Whitten No. 1 Fails To Flow When Four Shots Are Tried

Gas Increases Almost Double Then Subsides

Phillips Petroleum, No. 1, J. A. Whitten failed to flow when four shots were placed at a depth of 6340, after salt water was encountered at the depth of 6800. The first shot of five quarts of nitro was placed at the bottom and brought out nothing except an increase of gas. The second, and third of ten quarts of nitro also brought an increase in gas. No oil was blown out after either of the shots, Sunday night sixty quarts were placed at the bottom after a thorough cleaning had been made and also brought nothing but an increase in gas from 735,000 cubic to over a million. After the gas had increased this much and roared for over twenty hours then decreased.

Work has been going on at the well in an attempt to clean the hole after the sixty quart shot. The well will probably be shot again about Sunday, if not before with a much larger shot than before. The officials are doing their best to make a produces out of this test and if not to make a thorough test from it.

If the well does not come in at this showing at 6340 feet the casing will be drawn out to the depth of 4910 and this showing which was struck about a year ago will be shot, according to reports received from officials.

THEATRE TO OPEN SEPTEMBER FIRST

Mr. J. A. Flynn, local theatre manager announced this week that the RCA people had sent word that they would be here next week to begin installing the equipment for the new theatre now being built. The building has been completed some time but many little inside details have been troublesome in getting everything in readiness for the installation of the Vitaphone equipment.

This new theatre will be a credit to any town, as every thing placed in the building will be up to date and new, giving the show going people the highest type of entertainment in the show world. Bookings are already made for the opening shows and the people will not have to go to San Angelo any longer to see a good talking picture.

MRS. BEN ELLIS DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Bertie A. Ellis, age 34, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Nicks, dropped dead while visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. Tom Ellis, at Menard Monday morning.

She and the children went to Menard Saturday for a few day visit.

Mrs. Ellis was born in Schleicher county and has made her home in this county her entire life. She is survived by her husband, Ben Ellis; by five children, Jubella, Violet Ruth, Ben Junior, Ruby Mae, and Herbert William; by her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Nicks all of Eldorado; by three brothers, W. R. Nicks and A. T. Nicks of Lampasas and O. M. Nicks of Fort Stockton; and by a sister, Mrs. Henry Diebetsch of Sonora.

The funeral was held at the Eldorado Baptist church at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the Rev. W. H. Kindred of San Angelo officiating with Robert Massie Company in charge.

The pallbearers were Ervin Mund, William Mund, Edgar Spencer, Frank Meador, H. T. Finley and August Luedecke.

The body was laid to rest in the Eldorado Cemetery in the presence of a large number of friends some of which have known her for the entire thirty-four years.

neighbor, reputed a millionaire, had not settled his grocery bill for three years. Instead of refusing to sell him, the grocer was afraid of losing the "millionaire trade" that he tried to make me, and others like me, who bought for cash pay interest on the debts of the wealthy.

I was reminded of this by seeing a report of the Department of Commerce on retail store failures, in which it is extension of credit. It seems incredible that these are people who do not pay for the food they eat, but apparently there are a good many of them.

Driving Contest Being Put On By Evans Motor Company

Test Being Made on Miles Per Gallon of Gasoline

For the purpose of testing the mileage per gallon of gasoline that can be gotten from a Chevrolet car, the Evans Motor Company began a driving test last Monday Morning Over one hundred and fifty drivers have registered and more are expected to register in the next two days.

The Chevrolet Coach that they are demonstrating is equipped with a pint container fastened on the windshield and the other gasoline is cut off. The drivers are also taking the same route but no restrictions are made on the kind of gasoline used in the car as long as it is the standard brand. A good average is being made by all drivers showing the distance that the Chevrolet car will go on a gallon of gas, if driven carefully. The highest run made so far was made by Edgar Spencer, when he drove the test car 35.2 miles on a gallon average. Elton Ellis second with 33.6

Contest to End Saturday

The contest will end Saturday and the winners will be announced on the posters a mistake in dates was made, the Chevrolet advertising man made the contest to end on August 23rd, but we have been informed that the contest will come to a close Saturday evening and the prizes awarded Three prizes amounting to $40 will be given to the three best drivers. $20 for first, $15, second and $5 third. It costs nothing to enter and every one has a chance to win a prize absolutely free of charge.

NOTICE

We wish to ask the people in the business district of Eldorado who have overground toilets to please screen them. We are anxious that everything in Eldorado be made Sanitary and hope that the people will cooperate with us.

Mr. J. N. Davis, City Sanitary Inspector

NOTICE

In compliance with the advice of The State Board of Health, the Parent Teachers Association has arranged to secure a supply of Typhoid Immunizing Serum.

This serum will be furnished to school children at wholesale cost, which will be very small, not more than fifty cents for three doses.

The Association has arranged with local physicians to administer this serum free.

All school children are urged to be on hand at the school building next Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 19, at 1 o'clock and take this serum.

This is a precaution that every parent owes to their children and it is perfectly harmless.

GOLF TOURNAMENT TO START FRIDAY NIGHT

Elton Ellis, manager of the Miniature Golf Course in Eldorado is putting on a tournament, starting Friday night, August 15th, and ending Saturday night August 16th. Two prizes will be awarded the best score made on thirty six holes. A prize of $2.50 will be given to the best score made by the men and the same to the lady. This tournament will probably cause quite a bit of interest to be taken in the playing of "Goofy" Golf and Elton is expecting many to enter.

JOE DAVIDSON OF OZONA SHIPS TWO CARS LAMBS

Ozona, Aug. 11—Joe Davidson of Ozona shipped two carloads of 1930 lambs to the Fort Worth market last week. The lambs, weighing 68 pounds, brought 9 cents. Only one lamb was cut out, and that because it was crippled en route to market.

COLLEAGUES SUPPORT DAVIS FOR TREASURER

Nearly every member with whom he has served in the Legislature for the past 18 years is supporting John E. Davis of Dallas County for State Treasurer, and in addition to these his candidacy is endorsed by men like Hon. Hatton W. Summers his own Congressman, and practically all the present members of Congress. Mayor Ewing Thomason of El Paso, nominee for Congress, the present Speaker of the House, Hon. W. S. Bryan; most of the ex. speakers, and almost every outstanding man in public life in Texas. The support of them for him is not based on personal friendship alone but because they say the long and excellent service he has rendered in the Legislature, demonstrates the fact that he is qualified and worthy.

CAR RUNS 3.9 MILES ON PINT OF CRUDE

A test was made last Tuesday on the quality of the Crude oil that is being taken from the Whitten Well and found that it was almost as pure as the high grade gasoline that is being used in the test car this week. L. M. Hoover took a pint from the jug that is on exhibition in the Drug Store and placed in the car. Marcus Fury, local Chevrolet Salesman drove the car and made a run of 3.9 miles on the pint or an average of 31.2 per gallon. Quite a bit of talk has been going around as to the quality of this oil that is taken from the Whitten Well and as the experiment shows it is almost pure.

WEIGHT'S PARAGRAPHS

Well it's just 9 days more before the kittens eyes will be opened and they can see what they see.

The issues in the governor contest has been lost sight of, it has developed "I am for Jim" or "I am against Jim" most of us are voting against Jim although the platform and the things he advocates are desired by two thirds of the voters. The majority of the Texas voters are against the road bond issue and the sale of the prison lands, yet if we vote for Sterling we advocate the thing we do not want.

Gee! You had better take a look at Eldorado, you want know the burg when she quits dressing up.

Mrs. E. C. Haynes, for 30 years a business woman of Eldorado was here from Dallas last week looking after business. Mrs. Haynes has some desirable property on Main street and was glad to note the beautiful improvement placed on main street since she left. She only remained a few days before returning to Dallas.

E. B. Hothaway, of the Beeville Publishing Company, was in Eldorado this week guest of his aunt Mrs. A. N. Shipp. It has been five years since his last visit and he said Eldorado was sure putting on her Sunday clothes. Mr. Hothaway and family are camping on the Llano near Junction for awhile. We received a letter from Hon.

The West Texas Exposition September 22-27

Many Shows During the Six Big Days September 22-27

Six weeks from today the 1930 West Texas Exposition opens. We can hardly realize that the time is so near, and yet we have been hearing about the Exposition from many sources. This race of the fabled animals of "speed"—the one that the story says out-ran the rabbit in a famous race years ago—seems to be causing considerable comment. And you know, comment very often creates interest, and interest creates ticket sales. A Communication from the superintendent of the Terrapin Derby says he is grooming 4,500 of those "racing demons" for the West Texas Exposition "speed" contest.

Work is progressing on the various improvements at the Fairgrounds. You're going to see many changes—mainly more room. An addition is being made to the Woman's Department to give the Art, Cullinary, Textile and Floral Departments more room and better facilities for exhibiting. We have heard very little this far from exhibits in this department but have assurance that there will be some splendid exhibits. Particular attention is being given to the securing of art work from outstanding artists of the nation. Please note the changes in entry dates.

One of the greatest sheep and goat shows of the Southwest is held each year at the West Texas Exposition. This department is recognized as one of the feature attractions because of the number and quality of animals exhibited. Substantial premiums are offered that compare with the greatest shows. The premiums in the Sheep and Goat Department amounts to $3,240. This includes the Feeder Lamb Show, a new feature this year.

The West Texas Exposition Dairy Show is the premier Dairy Show of the West. The premium list has been completely changed this year to conform to the classifications of the Fat Stock Show. And the Tom Green County Special amounting to over $100 have been added. The "Specials" are for Tom Green County exhibitors only and are offered to stimulate the dairy industry in this County. We are expecting the greatest Dairy Show in the history of the Exposition this year.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of thanking those who assisted us during the illness and death of our loved husband, dad and brother.

Especially do we thank Dr. Patton and the nurse who worked so faithfully and untruly for the aid and comfort of our loved one.

Our neighbors, who were so helpful and sympathetic, have our heartfelt thanks.

The floral offering was beautiful, and so fittingly expressed the feeling of the giver.

And to each and every one who aided us in anyway, we again extend our gratitude. May the Gracious Heavenly Father guide and lead you always and keep you safely sheltered in the hollow of his hand is our earnest prayer.

Mr. J. E. Jones and Children and brothers and sister.

THANKS VOTERS

To be people of Schleicher County, who supported me at last Saturday's primary and helped make it possible for me to lead the ticket over the District, I express my sincere gratitude. The run-off will be held on August 23rd, and I again submit my candidacy to the kind consideration of the voters of Schleicher County.

GLENN R. LEWIS

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the many friends and acquaintances who so kindly remembered us in the loss of our loved one.

Every act of kindness shown or expressed in word or sympathy, in flowers or in deeds, shall be cherished in tender memory.

May the Lord richly bless and reward you for your kindness.

Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Nicks and Relatives

Pat M. Neff this week expressing thanks for the splendid vote he received from Schleicher County. Mr. Neff carried 231 out of the 253 counties in the July primary but did not receive a majority over all, and has to enter the second primary.

New Credit Gained in High School

Last year one-half credit was secured by the high school in Commercial law under the direction of Mr. O. J. Curry. Credit was not secured in Public Speaking, the only other credit applied for. The Eldorado High School now has twenty three and one-half units of affiliation with the State Department of Education.

Home Economics' To Be Added This Year

Plans have already been made for addition of one course in Home Economics for next year. The course will consist of clothing and designing and will be open to any girl in the high school. Home Economics may substituted for the two courses in science which have been required in the past. No fees will be charged for the course in Home Economics.

Miss Moore, who has her degree from the University of Texas in Home Economics under the Smith-Hughes plan has been secured to take charge of the introduction of the work into the Eldorado School. Miss Moore was in charge of similar work in the Marfa High School for several terms and has also taught in the San Antonio schools. Eldorado is fortunate in getting the services of such a teacher in the inauguration of this vocational work for the girls of the community. It is planned that the full course in Home Economics be added next year.

Study of Constitution Required For Graduation

A recent law passed by the Forty-first Legislature requires that beginning September, 1930, all graduates of state supported high schools shall have credit for eighteen hours of instruction in the constitutions of the United States.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

The State Health officers have paid a recent visit to Eldorado complying with a request from the board of alderman to conduct an investigation of health conditions here.

They found the town in great need of strict sanitary measures and advised immediate action. The public is urged to co-operate with the board of aldermen and Health officers and do every thing in their power to facilitate the sanitary work.

Way of Life

BRUCE BARTON

NO ANSWER

THE traffic light flashed red, and a big car stopped short. The car behind it brushed the front car's fender. Nothing of any importance. Just a bump.

Instantly, the driver of the first car was on the pavement. No one could bump him with impunity. He'd show the world.

I stopped to watch the performance, and the action of the other driver gave me a smile. Mild and innocent, he sat. He did not turn his head. He never said a word.

When the traffic light flashed green he stepped on the gas and moved away. His angry accuser had to climb back into his driver's seat, and before he could get going angry horns were blowing all around him.

He had the satisfaction of his outburst, but the silent man won.

Years ago I received a very bitter letter. The writer was wrong in his facts and unjustified in his tone.

I carried the letter around in my pocket. Several times I started to dictate a hot reply. Then I would think of something milder and decide to wait and try again.

On the third morning I had an inspiration. "The mott sprylyzing answer I can send to this man is no answer at all," I said to myself. "What is he doing all this time? Looking eagerly in every mail to find my letter. Planning out in his mind the things he will say in reply. Mentally lashing me to the mast.

"And I am going to disappoint him. I'm going to leave him there, all bottled up, stewing in his own juice."

Peace came over me. I never thought of the man again.

It's not an original idea. John D. Rockefeller, in his younger days, was working away at his desk one afternoon when a man rushed into the office and began to denounce him in violent terms.

Mr. Rockefeller leaned back and listened as if to a story of fascinating interest. He did not utter a word.

Presently the man exhausted himself and walked out, looking rather foolish. Mr. Rockefeller quietly picked up his pen and went on with his work.

There is a very wise old verse which reads: "The meek shall inherit the earth."

Is it true? Look around you. The meek do not make a spectacular showing. They lose many opportunities to announce their rights, and defend their honor, and show what tough fellows they are.

But they certainly do inherit.

SHE SAYS $500 COULD NOT BUY GOOD DONE HER

San Angelo Woman Declares Argotane Is Worth Its Weight in Gold; She Has Suffered Four Years.

"$500 wouldn't buy the good that two bottles of Argotane have done for me and I just think it's worth its weight in gold" said Mrs. L. A. Thomas, of 103 W. 7th Street San Angelo.

"I was told repeatedly that my trouble could not be cured in fact I have had an operation for appendicitis and I have to have the second one for adhesions, but still I suffered even the noise of a passing car would upset my nervous system. My stomach was in such a bad condition that I could not even digest an egg, and until, I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

"I kept reading in the papers about so many people who had trouble similar to mine that had used Argotane and it proved to be the very thing in their case and I decided to try it. I have taken two bottles, altogether and have gained wonderfully in weight and haven't had a nervous spell since. I can eat anything I want and am building up every day. I just can't say too much to praise Argotane."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Eldorado at the Hoover Drug Co.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By John Joseph Galnes, M. D.

ABDOMINAL PAIN

Speaking plainly, "bellyache." Fifty years ago, a patient complaining of it was jolled a bit,—finally given a good "swig" of castor oil, which generally subdued the villain, and, closed the incident happily for all concerned.

A volume might be—indee many have been—written on abdominal pain; there is no more important symptom in the category of human ailments than this.

It may mean a most serious process starting up; the physician knows this—the patient may not. Given a woman and a child, both suffering from pain in the same locality; the cause of distress in each may be far from similar, and demand entirely different treatment. The day of hit-or-miss medication has gone.

The sufferer with abdominal pain, acute or chronic, should consult the family physician the very first thing, take no medicine whatever until he advises it. Many a life has been lost by the delay caused by trying out real strong medicines that are "purely vegetable," and are in the family medicine chest. Some of these contain strong portions of aloes, podophyllin, belladonna, and the like—that should never be taken without a capable physician's advice.

The day of strong purgation to "stir up the liver" is a thing of the past. The medicine that literally tears thru an errant digestive tract may get results—but may set up trouble that it will cost many dollars and anxiety to relieve.

There are a few medicines that are known to be harmless; but more harm can be done by taking a chance shot at an abdominal pain from the family medicine chest, than in any other condition that I recall at this time. We used to drink castor oil and turpentine for most everything; but, in these days of appendicitis and Bright's disease, such procedures are angerously absurd.

SOIL FERTILITY EASILY

HELD ON TERRACED LAND

At the soil-erosion experiment station farm near Guthrie, Okla., last year a field cultivated for the first time produced 75 per cent more lint cotton per acre than another for 30 years, according to the United States, Department of Agriculture. The old field produced 89 pounds per acre, the new field 156 pounds.

Both fields were terraced before the crop was planted last year, and other wise were treated exactly alike. The poor yield of the old field, the department explains is a result of the removal of great quantities of plant food during the 30 years—net alone by cropping, however, but by the gradual washing away of the rich top soil, plant food and all, by sheet erosion. A soil survey had shown that each field originally had a surface slope of about 5 per cent; that erosion had taken from the old field from 10 to 16 inches of the surface soil, and that practically no erosion had occurred in the virgin field. Both fields originally were of the same type of soil.

The terraces on the eroded field have prevented further loss of soil, the department says, but it will take several years and much labor and expense to restore the soil to its former productivity. Terraces on the new land will prevent loss by erosion and the fertility of the soil can be maintained easily.

The Department of Agriculture, in co-operation with State agricultural experiment stations, is now studying the soil-erosion problem at six soil-erosion experiment stations—two in Texas, and one each in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and North Carolina.

Building Barrels

Every industry that undertakes making in Texas anything that can be used in the State is a valuable contribution, however small it may be, to the progress of the State, if it is properly supported by the State. A box and barrel factory is being constructed at Brownwood to assemble boxes and barrels for use in packing and shipping turkeys. The lumber to be used will be cut to right sizes at the lumber mills. Some 12 or 14 men will be employed for about six months in the year, and the finished products will be sold to the produce houses in the "Heart of Texas" district.

Meeting the Needs of Millions of People

The low-priced automobile has brought greater opportunity and added hours of recreation to millions of men and women.

BECAUSE the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and prosperity of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply setting up a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business—design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of millions of people and to provide it at a low price. That is its mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public.

The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless, untiring effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing. The Ford plants are, in reality, a great mechanical university, dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and share the progress made.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful, can never be taken as wholly right. They represent simply the best efforts of the moment. Tomorrow must bring an improvement in the methods of the day before. Hard work usually finds the way.

Once it was thought impossible to cast gray iron by the endless chain method. All precedent was against it and every previous experiment had failed. But fair prices to the public demanded that wasteful methods be eliminated. Finally the way was found.

A better way of making axle shafts saved thirty-six million dollars in four years. A new method of cutting crankcases reduced the cost by $500,000 a year. The perfection of a new machine saved a similar amount on such a little thing as one bolt. Then electric welding was developed to make many bolts unnecessary and to increase structural strength.

Just a little while ago, an endless chain conveyor almost four miles long was installed at the Rouge plant. This conveyor has a daily capacity of 300,000 parts weighing more than 2,000,000 pounds. By substituting the tireless, unvarying machine for tasks formerly done by hand, it has made the day's work easier for thousands of workers and saved time and money in the manufacture of the car.

All of these things are done in the interest of the public—so that the benefits of reliable, economical transportation may be placed within the means of every one.

S. J. R. No. 19.
PROPOSING A CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON NOVEMBER 4, 1930.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 5 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

The Legislature shall meet every two years at such time as may be provided by law and at other times when convened by the Governor. When convened in regular Session, the first thirty days thereof shall be devoted to the introduction of bills and resolutions, acting upon emergency appropriations, passing upon the confirmation of the recess appointees of the Governor and such emergency matters in special messages to the Legislature; provided that during the succeeding thirty days of the regular session of the Legislature the various committees of each House shall hold hearings to consider all bills and resolutions and other matters then pending; and such emergency matters as may be submitted by the Governor; provided further that during the following sixty days the Legislature shall act upon such bills and resolutions as may be then pending and upon such emergency matters as may be submitted by the Governor in special messages to the Legislature; provided however, either House may otherwise determine its order of business by an affirmative vote of four-fifths of its membership.

Sec. 2. That Section 24 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

Members of the Legislature shall receive from the public Treasury a per diem of not exceeding $10.00 per day for the first 120 days of each session and after that not exceeding $5.00 per day for the remainder of the session.

In addition to the per diem the members of each House shall be entitled to mileage in going to and returning from the seat of government, which mileage shall not exceed $2.50 for every 25 miles, the distance to be computed by the nearest and most direct route of travel, from a table of distances prepared by the Comptroller to each county seat now or hereafter to be established; no member to be entitled to mileage for any extra session that may be called with-

In one day after the adjournment of a regular or called session.

Sec. 3. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to the electors of this state qualified to vote on constitutional amendments at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1930. (A correct copy.)

S. J. R. No. 7.
PROPOSING A CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON NOVEMBER 4, 1930.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 11 of Article VII of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 11. In order to enable the Legislature to perform the duties set forth in the foregoing section, it is hereby declared all lands and other property heretofore set apart and appropriated for the establishment and maintenance of the University of Texas, together with all the proceeds of sales of the same, heretofore made or hereafter to be made, and all grants, donations and appropriations that may hereafter be made by the State of Texas, or from any other source, shall constitute and become a permanent university fund. And the same as realized and received into the Treasury of the State (together with such sums belonging to the fund, as may now be in the Treasury), shall be invested in bonds of the United States, the State of Texas, or counties of said State, or in school bonds of municipalities, or in bonds of any city of this State, or in obligations and pledges issued by the Board of Regents of the University of Texas, or secured by such obligations and pledges, for the construction of dormitories and other buildings for the use of the University of Texas, or in bonds issued under and by virtue of the Federal Farm Loan Act approved by the President of the United States, July 17, 1916, and amendments thereto; and the interest accruing thereon shall be subject to appropriation by the Legislature to accomplish the purpose declared in the foregoing section; provided, that the one-tenth of the alternate sections of the lands granted to railroads, reserved by the State, which were set apart and appropriated to the establishment of the University of Texas, by an Act of the Legislature of February 11, 1858, entitled, "An Act to establish the University of Texas," shall not be included in, or constitute a part of, the permanent university fund."

Sec. 2. Said proposed amendment shall be voted on by the electors of this State qualified to vote on constitutional amendments at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1930. (A correct copy.)

PROPOSING A CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON NOVEMBER 4, 1930.

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas, that Art. V of the Constitution of Texas shall be amended by adding a new section to be known as Section 3a, to read as follows:

"Section 3a. The Supreme Court may sit at any time during the year at the seat of government for the transaction of business and each term thereof shall begin and end with each calendar year."

Section 2. That Section 3 of Art. V of the Constitution of Texas shall be amended by repealing the sentence of said section which reads: "The Supreme Court shall sit for the transaction of business from the first Monday of October in each year until the last Saturday in June of the next year, inclusive, at the Capitol of the State."

Section 3. If the Constitution shall not have been previously amended so as to provide that the Supreme Court shall be open at all times, then, in that event the foregoing Constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State, at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. TEXAS AND TEXANS

By Will H. Mayes
 Austin, Texas
 "All Texans for all Texas"

Forward, Texas

With the heat of an unusually warm summer and the passion of politics, following a season of talk of "hard times," there is a disposition to inactivity in some parts of the State from which it will be difficult to escape. The history of this country shows that the sections that have fallen behind in progress have suffered more from a tendency to do nothing, to be merely idle, rather than to any cause latent in the section itself. Homeseekers who settled Texas passed through Arkansas and Louisiana because those States seemed fast asleep. West Texas was developed as largely through the listlessness of East Texas as through any superior attractions of the West itself. If any part of this State decides to go to sleep an await the coming of better or more opportune times for development, nobody is going to take the trouble to awaken it and call attention to the fact that "Good Times" is passing it by.

Even if one doesn't feel like doing much in August, it is the best of all months for making plans for fall activities. Those who wait until September to map out the work for that month will likely postpone September's duties until October, and the October procrastinators will likely decide that it will be just as well to wait until the new year, because the old is so nearly gone. People do not definitely decide to become lazy, either in their own business or in public affairs—they just grow that way by degrees until, in time, inactivity becomes a fixed habit.

Bastrop Pulling Up

For many years Bastrop seemed to have that "satisfied feeling." Most of its brightest young men and women left the old town for Austin and other progressive places, leaving the satisfied old folks largely to carry on as they might like. Bastrop is undergoing an awakening and is showing signs of new life. The old city hall is being replaced by a modern public building; new stores and residences are being built and the old buildings are being painted to look like new. The older folks who no longer care to see the town grow, are turning over the management of things to the younger and more active, and Bastrop gives promise once more of being a leader among the progressive towns of its rich section. Smithville, Elgin and other neighbors are warned to keep their eyes on growing Bastrop.

Wimberley Summer Resort

At the invitation to friends this writer has spent a week-end at Wimberley, a Hays county village some 40 miles from Austin, located between the shaded banks of Cypress creek and the Blanco river. To his surprise he found dozens of well-built summer homes there occupied by families from Houston, Galveston, San Marcos and other Texas cities. Most of them are substantial stone structures built of the varicolored rock of that section. These are hidden about on the tree-covered bluffs of the river where they have both the privacy of the country and the neighborliness of village life. Cooling south winds an abundance of good water and rock-bottomed swimming pools of clear blue water afford the real luxuries of the summer camp. Strange as it may seem, few people except those who have built cottages there, seem to know of Wimberley as a village resort.

Blaming The Press

Most of the defeated candidates are blaming the press for their defeat, claiming that the newspapers ignored them and gave prominence to the candidacy of their more fortunate opponents. The truth is that candidates usually ask themselves too seriously and see reasons for their candidacy that the press and the voters do not find. Matters that to them appear of great importance are of little moment to others, and naturally the papers do not play them up on their front pages or elsewhere. The press is more interested in news than in candidates, especially where there are no great principles involved.

Profitable Club Work

A home demonstration club at Edinburg has been engaged in making leather goods, such as purses, book covers and chair coverings in which work much pleasure and profit are being found. At Mercedes one woman toiled the leather for the back and seat of an old hand carved Spanish style walnut chair, the leather work being valued at $85 after it was covered. About twenty women in the county have received training in the art of leather-working.

Pansy Culture Paying

About eight years ago, T. W. Walton, who lives three miles from Conroe, bought 30 cents worth of pansy seed, and began specializing in growing pansy plants for the market. He is now shipping 500,000 pansy plants a year to florists in all the Southern States, north, as far as Kansas and west to Utah, and has established an enviable reputation for the beauty of the blooms from his plants. He gets the best seed and the greatest variety he can find in this and foreign countries, puts intelligent effort into his work and takes much pride in growing as fine pansies as are grown in the world; hence his success.

Enlarging Hatcheries

The announcement of the Leader-News that the Uvalde Hatchery is being doubled in capacity is in line with the progress of the chicken hatchery business throughout Texas. In a few years the farm will be an exception that doesn't have a flock of a few hundred egg producers, the profits from which will be as great as from the cotton crop.

MISS NOBODY FROM NOWHERE

"Well, don't," he advised. "But I'll come down to the Garland during the morning and put Miss Carrington through some more tests," he added, relenting. Then he sent the anxious bridegroom out of his office with a friendly push on the shoulder.

Hamilton was not an easy man to down. At five that afternoon he was again in Carrick's consulting room expressing the additional doubts that had come to him after the unsatisfactory results of the tests. At last Carrick, despite long experience with the anxious friends of patients, lost his temper.

"You realized, didn't you, that she didn't respond to any of the tests I made this morning?" he snapped.

"You bet I did."

"Even the piano meant anything to her did it?"

"It didn't seem to."

"And she's still afraid—pantky at times?"

"Yes. She says she has even given up the notes she made and carried up around with her. They end the day she left Jake's."

"All right then. Do you want her to remain in this state indefinitely?"

"God knows I don't."

"Then prove it. Open your mind and take in the fact that sterner measures are necessary. The important thing now isn't what you think, but what you've done. Have you done what I told you to do?"

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

FIFTEENTH INSTALLMENT

What Has Gone Before

Standing on a New York street corner, a young woman suddenly discovers that she does not know her own name nor how she got there. Everything in her past is a blank. She knows only that her name is "Eve." She meets a young man who lives at the hotel where she is registered as Eve Nobody from Nowhere, which she had written in French. Eric Hamilton calls in a nerve specialist, but Eve slips out of the hotel, goes to a little apartment house, where she meets a professional dancer who gets her a job in a cabaret.

As a cabaret hostess she meets many curious people. Then, one night, a man who claims to recognize her comes in. She is afraid of him and runs away, back to the hotel to Eric Hamilton. She has her hair dyed and changes her manner of dress, so that the stranger out of her old life will not recognize her. Then Hamilton persuades her to go through a marriage ceremony with him. As they return to the hotel the man she fears is waiting. Hamilton sends her up stairs and turns to the other man, who says his name is Samuel Henderson, of Chicago.

Hamilton tells the whole story to his friend, Dr. Carrick, who is able to assure Eve that there is nothing in her old life that she needs to fear, while he considers how to bring her memory back.

Eve and Hamilton find themselves on very friendly footing, while waiting for Dr. Carrick's attempt to bring her memory back to her.

Now Go On With The Story

They were sitting in her sitting-room, and now she rose and walked to the window, where she stood for a moment with her back to him, looking out. Something in her manner made him feel that he could follow her. He did so, and stood beside her as he had done their first evening together, in that room. The same memory rose in the minds of both, and under the force of it she turned to face him.

"You're right," she said quietly, "I love you. I didn't realize it till this week. I didn't suppose I've been showing it every time I looked at you or spoke to you."

"Eve!" Her expression stopped his speech and held him motionless.

"I love you," she repeated. "But I'll never marry you, really, till I'm absolutely myself again."

"And when you're absolutely yourself again," he almost groaned, "you won't know me at all. My God, Eve, think what you're condemning us to, if this thing lasts!"

"And think what I'd condemn us to if I married you while I'm like this and then—" she felt for the right words and dverbally underlined them—"came back to find herself the wife of a stranger. That's the way it's said to be, you know, in these cases."

"But you love me now," he cried.

"You've said so! I can't take it in yet, but you've said so!"

"Oh, yes, I love you now." She added slowly, "And I'm depending on you to keep me from making any mistake in that, just as I'm depending on you in everything else."

There was a moment's silence while the full significance of the admission came to him, and the earth rocked. The combined love and pity he felt for her in that moment was the most shattering emotion he had ever known. He wanted to seize her and hold her; he wanted to kneel at her feet. He took her hands and looked down at her.

"Eve," he said, as steadily as she had spoken, "if I've won you once, and—thank God!—you say I have I can do it again when you're well. I will do it again! And in the meantime I'll be the happiest an uthe most patient lover you can imagine."

She continued to look up at him, and he bent with an inarticulate murmur and laid his cheek against hers. For an instant they clung together, while he felt her tears on his face. Then she spoke.

"Now I have done it!" she brought out with a childish gulp of contrition. "Now I've dragged you into the very heart of this hideous tangle. I hate myself for doing it—for getting you to know I care. But oh, Eric, how could I help it!"

He released her and stood back, steady-eyed but trembling under his apparent calmness.

"That's that," he cheerfully announced. "Now we'll go down to luncheon. And to-night we'll take in a musical comedy and drop in at Jake's afterward."

"And I'll have to put on the same dancing-trock I wore there every night," she smiled, gallantly playing up, "because I haven't anything else."

"But what about the dyed hair? You certainly don't have to go around now with it looking this way?" he pointed out.

They stared at each other in consternation.

"After lunch I'll go up to the beauty parlor," she decided, "and ask them to get rid of it for me. That will give you an afternoon off duty."

As the visit to Jake's drew nearer she found herself growing nervous.

"Perhaps he won't even speak to me," she told Hamilton when they were entering the big dancing-room toward midnight.

"Oh, I guess he will," Hamilton spoke soothingly, but it was clear that the matter of Jake's reception was not burdening his mind. Nor did the place disturb him, as he had expected it to. He was now in a state of well-being nothing could ruffle. Eve loved him. Incidentally, he played the game as she would wish him to play it. Looking very handsome in his evening clothes, he followed the waiter to the table he had reserved, and consulted Eve at every stage of an elaborate supper order.

She, however, found it hard to fix her mind on that vital interest. Her eyes were busy. She saw Maizie and Stella at the far end of the dancing floor, but apparently neither saw her. Queenie and Ivy were not in the room. However, the night was young and they would surely appear later.

She stared around her, intrigued by the chance to study as an observer the scene in which she had so often taken a professional part. In all her nights there she had never been able to sit at a table and really give her eyes to the tableau as a whole, and she did it now, while Eric and the waiter, the latter a man she had not seen before, continued to concentrate their thoughts on the supper problem.

It was met at last and as Eric straightened, prepared to give his attention to his companion, a familiar voice spoke to Eve. It was Jake's and the new-comers were now subjected to the effluence of his best professional manner.

"Good evening, sir. Good evening, madam. Is everything all right?"

He recalled the departing waiter, gave him instructions for very special service, and, as the man departed, turned away, making it plain to Eve that no intimation of their former acquaintance would come from him.

"One moment, please," Eve said, and as he stopped she added quickly: "I came in to apologize again for leaving you so suddenly; and I've brought my husband with me. We were married the day after I left here."

She had never before seen Jake smile. The phenomenon was worth witnessing, for it made Jake's cold mask suddenly and warmly human. The two men measured each other with a friendly glance.

"That's all right," Jake said. "I knew there was some good reason."

A little later, Ivy and Queenie presented themselves with beaming friendliness and promptly accepted Eric's invitation to supper. Miss Morris refused to be greatly impressed by the marriage, but Ivy's unwinking blue eyes never left the bridegroom.

"Any chance of coming back?" Queenie asked nonchalantly.

"Not the least," Eric said before she could speak.

"I s'pose you know your gentleman friend from Chicago's been blowing in and out since you faded away," Queenie went on thoughtfully stirring an oyster in its tomato bath. "But don't worry, dearie, for he didn't get a thing on you here."

"We didn't know a thing to give him," Ivy tactlessly contributed.

"We wouldn't of told it if we had," Queenie ostentatiously pointed out, with a disgusted glance at her friend who swallowed the oyster.

Jake reappeared when Eve and Hamilton were leaving, and gave them another excellent imitation of his great cabaret model. He also offered Eve a newspaper cutting and watched her face as she read it. It was Henderson's advertisement. She looked up, startled, and handed it to Hamilton.

"Has any one else seen this?" the latter asked quickly.

"Nope. Wasn't sure the lady herself seen it. Thought I better put her wise."

"Thank you," Eve said. "How long have you known about it?"

"Saw it the day it came out. Recognized you from it the first night you blew in here," Jake admitted.

"And you haven't spoken of it to any one else?" Eric asked.

"Cert'nly not. Nobody's business but the lady's."

"You're even kinder than I thought you were," Eve said gratefully, and to Jake's surprise offered him her hand at parting. Eric, too, gave his hand a firm grip.

"Sometimes, perhaps, I'll be able to explain," Eve went on. "I can't yet." Jake shook his shining black head and smiled his rare smile.

"No explanations necessary," he gallantly told the lady. "But I'm sure glad to know everything's all right now." His black eyes were very human. "Glad someone's lookin' after her," he brought out in a rush. "Waskindaworried."

It was his exit line from their lives. "And yet some people think this is a hard world," Eve told Hamilton as their taxicab made its slow way through the Tenderloins congested traffic. "I've had nothing but kindness. If I hadn't wondered what would have become of me if I'd had the sort of experience one often reads about?"

"It doesn't bear thinking of," Hamilton recalled his thoughts on the night of Eve's disappearance and added hastily: "I'm glad we went to that place. Seeing it, and meeting that chap Jake, have changed my feelings about it."

"I thought they would," Eve smiled. He glanced at her quickly.

The Chicago agency's reply to Eric's telegram had promised a full report by mail. The document itself came on the morning of the fourth day. It was a complete report. It even included the names and addresses of Eve's Chicago physicians and of the nurse who had attended her. Out of it moreover, Henderson rose in triumphant vindication.

Hamilton telephoned Carrick the confirmation of the managers' story and added a breathless question: "How much can I tell her?"

"Nothing," Carrick ruled.

"But—"

"Not a word! I've felt sure the story was straight, just as I did, so I've been getting ready. We'll make our experiment in a day or two, and I'll give you the details in an hour if you'll drop into my office. Can you get away from Miss Carrington long enough to do that?"

This was Carrick's idea of a joke and Hamilton ignored it. But he was on time for the appointment, and the

PROPOSING A CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON NOVEMBER 4, 1930.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Article VII of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto Section 16, which shall read as follows:

"Section 16. All land mentioned in Sections 11, 12 and 15 of Article VII, of the Constitution of the State of Texas shall be subject to taxation for county purposes to the same extent as lands privately owned; provided they shall be rendered for taxation upon values fixed by the State Tax Board; and providing that the State shall remit annually to each of the counties in which said lands are located an amount equal to the tax imposed upon said land for county purposes."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at the next general election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1930.

TO RULE OR TO BE RULED?

The eyes of San Angelo, and of four communities in West Texas, are going to follow the careers and lives of the four young men who braved Friday, June 13, by securing their diplomas despite the evil portents of that day. And, we, who know them and have watched over their preparation for life-work, feel confident that they are prepared to rule rather than to be ruled by life. For such is life. Only the unprepared are ruled by Life while the prepared take Life as it comes, guiding its twistings and turnings to their advantage.

"I spent most of my time on the bed. I was very nervous, and the least thing upset me. I did not have strength enough to lift a broom. At times I would have had headaches, which would hurt me until I could hardly see."

"Someone asked me why I did not try Cardui. I had read of it, so I thought I would see what it would do for me. It was really remarkable how I came out. My strength returned, and my health was better than it had been in years. I gained in weight about ten pounds. My color was good, and I ceased to suffer from headaches. I have told my friends about Cardui because I was benefited after taking it."

A THOUGHT FOR SUNDAY

By Amos R. Wells

NIEVEH'S SPEED MANIA

NAHUM describes the chariots of wicked Niveveh quite as if they were modern automobiles. The speed mania of that ancient capital of Saffan was like the speed mania of today. And when Nahum uttered the prophecy of Jehovah, "I will burn her chariots in the smoke," he recorded the doom of much of our present-day Godless living.

For life that thinks to outspeed Gods penalties is always defeated in the race. Take the wings of the morning, which are faster than the fastest gasoline motor, and flee to the uttermost part of the earth and you will find God there. Our speedsters leave nothing behind but peace and true happiness and real prosperity. Better reach your destination an hour later, and reach it. Better a dull, monotonous, plodding life than a life which goes up in smoke.

"The chariots rage in the streets, they rush to and fro in the broadways, the appearance of them is like torches they run like the lightnings." Read NAHUM 2:4-13.

Hogs At Six Cents

A young woman farmer in Fisher County, Miss Lelia Webb, who is styled a "farmerette demonstrator" has found that it is possible to fatten hogs at a feed cost of less than six cents a pound, using yellow corn meal, ground oats cottonseed meal and alfalfa, alf meal made into a slop of buttermilk consistency with skim milk. The feeding experiment was conducted 128 days; the feed-stuffs were placed at local market values and the skim milk at 22 cents a gallon.

Texas Potato Crop

Texas produced 3,572,000 bushels of Irish potatoes in the season ending July 1, which was about a 50 per cent increase over the crop of last year, but was less than a hundredth part of the entire crop of the United States. That part of the crop that was marketed before the main crop of the country was ready for market brought good prices. The satisfactory sale of Texas potatoes depends largely upon early marketing and upon the quantity of the old crop in storage in northern markets at the time of maturity of the Texas crop.

Filming Texas History

A corporation has been formed to preserve in motion picture films the principal incidents of Texas history. With the proper background of historical study and sincere efforts to produce films true to history, rather than to commercialize the film productions, such records of Texas history should prove quite valuable. The personnel of the Texas members of the corporation should insure the placing of history above mere commercialism, and includes: John H. Kirby of Hons ton, Henry Hutchins and C. E. Gilliam of Fort Worth, Calra Driscoll Sevier of Austin, C. R. Wharton of Houston, all noted for their interest in and love for Texas history.

TO THE PEOPLE OF TEXAS:

In the recent election, to have carried as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner over my three opponents 231 of the 253 counties in Texas, and to have received nearly two hundred thousand votes more than my nearest opponent, are honors for which I wish to express, through the public press, to the people of the State my sincerest thanks. For this vote of confidence I shall count myself at all times debtor to the people of Texas, in the coin of sincere appreciation.

Notwithstanding the large vote received, a run-off is necessary, for the reason that I lacked a few thousand votes in the State as a whole of having a majority vote over the combined support of the other three candidates. Thanking my many friends for the interest they manifested in my behalf and coveting their support in the second primary on August 23rd, I am, Yours gratefully and sincerely,
Pat M. Neff

School Starts

States and of Texas. This requirement may be met in the one-half unit course now offered in Civics or in the course in American History or Civics before graduation.

Enrollment of High School Pupils
On September 4th & 5th

In order that the enrollment of all high school pupils shall be completed before school begins on the 8th all high school pupils will be enrolled on the 4th and 5th of September. All seniors and juniors are asked to report on the 4th and all others on the 5th. It is important that all students report on those days so as to avoid the rush and hurry that sometimes accompanies enrollment. In this way each student will have plenty of time to decide upon the courses desired and plenty of time to consult with the teachers in the selection of courses.

VACATION TIME

This month of August is the one month of the whole year which has no legal holidays of general observance in it. But in another sense, it is the great holiday month.

Everybody who can take a vacation tries to take it in the Summer, and August is the time when people whose homes and work are in the cities get away as far and as fast as they can from the heat and noise.

The vacation habit has become so widespread in America that it is practically universal. There are few if any, business houses or manufacturing establishments which do not give all employees some sort of a Summer vacation. The general rule is two weeks with pay for all who have been with the concern a year or more, one week for those who have been with it less than a year. Uncle Sam is more generous. All employees in Federal Civil Service get 30 days vacation with full pay.

One thing which business has discovered is that vacations pay. Few persons can stand the unremitting grind of 52 weeks of work without relaxation, or if they can stand it they do not take it kindly. In health accumulated for the rest of the year vacations pay dividends to employers as well as to employees.

The automobile has extended the range of vacation roaming inland while fast steamships and low rates for ocean travel make it possible even for those who have only a fortnight free from business to run across to Europe and back. By taking advantage of the customary Saturday half-holiday it is possible for a worker in New York to sail for Europe at noon on Saturday arriving at Cherbourg the following Thursday, reaching Paris that night, then to spend a solid week in touring France, Italy and Switzerland and catch a boat out of Cherbourg the following Wednesday morning, returning to New York in time to be at his desk again on the following Monday morning, having taken exactly two weeks' vacation.

There are those to whom vacation means merely a change of scene, others to whom it means nothing but rest, others who find in vacation an opportunity to pursue some special sport or outdoor interest. But to every body a vacation of some sort has passed out of the class of luxuries, so far as the American people are concerned and become a necessity. And it almost seems as if two out of every three persons one knows are away on vacation during this month of August.

UP FROM ELDORADO

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cobb were up from Eldorado last week. Called on us and told how glad they were to get the Robert Lee Observer each week and see how everything was getting along in old Coke.

Come back to get a good drink of eistern water, haven't got any other kind to offer him after spupper but gosh, how he likes what little we have got. Told us how proud they were down there, paving their streets and got a good water works, and good school and my, how the little town is growing, said he's made his last move going to stay there in that little thrifty West Texas town, says next move he makes they'll move him out feet foremost. Well, doggone its Eldorado's gain and our loss, we failed to build and thrive, and lost him like we have hundreds of other good thrifty citizens, "who have gone this way before him."

About four years ago Eldorado voted to incorporate, and about a year later, the bunch that didn't want to see it grow and prosper, ordered an election to vote it off. It didn't carry. That was the beginning of Eldorado's growth.

They voted bonds to build a water works and school building, and since that time Eldorado has thrived in population, ranchers and farmers have moved into town, built fine homes, some of em brick helping pay for those bonds, buying thousands of dollars worth of material in Eldorado to build, buying their drygoods and groceries from their prosperous merchants down there, citizens from other towns moving to Eldorado, sending their children to that good school they have builded, got 5 or 6 of our best ones out of Robert Lee, wouldn't move back up here for anything. No Water. Mr. Cobb says he can take a bath any time he takes a notion o'nite times. Lots of beautiful homes new in Eldorado, beautiful yards full of flowers go down and take a look for your self.

Got'em a Highway and a Railroad good prosperous newspaper, full of ads from prosperous merchants, proclaiming to the World Eldorado's growth, and prosperity.

Instead of sitting around with the sun-grins predicting hard times, they have builded a little city any tourist will compliment when he passes thru. That's what a bunch of enterprising public spirited citizens can do for a own thats done had its sare of decent funerals. Why gosh yes, those down there raises enough garden stuff in the back yard every year to cut their grocery bill down a hundred dollars, and their darn little old taxes on a house and lot ain't a third that much, let alone what they save on fire insurances.—Congratulations Eldorado! —Robert Lee Observer.

Cleaning SILK DRESSES

The cleaning of silk is a very pains taking job and one attempting to handle silk dresses should be experienced in the work and understand it thoroughly. We have a man in our shop now that has made a study of silks and is the best in this section of the country.

Since his arrival here our dress cleaning has increased almost double but we are able to still handle a great deal more. We do our work under the same guarantee of satisfaction that has always been the hobby of this shop.

Do not be afraid to bring your silk dresses here. The care will be the best. No harm whatever will be done to any fabric, regardless of the quality. We are prepared to take care of any class of dress goods that you may bring in. One trial will convince you that we can do the work satisfactorily.

JOB PRINTING

We can give you the lowest estimates in town on the highest grade job printing. No job too small, none too large. Work done according to your specifications and delivered when you want it.

We have the best facilities for job printing in town. Everything from a complete booklet to a post card turned out satisfactorily.

We will appreciate your order.

The Eldorado Success

"Self-Serve" Grocery & Market

Now unloading in Eldorado a car of red chain feed and Gold Chain Flour, wheat has advanced several cents from the low and flour has advanced from thirty to fifty cents a barrel. We bought this flour when flour was at its lowest, and our prices will not be raised as long as this flour lasts. Better lay in a few hundred pounds of this flour while it is going at the low price. We doubt if flour goes any lower this year. When you trade with us you always get the advantage of car load and quantity buying. Below a few of extra specials for this week.
