R. M. Pitts Eastern Wool Dealer Visits Eldorado

Robt. M. Pitt, president of the wool firm of Robert M. Pitt & Co., Inc., of Philadelphia and Boston, accompanied by Jas. A. Hill, Texas representative of the firm, were in Eldorado Tuesday on a tour of the wool producing area of West Texas. While here they conferred with officials of the First National Bank and met and discussed wool topics with several Schleicher County sheepmen. Mr. Pitt expressed the opinion that the 1933 Spring wools should move at prices more satisfactory than the 1932 clip commanded, and that we are to have a decided improvement in the wool industry if present tariff schedules are maintained.

Winter's Worst Blizzard Sweeps Country

Schleicher County witnessed her coldest winter Tuesday night. The blizzard reached Eldorado just before day Tuesday morning accompanied by snow and went down to 8 above zero Wednesday, and was hovering around zero Tuesday morning when this writer reached his office at 7:30, which evidently is the coldest night of the winter.

Many hydrants, cars and trucks froze up and much damage has been done, and the loss to live stock is not known, but where there is little lambs coming, many will be lost. The snow did not cover the ground and soon melted away. All winter weeds were killed to the ground, but with a few days of warm sunshine they will soon be coming again.

STERLING BOYS WIN NATIONAL HONORS

Jerry Brown of Sterling City has been pronounced winner of the National Essay Writing contest. And Raymond Welch, also of Sterling City has won third place. This is quite an honor for the Sterling City lads. They have competed with the United States schools and two of the same small Texas school, won two places out of eight.

The Success joins the Sterling City people in congratulations for her two worthy boys, who have made an attempt and have been successful. May they continue to write until the Nation can be swayed by their pen.

The members decided to meet the 1st and 3rd Wednesday's of each month.

FACTS FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

"For the school year 1930-31 the average of all salaries of teachers in the independent districts was $1,175. For the same year the average of teachers' salaries in common school districts was $754. For the state as a whole, the average of all white teachers' salaries was $1,000—on a twelve-month basis $83.33 per month."

"On that monthly salary Miss Teacher not only had to live as a respectable and leading member of the community, but to repay the money she borrowed to attend college, to contribute to all worthy community enterprises, and to attend college every third summer."

"That was in 1930-31, when the per capita apportionment was $17.50 per pupil. In 1932-33 with a reduction to $16.00 per capita, she is getting not less than that amount."

"For 1930-31 of the total amount spent for public education in Texas, 77 per cent for instructional service and 23 per cent was expended for all other items. As salaries have already been drastically reduced and other costs curtailed to the greatest extent possible, further reductions will result in damaging the schools to a great extent. In short, the people of Texas must decide now just how far they are willing to cheapen the instruction of their children. They can get along with the sort of schools that a twelve dollar

Henry Grady Parker

Henry Grady Parker was born January 15, 1898 in Burnett County, the oldest son of William H. Parker. His mother died when he was only a small boy. His father married again and moved to Eldorado about 25 years ago, bringing Grady and his sister Mary with them, and it was here that Grady Parker went to school and developed into manhood under the eyes of this scribe daily. He was obedient to parent and teacher, was both prompt and studious. His father being in the Grocery Business, Grady grew up in the business, and about 6 years ago became interested in the business and took over the management of same. In 1928 he was married to Miss Mabel Tubb, of Robert Lee and to this union a son Howard Grady was born, who is two years old.

Grady was a member of the Masonic order and the Masons had charge of the service at the Cemetery. He was a member of the City Council and an officer in the Lions Club. He gave freely to charity and since his marriage has given his financial support to the Methodist church. He believed in righteousness and lived an honest, upright, clean life. He was a blessing to his home, a friend to man and we have no doubts but what his reward is heaven.

He was taken ill Sunday, January 22, went to Dr. Patton's office Monday and got some medicine; went home and remained at home until Saturday. He was then taken to San Angelo and placed in the Shannon Hospital suffering from peritonitis, caused from a ruptured appendix or a perforation. He died Saturday morning February 4th, at 12:18. He was never operated on. The funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church Sunday, February 5th, 1933 at 2:30, with the Rev. J. L. Ratliff, assisted by Rev. W. H. Marshall, conducting the services with the Eldorado Funeral Service directing. The large floral offering and the crowded condition of the church spoke louder than words of the high esteem in which he was held. The body was laid to rest in the Eldorado Cemetery following the services at the church.

He is survived by his wife and son, Howard Grady, his father and step mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Parker; a sister Mrs. W. M. Davis; two half brothers, Thorpe and Glenn Parker and two half sisters, Linna and Lelia Parker, all were present at the bedside and funeral.

FEBRUARY 10, 1933.

Jim Ferguson with his sales tax will certainly meet strong opposition in the Texas Legislature. The burden of taxation has always fallen on the common herd, and if the sales tax as advocated is passed by the present legislators, all should meet defeat at the hands of the voters at next election.

There is a sales tax that might be justifiable but not a wholesale tax. A sales tax could be placed on all luxuries, but not on bread and meat.

After several days of warm weather, the people of Eldorado awoke Tuesday morning experiencing a cold north wind, accompanied by snow, and at ten o'clock A. M. our weather barometer stood at 15 above zero. The coldest weather since 1933 was ushered in.

The Big Boys are up against it the same as the little fellow. If you had a lot of money loaned out you would realize this.

Gib Ballew killed his big porker, just as soon as the ground hog said we would have lots more winter. Gib came from San Saba county where they believe in ground hogs.

The Success regrets to have to chronicle the passing of our friend of long standing, and business associate, R. Grady Parker, who was taken by death Saturday morning.

Grady was one of our most prominent business men, honored and admired by all, just a friend to man, coming from noble parents, living to honor their name, but he has passed on. On every side you hear the good traits of this noble young man.

The farmers are busy now arranging their lands for the new crop of 1933. Everything is moving off nicely and better days are ahead. Living is cheap now and work not much harder than in 1918.

If there is anything to this ground hog business, you had better buy some more winter fuel, as we are to have 6 weeks more of cold winter.

GARDEN OF EXPERIENCE

By F. G. Clark

The stock argument in favor of the repeal of the 18th Amendment, is stated by an eminent criminologist thus: "The repeal of the 18th Amendment will bring about a nation wide decrease in crime." This is answered conclusively by Wesley Stout, in The Saturday Evening Post. Stout is a life long criminal, and therefore speaks from the criminals standpoint and his answer should be conclusive.

Criminals are human and like every body else they choose what promises to be the easiest way to accomplish their ends. Hence on the passage of the 18th Amendment, they turned from other crimes to the illicit liquor business. It promised them more money with less risk than any other line of crime in which they could engage.

The 18th Amendment did not make criminals, it merely changed their field of activities. If the 18th Amendment should be repealed (which God forbid) some of the fifty thousand professional criminals will remain bootleggers, for there were plenty of bootleggers and moonshiners when we had the open saloon. But most of them will turn to other lines of crime, against which we are not protected, for no one can guess just what new line the criminal will take up. Be very sure he will not reform and join the Salvation Army, or hunt an honest job, at least while there are 12 million honest people now out of work. Make no mistake. The criminal we have always with us. He was born so, and he will die so. For 13 years we have been perfecting our defence against the bootlegger, and we have accomplished something, but deprive him of this line, that is, let the government take his place, by licensing the saloon, or going into the whiskey business in some other way, and the criminal hoard will strike us in some new and unexpected quarter, and God alone can foresee the result.

Strong drink is an evil any way you take it. The man who makes it commits a sin; the one who sells it commits a sin, whether that one is an individual, corporation, or government, and the one who drinks it commits a sin, whether it is done in moderation or to excess.

While it is outlawed, only criminals engage in the traffic and the whole business is confined to the criminal class, whether that person manufactures, sells, or drinks it. The illicit dispensers, kill each other off, with bomb and machine gun, which is a good job. The drinker poisons himself, which isn't so bad, but the sober law-abiding citizen is little harmed by it.

Take this source of revenue away from the criminal, and he will turn to more valuable things. He will hold you up and demand your money or your life. He will break into your store or steal your car or any other valuable thing you possess.

We cannot rid ourselves of the criminal, so encourage him to remain in the line where he will do the least harm, viz. the liquor business. There they will satisfy their lust for murder by killing each other, and their goods will harm only those who willingly indulge.

To paraphrase Stouts closing satire: There will never be a time when there will be no sand in the Spinach or cockleburrs will turn to marshmallows, even if you repeal the 18th Amendment.

The wets would have us believe that when Peter Rabbit

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor

More than 2500 garments made by 187 farm women in Limestone county last year by home demonstration methods saved these women an average of $12.50 apiece.

Half the farm families of Grayson county were helped to can and preserve food by demonstration methods last year by the home demonstration clubs of the county. The amount of canning increased 75 per cent over the previous year. In Armstrong county wheat farmers have gone in strongly for treating wheat for smut by the machine method of applying copper carbonate dust to the seed. The county agent reports 15,000 acres planted to treated wheat, done at a cost of 3 cents per acre. Smut can damage the crop in the county to the extent of $40,000, local elevator men declare.

The greatest series of terracing demonstrations ever held in Hill county ended with 3850 acres terraced in December. The yearly total as given by the county agent exceeds 6000 acres

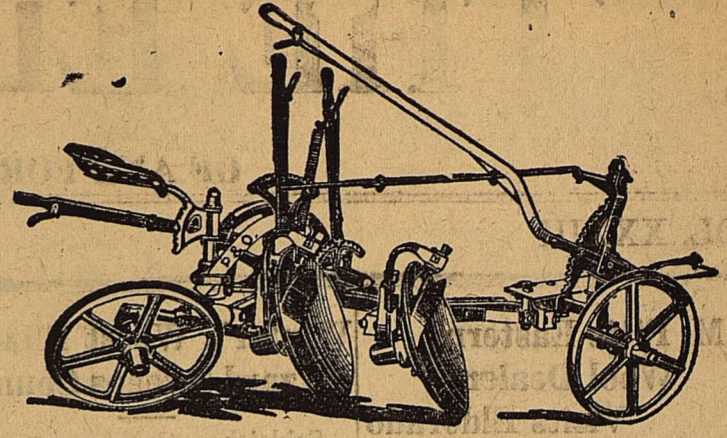

A 10-acre pasture developed as a demonstration by Edd Fulgham in Wood county paid $18 per acre in grazing last year, according to the county agent.

Two years ago self-feeders for hogs were practically unknown in Goliad County. Now they are so common that hog feeding without them is regarded as a sign of poor management. The new system of feeding hogs by self feeder on ration of corn and equal parts cottonseed meal and tankage, introduced by the county agent, has revolutionized hog raising and has led to the general use of hogs to dispose of corn at a small profit.

—E.—H.—S.— "AND THE AFFIRMATIVE WON"

By Charles Ratliff
 Last Thursday, January 2, Ollie Ruth Newlin and Cecil Moore for the affirmative and Guy Moore and Gussie Nolen for the negative debated on this question: "There is no more danger, damage, and less, to a Community from manufactured electricity than from manufactured gas." The debate was the most interesting one we have had this year and the class heard of more accidents from each side in 45 minutes than they had ever thought of.

The honorable judges were Frank Bradley, William McWhorter and Inez Marshall.

These debates are given each Thursday at 1:45 P. M. and all parents are invited.

—E.—H.—S.— ENGLISH NOTES

By Hollys Alexander
 The English IV class has begun the study of Chaucer, and English writer. We are having to memorize the first 18 lines of the Prologue of Canterbury Tales by Chaucer. It is written in an old English manner. The seniors are objecting to memorizing the Prologue.

Miss Allen can find a lot of humor in Chaucer, but the class does not agree with her. It may seem to many of us that this study is useless but it is hoped that we may receive some good from it.

—E.—H.—S.— SAFETY FIRST

Safety engineering is the name given to the study of methods and appliances for the prevention of accidents in industry. Of recent years the matter has received much attention and has produced a nationwide "Safety first" campaign. Its purpose is to reduce injury and loss of life caused by preventable accidents and it seeks first to introduce various safety devices, and secondly, to educate the workers and the public to a realization of the need for greater care and thoughtfulness in a world in which the use of mechanical devices is continually on the increase. In a report made by the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin the statement is made: "The most conclusive fact that the great majority of accidents are not preventable by guards. If every danger-point on every machine were perfectly guarded, making accidents upon them impossible, then we would have eliminated just about one-fourth of all accidents." In other words, carelessness is the chief cause of accidents.

Safety first is a subject that is stressed not only in large cities but in smaller towns and everywhere. Construction work is now being done on a sidewalk from the Eldorado High School to town. Safety first rules such as, look both ways before crossing a street, while on the highway walk to the left (Meeting traffic) cross street in straight line, walk carefully on slippery surface, and cross at corners have been stressed each year in school but when this work is completed there will not be so much danger, but these rules will still be thought of and continually put into practice.

Safety first not only aids the one who practices it but also those round about. Safety first means less accidents less expenditures, less suffering, and all around benefit for every one.

—E.—H.—S.— TYPING CONTEST BETWEEN BEGINNING AND SECOND-YEAR STUDENTS

By Frances Mills
 The first year typing class is improving rapidly in its ability to type. In order to show their ability they challenged the second year students for a contest which was staged Friday afternoon at 3:30. Although the first year students were defeated they made a good standing against the second year students. The first year students were

W. B. Gibson, John E. Rodgers, Loleete Andrews and Frances Mills. The second year students were Dee DeLong, Fay Keeney, Lois Whitley and Junior Isaacs.

The average for the beginning students was: Errors 7.5; Per Cent accuracy 81.2; Words per minute 22.6; Score 103.8. The average for the second year students was: Errors 7; per cent accuracy 87.2; words per minute 32.4; score 119.8.

—E.—H.—S.— JACK RATLIFF

By Gordon Williamson
 As I was sitting on the old front porch one evening, I began to think of my past life. I began to think of the most outstanding events in my life.

Although it cannot be proved by me it is told that I was born in Denton, Texas. How long I lived there I did not know, but I began to come to life in Ft. Worth. I can at least remember running out of the back door and cutting my foot. The doctor had to take four stitches to sew it up. I imagine that several hun-boys have had the honor of looking at the scar with four stitches.

When the plane next stopped, I found myself in Waco, Texas. This time, the plane only stopped long enough for my dad to take his degree and for me to break my leg. A little boy lived close to me that had a pony. I was exhibiting a little Tom Mix special one day and ended up on the ground with the pony pushing his foot on my leg and it now going numb.

The pilot stuck my head in the (seat) "pigeon hole" and the next thing that I knew I saw a sign that read "Sanger, Texas." I started a long carrier in this months that has lasted for 10-12 years. I began to enlarge my brains. After I had received a good many pats for breaking rules, the pilot decided to see if the Denton Teachers were less cruel.

And so I landed in my old birthplace. The Denton teachers were not so cruel but they shifted me from so many schools I thought that I was a pea in a pod. I was just beginning to get ready for another ship when the airplane began to get warm again. Eldorado, Texas was calling.

When I saw Eldorado I was very much disappointed. There were no shade trees in front of the house and no sidewalks. I began to get used to the mud and sun. I have lived here for six years. The six years have been enjoyable. I finished grammar school and started my foot ball career. I expect to finish my school career in May. I think I will move on next September, but the pilot has let all of the gas out of the plane.

—E.—H.—S.— WANTED—GIRLS OR NEAT APPEARANCE FOR IMPORTANT OFFICE POSITION

By Junior Isaacs
 Is a college diploma a genuine asset to a woman in business today? Yes. "She starts out, on the average, earning about $250 more a year than the high school graduate and goes steadily, although slowly, upward until she is fifty-five or sixty years old, while the high school and eighth grade woman graduate reach their earnings peak around forty-five. This data of course is averaged with occasional exceptions. In addition one half of women college graduates go into teaching, a poorly paid profession. Wherever college women have gone into business they have succeeded better than any other class of women."

This goes to show that women are entering into business more and more every year. The women are advancing very rapidly in both education and the business world. The women are progressing so rapidly today because their heart is in their work and they are trying every way in the world to succeed and get on the same basis as the men.

If the men don't look out they will have to trade positions with the women and start to washing dishes, clothes, and doing the house work.

By Thelma Taylor
 Harold Isaacs, one of E. H. S. exstudents joined the army last Monday evening. Harold has a job for three years now so maybe he won't starve during this depression.

"Buck" Kent, also an exstudent of E. H. S., is now in the army. Seems as if the army has a great attraction. These home boys will eventually be great men in this old world.

Clemens Sauer went home for the week-end last Friday.

Autta Mae Reynolds spent the week-end in San Angelo with friends.

Alton Williams and Roberta Milligan attended the Picture Show in Eldorado last Saturday night.

Alicia Burk spent the week-end at her ranch home east of Eldorado.

If you want to get the Seniors all riled up just say "Unit" to them.

The Failing list in High School is gradually decreasing but at times it increases rapidly.

Conn Isaacs and Bill Curry, both ex-students of E. H. S., are working on the sidewalk to the schoolhouse. It ought to be finished soon now that they are on the job.

 At the high school banquet: Waiter, there is a fly in my cream.

Waiter: Let him freeze and teach him a lesson.

Teacher: What is a genius?
 Pancho B.: A man that can fix a traveling salesman's joke over and get it accepted by the Ladies Home Journal.

Most men call a spade a spade unless they let it drop on their toes.

It was just another Scotchman who married a half-witted girl because she was fifty per cent off.

Miss Meyer: What was your mother's name before she was married?

Hollis Alexander: I think that it must have been "Hilton." That's the name on a lot of our towels.

Coach Williamson: What is your name?
 Freshman: Scanajavischijdo, sir.

Coach: Put him on the first team, oys.

Miss Allen: Did Edison make the first talking machine?
 Gordon Williamson: No, God made the first talking machine, but Edison made the first one that could be turned off.

Jim: I like mathematics when it isn't over my head.
 Jack: That's exactly the way that I feel about mocking birds.

The laziest person handed in his exam paper in which he said the following: "Please see Willie Ruth's paper for my answers."

Bell: I'll kill you, I'll kill you, I'll kill you!
 Coach: A triple threat man, huh?

ALTON PAGE — MUSICIAN

By Cecil Moore
 Alton Page is known as the boy from Toenail that made good. It seems natural for Alton to be a good musician. He has been taking lessons on his guitar for a good while and has learned many pieces. Alton can also play a piano very well.

Everyone else will agree that Alton has a great music ability, when they hear him sing "Strawberry Roan" and "Take Me Back to Colorado." Everyone wishes Alton a very successful career in music.

By Margaret Hill
 We have five new books for our Library. These are all the biographies of well known men. "Daniel Boone" by Stewart E. White is a story of Boone's frontier life. It contains a great deal of history. "A Reporter for Lincoln" by Ida M. Tarbell tells quite a bit about Lincoln's private life. "Trails, Rails, and War" by J. R. Perkins gives the life of General G. M. Dodge, a general of the south, who was a railroad man. "Statesmen of the Old South" by William E. Dodd gives the lives of Thomas Jefferson, Calhoun, and Stonewall Jackson. "The Biography of President Von Hindenburg" by Weterstetten and Watson tells of the life of the German president.

Nagging Pains
are WARNING SIGNALS

TEMPORARY pain relief remedies may save you much suffering at the moment, but putting a mask over a warning signal does not clear up the condition it was telling you to avoid.
 When periodic pains, due to a weak, run-down condition, distress you, treatment for the cause of the trouble should be started without delay.
 Take Cardul to build up against the nagging symptoms of ordinary womanly ailments. It has been in use for over 50 years. So many women praise CARDUL, it must be good to have the widespread use that it has today. Sold at drug stores.

WHOSE DEPRESSION IS THIS?

By Thos. E. Pickering

For more than two years the American people have gone about their businesses and their occupations and callings in a calm and quiet way. They have complained little. They have shown little or no evidence of wanting to create disturbances with the orderly processes of government. They have done no violence as an organized people. But it has been THEIR depression, not the rich man's depression. The people by peaceful means must solve their own problems. It is evident that they have too long listened to "advice" and "statements" issuing from sources once tho't authoritative. Our statesmen have done their best under the circumstances. They, as the representatives of the people, are as much throttled by big business and wealth as are the people whom they represent. Big business says there are no more rich men in America. This is untrue, and big business knows it. It has always been the attitude of big business to cringe and hedge when it's pocketbook showed some evidence of shrinkage. But business conditions and wealth accumulated are RELATIVE. The depression belongs to the fellow who doesn't know how he is going to eat, not to the millionaire! We have been taught in America a religion of business. That religion has been to place the utmost faith and confidence in "big business." The mistake we have made is to regard big business as one institution, when in fact we should have made each large business STAND ON ITS OWN MERIT, the same as we require individual persons to measure up to certain standards of rectitude. The poor man has now to look to his government for relief: indirect relief if possible; direct charity if necessary. What every right thinking citizen wants is a restoration of old-fashioned honesty; not only honesty in respect to business transactions, but HONESTY OF STATEMENT AND PURPOSE coming from sources supposed to originate from men of ideals and honor. Another mistake we have made is to unequivocally associate "goodness" with "bigness." The only truly big man in this world is the good man, and he may be either humble or mighty so far as wealth and position are concerned. If one of our public officers in city, county, state or nation makes a false move or steals a penny from the public pot we make a "big to-do" about it. We perhaps put the fellow in jail. Yet some of our "big business" puts deals over on the people of far greater import and far more to the damage and detriment of the masses of the people, and we call them "successful and self-made men!"

THE TAX DOLLAR AND THE COMMUNITY

The tax dollar, even if it gives us our money's worth, can not run the whole household or the whole community. If the community is to prosper as much as it can prosper from its own efforts, the citizens are required to occasionally leave their stores, their desks, their shops and gardens and devote a portion of their time to boosting their town and lending cooperation in community development.

No man's business is sufficient unto itself. Human needs can not be met, nor can community welfare be maintained by the independent judgement of one person. No man can profitably isolate himself behind his counter and expect his business to grow. Social, moral and economic conditions must be faced. Mere government can not serve all of our needs. In fact, the prime object of government is to merely protect the people while they serve their own needs. The best community on earth is the one that has the most public spirited citizens in proportion to its total population. These public spirited citizens may be rich and poor, old and young people in all circumstances of life, who are willing to do more than "attend to their own business" when the community's welfare is at stake. These citizens do more than give money to public benefit. They help personally; they give time and effort, counsel, good cheer and good will. They know that the ideals of education, charity, morality, religion, art and recreation should be carried on, and they are willing to put their shoulders to the wheel.

Economy alone will never pull the country out of its plight. Constructive measures must be put into practise. Economy, wrongly directed, will prolong bad conditions. The wise community leader will help the people back to their own ways as fast as possible. The saving of a tax dollar here and there is worthwhile. But we can not make the mistake of thinking that the country is saved when we do it. More than ever before the people need the whole some pursuits of community life not measured in terms of dollars. The people need LIFE itself as well as the mere means of life.

They need riches of the spirit as well as money in hand. False leaders and false doctrines seeking economic recovery often bring about the results they seek to obviate.
