On this date

On this date in 1900 train engineer, Casey Jones, was killed when trying to save the "Cannonball Express" as it passed through Vaughn, MS. In 1939 baseball's Iron Man, Lou Gehrig, played his last game with the New York Yankees on this day. That same day, public television began, as President Franklin D. Roosevelt became the first chief executive to appear on TV at the New York World's Fair. In 1940 Belle Martell was licensed as the first female prize fight referee. In 1947 Boulder Dam was renamed Hoover Dam.

Birthdays of note: 1912 actress Eve Arden; 1923 jazz musician Percy Heath; 1930 actress Cloris Leachman; 1933 singer Willie Nelson.

News of yesteryear

The Sept. 2, 1976 edition of the Success reported:

Much to the surprise of many West Texans, tobacco is growing right here in Eldorado. Vernon Carroll planted some Burley tobacco back in May of this year. He says, "I just wanted to see what it looks like growing."

The July 5, 1940 edition of the Success reported:

Swinging the gloves in an amateur boxing match, Owen Smith of Mertzon community won a technical decision over W.D. Dacy in the third round at Eldorado high school gymnasium Wednesday night. Buck Bailey, athletic coach of Washington State College, spending a vacation here served as referee.

SCMC trustees eye architect's plans for nursing home wing

The Schleicher County Hospital District board of trustees had their first look at plans for a new nursing home wing on Monday night, April 27. Architect Gary Donaldson of San Angelo was on hand for the board's monthly meeting and presented his preliminary drawings and get the board's input before proceeding with more detail.

Donaldson's plans indicated a new wing extending southwestward from the existing nursing home at a 60 degree angle. The wing would include nine resident rooms, an employee break-room, laundry and maintenance facilities and a beauty shop. Donaldson noted that one of the nine rooms in the wing would replace an existing room which would be demolished when the new wing was attached to the present building. In all, the project would increase the facility's capacity by 16 beds.

Board member Randy Mankin asked Donaldson if asbestos in the existing building would be a problem during construction. Donaldson said a study performed by the hospital in recent years had identified asbestos in the exterior wall of the present nursing home. He recommended an asbestos abatement plan be incorporated in the overall construction plan.

During the discussion, board president Ricky Fuessel asked Donaldson to estimate the project's final price tag. Donaldson noted the wing included 5,497 square feet of new construction and 576 square feet of renovation. He estimated the project could cost as much as $555,000.

Responding to questions from the board, Donaldson explained that his preliminary plan called for resident rooms to be larger than those in the current facility. He offered to change the plans and scale the new rooms down to the same size as those presently in use. Donaldson said other savings

Can you wiggle your toes? Schleicher County EMS personnel assist injured motorists following an accident on FM 915 last Thursday. The two women were treated at the scene but declined further medical attention.

Accident injures two Ft. Stockton women

Two Ft. Stockton women were injured slightly on Thursday, April 23rd when the car they were driving left the roadway and overturned four miles north of Eldorado on FM 915. According to Sheriff David Doran, who investigated the accident, Maria Salgado, 37 of Ft. Stockton was driving northbound when her blue 1992 Toyota automobile failed to negotiate a curve, overturned and crashed through a fence.

A passing motorist used a cellular phone to report the accident to the Sheriff's Office.

Schleicher County EMS personnel responded to the scene where they treated Salgado and an unidentified female passenger. The pair refused further medical treatment, however, and declined a trip to the hospital in the ambulance.

According to Sheriff Doran, speed was a contributing factor in the wreck. Salgado was ticketed for "failure to control speed."

EMS personnel responding to the scene were: Connie Andrews, Victor Belman, Shelia Prater, Velma Tyler and Sylvia Belman.

I think we got it — Volunteer firefighter Oscar Martinez directs a stream of water onto smoldering ceiling joists as James Mack Holley holds a flashlight. The fire at 310 S.W. Main St. was noticed last Saturday night by patrolling deputy Joe Dombroski who alerted firefighters. The building, owned by Isabella McCutcheon sustained only minor damage. The cause of the fire is unknown.

School, city and hospital elections slated for Saturday

Voters will go to the polls Saturday morning to decide contested races for the Eldorado City Council, Schleicher County Hospital Board and Schleicher County ISD board of trustees. A heavier than average turnout is expected. When early voting ended Tuesday afternoon, 50 people had cast ballots in the hospital board election. That compares to 12 or 15 in average years, according to Beverly Minor, the hospital district's assistant administrator.

The large turnout seems to be driven by two contested races at the school. In Single Member District (SMD) 4, incumbent Ilse Williams is being challenged by local attorney Raymond Loomis. In SMD 6 former school trustee William Edmiston is facing Lee R. "Smooky" Taylor.

In Eldorado City Council Ward #1 Sherry Lux and Juquin Rojas are vying for an open seat. In Ward #2 incumbent Richard Mendez is being challenged by Robert Bybee and Domingo Pina.

On the Schleicher County Hospital District board of trustees, incumbents Ricky Fuessel and Delia Pina are joined by former board member Tom Enochs; Brian Edmiston and Anita Jones as the five are running for four at-large seats.

Polls will open Saturday at 7:00 a.m. in the school administration building's multi-purpose room on Field St. Voting will continue until 7:00 p.m.

Three EHS students headed to State UIL Meet

Eldorado High School has qualified three students for the 1997-98 University Interscholastic League Academic State Meet to be held May 8-9 at The University of Texas at Austin.

Qualifiers include: Anna Loomis, Sarah Mankin and Steven Valero. The three students make up the school's Current Issues and Events team which placed first overall at the UIL Academic Regional Meet held Saturday, April 25 at Abilene Christian University.

Sarah Mankin placed second in the individual standings at the Regional Meet to lead the team's scoring. She will be competing individually and as part of the team at the State Meet.

"Students who participate in UIL academics are as competitive and dedicated as any athlete or musician," said Bobby Hawthorne, UIL academic director. "They devote untold hours to practice and invitational meet competition, and for many, these hours will be among the most important they spend during their high school careers. Over the years, we've heard from hundreds of students who claim that these contests were the most fulfilling and rewarding activities of their entire high school careers."

UIL academic contests range from feature writing to accounting, and from computer science to poetry interpretation. Of the 2.2 million students who participated in UIL activities last year, 638,000 competed in one or more of the 22 general academic contests.

"The purpose of these contests," Hawthorne added, "is to teach thinking and problem-solv-

Mr. Dewey's Hook & Chain

BAXTER BLACK

ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

I went out with Mr. Dewey, maybe learn a thing or two.

We motored through the pasture to his cows
Till our path befell a crossing,
a trail laid to waste,
Like forty rhinos passed
by pullin' plows.

All the sagebrush had been flattened,
great big gouges in the earth,
Bits of cloth and hair were blowin'
in the breeze.

Mr. Dewey hacked a lungier and then felt of his black eye Which now looked more the hue of moldy cheese.

"You?" I asked. He nodded,
"I was out here yesterday,
I had to pull a calf,
came straight from town,
but I used my regular method,
what I call the Hook & Chain,
Where I sneak up on 'em
when they're layin' down.

Then I chain their little foot up,
slip the hook into a link,
The big one on the end,
you know the one.

Then I put my boot into it,
always keep the pressure tight
That way they never get up till you're done.

"A hook?" I asked, "What kind of hook?"
From the rubble on the floor
He fished a good sized hay hook from the mound.

It was old as grandma's photos and, no doubt it was hand made,
It looked like some old stirrup that he'd found.

"See, I prop my back against her with my boot there in the hook,
And push against her when she starts to strain.
I get quite a bit of leverage and they never do get up
As long as I keep pressure on the chain."

"I see," I said. Though I didn't,
I looked back across the trail.
I could picture what had happened in my mind
When the ol' cow quit the country through the cactus and the rocks
With Mr. Dewey
draggin' long behind.

"That explains those nasty bruises and that gash there on yer ear,
But what went wrong
to sabotage yer plot?"
"I was wearin' city footwear, not my mud boots like I should.
It slipped right through the handle. I got caught."

But you know they never get up,
if you keep the pressure on.
I've proven that a million times before.
And I'll show ya if we spot one that's in need of our assist.
I've got the chain and hook
here on the floor."

Then I glanced down to the floorboard.
He was wearin' Birkenstocks!
"There's one a calvin' now," he said, "just look!"
"So what?" I asked, suspicious,
"Well, I see ye wearin' mud boots."
With that ol' Dewey handed me the hook.

In America... which contrary to common belief includes Schleicher County... the ballot box is where we stage our revolutions. It's also where we quash them. While governments around the world routinely come to and fall from power amid a hail of bullets, here in the United States we stage bloodless coups. Or, we put them down.

The last time a segment of American society decided to ignore the results of an election we had a Civil War. That was in the 1860s. It was before nerve gas, germ warfare and nuclear warheads. There were no ballistic missiles, long range bombers or aircraft carriers. Still, using the low-tech weapons of the day, Americans, North and South, managed to kill and maim one another by the millions.

When it was over the survivors went back home with the clear understanding that, although our electoral system isn't perfect, it's far preferable to the alternative... armed revolt.

Throughout the remainder of

OVER THE BACK FENCE

by Randy Mankin

that century and the first half of this one, Americans eagerly exercised their "right" to vote. But somewhere after World War II it all began to change. Now, far more people stay home than go to the polls on election day.

National elections, which generate the most interest, have abysmally poor turnouts. State and local elections fare much, much worse.

This Saturday is election day in Eldorado. We will be voting for school board, city council and hospital board. Judging by the way elections have gone lately, most people won't vote.

Many have become convinced that one person can't make a difference. I, on the other hand, see this as an opportunity. The more people who stay home...the more valuable my vote becomes. Does that scare you? If it doesn't, it should.

Do you really want a handful of people deciding the fate of our city, hospital or school? Well, that's exactly what has been happening here in Eldorado, here in Texas, and here in America, for far too long.

The right to vote is precious. It was bought and paid for in blood and has been preserved for us on countless battlefields by unnamed American heroes for over two centuries.

We're good about watching out for tyrants. No way will we stand by and let a thug named Hitler, or Stalin, or even Saddam Hussein take away our rights. But we'll sit perfectly still and let a sneak thief named "Apathy" steal our right to vote.

Please, go vote. Even if you're convinced your one single vote couldn't possibly matter...go vote.

Who knows, you might just cancel out my vote. And, there are plenty of people-hereabouts who will tell you that that alone is worth the trouble of going to the polls.

School Lunches

Rolling Along With

Tumbleweed Smith

Joann Smoot is food service director for the Big Spring school system. She oversees about 4,000 lunches and 500 breakfasts a day. The meals are prepared in four kitchens for ten campuses. About sixty percent of students in Big Spring buy their lunches in school cafeterias.

The school lunch program started more than fifty years ago just after World War Two. "They found out that young men going to war were not nutritionally sound," says Joann. "So they devised a program to get young men ready for war."

The school lunch program is regulated by the US Department of Agriculture. "When it first started, the schools that participated would actually have a plot of land for growing some of their vegetables," says Joann. "They might have even butchered some of their own meat. In home economics classes, they would can the vegetables and later serve them at school lunch."

The servings at lunch are meant to give each child at their age level one third of their daily nutritional requirement in the school lunch. Some food is made available to schools through the USDA. The type of food is based upon the extra commodity foods available throughout the country and range from ground beef, chicken and cheese to flours and cornmeal. The food is made available to the school district for the cost of delivery only. For each lunch that is served, the government reimburses money to the school district in addition to the price the student pays for lunch.

The goal of the program is to provide high quality, nutritious lunches to all students in school. Eligible students receive meals free or at a reduced price. An additional goal is to keep the price low for paying students.

Students have their favorite food items. "The top things that kids like are pizza, chicken nuggets, and any type of Mexican food: burritos, tacos, that kind of stuff."

One thing the students don't like is spinach. "This year my philosophy is no spinach. In place of it, I'm offering something they really like and that's broccoli. All we have to do is put a little cheese sauce on it. It might add a little bit of fat, but they eat every bit of the broccoli."

The average school lunch costs about $1.50 to prepare and serve. Visitors can eat at school any time they want to. Breakfast is a dollar, lunch is a dollar eighty-five.

Joann encourages her employees to take a business approach to their work. "I want my employees to have fun, but more than that, when those kids come through the line, I want them to smile and make the kids feel good. Lot of those youngsters didn't see a smile when they left home, they might not have seen a smile all day. But lunch is a social time. I want it to be a pleasant experience. The kids are our customers. They're important."

Bush asks judge to throw out ruling on attorney fees

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling

AUSTIN — Gov. George W. Bush last week asked a federal judge to throw out his previous ruling that declared lawyers' $2.3 billion fee reasonable in the state's $15.3 billion lawsuit against the tobacco industry.

Attorney General Dan Morales hired the team of private lawyers to represent the state in the lawsuit.

Lawyers for Bush and seven Republican and Democratic state legislators who joined the governor in suing to cut back the lawyers' fees (15 percent of the settlement) said they are prepared to appeal to a higher court if U.S. District Judge David Folsom rules against them.

Austin lawyer Pete Schenkkan, who is representing Bush, said, "We think the law is clearly on our side, but that doesn't mean we are going to win in front of Judge Folsom."

If an appeal of Folsom's ruling is necessary, Schenkkan said, the lawyers opposing the $2.3 billion fees would argue that the judge acted improperly when he ruled Jan. 22 to enforce the state's contract with the private lawyers, the Austin American-Statesman reported.

Court Sides With Ticketholder

A New Jersey police officer is closer to collecting the $10.4 million Texas Lottery jackpot he won in 1994.

Last week the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that Scott Wenner is entitled to a trial of his lawsuit in which he claims that the Texas lottery is trying to cheat him out of his winnings by not paying.

The court's decision clears the way for a December trial, but Wenner's lawyer said he believes Texas will settle rather than go back to court.

Wenner bought the $1 ticket from a now-defunct multistate ticket agent in Pennsylvania.

The Texas Lottery argued that the agent illegally sold the ticket, making Wenner's claim invalid. But the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said the sale was legal and the high court upheld the ruling.

LCRA Ends Private Briefings

Though it is legal for government bodies to hold staff briefings in private, the lower Colorado River Authority last week announced its decision to curtail them. "We found that we have been holding too many briefings in executive sessions," LCRA General Manager Mark Rose told the Austin American-Statesman. "These briefings can be difficult to police, and eventually we could find ourselves in trouble."

Under the Texas Open Meetings law, meetings of tax-supported entities must be held in public. The definition of what constitutes a meeting is sometimes blurry to officials whose responsibility it is to post public notice of the meetings and conduct them in accordance with the law.

The Austin-based LCRA manages the Colorado River and provides water and power to customers from near Abilene to Bay City.

AG Shuns Hopwood Meeting

About 25 University of Texas students demonstrated outside the state attorney general's office demanding that Attorney General Morales appeal the Hopwood case.

The students chanted that minorities were being denied access to higher education because of the case, but Morales declined to meet with them.

The week before the demonstrations, Morales said he was unconvinced Texas should launch an appeal.

Hopwood — named for lead plaintiff Cheryl Hopwood — was brought in 1992 by four white students who said they were denied admission to the UT school of law because of their race.

In 1996, the U.S. Supreme Court let stand a lower court ruling that race could no longer be a factor in awarding scholarships, financial aid and college admission.

Meanwhile, U.S. District Judge Sam Sparks denied a request by black and Hispanic American groups that they be allowed to intervene on behalf of the University of Texas in the Hopwood case.

Gov. Bush Heads West

Gov. Bush traveled to California last week to raise money for his re-election campaign, speak to movie executives and attend a fund-raiser for GOP gubernatorial candidate Dan Lungren.

Garry Mauro, Bush's Democratic challenger, chided the governor for doing the same thing he criticized his predecessor Ann Richards for doing in 1994: accepting campaign money from Californians and promoting the Texas film industry.

According to finance reports, Bush has raised about $8 million for his re-election, including $1.2 million from out of state.

Seven Eagles signal intentions to pursue college athletics

Graduation won't mean the end of athletics for at least seven Eldorado Eagles who have either signed letters of intent or made verbal commitments to college recruiters.

Makenzie McCravery will be playing tennis next year for Eastern New Mexico University where she has received a full athletic scholarship. The defending State champion in Class 2A girl singles be wearing green and silver next year and playing for Coach Christine Blaeser.

"Makenzie is a very talented and extremely smart young woman," Blaeser told the Success. "We are so excited that she chose ENMU. I know she will be very successful here."

Blaeser became the Zia's tennis coach eight years ago, building a successful program from scratch. This year, the Zias are in the NCAA Division II Regional tournament where they will face Abilene Christian University.

"I wish we had Makenzie here right now. We could use her," Blaeser said.

McCravey isn't ready to head west just yet, though. She is playing in the Class AA Region I tournament in Abilene with plans to defend her State title in Austin in two weeks.

Heading to Sul Ross University in Alpine will be Randy Spears, Zach Steele, Jason Richters and Victoria Mitchel. Spears, Steele and Richters have verbally committed to play football for coach Jim Hector's Loboes next year.

"We're very excited to have all three of these young men coming to join our program," Hector told the Success. "They come to us from a fine program where they've been well coached."

Hector just completed his fourth year as the Loboes coach. He took over a 0-9 team and quickly built it into a winner. Last year, the Loboes won the Conference championship. This year, after losing several players to graduation, the team finished third.

Victoria Mitchel, will play basketball for the Lady Loboes.

Sul Ross is an NCAA Division III school. It is a member of the American Southwest Conference along with Howard Payne University, Hardin Simmons University, McMurray University, Mary Hardin Baylor University, Texas Lutheran and Mississippi College.

Mark Fryar has signaled his intentions to walk on at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos while Garrétt Bownds will be walking on at Texas Tech University.

EMS Junior Olympics held

by Jackie Barrera

On Saturday, April 18, some middle schoolers, along with a few high school helpers, joined in the middle school gym for the first EMS Junior Olympics. According to Middle School Librarian Susan Parker, the purpose of the EMS Junior Olympics was to show that the high school and middle school students could intermingle and have fun together.

Mrs. Parker said, "I thought everyone had a good time." EHS students Stacy Nicholson, Kayla McCravey, Vanessa Gonzalez, BreeAnne Davis, Matt Curtis, Jackie Barrera, Sonia Covarrubiaz, Dee Martinez, Ashley Holt, Hillary Hodges, Melissa Hinojosa, Amy Green, Haley Edmiston, Rikki Bosmans, Suzie Rojas, and Fidencio Cadena each took part in this all-school collaborating event.

The "Green Team" of Jackie Anthony, Monica Moreno, Rachael Fuentes, and Serena Arispe, received third place. The "Gray Team" of Mikinzie Holley, Janet Gardiner, Jennifer Bybee, Brandi Davis, Brittany Sellers, and Tabitha Lloyd received second place. The "Brown Team" of Jordan Fay, Will Griffin, Clara Herrera, Jeanette Villavicencio, and Ashton Murr received first place.

Current Events advances to State

by Tabitha Garcia

On April 25, several of EHS's Brainiacs competed at the Regional UIL Academic Meet at Abilene Christian University in Abilene. The Current Issues and Events team were Regional champions and will be advancing to the state competition on May 9. The team consists of Sarah Mankin, Anna Loomis, and Steven Valero.

Individually, Sarah Mankin placed second in Current Issues and Events and Tabitha Garcia placed fifth in Spelling and Vocabulary.

Once again, the students of Eldorado High School have proven that the education they are receiving in this school system has a worth far exceeding the norm.

Academic banquet slated

by Trisha Martinez

The Eldorado Lions Club will be hosting their annual banquet to honor students of Eldorado High School with an average of 90 or above the first semester. The banquet, which will honor the students for their academic excellence, will be held on Sunday, May 3, at 12:30 p.m. in the Eldorado High School cafeteria.

Honor students need not purchase a meal ticket, which will be catered by Steve Nelson and Felipe Pina.

Two complimentary tickets are being provided for parents of those honorees, but those wishing to purchase additional tickets, may do so in the high school office, or by calling 853-2549, ext. 321. Tickets are $6.25 per person.

EHS Health Occupations class witnesses surgery

by Tiffany Case

On Wednesday, April 22, Ms. Gina Sauer took her first-year health occupations class to the Eldorado veterinary clinic.

The students witnessed a surgery for the first time when Dr.

William Edmiston allowed the class to watch him perform surgery on a dog. He explained the procedure of the surgery and talked about the different ways to prevent infections. The students also watched Dr. Edmiston draw blood and conduct tests on the sample.

The students who visited the clinic were Meg Anderson, April Fuentes, Brandon Leggett, Katey Lively, Luis Martinez, Dolores Moreno, Yvonne Rodriguez, Antonio Sandate, and Christy Van Horn.

Senior fish fry held

by Mary Adame

A fish fry party was held on Sunday, April 19, in the honor of the 1998 Senior class at the home of Glen and Glenda Nix. The day was full with volleyball, washers, croquet, potato sack races, laughs, reminiscing, and, of course, eating.

Hosts and hostesses for the party were Glen & Glenda Nix, Ronnie & Sharon Mittel, Lynn & Christy Meador, Steve & Eva Jo Sessom, Billy Frank & Mabel Blaylock, Robert & Pansy Jay, Gary & Billy Gayle McKinney, Frankie Hardy, Pam White, George & Martha Spinks, Kane & Tiffany Harris.

The senior class would like to thank all those who organized and cooked for this wonderful event. Also, we would like to extend our sympathy to the Meador Family.

Washington, D.C. through the eyes of student

by Hanna Wolfe

For six hectic days, 352 high school students from around the U.S. congregated with one special bond — the love of journalism. The Washington Journalism Conference, held last Tuesday, April 14 through Sunday, April 19 was an extensive conference geared at providing students providing students an insight into politics and journalism.

Juniors and seniors from New Zealand to California, New York to Hawaii were filled to the brim with politics on Capitol Hill and in the newsroom. Broken down into news desks of 22, students were exposed to personal attention as well as their peers.

Housed at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase, Maryland, conference students rose early each morning embarking on the 20 minute bus ride into Washington, D.C. Here, students gained access to the making of news and politics. Conversing with the editor of Capitol Hill's most respected political news source in Washington, Congressional Quarterly, or an interview from the floor of the House of Representatives, informed and inspired students.

Twenty-two students represented Texas, including myself, conducted meetings with staff members of Senator Kay Bailey Hutchinson, Senator Phil Graham, and Representative Lamar Smith. Sitting on the overstuffed leather couch in Representative Lamar Smith's office and actually seeing how laws are made proves a valuable experience I will never forget.

Elective seminars were held each night in the spacious 4-H Center over an array of topics, such as interviewing, editing, Broadcast Journalism, and political cartooning.

Between students' busy schedules, social and icebreaker activities were held. Yet little social prompting was needed to bring conference students together. Everyone from all corners of the U.S. were best friends instantly.

Students from New York were roomed with Alaskans and Texans with Californians. So the wonderfully rich diversity of each individual brought everyone together. Students from New York inquired about Texans with "big hair" and got a big kick out of the casual Texas greeting, "Hey, Ya'll!" Lasting friendships were made and kept while writing furiously to meet deadlines for one of the two conference newspapers, or touring Washington's monuments and historic sights. Although each student left with something different, the fast-paced excitement of journalism on Capitol Hill shone brightly on each student's face.

Through participation at the State Meet, students qualify for the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation scholarships. Since its inception in 1954, the TILF has provided $11.4 million to approximately 10,315 Texas high school students. This year, the TILF expects to award an estimated 530 new and renewed grants, valued at more than $759,000. These academic scholarships have been funded by grants and donations from foundations and individuals. Each dollar that the TILF receives goes directly for scholarships, and no administrative or other overhead expenses are deducted.

Spring Festival Queen Candidates

Music, food & fun at Spring Festival

The Old Hat Band, roast beef dinners and bingo is coming our way during Our Lady of Guadalupe Church's annual Spring Festival being held Sunday, May 3 on the Courthouse lawn starting around 11:00 a.m.

Festivities will begin at the church with the spring festival queen being announced during Mass. This year there are three contestants vying for the crown. They are Amika Justina Gonzalez, Mi-ki Jasmine Romero and Josie Diaz.

Amika J. Gonzalez is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Galan and Mr. Raul R. Gonzalez. She has one brother Rolando Gonzalez and one sister Brittany Bianca Galan. Amika's grandparents are Mr. & Mrs. Luis Aguilar and Mr. and Mrs. Mariano Gonzalez. Her hobbies are putting puzzles together, reading and fishing.

Mi-ki J. Romero is the 9 year old daughter of Mickey and Lisa Romero. Her grandparents are Ray and Betty Romero and Roy and Lydia Guerrero. Her hobbies are riding her bike, playing baseball and spending time with her mom and popo.

Josie Diaz, is the 10 year old daughter of Jose and Martha Diaz. She has three sisters, Patricia, Irma and Martha. Josie's grandparents are Martha Hernandez and Reynaldo and Consuelo Villavicencio all of Ciudad Acuna, Mexico. Her hobbies are rollerblading, bicycle riding, basketball and swimming.

Church members will be serving a roast beef dinner from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on the courthouse square. The cost is $5.00 for adults and children under 12 and Sr. Citizens $3.00. Food Booths selling hamburgers, gorditas and corn-on-the-cob will be open from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The Old Hat Band of Mertzon will be providing live entertainment. They specialize in country and gospel music. Also, children's games (all your favorites will be there), cake walk, bingo and raffle will make the day complete.

In other business, the board met with local attorney James Kosub in executive session. The agenda for the meeting indicated the closed door session was to discuss the U.S. Justice Department's investigation of the hospital's laboratory billing practices. However, when the board emerged into open session, no action was taken and no further explanation of the executive session was made.

What is known, however, is that the U.S. Justice Department has notified hundreds of hospitals across the nation that they have overbilled Medicare for laboratory tests. Schleicher County Medical Center is one of those hospitals.

After returning to open session, the board approved the minutes of previous meetings, then heard an update from Hospital Administrator Jim Roddie concerning the hospital's application for Medicare re-certification.

The hospital's Medicare certification was lost last year when federal regulators cited the hospital for failing to adequately supervise a physician assistant with an attending physician. Although both the physician and physician assistant in question were being provided by Columbia Hospital in San Angelo, Schleicher County Hospital District's ability to bill Medicare was terminated.

Roddie explained that all the necessary paperwork had been submitted and that it was being reviewed. He noted that recertification will only happen after the facility has been surveyed by government inspectors. Roddie speculated the inspection was at least two months away.

The board then reviewed a letter of resignation from Dr. William McCrae in which he asked to be reimbursed for expenses relating to the hospital district's rent house. Board members noted that McCrae had performed work and purchased fixtures for the hospital district's house without the board's approval. They voted unanimously to deny his request for reimbursement.

Before adjourning, the board set May 7th as the date it would meet to canvass votes in the upcoming trustee election. They also reviewed the district's financial records and authorized payment of the month's bills.

FSA has new phone system

The Schleicher County USDA Service Center has been automated with a new system called LAN/WAN. This system has connected the FSA and NRCS computers and telephones together.

When you call either agency, a recording will come on, and at that time, you will have the opportunity to select 2 for FSA or 3 for NRCS, or remain on the line for someone to assist you. During this time, the two agencies are learning how to operate the phone. We ask that you will be patient with us. If you do not hear music when you are put on hold, you probably have been disconnected. We apologize for any disconnections that may occur. It is not our intention to disconnect anyone.

The new listing in the phone book will be under USDA-Schleicher County Service Center 853-3535.

FSA administers all programs without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, disability or marital status.

Mittel Insurance presents Eldorado Spotlight

This week the Eldorado Spotlight shines on Joshua Grange. Joshua is one of Mrs. Wink's students at Kids Kampus. Joshua and several of his classmates recently traveled to Dr. Debbie Dorie's Clinic where they enjoyed fun time playing in the mud. Here, Joshua has given himself a mud beard and is getting ready to shave it off.
