THE DEPRESSION IS OVER

Tuesday noon the postmaster handed us a large package from the Brown Cracker Co. and as we waged it to the office wondering what the contents were and where they were from and after being opened we found that Mr. Milton, traveling salesman from the Brown Cracker Co., who lives over in San Angelo had remembered the hungry looking Editor of The Success and sent him a nice lot of Brown's Crackers and Cakes which are the best on earth, that's a broad statement, but we learned it from Mr. Milton and Eugene Cochran from Martin Glover Co. Anyway we are full of Brown's Cakes and can swear with our hand on the Dictionary that the Salesman and cakes are both genuine, and that the Editor and tribe are all too full for utterance.

Two Million Pounds Wool Sold In Day

Wool Growers Central Storage Disposes Of Big Accumulation

MUCH EIGHT-MONTHS

Shearing Being Completed In This Part Of West Texas Now

The Wool Growers Central Storage Company sold yesterday 2,000,000 pounds of wool, the biggest day of wool sales recorded in Texas this year. A tonnage of 1,400,000 pounds of eight months' wool brought a record 13 1/2 cents a pound while the 600,000 pounds of twelve months' wool ranged all the way from 10 1/2 to 19 cents a pound. The buyers of the eight months' wool were Studley and Emery and Winslow and Company, each of which took half of the accumulation. A sealed bid sale brought one bid from the San Angelo wool pool, the personnel of which was not announced. The eight months' wool sale was by private treaty afterwards. The Wool Growers sold yesterday about 600,000 pounds of 12 months' wool at prices ranging from 10 1/2 to 19 cents a pound. The buyers were Thomas Wolstenholme Sons and Co., Inc.; Fansworth and Stevenson, Wright Brothers, Studley and Emery, Brown and Howe, Kallowell, Jones and Donald and William Campbell.

Thomas Wolstenholme Sons and Sons, Inc. have bought thus far about 1,500,000 pounds of wool.

Shearing is being completed in West Texas but the three million pounds in the Panhandle is being sheared now. The National Wool Marketing Corporation has shipped from Texas thus far, 10,000,000 pounds of 12 months' wool and 5,000,000 pounds of 8 months' wool and expects to ship an additional 3,000,000 pounds, it was said last night. Officials said the tonnage of the cooperative in wool this year would exceed last year's by 16 to 20 per cent. They expect to ship an additional 3,000,000 pounds out of the state.—San Angelo Standard.

W. R. Nicks No. 1 Has Increased Gas & Oil

Wesner Etal W. R. Nicks No. 1 Oil well just out side city limits is showing increased oil and gas since water is being shut off. The well was swabbed Tuesday down to within 250 feet of bottom, and was allowed to stand two hours, when the fluid rose only about half as fast as previously and showed an increase of oil. The fluid was about one-third oil, the well will be swabbed again Friday and will probably be swabbed to the bottom if packing is holding and water is being shut off. Wheat has been put around the packer and has evidently cut off part of the water. No work has been done at the well since Tuesday.

A deal is on for sale of three-fourth to 19 cents a pound. The buyers of the eight months' wool were Studley and Emery and Winslow and Company, each of which took half of the accumulation. A sealed bid sale brought one bid from the San Angelo wool pool, the personnel of which was not announced. The eight months' wool sale was by private treaty afterwards.

The Nicks well is the best promise yet in this county for production, and as we see it the promise strengthens as the work develops, slow of course, but all predict that if this showing does not make a commercial well that the next one about 800 feet deeper is sure to be. Leases have been renewed and several acres have been sold on the strength of the showing.

Other test Joe Tisdale No. 1 eight miles northeast of Eldorado is cement ing pipe, which collapsed several weeks ago. No drilling has been done, engine has been broke down, but this test will probably get back to drilling next week.

W. H. Williams No. 1 13 miles northwest of Eldorado is shut down at 5,950 feet, awaiting 8 1/4 inch casing they too have had trouble and made very little progress.

Bridge Costs Near $100,000

County Has Estimates On Pecan and South Concho Crossings

Tentative estimates on two bridges on highway 30 in Tom Green county, the first across Pecan creek 10 miles from San Angelo and the second crossing the South Concho at Christoval were announced here today by the county commissioner court.

Earl Beavers, county engineer and resident engineer for the state highway department, has notified the court that the Pecan crossing bridge would cost perhaps between $25,000 and $30,000 and the Christoval structure would cost between $65,000 and $70,000.

The estimates have been furnished both the local commissioners court and the state highway commission on request.—Standard.

THE SUCCESS

JUNE, 19, 1931.

The Wesner No. 1 W. R. Nicks, well was swabbed early Tuesday morning and between 160 and 200 feet of oil in 8-1/4 inch casing was brought out before any water was swabbed and then it was mixed for the next two trips. The packer so far Tuesday had failed to cut off water but efforts are still being made to shut it off, will probably spend most of this week in shutting off the water.

And now comes the news from Chicago, that "Scarface Al" pleads guilty of three indictments and asks the court for mercy, he is subject to a 32 year penitentiary sentence and heavy financial fines.

Capone with his million has at last found he is not bigger than the law, his sentence will be pronounced June 30, by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

We expect to attend that 4th of July celebration at Brady, Harry Schwenker says former governor Jim Ferguson will be there and speak. Of course Harry and Albert think that Jim can stop flood waters from washing Brady off. But we think they will have to move up on the hill. If those two solicit Jim to run, his hat will go in the ring, and if his hat gets in the ring, "Uncle Dink" will see that we get back in the Democratic party if we support Jim. Now you McCulloch county folks that have moved here remember that we are just attempting to advertise the Brady jubilee July 2, 3 and 4. The Heart O' Texas News are probably for Jim too but not being acquainted with them, we hate to accuse them of it.

Frank Meador, made The Success office an appreciated visit Wednesday moving up his subscription a couple of years.

Mrs. W. R. Lewis was shopping in Eldorado Tuesday.

"THIS AND THAT"

By Jimmy

Hunting lion heads in Africa is the pastime of natives and thousands of tourists from all parts of the world, we are told. And from all accounts of this popular diversion, it is a thrilling sport.

But in America it's the other way around—hunting headlines is our way of "having a good time," and getting thrills.

And so it is with this columnist, who seeks the quietness of a Coxwell chair and a newspaper for his daily "trapeze" work. And we get our thrills too, all the sport writers to the contrary notwithstanding.

A few days ago we loosened our collar and sat down with our favorite newspaper for a thrilling hour or so. Approaching each column cautiously, we were finally struck by a headline that bore all the earmarks of being a "thriller." It read, "Attack Group Guns to Blaze." Now, there was a headline that was a headline. Think of what the story might contain: it was probably going to be an account telling of where the hijackers were going to strike next. Advance dope, as it were.

You can imagine our chagrin when we read the article and found that it was only a group of army aviators preparing for their annual bombing practice.

Look at it this way. Here's a country in which shooting has become so common that a man can hardly get a poll tax receipt unless he's been shot at least once. An dthen a bunch of soldiers go out and bomb a few "dead" targets. It used to be that a man joined the army expecting to be shot sooner or later; now he joins to keep from being shot.

But getting back to that headline. Any newspaper that uses such headlines as the one quoted and gives no more "news" in the article than that story carried ought to be sued for conspiracy to defraud the subscribers. Papers used to be judged by their editorials; now they are judged by the number of killings and shooting they can carry on the front page. Any paper that can't afford at least three murders on the front page should be classed as something else—a daily literary review, if you please.

COOLIDGE HEAPS WARM PRAISE UPON HARDING AND HOOVER AT CEREMONIES FOR MEMORIAL DEDICATION

MARION, Ohio, June 16.—Former President Calvin Coolidge, accepting the Harding monument on behalf of the Harding Memorial Association characterized the late president as "one preeminently fitted to serve the country in the disturbed and distraught period following the war."

After reviewing President Harding's accomplishments and paying tribute to "that charming cordiality that could not be described but was always felt by all who came in contact with him," Mr. Coolidge introduced President Hoover and Governor White.

"It has often been remarked that when a particular crisis in human affairs has required a certain type of ability to meet it the right man appears," said Mr. Coolidge. "President Harding had experience and ability, courage and patience, combined with a generous toleration and cheerful optimism that inspired confidence. He understood the people, and the people understood him. In composing a situation, in pacifying men

"In it are involved the care, the whole nation and our relations with all other people. The man who occupies that place is always entitled to the sympathy and support of all good citizens in the discharge of his duties. With that attitude the country will ever be prepared to meet every peril and rise above every disaster.

"In these days we are fortunate to have at the head of the nation a man of patience, courage and ability. His loyal and devoted cooperation contributed much to the successful policies of President Harding. The experienced judgement and decisive action with which he has guided the country during his own term have been of inestimable value to all the people. They have known that whatever could be done for their benefit and relief President Hoover would do.

"In spite of all the heavy burdens that he must bear he has come here in the name of the nation to dedicate this memorial to a departed president. I have the privilege to announce the president of the United States."

Accepting the Harding memorial tomb on behalf of the state of Ohio, Governor George White paid tribute to Warren G. Harding as a man of human kindness and friendliness, steadfast of purpose, honest, clear of thought and expression and of sterling personal integrity.

"The life and career of Warren G. Harding stand out as a beacon light, not only in the annals of America but in the history of the world," the governor said. "Nowhere save in a democracy such as ours could such achievement be possible."

The governor recalled Harding as a boy, "barefoot, in poverty-stricken circumstances, roaming the hills of Morrow county"—and then the man who rose in public life from a state legislator to the presidency. "His career stands out as a lesson to the youth of all America that opportunity still beckon," he said.

John Roach and wife of Abilene are in Eldorado this week guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Roach and family.

Joe Williams returned Wednesday from Houston with Marjorie and the baby.

CUSTOMERS PROFIT FROM PROGRESSIVE MANAGEMENT

"If every industry had been able to do what the electric industry has accomplished during the last ten years, it is reasonable to suppose that business would not be in its present state of inactivity," says the Hartford Courant. "The policy of this industry has been to reduce its costs in every way possible and to make electric current not only cheaper, but more available to the public. The result has been the country over, an increase of 30 per cent in the amount of electricity used by the average household, with that item figuring only one per cent of the total family budget.

"Although the cost of living is about 57 per cent above what it was in 1913, domestic electric services is 69 per cent below its average price in that year. The average revenue to the companies on a kilowatt-hour basis is the lowest in history.

"In 1920 the average customer consumed less than 250 kilowatt-hours a year. Today he consumes more than 600. Within this decade rate structures have been revamped to enable the consumer to use all manner of household appliances at a decreased cost. The completely electrified home has now been brought within the means of a numerous class, while the small consumer is constantly encouraged by lower rates to extend his use of electricity. We have, therefore, in the electric industry throughout the United States, a conspicuous example of profits through lower costs and extension of service, in all of which scientific research has played a notable part."

Mrs. Joe Edens was in the city Tuesday shopping and visiting.

Prof. R. D. Holt, says that the Eldorado School Board had about 500 applications for two vacancies in the school, and they are filled now. The seems to be quite a surplus of teachers now.

A. J. Burk and son left Thursday morning for Ralls, Texas where they will haul wheat and grain for about 30 days. Mr. Burk had The Success sent to him so he could keep up with the happenings of his home town.

A young salesman was seen to turn away from a prospective buyer of an electric washing machine, a disgusted look on his face. The "boss" immediately wanted to know why.

"She doesn't want an electric washing machine," the young man replied. "I explained in detail just how to operate it, turned on the current, and showed her how it works, and she finally pointed to the hole in the bottom and asked: 'What is that for?'"

"To let the water out," I said. "Oh, then, it doesn't wash by electricity, does it? You have to use water?"

BULLETIN ON HAIL

BEATEN COTTON

STEPHENVILLE, June 16.—A bulletin published by the school of agriculture in John Tarleton College last week gives first hand information about how to best take care of hail beaten crops.

According to the bulletin, hail beaten cotton or other plants will give immediate response to a side dressing of about 100 pounds of Nitrate of Soda applied as soon as the fields are dry enough to permit driving on.

The mixture, the bulletin said, may be distributed with a fertilizer horn or sowed by hand, in either instance, covered with a cultivator, and the results will be immediate.

It has been found in treating fields here that when the plants are unusually weak, 10 to 20 pounds of Potash added to the mixture gives excellent results in producing strength in the bruised plant.

Any plant in any sort of soil will respond to the treatment, the bulletin said, and will advance badly beaten crops at least two weeks.

IN CONTEST FOR POET

LAUREATE OF TEXAS

STEPHENVILLE, June 16.—Professor J. O. Garrett, head of the modern language department at John Tarleton College and a world traveler has entered the contest for Poet Laureate of Texas.

Garrett has been writing poetry, since he was 17 and has had four volumes of his work accepted for publication by a well known Boston publisher. He is a man of about forty, a native Texan. He was educated in Texas schools, working his way through several private schools and small colleges and finally taking both his B. A. and M. A. degree from Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

The poet laureate will be selected by five judges on Texas Legislature Day at the State Fair in Dallas in October.

WESTERN ENGINEERS

DEVELOP LOW-COST ROADS

The progress which western engineers have made and are making in improving their secondary or farm-to-market roads with limited funds available, should be of interest to taxpayers in all sections of the country.

Low-cost, bituminous treatments of soil, gravel and broken stone roads constitute in a large measure the methods adopted by the western states to secure mudless and dustless farm-to-market roads built and maintained at reasonable cost.

Good farm roads are closely identified with the national oil program that will assure a continuous supply of an indispensable road building material.

WESTERN MINES CARRY ON

Courageous words were those of President Daniel C. Jackling, that the Utah Copper would never be closed barring only a calamity.

The western mining industry is making a determined effort to work out its problems and keep up employment to the best of its ability.

If legislators and tax assessors would do as much to lighten the tax load of this industry, laborers and investors would be benefited and encouraged to the great advantage of the nation.

MAKE WATERWAYS

SELF-SUPPORTING

There has been a tendency to treat waterways as "fashionable, official, and sacred without investigation," said Samuel B. Botsford of the Buffalo, New York, Chamber of Commerce. The earning or service record of the inland waterways in general would make a poor showing compared to capital invested and cost of operation.

Every waterway should be regarded purely as a transportation agency. Its cost and probable service should be investigated by experts, not by politicians seeking to please their constituents. Survey after survey, by unprejudiced authorities, has demonstrated that, in the vast number of instances, rail transportation. There are undoubtedly waterways whose development is economically wise—but that is no excuse for spending public money on any and all such projects to furnish a special service to a limited number of people to the destruction of our railroad systems upon which the whole nation must rely as its primary means of transportation.

Mrs. J. H. Dismukes, daughters Pauline and Dixie, and son James Henry, of Uvalde, visited Mrs. A. T. Wright and family this week.

LINDBERGH GETS

TWO RADIO SETS AND LIFEBOAT FOR ORIENT FLIGHT

NEW YORK, June 14.—Two radio sets, a lifeboat and plenty of food and water are part of an emergency kit the Lindberghs have had installed in the plane they will fly to the Orient this summer.

Colonel Lindbergh has disclosed the staff of Dr. F. E. Giesecke, college preparations for the safety of his wife and himself in case of a crash at sea. The boat, food and wireless outfits will be stored in a tail compartment of the machine. They will bob out automatically if the heavy plane submerges.

The lifeboat is a collapsible contraption, to be inflated from a bottle of compressed air. It is just a bundle now, but when blown up will hold them safely excepting in turbulent seas, and it has a mast and sail. The radio that goes with it has a day radius of 500 miles and a night reach of up to 3,000. The flyer and his pilotwife have been studying the continental code and will be able to operate the radio easily. They also have a larger set in the plane, with a range of from 3,000 to 7,000 miles.

The emergency set is virtually unbreakable and can be immersed. It was tested by a fall from the top of a hangar and was submerged in water for twenty-four hours. It was used afterward when still wet and worked perfectly.—Dallas News.

FIGHTING THE INDUSTRIAL

ACCIDENT HAZARD

Industrial accidents cost the nation the gigantic sum of $5,000,000,000 a year—more than 11 per cent of total earnings of 29,000,000 industrial workers, according to H. W. Heinrich of the Travelers Insurance Company. He estimates that compensation paid to injured workers, including medical aid, hospital expense, etc., brings the total direct cost of the average injury to $246, while the hidden cost, due to delayed operations, loss of time and the like, is four times as great as the direct cost. This is a tremendous financial burden to both workers and industries.

Yet great progress has been made in recent years in safeguarding machinery and instilling the doctrine of "safety first" in both employers and

TO SPEND $2,000,000

FOR A. AND M. BUILDING

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, June 14.—Building plans at Texas A. and M. College, recently authorized by the board of directors, call for erection of chemistry building at a cost of $350,000 and an agricultural engineering building at a cost of $200,000. The staff of Dr. F. E. Giesecke, college architect, is now drawing up plans which construction is to be started as soon as possible.

Expense of the buildings will be met from A. and M.'s share of the oil lands. The directors, in keeping with authority granted by the Forty-second Legislature, authorized the college to borrow $2,000,000 for building purposes from the university's permanent fund, this to be repaid out of A. and M.'s share of the oil land income. The board further authorized setting aside at once funds for the construction of the two buildings cited. The remainder of the sum will be drawn later as building plans are worked out.

TEXAS TECHNOLOGICAL COLLEGE

GRANTED 163 DEGREES

LUBBOCK, Texas, June 15. Texas Technological College granted degrees to one hundred and sixty-three candidates during the spring commencement exercises. Eighty-eight others will graduate in August. Speakers were Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, St. Louis, Mo., and Dr. T. O. Walton, president of Texas A. and M. College.

It is said that extensive data on accidents is the principal need of the accident prevention program. The state of Mississippi is now conducting a campaign to combat industrial accidents and sickness that might be emulated by other states. Under this plan factories are asked to fill out cards giving monthly details of mishaps. This will provide the groundwork for necessary safety measures.

Only unceasing vigilance on the part of the workers themselves, and a progressive attitude on the part of employers, can conquer the industrial accident menace.

AN OUTGROWN CONSTITUTION

Oklahoma adopted its Constitution in 1907 under the benign guidance of Alfalfa Bill Murray. Governor Murray now considers it "outgrown," according to a story in the New York Times, and proposes to have it revised.

The Governor knowing that Oklahoma, like Texas, is afraid of a conviction, took the bull by the horns and appointed a committee of twenty-one lawyers and jurists, to go over the Constitution, article by article, section by section, and to report amendments. These, if approved by the Governor, are to be initiated by petition and voted on at a special election some time this fall.

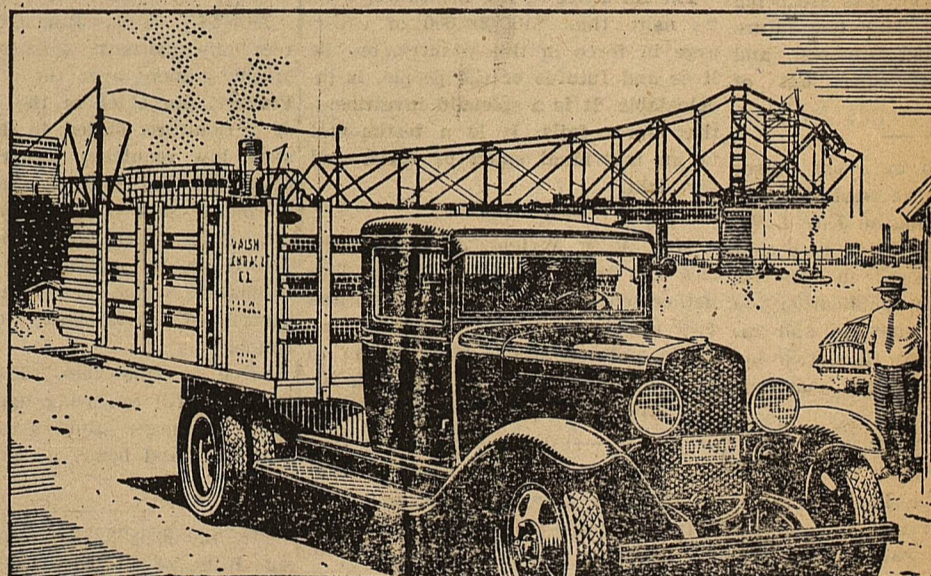

The Constitution of Texas is not merely outgrown; it is antiquated and will soon be ready for the museum. Whether Governor Murray's hand-picked committee in Oklahoma will succeed in making improvements in that State's Constitution remains to be seen. Apparently he determines finally whether or not the recommendations or any particular recommendation will be submitted to referendum.

The plan may work in Oklahoma, but it is not democratic procedure. A small convention, elected by the voters and submitting its recommendations directly to the voters, without dictation from Governor or Legislature, is by far the best method of revising a Constitution. One wonders what sort of document will come forth as the result of the labor of Governor Murray and a body of lawyers. Perhaps anything would be better than the lengthy Constitution now in force in that State; it is so detailed that it became outgrown within its first few years of existence. The experiment of amending a Constitution through a Governor's committee is worth watching.—Dallas News.

PETITION ACCEPTED

LUBBOCK, Texas, June 15.—Sigma Gamma Epsilon, national honorary geological fraternity, has accepted the petition of the Geological society of Texas Technological College. Eighteen members of the Tech group were initiated as a charter members of the college's chapter of the fraternity.

Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks
cost less to operate

It is a matter of record, among more and more large fleet operators, that Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks give a lower transportation cost than any other truck of equal capacity in the market.

These firms are finding, through experience, that Chevrolet sedan deliveries are capable of 20 miles or better, to the gallon of gasoline; that Chevrolet 1½-ton trucks are making fuel records which are relatively just as high. That it costs very little to keep Chevrolet trucks in first-class working order. That Chevrolet service charges on both parts and labor are exceptionally low. That the active life of Chevrolet trucks extends well past the 50,000 mileage mark.

To place your hauling on a minimum-cost basis—and keep it there—put Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks to work. A wide variety of Chevrolet-built bodies is now available. And delivered prices of Chevrolet trucks, complete and ready for work, are based on low chassis-cost and low body-cost, plus only reasonable charges for handling and financing.

We had a real cool spring but if we guess right we will have a real hot summer.

The Mercury stood around 100 two days last week which is hot weather for Eldorado.

We have wonderful nights for sleep if we are having a few hot days. And a man does not need to sleep in day time.

Don't cuss Governor Sterling and President Hoover, they are just holding down the job we have intrusted to them, and are servants for the people and have no power to adjust the economic situation. The people themselves must adjust them, so begin at home and let your example reach out into every neighbors home and the thing will begin to get better, save something and stop spending more than you make, owe no man anything, and you will be a king on a throne.

Some people seem to think that State and Government officials can legislate and make for our State and Nation better times. But the people themselves must bring this about. As long as we spend more than we make we will continue to have depressed times, what the people want to do is to begin saving and stop spending, that is stop spending more than we make. Long terms with easy payments keeps all the surplus in Wall Street and a mortgage on every thing we have.

"BIGGER AND BETTER VEGETABLES" SLOGAN OF TEXAS GARDENERS

AUSTIN, Tex., June 16.—Texas gardeners are going in for bigger and better fruits and vegetables.

At least that's the opinion of W. A. Canon marketing chief in the department of agriculture. Not only is the demand for inspectors in the usual truck garden areas heavier than ever before, but sections outside the regular commercial areas apparently are seeking to bring their vegetables and fruits up to standards set by the state and federal departments of agriculture, Canon said.

Scores of requests have been received for the state department's bulletin outlining government standards, which have been adopted officially by the state. In one day recently, requests were received for 350 copies.

These bulletins are being used principally by home demonstration agents, working out of A. and M. College, who seek to teach farmers and club members to concentrate on quality as well as quantity in their gardens, large or small.

When the production of any section justifies inspection service and requests are made for this service, an accredited inspector is sent to the point to certify to the standard of vegetables being shipped to market. But even in those communities where truck gardening is not considered of major importance the individual farmer or may, by adhering to government standards, build up his reputation for quality production locally, thus creating a steady demand for his produce, Canon pointed out.

FOR ALL THE PEOPLE

Persons of limited means are the greatest beneficiaries of life insurance. A survey has produced the fact that more than 60 per cent of outstanding life insurance is upon the lives of persons earning less than $5,000 a year. Life insurance is not a rich man's luxury.

An important change has taken place within the industry within the last generation. Then, insurance was offered only to those in good physical condition—the less fortunate were refused policies. But now, for a slight extra cost, those ailing in body can obtain protection for their dependents. Excepting those who are suffering from the most serious diseases and maladies, insurance goes to all who want it.

The influence of life insurance, with its more than $100,000,000 of coverage in force in this country, on the lives and futures of the people, is incalculable. It is a splendid investment that never fails. It is a testimonial to an individual spirit of thrift and foresight.

Mrs. A. T. Wright, daughter Beatrice and little grandson Bobby, together with Mrs. J. H. Dismukes and two daughters Misses Pauline and Dixie and son James Henry, went to Maryneal Tuesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Grimes and family.

New fields and look for new opportunities as the same opportunities do not travel the same paths over and regard less how we would like to travel or live over our lives again. We cannot have the pleasure, but continue to take our chances and battle with life as best we can, and regardless of our early Sunday School days on our bob-tail burro. We can't travel that slow any more.

TIME FOR EFFICIENCY IN GOVERNMENT

When a private business has a deficit, it begins to cast around for ways and means to increase its earning power or decrease its overhead.

Now that our Federal government is facing a gigantic deficit, many of our lawmakers are chiefly concerned with how to "increase" taxes.

Tax gatherers overlook the simple fact that in times of distress, the more taxes that are taken from the people, the less money there is for productive enterprise. And it is from productive enterprise that all taxes and employment must eventually come. Industries and individuals have been readjusting themselves to present conditions. Let tax-levying bodies follow the same course or admit to the people that they are incompetent to adjust government expenditures to government income.

TARRY NOT BY THE WAY

It does not need the unfortunate incident by the roadside in Oklahoma to convince us that American highways are not safe. A Dallas woman was stopped the other day by the call of a small child, only to be robbed by the child's elders who used it as a decoy. It has come to the point where a traveler is not safe in inviting any person encountered on the road to ride with him. It is not safe to stop and parley with such characters.

It is a reflection upon American life and habits that this should be so. We have got back to the civilization of the Jerico road. Nay, the business of being a good Samaritan is itself a matter of danger. Because of the possibility of robbery or of worse we are forced to drive by many cases of actual distress and need.

The first thought that comes to mind is that we need a larger group of highway patrolmen. But the Mexican schoolboys who were slain in Oklahoma lost their lives to bullets from a police weapon. We need a discipline over our roads which will extend to the instruments of discipline themselves. The men of the law must have training such as our average policemen and deputy sheriffs are not expected to have. Judgement as well as force are required to keep order where the wheels of traffic run.—Dallas News.

GIN BONDS STILL REQUIRED BY LAW

AUSTIN, Tex., June 16.—To correct an apparent misunderstanding among ginners over the state, R. H. Fincher, gin chief in the department of agriculture, stated today the old state law requiring ginners to make bond was still in force and effect. Fincher said the misunderstanding apparently arose when the governor vetoed the bill passed by the 42nd legislature which would have relieved ginners of the necessity of making bonds.

"Due to this veto," Fincher said, "we are still operating under the old law." He urged ginners to make applications and bonds as early as possible.

TEXANS, LET'S SAVE TEXAS!

From the Mexia Daily News

—AN EDITORIAL—

A great general stood contemplating a victorious march of his armies. All about him were bleeding and dying men, the flower of youth of his land strewn over the battlefield. The cries of dying men echoed the noise of cannon and rifle.

The general stood in silence. He was deeply moved.

"You have led us to a great victory," one of his lieutenants comforted him.

"Victory, Victory!" the general cried, his voice shaken with emotion. "Another victory like it and we are wiped out!"

He had won a costly victory. Anti-prorationists of East Texas have won a victory. What a glorious victory. Bankruptcy, unemployment, bread lines, abandoned oil fields, havoc and disaster—glorious victory.

While injunctions tie the hands of the law and the greed and ignorance of some East Texas operators flood the market with low-priced oil, defying proration and orderly marketing rules, let us look at the picture in other fields.

Hundreds of oil wells are being abandoned in established fields. Oil workers are being added to the unemployment lists by the hundreds. Leases which formerly employed 100 men now operate with 10 and still their owners lose money. Oil companies, large and small, are threatened with bankruptcy, and oil stocks are being lowered to unbelievable prices. Royalty owners, thousands of them, are finding their monthly checks smaller and smaller and finally fail to arrive.

Counties that have voted bonds to keep up with a prosperity and progress the people believed was reasonably certain, find their oil valuations tumbled to almost nothing. The bonds and the improvements are still here, but the valuation is not. There is but one alternative—raising the rate that the farmer and home owner must pay. Even with that raise, county forces are being cut to a minimum, adding thousands of others to the unemployed group. Public bond holders are not certain of their interest. Drastic readjustments are being made.

Calamity has come to the once proud towns of Texas, through a condition that could have been prevented and can yet be alleviated to a certain extent.

What a victory for East Texas anti-prorationists!

Now let us look at the East Texas oil field. A drilling campaign in the largest oil pool in the world. Oil workers making the smallest pay in mand action of your governmental representatives.

Anti-prorationists, surely you have had enough. Surely complete devastation of an industry, rape of our national resources, bankruptcy for business, and starvation for women and children should be enough. Will you awaken before it is too late?

We do not raise our voice for the salvation of the "big" companies. It is for the oil worker with a family that needs his income, the farmer with a small royalty check needed to fight off the wolf until a profitable crop can be made, the thousands of small businesses, homes and small investors who are badly hurt. John D. Rockefeller, W. S. Farish and Sinclair will continue to live in comfort the rest of their lives. It is for the sake of the man at the other end of the line that we cry out.

Will our cries fall on deaf ears? It is not too late.

Texans, Let's Save Texas!

Even had they stayed within proration limits made recently, they could have gotten just as much money and more, for half as much oil as they are now producing. But, no. They wanted competitive buying, and unlimited production.

Their victory has brought them chaos, calamity and waste. It has brought starvation, want and waste, to other sections. The victory of anti-prorationists has hurt everybody in Texas, and upheld none. It has cut into every business in Texas and in the Southwest. A once proud industry has been bowed low. It is very sick and bleeding.

The March of Progress

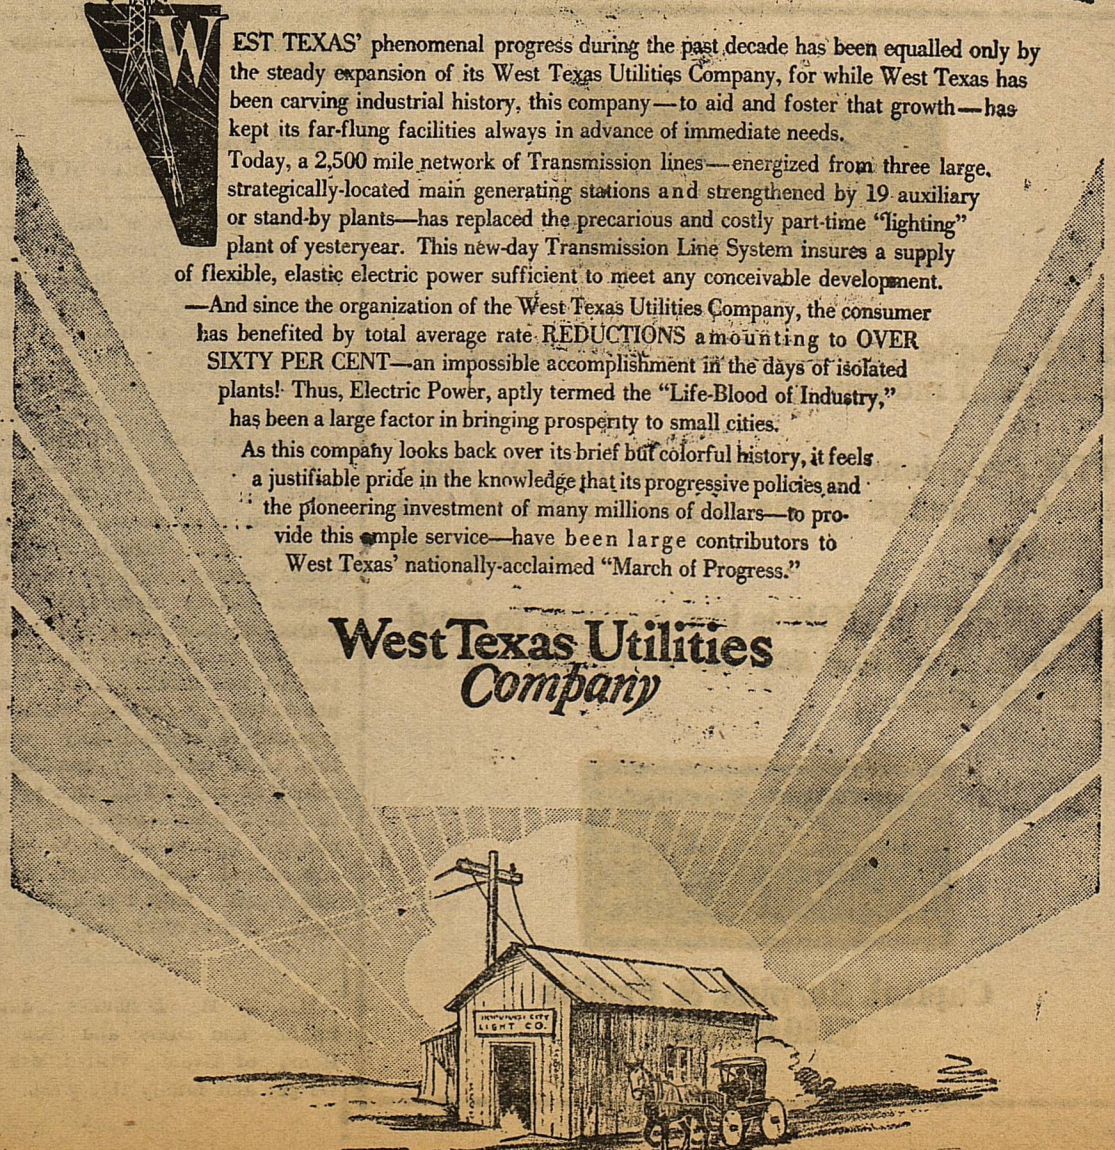

WEST TEXAS' phenomenal progress during the past decade has been equalled only by the steady expansion of its West Texas Utilities Company, for while West Texas has been carving industrial history, this company—to aid and foster that growth—has kept its far-flung facilities always in advance of immediate needs.

Today, a 2,500 mile network of Transmission lines—energized from three large, strategically-located main generating stations and strengthened by 19 auxiliary or stand-by plants—has replaced the precarious and costly part-time "lighting" plant of yesterday. This new-day Transmission Line System insures a supply of flexible, elastic electric power sufficient to meet any conceivable development. And since the organization of the West Texas Utilities Company, the consumer has benefited by total average rate REDUCTIONS amounting to OVER SIXTY PER CENT—an impossible accomplishment in the days of isolated plants! Thus, Electric Power, aptly termed the "Life-Blood of Industry," has been a large factor in bringing prosperity to small cities.

As this company looks back over its brief but colorful history, it feels a justifiable pride in the knowledge that its progressive policies and the pioneering investment of many millions of dollars—to provide this ample service—have been large contributors to West Texas' nationally-acclaimed "March of Progress."

GETTING OUT OF DEBT

Donaldsonville is one of the oldest towns in Louisiana. It has had a population of about 4,000 for a good many years.

In 1929, the Louisiana Power and Light Company bought the town's municipally owned electric and water systems. The little city was then able to build and pay for a much needed sewer system and have a balance remaining of approximately $62,000 for the building of other public works.

Its old municipal electric plant had for years been charging 15 cents per kilowatt-hour. The large private system established its standard rates of 8 cents, 5 cents and 3 cents with a small service charge.

The taxpayers of Donaldsonville have relieved themselves of heavy public debt, have far lower rates than their city plant could have granted, have the benefits of a modern sewer system, have $62,000 on hand for other municipal improvements and have increased their permanent tax income by reason of turning a tax-exempt public plant into assessable property owned by private citizens.

Here is a practical example of municipal debt and tax reduction.

ARE YOU A LAW-BREAKER

No other great country has so many laws as the United States. No other great country has so much law breaking, it is said. This is not, of course, a coincidence. It is gradually being realized that too many laws are as detrimental as too few laws.

Law-breaking has become in a way a national sport—concurrent in by persons in all walks of life. And still our elected officials continue to grind out more and more laws to add to the already sagging statute books.

There is no point in chiding the public for countenancing lawlessness. The blame must go largely to those who have aided and abetted the mania for passing "more restrictive laws."

If all the antiquated traffic laws, 10-15-20 and 30 miles an hour speed limits, prohibition laws, anti-gun laws "spitting" ordinances, anti-smoking ordinances, etc., were enforced, probably 25 per cent of all citizens would be subject to fine or imprisonment everyday. We pass so many laws that it is impossible to enforce them because we couldn't provide enough courts and jails to handle the minor cases.

REAL FOOD FOR REAL MEN

Major General Malin Craig is probably doing more to revive the dairy industry than all the political cretins ever proposed. In making an inspection of a Vancouver, Washington, barracks company kitchen, the second question he asked was,

"Do you serve milk as a regular ration?" When told, "No, sir," he replied, "That's too bad. You should do it for it's a wonderful food and the men like it."

In the next company kitchen, after the preliminary questions, he said,

"Do you serve milk for meats?"

"Yes, sir, for breakfast sir."

"Enough so each man can have a glassful?"

"Yes, sir, a second if he wants it sir."

"Say, that is fine. Milk is the best food soldiers can have. Any kidding on the meals, Sergeant?"

"Yes, sir, a little bit but it doesn't amount to much, sir."

"That's fine. If there isn't any kidding, look out because there will be something seriously wrong with the men."

General Craig is a real old-time fighting cavalryman and instead of merely advocating milk for babies and

ANNUAL CENSUS OF TEXAS FARMS PLAN OF NEW STATE LAW

AUSTIN, Tex., June 15.—Plans were laid here today by state and federal department of agriculture officials for administration of Texas' new farm census law, just approved by Governor Ross Sterling.

The law will be administered jointly by Carl Robinson, senior statistician for the bureau of crop economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and J. E. McDonald, commissioner of the Texas department. Some eighteen other states already have joint state-federal bureaus of statistics.

The law provided for an annual and continuous farm census, to include acreages, production, and live stock. It was sponsored in the legislature by Representatives Westbrook, Olsen and Tarwater at the request of state and federal agriculture departments, Texas A. and M. College and the Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas.

Heretofore the only statistical information regarding Texas farming was the census taken every five years by the federal government. Because of rapidly changing conditions in the state, this was seldom accurate—often inaccurate by the time it was available after completion of the census.

This was a handicap, the officials pointed out, not only to agriculture but to industry as well. Not only was the crop economics statisticians forced to base their estimates on figures which might have been obsolete; industry planning expansion into a new territory had no exact information concerning the resources of that territory.

One such instance was when a creamery planned establishment of a new branch factory in one Texas community, but before coming to the community demanded a complete agricultural survey. Anxious to obtain the new industry, this community's chamber of commerce paid the expenses of a survey.

The annual census will be taken by county tax assessors, adding an important new function to their office. It will be augmented, and used as a basis for, the weekly and monthly estimates of the federal department, which now will be prepared jointly by the two departments.

"For the first time," Commissioner McDonald commented, "We will now have a background for agricultural and industrial endeavor. We will be able to determine what we have and what are the possibilities of our natural resources."

SORGHUM FODDER GIVES GOOD GAINS FOR FATTENING LAMBS WHEN LIME IS ADDED

Lime improves the ration for lambs when milo fodder, hegaria fodder, or red top sorghum fodder is used for roughage according to J. M. Jones, Chief Division Range Animal Husbandry, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Mr. Jones has conducted experiments to test this point for three years, during two of which Prof. W. L. Stangle of the Texas Technological College cooperated. These fodders containing less than one-third as much lime as alfalfa hay, are bountiful over a large area in West Texas and North west Texas and tests were instituted in order to ascertain whether suitable additions of lime would enable their more effective use as roughages in the ration.

Preliminary tests at Spur with a ration of 1.28 pounds of ground milo heads, .31 pounds cottonseed meal and 1.39 pounds milo fodder, fed for 90 days to two lots of lambs with .25 ounce of limestone flour added to the daily ration of one lot, showed that the lambs receiving the limestone addition gained 3.60 pounds more than those which did not receive the lime, the gain being .34 pound per head daily in the case of the lime-d ration and .20 pound daily for the group with out the lime. Another lot, in which alfalfa hay was substituted for the milo fodder, gained .36 pound per head daily. In the case of two other lots of 30 lambs each receiving the same ration except that red top fodder was substituted for milo fodder, the lot having .27 ounce lime flour added to the ration gained 1.90 pounds per head more than the lot which did not receive the mineral.

In the 1929-30 cooperative test at the Texas Technological College the ration used was 1.22 pounds hegaria fodder, the lot receiving in addition to this, .2 ounce of limestone flour made a daily gain of .33 pound per head during the 90 day feeding period as against .30 pound for the lambs not receiving the lime addition.

The 1930-31 cooperative test at the Texas Technological College employed a ration of 1.35 pounds ground milo heads, .27 pound cottonseed meal, and 1.21 pounds hegaria fodder. When .2 ounce limestone flour was added the average daily gain per lamb for the 90 day period was .38 pound as against .29 pound for the lambs which did not receive the lime addition.

It will thus be seen that the sorghum fodders make good roughages for lamb fattening rations if 1-4 ounce of limestone flour be included in the daily ration.

Recent cattle feeding investigations by the Kansas Station have also shown that .1 pound limestone should be added to rations for fattening baby beefs where nonleguminous roughages are used.

THE TIDE IS COMING IN

In his annual address, Joseph Wyper, President of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, made some broad-visioned remarks.

It is the lesson of experience, said Mr. Wyper, that times of difficulty are also times of opportunity. Stock fire insurance has met every test during the past two years of stress and strain. Preeminent among the stabilizing influences of the country's economic life, it has the remarkable distinction of having come through the present depression without loss to any of those who trusted in it for protection. Stock fire insurance always has shared in the varying fortunes of the nation's affairs yet so conducts its own business that its structure is never really imperiled and it emerges from each successive period of adversity better equipped than ever before to fulfill its indispensable function in the national economy.

It long since learned the lesson that it must apply the principle of average to the prosperous and unprosperous years, the peaks and the valleys of the business cycle, just as it does to the hazard it underwrites.

In connection with the present conditions, said Mr. Wyper, I am reminded of Macaulay's prophetic words published in the "Edinburg Review" of January, 1830, when England was experiencing a business depression far worse than our own readjustment. This great English essayist and historian put the truth in a nutshell in the following brief sentence: "A single breaker may recede but the tide is evidently coming in." This is as true today as it was a hundred years ago.

Grandma Stewart, who recently celebrated her 73rd birthday is piloting her new Chevrolet coach on the long road between Detroit and San Pedro, California. She left the Motor City a few days ago and expects to cover the 2,800 mile journey in about thirteen days.

And Mrs. Stewart—although she speaks of herself, and is known to a host of friends and relatives as Grandma Stewart—will drive every foot of the way. She has made the trip five times, usually alone, and although she has two friends with her on this journey neither of them can drive.

Mrs. Stewart, whose home is in California, has been visiting her son in Detroit. With her visit drawing to a close, she decided to "shop around for a new car" to make the long trip back home.

In shopping around, Mrs. Stewart was favorably impressed with the performance of the new six cylinder Chevrolet coach and its reputation for economy that she decided on its purchase after a thorough demonstration by a Detroit dealer.

Although a native daughter of Illinois, Mrs. Stewart has lived in California, where she operates a chicken farm since 1916.

MOHAIR ONCE SOLE RIGHT OF KINGS NOW EVERY AMERICAN'S PRIVILEGE

KING SOLOMON (1031 B.C.)
HAD MOHAIR FOR HIS PALACE

AVERAGE CITIZEN (1931 A.D.)
RIDES ON MOHAIR VELVET DAILY

MOHAIR IS CLOTH OF KINGS, PRINCES

King Solomon's Temple Was Hung With Veils Made from Hair of Goats.

IMAGINE your surprise if you walked into a shop today and asked for a purple dress, hat or tie and were told that it was a color exclusively reserved for the President and his Cabinet! Or wanted to purchase a chair and found that only members in the society Blue Book were entitled to such luxuries. That would have been the case years back, when purple was a color for kings only, and only the nobility were accorded the privilege of chairs.

In the same way, mohair, a material made from the fleece of the angora goat, was once the privilege of royalty and quite unknown to the commoner. Back in 1031 B. C., King Solomon made use of this luxurious material for his royal robes and ordered the veils of the famous Temple to be hung with cloth from the hair of the goat. And for centuries to come, mohair was used only in the palaces of the rich and mighty, for draperies, hangings and fine upholstery. Today in 1931, A. D., mohair velvet or velvino is no less cherished but within the reach of every private citizen. The businessman commutes to his office in a rail way coach whose seats are upholstered in the familiar red or green mohair velvet. At night, he throws himself into an easy chair or davenport finished with his lustrous pile fabric. He takes his family driving in a car lined in the same material and throws a lap-rug of luxurious mohair velvet over their knees, taking his right to the best as a matter of course in true American fashion.

The mohair of long ago, however prized as it was by kings and potentates, was not the rich, pile fabric that is available today. Science has perfected the means of taking out most of the kemp from the fleece and weaving the silky hair into a fabric whose luster and beauty vie with its durability and comfort. Because of the unique physical structure of the individual fibers, mohair takes a perfect, non-fading dye. As mohair is woven on a cotton warp which takes a different shade of dye and must be dyed separately, most effective two-tone color combinations are obtained. Mohair velvet is also made in a variety of hand-blocked patterns, with a cut-pile or in an interesting loop and-pile weave that makes for endless variety of patterns and effects.

While the chief application of mohair is for furniture, automobile and rail way coach upholstery, it is also used for clothing, draperies, theatre curtains, miniature golf courses, stuffed animals, trimmings and a variety of other uses.
