City Has Enigneers Here Wednesday Planning Street Work

M. M. Moseley, Leach and Cooper, State Engineers, were here Wednesday planning with the city authorities for doing some much needed work in our city, with money the City is expecting to get from the reconstructing Finance Co-operation.

Some of the projects being planned is topping the street to the Santa Fe Depot; the road to the cemetery is to be improved, and the street to the Baptist Church and the Methodist Church is to be extended to the Church Property. The city authority is endeavoring to keep up the needed work that will supply labor here with something to do. These Engineers are from Coleman and are making an estimate of the work for the City Council. They are also trying to get money for the erection of a hospital here.

SHEPPARD'S RECORD

(Dallas News)

One paragraph in an editorial in The News, Aug. 5, says "The News has not always thrilled to the vibrant record of Morris Sheppard, senior Senator from this more or less imperial State. It has hinted its convictions that Mr. Sheppard was a one-string man with prohibition as his only tune."

In being the father of, and putting over prohibition, for the whole United States, Mr. Sheppard has done more for his State and country in the way of real constructive legislation than any other living man who ever went to Washington in the capacity of a Senator. And if he can keep the amendment on the statute books of the Nation by his oratory and sound logic, he will need to do absolutely nothing else to far more than earn his salary.

Dr. D. H. Hancock,
133 East Tenth Street, Dallas

Perry Johnson was in from his farm Monday and furnished The Success with an article on Prohibition which is being published in another column in this issue. We have constantly ask our readers of this County to contribute to either side of the question that they saw fit to discuss and we appreciate them.

The Editors views sometimes get stale and another's sometime make interesting reading. The question involved is the greatest issue that has confronted the people of Schleicher County and Texas. Since the days of Civil war and should not be passed off lightly. It needs thrashing out and the evils on the return of the traffic should be told from every house top. Mr. Johnson is doing his bit this week.

Mrs. J. W. Hoover enjoyed a visit last week end from her mother and brother, Mrs. Kaykendal and son, Ulice of Cherokee and a sister Mrs. Brock Ashby of San Sabe. They returned home Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. H. T. Finley entertained the Eldorado Bridge Club Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Wood made a business trip to Dallas the first of the week.

San Angelo Mayor Says Bonds Must Carry

Brown F. Lee, well known attorney here and Mayor of San Angelo who spoke over KGKL at San Angelo Tuesday night, says it is necessary for the $20,000.00 bond issue to carry in Texas for the relief work that will have to be done this winter. Mr. Lee is well posted and should know wherein he speaks. County and city officials and merchants are in better position to know the needs of the country than others. The Success passes on to you the views of Mayor Lee of San Angelo, who urges that the bond issue be voted in Texas, for relief work.

Lions Club In Luncheon

The Lions Club met Wednesday with a large attendance and a new member being announced. Three visitors, in persons of Charlie Mund, Perry Johnson and Fred Baker. Mr. Baker being from El Paso. After the introduction of the visitors, Lion Bradley, who has been one of the committee to get finished the work on the walk to the school building, reported that after so long a time he was ready and could report that the walk was finished with an asphalt topping. This sidewalk proposition was among the first projects the Lions ever tackled; and for several years have been constantly planning its construction, knowing that it was something that must be done, and it was a delightful moment when the committee could report the project finished and the Eldorado rejoices in the work completion. This project, alone, is worth the Lions efforts for their entire existence.

The Committee on Boy Scouts, Hut reported that the Hut would be finished before the week end. This, too, was a worthy proposition and will stand as a monument to Lionism in Eldorado.

Mr. Holt who attended the International Meeting at St. Louis made a splendid report to the club as to what he learned and heard at the Convention, which made the club feel as the time and trouble spent in the work has been beneficial. This Convention was held July 11 to 14th but this is the first time Lion Holt, had time to make a report.

Frank Douglas Shoots Negro Boy

Last Thursday on the Douglas farm near town Frank Douglas shot a negro boy, a son of Sam Washington, while the boy was taking a swim in the tank, but was out on the tank wall when shot. None of the shots were of serious effect as they scattered from the negroes chin to his knees. The Negro boy was accompanied to town in a wagon by another negro boy who witnessed the shooting, a son of Dick Fay. Upon reaching town the boy reported the incident, but Sheriff Conner was out of town, a physician was called and the boy looked after. When Sheriff Conner arrived in the night he went to the Douglas farm and brought Mr. Douglas in and placed him in jail. He claimed to have accidentally shot the negro. He appeared before Justice of the Peace, C. C. Doty, who released him without bond. District Attorney G. L. Lewis was out Monday and took statement from the Negro boy, and decided to let the matter stand to await the action of the grand jury, according to a statement from Sheriff Conner.

The station will be used each night at 9:30 o'clock, beginning next Monday. Dr. W. R. White, executive secretary of the prohibition forces, will speak the first two nights. ## BASE BALL AT FAIR PARK SATURDAY

W. A. Hampton of Station A has announced that his hard hitters will cross bats with a San Angelo delegation led by Ellis, at the Eldorado Fair Park Saturday afternoon. The Station A boys have been playing some good ball this season, and the coming game Saturday afternoon at 3:30 should be an interesting game. The usual admission of 15 and 25 cents will be charged.

THE BARGAIN DAYS WILL SOON END

For the past few years we have had many kinds of Bargains and especially along about the first of 1933, but the real cheap bargain days are passing away. Everything is advancing in price and what we once called bargains will not be here in a sense, but yet there will be bargains in the present day prices all along through life. So if you contemplate doing any buying in the near future it would be the thing to do, to do it now. There will never be a cheaper age in some time to come. Every depression has had its end and this one has stayed some longer than most of them, but everything is on the upward clumb and very little prospect for it to decline to a lower level than at present. The months of August will see manw raises in prices of every day used articles, some of which is needed in every home. Labor must be raised or people will suffer. The foods of the day have already fund a much higher mark and the wage earner must have an increase or else he will be unable to buy.

W. E. Bruton was in the city from his dryland farm Tuesday and invited the editor out to his neighborhood, where he saw the NRA was not bothering any one and hard times were never heard of.

Sam Harrison of McCamey, who was stabbed by a negro, Tuesday, is a brother of Mrs. Hop Cheatham. He was rushed to San Angelo where he was attended by physicians and it is thought unless some kind of complications sets up he will be all right in a few days. Mrs. Cheatham was called to San Angelo Tuesday afternoon.

John Martin, ranchman of Sutton County, was in Eldorado Friday shaking hands with friends and visiting his mother Mrs. C. S. Martin, in the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Poer.

BORN—Monday night at Fredesicksberg, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Tom R. Henderson.

A meeting of the Board of Trustees of Eldorado Independent School District will be held at the school building on Thursday night August 17, at 8:00 o'clock for the purpose of adopting a budget for the school year 1933-34.

Tisdale Well To Be Plugged And Abandoned

Considerable regret was registered this week when the Promoters of the Tisdale Well, The Eastland Oil Co., decided to plug the well after losing another string of piping in the hole.

The Sunday morning Times carried an item stating that the well would be abandoned and plugged. This will leave Schleicher County without an active test. Others may be drilled but many looked to this one, as well as the Nicks fr production, and the plugging of each before they were finished is a disappointment to many.

COTTON ESTIMATE GIVEN AT 12,314,000

The Government estimated that the cotton crop for this year would be 12,314,000 bales, had the cotton reduction act not been carried out the estimate would have been 16,561,000. This would give America a larger crop this year than last.

Schleicher County will suffer this year on the reduction act. The dry weather has cut off from a third to one half, and one third has been plowed up. This means that about 2,000 bales or less will be gathered here this fall. This also means that many local people who have been employed each year in the cotton fields here will not have employment this fall at least only about one fourth of the original crop will be gathered.

WHO IS THE SANTA CLAUS?

A lot of people have come to look upon Uncle Sam as a financial Santa Claus.

They forget that every dollar that he gives to his children has to first be taken away from those children in the form of taxes. It is just beginning to percolate into the people's minds that the $3,300,000,000 public works program is going to have to be taken from them, the taxpayers.

Every community is clamoring for a share of this fund and although the government gives 30 per cent outright of sums allotted to projects which it approves, the remaining 70 per cent must return by additional tax levies in every political subdivision obtaining a loan. The 30 per cent that is given outright must be dug up by all the people for the favored section to which it is given. The public works program, which has been passed as an emergency measure in time of stress, must of necessity increase the burden of the taxpayers, unless ways and means are found to cut government costs in some manner, sufficiently to off-set this new expense.

It is well for the people to begin to understand that each citizen is a separate Santa Claus who pays for every "gift" presented to him by his government.—Independent Review.

Earnest Stubbs of Blanco was here this week leasing out the ranch and farm of his sister, Mrs. Georgia Gillespie, R. J. Hill has leased the grass and farm for another year. He has been using the grass the past year, but gets the whole place for the coming year. Mrs. Gillespie goes back to Blanco to nurse her invalid mother.

Prof. Fred Baker and wife of El Paso are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Baker on the ranch this week, and were in Eldorado Wednesday guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Baker. Mr. Baker has been in El Paso in the school work over a decade and is a former product of our own High School.

AUGUST 4, 1933.

Senator Morris Sheppard will tour Texas this month in an effort to keep the state from voting to repeal the 18th Amendment of which he is the author. He will be aided by Senator Tom Connelly who also refuses to support President Roosevelt's repeal policy. If Texas goes wet, both Sheppard and Connelly may have serious opposition in the event they offer again for re-election.—Sterling City News Record.

Senator Sheppard and Connelly were not elected by the liquor crowd before and when that crowd rises to supremacy in Texas they will not have their support then. I am sure they received several wet votes in past elections, just like I voted for wet Roosevelt and Garner. There is some good in them if they are dry. There are many good traits about Roosevelt, although we do not agree with him on his wet platform, and have a perfect right to disagree with him and claim it a privilege. Bringing strong drinks back to your and my country, by legalizing it, will not better the situation, and when you vote for it you vote to legalize crime. No Nation ever survived on legalized crime. There are some who can drink without injury to themselves and family, but many can not. Therefore, I am not going to be a party to bringing the curse upon them for the few pennies that our great Government might collect on their woe and misery. Texas should and will appreciate such men as Sheppard and Connelly even to many of the wets. There is no better posted man on liquor in America than Senator Sheppard, and I imagine he has not told the half of what he has seen in Washington, out of respect for his colleagues. We praise the politician who had rather sacrifice an office rather than a principle, in case either has to be sacrificed. And we are glad that the threats of the wets has not intimidated them and they have the conviction to stand out for the right against the wrong. There has been a time in Texas when it was not popular to get on the Dry side. Then the situation turned, and now many politicians are trembling in the knees, afraid to speak, not so with these. They are speaking in terms not uncertain, and Texas will continue to honor them in the days to come in case they see fit to offer.

It pays to advertise. The liquor interests have been advertising for 13 years that conditions were worse now than under the open saloon. So persistent have they been, until now they have convinced many pros, that you can sell liquor better in a coal bin a mile from the main street, than you could set it out in open saloons. That is, there would be less sold with open saloons, than as it is today by the bootleggers. Of course, all drinkers are supporting the open saloon and don't believe their own dope, and so are some prohibitionist supporting the open saloon. The older generation know better, the younger ones who do not know the evils of the old saloons days, and can only see the operation of the present day bootlegger, might have an excuse, but for men who have witnessed the old time misery of the liquor traffic have no excuse.

We understand that the prohibition forces of Texas have leased time on the powerful station at Eagle Pass and will broadcast each night from now until August 26th. The benefits to be derived for the maintenance of prohibition in Texas, and why Texas should vote to retain the 18th Amendment. If you have doubts as to the way you should vote, tune in on this station and listen to these Christian men tell the story, one that you will not see in the press of the country.

PROHIBITION FIGURES

"The Bureau of Prohibition, actually cost the federal government nothing to operate last year. There was appropriated thru the original transfer of the two deficiency acts a total of $9,623,390. Fines imposed in federal courts and collected amounted to $3,447,558.88. There were taxes and penalties collected of $568,147.68. There was realized from sales of seized property $104,502.55. This makes a total return of $4,480,173.39. Fines imposed in state courts in cases made by federal juries amounted to $1,091,996.45. Then we seized property appraised at $21,484,730 and automobiles appraised at $3,218,323. The value of the property and the state fines would wipe out the difference between the appropriations and the total of federal court fines collected, taxes and penalties and returns from seized property. WE WILL RETURN to the treasury between one hundred sixty and one hundred seventy thousand dollars."

Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, Director of Prohibition.

The return to the treasury of Uncle Sam in the year 1932 between hundred sixty and one hundred seventy thousand dollars as shown by the report of Mr. Woodcock, shows clearly that Prohibition is not only self-supporting, but turns large sums back into the treasury of his government and this without costing the tax payer one red copper.

These figures, the liquor traffic knows to be correct. The liquor traffic at this time is spending sums of money sending out false reports in an effort to mislead the people. When you go to the polls to vote, remember the bloody and death game of the liquor traffic and vote for your children's sake and not against them. If you don't protect your children, who will? Liquor may not do you any harm, but you can't say that yet about your children. Men, let us lay ourselves aside and vote for the children who call us Daddy.

W. H. Marshall.

There is coming up at the election on August 26, a $20,000,000 bond issue, and we do not feel able to advise as to the way to vote. Texas has been receiving national aid for several months and if this issue is defeated it would look as if the state would likely lose considerable aid, yet at the same time it does not look like voting more bonds will rectify the situation. Jim Ferguson is sponsoring the issue and some other state leaders, but there seems to be an undercurrent to oppose all bond issues.

There will be need of assistance this winter just as bad as last winter, as people cannot get hungry and cold. Just how many will be given employment under the present NRA is yet to be seen. A state or nation should provide for its people. Yet it's people should not depend on the government feeding them. They should deny themselves many luxuries and plan for themselves until the situation changes and an honest man who wants work can find it. We do not advise you to vote for the bond issue, but we do know, and so do you, that there is going to be help needed throughout Texas this winter, and it is your duty to consider well before you vote.

While visiting around town Tuesday we found our friend Sam Loyd painting a baby crib, a new deal says Sam as we walked in, and I am looking for that new son out this week end. Sam has already begun to make preparations for a new deal at his home. Mrs. Loyd and son will be at home this week end if nothing happens to prevent their arrival. Sam is wearing a new smile along with his new deal.

The NRA has been discussed pro and con this week and we have decided that we do not know what it is all about, but I guess Franklin D. will send a fellow around pretty soon to tell us what we don't know.

Mr. and Mrs. Debbs Locklin and child of Sheffield are visiting in Eldorado at present, guests of Mrs. Locklin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Jackson.

ALFALFA A PROFITABLE CROP IN TEXAS

College Station, Aug. 7.—Restricted production of such major crops as cotton, wheat and corn offers a rich opportunity to many Texas farmers to try their hand at raising alfalfa, the premier hay and grazing crop of America, says E. A. Miller, agronomist, Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. "No farmer questions the value of this crop, but doubts if he can raise it. That he can in nearly every part of Texas is proved by thousands of alfalfa growing demonstrations fostered by county agents. Alfalfa properly planted this fall has a good chance of furnishing lots of rich hay and pasture next spring and summer," he continues.

In outlining the possibilities of alfalfa Mr. Miller states that nearly every farm in the blacklands has some land suited to the crop, and that most farms in West Texas and South Texas are adapted. Cotton is a good crop to precede alfalfa because cotton cultivation puts the land in good tilth and keeps weeds in check.

By flat breaking the land now, Mr. Miller states, it will have plenty of time to settle and be in good condition for September sowing. He suggests creek and river bottom sites as the best but says many alfalfa fields are found on level uplands. The secret to success in alfalfa growing is to pick asite that normally has plenty of moisture plow thoroughly and as nearly in advance of planting as possible, and to have a fine and well settled seed bed.

Alfalfa should be sown broadcast at the rate of 15 to 20 pounds of seed per acre, or in 3-foot rows at the rate of about 8 pounds of seed per acre.

At Lubbock, spring planting in rows is best; in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, fall planting in rows has proved best; in the rest of the state, fall broadcasting is recommended. Whenever alfalfa is planted in the spring it should be sown in rows so as to keep weeds in check. Unless the land has grown bur clover, sweet clover, or black medic before, or is known to be inoculated with alfalfa bacteria, the seed should be inoculated, or small quantities of alfalfa soil scattered with the seed.

County farm demonstration agents are in a position to assist farmers wanting to try the crop, Mr. Miller states.

APPEAL TO TEXAS PEOPLE

Austin, Texas, Aug. 8.—An appeal to all the people of Texas to forget self and to not use themselves as a yardstick measuring the proposed constitutional amendment providing for relief bonds was issued today by William Strauss, chairman of the steering committee to campaign for the measure.

"In the cities there are thousands who still draw fair salaries or have good incomes from their businesses," said Mr. Strauss, "and it is hard for them to realize the plight of their neighbor who perhaps has not had a job for a year or two years. Their children are well fed and they may forget that their neighbors' children are going hungry."

"In some sections of Texas, nature has been bountiful and cellars, pantries and bins are stocked with food. I urge these people to bear in mind that but for the grace of God they might be in the plight of their fellow farmers in the drought-stricken areas who have neither food, money nor the opportunity to earn money. Let there be no self-righteousness in this matter. Let those who have thankfully share with those who have not. The burden, if equally distributed, will be as nothing compared with the knowledge that their fellow Texans have food to eat. If this proposal is defeated hundreds of thousands will go hungry."—Sent out by committee sponsoring Bond Issue.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor

That a good permanent pasture can sometimes be produced in one year has been demonstrated by Fritz Mueller, Rutersville, Fayette county. Planned last February 25th the 12 acres now has a luxuriant stand of yellow clover, white clover, black medic and dallis grass on upland prairie. County agent says secret of success with dallis grass was that land was level terraced, crust broken with section harrow, seed broadcast and land then dragged flat with heavy log.

To re-finish and refurnish her bedroom cost Mrs. Ewald Graf, member of Hinds Home Demonstration Club in Wilbarger county $10.71. To get the money she asked the county agent to help her cull her flock of hens. These culls brought $13.42 and the remainder of the flock kept on laying the same number of eggs as before.

Knox county 4-H club boys have insured their 19 baby beef calves against death from any cause for $25 at a cost slightly more than $1.50 per calf.

Foundation patterns not only make dresses fit better but save money, declare the home demonstration club women who are everywhere enthused over this new idea of dress making. Mrs. O. P. Ellis of Lynn county illustrates the testimony of hundreds of women when she says she made a saving of $2.50 on a white silk crepe dress, which she was enabled to make at home because of having her own individual foundation pattern.

More than 9,000 pounds of wool was pooled and sold cooperatively by Newton county farmers this year for 31 cents per pound through the South-west Louisiana Wool Growers' Association.

Five wheat growing demonstrations reported by the county agent of Sherman county produced 7 to 8 bushels per acre on summer land. The only wheat harvested in the county was grown on such land, he says.

LET'S KEEP SCHLEICHER COUNTY DRY

Just a few more days before we vote to see whether we go farther forward in civilization or go back into the wet columns. Every step the good old U. S. A. has ever made has been toward civilization, and, I don't believe it will go backward this time. It sounds silly to hear people say if we vote wet it will stop boot-legging; that our boys and girls can't get anything to make them drunk. There is not a man on earth with a grain of brains but what knows that isn't so. We don't see one-tenth of the drunks now that we saw before the whiskey was voted out. If we get it back, no one will be safe on our highways. No one is fit to drive a car when intoxicated. In fact he or she is not fit for anything but to raise hell—or to be put in jail. Maybe some one will ask how I know: (By experience). Yes, I have drunk enough to irrigate my crop and spent enough money to pay all my debts, but I am getting old enough to see the folly of the way I have lived.

Just nineteen-hundred years ago there was a man nailed to the cross for trying to get the world to do right. When we think of the life that he lived, and the good that he did for humanity, and the death that he died, and know it was all for me, and know that he arose from the grave, went back to the father to plead with him for you and me, sent to us a law to lead us right in which there is nothing impossible for us to do, all of which is good, and will if we follow it faithfully, take us to where he is to enjoy all the promises he made us.

Can we forget him long enough to vote wet? no, no. Almost 60 years ago, my old mother went down into the valley of death to give me life. She has passed to her reward and is with that savior now who died for her. When I forget the broken body, the blood that my Blessed Savior shed, and the agony he suffered, when I forget the prayers, the tears, and the pleadings of my dear old mother, then will I vote the wet ticket. You may ask me what could cause me to forget just a few bottles of 3.2, or a pint of whisky, will make you forget.

You may say it makes us forget our troubles. That may be so. And let me tell you it will also make us forget every good resolution we ever made if we continue to drink it. Let us work and vote to keep the streets and highways safe for ourselves and families. All the money this beer tax would bring our government in a thousand years would not pay for the life of one innocent child snuffed out by some drunken car driver.

If we could count all the graves of broken hearted fathers and mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts, of all the poor starved and helpless children, if we could just see the young men that have filled untimely graves, do you think you could vote to bring back the demon rum. I don't believe you would. No, my friend, there is not one good word you can say for whisky. I ask you in all fairness, in the name of the God that made us, why want to bring it back. No, I am not mad at those that vote anti, but why vote to sell something that is the worst curse to humanity and the whole world that anything could possibly be.

Now in conclusion I want to ask all good people who read this, when upon bended knees offering your devotion to Almighty God remember Old PERRY JOHNSON.

WOMEN who suffer from weakness often have many aches and pains which a stronger state of health would prevent. Women in this condition should take Cardui, a purely vegetable tonic that has been in use for over 50 years. Take Cardui to improve the general tone of the system in cases of run-down health and "tired nerves." Women have found, in such cases, that Cardui helps them to overcome pains and make the monthly periods easier. CARDUI is safe and wholesome for women of all ages. Try it! Sold at the drug store.

WHAT TOOK PLACE IN DAYS OF OPEN SALOONS

You hear every day some people make remarks that it could not be any worse before prohibition than it is today. These remarks are often made by people who do not remember the social evil of the saloon days. We are this week reproducing a few articles that were published by wet papers back in the days of the saloons. Compare them with the present day happenings in the same cities and see for yourself if the same crime or evil of intoxicants still exists.

“On Saturday more than 100 ministers of all denominations in Philadelphia listened to an address by D. Clarence Gibboney, secretary of the Law and Order society, on the protection of vice in that city by the municipal authorities. In his speech Mr. Gibboney, among other things said:

“I assert that the city is honey-combed with speakeasies and unlicensed clubs, where liquor is sold to all comers. . . that criminals are protected in their diabolical business by policemen and politicians, otherwise they could not carry on business. . . . This was a terrible arraignment of the policemen and politicians and mayor of the city, but there is good reason to believe that it was well within the truth.”

—Editorial from Pittsburgh “Post”, February 13, 1905.

“The harvest of the brewers for the week ending Saturday night, increasing prosperity and long life in Joliet was one broken leg, two men cut to pieces on the railroad, one suicide, one murder, an elevator and factory burned a dwelling and another factory set on fire—the richest crop of weekly beer results in Joliet history!”

—From Joliet, Illinois, “News”, March 23, 1908.

In the good old days liquor was controlled by rigid requirements of license. Read how well controlled in 1900:

“At the meeting of the retail liquor dealers yesterday the statement was made that there are in Allegheny County 2,300 licensed dealers who sell liquor, violation of the law, every day in the year, Sundays and election days included. This is a decidedly startling assertion, for while it is notorious that speakeasies exist, and are to some extent tolerated by the authorities, there has been no visible reason to suppose that illicit traffic was being conducted on so large a scale. The district attorney of the county and the public safety directors of the city ought to be heard from on this head. If the law is being violated so extensively as the licensed dealers claim, it is manifest that there must be a whole sale neglect of duty in official quarters.”

—Editorial from Pittsburgh “Leader,” November 15, 1900
1900—Saloons, etc. operating in Allegheny County, Pa., under the Brooks law 1,047
1900—Speakeasies according to licensed liquor dealers report ..... 2,300
Total ..... 3,347
(Statistics from “New Voice”, November 20, 1900)

“After the meeting at the Moorhead W.C.T.U. rooms, Moorhead building, a representative of the “Post” asked Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Getty as to the probable course the society would pursue in the license court. Jointly they said:

“It is deplorable and we must bewail the fact that there is more drunkenness now in the city than ever. The home is being turned into a saloon. Speakeasies, as the newspapers call them, are found on every side.”

—News item from Pittsburgh “Post”, February 3, 1890.

“The decrease in juvenile delinquency during the past ten years is due to prohibition. . . . There are other factors in the improvement, all of them taken together, not equalling, in my judgement, the effect of prohibition.”

—Herbert C. Parsons, Massachusetts Commissioner of Probation, made this public statement on May 29, 1929.
