiment station with caging these leafhoppers over the potted alfalfa plants under controlled conditions in a greenhouse, as well as in the field under natural conditions proved for the first time beyond a doubt that the common potato leafhopper is responsible for this old trouble."

In one week of feeding the leafhoppers produced the first symptoms of the disease—gradual yellowing of the tops of the plants. A few days of insect feeding often killed young plants entirely. Leafhopper attacks stunted new growth, weakened root systems and crowns of the plants, contributing to winter killing, and greatly reduced the yield of hay.

The hoppers affect many other legumes such as clover, soy beans, and garden beans. Professor Granovsky's experiments and observations indicated.

Leafhoppers, Professor Granovsky believes, introduce a virulent poison into the plant tissues. The poison is responsible for the severity of the "yellows" disease.

Warm Water for Layers Is Beneficial for Eggs

Warm water for the layers during cold weather is beneficial for egg production and the general welfare of the flock, and it costs less to heat water with coal or wood before it is given to the hens than to have them heat it with feed.

If the pail is insulated, filling it with hot water the first thing in the morning and at noon, and in extremely cold weather, again in the evening, will serve.

To prevent loss of heat and provide warm water throughout the day it is necessary to insulate the water pail. This is done by placing the pail in a box or other container of such size as to permit one or two inches of insulation beneath and around the pail. The insulating material may be straw, excelsior, or newspapers packed firmly. To keep the material dry it is covered with tin to fit closely under the top rim of the pail and sloped slightly to outside of the container so as to turn the water off.

It is surprising how long the water keeps warm when the pail is insulated. The pail can be easily removed and one packing should serve for the season.

Good Mash Hoppers Are Most Desirable Features

The consumption of mash has a direct bearing upon the rate of growth of young stock and the egg-production of adults. Without a continual supply of mash located conveniently for the birds, maximum results from either young or old stock cannot be realized. Mash hoppers, their construction and location are, therefore, an important feature of any poultry house.

The desirable features of a good mash hopper are as follows:

Large enough to accommodate most of the birds at one time.

Feed readily accessible, even when hopper is practically empty.

No chance for the wasting of feed.

Easy to clean, move, and refill.

As close to the floor as possible.

Located conveniently for the birds.

Located in a good light.

Agricultural Notes

Only good cows have milk fever.

Diseases and insects take an annual toll of one-fifth of the possible crop yield in America.

Green feeds are an important part of the winter poultry ration. Sprouted oats may be used or leafy alfalfa.

The best way to prevent a hog from overturning his feeding trough is to build it out of concrete. It will then be too heavy for him to push it over.

New York state lambs marketed at the Buffalo stockyards this year showed better feeding, better breeding, and better management than usual.

Ventilation can easily be arranged in a poultry house by having a window on the south side, with a shutter for it, and a burlap curtain inside to let down at night.

When she had finished she said: "Oh, I forgot one verse—about spilling the milk."

Her mother was puzzled and curious.

session of every quality. Fortunately we have no ways of knowing in advance how weak or strong any person is. We must have a trial and development ground and this the public school system of American supplies. It starts in the gutter and reaches through the University. It is as tall as the tallest and as short as the shortest. There are different kinds of rungs to climb on for different kinds of people as should be the case. But every child has a right to find out what God gave him and to develop it to the utmost degree. This is the meaning of equality of educational opportunity, one of our most sacred rights, one which we declare today is the custody of our possession to be conserved, enlarged, and protected by it, individually, and collectively, with personal influence and with organized power.—Exchange.
