610 Texans Drown In-Nine Months

With all the water in Texas, you'd think that Texans would know how to swim.

Such was not the case with 248 people who lost their lives while swimming during the months of January through September 1974.

The grim statistics kept by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Water Safety Section show that a total of 610 Texans have drowned thus far this year.

Ninety-one hapless fishermen died and another 45 persons lost their lives in boating mishaps.

Mrs. Verna Lollar arrived from Buena Vista, Colo. to spend the holidays with her daughter, Priscilla Dowis and her granddaughter Cindy Bruce.

PILGRIM'S PROGRESS JUST BEGINNING

THANKSGIVING DAY, 1974

This Thanksgiving we can be grateful for the strength of our institutions, public and private, which have achieved so much in a few centuries and which have put a bright future for coming centuries within our grasp.

Wars, we pray, are behind us; the geographical frontiers have disappeared. Now we are searching for solutions to economic difficulties which are troublesome, but certainly not insurmountable.

It is very much in the tradition of the Pilgrims that our nation has been built on the principles of individual liberty and competitive enterprise. Our leaders, including the Administration, the new Congress, businessmen, and heads of labor unions, should be giving thanks for the wisdom of our forefathers which preserved these principles and gave us a sound basis for planning the future. Today's problems, while serious, can be solved without resorting to war or economic catastrophe.

For this we can give thanks sincerely and without reservation.

Cleaning on a Shoestring, this week's lesson, also will feature ideas for cleaning marble, tile, aluminum, and chromium.

"You Can Do It", is a 6 part educational television series, which will run through December 28. It is sponsored locally by the Gray County Family Living Committee and KAMR-TV. It was created and produced by home economics specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, through a special USDA grant.

Programs in upcoming weeks will include lessons on repairing leaky faucets, toilet repairs and adjustments, caulking and weatherstripping. Bulletins on any of the projects taught during the series are available at no charge from Elaine Houston, County Extension Agent, Box 1756, Pampa, Texas. THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Follow That Car!"

Suppose a policeman jumps into the back seat of your automobile and shouts:

"Follow that car!" Are you obliged to obey? Generally speaking, you are indeed. Under the ancient "hue and cry" doctrines of the common law, an officer may commandeer any vehicle that he needs to catch a fleeing felon.

As Judge Benjamin Cardozo once put it:

"The horse has yielded to the motorcar as an instrument of pursuit and flight. Still, as in the days of Edward I, the citizenry may be called upon to enforce justice, not faintly and with lagging steps but honestly and bravely and with whatever implements and facilities are at hand."

You may even be obliged to help in making the actual arrest (at least, say some states, if you are an "able-bodied male over 18 years of age"). To refuse, without good reason, could make you guilty of a misdemeanor.

On the other hand, in the event that you do lend a hand, the community owes you certain legal benefits in return.

For example: A man was called upon by the sheriff to help in arresting an armed fugitive. In the ensuing gunplay, he suffered a bullet wound in the shoulder.

He was therefore entitled, a court ruled afterward, to collect workmen's compensation—just like any county employee injured in the line of duty.

In another case, a clerk in a store helped a policeman make an arrest that turned out to be an error. In short order, the clerk found himself facing a damage suit for "false arrest."

But the court held him not liable. The court said making him pay damages for an innocent mistake, in no way his fault, would be shabby thanks from society to a good citizen.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe was favored as chairman of the Texas delegation to the mini-convention in a telephone poll of delegates.

A textbook publisher filed a $30 million liable and slander suit against three Texas women who successfully protested adoption of the firm's book.

AUSTIN—Legislative Budget Board heard warnings that spending demands and cost of school finance formula revision are fast eating up an anticipated $1.4 billion surplus.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said talk of tax cuts is "pre-mature" until the board completes its spending recommendations next month.

LBB aides echoed earlier words of caution that spending all the fat surplus in sight would mean a record tax bill of $1.5 billion in 1977.

They also calculated that state government agencies already have requested more than $1.7 billion in increased general revenue appropriations for the coming fiscal period. That is 80.3 per cent over the current level—and $300 million more than the anticipated surplus at the end of the next biennium.

Cost of overhauling the school finance formula — priority goal of the 1975 Legislature—was estimated at from $570 million to $873 million during 1976-77.

LBB figured it has recommended $362 million in general revenue increases for the agencies. More agencies will have their appropriations requests reviewed and acted on December 9.

The Mental Health and Mental Retardation Department would receive under Board recommendations $68.4 million in general revenue—an increase of $227.3 million, but far short of the $913.6 million requested.

Recommendations of the budget board will go to the legislature when it convenes next January to write the 1976-77 appropriations act and perform other biennial lawmaking assignments.

WIDE OPEN ALLOWABLE—For the 33rd consecutive month, the Railroad Commission ordered a 100 per cent statewide oil allowable in December.

Major purchasers of crude oil wanted slightly more than four million barrels a day produced. This is a slight decrease, of 33,912 barrels, from November.

Most purchasers asked for the same amount. One asked a substantial increase, and another decreased its nomination to buy slightly.

LIQUOR BOARD HEAD QUILTS—O. N. "Newt" Humphreys resigned under fire as administrator of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Hired in 1968 in a general cleanup move, Humphrey said he was quitting because a second member of the three-man ABC had asked him to step aside.

R. L. Thornton Jr. of Dallas had been after Humphrey's scalp since last May. Joe Burkett of Kerrville last week came over to Thornton's point of view, at least in part.

Humphrey shocked a House

Liquor Regulation Sub-Committee by announcing his move at a meeting of the group immediately after a brief closed-door ABC meeting. He indicated he was caught in a cross-fire between Thornton and Burkett over whether or not to fire some of his employees.

COURTS SPEAK—The Supreme Court took under advisement lengthy arguments over whether the Railroad Commission has power to apportion natural gas among areas in accord with supplies and needs.

A Lower Colorado River Authority $11 million contract suit against Coastal States Gas Producing Company has been transferred from Brenham to Bryan.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a life sentence ordered for a Harris County man convicted of slaying three, and ordered a new trial.

Another sentence — 35 years for sale of heroin — was reversed by the same court on grounds of hearsay notations on the evidence submission envelope.

AG OPINIONS — A county mental health and mental retardation authority must post notice of meetings on a public bulletin board in the courthouse under the open meetings law.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- When no fees are set by the legislature, district clerks can charge a reasonable fee for their services.

- There is no necessary legal incompatibility between the dual employment of independent school district tax assessor-collector and city commissioner, although such a conflict is conceivable depending on facts in each case. (Hill declined to pass definite judgment).

- A prison inmate on emergency reprieve is subject to Department of Correction rules and regulations and custody precautions.

- The Texas Air Control Board, while it has power to establish standards of performance for new stationary sources which have a practical possibility of emitting air contaminants, does not have authority to require permits for construction and operation.

NEW SCHOOL FINANCE PLAN BACKED—The House sub-committee on public school financing endorsed the "weighted-pupil" concept of distributing school aid funds.

The proposal would provide money on the basis of individual student needs within districts.

The panel also approved determining state finance assistance in proportion to full market value of property in each school district.

It made no recommendation on what salaries teachers should be paid.

Portions of six different plans for school finance revision were reviewed and borrowed from.

APPOINTMENTS—Judge T. Gilbert Sharpe of Brownsville has been named by Texas Water Rights Commission to act as conservator for Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District.

Dr. Robert A. Montgomery and John R. Guemple will be new assistant deputy state commissioners of education. Charles Nix, Dr. Severo Gomez and Dr. J. B. Morgan are associate commissioners. Dr. L. Harlan Ford will be deputy commissioner for educational program and personnel development and Alton Bowen deputy commissioner for administrative services.

Sophomores Have Party

By Cherie Billingsley
Hi. How are all the MHS Tiger Rag readers getting along. Good. Well this week-end your old Roving reporter decided to take a rest and go to a party. I whipped out my list of parties being held Friday night and decided that the Sophomore party would be my best bet. It sure was. The super evening started out by cramming people into Coach Hick's scout. By the time everyone got to Pampa we needed a good ironing. First on the agenda was supper at the Harvester. It was really good but everyone was begging for Alka Seltzers when we finished eating. Everyone had thought we'd go bowling but we were so full of bar-b-que that we decided a show would be much nicer and easier on us. We all packed in that little blue and white scout and headed for the Capri and saw American Graffiti, and "man ol' man we had it made in the shade. When the show was over we packed ourselves in the scout and started home. It was a really nice evening and I'm glad I took the time off.

Tigers Have Undercover Agent

Well, sports fans, here's a story you've never gonna believe. Would you believe that the Tiger basketball team has an undercover agent on their team? It's not a lie. Jim Bond came to McLean last month from Indiana and has really surprised many Tiger fans. Jim has many talents. He's an excellent ball-handler, but at the same time he plays ball he does a little cheerleading on the side. But that's not all, folks. He rolled around on the floor so much the janitors haven't had to sweep the floor all this week. Well, this sport fan wants to welcome Jim to McLean and wish him the best of luck along with the other Tiger players. Only one thing, Jim, please don't take up cheerleading and quit sports.

Children Must Learn "How to Learn"

The most important skill that children learn is "how to learn" one family life education specialist noted this week. She's Dr. Jennie Kitching, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System. Unless children develop the art of problem-solving--whether by intuition or by an analytical logic--their mind will remain greatly unused. They will be less able to cope with the world around them. But too often adults only give children answers to remember, rather than problems to solve. This is a mistake, she contended. The world, society and

Winter Boat Storage Calls For Action

If you've decided to give your boat a winter vacation, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department water safety experts have some suggestions which may make the beginning of next season less of a headache. Sailboat owners will want to make sure the sails are dry before storing them all winter. They should inspect their sails and repair any tears or snags. Then the sails should be folded carefully and stored in a dry place. While you're still in the mood for maintenance, the well of your sailboat should be cleaned, dried thoroughly and waxed. Inboard-outboard watercraft owners should drain the oil from their engine block if they aren't going to use their boat for some time. For safety's sake, secure a big red tag on your ignition reminding you there is "No Oil In Engine!" and be sure to fill the crankcase before you go out again. If there is gas in the tank, leave it. This will help protect the tank against rust spots which could contaminate later tanks of gasoline. But be sure to drain the old gasoline and replace it just prior to your next trip, particularly if your boat has been sitting idle for several months. Drain any water in the lower unit. The cylinder walls of outboard motors should be lubricated before storage to protect them from rusting. Drain any water in the lower unit. Batteries should be removed from all boats and stored in a dry place. Wheel bearings on trailers should be inspected and greased frequently since, by its nature, a boat trailer is dunked in water fairly often. Lubricate all other moveable parts on the trailer such as the tilting mechanism and the crank. If possible, set your trailer on blocks and store the tires out of the cold. Pay particular attention to maintaining safety equipment. For example, life jackets will last longer if they are stored in a dry place away from the cold. Finally, if you have a boat cover, use it. The elements are your enemy and you have to put forth some effort to protect your boat's value and safety. Department water safety experts say these precautions shouldn't take long, and they could save the boat owner a lot of grief come springtime.

knowledge are changing daily. Adults--parents, caregivers and teachers--cannot provide all the specific answers children need to prepare them for their adult roles. But children who have learned to think and solve problems will be able as adults to find their own answers.

Now: Sterile Moths... Fair Practices Commended
Citrus Crop Down... Milk Production Up

STERILE screwworm flies are not the only sterile being raised in the Rio Grande Valley. Sterile moths evolve into pink bollworms, the scourge of the patches, are being mass reared at a laboratory in Benito. The facilities are being expanded, and the two million moths a week may be reached soon. October 4, 65,000 sterile pink bollworm moths were to Florida and dropped on areas where wild flourishes. Intentions of the USDA are to prevent spread the pink bollworm from south Florida. Eventually, the bollworm, which was first found in Texas in 1917, Robertson County cotton field, may be brought control in a manner similar to the way screwworm been and are being controlled.

LIKE ANY INDIVIDUAL or any other agency Texas Department of Agriculture doesn't like to receive complaints and tries to do all that it can to avoid unjustifiable complaints. Department personnel were gratified recently to know that one effort is meeting with success: The staff of the Public Employees Commission recently commended the Department's eight-member Equal Employment Practices Committee which was set up by Commissioner White to try to end any discrimination within the Department. In a letter Deputy Commissioner Bill Pieratt, the Study Committee wrote: "It is encouraging to see such an impartial effective means of handling complaints... a cross-section of management and employees, men, women, and women who comprise the committee trust in the persons who might have complaints so they might voice their dissatisfaction without fear of reprisal. All members of the TDA committee are employees of the Department. Two live in the Rio Grande Valley area, in the Houston-East Texas areas, and three in the rest of Texas area.

THE VALLEY citrus crop is expected to be almost fourth less than the 1973-74 crop, according to Texas and Livestock Reporting Service. In its November forecasts, the crop now being harvested is expected to 13.3 million boxes, compared to 17.3 million boxes the previous crop. That's a 23 per cent decrease. Grape production is expected to be 7.8 million boxes, compared to 10.7 million boxes from last season. Early mid-season oranges are expected to be 3.6 million boxes, down 14 per cent from last season; and Valencia oranges are forecast at 1.9 million boxes, down 21 per cent from the previous crop. Quality of the fruit is said to be the best in recent years. Harvest has been slowed by rains have caused the fruit to grow large and, in some cases split.

TEXAS MILK production in October is estimated at 1.1 million pounds, which is the same as it was the previous month and six per cent more than for October, 1973. Average per cow was 765 pounds in October, 40 per cent more than the average a year earlier, and the price of wholesale milk in Texas was estimated at $8.99 a hundred. The dairyman's feed costs, however, were considerable. The alfalfa hay he paid $69 a ton in October, 1973 was $89 a ton in October, 1974; and percent protein mixed feed was $155 a ton in October, 1974 compared to $129 a ton the same month last year. Texas broiler chicks placed during the week of November 9 were estimated at 2,849,000, a decrease year ago of 13 per cent. Chicks hatched totaled 2,890,000 which was 12 per cent lower than at the same time in the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said.

As of mid-November, the supply situation in December is expected to look like this . . .

RED MEATS —

Beef . . . plentiful, with record large output for December, well above 1971-73 average for the month. Larger supplies of lower grade beef continue to account for increase from a year ago.

Pork . . . adequate, with output near year-ago levels — down a little from November and below December 1971-73 average.

POULTRY & EGGS —

Turkey . . . plentiful, with Dec. 1 cold storage holdings likely to be 30% above a year earlier and new-crop marketings down 5%. Would put December supply at 9% above a year earlier and one-fourth more than 1971-73 average for the month.

Broiler-fryers . . . adequate, in view of seasonally-reduced demand, with production 13% less than both last year and December 1971-73 average.

Eggs . . . adequate, with December production 3-4% under year ago and 6-7% less than 1971-73 average for the month.

MILK & DAIRY PRODUCTS —

Fluid milk, dairy products . . . adequate. Production to be up from its seasonal low in November, but below 1971-73 average for December. Commercial stocks of butter, cheese, nonfat dry milk expected at record levels for the month even though they will be at or near their seasonal lows.

FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS

Fresh cranberries, cranberry products . . . plentiful. Total

Record fall storage crop is 13% larger than last year's, 11% more than 1971-73 average. Frozen potato stocks at September's end were 46% greater than last year's limited supplies and 11% over the 1971-73 average.

Sweetpotatoes, fresh and canned . . . adequate, with total production for fresh market and processing 7% more than last year, 10% more than 1971-73 average.

Frozen vegetables . . . plentiful, with end-of-September stocks 15% above both a year earlier and the 1971-73 average. Canned vegetables . . . adequate.

Peanuts . . . plentiful. End-of-September stocks were 30% above a year ago. Crop for 1974 estimated 8% larger than 1973's record. Walnuts . . . plentiful, due largely to carryover from record 1973 crop. The 1974 crop about equals 1971-73 average. Almonds . . . plentiful. This year's crop to top record 1973 and 1971 crops by about 34%. Pecans . . . adequate, because of 1973-crop carryover, though 1974 production is 45% below 1973 and 38% under 1971-73 average.

GRAINS & LEGUMES —

Rice . . . plentiful, with record 1974 crop — 24% above last year, 30% higher than 1971-73 average.

Corn . . . adequate for food use, with production 18% under both 1973 record and 1971-73 average.

runs are lightening up. The calves are beginning to go backwards. This makes for tougher beef. These packer buyers said, there was only one place to turn too—that was the feedlots. And since numbers in the feedlots are down to half of what they were a year earlier it appears the fat market would be stimulated. There are still plenty of calves, light and heavy yearlings that don't have a home. The way it appears, the heavier one can make his calves the more per lb. you will get for them. As long as we have high feed prices we feel this price relationship will continue. We might add this is a most favorable relationship for the stocker operator. But it is plenty tough on the cow-calf operator. One of these packers with whom we talked also said light weight heifers, weighing less than 400 lbs., was up a good $2.00 per hundred pound this week.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

What's odorless, tasteless and colorless and can kill you before you know you're being poisoned?

The lethal answer to this State Health Department riddle is carbon monoxide, a product of all combustible substances--from gas used in your kitchen gas range to the gasoline in your automobile or gas-line-powered lawn mower.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is preventable, but a lot of people are unaware of its danger.

It is a threat year-round, but the most hazardous time is during the cold months of the year when homes and businesses are closed up tightly against the weather.

But, even summer air conditioning can add to the threat, say State Health Department engineers from the Occupational Health and Radiation Control Division.

In some air conditioned ware houses where forklifts are used to move heavy materials, carbon monoxide has been found at serious levels. This same problem has been found in garages, where automobile motors are often left running for tests. Enclosed parking garages and drive-in banks also have proved to be sources of troubles.

"You can't depend on leaks around doors or windows to bring in fresh air," says a Health Department engineer. "In places with a source of carbon monoxide, you've got to bring in fresh air constantly to keep up a positive pressure so stale air will be pushed out through ventilators."

The autumn chill in the air has brought heating units and gas stoves into play. Hopefully, each home owner has his heating system checked before turning it on for keeps.

This might've prevented a tragedy occurring at Killeen where a family of four went to bed one night and three were dead the next morning. A little girl survived. An inspection later showed a faulty burner and faulty duct work in the home.

With Texas in the midst of its fall and winter hunting season, hunters should check ventilation in their stoves and should-examine smokestacks and chimneys to be certain they aren't clogged.

Of particular concern are the use of catalytic heaters and other unvented heaters in tents and campers.

In the home, make sure the damper is open before lighting the fireplace. Have your gas refrigerator service-checked annually even though newer models have improved control systems. All furnaces, regardless of fuel type, should be checked and properly vented to the outside. Combustion-chamber leakage is a serious hazard, particularly if the heating unit is old. All individual room-type gas heating equipment should be vented. And, say safety experts, don't use your gas cooking range for heating.

Automobiles and trucks, as well as other gasoline engines, shouldn't be run indoors for long periods--even with the garage door open. A charcoal grill of hibachi should be used only outdoors.

While carbon monoxide poisoning is sneaky, there are recognizable symptoms--if you are alert.

Early symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning include yawning, headache, nausea, dizziness, ringing in the ears, and abdominal pain. Difficult breathing and unconsciousness quickly follow. The victim should get fresh air immediately and should be kept lying down and warm. A physician should be called promptly, and inhalations of oxygen or an oxygen-carbon dioxide mixture should be administered.

Once carbon monoxide is inhaled, it invades the blood stream through the lungs. It unites with the hemoglobin in the red blood cells so they cannot carry oxygen to the cells of the body. Asphyxiation results.

Carbon monoxide is so poisonous that when combined with red cells in the blood the bond between the two is 200 times stronger than the normal bond between oxygen and red cells. When oxygen and sizable amounts of carbon monoxide are breathed in together, the carbon monoxide muscles the oxygen aside, causing illness. If oxygen is depleted sufficiently, death follows. Many deaths occur from faulty appliances even though a window may be slightly open, says the Health Department.

At least 1,400 deaths are attributed in the United States each year to carbon monoxide poisoning. Texas had 141 deaths in 1973. More than 10,000 persons nationwide are poisoned by carbon monoxide. Those not killed may suffer temporary or permanent damage to the brain, with serious disturbances of vision, hearing, speech and memory.

Carbon monoxide is dangerous, but it doesn't have to be fatal, repeats the State Health Department. Be aware of the dangers, observe caution in the use of appliances, have them checked regularly, and you may never suffer from carbon monoxide poisoning.

Market Report

Citrus fruit quality is nearing its peak as more grapefruit and oranges come to market, one consumer expert reported this week.

"Don't pass up oranges with a greenish tinge," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, advised.

Greenish-looking oranges are the ripest fruit of all, and they're green because of a phenomenon known as regreening--due to a return of chlorophyll to the skin during warm weather.

Apples and fresh cranberries are other good seasonal choices this week.

Moderately priced fruits are grapes, bananas, tangelos, and tangelos.

Vegetable bargains focus on cabbage, carrots, potatoes and rutabagas.

Also hard shell squash, cooking greens, sweet potatoes and dry yellow onions.

At meat counters, turkey is plentiful, but chicken prices have advanced.

Pork values include Boston butt, end chops, liver and quarter-joins cut into chops. Smoked items worth checking are semi-boneless hams, picnic, bacon, frankfurters, and roll sausage.

Beef prices are down in general with bargains on chuck cuts, ground beef, sirloin steak, beef liver, and stew meat. CONSUMER WATCHWORD: Nuts are half shell-and half nut meat, with few exceptions. It takes about two pounds nuts in the shell to make one pound of nut meats.

So, if already-shelled nuts cost more than twice the price of unshelled nuts, the unshelled nuts are less expensive.
