RAIN DROP FILLS BARREL

The rain water that collects in an abandoned barrel will eventually fill the barrel unless somebody comes along and turns it upsidedown. While the drops are small as they descend they are numerous, and at length, there is plenty of water up to the capacity of the barrel. Of course for the past few months a barrel of water is a lot of water in this country.

The above paragraph is plain and no one would dispute the facts. Eldorado is a barrel, upturned to the economic sky, where current coin is like rain (scarce) falling to the ground of commerce in little drops or trade, (also scarce.)

The money that falls into this last barrel is captured for the benefit of the citizens of Eldorado because in the course of business the contents of the barrel are distributed among us, and is used again.

A barrel of rain water comes handy sometimes in case of fire. No one would credit a man with wisdom if, while his barn was burning instead of running to the reservoir, filling his bucket and running to throw it on the fire, he ran into the woods and threw the water in the creek that flows away from his home.

Eldorado is not exactly on fire but its very economic life depends upon the money that is stored within it. Wise citizens, very often without thinking send their money into the surrounding woods, where big city timber men use it to build up their city.

Moral: "Buy in Eldorado when possible; build up your own town."

LADY SPEAKER OF WOMAN'S CLUB IS GUEST OF LIONS

Mrs. V. G. Tisdale was the principle speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions Club.

Mrs. Tisdale represented the oldest organized woman's club in Eldorado, this club having been organized in 1919.

A summary of the past activities and some of the aspirations for the future were set forth in her talk. "The object of this club", she said, "was the mutual help and encouragement of those desirous of mental culture, and to cooperate in any work which may advance the welfare of the community."

Among the activities of the women are to be found many worthy and helpful accomplishments: The scholarship fund, raised by giving dinners, selling ice-cream, cake, candies, and other means of raising money to be loaned to worthy boys and girls who graduate in our High School and need help to complete their college education. They have a seed and bulb exchange; are instrumental in beautification of the city parks and streets as well as the court house lawn and shrubbery. Each Christmas they give a substantial sum for charity in some form. Prizes are offered for best essay in High School and for best flower bed grown on the lawn.

Their activities are too numerous to mention here—but the men will have to get up and go some to accomplish as much as these good women are doing for Eldorado and community.

EDITORIAL

Many people are beginning to wonder just how far the Department of Agriculture will go in its efforts to secure absolute control of the growing, marketing and processing of all agricultural commodities, if given a free hand in the making of our laws.

Judging from the proposed amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act now before Congress, the sky is the limit. If these amendments are adopted as written, the farmer may have little or nothing to say about the kind or quantity of crops he grows, while buyers and handlers of these crops will have even less to say as to prices to be paid, the quantity to be bought, or the price at which the manufactured product may be sold.

Somewhat similar amendments were prepared for the AAA a year ago but were defeated in the Senate. The opponents of the 1934 amendments held the bill gave the Secretary of Agriculture too wide powers in relation to the conditions under which our farmers would be compelled to operate.

The amendments proposed this year for the AAA are even more objectionable in that while the Secretary would be given all the authority sought a year ago he would be able to widen the scope of his activity to include every person or unit engaged in the handling of any and every agricultural commodity or product thereof. His authority to enforce department orders would also be greatly strengthened.

The first amendment provides that the Secretary may substitute commodity payments for the present cash payments to the farmers in the settlement for their crop reductions. Farmers who have corn-hog contracts could hereafter be paid with cotton of wheat, or with whatever commodities the Secretary had in greatest quantity or found the most difficulty in marketing.

The AAA is presumed to be based upon voluntary cooperation of the farmer with the Federal Government. If the proposed amendments are made a part of the law, there will be little left of the voluntary idea. Farmers who do not sign allocations of crop contracts may easily find themselves without a market.

The bill as written gives the Secretary of Agriculture the power to enforce a license upon more than a million truckers, wholesale and retail dealers, processors, manufacturers, etc.; to inspect their books, contracts and correspondence at any time; to eliminate whatever he may hold to be unfair charges and practices. Such trade restraint may easily result in lower prices for the producer and must necessarily greatly reduce opportunity for competitive marketing.

Adoption of the proposed amendments means turning the agricultural interests of the country over to Federal agencies and political appointees. It should also be remembered that no definite time limit is fixed for the life of these new laws.

KANSAS HAS JACK

RABBITS LIKE MULES

Topeka, Kansas, Mar. 15.—These Western Kansas jackrabbits grow big. They're very tall. So are the stories about them.

Anyway Lee Larrabee, fish and game commissioner, drifted into town today, with the sad account of a Dighton mule dealer who lost ten of his animals in one of these rabbit drives—the mules weren't observed until the dead rabbits were being picked up.

"We felt bad about it," Lee said, "but we just didn't notice them. I remember someone said during the drive, 'look at that big one' and then hurried his club."

Lee gave the name of the dealer—J. A. Hineman of Dighton.

Larrabee also verified the rumor about the man who tried to harness up a jackrabbit he found in the barn with his mules recently. The man didn't notice the difference until the rabbit kicked him out of the stall and dashed out over the prairie.

All Western Kansans had taken to carrying clubs with them, Larrabee said, because "the rabbits are getting resentful over these hunts."

"Do you know," he said, "that when I went into a hotel here today a dog barked at me and I tried to hide under the table? I just couldn't help it. I've eaten so much rabbit meat lately."

Larrabee said he was serious in a suggestion that the relief officials set up canning factories in Western Kansas to can rabbit meat the same as beef was canned last summer.

CODE LAWS VS.

ECONOMIC LAWS

The President has stressed the need for more adequately applying the fundamental principles of the anti-trust laws to NRA codes.

Many of the codes have violated anti-trust laws and the result has been either unjustified price gains, or the squeezing out of small businesses which would not survive, once the opportunity of offering lower prices was denied them.

It seems to be an inescapable fact that efforts to eliminate the ancient laws of supply and demand are doomed to failure.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows:

Assistant naval architect, $2,600 a year. Optional subjects are ship piping and ventilation, hull structures and arrangements, scientific ship calculations and general.

Assistant mineral economist, $2,900 a year, Bureau of Mines. Optional subjects are coal, metals, petroleum, nonmetals, and general economics of minerals.

Typewriter repairman, departmental service, Washington, D. C.

All states except Utah, Iowa, Vermont, Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia have received less than their quota of appointments in the apportioned departmental service in Washington, D. C. The position of typewriter repairman is not affected by the State apportionment law.

Full information may be obtained from the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners at the post office or customhouse in any city which has a post office of the first or the second class, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

DEADLY MOTOR DRIVERS.

There are pistols and knives and hatchets and blackjacks in the list of deadly weapons, and, when careless hands are on the wheel and reckless drivers are behind them, automobiles are to be included. If you doubt this, read the ever-lengthening list of traffic fatalities.

A man does not have to be deliberate in his intent to kill to be a morally responsible slayer. He is one if he kills while acting in reckless disregard of others. The motorist who drives his car at breakneck speed through the streets and goes hurtling down the path that others cross employs a deadly weapon against his fellows as surely as one who empties his gun down a crowded thoroughfare.

Let the reckless motorist fix this in his mind and, if he is not a murderer at heart, let him prove it by exercising proper care. Good drivers are those who get not the highest but the safest speed out of their cars.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

The legislature reached the halfway action taken on less than half a hundred of the 1100 general bills poured into its hopper since it convened. But committees have been working earnestly on the big job of sifting the chaff from the wheat, and the near future will bring the beginning of final action of such important problems as departmental appropriations, prohibition repeal submission, racetrack betting, the Centennial appropriation, public utility regulation and additional taxation—including the highly controversial sales tax.

Senator Joe Hill of Henderson, who favors re-submission of prohibition repeal, threw the liquor lobby into violent spasms with his proposal to submit a constitutional amendment that would repeal state prohibition, but would establish a state monopoly in the sale of hard liquor. It would extend the local option privilege to counties as in the pre-prohibition era, and forbid open saloons. But the state of Texas would be the only entity that could make any money out of retailing liquor—and the boys who sell or want to sell liquor hate the very thought of that system.

The state of Texas is a penurious employer sometimes. When the railroad commission was established year ago, the commissioners were given $2500 a year to regulate railroads. Eventually, the federal government took over most of the work of that job. So when utilities were added to the commission's duties, the legislature gave the commissioners another $1000 a year to regulate them. Later, regulation of the oil industry became the task of the commission, so another $1000 a year was added to their salaries, making $4500 a year.

Today, oil is the main job. The supervision of the commission enables the state to collect about $45,000,000 a year in taxes from oil and its products. The commission has only seven employees who work at regulating railroads; 24 regulate trucks and buses; 11 regulate gas companies; while 136 are employed on oil regulation. The average pay of the 136, including the commissioner, is $135 a month. That isn't enough to keep good men, yet the commission must have good men, or its regulation suffers, and the state fails to get all the tax money it is entitled to from the industry.

There is a group in the legislature who seek to correct this situation by allocating a little more of the money the commission makes it possible for Texas to collect from its oil resources back to the commission to do a more effective job of regulation. It sounds like it might be a paying investment for the state.

Col. W. E. Talbot, who once did the Republican party in Texas a notable service by his unique campaign for governor on the G. O. P. ticket, in which he forgot politics and talked about building Texas industries, is busy again in the service of his state. Building Texas manufactures, keeping Texas money in Texas, supplying our home commodities to our home markets—these things are the passion of Bill Talbot.

As the new president of Progressive Texas, Inc., Talbot has outlined a comprehensive program for that organization for 1935, that calls for this three-point objective:

1. To relieve unemployment, increase consumption of raw materials, and add wealth to Texas by increasing use of Texas-made products.

2. To encourage thru information and industrial surveys, location of new industries in Texas that do not compete with those already here.

3. To bring before the people of Texas and all others interested, the opportunity for developing virgin industries utilizing Texas raw materials, such as nonmetallic products, wool, building materials, etc.

Every Texan, regardless of party, can subscribe to that platform, and those who have watched Bill Talbot work know he will get somewhere with it.

The rare track betting advocates are paying the price for the legislative trickery they utilized to pass the pari-mutuel law when, two years ago, they tacked it onto an important appropriation bill as a rider during the last days of the session. They have found the sentiment for repeal of betting law stubborn and widespread. The repealist advocates are mostly amateurs—ministers, moralists and merchants—and they are no match for the skilled lobbyists who want to save racetrack betting. The professionals outmaneuvered the repealists on legislative procedure on several occasions, but Gov. Allred each time has

I remembered how Cardui helped aunt. I sent for six bottles of Cardui and when I had taken them, I was much better and stronger. I did not suffer so much pain. I continued taking Cardui until I had taken nine bottles. I do not have the severe pains."... Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

They needed something to cleanse their systems and Syrup of Black-Draught acted well." . . . Your druggist sells this reliable laxative in both forms. "Children like the Syrup."

THE RIGHT KIND OF NEIGHBORS

Editorial by Jack Hext
 It is said that "you should love your neighbor". That is alright if your neighbor will do his part.

In the school room some people never have a pencil, or ink. They borrow a pencil from their neighbor. Do they return it? They usually do if someone doesn't borrow it from them and forget who they borrowed it from or lose it.

You will hear some one say that they forgot to get some paper and want to borrow some. That is not noticed so much because paper is not so high and is easily returned. But after all it isn't the cost of the borrowing it is the "principle of the thing."

So if you want your neighbor to love you, consider these things and try to improve yourself.

SENIORS PLAN ANNUAL CLASS PLAY

Last week the Seniors voted to give a Senior Play. Miss Ford and Miss Knight were elected as the sponsors. The proceeds from the play shall be used to buy something useful to be dedicated to the school as a gift from the 1935 Senior Class.

STUDENTS ARE SNAPPED

Lois Whitley

On Friday morning, March 1, the entire student body was snapped by W. H. Congdon. The pictures were taken in groups according to classification. Two pictures were taken of the Senior Class and one of each of the other classes. Pictures were taken of each of the buildings. All pictures were on sale Wednesday. Individual class pictures were obtainable or a booklet containing all the pictures taken with the exception of the six grades in the new building.

An enlargement of the Senior class picture was presented to the school by Mr. Congdon. As a whole the pictures were very good, even if the students did do so much giggling over the proofs. The Sophomore picture was decided to be the best all around picture. That taking in clearness, minuteness and finish of picture, as well as individual good looks of the class as a whole. Winners of the "funniest picture" title should go to the but then, suppose you guess.

JOKES

Mr. Holt: Do you think those cookery classes accomplish any thing?

Miss Ford: Sure I do. I haven't seen a tramp around the place since they started.

M. C. Laird: I was as soon as I discovered which half he wanted.

Miss Allen: What kind of noun is trousers

Why Southwestern Life Registers
Every Policy It Issues
 INSURANCE laws of the State of Texas provide how a life insurance company of Texas may register its policies. A registering company must deposit approved securities in an amount adequate for the protection of policyholders.
 The Registration Law requires the segregation of policyholders' funds, thus preventing substitution of assets without the knowledge and consent of the State Insurance Department. Experience of the last five years has demonstrated the effect and value of registration laws.
 The Registration Law makes mandatory the valuation of the required securities at the current market. A company which elects to operate under a market valuation law evidences the intention to invest policyholders' funds with added caution.
 Many good companies do not elect to register their policies, and we urge policyholders of such companies to maintain their insurance in force.

Something New For Eldorado

Plans are now in the making for the organization of a Funeral Association in Eldorado. It will be operated in connection with The Eldorado Funeral Service. The plan is such that even the poorest can pay a very small amount and provide an acceptable burial for any member of the family. The plan is working in other parts of the state and is highly satisfactory to all concerned. Be thinking about it, or better still inquire about it.
