RESUME DRILLING ON SCHLEICHER WELL TODAY

According to a report received by the Success, drilling on the John M. Cooper's Bert Page No. 1 was resumed this morning after being shut down a week. The well was shut down last Friday when a big flow of gas estimated at more than a million cubic feet per day was struck. On Sunday a showing of high gravity sweet oil, test 48, developed. Since Sunday, the oil showing has slightly increased. The test resumes drilling at 5,404 feet in lime which has not yet been positively identified. It is thought generally to be Strawn but some still contend that it may be Bend, basal Pennsylvanian stratum, which is supposed to be immediately above the Ordovician. According to the latter supposition, the Ordovician is running high in the Bert Page no.

The Lions met at their usual meeting place and dispatched food some business. A new president and vice-president were elected to fill out the terms of Lions Jarvis and Hamilton, both of whom have resigned. Lion Knight was elected president and Lion Snell elected vice-president. The report on street lighting still leaves Eldorado in the dark for the present. Get it?

Lion Glenn Rathliff brought a visitor, Mr. Hugh Wilfang from Gainesville, who is at the present a student in Baylor where he is an outstanding athlete.

The Lions club is the outstanding mens' organization in Eldorado.

Roosevelt's New Plan Given To Congress

President Roosevelt came forth last Friday with one of the most significant outlines of future construction in the United States ever made by any one president at any one time. The president plans to use Federal money to sponsor a "back to the land movement," and to eliminate struggle for a livelihood in sub-marginal land. People who now live on unproductive land will be aided in securing productive land, and people on relief rolls who could be shifting for themselves will be moved to the great fields of surplus, uncultivated land.

Roosevelt also suggested to plan for the better housing of the American people. People are neither healthy nor happy unless they have comfortable and convenient homes in which to live. It is the duty of every American family which they owe to themselves to live in unpretentious but comfortable and convenient quarters.

Another significant point in the plans of the president was that unemployment and old age insurance be provided the American people through legislation of both state and national governments. The funds for such insurance would be provided by contributions rather than an increase in taxes and would be handled and invested by the Federal government. The president stated that he "placed the security of the men, women, and children of the nation first."

Still more gigantic in nature was the president's plan to utilize the far.

DR. MOORE IS CONSTRUCTING NEW OFFICE BUILDING

Dr. Moore, a local dentist, is beginning work on an attractive new office building and residence combined. The building is to be of stucco, 20x40 feet in size, and modern in every detail. The new building will give Dr. Moore a modern and convenient office in which to carry on his dental work. Dr. Moore's equipment is all new and modern. When completed and fully equipped, Dr. Moore will have one of the most up-to-date dental offices in this section of the country. We presume that the depression is over for Dr. Moore. We wish to congratulate him and we hope that other businessmen and residents will follow in Dr. Moore's footsteps for now is the time to renovate and rebuild. Make ready for the prosperity which is soon coming to Eldorado.

CEMETERY COMMITTEE TO CONTINUE CLEANUP CAMPAIGN

The Cemetery Committee and other interested parties, who met last Tuesday afternoon at the Eldorado Cemetery for the purpose of cleaning and beautifying the cemetery, will meet again next Tuesday afternoon to continue the cleaning and beautifying work. The committee reported an excellent afternoon's work last Tuesday, and they hope to do as well if not better this coming Tuesday. The committee requests that those who are interested in the work please bring their tools to the cemetery next Tuesday afternoon and help. The committee also makes a special request that no one pile trash on places already cleaned or on another party's lot. Everyone should be interested in a work of this kind; it is a matter of personal as well as civic pride.

GRANDPA W. F. BENTON PREDICTS GOOD CROPS THIS YEAR, DESPITE UNFAVORABLE OUTLOOK

Grandpa W. F. Benton, an old pioneer in Schleicher county, predicts that we will make good crops in Schleicher county this year, despite the now unfavorable conditions and outlook. Grandpa Benton says that he came to Schleicher county in 1900, twenty-five years ago, and that everything was as dry as a bone when he got here. He states further that it did not rain until the middle of June. Everybody went to work then planting crops, and working those which they had been able to plant earlier. Good crops were made in the entire county that year. Grandpa Benton says that it will do the same thing this year, more than likely. All we need is more faith and a more cheerful attitude, he says.

48th ANNUAL STATE FAIR TO OPEN OCTOBER 6

Word has been received by the Eldorado Success that the forty-eighth annual Texas State Fair which is held at Dallas will open October 6 and continue through October 21. The fair is to be larger than ever this year. More than $100,000 in awards and premiums will be given during the fair. Some of the various departments which will have interesting exhibits this year are livestock, farm, poultry, dairy, home and industrial.

The Success wishes to advocate that Schleicher county have the around best exhibit of any county in the state, and if we begin to prepare our exhibits now, we won't miss it far.

ELDORADOANS ENJOY CAMP ALLISON CELEBRATION

Several Eldoradoans who attended the Camp Allison celebration, rodeo and barbecue, last Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, returned last night declaring that they thoroughly enjoyed the affair, especially the free barbecue on June 13. There were plenty of amusements, some good bronc riding, goat roping, and plenty to eat, according to report. Several candidates also made real speeches in which they declared here last night a large crowd of Eldorado and Schleicher county citizens attended the celebration.

SCHLEICHER COTTON CHECKS $10,802; $26,838 STILL DUE

According to County Agent Snell, checks for cotton contracts which came into Schleicher county last Saturday totaled $10,802.16. This amount covered 83 cotton contracts in this county. There were 132 contracts made in the county and there are 49 contracts yet to be paid. The total number of acres in Schleicher county which were rented to the government is 5001. The average yield per acre was accepted by the government at 167 lbs. and contract signs will receive $5.84 per acre on an average according to our county agent. The total payment on contracts with the government amounts to $23,205.84, and with the parity payment, which amounts to about $8,434.42 additional, the grand total of business which Schleicher county farmers did with the U. S. government amounts to approximately $37,340.26. Deducting the payments already made, we have a balance due the farmers of the county of approximately $26,838.10 more than twice the amount which has already been paid. This total balance due included the parity payment and payment on the 49 contracts for which no money has been received at the present time. Because of the extra $10,000 which was paid to Schleicher county farmers Saturday, money circulated freely in Eldorado, and most of our merchants reported a brisk weekend business with a fair business all this week. The cotton contract money helped this county quiet a bit and the remaining $26,000 should help the farmers and business in general even more so.

Before a ship can float, it must push out of its way an amount of water weighing as much as it does. What a load of water the big battleships must push out. The same thing is true of a balloon in air. The Schleicher county commissioner's court met in regular session Monday. In addition to routine business of the court, plans for the relief canary which is to be put into operation here in July were discussed. All the commissioners were present.

Laying the Foundation For a Stable Civilization in the Future

Editor's Note: Mr. Cozzens's articles are printed in this paper because of their general interest to a nation whose rank and file is wondering what we are coming to next. The articles are those of Mr. Cozzens and what is said in them has no bearing on the policies of this paper. PROBLEM 1: MACHINERY AND CIVILIZATION

This problem of machinery and its effects upon civilization is classed by most students of sociology as one of the most perplexing of all problems. The effect of machinery upon the standards of living is undoubtedly desirable: the standards are raised because men are no longer slaves to drudgery; they have more leisure time for entertainment and self-culture. The problem, however, becomes sorely perplexing when we look into the results which the introduction of machinery has had upon employment. Machinery is positively the cause of much of our unemployment, either directly or indirectly, and it has been the indirect cause of much crime and much degradation of society. First, let us consider briefly the question of unemployment. With machines which do more rapidly and more efficiently the work of hundreds of men, the employment has been closed to men. At the present time the unemployed number about ten million which directly affects about thirty million people; and indirectly, with the buying power of thirty million people practically zero, the whole economic and social order of things is turned topsy-turvy. Yet, the machine age has just begun. Machines are invented every day which will throw thousands of others out of work. Only a few years ago, the telegraph operators were thrown out of work; now the linotype operators must go because of a recent invention which will soon come on the market; soon the chauffeurs, the servants in your home, the moving picture show houses will go; and in fifty to a hundred years from now, there is no telling who will be next to lose his job. Indirectly, machinery causes some of our crime because a man out of a job becomes desperate enough to do

CULBERSON DEAL

CULBERSON DEAL IS A VISITOR IN ELDORADO

Culberson Deal, of San Angelo, a candidate for congress from the new 21st district, was a visitor in Eldorado Wednesday. Mr. Deal was shaking hands with his many friends and talking in behalf of his candidacy. He stated that the Tom Green county "Deal for Congress Club" had grown to a pledged membership of over 2000 during the first week of its existence. The club was organized only last week.

Mr. Deal states that he has not perfected his platform as yet because of the fact that he is giving careful study to the details of what the people of this district need. As soon as his platform is ready for the public, he will issue a statement, Mr. Deal stated.

CANNERY SECURED FOR ELDORADO; TO BEGIN OPERATION IN JULY

The relief work in Schleicher county, under the supervision of M. Van McCormick, is progressing nicely. Rocks are being hauled for various improvement projects. In addition to the regular relief work which is being carried on in this county, a cannery is to be established here under the direction of the relief committee. The building has already been secured and equipment will be placed in the building within the near future. The cannery is scheduled to begin operating in July. Meats will be canned on a 60-40 basis; that is, the person furnishing the meat will get the 60 percent of the canned products, while 40 percent of the canned meat will go to relief work in this county. Vegetables will be canned on a 55-45 basis, the 45 percent going to relief work. The cannery is not a money-making establishment, and the percent of canned goods taken for canning charges will be turned directly over to destitute people.

SCHLEICHER WOOL SHEARING ENDS THIS WEEK

This week completes shearing of the 1934 Schleicher county clip of wool and shearing crews which have been engaged locally for more than a month are moving westward, particularly into the New Mexico area where the shearing season is just beginning.

Up to the close of business Monday, June 11th, the Eldorado Wool Company, local wool and mohair warehouse, had received a tonnage for the season including all wool mohair, and clippings amounting to 1,323,600 pounds with an estimated 60,000 to 75,000 pounds yet to come. Of this amount approximately 50,000 pounds is spring mohair clip and 25,000 pounds of fall shorn wools carried over.

Of the season's receipts, approximately 110,000 pounds of government controlled wools have been shipped out to eastern houses on consignment, and there is an estimated 50,000 pounds of this wool yet to be shipped.

Judge C. L. South Of Coleman Announces For Congress, 21st District

Judge Charles L. South of Coleman is formerly announcing his candidacy in this territory for congressman of the new 21st district with this issue of the Success. Judge South who is now district attorney for the 35th judicial district which is composed of Brown, Coleman, Runnels, McCulloch, and Concho counties, began his career as a public official in 1919 when he was appointed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to the State Board of Examiners at Austin, Texas. From 1920-24 he served as county superintendent of Coleman county. His efficiency and courtesy in that office won for him the voters' approval as their choice for the office of county judge which he held for six years. He was admitted to the bar in 1925, and at the end of his third term as county judge of Coleman county, he was elected to the office of district attorney which he now holds for the second term. Judge South has received approximately 80 percent of the votes cast in Coleman county for the office of district attorney in both elections—all of which goes to show what the people who know him really think of him.

Judge South is a true democrat, insisting that "A Public Office is a Public Trust." He has often said "If a public official will take care of the public interests, honestly and fairly, the public will take care of such an official." Judge South has spent most of his life as a public official, having entered his first public trust as a member of the State Board of Examiners at the age of 23.

Judge South is conservative in his manner of living, being neither extravagant nor pretentious. He declares that at all times, public expenditures should be governed by the amount of available income.

Speaking of the ranchman and farmer, Judge South says, "Our government can not afford to permit the SEE JUDGE SOUTH, PAGE 4"

Interpretative Flashes Of Current News

According to our predictions last issue, the U. S. Senate voted to adopt the silver bill, allowing the U. S. Treasury to buy 1,400,000,000 ounces of silver and to issue paper money of the value of the silver. It is estimated that this will put into our general circulation some where between 500 million and a billion dollars, depending on how many "greenbacks" the president decides to back with silver. It means that the U. S. is on a bimetal standard again and it won't be necessary to back every "greenback" with gold. The said "greenbacks" will flow more freely from now on.

At the same time, congress refused immediate payment of soldiers' bonus certificates. Poor soldiers, they are having a hard time of it; but at the same time, our government is in no financial condition for being crowded and while weightier matters hang over our government, no loyal veteran of the World War is going to demand his bonus.

The drought relief program is betting under way in several states, including three or four counties in West Texas. If the "atoms" doesn't "phere" around these parts pretty soon, Schleicher county may be putting in her bid for drought relief. This relief takes form in several ways such as money loaning, etc. The most significant form of relief in West Texas is the buying of cattle at a fair price from counties where the range is in no condition to take care of them.

Congress is to attempt to pass several other bills before its adjournment which is expected by Saturday. Among these bills is the labor bill, destined to stop so much trouble between capital and labor. If passed, it will avert most of the strikes the country is now subjected to. Other bills will include the housing bill, the railway pension bill, curtailment of permanent appropriations, drought appropriations, and the Indian grazing bill.

Great Britain was informed that if she did not pay her June 15 payment of the war debt that she would be considered a defaulter which is to say that she can not borrow money from the United States. Might be a good thing for the United States in the long run.

Congress passed a billion dollar Federal road-building program last Saturday. The program covers a period of three years.

The world's wool supply is lower now than it was five years ago. This should be good news to the wool raiser, because when the surplus is kept down the price is generally, all other things being equal, kept up. Texas is the leading wool producing state in the United States, and the wool industry, being the oldest in the world, is one of the best organized. Organization does more for world prosperity than anything else. Take it from the wool men and you know that you've got something. And we are proud of Schleicher's place in Texas wool production.

Here is how Cardui helped an Alabama lady. "I suffered from pains in my back and sides," writes Mrs. A. G. Gray, of Cusseta, Ala. "I was so thin and weak, I read of Cardui and decided to take it. I noticed at once it was helping me. I kept taking Cardui until I had finished five bottles. I gained. My health was much better. Now I am the picture of health. My color is good and my weight increased."

U. S. GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCES CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

WASHINGTON, June 14 — The United States Civil Service Commission announces, for public consideration open competitive examinations for agricultural economists, Industrial Economists, supervisor of boys' activities and teachers in the Indian field service.

Here's a chance for some of our local intelligentsia to get into a good paying job. It costs you nothing to take the examination and Texas should have her share of representatives in departmental service at Washington.

POLITICS AT LARGE

Editor's note: We intend, from time to time, to publish some of the essential points concerning the candidates in the state races, without trying to decide for you for whom you should vote.

Tom F. Hunter: Stands for abolition of ad valorem tax; economic governmental reforms; submission of liquor question to the choice of the people; abolition of chain stores is order to give individual business a chance to survive and expand; shifting the tax burden from the poor to the wealthy who drain the state of its financial resources; stabilization of prices of farm and ranch products; abolition of poll tax; reduction of utility rates; better schools.

Edgar Witt: Stands for getting the people out of the soup lines into jobs with living earning capacities. James V. Allred: Stands for state control of public utilities which he claims are making exorbitant sums of money off of the people of Texas.

Clint Small: Stands for a minimum 7 months school with a minimum state apportionment of $10 per capita; making special state departments self sustaining; reduce the ad valorem tax; reform of courts and reduction of their operating expenses; Anti "Crime Trust" law; pledges to keep persons convicted of crimes of violence in the penitentiary where they belong.

This is what we have on the candidates thus far. There will be more next issue concerning these and other candidates.

TO MY FRIENDS OF SCHLEICHER COUNTY:

In November, 1922, I was elected to the office of Treasurer of our county. During the years since that time, through your encouragement and loyal support, I have been re-elected to this office. It has indeed been a pleasure to serve with my associates and for the good people of our county these many years.

However, since my name will not appear on the ticket for re-election at the coming Primary, I wish to express herein my sincere thanks and appreciation to those who have assisted me in the execution of my duties and to those who have given me encouragement and support during my tenure of office.

most anything. Of course the criminally minded need no consideration but something must be done for the man who is forced to steal because he has no way of earning a living. Then when men worked hard, they had no time to think about drinking parties, etc., but with so much leisure time caused by machinery, men often stoop to debauchery for passing away leisure time.

What shall we do with our machinery. The Reds would have us blow it up; but machinery has done too much for mankind. The Non-progressives would have us boycott all new inventions; but the human race could not hear to any thing which would stop progress for when progress is stopped, civilizations immediately begin to decline.

Look at your guns. How many men are so interlocking that it is difficult to discuss them separately, but I do my best for I am at your service. As I close, I wish to leave one thought for you to ponder over until my next discussion: When a man is born, does he have the right to live?

The NRA has dropped all efforts to fix prices. The change came after months of study by such economic boards as the Darrow board. Only prices which are unreasonably unfair will be invested by the NRA. From now on, prices on manufactured goods will drop rather than rise. It has been found that lower prices increase business more rapidly than higher prices and that in the long run, lower prices bring bigger profits resulting from the larger volume of business.

The new changes of the NRA includes the revival of anti-trust laws which prohibits firms, businesses, or industries to enter into agreements to maintain unfair price terms, use coercion, or any other influence inconsistent with the maintenance of the free and open markets. Thus the NRA still remains a powerful force in controlling and regulating business and industry with even sharper teeth than before but more flexible applications. The NRA still stands chiefly as an agreement of cooperation and fair tactics among business organizations and its most outstanding efforts are still that of giving employment to those that need it by reducing the working time of those now working without affecting wages.

The disarmament conference at Geneva may become a success yet, even after apparent failure had already been accepted by the world as inevitable. Norman Davis, U. S. Ambassador at large, has proposed a study of ways and means of settling outstanding problems among nations. Germany has been asked back into the conference and Italy has agreed to come back if Germany does. Poland has agreed to take part in the conference if she can be given a say. New interest in the conference is being manifest, and it is possible that the world may yet cut down and limit her war implement facilities, even in the midst of the thundering rumble of incipient war storms in Europe and Asia. Refusing to be a fatalist, this scribe believes that the new world war which has been brewing for months is not inevitable and can be stalled off if not completely stopped by a world-wide agreement on arms limitation. It seems a pity that nations had rather fight than try to agree or compromise. What's wrong with the human race anyway?

The U. S. wheat crop this year is the shortest since 1893, and production over the entire world is little better. This year's production will not meet the huge demand for wheat in the United States by about 125,000,000 bushels. We need not fear a famine, however, as the surplus supply of wheat in the United States is about 250,000,000 bushels; but we had better fear the price of bread and flour this fall and winter. Better buy plenty of it now while it's reasonable. Other grain crops as well as lay are also making a low this year. Feed prices will be "sky-h" this winter. If you have any need to sell, hold it; if you are going to need any, buy it now.

SOME ILLS OF EDUCATION

The finest thing in the world, in fact, the foundation of all civilization, is education. Yet, when we look around us at the crime and social ills of our civilization and the discontentment of people who have obtained a so called "good education," we become morbidly skeptical of education. And we have a right to fall out with education just as well as any other social design which fails to fit its purpose. We should not, and do not, expect our educational system to be perfect, but we have a right to expect it to succeed within a limit of our reasonable expectations. But our education of today is failing to produce a healthy society.

Of the several faults which are prevalent in our educational program, there are two outstanding ills, the chief of which is that we instill the wrong attitude into the child from the very day he enters school. We teach him that he must become a president, he must surpass all others, he must make himself rich, he must become famous, regardless of the cost, else he is a complete failure. This idea is pounded into school children from day to day without an exception. It is a natural human trait to desire being pointed out as a success; and when the child, after growing up, launches out into life's sea of bewildering entanglements, he recalls having been taught that he must get rich or outdo his fellowman in order to succeed in life's vicious game. He soon finds that it is not so easy as he had thought; yet there lingers that eternal desire to succeed in the terms of success which his teacher taught, for he knows no other success. With apparent failure staring him in the face, he turns to tricks of dishonesty, cut-throat competition, even crime, for he must "succeed."

The truth of the matter is that we are measuring success by the wrong standards. Wealth is not a gauge of success but a gauge of insatiable greed, selfish motive, and all that is dispicable. A person needs a comfortable living and little else; but we can not blame the modern child for his attitude because it is a well known fact that he does not depart from the way in which he has been brought up -- he knows no other way. SERVICE --- service to one's self, one's country, and to humanity in general --- is the proper gauge of success, rather than wealth. If this attitude, this ideal were instilled into the tender mind of the child from birth until maturity with as much zeal as we now drum into his receptive mind the idea that one is either wealthy or else without a place in society, the child would know no other measure of success: his desire for wealth would be dormant while he served humanity with his utmost in an effort to satisfy that great human desire to succeed. Success to him then would mean service because he would know no other success. Until this change is effected, we will always have a civilization which is verging on the brink of moral corruption and utter destruction. A young child can be taught anything, but once an idea is established, it is difficult to rectify. Why not teach the children of tomorrow the correct way to succeed: -- serve! But in our country, emphasis has so long been placed on the idea of wealth, that it will take some sort of legislation in order to revolutionize the basic foundation of all education -- the gauge of success. But who is going to advocate, and who is going to carry through such legislation?

The other chief ill of education lies in the curricula. The courses of study in the average high school do not lead to any particular vocation which is absolutely necessary before a person can live comfortably or happily, much less render that service which will lead to success. Even the average college is lacking here. What do most students who attend our average colleges make of themselves? Does the majority of them make the flashing success which you expect? Unfortunately the answer is no. If we only had the courage to admit the truth, we would very readily say that we are not what we ought to be. English, history, algebra, Latin, and a hundred other ordinary courses of the present day curricula, prepare the pupil for no special place in our social order. We are like unbranded sheep --- unclassified and useless articles.

We are not advocating the abolition of these courses from the school system at all; but from the high school days throughout the higher educational career of a pupil, such general literary courses should be taught only as a part of a more fundamental vocational course which would prepare the student to take his rightful place in the field of service to humanity. A vocational guide should be employed in every school system to study the pupil and to advise him as to what field of service he is best fitted. As soon as the field is determined, the pupil should concentrate all of his educational activities in that field whether it be medicine, mechanics, agriculture, carpentry, merchandizing, or whatnot. Every vocation and every avocation is a field of service. If, for an example, the field of agriculture was chosen by a pupil, his entire high school and college studies should be devoted to agriculture; and English, algebra, history, etc. as they pertain to and are concerned with the field of agriculture, should be given to this pupil of agriculture during, and combined with his courses in agriculture. When a pupil finished such a vocational course as that, he would then be actually prepared to take his place in the field of agricultural service rather than being a mere stray, knowing a little of everything in general and nothing in particular.

The fact is that our schools of today are patterned after the schools of the seventeenth century which were founded for the gentleman of leisure who had no vocation to follow, who did not want a vocation to follow, and who went to school merely for self-culture. A seventeenth century school isn't very well adapted to a civilization so complicated as ours where a large and growing population is continually enlarging the competitive fields in every branch of industry; and where society is so interdependent that we must cooperate and serve one another in our various capacities, else we perish.

It has not been our intention to disparage the field of education one bit because we know that it is the mainstay of future civilization. But education, as well as machines, must be improved; and our aim has been to offer a few helpful criticisms. Let's remember, above all, to teach the child that his job is not designed to make him wealthy but is designed as a field in which he may render public service, and the money which he makes at the job is a means to an end and not the end thereof. Then the child won't turn criminal, seeking quick success --- success based on terms of wealth as he has been taught to determine success. We will eventually have a more ideal civilization.

condition of these men to become such as that they can not continue, through honest and intelligent effort, to be self supporting, independent, and self-reliant. One has but to read the history of nations which have heretofore existed and fallen, to be convinced that when these men are no longer able to maintain their independence and self-reliance that the government, of which they are a part, can not long endure. I believe, however, that as a rule the proper way to assist the farmers and ranchmen is by seeing that they get a square deal and that other individuals and interests do not get more than is properly coming to them." Judge South is extremely popular with the ranchmen and farmers in the 55th judicial district.

South has been active in Sunday School work all his life and he is now a steward in the Methodist Church. He is a member of the Masonic lodge and is a charter member and past president of the Coleman Lion's club. He is well versed in government affairs and knows a great deal of the science of government. He has steadily advanced in public life through honest service and persistent effort.

Judge South says of his campaign "I am not announcing a definite platform just at this time, although I propose to discuss, as the campaign develops, such measures and issues as appear to have a place in this campaign. During times such as we have been passing through, and are now experiencing, when even our national leaders are uncertain as to what measures and policies to adopt, but are proceeding step by step, and as has been aptly expressed by President Roosevelt, 'if this does not work, we will try something else,' it seems to me that for a candidate to congress to definitely declare that certain measures should be adopted and others abandoned, would be evidence of his unfitness for grave responsibilities, rather than to the contrary. If elected to congress, I propose to make a careful study of the problems as they arise, and then render to the people of this district the best service which I am able to render."

While speaking at Robert Lee in Tom Green county recently, Judge South said that he favored some sort of control and redistribution of wealth which he avers was necessary before the country would ever become sure-footed again. He is to speak soon at Eldorado. Watch for the announcements and hear him.

Judge South is a personal acquaintance of the editor of the Success. We know him as a man who has the interest of the common people at heart, not as an ordinary job-seeking politician. When the time comes to decide for whom you shall vote, you need not fear any consideration which you give to Judge South.

TEXAS AND OHIO REPORT STEADY JOB INCREASES

WASHINGTON, June 14. -- Tabulation of returns from all industrial plants in Ohio, issued by the Ohio State University Bureau of Business Research, show employment gained 2.2 percent in May over April, upsetting a 5-year record in unseasonal gain. Based on reports from 2,006 factories in Texas, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research announces gain in employment of 1.2 percent and in pay rolls of 2.1 percent from March to May. Among announcements of wage increases affecting many thousands of workers is that of the Consolidated Oil Corporation, in all subsidiaries and applying to all classifications of labor and bringing both skilled and unskilled workers from 5 to 9 cents an hour over code requirements.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 14 -- Further evidence of improved business conditions in the State is seen in a decline in Texas commercial failures during May, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

According to reports from R. G. Dun and Company, there were only fifteen business failures during May against nineteen in April and 61 in May, 1933, declines of 21 and 75 percent respectively. Total liabilities of $142,000 represented a decline of 40 percent from April and 72 percent from May last year, while average liabilities per failure of $9,467 were down 24 percent from April and 50 percent from May a year ago.

Black-Draught Brings Refreshing Relief of Constipation Troubles

Constipation produces many disagreeable sensations, several of which are mentioned by Mr. T. E. Stith, of Boonville, Ind., who writes: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught many years when needed for biliousness and other minor ills when a laxative was needed. I have a tight feeling in my chest when I get bilious. I get dizzy and feel very tired, just don't feel like doing my work. After taking Black-Draught, I feel much better. This is why I continue to use it when needed."... Theodor's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, obtainable for 25¢ a package.

PREBYTERIAN WOMEN'S AUXILIARY HOLDS REGULAR MEETING MONDAY

The Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church held its regular meeting Monday, June 11. Mrs. W. H. Wiedenmann discussed lesson II of the Bible study in Mark, using as her text, "The Ministering Master." Regular business was attended to, after which the ladies met in circle meetings. "Around the Clock in Korea" was the subject for discussion. Interesting source material made the afternoon's discussions both entertaining and profitable.

Mrs. Frank Bradley and Mrs. W. B. Cobb were joint hostesses to the eighteen members of the Auxiliary who were present. The meeting was very beneficial throughout; and it is hoped that a larger number of members will attend the next meeting which has been set for June 25. Bible lesson III will be given, and a thorough study will be made of Missions in Mexico. The meetings begin promptly at three o'clock at the church house.

A complete vacuum has never yet been obtained.

She grew seriously ill Saturday, but after showing improvement, she was sent home Monday night. Her condition grew worse Tuesday, the change being attributed to the trip; but she is much better now, and the Success, along with her many friends, wishes her a speedy recovery.

CLIFF HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Cliff Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday at the home of Mae Roberts. It was the club's regular meeting date. A demonstration of wood scouring was given by Miss Mabel Howell, Schleicher county Home Demonstration Agent.

At the next meeting of the club, June 26, an ice cream supper is to be held at the Cliff school house in order to raise money to send a delegate to tie A. & M. short course. After the demonstration, refreshments were served to the club.

PREBYTERIAN ANNUAL SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC WAS GREAT AFFAIR

The annual Sunday School picnic of the Presbyterian church which was held last Friday evening at six o'clock at the home of T. K. Jones, was a great success according to the reports of those who attended. The Presbyterians got together for this out-of-doors affair with the intention of having a good time and inspiring a closer fellowship among them. The results of the picnic from both points of view were all that could be expected.

Goats were barbecued; red beans were prepared in quantities; and salads, cakes, coffee, and tea rounded out the palatable bill of fare. After the picnic feast, the Sunday School participated in rollicking games which included a game of soft ball and horseshoe pitching. The picnickers returned home about nine o'clock, thoroughly exhausted but very happy.

METHODIST PASTOR TO HOLD 10 DAY MEETING IN PAWNEE

Rev. W. H. Marshall, pastor of the local Methodist church, left Tuesday morning to hold a 10 day meeting in Pawnee, Texas. Reverend Marshall will be greeted by a number of his relatives who are members of the Pawnee congregation, a number of whom have never heard their kinsman preach. One of Rev. Marshall's uncles is a member of the board of Stewards at Pawnee.

While away on this trip, Rev. Marshall will visit his father who's been in ill health for the past several years. Rev. Marshall is a member of a family of fourteen children, thirteen of whom are living. Nine of the living children are boys. Three are preachers; three are teachers; and three are postal employees. Rev. Marshall's mother, who is sixty-four years of age, does not have a grey hair in her head, and is still doing her own house work. Reverend Marshall anticipates a happy reunion with his mother and father who live at Runge, Texas.

A piece of wood, when aflame, does not really burn itself, but it gives off a gas which burns. If the wood is kept hot long enough, practically all of it will turn to a gas and burn.

SHREDS AND PATCHES LIBRARY

We ought to work with just a little more zeal for the things which we have, or feel we have, need of Eldorado, to be a progressive little town like she is going to be if we can help it, needs a county library very badly. We are going to have it; and we are going to make it one that we will be proud of—not just a get-by affair. But as is often the case with a move in which the public is concerned, we may fail to stay back of the movement as zealously as we should. If one means fails to secure the library which we are seeking for another means may get it for us without a struggle. Just in case the help was needed to push this move for a library to a strong finish, here's a little questionnaire of information which the Success would like for you to fill in. This is chiefly an experiment, just to see if you are really interested. Fill it out and bring it in or send it in to us:
Your Name:

Are you interested in securing a county library for Schleicher county?
Answer: (Yes, No)

In case every other means fail, would you be willing to pay fifty cents (or some small stipulated amount) per month for the privilege of checking books out of a library supported by the funds which you paid in?
Answer: (Yes, No)

You are not obligated in any way by filling this questionnaire out. The Success is simply feeling for public sentiment in favor of the library. Needless to say that we feel that Schleicher needs a library very badly.

Speaking of libraries reminds us that the knowledge one possesses, regardless of how infrequently one may use it, is a constant source of joy and self-satisfaction. And there is no better place, especially for the adults, to get that knowledge; for a good book is a storehouse of knowledge and a veritable treasure to the mind. A person should not spend all of his leisure time doing nothing; he must entertain himself; and a part of that entertainment should be spent profitably. There is no more profitable entertainment to be found than that of reading good books. One wise philosopher once said, "read and study as many as twenty good books each year and your education will be above that of the average college graduate who does not read."

OIL PROSPECTS

And while we're on last weeks oil prospects news events, here is a tip which we once got from a well informed oil man. He told us that in order for an oil company to be willing to bring in an oil well, they must have control of all the leases around the well. He went further to state that the money paid for leases and the royalty on the oil was more than a fortune for the average man, but he added that when a man became so stubborn as to refuse to lease, the company generally became stubborn too, shut down the well, and the people got nothing, whereas, had they been willing to lease at a reasonable price, they would have become rich along with all their neighbors as well as putting their town on the map in a business boom. That's just a tip for the fellow who wants to get rich by holding his leases back for a higher price; and it's a tip that is as hot as fire itself. Unfortunately, the oil companies have the power to keep the well from coming in if you want to play them for more lease money. The fellow who has the interests of himself, his family, and his county at heart will be satisfied to make his few hundred thousand dollars or, in the case of big strikes, few million dollars off of the royalty rather than off of lease money.

And again, the same thing is true of selling mineral rights, only if a man sells all his mineral rights, he doesn't get the royalty. But a few hundred thousand for complete mineral rights is better than nothing at all; at least, this scribe had rather have a few hundred thousand than to have the hole in his pocket that he now has. The only oil we have is that which drips off of the typewriter, and we are the sole owner, mineral rights, royalty, lease and all in the case of that oil. There's oil in Schleicher, but we won't get it by holding out on an oil company.

LETTER RECEIVED FROM

MRS. A. J. NIXON

The Success received an unusually nice letter from Mrs. J. A. Nixon of Ft. Worth, complimenting the new management of the paper on last week's edition. We hardly feel that we deserve such a tongue but we appreciate the flowers, M. S. Nixon.

Mrs. J. A. Nixon is a daughter of Mr. A. K. Bailey of this city and a sister of Mrs. Mattie Cozzens who is running for county treasurer. Mrs. Nixon is a former graduate of Eldorado high school and was for several years a member of the faculty here. She has a number of friends here and she asks that we send her Eldorado friends her love and best wishes.

MAC'S MESSAGES

(Sense and nonsense)

We finally got out a paper last week, and what a struggle. If there were any errors (and there were many) they were typographical. Such errors are impish pranks that all newspaper men have to deal with. Of all preposterous tricks, a typographical error is the worst.

The writer of this column of collected facts made the serious mistake of calling an unmarried lady a "Mrs." All of which reminds us—one should never ask a lady's age unless one is sure she is under sixteen or over sixty. Unless a man is married and therefore "suffers" involuntary restrictions of the constitutional rights of speech, he should find out plenty about a lady before he assumes anything relative to her choice in life.

Gee, we're being bathed in stifling heat that is rolling as a cloud across this sheep range. I am going to express myself without fear of favor and say that we need rain—the kind that the Hopi Indians pray for. In fact, if it doesn't rain soon, I'm sure it will be at least a $35.00 fine for a person to take his Saturday night abridgments. Let it rain.

This town's got a special problem: not to get "in" up at night. We're in the dark from sundown to sunup. Let's hope somebody gets us out of the dark pretty soon.

Recently we received the following: "If you are really convinced that you are performing a public service, I suppose I have no right to criticize you, but I can't help feeling that there is something somehow wrong with your present employment. Wouldn't you like to be custodian of the cemetery?" This column may not be productive of any good, but I am satisfied with my present position, thanks.

Some have complained because of not having seen Mr. Copeland, my partner in "spreading the news". Mr. Copeland has had to remain in the office over a type case until his bodily appearance is ennobled. He is with us in spirit, if not in person.

Go to Church Sunday.

country's natural resources such as water supplies, uncultivated land, mineral resources, etc. to wipe out all such social drawbacks as relief rolls. Relief is good and necessary, but if carried too far, it can prove a social evil in that men on the relief rolls become shiftless and expect constant relief. "Our ancient pork barrel legislation has almost been consigned to oblivion," the president stated; "to that we can not and must not revert."

The president averred that criticism of his far-reaching plans has not swerved him one bit. "It is childish," he stated, "to talk of recovery first and reconstruction afterward. In the very nature of the processes of recovery we must avoid the destructive influences of the past."

Roosevelt's broad plans will be presented to the next term of congress during which it is hoped that the entire plan may be carried through. On the whole the plan is sound and any sane-minded American will not criticize the plan except constructively. The plans are flexible and subject to time-proved modifications. As long as our president is making good headway, let's give him our support.

Carroll Ratliff Marries Greenville Girl

GREENVILLE, Texas, June 10.—Miss Dorothy Jean Norton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Norton of this city, was married to Carroll Ratliff, also of Greenville, Sunday afternoon in one of the most elaborate church ceremonies held here in recent years. The Rev. J. L. Ratliff, father of the bridegroom, performed the ring service.

The couple were attended by Miss Louise Norton, sister of the bride, and Bob Hallam. The bride wore a white lace princess cut gown with cape effect and coral neck. The maid of honor was also attired in White. F. Welsh, violinist, played throughout the service, and Miss Bernice Jo Regan gave a medley of wedding songs. Mrs. Ratliff holds both the bachelor of science and master of arts degree from Baylor University. For the last two years she has taught at the College of Marshall and in the Lone Oak school system. She is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism fraternity for women.

Mr. Ratliff is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Ratliff of Eldorado, Texas. He is a graduate of the Denton High School and attended the North Texas State Teachers' College there. He was graduated from Baylor University in 1931.

FATHER OF ELDORADOAN DIES AT LOS ANGELES

Word was received by Mrs. Haywood Bird last Monday of the death of her father, O. J. Smiley, who died in a Los Angeles hospital after undergoing a major operation. He had been doing splendidly and was to have been dismissed from the hospital on June 8, but a setback proved fatal. He is survived by his present wife to whom he was married in 1920 and by his daughter, Mrs. Haywood Bird of Eldorado. Mr. Bird's first wife died in 1911.

Mr. Smiley was well known in Eldorado, having visited here on several occasions. The Success joins with their many friends in extending our heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved.

U. S. WOOL SUPPLY 460 MILLION POUNDS

New York, May 22.—The total supply of combing and clothing wools, exclusive of carpet wools, in the United States, on May 1, including the estimated unshorn portion of the new clip was 460,000,000 pounds, grease equivalent weight according to the New York Wool Top Exchange Service, compared with 521,000,000 pounds on May 1 last year, and 500,000,000 pounds on May 1 the year before last. The total stock of raw wools is lower than it has been on May 1 for any of the past five years," says the exchange service. "If consumption of wools during the rest of the year should equal an average consumption for the same period in the past five years of 340,700,000 pounds, the stock of wools in the United States on December 31, 1934, would be about 119,300,000 pounds plus the net imports of combing and clothing wool of the eight months ending December 31, 1934."
