Stockmen Urged To Affiliate With Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association For Protection of Livestock Raising Industry

This Message by the President of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association merits the careful reading of all sheep and goat men, especially those who are not members of the Association. Don't just read and admit the truth of President Gillis' statements, but read and join with members of the Association in promoting and protecting the interests of the industry.

I want to invite briefly the attention of every person engaged in the sheep and goat business to the following matters:

1. The Soil Conservation Act is the basic legislation under which you and all others engaged in agricultural pursuits will probably operate the balance of your lives. Under its provisions, production, control, marketing practices, excise and processing taxes, and many other regulatory matters vitally affecting livestock, meats, and livestock products are certain to be undertaken.

2. The reciprocal trade agreements already entered into by this country, as well as those now in the process of negotiation, can completely bankrupt the livestock industry, and that in a very short time. These so-called "trade agreements" are by certain industrial organizations benefitted thereby and out of certain political office holders so wrapped up in the idea of opening the American markets to the world competition that they fail entirely to see the paradoxical situation they have developed in killing cattle and sheep one day and facilitating the importation of them the next day. These producers are justified by all sorts of trick, fancy, and specious statements and arguments, but the fact still remains that imports of all meats increased by 267 per cent in 1935 over 1934; and, regardless of the statements of either employees of the automobile manufacturers or of the State Department, every single pound of these importations displaced a pound of meat produced in this country.

3. The railways and other common carriers have, for the past ten years, had continuously pending the various rate fixing authorities petitions and actions looking to increases in freight tariffs or in service charges, which increases are, of course, a direct charge on your business. At this time there is pending an application by the railways for the allowance of a bedding charge which, if allowed, will reduce by the amount so allowed the value to the producer of every carload of stock shipped by rail.

4. The advertising and promotion work on the commodities produced by the livestock growers as compared to the same effort in behalf of the producers of other foods and textile commodities is pitifully inadequate. The continuance of this policy and attitude by the livestock producers cannot help but result in a constantly narrowing outlet for the commodities, both for food and clothing, which they produce. Pending legislation, as well as the application of various departmental and bureau rulings can have a material effect, either good or bad, and at any time on the livestock industry.

These and other matters do not affect me, the other officers, or the Board of Directors of this Association any more than they do you. There is not an officer or a member of the Board of Directors of this Association who draws one dime in pay or salary from the Association. The time and efforts and thought they give to the above mentioned and to other matters concerning the livestock industry are for the industry as a whole and for the benefit of every individual engaged in that industry, regardless of whether or not such individual is a member of this Association.

If you think that you can single-handedly or individually direct, influence, or control the course of any or all of the matters above mentioned; or, if you think it is right or proper or smart to sit back and let a handful of your fellow livestock growers undertake to make and to finance your fight; or, if you think that the officers and a handful of growers of this Association can do the job without your assistance; why then I say, if you believe these things, you deserve all the bad luck and all the disasters that are just as certain to grab you and your business as

MRS VIOLA McWHORTER BUYS 215 ACRE TRACT

Sale of a 200 acre tract of land out of the east side of section 64, block LL, and 15 acres out of the northwest corner of section 78, block LL in Schleicher county, was made Saturday by Tom R. Henderson to Mrs. Viola McWhorter. The price was approximately $25 per acre.

The sun is to rise in the east. Wake up and come alive for a change. Join the Association and make your neighbor join. If you don't like your officers or directors or the way they represent you, why, kick them out and get some that you do like, but, above all things, for a change, take a little interest and devote a little effort towards trying to take care of your own business—Southwestern Sheep and Goat Raisers Magazine.

Doakes Out Lines Rudiments of New Conservation Plan

J. W. Doakes, cotton adjustment agent, who was in Eldorado Monday assisting county agent C. Snell in launching the new soil conservation program, stated that about 80 per cent of the farmers in Tom Green county favored the new plans and were enthusiastically entering into the program. Conservation participants in Schleicher County, he intimated, were slow in lining up for the new deal.

Under the new arrangement no restrictions are placed on the individual whether he conforms with the plan or operates apart from it; fields may be planted from fence to fence with any crop the farmer may decide upon, all cotton, all grain, or part cotton and part grain. In order to participate in the new program, however, 20 per cent of his 1935 base acreage must be devoted to some soil repleting crop—cow peas, soy beans or sudan grass. "Cow peas and soy beans may be harvested but the forage must be left in the field," Mr. Doakes said. "Sudan grass," he explained "could be grazed but not harvested either as hay or for the seed. All soil repleting crops must be plowed under following harvesting or grazing."

For the 20 per cent devoted to soil repleting crops, farmers will be paid at the approximate rate of 5 cents per pound for the 167 pound per acre cotton base allowed Schleicher County in the 1935 cotton acreage reduction program, plus $1 per acre extra for each acre devoted to soil conservation, or approximately $9.35 per acre.

Are Government C. C. Camps A Success?

(All data mentioned in this article was carefully gathered and re-checked before the article was written. Personal notes here injected are taken from conversation with a young man who spent half a year in a California camp. We consider the camp here mentioned a typical one.)

Recently, a senatorial debate began over the advisability of continuing the government C. C. Camps throughout America. The argument ended in favor of continuance. Had it not, a grave injustice would have been done one of America's most progressive accomplishments.

Much has been said, and much has been written about the C. C. Camps of America. Several big writers have stayed two or three days with the boys, in an effort to study the situation, and find whether the venture was helping toward national stability. Unfortunately, most of these men were either out and out 'propagandists' for, or against the present administration, or they were shocked at the cold reality one faces in camp life. I've still to see an intelligent article on this subject. No doubt, tho, somewhere, smoking in his bunk, right now, lies a young man who will eventually write a best-selling novel on this subject.

Let us take the subject apart. The chief fault which is found with the C. C. Camps is that a boy is exposed to "rowdism" and vulgarity. This is true. But, if any boy, not himself a vulgarian becomes one—he must have had a very faulty character or poor early training. The next complaint is that the food is often poor. In the camp which I made a thorough study of this was absolutely untrue. Here, the average gain in weight per man, for the first three months, was close to fifteen pounds. A breakfast usually consisted of: eggs (as many as desired), flap jacks, good coffee (with heavy cream), mush, prunes, often grapefruit, and some kind of meat. The food was not rich, but there was plenty of it, it was wholesome, and there was variety.

No healthy, vigorous American boy would find fault with such a menu. I made a survey, asking many members of the camp what they thought of the food. About twenty out of two-hundred said it was "terrible." Checking up, I found that not one of these complainers came from homes where really good food was served. Of the ten or twenty recruits who had known wealth, and the quality of food which naturally goes with it—not one had anything but praise of the "grub."

Wild impossible stories are told of the "sweltering gangs on the fire breaks." In the southwest due to intense heat and sparsely covered mountains, it is almost a tragedy for a fire to sweep over an area. Therefore, fire "breaks" are made. A "break" is merely a strip of land cleared fifty or seventy-five yards wide. It runs until it meets another break, in some cases, quite a few miles. The young men, fortified with the TELLING LAND MARKS * Old pictures of street scenes of the old home town tell a story. Like bankruptcy court records they reveal the heavy mortality of business—that constant turn-over in the commercial life of the city. * One sees names on signs long forgotten — business tombstones that tell tragic tales. * Old newspapers also tell a story. They reveal the important fact that consistent advertisers stay in business longer. * In the keener competition of today, other things being equal, the man who imparts his message to the people through his local paper has a better chance to meet depression, and build an institution that often survives the man himself into years of added usefulness.

We note some comment to the effect that Dr. Townsend sponsor and author of the Townsend old age pension plan receives $150 a week salary and expenses. We can see nothing in this to criticize. In fact we think if the Dr. can secure a pension of $200 a month for those over 60 his services would easily be worthy ten times the amount it is claimed he receives, and further, if the Dr. can figure out at the same time a plan where it can be paid for, without upsetting the whole economic scheme, we are in favor of turning the running of the whole country over to him at his own figure.

breakfast just mentioned, go to work, clearing the sage brush away from the "break". The working day is about six hours long, with the crew taking five every sixty minutes or so. No one is driven or hurried. A good sweat under a warm sun, stripped to the waist with a stomach full of nourishing food, has but one outcome. . . a good, healthy body.

Only one fault can be found with the C. C. Camps, and that is only restricted to some camps. That is, poor judgement has been shown in choosing the educational advisors. In this camp, they had a survey, asking each boy what "class" he would most enjoy attending. Fully 60 per cent said, "mechanical training"—autos — tractors — and electrical engines. The new educational advisor had a keenly interested group of young men awaiting the opening of their new class in mechanics. He read them "Hamlet." Six of the Class stayed, the rest walked out, disgruntled: they wanted to be mechanics, not intellectuals. They had a perfect right to feel as they did.

This of course, does not apply to all camps. In many camps, the most wide-awake, practical man is the educational advisor, yet—in making an honest survey of government C. C. Camps, we must admit that enough mental training is not given the boys. True, as a whole, they seem indifferent to the value of higher education, but that is the fault of the instructor, not the boys. Had the Hamlet reading educational advisor but given a class in practical mechanics, he would not have found so many "indifferent rascals" around him. Furthermore, had he gotten them going back to school, by offering what they liked, he might have eventually opened hither-to unknown appreciations for more academic pursuits. But all in all, C. C. Camps are the finest investments we could make from a standpoint of public health, at least.

TEXAS IS MAMMOTH INSTITUTION NEEDING BUSINESS MANAGEMENT; CITIZENS DEP END ON PUBLIC AID

"There never was a time in the history of these States that all the people expected so much from the Government and felt so helpless in themselves. Too much dependence, and decadence to chaos. The Government can have only what it takes from those it governs." Thus commented Joe J. Taylor, "State Press" of the Dallas News recently, in connection with an editorial which appeared in the Celina Record, in which Editor C. C. Andrews warned his readers: "Better beware of the candidate who is going to give this class and that class a dip into the public treasury, and at the same time reduce taxes. It is silly to believe they are sincere when they promise a thing that cannot be done."

These quotations indicate that some Texas newspaper editors have sensed one of the greatest opportunities that has ever existed to render a public service in 1936 to their communities and their State. This opportunity is peculiarly that of weekly newspaper editors, because the weekly newspaper in Texas today represents the last stronghold of a free press. Its readers, constituting 50 per cent of the voting population of the State, are far more intelligent politically, and for better informed and more interested in matters political and governmental, than are the readers of the large cities in the metropolitan population centers. The influence of the weekly newspaper upon its readers is far more potent than that of the metropolitan daily, because it speaks less frequently, and because of the growing tendency toward machine political control in the cities.

GREAT POLITICAL YEAR

This year, with the largest political payments in history of Texas, approximating 1,250,000 qualified voters, and a crop of about 20,000 national, state and local candidates, Texas faces one of its greatest political years. The figures indicate that the people are evidencing the interest; that the politicians are preparing to capitalize upon that interest. If the weekly newspapers of Texas can inform the voters to a point where their interest may be intelligently manifested, can disseminate the facts that will enable the voter to discriminate between the intelligent, capable, honest man or woman who seeks to render a service to his State or his community, and the political racketeer who seeks to obtain sufficient votes to get or remain on a public payroll regardless of the method he must adopt to achieve that end, then it will have justified again its enviable position as the bulwark of free Government.

The task this year is not going to be an easy one. All of the old familiar political rackets, and some new ones recently perfected for the occasion, are due to be tried out in Texas before the day days of August bring us respite from the howlings of the candidates on the hustling and over the radio.

STUDY THOSE PROMISES

It is going to be a good year to weigh and analyze the pledges and promises of the candidates. The minds of the people have been inflamed by the "something for nothing" philosophy until it borders upon insanity. There are candidates for Governor of Texas already on the hustings this year whose all-embracing promises of pensions and tax-relief, uttered in the same breath are so wholly incompatible as to brand their authors unworthy of consideration by an intelligent voter.

But the people, engrossed as they are with the business of keeping the wolf from the door, are without facilities to analyze the proposals of the "promissory candidates." They are unfamiliar with the records in public office of many candidates who have previously served them, either illy or well. They are unfamiliar, to a large extent, with the duties, even, and with the relative importance of the various State offices.

They may hear a candidate for Governor this summer, singing over the radio or on the stump, a siren's song of larger pensions for more people, and lower taxes for everybody, if only they will elect him Governor, and adopt his taxation scheme. But many of them do not know that the Governor of Texas is powerless to do more than recommend to the Legislature any scheme of taxation, and that the most brilliant plan of tax relief ever conceived by the greatest Governor Texas ever had, can be—and frequently has been—utterly nullified by a Legislature that refused to adopt his suggestions.

GET THE FACTS

Take another example: The Texas Railroad Commission. The name is a misnomer to begin with, because half a dozen employes handle what railroad regulation the Commission has left. But few voters realize that the Railroad Commission exercises almost the power of life and death over the State's billion dollar oil industry. Oil is now produced in more than half the counties of Texas, but the industry now far out-ranks agriculture, long the leading business of Texas, in economic importance. Its prosperity affects the prosperity of every citizen, just as surely as the price of cotton used to energize or paralyze every business in the State. Few voters not in the oil know that the Chairman of the Commission, up for re-election this year, is paid $375.00 per month, and that during the last two years, because of his expert knowledge of the oil business, he has succeeded in obtaining from Federal authorities, official sanction for the production of $50,000,000 worth of oil annually more than they originally had fixed as the maximum of Texas' allowable production. But that $50,000,000 of additional money flowing into Texas has profoundly affected the lives and pocketbooks of millions of Texas men and women who never saw a producing oil well.

The facts are available. They can be obtained. They can be communicated to the men and women who will accept or reject the candidates. The opportunity presents a constructive challenge to the editors of the newspapers of Texas to assume again, at a critical time in the life of our Governor, a responsibility they have never evaded as militant, intelligent leaders of their people and their communities.

Every movement for the betterment of mankind, the advancement and the progress of science and knowledge, has been at one time opposed by those who believed present knowledge and experience to be complete and final. Some of the greatest truths have been greeted with the most merciless and unfeeling ridicule. Every thinker who strives for the betterment of mankind must not only suffer the hardships of the pioneer but often the scorn and ridicule of many of his fellows as well.

ALPHA DELTA STUDY CLUB ENTERTAINED

The Alpha Delta Study Club was entertained with a Texas Day luncheon in the basement of the Presbyterian Church Tuesday by members of the Auxiliary Circle of which Mrs. L. L. Baker is chairman.

Present were Mrs. H. W. Wiedenmann, Mrs. D. E. DeLong, Mrs. J. L. Ratliff, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. W. T. Whitten, Mrs. J. N. Davis, Mrs. W. A. Mullet, Mrs. C. E. Knight, Mrs. J. C. Crosby, Mrs. A. L. Baugh, Mrs. W. O. Alexander, Mrs. P. S. Connell, Mrs. Mabel Parker, members, and Mrs. H. D. Irby and Mrs. Tom Jacoby, guests.

$20 MONTH PAYS LIVING EXPENSE UNDER NEW DEAL

Living expenses will be less than $20 a month in cash for the family buying one of the fertile, well-equipped farms which have been authorized by the Resettlement Administration for 533 landless Texans. But $58 worth of home-grown products will be used each month, and the family's living standards will be more satisfactory than those of city families with cash income much higher.

The Resettlement family will have running water in its bathroom, and perhaps electric lights the same as the city family. But it will also have what the city family does not—home-grown hams in its pantry, long shelves of home-packed fruits and vegetables, poultry and fresh eggs and butter of its own raising. Meanwhile, it will be acquiring ownership of its own home, at a cost no greater than renting a worn-out farm with a tumble-down cabin.

A typical plan as worked out by Resettlement is for a 71-acre farm in the Harris County project announced last week. Out of its home-grown products, the family on this farm will eat 20 bushels of potatoes, and garden and orchard products valued at $75. It will use 25 bushels of home-grown cotton seed for planting, and feed to livestock 500 bushels of home-grown corn and seven tons of Sudan. The value of the 15-acre home pasture for livestock is estimated at $70.

Livestock products used at home will include 200 pounds of butter, one calf, three pigs, 25 hens and 200 dozen eggs. Crop and livestock products used at home have a combined value of $695 per year, or $58 a month.

The family will need to put out only $225 in cash during the year, for living expenses—food $60, clothing $75, supplies $10, furnishings and equipment $20, housing upkeep $30, medical care $15, personal items $15. In addition, cash expense for operating the farm will be $416. This covers feed $36, fertilizer $35, containers (for home-grown food) $30, machinery repair $20, hired labor $75, seed $35, veterinary $10, taxes $60, insurance $15, ginning $35.

Adding the $225 a year for cash living, and $416 for cash operating expense, cash outlay of the family buying this 71-acre Resettlement farm is estimated at a total of $641.

After using what he needs at home, it is estimated that the Resettlement farmer will sell seven bales of cotton for $350, three tons of cotton seed for $60, two tons of Sudan hay for $18, 90 bushels of potatoes for $150, 12 tons of cabbage for $120, 25 fryers for $10, five hogs for $50, one calf for $10, one colt for $40, 500 pounds of butter for $125, and 700 dozen eggs for $140. It will bring him $1,138 cash. Out of this, he will have to pay the $641 cash for living expenses and farm operation. Then he will hand the Resettlement Administration $315 as annual installment on the farm, which will pay out in 40 years. For five years, he will pay $75 a year to clear up the debt for livestock and farm machinery. Even then, he will have left $117 cash to bank.

ROAD CREW WILL WORK McKAVETT HIGHWAY NEXT

Men and equipment employed on the WPA road project in Schleicher County will be moved early next week from the Ozona road which has been completely re-worked from the highway to Bootlegger Lane, a distance of eleven miles, to the Ft. McKavett road. Beginning at the intersection of the Santa Fe railroad, this lane will be worked to the V. G. Tisdale ranch. Caliche will be used in topping heavy sections of the road bed.

"All roads will be worked as rapidly as the men can get to them," Judge H. W. Finley said, this week, "and the WPA allotment distributed in as equal portions as possible on the various lateral roads in this county."

The amount Schleicher County is allowed to spend for road improvement under WPA regulations is governed by the amount of equipment available and the number of WPA employees on the pay roll. No WPA workers are permitted to be employed on the project who were not certified WPA clients January 1 of this year.

26 LOCAL BOYS RE-REGISTER FOR SCOUT CHARTER

Twenty six Eldorado boys re-registered on the application for the new Boy Scout charter here this week, according to an announcement by Judge J. A. Whitten Tuesday. A few boys who did not re-register will have an opportunity to do so later. Six additional members are still needed to complete the Troop limit of 32, Judge Whitten said.

Arrangements are being made whereby each Scout in Eldorado Troop 18 can advance as rapidly as possible and extensive plans for hiking, over night camping are being made for the near future. As many Scouts from Troop 18 as possible are urged by the local Scout committee to attend the annual camp at Camp Louis Farr in May.

CLOTHING PROGRAMS TO BE CONDUCTED BY CLUBS

Assisting their cooperators in clothing work, the wardrobe demonstrators in the home demonstration clubs are giving programs the latter half of this month, on sleeve cutting. By using the foundation sleeve pattern the following type of sleeves are cut: Bishop, Bell, Kimono, Legomutton, Dolman and Raglan.

Even though the making of foundation patterns was last year's goal, the wardrobe demonstrators are still getting calls for assistance in making them. Fifteen foundation patterns have made this year by wardrobe demonstrators, bringing the total number of patterns for the county up to 108.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

NO PROFIT ON TEXAS

Grand Rapids, Mich. — The Michigan Supreme Court has frowned upon Roger Skutt's ingenious plan for reducing his mortgage. When the city authorized taxpayers to work out delinquent taxes by manual labor at $18.50 per week, Roger hired a crew of laborers at $9 per week each, and started to work off taxes owed by the State Saving Association, owner of his mortgage. For each $9.00 paid by Mr. Skutt, his mortgage was reduced by $18.50 and the Association's taxes were reduced by the same amount. Court rules he was "appropriating public money" to his own benefit.

CONNECTICUT HANGS

Wethersfield, Conn. — First murderer to be hanged in 6 years of Governor Cross's term, John Siemborski was also the last. Hereafter the electric chair replaces the gallows in the Nutmeg State. The change-over gave the condemned man's lawyers opportunity for several delays; one because he shouldn't be hanged when electrocution became the law; another because he couldn't be electrocuted when sentenced to be hanged.

SYNTHETIC DOMINEES

Los Angeles, Cal. — Investigators turned up a mail-order church which created "Doctors of Divinity" for $15, "Bishops" at $30 per head. Inquiry revealed that the 'Rev. Drake Googoo' was none other than Joe Penner's duck. Then the police took a hand.

TEXAS WANTS HEORINE CLOTHED

Dallas, Texas — Winning a $25,000 memorial to the pioneer woman of Lone Star State was only the beginning of New York Sculptor William Zorach's troubles. Although the committee voted unanimously for his nude pioneer group—a father, mother and two children—patriotic Texans raged against their lack of clothing; a feminine contingent protested that the woman wore no wedding ring.

LOBBY PROBE GAINS HEADWAY

Washington, D. C. — Tackling the many anti-New Deal organizations, the Senate Lobby Investigating Committee delved into the financing of "The Crusaders," through their Commander Fred G. Clark. Among the industrialists listed for hefty contributions were Irene and Lamot du Pont Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Edward F. Hutton, J. Howard Pew, George M. Moffett and E. T. Weir. Organized to fight Prohibition, Repeal left 1,250,000 Crusaders without a cause. Following a pep meeting in Chicago they decided to fight the New Deal. A war chest of $175,000 has paid for 87 broadcasts, at a cost of $148,000 "to clarify public opinion."

CAMERON CONDUCTS PAINT PAPER DEMONSTRATION

The local yard of Wm. Cameron & Co. Inc., recently closed a two-day demonstration of paint and paper that was attended by a large number of Schleicher county home owners. Two rooms of wallpaper given away by the company were won by Mrs. Seth Ramsey and Mrs. S. D. Harper, Jr.

Cicera Smith who is associated with Cameron & Co., at Balinger, assisted Clarence Alfrey and Roy Smith of the local yard in conducting the two-day demonstration.

WESTERN FARMERS WITH NO ELECTRICITY BEHIND

Too many American farms are behind the times. In the west where electricity is used extensively for irrigation, and in thickly settled North Atlantic States, about one farm in three has electric service. In the South and throughout the Middle West rural electrification is very much rarer and in some States almost non-existent.

The Rural Electrification Administration believes that concerted action by farmers, private industry and the Government, using modern methods and modern practices, can change this condition radically. Line costs are now much lower than they were even a year ago, contributions toward the cost of extensions have been reduced or eliminated entirely, rate schedules are simpler and in many cases lower, and Federal loans are available in every state of electrifying a farm.

REA will lend money to build rural lines and to wire groups of farms; the Electric Home and Farm Authority helps to finance the purchases of appliances.

G.O.P. FORMS OWN BRAIN-TRUST

Washington, D. C.—Not to be outdone by the Roosevelt brain-trust, Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican National Committee has announced his own brigade of heavy thinkers. Some 80 professors will "conduct a genuine analytical study of the various problems of government which confront us today." Optimistically, he adds, "the work of the division will be available when we take over the government next January."

GOETHE IN DISCARD

Berlin, Germany—The brand of patriotism preached by the gentle Goethe, beloved philosopher of the Fatherland, lacks the blood-and-thunder demanded by the Nazis. Hereafter, 'My Battle' and "Diary of a War Flyer," by Wilhelm Goering, Prussian Premier and Minister for Air, will supplant the creator of "Faust" in the elementary readers of Reich schools.

RECREATION ASSOCIATION DISCUSSES PLANS

Twenty six ladies represented seven home demonstration clubs at a meeting of the Schleicher County Recreational Association held at the Rock Tourist Camp Saturday when the suitability of the various phases of recreation for different communities was discussed. Following the discussion, a program of songs, mental contests and folk dances, including the Grand March and Virginia Reel were given.

In a talk to county home demonstration club representatives at a recreational school, Miss Pat Talbot Schleicher County Home Demonstration Council Recreational Chairman, said that physical activities were necessary for health, gave rest and joy; that through games, people were taught to think quickly, taught cooperation, taught boy and girl self control; that folk dancing developed posture, response to rhythm, helps the adolescent to adjust himself to society, teaches courtesy and manners, coordination; that music and singing give satisfaction in participation, outlets, restfulness in listening, cultural advantages.

Different types of recreational activities directed by Miss Talbot at this program were paper contest games, singing, and folk dancing.

Twenty home demonstration club members attended the program.

The Association will hold its next meeting at 1:30 p. m. May 9.

Mrs. Jack Kerr returned Sunday from Christoval where she has been for medical treatment during the past month.

After trying many brands of medicines—so-called relief for gas, and all of them a failure, I gave up hopes. By chance I tried Alka-Seltzer—I am more than satisfied. Geo. Bennett, New York, N. Y.

COUNTRY WOMAN'S CLUB STUDIES PATTERNS

The Country Woman's Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday, April 15, at the home of Mrs. Will Lewis for an all-day meeting with a covered dish luncheon.

The program consisted of cutting sleeve patterns from foundation patterns. One six gored slip pattern was also cut from a foundation pattern.

In the afternoon refreshments were served to Mrs. Marion Wade, Mrs. L. Kent, Mrs. Marion Owens, Mrs. Fred Gillespie, Mrs. Tom Alexander, Mrs. Gordie Alexander, Mrs. Bill McSwain, Mrs. Richard Cheatham, Mrs. Claude Alexander and Mrs. Lewis. The club's next meeting will be with Mrs. Marion Owens on May 6th.

MRS. PAUL NIXON MAKES ATTRACTIVE SUIT

Mrs. Paul Nixon, cooperator in the Country Woman's Home Demonstration Club, has found that bean sacks make attractive suits. Mrs. Nixon used five bean sacks in making a swagger suit, and used three packages of brown dye to give it a deep even color.

Mrs. Nixon says that with two or three washings, the material loses the original stiffness which the sacks have.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." ... If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.
