EDITORIAL

This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him, and saved him out of all his troubles.—Psalm 34:6.

There is a good deal said about the desirability of the little shop and store owner in a community, but most people when they go out to buy an article, hunt up the big store, thus making the big fellow bigger and the little fellow littler. The strange part of it is that the same person, after having helped with his patronage to make the big fellow bigger, will sit down and howl his head off about the big business in this country is strangling the little fellow. It is the customer who gives all his trade to the big fellow who is responsible for the strangling of the little fellow.

Statistics show that in good times the mortgage debt of the country increases and during hard times and depression times the debts are paid off. The reverse obviously would be the wisest policy.

So live that when you die people will say that your place in the community will be hard to fill.

Most of yards that have been raked this spring in this section have been raked by the women of the house. It is possible we have overlooked some yards that the men have raked but it has not been an intentional oversight. Being a man we can easily understand why the women have done most of the raking jobs that have been done in the community. The women are so eager to get at spring cleaning that they simply get the job done before the men can get around to it.

So much ridicule has been directed against a statement made by candidates that their entrance into the race is prompted purely by the insistence of their friends that even when such is the case, a candidate hesitates a long time before he will offer this as a reason for his entrance into the race.

It is a disturbing fact in view of the terrific inroads being made in soil fertility by water and wind erosion and soil depleting crops that disintegration of every civilization in the past has been preceded by a similar destruction of the soil.

A bank will work to get a bunch on its own books because of the income produced through interest and then immediately proceeds to get the loans collected in so it can make a new lot. Why bother about collecting a small loan from a good interest-paying customer only to replace him with another?

Our faith in the power of the press has received quite a jolt the past three years. About every other individual and industry in the country has been subsidized and received government checks except the newspapers. We would have welcomed an opportunity to plow under a few unprofitable subscribers and gotten a check for their subscription.

The older generation built most of the houses and churches and school houses in town and the younger generation can't even keep them painted.

When a firm has run down a competitor's merchandise to a customer in an effort to sell its own it is a pretty good sign that the merchandise doesn't have enough merit of its own to sell it.

Times change. Nowadays a man will leave a thousand dollar automobile out in the weather and think nothing of it. A few years back and the same person wouldn't thought for a minute of leaving out over night a hundred dollar buggy.

Every town should have a zoning ordinance for the protection of property owners. It is unfair to property owners who have kept up their property, and have at considerable cost and labor, made it attractive, to have some one come into possession of the lot next door or in the same block and put in an objectionable business that causes every property

How Cardui Helps Women To Build Up

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up, certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for helping them back to good health. . . . Mrs. C. E. Ratliff, of Hinton, W. Va., writes: "After the birth of my last baby, I did not seem to get my strength back. I took Cardui again and was soon sound and well. I have given it to my daughters and recommend it to other ladies." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

in the block to deteriorate in value. It is unfair where no such ordinance exists to attempt to control the type of building that be put on a lot after the purchase of the lot has been made for this specific purpose. If there is such an ordinance in force a purchaser is bound to know of this fact and property owners can be assured there is no danger that some day the value of their property will be considerably reduced because of the coming of an undesirable business into the neighborhood. No town should be without a zoning ordinance.

Among Indians he was in highest esteem who could bring in the most scalps or the most game. Things aren't so greatly different today. In most communities he is held in highest esteem who can bring in the most dollars, the biggest house, the best car, or who can provide the most clothes and jewelry. The Indian was merely a trifle more frank and elementary in his expression.

Even the man who likes to work can get more done when driven by necessity and pushed by the landlord and the butcher and baker and candlestick maker.

Walter Winchell used the apt phrase that we have heard in describing the execution of Hauptmann. Winchell, in referring to the unfortunate details given in the publicity of the execution said it was "hippodromed" The American newspapers and the radio have nothing to feel proud over in the manner in which details of this execution were given the public. Nothing was omitted but the sound effects Americans are criticised as a race of gamblers. It is true, we are a race of gamblers. Our scheme of living has made us so. A farmer who puts out a crop gambles with nature and the markets. A merchant who puts in a big stock gambles that crops will be good, or the year will be good, and he will have a good business. There is too much chance entering into every day living to expect to keep submerged the gambling instinct.

Records show that people do not pay off their debts when times are good, rather they increase them. A study of the farm mortgage debt of this country shows that during the years of 1910 to 1920 which represents the all time high of prosperity for the farm industry, farm mortgage debt in this country doubled in volume. Since the outset of the depression, mortgage has been reduced. The operation of foreclosures entered considerably into the reverse would be better practice, since during depression years land values depreciate and investments can be made with the expenditure of considerable less capital.

Our guess is that advocates of military unpreparedness will not offer Ethiopia as an example of a nation that did not keep itself prepared. When it comes to nations believing too literally in the theory that the meek shall inherit the earth, doesn't work so well unless one has some awfully good neighbors.

A cotton picking machine has been devised by two men, John D. and Mack D. Rust, that will pick as much cotton as from 50 to 100 men can pick. The inventors hesitate to market their machine for fear that in the south, it will demoralize that labor whose sole dependence in some sections is the picking of cotton.

The Bureau of Printing Engraving will be required to print 38,000,000 "baby bonds" to pay the bonus.

MOTORISTS GET BREAK

Motorists of Texas got two advantageous rulings from the state highway commission following a conference of the commissioners with directors of the Associated General Contractors' Texas chapter.

First the commission promised that competitive bidding will be sought on all state road work in future, except in cases of extreme emergency on small construction jobs. The commission within recent weeks has ordered a considerable volume of work on roads leading to Centennial centers by the force amount, or day labor method, classifying this work as "emergency" Because experience has proved the contract system is cheaper and gets the work done more quickly, the commission announced it would issue a memorandum to all its district engineers, specifying competitive bidding on all but the most extreme emergency jobs in the future.

At the same time, the commission announced contractors have agreed in cases where funds are not immediately available for complete financing of certain, road projects, to accept an "installment" payment method on such contracts, accepting the contract at once for the entire job, and completing it immediately. This means that in a county where funds are available, for example, at the rate of $5000 a month, on a road job costing $100,000 that the work will be done within two or three months, and paid for over a period of 20 months, instead of dragging out the job and leaving the roads torn up for the entire 20-month period to the extreme inconvenience of the public or delaying start of the work until the entire necessary fund is accumulated.

ROAD TAX POLICY

Of tremendous interest to communities in Texas that want more and better roads—which includes virtually every community in the state—was this clear declaration of highway tax policy voiced by Governor Allred in welcoming visiting members of the Oklahoma state highway commission who came to Austin to observe methods of their Texas colleagues.

"The highway department of a state should be free of executive interference, and this administration has maintained a hands-off policy," said Gov. Allred. "The highway department should not be a political organization, and every person connected with it should be free to think, speak and vote as he pleases.

"When we get good highways into every rural section, then will be the time to talk about reduction or cessation of taxes for highway purposes. I was opposed to diverting highway revenues for purposes other than highway building two years ago, and I still stand on that statement. The use of gasoline taxes to retire bonds voted to pay for roads now in the state system has brought untold relief to taxpayers. I have no patience, however, with any scheme to divert any further funds for any purpose from the revenues now collected from motorists to pay for highways; nor with taking any random chances to substitute other forms of tax revenue for what we have."

Allred's Answer

The governor's speech was interpreted by observers as an answer both to one candidate for governor who would summarily wreck the present well-tested method of financing road-building in Texas, and to certain wealthy bond brokers who bought up millions of county road bonds at depression prices, and now seek to make the state use its available road-building money to pay off these "dead horses" at an enormous profit to the holders of such bonds.

CONSTRUCT HUGE BASTILLE; THEN MOB TEARS IT DOWN!

Stone by stone, workmen at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayear studio constructed one of the largest "sets" ever erected for a motion picture—the reproduction of the notorious Bastille of Paris.

Stone by stone, four months later, that same building was razed in one of the most spectacular scenes ever recorded by a camera—the storming of the Bastille by the French revolution-ary mobs.

It all was a part of the filming of "A Tale of Two Cities," Dickens' classic novel, which comes to the Lone Star Theater starting Friday as one of the most important photoplays of the year. Roland Colman is the star.

The Bastille, in its motion picture form, was almost an exact duplicate of the original fortress which dominated Paris from the fourteenth century. State prisoners were confined there, many without trial. It became a symbol of the hated power of the French government, and its destruction by the mobs was a symbol of the downfall of despotism.

From the fall of the Bastille is dated France's Independence Day.

"A Tale of Two Cities" presents this Revolutionary mob scene on a grand scale, thousands of extra players taking part. The picture was produced by David O. Selznick and directed by Jack Conway, the duo responsible for "Viva Villa!" Selznick's most recent M-G-M success was "David Copperfield," also from a Dickens classic.

With Colman, the star, is an amazing cast of 112 players, prominently among whom are Elizabeth Allan, Edna May Oliver, Reginald Owen, Basil Rathbone, Blanche Yurka, Henry B. Walthall, Donald Woods, Walter Catlett, Fritz Leiber, H. B. Warner, Mitchell Lewis, Claude Gillingwater, Billy Bevan, Isabel Jewell, Lucille Laverne, Tully Marshall and many more.

TEXAS WANTED TO BE AGRICULTURAL MINDED

J. E. McDonald, Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of Texas, is anxious that every Texan be agriculturally minded, to the extent of being able to sell the agricultural opportunities of Texas to our Centennial visitors.

In an effort to make this movement state-wide, he is calling on all commercial organizations to bring about a store, plant or shop movement through which all employees may inform themselves on agricultural matters, and thus be able to tell customers and visitors about the great agricultural possibilities offered in Texas.

He is asking that all professional and business people keep on display, in their reception rooms, pictures, representative of some phase of agriculture in this State, and copies of Agricultural Journals for the benefit of patients, clients and visitors.

RABIES CONTROL RULES ARE GIVEN

Austin, May 7.—Rabies is increasing in prevalence in many parts of Texas, although it may be controlled and even could be exterminated by intelligent measures, according to records of the State Health Department. Unfortunately it has been the practice to wait to apply control measures until the disease is wide spread.

The dog is the chief source of rabies infection in man, but all warm blooded animals are susceptible. Contrary to a wide spread belief, rabies is not a warm weather disease. It occurs just as frequently in the cold months. The most logical procedure in the control of rabies would be to vaccinate all dogs. Where this impossible the stray dog should immediately be impounded, for the stray dog is chiefly responsible for the spread of rabies.

Public health authorities are handicapped in their fight against the spread of rabies because rabies in humans occurs only frequently. However, it must be remembered that rabies is 100 per cent fatal once the disease has developed. Treatment is only preventive and must be taken in time.

Do not kill the dog that is behaving strangely or immediately after it has bitten some one. The animal should be captured and kept under observation for ten days to determine whether it has rabies or not. Confinement should be ample secure, for a dog in the furious rabies requires a much stronger collar and chain or enclosure than a non-rabid dog.

When the rabies virus is put into the body by a biting dog virus travel slowly from the wound along the nerves until it reaches the brain and spinal cord. Thus if the bite is on the face the virus does not have far to travel to reach the brain. Consequently bites on the face are the most dangerous and immunization must be started at once.

It is possible to control rabies, but, owing to the large territory included in Texas, it will take extra efforts on the part of public health workers and the cooperation of the people of each town and county to carry on an educational program for this control.

Schools are urged to present the matter to their student body, those of the higher grades with a view of having a large number of essays written by such students, the best, selected by the superintendent, it is planned, to be published in the local paper.

He respectfully requests that state newspapers devote considerable space to the agricultural products of their local territories, covering the matter from both a sectional and state-wide view point.

SNAKE BITE SEASON SUGGESTS CAUTION

Austin, April 30, Spring fever, that seasonal malady which accompanies the first warm days and early blossoms, has become more or less of an epidemic, Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, reminds the citizens of Texas with some suggested precautions.

The most outstanding symptom of spring fever is the urge felt by both old and young to get out into the open as often as possible. While people are getting all the benefits from contact with Mother Nature, Dr. Brown urges the use of common sense precautions.

"Some of the plamour has been taken from the swimming hole by the modern pools," Dr. Brown said, "but it is more than offset by the sanitation and safety devices which promote health and save lives. Swimming now can be learned by anyone, without the needless sacrifice of lives and without the constant threat of typhoid fever which is a hazard of every out of the way swimming place.

"With the first excursions into woods and fields in quest of wild flowers, everybody should remember that about 75 per cent of snake bites occur on the lower extremities. Snakes bites could be prevented to large extent by wearing boots or heavy leggins and being cautious.

"If one should be bitten by a rattlesnakes, prompt action is necessary and a physician should be obtained as soon as possible. No time should be lost in removing the poison by suction. Apply tourniquet above the wound and make cross-cut incisions over the fang marks. Suction should be applied for at least half an hour. The most dangerous fluid is farthest away from the wound; its absorption must be prevented as it is the source of the systemic poisoning. Release tourniquet every 10 or 15 minutes for about a minute at a time.

"Obtain the services of a physician at the earliest possible moment."

ROUND-UP OF CHILDREN WHO WILL ENTER SCHOOL

Austin, April 30.—One of the most interesting round-ups of Centennial Year in Texas, it the summer round-up of the children who will enter school next fall. The Summer Round-Up of the children is the major health project of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The local parent-teacher group of each community endeavors to have parents who have children ready to enter school next fall, take these children to their family physician for a physical examination so that any defects they might have may be corrected during the summer months. It takes the special knowledge which a physician has acquired to discover and remove any physical or mental handicap which threatens a child's well-being. A fall check-up is made of these same children with the result that the child entering school for the first time may be as free from physical and mental handicaps as possible.

It is a most essential factor in the life of each child that he be free from all physical defects in order that he may do his best work when in school. The child has allowed to play most of his time until he comes of school, age, so it is most important that all handicaps be removed when he is asked to take up that part of his career which has to do with his mental training. The child who does not hear or see well would be able to get the same benefits from his school work as the child who does not have these handicaps.

Each child entering school should be immunized against diphtheria and smallpox.

As the child begins to mingle with members of other children, it is also necessary that he be instructed as to personal cleanliness, and a healthy attitude toward his schoolmates. The child's personal health habits control to a large degree the spread of communicable diseases in the school.

The health and well-being of our nation rests upon the opportunities given the children of today.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Huge Fund for Social Security
Washington, D. C.—Congress considers this week the President's request for a fund of $160,800,000 to finance the Social Security Board's program for old-age pensions and unemployment insurance.

Learn Rations for Hapsburgs
Vienna, Austria — Exiled in Belgium, Archduke Otto still awaits a call to resume the ancient Hapsburg Austria throne. Returning from a visit to the royal exiles, Major Josef Tirouschek, before a meeting of local Royalists, spluttered: "I learned that meat is rarely seen on the royal table . . . I noticed a 2-inch hole in the shoe of an Archduchess." Before the World War the Hapsburgs had $5,000,000 a year pocket money; Otto's estimated income now is $50,000.

"Mr. Dooley" Dies
New York City—Finely Peter Dunne, beloved philosopher of an earlier generation and creator of "Mr. Dooley", died at the age of 68. During the Spanish-American War, his quaint Irish character became nationally known for his political witticisms.

The "Bike" is Back
New York City—The bicycle of the gay 90's is steadily staging a comeback. More than a million "bikes" were sold in 1898; last year the output reached 642,000, highest in fifteen years. So popular is the sport that the New Haven Railroad last Sunday ran a special "Cyclers Train" into New England for 200 enthusiasts, who piled out in Connecticut, pedaled over auto-free sequestered woodland roads for 7 hours, returned to town by rail. Chicago has 40 miles of cycle paths and a program for spending $2,000,000 to provide more.

Aliens on Way Out
Washington, D. C.—The Senate has passed and sent to the President for approval the Dickstein Bill, providing for the deportation of aliens proved to have married American citizens for the sole purpose of gaining admission into this country.

Spring Plunge Suggested
Greensboro, Ga. — Defeated for Coroner of Greene County, A. S. (Jack) Moore inserted this note in the local paper: "I want to thank the intelligent and upright 96 voters who cast their ballots for me . . . the 2,321 who cast their ballots against me can go jump in the lake."

Movies Have Birthday
New York City—Just 40 years ago in a local music hall Thomas A. Edison publicly projected the first flickery shadows on a screen through his Vitascope. Twelve short subjects included the busy canals of Venice and Kaiser Wilhelm reviewing his troops. One review wrote: "Wave after wave broke, just like the real thing. Some of the people in the front rows seemed afraid they were going to get wet, and looked around to see where they could run to." Since then, 200,000,000 annual admissions represent a movie box-office income of a billion dollars a year.

Another Bishop Opens Saloon
Denver, Col.—Thirty years ago, the Rt. Rev. Henry Codman Potter, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, opened a model saloon with religious ceremonies, holding that the saloon was a "poor man's club." Bishop Frank Rice, founder of the Methodist Church, Inc., to the consternation of the regular Methodist Episcopal Church, has gone far beyond Bishop Potter's experiment. In the Windsor Hotel, where his congregation meets, he dedicated "Tabor Bar", named after the late U. S. Senator Horace A. W. Tabor. In a room decorated with Biblical and patriotic scenes, ordained ministers of the Methodist Church, Inc., stand back of a 14-foot bar, dispense free beer to worshippers.

Prophecies Fulfilled
Washington, D. C.—Seven years ago Mayor Miguel Mariano Gomez of Havana, Cuba, visited Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt at Albany, N. Y. "You ought to be something more than the Governor of a State", he said in admiration of Mr. Roosevelt's personality. Politely, the latter thought Cuba must have a bigger job for the Mayor of its capital city. The two compared notes during the week at the White House. Havana's Ex-Bayor had become President-elect of Cuba; his Ex-Governor host was mounding ammunition for his second race for the Presidency.

The Birthday of a Princess London, England — Princess Elizabeth, second heir of the throne of Great Britain celebrated her 10th birthday quietly because of Court mourning for George V. Only the immediate family gathered at Windsor Castle for her party, and even "Uncle David", the King, was prevented by State affairs to present her gift in person, a gold-crested monogrammed riding crop.

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theodor's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

Get alloyed oil . . . and you'll get the difference

Ask your wife. The least little heat makes smoke out of some of the oily substances she puts in her frying pan. They vanish double quick, while others stay put.

That's the sort of difference your hilliest hot-weather drive will show you in Germ Processed, the alloyed oil. Patented.

It not only stays up around "Full," but stays right up in every working surface of your engine. Yes, the pistons, cylinders, valve gear, and any types of bearings ever used, can really take in this alloyed oil. You might say they become lastingly, smoothly "oil-glazed."

And you can see that this added sleek oil-surfacing, together with the high-durability Germ Processed oil-film, easily doubles your guard against summer grief. Now when you want to go farthest fastest, get Conoco Germ Processed oil—the alloyed oil. Continental Oil Company.
