Market Report

Beef prices jumped up a bit this week, and poultry is holding last week's price levels or creeping a "shade higher."

One observer cites lighter weight cattle coming to market for the beef increase.

"Lighter weight cattle mean less meat is available," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

She termed chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, some boneless roasts, ground beef and liver "best values."

Also, some economical buys still may be found on turkeys, and canned tuna, particularly at sale prices, is another good protein buy.

At vegetable counters cantaloupes are more plentiful with lower prices. Items with attractive price tags include bell peppers, okra, some salad greens and snap beans.

Watermelon prices remain relatively high, and dry onion prices are holding to high levels due mostly to a reduced supply.

High-quality vegetables on the market are squash (yellow, zucchini and white), potatoes, corn, cabbage, beets, collards, mustard greens, cucumbers, green onions and radishes.

Fruit buys this week range from lemons and oranges to bananas, strawberries, pineapples, avocados and apples.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Ice cream packed in an ordinary waxed-cardboard carton will keep quality longer in a home freezer if you wrap the carton in heavy aluminum foil.

Also, be sure the freezer is holding a 0 degree F., or lower, temperature.

Fishing Licenses Sales Decline

With a little more than three months left in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's fiscal year which ends August 31, the sale of fishing licenses for the fiscal year has declined by some 121,000 over the past year.

Licenses sales officials at the department say the decline in sales is probably due to the fact that as of last September a fishing license is valid for one year from the date of issuance.

"Most fishermen are probably waiting until August to buy their licenses," said one P&W official, "that way their license will be good through next July."

Through April, only 680,788 fishing licenses had been sold compared to a total of 802,550 during fiscal year 1973-1974.

Resident combination hunting license sales increased from 410,998 in fiscal year 1973-74 to 463,173 through April of this fiscal year.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The fifth grade class of Mrs. Mary Lower wrote letters before school dismissed, concerning their hometown, McLean. Although there was not space to print all their letters we would like to share a few of them with you.

Dear Editor:

I am a fifth grader and I would like to express my feelings about McLean. I think we should stay in McLean to do our shopping and recreation. And not go someplace else just to eat out or just to see a picture show when we could stay here in McLean and let McLean grow. We could all work together to let McLean grow like those other big cities.

Do you think you're saving money by going to Pampa or Amarillo? Think of the gas you burn going to and from those other cities. Why can't we have a town like Pampa or Amarillo? Amarillo, Pampa, and Shamrock are good but McLean is just as good. Why couldn't we have our own camp sites for Girl Scout Camp and Boy Scout Camp?

Do you want McLean? If you do, get on the ball and help McLean grow!

Cindy Glass

Dear Editor:

I am a fifth grade child and my name is Revina Herndon. I think that if we will stay home and work for our town instead of going to Pampa and Amarillo to shop, I think that if we will help our town and stay here to shop that our prices will go down and the reason they're so high is because we don't have enough stores. And I like to paint and I have to go to Pampa to buy my painting stuff. And we go to Amarillo to buy groceries and think it's cheaper, but it's not. Think about the gas that it took to get you there. Gas cost a lot of money these days so it's really not any cheaper. I think if we stay here in McLean we will make our town grow and get more stores. There isn't enough people for all those stores you say. More people will come to McLean. Amarillo, Pampa, Shamrock you're okay but I want McLean to be better.
Revina Herndon

Dear Editor:

As everyone knows we are now living in a time of an energy shortage. If everyone would do more of their shopping in the town where they live they would save a lot of time and energy. It takes about 2 hours to go to Pampa and back. Just think of all the things you could do in 2 hours time.
Charles Skipper

Dear Editor:

I am a fifth grade student at McLean Public School. I think we shouldn't let our town die. We are going to lose a lot of business with the highway going around the town. I think we should rebuild our downtown area. Our old theater could be rebuilt again. I know a lot of people who would rather stay home than go out of town to the theater. All we do is go to Pampa and Amarillo plus Shamrock for clothes, shoes, and art supplies. We could have as good a town as any other. Maybe

Rights Of Grandparents

Do grandparents have a legal right to the companionship of their grandchildren? Consider the tale of woe brought into court by an elderly couple.

"Since our daughter died, relations with our son-in-law have gone from bad to worse. Lately he won't let their little boy come to visit us, or even let us go to visit him. Surely we have a right to see our own grandchild."

But the court refused to come to their aid. The court said that since the father had legal custody, he alone could decide whom the child should see.

This is the usual rule—that grandparents have no independent right, against parental wishes, to spend time with their grandchildren. However, courts have held the other way if the child's own welfare is clearly at stake.

For example:

Custody of two little girls in a divorce case was awarded to their mother. At the time, she did not object to giving visitation privileges to the father's parents, since the children had a long and loving relationship with them.

Later, she changed her mind and tried to end these visits with the grandparents. But this time, a court ruled—for the sake of the children—that the contact should not be broken off.

"To have suddenly severed this close blood tie of love and affection," said the court, "might well have caused emotional disturbance."

Furthermore, there is always the possibility that grandparents can take over full-time custody by proving that the parent is no longer a fit person to be in charge.

Thus, in another case, the grandparents of a three-year-old boy were able to show that his mother was guilty of frequent intoxication and immorality.

The court switched custody to them outright. The boy would be better off not merely to visit, said the court, but to move right in.

even better. It would be good to hear from other citizens. Lets make McLean better.
Susie Billingsley

WHY IS IT?

Why is it that folks who spend their money and energy lavishly for food and clothes never hold their funerals in the grocery store or clothing store?

Why is it that folks who spend most of their money on autos never want the mechanic to preach their funerals or do they want to have their funerals in the garage?

Why is it that those who spend so much time and money at the theatres do not ask the show manager to sing at their funeral nor do they want to be buried from the theatre?

In other words, why is it that folks who spend so much on earthly pleasures want spiritual surroundings, a spiritual comfort and a spiritual send off, without having laid any spiritual treasures in the name of the Lord?

Jesus said, "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also" (Matt. 6:19-21). We lay up treasures in heaven by being rich toward God" (Luke 12:21). We are rich towards God when we "seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness..." (Matt. 6:33). This "seeking" is to be a continual day by day seeking, throughout one's life. (Rom. 12:2)

Why is it that so many do not seek as God directs, yet want the attendant blessings of the faithful when it comes their time to go the way of all men...through the door of death? Simply stated: They love the world more than God! (1 John 2:15-17).

How sad it will be to hear Christ say in that last day: "I never knew you; depart from me, ye that work in iniquity" (Matt. 7:23).

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The 64th regular session of the Legislature wound down with a few bangs and several whimpers this week.

In five months of activity, it considered legislation touching almost every segment of the state's economic and social life.

Despite criticism, the session did turn out legislation of far-reaching importance.

Even before final last-minute decisions on a $12 billion record budget, school finance reform and utilities regulation, the session chalked up these accomplishments:

— Article-by-article constitutional revision, set for a statewide election November 4.

— Approval of Health Maintenance Organizations, a new form of fixed-fee health care coverage, and two medical malpractice insurance bills.

— Provision for issuing certificates of need for hospital facilities and reorganization of the State Board of Health.

— Adoption of a permanent voter registration bill and a measure to authorize primary election finance.

— Passage of a nine-counties House of Representatives bill which will assure single-member districts for the counties.

— Establishment of a 1976 presidential preference primary.

— Agreement on a "rape victims' bill" to aid in prosecution of sex crimes.

Bonds Approved

A proposed constitutional amendment to raise the ceiling on state water development bonds from $400 million to $800 million will be voted on in November, 1976.

The resolution contains a prohibition on use of money to import Mississippi River water. A $35 million limit is also ordered for individual projects which are not part of a statewide water plan.

A bill to authorize issuing all or part of the new bonds will be put off until the 1977 Legislature convenes.

Redistricting Passed

A bill providing single-member House of Representatives districts for nine Texas counties survived a Senate filibuster and was sent to the governor.

It applies to Travis, Jefferson, McLennan, Tarrant, Lubbock, Nueces, Galveston, El Paso and Hidalgo counties.

All the counties except Galveston and Hidalgo were covered by a 1974 court order (later delayed) decreeing single-member districts.

Revenue Rising

Comptroller Bob Bullock, who raised his state revenue estimate more than $200 million, said he may boost it still another $200 million due to President Ford's oil program.

Bullock urged the legislature to adopt a one-year budget and give him a chance to draw a sharper sight on tax income.

He said Ford's $1 a barrel oil import tariff proposal and recommendations to remove price ceilings from "old oil" (domestic crude oil produced at 1972 levels) would certainly bring further hikes in state taxes unless rejected by congress. Oil is taxed at market value by the state.

Court Speaks

The State Supreme Court declined to order dismissal of a lawsuit which resulted in removal of Archer Parr as Duval County judge.

In other action, the High Court declined to reconsider its earlier ruling that the Texas Railroad Commission could not set aside natural gas contracts. Two months ago, the Court held the agency was not required

A.G. Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill, in an opinion requested by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, held Richmond Mayor Hilmar Moore is not barred by law from serving as both mayor and a State Board of Public Welfare member.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A person held after arrest on a governor's warrant is not entitled to bail. Dallas agencies can furnish information on juveniles to a private data bank if the youngsters are not identified.

A school teacher cannot also hold the office of justice of the peace.

A bill which would allow students and military personnel to select their place of residence for purposes of eligibility to vote is constitutional.

Awards Received

Six Texas businesses received the Governor's 1974 Industrial Expansion Award.

Recipients of the award were Mooney Aircraft Corp., Kerrville; Amoco Chemical Corp., Alvin; Timex Corp., Abilene; G&H Casting Corp., Slaton; Inca Metal Products Corp., Lewisville and Mr. Fine, Athens.

Governor Briscoe credited the firms with "fighting the recession in the best way possible — with aggressive expansion and civic responsibility." Texas Industrial Commission selected winners based on nominations by chambers of commerce and industrial foundations.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

An experiment in pre-paid medical insurance among migrant families in Laredo may provide information on which a national insurance program can be adopted.

The Laredo plan, now in its third year, has been expanded to include 700 families--some 4,500 persons--who are now moving out across the country following the crops. In its first year in 1973 only 100 families were covered, but the number was increased to 450 families last year.

The plight of the migrant has been told many times. Life of the modern-day gypsy is characterized by lack of social and educational attainments, and lack of medical care.

The Comprehensive Health Care Plan is a mechanism designed to utilize both the public and private health care sector in making a spectrum of medical care services available to the transients on their travels around the country.

Laredo was first selected as a special study area because of a bir migrant project already underway and the enthusiasm of the Laredo-Webb County Health Department.

The original project was proposed by officials in the Health, Education and Welfare regional office in Dallas. Answers were being sought to several questions regarding pre-paid medical care. It was suggested by the HEW office that 100 families be given complete medical and hospitalization services to determine the costs, actuarial figures, utilization patterns and other information.

"This was a new approach to migrant health care," says Jose L. Gonzales, administrator of the Laredo Health Department and project director.

Gonzales discussed the matter with the late Dr. Leo Cigarroa, at that time chief clinician with the Laredo Health Department. Inspired by the potential scope of the health project, Dr. Cigarroa immediately telephoned an executive of a leading nationwide health insurance company and invited them to join the program. This resulted in a contract between the agencies. Much of the development planning as well as the evaluation and interviewing protocols were established in conjunction with the University of Texas School of Public Health.

The work of enrolling the families went to the Laredo Migrant Health Program, a section of the Laredo-Webb County Health Department headed by Roland Nanez, section chief who serves as project director.

Last year and this year the job grew with the introduction of more families into the program.

Gonzales says utilization of the program has been great. "The families haven't abused the privilege by unnecessary utilization of services. This has allowed the study to continue and to bring in more people," he said.

The program is described as an excellent one. "We hope at this point to later enroll the entire eligible migrant population of Laredo under this program," said Gonzales. There are some 1,600 migrant families in the Laredo area.

All types of medical problems are being treated under the program. It may be a broken arm suffered by an enrollee in Colorado, a persistent fever in a small child, or injuries suffered in an automobile accident en route to the next job.

Each family carries a packet of information with it. Included is a medical insurance card for each family head, and a listing of the dependents by age and sex.

There also is a list of instructions for the health provider who treats any family member. Benefits are spelled out to the provider. Instructions are given in both Spanish and English.

The health program also functions in Laredo. "If the family is referred to a physician in Laredo by the Health Department, the doctor is paid 100 per cent of the usual charge," said Gonzalez. "If the family goes on its own, then the program pays only 75 per cent of the doctor's charge and the family pays the other 25 per cent."

Gonzalez says another state--Florida--has investigated the Laredo program and now has started one of its own.

Eventually all the migrants in the country could be covered by an insurance plan-- probably one in which the families pay a minimal amount for coverage. And, it is possible that the statistics compiled in the comprehensive Laredo study, says Gonzalez, will provide at least part of the final answer to the attainment and assurance of adequate health and equal access to quality medical care for all.

New rates for long distance calls within Texas.

With Discount Periods and a new One-Minute Rate, you may be able to save money.

Rates for Long Distance calls within Texas have just changed.

For you—the telephone customer—it means most rates are going up.

But you may be surprised to learn that rate changes won't necessarily bring higher telephone bills.

Because with our new discount for dialing your own calls, you can better control your Long Distance costs.

In some cases, you may be able to save money on your Long Distance bill by taking advantage of these rates.

For example, there's a new one-minute rate on all calls that you dial yourself—without the operator's help.

Under the old rate, the initial rate period was for three minutes. Now on One-Plus dialed calls the initial rate period is one minute.

That means you can save by reducing the length of your call.

Nights and Weekends there will be a 35 per cent discount.

So, if you call later in the day or night, or on weekends, you're going to get the lowest rates possible.

But if you place calls through an operator, rates for these Zero-Plus calls will be higher, at any time—night or day. These include calls from a coin phone, collect, credit card and calls billed to a third number.

The initial rate period of three minutes will continue for these and other operator-assisted calls.

And, person-to-person calls will cost more than any other type call.

	Mon	Tues	Wed	Thurs	Fri	Sat	Sun
8 a.m. to 5 p.m.	Day Rate Period Full Rate
5 p.m. to 11 p.m.	Evening Rate Period 25% Discount						Eve. 25% Dis- count
11 p.m. to 8 a.m.	Night and Weekend Rate Periods 35% Discount

NOTE: The Evening rate applies all day on the following holidays: New Year's Day, July 4, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas Day, except in instances where the holiday falls into Night/Weekend period. In this case, the lower rate applies.

*On operator-assisted calls, the same rate applies at all hours on all days.

	#One-Plus	Each Additional One-Plus Minute
DAY RATE	50c or less	42c or less
EVENINGS 25% Discount	38c or less	32c or less
NIGHTS AND WEEKENDS 35% Discount	33c or less	27¢ or less

#One-Plus charges for 1 minute.

NOTE: One-Plus rates also apply on station-to-station calls placed with an operator where One-Plus facilities are not available.

*Rates quoted do not include taxes.

Also, for the first time we are offering flat percentage discounts for Evening, Night and Weekend One-Plus calls.

Using the Day rate as the base, the Evening rates will be 25 per cent less. And, on

TIPS ON HOW TO SAVE ON LONG DISTANCE

To save on your Long Distance calls within Texas, follow these tips:

- (1) Dial all your Long Distance calls the One-Plus way. Dial 1, plus the Area Code, if it's different from your own, plus the seven-digit number.
- (2) The new one-minute rate for One-Plus calls is in effect 24-hours a day. If you talk 60 seconds or less, you pay for only one minute—not three.
- (3) When possible, call Nights and Weekends the One-Plus way. You'll be getting a 35 per cent discount from the Day rate.
- (4) If you call Evenings, you will save 25 per cent from the Day rate on One-Plus calls.

Don't Gulp?

Drinking alcoholic beverages slowly rather than gulping may be a sign of responsible drinking. According to the distilled spirits council's research division, two university of Oklahoma scientists report that not only is a quick drink more potent than a slow one, but a test on 40 volunteers showed that the gulpers retain alcohol in the blood longer than the sippers.

Ben Morgan Jones, associate director of alcohol studies, and Dr. Oscar A. Parson, psychiatry professor at the University, not only observes that a quick drink is more potent than a slow one, and the effects last longer, but that the drinker's subjective experiences are also significant.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Who'll Be First? ... Here's The Address ... Roasting Ears, Sorghum, Corn, Watermelons.

June means a lot of things to a lot of people, and to the cotton industry, June is the month for the first bale of 1975 cotton to be ginned. The bale is produced in the Lower Rio Grande Valley during the month of June. And while Valley farmers are waiting for the first bale of cotton, other cotton farmers throughout the state are planting their 1975 crop.

Cotton farmers are also looking for signs to better days for cotton. And some cotton industry spokesmen are seeing rays of hope ahead. For example, they point to reduced cotton acreages in this nation and abroad, which they say will lower the projections of carryover for cotton. But the best sign is the economic recovery.

Some economists believe the recession has bottomed out, and that the economy—including cotton—will begin showing improvements during the latter part of this year.

The textile industry has been especially hard hit by the recession, but indications are that better and brighter things are in store in the coming months.

Meanwhile, cotton planting for the state is now more than 50 per cent completed which compares favorably with last year's schedule. Some fields, as usual, will have to be replanted due to hail and floods.

Cotton acres in Texas this year are expected to be down a million from 1974 plantings.

HAVING TROUBLE in getting your brucellosis indemnity payment? If so, here is the address or telephone number you need to contact:

Texas Animal Health Programs Office
702 Colorado Street
Austin, Texas 78701

The telephone number is: Area Code 512 397-5551.

Eradication efforts relating to brucellosis are being intensified. Only about one per cent of the nation's herds of cattle are infected with the disease. Federal authorities are now embarked on a program to eradicate the disease as soon as practical.

A report from the Texas Animal Health Commission revealed recently that brucellosis infection in the state was at a level of around three per cent in herds tested.

Indemnity payments are offered to assist livestock producers in financial relief from losses caused by brucellosis-infected cattle. Because of lack of information on reporting forms, some indemnity payments are running behind schedule.

If you need information as to how to apply for indemnity payments or the procedures you need to follow, you can get the correct information by contacting the above address or telephone number.

JUNE IS ALSO A TIME to enjoy fresh produce from Texas farms. It's roasting ear time in the southern part of the state. In the Coastal Bend, watermelon and tomato harvest are underway. Cantaloups, honeydew melons and bell peppers are also being harvested in the Valley.

Peach harvest activity continues in the state, too. Hail and high winds caused some damage in Central Texas. Peach harvest is set to begin in the Cross-Timbers area.

Pecan set is reported good throughout most of the state. Many producers are busy controlling casebearers.

In field crops, corn planting is completed throughout the state. Sorghum planting is more than three-fourths finished.

Peanut seeding is nearing the 50 per cent completion mark. Rice planting is also completed. Soybean planting is just getting underway. In most of the soybean territory for Texas (the northern High Plains), fields have been too wet to plant.

Wheat harvest continues in South Texas, and it is ready to commence in Central Texas as well as other parts of the state.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—With the approach of the swimming and sunning season, many persons trying on last year's bathing suits are unhappy about their physical condition.

Health spas and companies selling weight reduction aids are quick to capitalize on the desire to get back into shape for summer. Advertisements are appearing in many publications for special devices or products or exercise programs that will help you "shed inches and pounds in time for your vacation."

But our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division lawyers caution persons who suddenly decide to "do something" about their condition to be careful.

Always consult your physician before embarking on an exercise program or new diet. Both your physician and your common sense will likely tell you that you should increase your activity slowly and gradually. This is especially true if you are dieting along with an exercise program.

But our attorneys also caution consumers to be careful if they intend to sign up with a health spa for an exercise program, or if they plan to try some of the advertised diet aids.

The main thing to remember, say our attorneys, is that no exercise or diet is going to work without some effort on your part. Many persons hope to find some "secret formula" that will kill their appetites and allow them to lose weight without hunger pangs. Or they search for a health spa that promises to trim off inches and tighten muscles "with absolutely no effort by you."

Consumers who look for such miracles could fall for the false, misleading, or deceptive sales practices used by some businesses. For example, our Consumer Protection attorneys recently obtained a permanent court injunction against a weight reduction firm. The six-week program the firm was recommending to consumers involved daily injections of human chorionic gonadotropin, a hormone derived from the urine of pregnant women.

Persons who signed up for the program also were put on a 500 calorie per day diet, a very strict diet that if followed would cause most persons to lose weight without injections of any kind. Under the court order, the firm must stop representing that the hormone injections can reduce weight or that they prevent hunger pangs or other discomfort while on the diet.

Consumers should also check carefully before signing up for "special summer rates" being offered at some health spas. Sometimes the low price is just bait to get you to the spa, where you will be urged to sign a higher-priced long-term contract. In some cases, the "special rate" is the same as the usual rate.

Keep these things in mind when considering a health spa contract. You should find out exactly what you will get, how much it will cost, and how long the program will last. Check facilities and equipment, and find out if they are available for use at all times. Talk with others who have signed contracts there. Be sure not to sign a contract with a firm that hasn't opened yet. If possible, enroll for a trial period to see if you like the program and personnel. And find out in advance if you can cancel if you move, become ill, or just change your mind.

Mrs. Luther Petty returned home Monday, accompanied by her son, Francis of Midland after three weeks of visiting relatives and friends at Plainview, Amarillo and south of city. Mother's Day was spent at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Milton Billingsley in Amarillo and was joined by another daughter, Mrs. Nora Loveland of Dallas who flew in and her son Francis.

A well-known elder statesman, invited to address a prominent women's club on the Chinese situation, carefully boned up on the subject and prepared a brilliant paper. Upon meeting the chairwoman, he inquired how the club had come to require a talk on China. "Oh," the lady explained sweetly, "we're having a chow-mein luncheon, and wanted something to preserve the spirit of the occasion."

My neighbor's three-year-old daughter loves dogs. One day while she was playing in front of her home she saw a huge boxer down the street and ran toward him, shouting, "Hi, doggie! Hi, doggie!" The dog bounded to her, stopping just when they were nose to nose. She gazed up at him a moment with a puzzled expression, then breathed, "Hi, horsey!"

"While crossing the traffic light was green, halfway it turned red."

F. P. Students To Pre-Register

Students who are planning to attend Frank Phillips College for the Fall 1975 term may take part in a pre-registration program July 14 through August 1 by completing a Pre-registration Application and completing their files by 16.

"This program is designed to facilitate registration at the college," states Mrs. Maxine Goins, Registrar, "and to enable the students to receive pre-counseling and provide an early selection schedule and classes." Pre-registration applications are available at the Registrar's Office.

Upon receipt of the student's pre-registration application and the completion of his college file, an appointment date and time will be mailed plus a packet of information cards the student can complete and bring to his counselor at the time of his appointment. Following registration, aside from purchase of required books and materials, he or she may then simply report for the first day of Fall Semester classes on September 2.

Students who wish to take advantage of this service are encouraged to contact the college Registrar's Office as soon as possible, P. O. Box 111, Borger, Texas 79007 or Telephone 274-5311.
