FLYER

A man from Australia flew from Ireland to Newfoundland and thence to New York. Kingsford-Smith had previously flown the same plane, the Southern Cross, from California to Australia and thence to England.

Nothing could illustrate better the way in which aviation is beginning to eliminate national boundaries and pull the whole world together.

Kingsford-Smith's flight is the first really successful East-to-West crossing of the North Atlantic in an airplane. Only one other plane which has attempted it has succeeded in getting across. That was the German "Bremen" which was wrecked in Labrador in trying to land. Fog is the great obstacle. No plane yet has been able to carry enough fuel to take the longer southern route. Only the radio direction finder enabled Kingsford-Smith to make a safe landing.

Thus far, the dirigible holds the best promise for safe and speed trans-oceanic air navigation.

PATENTS

Under a law just enacted by Congress, anybody who invents a new kind of plant, by cross-breeding, can get a patent on the product. This is something new in patents. Of course, a new species of food plant, such as the Loganberry, for example, which was produced by crossing two well-known varieties is an invention, just as much as a new machine; but heretofore the inventors of such things have had no protection.

Under the new law inventors, or whoever he sells his patent to, will have the exclusive right for 17 years to grow and sell roots cutting or seeds from the new kind of plant which he has invented.

TRADE

International business depends upon nations buying from each other in substantially equal amounts. This is the way it works out between the United States and the rest of the world.

Foreigners pay us annually, for excess of our exports over our imports, 734 millions; for interest on our foreign investments 562 millions; for government war debts 207 millions; foreign money invested in the U. S., 396 million; in all, including minor items, nearly 2 billions.

We pay foreigners annually, in long-term investments of capital abroad, 808 millions; spent by Americans tourists, 565 millions; ocean freight in foreign ships, 115 millions; sent by recent immigrants to the folks in "the old country," 223 millions; gold shipped abroad, 120 millions; in all, including miscellaneous minor items, nearly 2 billions.

These are Department of Commerce figures. They show in very plain fashion that Uncle Sam is not robbing the rest of the world.

SHIPS

The three-power naval treaty puts an end to competition in the building of warships but competition in passenger-carrying craft is giving the great shipyards of the world more work than they can handle easily.

France is the latest nation to enter this race, with an order for a ship 991 feet long, to be built at St. Nazaire. It will have over 60,000 tons displacement and 120,000 horsepower, and will be finished in 1933. The White Star line is building the new Oceanic in Belfast, Ireland, to be 1,000 feet long, costing 25 million dollars, ready for service in 1932. Each of the three Italian lines is building a great Diesel-engine motorship, to make the run between Naples and New York in 6 1/2 days.

All of those are in addition to the new German, Cunard and American sea monsters of which I wrote recently. In five years the cost of ocean travel will be reduced by this competition and the speed increased so that anybody having a 30-day holiday can make a considerable tour of Europe for three or four hundred dollars.

DEPTH

Inside of a steel ball, lowered at the end of a cable, Dr. William Beebe famous ocean naturalist, descended 1,426 feet below the surface of the ocean. There were thick quartz windows in the diving apparatus through which he projected a electric light

OZONA TO PLAY HERE

SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Ozona baseball team will try their luck at baseball here Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, when they clash with the Eldorado ball nine. This promises to be a good game, as Ozona has always furnished Eldorado plenty of competition and has won several games from this town. The Eldorado team will be strengthened by the return of Lefty Haynes from Hobbs New Mexico where he has been laying pipe for the Shell Company. T. J. Bailey will probably be here to handle the hot corner.

The time of the game will be at three o'clock instead of three thirty as here to fore, Odonia asked that the time be set up so that it would not make them late getting home after the game.

A large crowd is expected to witness this game as will probably be one of the best games played here this season.

Members Of Lions Club Meet With Court

Mr. W. O. Alexander and E C Hill, members of the Highway Committee, who are investigating the prospects of securing a State Highway across the county, beginning at the east line joining Menard County and extending through Schleicher to the line of Crockett, met with the Commissioners Court at Ozona Monday and found that court highly in favor of the project and promised to do what ever they could in securing this route, which would make better connections to all points in the north and eastern parts of the state. A shorter route to Ft. Worth would be found in connecting this road with the proposed road leading from Brady to Menard. These members also met with the Lions Club at Ozona and found them in favor of the road and promised their moral support.

The committee met with the Menard court and they at once promised to do their part and thought that the project could be carried out and if there was any chance that they would do what they could in securing the state aid.

A THOUGHT FOR SUNDAY

By Amos R Wells

A BUTCHER SHOP WITH A CARPET ON THE FLOOR

THE newspaper gives us the exhilarating news that a New York City butcher shop is to have rugs on the floor instead of sawdust. It is to have the appearance of a "swell jewelry store," as its proud proprietor asserts. It is to be a "shoppe" instead of a shop. The selling of meat is to become a fine art.

Why should not all such places as groceries, meat shops and hardware shops be made beautiful? Cleanliness would be promoted thereby. Life would be made more joyous. Labor would be aided. Trade would be promoted. There would be no loss but an enormous gain.

Paintiness and delicacy, loveliness and light, pleasure and perfection—the world can not have too much of these. Especially should these be made to minister to the essentials of life, to those parts of life that some mistakenly call lower—food, shelter, warmth, clothing. Our cellars should be as radiant as our parlors, as clean and sweet and charming. Butcher "shoppe" with rugs are distinct contributions to the progress of civilization.

"My heart rejoiced because of all my labor."

ELDORADO ROPERS FIND

TOUGH COMPETITION

Sam Roberts, Clyde Meador, J. C. Crosby and Sam Mather all rope twirlers of Eldorado have found roping competition a little bit strong at Rock Springs. The first days roping of calves and goats, the calf money was won in 15 seconds and the goat roping time was 8 4/5 seconds. Roberts and Crosby, paired in the wild cow milking, won first place in this event. No report of the last two days roping has been received.

PAVING OF STREET STARTED

THIS WEEK

The paving of the three blocks on main street, beginning at the Court house and extending to the intersection of the street running east and west on the south side of the Shoe make feed store, was started Tuesday. Surveying of the line for the curb and gutter is the main work at present. Mr. Simpson the contractor stated that the dirt would be moved in a few days and he real paving work would begin.

TEXAS POPULATION INCREASES

TO 5,810,683.

The 1930 population of Texas is some 5,810,683, an increase in the last decade of 1,147,455, or 24.62 per cent according to figures released by census supervisors of the various districts in the State and compiled Wednesday by the Associated Press. The 1920 population was 4,663,228.

Texas nosed out California in the race for fifth place among States, according to unofficial figures. California's population was given at 5,624,282 or 186,401 under Texas. New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio will come before Texas.

Schleicher County To Put On Farm Exhibit At West Texas Exposition

Mr. Neal Douglas, publicity manager of the Board of City Development of San Angelo during the Exposition there September 22-27. L. E. Sumner, county agent promised that he would do all he could to work up a good exhibit and under ordinary circumstances the farm exhibits from this county will equal any that will be brought in there. The booths displayed there before have won ribbons and the class of farming that is being carried on at present will easily bring out a better class of product and with a little work on the part of the farmers in cooperation with the county agent can put over a winning display at the Exposition.

Schleicher county has carried off almost all of the honors in the sheep shows and it will just be a case of time when it will stand out as one of the best farming districts in the state.

Hudspeth Supporting Murphy For Congress

Congressman C. B. Hudspeth has come out strong for the election of E. E. (Pat) Murphy to take his place in Congress, representing the 16th district of Texas. Mr. Hudspeth who made his statement some time ago, declining to run for re election to the office has been one of the mainstays for West Texas progress since his first term in office. When his announcement became public that he would not run again, much comment was made as to finding a man capable of filling his place and doing justice to West Texas. Mr. Hudspeth in a recent statement says that "Pat" Murphy is the man to put in Congress and that he will fill the chair very successfully. "He is the man that West Texas needs in Congress," says Hudspeth. The ranching country being located more around this section of the district and believes that Murphy understands the real needs of the West Texas people more than Mayor Thomason of El Paso.

When Mr. Hudspeth declined to run for the office again, he intended that C. C. Belcher of Del Rio should take his place but Mr. Belcher has withdrawn from the race and now Mr. Hudspeth has come out strong in favor of Murphy for Congress.

THREE GAMES TO BE PLAYED WITH MENARD

Three games of baseball has been matched with the strong Menard team. The first game is to be played at Menard on the 27th of this month. The second game will be here on the Wednesday following and a coin will be flipped for the playing of the third game. Eldorado at present is one game ahead of the Menard team and hopes to hold their lead throughout the season and is going to try their best to win the majority if not all three games. Snokey Woods will do the pitching for Menard and Lefty Hanna for the Eldorado team.

Quite a bit of talk is already being put out on the outcome of these ball games and one of the largest crowds ever to witness a game on the home field is expected to attend this game.

The two opposing pitchers have kept the bats of the clubs silenced very well and in this three game series the pitching ability of the pitchers will be tested. Three appearances against the same team in one week will give a fair test. Don't fail to see three good ball games. Go with the club and then return and help defend the home fort.

CECIL JOHNSON IN SAN ANGELO HOSPITAL

After about two weeks had elapsed after an automobile accident, Cecil Johnson, son of Mrs. J. C. Johnson, Schleicher County ranch people, was rushed to San Angelo thinking the trouble was a serious case of appendicitis. The operation was performed Friday and it was found that the trouble was internal injuries received in the accident on the night of July 1. Considerable amount of blood was taken from his body, which had been bleeding internally since the accident. It was thought Sunday night that there was no hopes for the boy but his condition has improved and at present he is considerably better.

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR

One of the finest figures in rural life is that of the country doctor. Every town in the United States has or has had a medical practitioner who has endeared himself to the whole countryside by a life of unselfish devotion to the health and welfare of the community.

The old-fashioned type of country doctor is passing. Like the saddlebags in which he used to carry his medicines and instruments, or the two-wheeled gig which, half a century ago, was still the traditional vehicle for the rural physician, the type is vanishing before the march of progress.

The country doctor of today covers a larger territory, because the automobile and good roads make it possible for him to do so. His contacts, being broader, are less intimate. He has had better training than the old type whom he superseded, but it is a question whether the average country doctor of today has any more "horse sense" than the best of the old breed had. He may perform an operation more skillfully or diagnose an illness more accurately, but he is seldom the recipient of the confidences of the whole region, the man to whom people in any kind of trouble used to turn instinctively for advice or comfort. Young medical graduates today tend to go to the cities to practice. For one thing, they do not have to know so much; if they find themselves in difficulties there are specialists at hand whom they can call in or consult. The country doctor must know how to meet any emergency which may arise, and meet it single handed. Then, too, to the young physician, the city looks like a more profitable place in which to practice his profession.

Rural and small town doctors are doing pretty well, however, according to a survey of the profession recently made in the rural regions of northeastern New York. The average annual earnings of several hundred such physicians were found to be about $6,000. That is a pretty good income for a small town and considering how much less it costs to live well in a small town than in a city, it probably is true that the best type of modern rural physician is doing about as well as the general run of his city cousins.

The great disadvantages of rural practice is that the doctor has to be on the job 24 hours a day. In the city he can limit his office hours and refer those who demand emergency service to the hospitals. But the spirit which actuated the old-fashioned physician, the spirit of self-sacrificing service, still survives in many regions, and there are plenty of young men today willing to give their lives to that sort of service.

MOTERING PESTS

Everybody who has done any considerable amount of travel by automobile has run into the two commonest pests which annoy the motorist.

One is the "hitch-hiker", using the term broadly to cover any stranger who tries to halt your car and asks for a "lift". The other is the beggar who tries to sell you something worthless when your car is held up in line awaiting the clearance of traffic in the other direction where the road is under repair.

Several states have recently legislated against both of these pests. New York imposes a motorist for a ride Massachusetts imposes a $50 fine for offering goods for sale to stalled motorists. There have been enough cases in many states, of hold-up men getting instances "killing" the generous motorists who obliged them, to justify legislation on that subject. There are enough risks incidents to motoring without that one. The other type of pest, the fellows who—frequently posing as ex-service men seeking funds for the relief of disabled veterans—try to sell cheap lead pencils or "souvenir" booklets when their victims cannot get away from them, and frequently become profane and abusive when the motorist refuses to come across, are just a plain unmitigated nuisance, and should be subject to the vagrancy laws without the necessity of special legislation.

We are too soft in dealing with minor crimes and misdemeanors, in most parts of the United States. We are too inclined to be sympathetic with the man who makes a pretense of trying to earn money, even though we know that it is only a pretense. Every once in a while the police in the big cities discover that some corner beggar has accumulated a fortune and is better able to ride in his own car and live in luxury than most of those who drop their pennies and nickels into his hat. So long as human nature is what it is, however, we suppose there will be a fair quota of people trying—and often succeeding—to get money without working for it.

ELDORADO DEFEATS OKLAHOMA GASSERS

The Oklahoma Gassers invaded the home diamond Sunday afternoon only to return to their own home carrying the short end of a 6-3 decision. McLeod pitching for the locals held the visitors to five scattered hits, while his mates were rapping the visiting pitchers offerings for nine hits and six runs, Williams, speedy outfielder led the attack with three hits out of the same number of trips to the plate.

Only one error was made on the Eldorado team, that being in the first half of the ninth when Murphy let an easy grounder roll between his legs, which would have been the third out.

MRS. LUKE THOMPSON ENTERTAINED WITH BRIDGE

Mrs. Luke Thompson entertained the Eldorado Bridge Club Thursday July 10.

Three tables of Club members and guests were present. After playing six games of Bridge lovely refreshments were served and prizes were awarded Mrs. Joe Williams high club and Mrs. A. P. Bailey high guest.

TEXAS AND TEXANS

By Will H. Mayes

Aus in, Texas
"All Texans for all Texas"

Talking Up Home Town

The Santa Anna News wisely says: "While Texans are talking Texas let not Santa Anna folks lay down on the job of talking Santa Anna." Some people hold to the idea that any other town or community is better than that in which they live and overlook the good things close at home. In talking Texas, and we should all talk Texas the talk should begin at home and radiate from there. Santa Anna has many advantages that other towns do not have, many things that make for better living than in other places, many citizens any other town would be glad to have. Santa Anna people need to know more about their town and to talk among themselves and with visitors about it.

But in their talk Santa Anna folks should remember, as they do, that Santa Anna is a part of the great State of Texas and that Santa Anna can't progress unless Texas also progresses. No town can hold itself apart and thrive, any more than an individual who lives the life of a hermit can succeed. Texas is a great State, made up of many units like Santa Anna, each largely dependent upon the others, but each responsible directly for its own advancement.

Newspapers and Growth

A writer who has looked over the census figures of several thousand towns of less than 5,000 population says that he found that every town that has made substantial growth in the past ten years has had the active support of a progressive local newspaper, and that every town that had lost population had a poor paper. It may be that a poor town causes the best paper to get discouraged and let up in its efforts, and that the paper is after all but the reflection of the enterprise, or lack of enterprise of a people, but it does seem that there would be some notable exceptions to the rule. At any rate, it behooves the publisher whose paper is in a town that isn't quite all it should be, to look about to see if he and his paper are not somewhat to blame.

State-wide Industrial Program

Fletcher Davis of the Hondo Anvil-Herald, thinks that the great need of Texas is a well-balanced program of industrialization that can best be brot about by an industrial board whose duty it would be to "discover, identify and broadcast to the world the industrial opportunities which lie hidden within the State."

If such a board could be organized in the interest of the entire State, without local or sectional bias, but having in purpose the creation of a wide-spread industrial-mindedness and the assistance of every Texas community seeking industrial development, the prosperity of the entire State would be stimulated in a remarkable degree.

While agriculture may be the "backbone" of prosperity, the greatest need of the State now is industrialization along lines to support its agricultural development. A department of industry is now needed even more than a department of agriculture.

Political Endurance Contests

The Texas political campaign begins to look like a marathon and some of the candidates seem to regard it as such. Airplanes are used by some in order that they may cover as much territory in a day as possible and the nights are made merry with radio speeches. An intimation that one candidate was a "worn-out" politician brought forth the response that the charge was untrue as he had travelled 300 miles and made four speeches within a day. It's a great game while it lasts.

Pecan Marketing Group

Pecan growers appear to be on the way to organizing an association to handle and market the pecan crop. In fact, co-operative sales agency has been formed with $500,000 capital stock and has the approval of the Federal Farm Board. H. G. Lucas of Brownwood, is president of the organization, which expects to be ready to handle the 1930 pecan crop.

Live-At-Home Fair

Winters has held a rather unique fair—a live-at-home exposition—the central idea being to show the people how they may live on the products of their own farms. When farmers once learn that it is important for them to produce at home every thing that can or made there that goes into the home-living, a far step will have been made toward the solution of farm problems, and more relief will result than can be obtained from any "Farm Relief Act," or Federal farm board.

Why Take Back Seat?

The Zavalla Sentinel sees some disposition on the part of the people of its community to be satisfied with the money made from the spinach and union crops and just wait around until the time for planting these crops again, although their lands will produce many other crops for which there is as great a demand as for spinach and onions. Pearsall is shipping water-melons and blackeyed peas; Devine has grown immense feed crops and has made money shipping carloads of roast ing ears; Carrizo Springs is already making plans for a strawberry crop; poultry associations are being formed all about; dairy routes are being established; other sections are pointing the way to success through diversification. Why depend too much on any one crop, however good it may be?

Wilson County Products

A writer in the Floresville Chronicle-Journal tells of the hundreds of cars of melons that have been shipped from that county this season, but thinks shipments will fall short of the 600 cars sent out last year. However, 18 cars of blackeyed peas have brought the farmers $85,000 and other side lines have made the county a bit independent of the reign of "King Cotton."

"The Land of Plenty" in Wilson county, as well as in other parts of Texas is not a land of Utopian dreams but is any place where the farmers have learned that it pays to diversify and live on the products of their own farms.

Cuero Butter Beat

At the National Dairy Show at Memphis, Tenn., a Cuero creamery was awarded first prize in the Texas butter contest. This creamery sold more than 1,000,000 pounds of butter. In 1929, in ten of Texas' largest cities Texas creameries are now equipped—many of them, at least—with the most modern machinery: Texas grasses and hays are unexcelled, and there is no reason why Texas butter should not equal any made in the world.

Texas Turkeys Abroad

Mr and Mrs Milton Stanley of San Saba county, have expressed a pair of their best Narragansett turkeys to London to enter the World's Poultry Congress, as representatives of the best turkeys grown in America. The birds will be returned to this country after the show and Texas turkey growers are hoping they may capture prizes as world winners.

Guadalupe Canal

Congressman Mansfield of Texas, in a talk at Victoria envisaged fleets of Government barges plying the intra-coastal canal from points as far away as Minneapolis and Pittsburgh. The Government is now operating a barge line from Minneapolis to New Orleans that is both paying the Government and saving the public millions in freight charges, and there is no good reason why this service may not in a few years be extended to a number of Texas points fortunate enough to be connected with the canal.

Ten Cows a Fortune

A Bexar county farmer who has kept books finds that one of his cows has netted him, above market costs of feed and pasturage, $1.10 a day. He thinks that by carefully culling dairy herds this average should be sustained. If so, the farmer with 10 cows should realize $330 a month for his labor in caring for the cows, less, of course, interest, in investment, depreciation and taxes.

THE BIG PARADE

ALL this happened in one day! A twenty-three-year-old boy came into our office to apply for a job. When we asked him about his present occupation he said he was a parachute jumper.

"I like the work all right," he added, "but parachute jumping isn't steady."

I met a mother whose son is about to graduate from college. What do you think he wants to be? A bond salesman? A movie star?

He wants to be an archeologist. A man named Volk died in New York City. He claimed the distinction of having torn down more big buildings than any other man who ever lived. But he died without realizing his ambition. He wanted to live to tear down the Woolworth Building.

Think of it. Six million people walking daily through the streets, each with his separate home and desire. Who would ever imagine that one of them was constantly saying to himself: "Oh if I could only tear down the Woolworth Building. That would crown my career."

A man with a noisy wife and seven grown children disappeared from his home in Brooklyn, and was discovered some months later in Hartford. Questioned as to why he left his family, he replied that he had done his duty as a father and believed himself entitled to a little peace in his old age. He had taken a job as a night watchman in a deaf and dumb asylum.

Why do I take up valuable white space to set down these apparently unimportant and unrelated incidents? Because, my friends, one of the biggest and least expensive of all pleasures is reading the newspaper and marveling at the eternal freshness and variety of the human race.

Let those who are bilious rail at the "standardization of modern life." It is true that many of the things we eat and use are standardized, and living is much simplified in consequence.

But have no fear that color and interest will disappear out of the world. Every baby has in him some little spark that makes him difficult from every other.

Life will be always amusing to those who have sense enough to enjoy it. Practices the good and inexpensive habit of being eternally entertained by your fellow human beings. Forget about yourself for a little while every day, and enjoy the big parade.

THE VALUE OF SOUND DESIGN

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

THE good performance of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance. Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, the simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.

Nurse Tells How CARDUI Helped Her

Mrs. W. A. Cox, a well-known professional nurse, of Barnside, Ky., writes:

"I was in very bad health, and only weighed 110 pounds. I read in the papers about Cardui, and thought I would give it a try-out. After I had taken one bottle, I could see that I was improving. After I had taken it a month or two, I began to gain, and I weigh at present 168, and have weighed that for some time. I am now 55 years old, and can do as much work as the average middle-aged woman can."

"I would advise any woman, who is weakly and in a run-down condition, to try Cardui, but not to expect one bottle to make her well. I take two or three bottles a year, now, and I feel fine."

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER
THEN AND NOW

No one who was familiar with the weekly newspaper of twenty-five years ago can fall of astonishment in examining today the contemporary weekly press. A quarter century or more has served to recast the majority of weekly papers, both in appearance and content. Formerly a political year was a season of high tide for the weekly editor. His community was political, his associates political, he was political, and he made his paper political.

Partisanship sometimes took on a fervor which heated every page. Usually there was an opposition organ across the street if it was a county seat town. And the editors grew vitriolic as the days warmed into mid-summer and the campaign waxed into luridness. Politics then was drama history, emotion, and it was not uncommon for revival meetings to be postponed until politics could be put aside, after the ballots were counted—or miscounted.

The contrast reflected by the present condition is worthy of comment, perhaps of encomium. The weekly press is not excited over the various candidates and contentions of this voting year. More space is given to world comment, agricultural experiment and development, highway problems, local improvements, social life. Politics and matters of State and local administration are not ignored, of course. But the attention given them is characterized more by sincerity and discernment than by passion or hyperbole.

In short, the Texas weekly press of 1930 is broader minded, more tolerant, but not less vigilant, than that of three decades ago. Probably the fact that the publishers have larger investments, more durable equities, at stake contributes greatly to the difference.

WHAT THE STERLING PLAN MEANS

More than two hundred counties in Texas have issued bonds to build State highways, according to a statement issued by the State Highway Department. These bonds constitute a burden on the property of the citizens of the counties—on the farms, ranches, homes, and other property. But the chief traffic over the roads is State traffic, including the motor busses and heavy freight trucks.

In 140 counties the tax rate to take care of these bonds alone is more than 15 cents on the $100 valuation. In 84 counties the rate is more than 30 cents, or more than the State ad valorem tax for the general fund. In 16 counties it is 70 cents or more, which is a higher rate than the State rate for all purposes this year. In seven counties it is more than $1.00.

Aside from the fact that these rates are glaringly inequitable among the counties, property should not have to bear this burden at all. The traffic over the highways should bear it. And the Sterling plan proposes to transfer this burden from the farms, ranches, homes, and other property of the people to the traffic. By bonding the gasoline taxes adequate funds can be provided to carry forward an adequate construction program without further county aid, and to take over the obligation of retiring the county bonds and paying the interest on them instead of permitting this obligation to continue to rest on the property owners.

The Sterling plan contemplates that the people shall be given the opportunity to vote on this question. It does not involve any increase of the gasoline tax but it will reduce road taxes in practically every county in the State.

San Angelo Man Says His Troubles
Disappeared After Taking Four Bottles of Argotane

"I fell off in weight and could digest hardly a thing I ate before I started taking Argotane but now I can sit down and eat three meals a day and enjoy them and am gaining in strength every day I live," is the statement of G. H. Boyd, residing at 112 E. Avenue J, San Angelo.

"I was all run down in general and so restless that I couldn't get but a few hours' sleep at night without waking and being so restless and shaken up that I couldn't get to sleep again. I was awfully constipated and everything I took to relieve it just helped me for a little while and I was worse than ever after awhile. I didn't have any appetite at all and what I did eat I had to cram down and it just worried the life out of me because I didn't digest it properly. I read so much about this Argotane medicine in the papers and some of the people who told what it had done for them had cases just like mine so I thought it would benefit me and I gave it a trial.

"Well, sir, I feel a hundred percent better in every way since I finished that fourth bottle of Argotane. Why, I can just eat like a farm hand and I have already gained a lot in weight. I don't know how much but I can notice the gain because my clothes fit me different from what they did. I began to pick up in strength and to improve after the first few doses I took and now I can go to the table three times a day and enjoy the biggest meal put before me as well as any man. When I go to bed at night I can drop off right away and sleep like a healthy baby and when I get up in the morning I feel as full of life and energy as I ever did in my life. Argotane is the only thing that is responsible for the remarkable improvement in me and I gladly recommend it to anyone suffering from a general rundown condition like I was. I am sure glad I found it when I did." Genuine Argotane may be bought in Eldorado at the Hoover Drug Co.

"GINGERBREAD HOUSE" BUILT IN JERSEY TOWN

Fairy Lore in Life Size Figures in Curious Structure Designed by Great Artist

Fifty miles west of New York, in the little town of Hamburg, N. J., stands the most amazing and curious house in America.

Here, in colored cement, have been reproduced in "life" size or larger, figures and groups from the old German fairy tales, to make a veritable wonder house for children to visit.

The idea originated with a manufacturer of food products. He had bought an old stone mill in New Jersey, and was wondering what to do with a piece of land adjoining the mill. He wanted to build something decorative, but he didn't know what he wanted.

One evening in New York he attended the Metropolitan Opera House. The opera that night was "Hansel and Gretel" That is a great musical composition, in which the characters and old collection of fairy tales written by the Grimm Brothers two hundred years ago.

As produced at the Metropolitan, the scenes and costumes, designed by Joseph Urban, are in perfect accord with childhood's conception of orges and fairies, witches and giants. It occurred to the visitor that here was exactly what he wanted.

The principal scene of the opera takes place in the "Gingerbread House." The man from New Jersey approached the designer and asked him to build a Gingerbread House out at Hamburg using an old lime-kiln for the foundation and reconstructing his stage scenery in enduring stone and concrete. At the first the artist demurred, but finally he agreed to do it.

Urban went to work and for two years his limitless imagination and astounding creative genius have had full play in building a dream palace such a sthite wildest fancies of fairy-tale writers have never surpassed. It is made of poured stone, and is colored inside and out with all the radiance of the rainbow. Its permanent, and circles encrusting it in a myriad of beautiful tints. A life-size horse and rider, in full armor, gallop in the direction of the wind from its rooftop, and a giant black cat crouches on a candy stick shaft that rises besides the dome-like exterior of one of the mystic rooms that will make the trip of any child through the building an unforgettable experience.

It may be entered from an exterior stone staircase, balustraded by elephants that look like giant animal crackers,—or one may go in the weirdly decorated ground floor door whose latch is lifted by prissing down the stuck-out tongue of a grimacing iron cat. From this door steps go down through a strange passage-way. The circular staircase is mounted and Hansel and Gretel form its banisters, holding each other's hands and dressed in their quaint colored costumes.

There is a giant metal plum pudding in a room at the head of one flight of the stairs, its walls added with cork cookies. A witch rides a broomstick at the top of another flight, and a great wire spider web stretches across the turret high above. From it the strange, many-legged spider with glittering glass eyes runs down a wire strand and dangles thrillingly above the visitor who has been prepared for his descent.

With bated breath the little ones will gather around the caldron in which the Giant was brewing his dinner from the bones of his victims when Jack slew him. The fire is there and the flames colored walls are studded with bones. It is truly a place of wonderful scenes, a complete transportation into fairyland for the mothers and children to whom it is freely open every day.

The purpose of the Gingerbread House" is, frankly, to advertise the particular food products which its originator makes. But there is no suggestion of advertising about the building or its contents. It is something new in American art and architecture, and may prove to be the beginning of a new movement in this country.

One of the principal complaints which European visitors make about America is that our buildings are too colorless and too much alike. The main street of any American town looks just like the main street of almost every other American town.

They all try to look like big cities, more or less. Design and color are standardized and there is little life or variety in the scene.

Every building which departs from those standards if it cose so artistically and in harmony with its surroundings, helps to make America more picturesque. And that is what the Gingerbread House at Hamburg is doing.

George A. Caraway and family from Station A were shopping in the city Monday. George was so busy hunting cheap prices that he forgot what thing he did buy and left town with out them.

UNDER THE STERLING PLAN
TAXES WILL BE REDUGED
IN SCHLEICHER COUNTY

The taxpayers of Schleicher County, including the farmers, home-owners and business men are now assessed an average tax of approximately 15 cents on the $100.00 valuation to pay for the construction of State Highways, a tax that should be borne by the State.

UNDER THE STERLING TAX REDUCTION PLAN the State will assume this obligation and pay for it out of the gasoline tax.

The Sterling Tax Reduction Plan will place the burden of paying for the state roads your county has built on the traffic, where it belongs.

The Sterling Plan will provide the state with adequate funds to build a connected state system of hard surfaced, all-weather highways and for paving the gaps over the state without county aid and without increasing the gasoline tax one penny.

The Sterling Tax Reduction Plan provides that no property tax shall ever be levied to carry out its purposes.

"A BARGAIN IN EVERY PURCHASE"

NATIONAL CANNING
CONTEST STIRS INTEREST OF ELDORADO WOMEN

Six hundred dollars for a quart jar of canned food! Can one jar of food be worth that.

This is a question that is agitating Eldorado home-makers since word got around that six hundred dollars in cash would be paid for the best jar of fruit, vegetables or meat entered in the second National Canning Contest which is being held at Shenandoah, Iowa under the auspices of the Household Science Institute.

The contest seeks to further the work of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the home demonstration agents throughout the country by focusing the attention of American housewives on the economy and healthfulness of home canned foods.

First prize winner in the National Canning Contest last year was Mrs. Mary Hvas, Kanman, Wisconsin, farm woman, whose entry of a quart jar of green peas was chosen as the best entered by the girls and women from all sections of the United States.

The holding of the contest in Iowa this year is due to the influence of Henry Field, Shenandoah farmer, merchant and K. F. N. F. announcer whose career is one of the romances of American life. Imbued with the spirit of thrift he readily agreed to serve as president and to oversee the innumerable details connected with a project of such size and scope.

Offer $4,250 in Prizes

Four hundred and seventy prizes, totalling $4,250 in cash, loving cups and ribbons, will be distributed to the winners in the contest, which comprises three major divisions: fruits, vegetables and meats. The best entry in each division will be awarded $100. One of these will also receive the five-hundred dollar sweepstakes prize. Second prize in each division will be $50., the third prize $25, and the fourth prize $10. The winners will also receive a loving cup and ribbon. There will also be 30 prizes of five dollars each, 75 prizes of $2.50 each and 300 prizes of one dollar each. In addition, five hundred dollars in cash will be awarded to the home demonstration agent whose county sends in the largest number of entries, $250 to the agent whose county sends in the next largest number, and $100 to the agent of the county sending in the third largest number.

The contest is open to every woman and girl in the United States. There are no restrictions as to the nature of the food sent. Contestants may enter one, two or all three divisions. Entries should be sent in as soon as possible after canning. These will be placed and kept on exhibition at Shenandoah until after the closing of the contest, which will be on October 1.

Contest Closes October 1

Fruit and vegetable entries in the contest will be judged for clearness, color, pack, neatness, flavor and texture. The meat entries will be judged on neatness, texture and flavor. Judges each one a recognized food authority, will be Dr. Louise Stanley, director bureau of home economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture; Dr. Margaret Justin, president American Home Economics Association; George Farrell, director of extension for the north states for the Department of Agriculture; Mrs. Josephine Arquist Bakke, director of home economics for Iowa State Agricultural College; and Miss Elaine Massey, leader of girls club work for Mississippi.

Contestants are free to use any method of canning they prefer, according to Grace Viall Gray, nationally-known canning expert and secretary of the Contest. However, the use of a steam pressure cooker is recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, especially in the canning of meat, since this method not only saves time and fuel and assures absolute sterility, but also preserves the natural flavor and texture, which, of course, are important considerations in contest judging.

That the judging may be thoroughly impartial and the display of jars absolutely uniform, contestants are required to submit their entries in standard glass jars of the quart size. A sample Ball mason jar and carton together with prize entry labels for use in sending entries may be had without cost by writing the National Canning Contest, Shenandoah, Iowa.

While July 4 celebrations were clearing West Texas' activity calendar of a big slice of the sections entertainment program, renewed interest centered here on the approaching dates of the West Texas Exposition to be held at the San Angelo fair grounds Sept. 22 to 27.

Jess Elrod, chairman of the rodeo committee for the West Texas Exposition and superintendent of horse races, was among those busy with July 4 celebrations. Having attended rodeo and horse race events at Sonora Ozona Eldorado and Brady during the holiday season, Mr. Elrod mingled with owners of race horses at each of the events and returned to San Angelo with the announcement that a large number of horses will be used in the exposition races this fall than ever in the history of the San Angelo fair ground, the one place in Texas where horse racing has been held annually since inception of the original San Angelo fair.

Foremost rodeo talent of the county will participate in rodeo events at the West Texas Exposition here, Mr. Elrod also announced. Three performances, including two night performances and an afternoon show, will be rodeo's contribution to the entertainment of exposition visitors, Mr. Elrod said. The fairgrounds arena will be electrically lighted for the night shows, one of which will be a catfure of the Pioneers Jamboree, a feature of the exposition program designed to reunite pioneer families of all West Texas. John P. Lee and Jax Cowden are members of Mr. Elrod's rodeo committee, and are sparing no effort in mapping plans to make the performances click with the exposition audiences. A horse show in which every breed known to West Texas is expected to be entered, and which will include some of the polo ponies that are bred and grown in this section, will be held as a part of the exposition program. Other features will include an official rabbit and cavy show, a feeder lamb show in which the Feeder-Breeder Association of Texas will cooperate, a West Texas band contest, spectacular coronation of the Queen of West Texas who will be attended by duchesses from numerous West Texas towns a style show sponsored by merchants of San Angelo, two football games and other events that are designed to make the exposition this year a notable success.

Chicago, July 15.—It costs the farmer less to market his cattle, hogs and sheep today than it has at any other time during the past six years, according to the Western Railways' Committee on Public Relations, Chicago. This statement is based upon a study recently completed by the Bureau of Railway Economics, covering the six-year period from January 1, 1924, to December 31, 1929, of live stock shipments to ten important market centers as follows: Chicago, Ill.; East St. Louis, Ill.; Baltimore Md.; Ft. Worth Tex.; Jersey City, N. J.; Kansas City Mo.; Lancaster, Pa.; Nashville, Tenn.; South Omaha, Nebr.; and South St. Paul, Minn.

According to this study, out of every dollar spent by purchaser of live stock in 1924, 5.6 cents was paid for freight and 3 cents for all other costs of marketing, such as feeding and bedding, yarding, commissions etc. while the producer received 91.4 cents. In 1929 the freight cost out of each dollar paid for live stock was 3.7 cents, and for other costs of marketing has therefore declined 2.9 cents on each dollar paid for live stock during the six-year period covered by the study.

The study also shows that, on a 100-pound basis, the average price paid by the purchaser for cattle, hogs and sheep, combined, increased from $7.36 in 1924 to $11.24 in 1929, an increase of 63 per cent while marketing costs were 63 cents per hundred in each year. It is seen, therefore, that the increase of $3.88 per hundred pounds went entirely to the producer or the shipper at the shipping point.

Included in this study were 27,152 carloads of live stock, which contained 1,870,059 head for which the purchaser paid $52,096,264. Out of this sum the shipper received $48,644,592 or 98.4 per cent, as net proceeds at shipping points. Freight charges absorbed $2,235,195, while the other costs of marketing absorbed $1,218,477.

The 27,152 cars of stock included in this study originated at 4,904 points, scattered throughout almost the entire country, but seven states, those in New England and Florida alone, not being represented. Chicago for example, received cattle and calves from 24 states, hogs from 15 and sheep from 25. Included in this study were shipments from Texas to Jersey City, from Iowa to Baltimore, from California to Chicago, and from Kansas and Oklahoma to Lancaster, Pa. It is evident therefore, that the cost of freight and other distribution expenses does not restrict the movement of live stock, or limit the American producer to any one particular market.

At this writing I do not believe I could make an intelligent guess as to who would carry Schleich county as each man will have some following here.

Now since the San Saba News has come out boldly for Earl B. Mayfield for Governor, no doubt that gentleman will be in the run off. We do not know what Earl said in his speech at San Saba but we will bet he stood for those San Saba Pecan pies.

We note that Tom Love, candidate for governor, spoke at Rocksprings before the Texas Angora Goat Raisers Association, and places himself against the State Road Bond Issue, this was Tom's only failing and we are glad to see on the right side of this issue. politics, an dthe Governor race only. Not one person out of ten can title who is running for Lieutenant Governor.

Our friend Tom Love had an awful good chance to be governor but he lost it on the good road bond issue a long with Ross Sterling. $350,000.00 is too much road money for Texas politicians to have at one time.

Well, there is our friend Mayfield he stands right on everything, is qualified for a governor and his chances are growing as the days slip by.

CAN'T AFFORD SLIP ON CONGRESSMAN

At a time like this, when great national and international problems are crowding themselves before the legislative branches of our national government, voters of the dominant Democratic party in Texas' 16th congressional district can't afford to make a slip in selecting the man who is to succeed Rep. Claude Hudspeth.

On the heels of probably the greatest financial crash this country has ever seen, America now is faced with the most serious problem of unemployment in its history; we need a man of sound judgment, of seasoned experience and human sympathies to help solve that problem. Cotton gamblers and vested interests of the eastern money centers too long have fattened at the expense of the farm and ranch operators of this western country; we need a man who will know how to deal with them. There are the problems of international peace and proper limitation of immigration to solve; there is the great national problem of civil liberties—of the gradual encroachment of property rights over human rights—demanding prompt attention; the growing power of the power trust must be challenged; our system of freight rates must be readjusted—particularly the unfair discriminations that exist against this southwestern country—but with such wisdom that an industry whose existence is challenged now by motor transport systems and air routes will not be resultingly crippled. And this newly developing southwestern corner of Texas with its oil and irrigation and long stretches of irregular river boundary to puzzle over, needs frequent consideration at the hands of the federal government. For all of these, we need a man of mature judgement to get sufficient force of character to aid results.

M. L. Burkhead, an El Paso auto salesman who plunged into the race on what he thought was a wet wave of prohibition polling, may be dismissed with a sentence: He is an opportunist, with a lone idea and without ability, an deed not be seriously considered.

Pat Murphy of San Angelo is a more serious contender for the Democratic nomination. But his most direct training for the office is that he served as county attorney of Tom Green county and studied law in Washington. For the past eight years, he has been out of the state and hasn't even voted in the district. He could not well be ably representative of the people whose vote he is seeking.

The one man in the race who stands out as statesmanlike timber is R. E. Thomason, El Paso's present mayor. Mayor Thomason, 14 years ago was given on his first opportunity at legislative experience when the voters of El Paso county sent him to the Texas legislature. His qualities of leadership there were so pronounced that he was elected speaker. Then, with the solid backing of house members, he became a candidate for governor and was barely nosed out of the runoff primary. Three years ago, he was drafted as a candidate for mayor and, elected by the biggest majority El Paso voters have ever given their chief executive, his first administration was so successful that he was reelected without opposition. In experience, in personality, in soundness of judgement, in human sympathies he is equipped to make a congressman of whom any district could be proud. Democrats of the 16th Texas district ought to nominate him in the first primary by an overwhelming majority. —El Paso Evening Post.

STATE TAX MEN AND BANKERS IN ACCORD

Months of Negotiation Lead to Agreement on Changes Broadening Method of State or Local Taxation of National Banks.

NEW YORK.—Months of conference and negotiation between an American Bankers Association special committee and the Committee of the Association of States on Bank Taxation have resulted in an agreement on a form of amendment to the Federal statute dealing with state or local taxation of national banks that "maintains the integrity of the protective principles of the section and is satisfactory to the commissioners' committee," says the American Bankers Association Journal.

Thomas B. Paton, the organization's General Counsel, in making the announcement says that previously proposed amendments to the statute, which is known as Section 5219, have been opposed when it was felt their terms would enable any state to place banks in a tax class by themselves.

"The law as it stands today," Mr. Paton says, "permits state or local taxation of national banks or their shareholders in one or the other of the four following forms: the shareholders upon their shares—a property tax; the shareholders upon their dividends—a personal income tax; the bank upon its net income; the bank according to or measured by its net income. Only one form of tax can be imposed, except that the dividend tax may be combined with the third or fourth form if other corporations and shareholders are likewise taxed.

"The conditions permitted are: the tax on shares must be at no greater rate than on other competing moneyed capital; the income tax on shareholders must be at no greater rate than on net income from other moneyed capital; the tax on bank net income must be at no higher rate than on other financial corporations nor the highest rates on mercantile and manufacturing corporations doing business within the state; the tax measured by net bank income is subject to the same limitations as the tax on net income of the bank but may include entire net income from all sources."

States Seek Broader Law
National banks and their shareholders are taxed in different states under a diversity of systems, he says. "The U. S. Supreme Court has held that the low millage rate on intangible personal property is in violation of the present law where it results in national bank shares being taxed at a rate greater than that assessed upon competing moneyed capital. A number of states, unwilling to use the income methods permitted, had the alternative of either repealing the intangible tax laws or limiting the taxation of national bank shares at the intangible rate. Therefore they sought a broadening of the permissive provisions.

Also, Mr. Paton points out, a Supreme Court decision held a state's excise tax on corporations invalid where it included income from Federal and local government bonds in the excise measure. This created doubt as to some state bank excise taxes.

"Conferences have been held to reach some agreement which would protect the banks, satisfy the tax commissioners and avoid a contest in Congress," Mr. Paton says. "From the standpoint of the tax authorities, the main objectives have been an amendment which would permit certain states to retain their low rate tax upon intangibles and at the same time derive an adequate, but not excessive, revenue from national bank shares, and an amendment which would permit certain states to tax corporations on their net income, excluding income from tax-exempts, and at the same time derive the same revenue from the banks as heretofore. From the standpoint of the banks, it has been deemed imperative to maintain the protective principles of Section 5219.

The Changes Agreed On
"In the proposed amendment the existing provision permitting taxation of bank shares no higher than the rate upon competing moneyed capital has been modified with respect to certain intangible tax states only by a provision under which, instead of the moneyed capital limitation, the rate shall not be greater than the rate upon the shares of other financial corporations, nor upon the net assets of individuals, partnerships or associations employed in the banking, loan or investment business, nor higher than the rate assessed upon mercantile, manufacturing and business corporations with head office in the state.

"Also an added fifth alternative permissive method, designated as a specific tax, permits a state, in place of an ad valorem tax on bank shares, to add together total dividends paid the preceding year and the increase in capital, surplus and undivided profits, less additions to capital or surplus paid in by stockholders, and to divide this total by the number of shares. The state may tax the shares based upon this amount, but not to exceed the rate on other corporations in proportion to their net profits.

"This method is designed for states which have heretofore taxed national banks upon their entire net income from all sources at a proportionate rate to that assessed upon business corporations. The amount which is the basis of the tax is the equivalent of the entire net income from all sources, but being assessed against the shareholder upon his property in the shares and not a tax upon the bank, it is not open to the objection as an indirect tax on exempt income."
