Christmas shopping is the topic on everyone's mind these days. If you haven't started yours yet, you'd better get busy.

McLean merchants seem to have gone all out this year to make shopping in McLean pleasant and profitable. With the high price of gasoline, you really can't afford not to investigate the bargains in your home town.

I'm especially glad to see some unusual Christmas decorations in the windows of the local stores. It just makes it seem more like Christmas to see the town decorated so nicely.

A favorite pastime in our family for several years has been to play the trivia game. This game simply involves asking questions about little known facts to see if anyone can guess the answer. My husband likes to give the first phrase of old hymns to see if anyone can remember the next line, but we have all enjoyed trivia questions about a wide variety of subjects.

I came across a book recently called "The Trivia Encyclopedia", and it is guaranteed to drive you crazy with little known facts.

Here are some questions to test your skill at the trivia game:

What was the name of Sgt. Preston's dog?

Name the four sisters in LITTLE WOMEN.

Who was Joe Palooka's fat friend who drove a bicycle with a house on it?

Name Franklin D. Roosevelt's two dogs.

Tigers Win Consolation Trophy At Wheeler Tourney

Although the Tigers lost their initial game in the Wheeler Tournament last week, the McLean quintet roared back to take two games and the consolation trophy.

In action Thursday at Wheeler, the Tigers fell to the Shamrock Irish in a top-sided battle, 60-46. The Tigers fell behind the Irish by 19-8 at the end of the first quarter, and were never able to catch up to the hot-handed Irish.

Randy Suggs scored 16 points and Brad Melton scored 15 to pace the Tigers.

But Friday was a different story for the Tigers as they faced Higgins in a close battle. At the end of the first quarter, the score was tied at 10 apiece, but the Tigers began hitting the basket with regularity and went to the dressing room at half-time leading 24-18. The McLean team scored 24 points to Higgins 10 points in the third quarter and the game ended with the Tigers on top 66-40. Suggs again was high point with 22 points, and James Matheny scored 11.

In Saturday afternoon's battle for the consolation trophy, the Tigers met Briscoe, and except for a close second quarter, had little trouble with the Briscoe team. The Tigers scored 57 points to Briscoe's 46 to win the game and their first basketball trophy in several years.

Tigers Melton with 14, Suggs with 12 and Matheny with 10 led the scoring for the Tigers.

Randy Suggs was selected as a member of the all-tournament team.

Tigerettes Lose Try For Third At Wheeler

The Tigerettes began play in the Wheeler tourney with high hopes after a come-from-behind win over the Shamrock Lassies in the first game Thursday, but luck ran out for the McLean girls when they met Clarendon, the eventual tournament champs, in the second game Friday.

In Thursday's game, the Tigerettes fell behind 12-7 in the first half with a narrow one-point lead 21-20. The see-saw game ended with the Tigerettes on top 36-32. Jill Trew, who was selected on the all-tournament team, scored 17 points and Sally Haynes scored 9 in the victory.

But Friday the Tigerettes were never able to get untracked against the Clarendon ladies, with the Tigerettes getting into early foul trouble. The first quarter ended with McLean on the short end of the score, 9-6, but the Tigerettes were never that close to the Clarendon quintet again, and half time ended with Clarendon holding a 20 point lead over the slow moving Tigerettes. The final score was 67-33 for Clarendon, with Judy Trew scoring 8 and Haynes scoring 7 points for the McLean team.

In Saturday's battle for third place, the Tigerettes trailed the Wheeler girls all through the game in a very close battle. The Tigerettes fell behind 13-6 in the first quarter, but ended the first half of play just two points away from Wheeler at 22-20.

In the final stanza, the McLean girls battled to within two points of the Wheeler girls, and with less than two minutes left on the clock, Haynes sunk a

Wheeler Wins Regional; Advances To Semi-Finals

The Wheeler Mustangs, after surviving a 14-13 scare against Valley in bi-district, had a much easier time last Friday as they galloped past Grandfalls-Royalty 31-6 for the Class B regional football title.

Wheeler now stands 12-0 for the year and will play Valley View, also 12-0, in a semifinal contest at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Vernon.

Valley View defeated Windthorst 21-14 to advance to the semifinals.

Wheeler led the Cowboys 28-0 at the half and coasted to its regional victory. Benny Baker scored two touchdowns, one on a 73-yard pass from Rich Brown and one on a 20-yard run. Russell Gaines tallied on a 33-yard pass from Brown, and Willie Valencia scored on a 7-yard jaunt. Mike Evans kicked a 21-yard field goal and all the extra points.

Grandfalls-Royalty's only score came on a 35-yard run in the fourth quarter by Ronald Brandenburg.

Wheeler is champion of District 1-B, of which McLean also is a member. The Mustangs won the state title in 1977 and finished second last year to Union Hill.

U.S. IS STILL THE BEST

"Peace on earth, good will toward men" was proclaimed during this season hundreds of years ago by a group of heavenly angels, who according to Christian belief, were hailing the birth of Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world.

Since this is the season when most Christians reaffirm their belief in "good will toward men" and the possibility of peace on earth, we feel that it is only fitting that the editorials during this month should concentrate on the positive aspects of our lives in McLean and in our country.

In a time when our nation is facing one of the greatest crises of the decade, it may be difficult to concentrate on what is good about our country and our lives, but it is necessary if we are to keep a perspective on life.

The United States of America, despite its faults and failures, is still one of the few places on earth where people can worship in the way they please without fear of harassment from the state.

The U.S. still has the highest standard of living in the world. We enjoy conveniences and luxuries which would astound Americans of just a few years ago.

We have a President of the United States who is not ashamed to proclaim that he is a "born-again" Christian, and regardless of whether you agree with him politically, I think you have to admire his sincere belief in God and his striving to do what is right.

We have a country in which no one has to go to bed hungry. This country has not suffered from famine, a plague, or a major disaster costing thousands of lives.

We have good roads, comfortable homes, a good educational system for our children, an adequate supply of food, outstanding medical care, and best of all, we have an economic system which allows anyone with intelligence, ambition, and fortitude to advance to any position he chooses, regardless of his race, creed, color, or sex.

Remember in this busy season as you are running hither and yon to last minute shopping, that you are living in the greatest country in the history of the world, and that that country was founded on principles preached by the Man who was the Babe in the manger whose birth we are celebrating now.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,
McLean needs a REAWAKENING! I can think of several areas in which it needs re-awakening, but specifically I am speaking of McLean's school athletic system. I have watched several high school football games this year, and all of the high school basketball games, so far. I see teams overflowing with potential, yet not polished and funneling that potential into the right channels. I see speed, quickness, jumping ability, and height, while at the same time I see carelessness, dispassion, and a noticeable "I don't care" attitude in the athletes.

On the varsity girl's basketball team, I have observed only three girls, who play on the court, who really care about doing their best, giving their all for McLean High School. Is a person going to commit himself or herself to hard workouts, traveling in buses, and other sacrifices that must be made; if one is going out on the basketball court and representing one's school; if one is going to bother to play, why not give everything he or she has while out on that court, for thirty-two short minutes or less. Care about working together as a team, care about the coach, care about winning against opponents, care about doing the best playing that one is able to do. Care about giving 100%. Because when it is all said and done, no matter what anyone says, it always feels better to win. Even though both teams cannot win the game, if one has played with a sense of pride, and given one's best, then in a sense one is a winner.

A letter writer inquired last week about the City of McLean's plans for nuclear fallout shelters. Jim McDonald, who serves as McLean's Civil Defense coordinator in addition to his job as Fire Chief, provided us with a publication which lists several places in McLean that could serve as temporary fallout shelters. This publication also lists all the procedures that city officials could take in the events of any type of crisis.

Shelters that could be used in an emergency are listed as the McLean High School with space for 321 people, the Presbyterian Church with space for 196 people, the First Baptist Church with space for 72 people, and the Methodist Church with space for 68 people.

These areas could be used for a short time without any type of changes. However with the addition of some shielding and dirt work, these areas could accommodate a larger number of people. The bulletin also lists 22 other buildings in McLean that could be used as fallout shelters with some upgrading on them.

Like most people in McLean, I was really not aware that McLean had this type of emergency planning on paper, and it makes me feel just a little bit more secure to know that

It is not too early to be thinking about New Year's Resolutions and one that I am going to make is to get my flu shot next year. I'm one of those people who like to brag that I never get the flu, and I rarely do, but I did have it once about four years ago, and I have been fighting with the bug for three weeks now. So I resolve to no longer say that I don't get the flu, and next year I will be first in line for my flu shot. Are you satisfied, Doc?

The annual drive to outfit all of the 370 boys of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch with new suits began today.

Purchasing new suits for the boys with donations of $45.00 is a favorite way for many friends of the Ranch to help at Christmas-time.

"His first suit is something a boy never forgets," Virgil Patterson, Ranch President, said. "We want to make it a happy Christmas, not only for the boys now living at the Ranch, but also for new boys who will be coming to us during the coming year."

Amarillo department stores cooperate with the Christmas Suit Fund by giving special discounts on boys' suits. Other boys will receive gift packages of clothing that will include shirts, ties, jackets, trousers or other articles needed by them.

"A new suit or clothing package is the best Christmas gift any of our boys will receive," Mr. Patterson said. "It is a year-round reminder of those who really care."

Donations to the Christmas Suit Fund may be mailed to the Boys Ranch Office, P.O. Box 1890, Amarillo, Texas 79174, or be taken to the office at 600 West 11th Street in Amarillo.

HOMEMAKER NEWS

MICROWAVE SAFETY:
Routine servicing, careful maintenance and proper use of microwave ovens can insure many years of safe use.

If the microwave oven gets hard use or if the user tends to overlook manufacturers' use and care instructions, have it checked for possible radiation leakage at least once or twice a year. Also, check for possible radiation leakage if the oven has been moved either voluntarily or involuntarily. You can buy hand-held leakage testers for home use; however, the accuracy of some of the commercially available testers have been questioned by independent testers. Call your appliance dealer or a service representative for servicing information.

Microwave ovens sold after October 6, 1971, meet the federal safety standards for microwave radiation emission levels. They do not present a radiation hazard when used according to the manufacturer's instructions. However, if your microwave was manufactured before this 1971 cut-off-date, have it checked for possible leakage.

Regardless of when your microwave was manufactured, check for leakage periodically. Also, check for build-up of cooking residues on door seals. If this region is not kept clean, it may contribute to energy leakage. Clean the oven cavity, door and seals frequently with water and mild detergent. Do not use scouring pads, steel wool or other abrasives.

Never operate an oven if the door does not close firmly or if it is bent, warped or otherwise damaged. Never tamper with or inactivate the oven safety interlocks. Never insert objects through the door grill or around the door seal.

bows. Hats may be just the choice for your favorite female. Popular styles include the pillbox, brim, fedora or choche.

For the homesewers on your list, give yardage of fabric teamed with notions and a pattern. Other appreciated items include a cutting board, scissors, shears, pinning shears, thread clippers, a needle board, a sewing organizer, fashion or French rulers, a wall thread holder, a steam iron and/or iron cover to prevent shine when pressing, and pressing hams, rollers or boards.

For stocking stuffers, choose an assortment of thread, needles, elastic, zippers, buttons, buckles and hem, bias or twill tape. Other handy items include folding purse scissors, a tape measure with metric measurements, a knit picker to remove picks or pulls in knits, a needle threader, marking pencils and personalized embroidery name patches to sew into home-sewn garments. Also, a small sewing kit is handy for travelers.

ELLERY QUEEN'S SECRETS OF MYSTERY
Edited by Ellery Queen

"Ellery Queen's Secrets of Mystery" can be rated a "must" for all lovers of mysteries and deception.

This compilation of stories by such writers as Edward D. Hoch, Robert Bloch, Victor Canning, Hugh Pentecost, Lawrence Treat, Barry Perowne, Lawrence G. Blochman, Brian W. Aldiss, Ellery Queen and others, will strike a responsive cord in all readers who study and enjoy the ultimate in mystery stories.

One of the stories contained in this volume is Erle Stanley Gardner's "The Clue of the Screaming Woman," a short story lost for thirty years and never included in any of Gardner's books.

This group of short novels and short stories will baffle and excite even the most astute mystery buff, and will expose to you some of the deep, dark secrets of mystery so well mastered by these authors, who are supreme in their own field.

Stories such as "Blood Money," and "The Killer with no Fingerprints," as well as all the others will furnish top-rated entertainment for lovers of intrigue, deception, and the mystifying.

"Ellery Queen's Secrets of Mystery" is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

That's one wonderful thing about the Bible. There was no censorship in those days. Of course, now, some of our churches hold conferences and cut out certain parts they think don't belong in there, or change them to what they think should be said instead of what was said. In other words, we are always improving on the words of the Lord. That's even worse than a scenario writer brightening up Shakespeares.

4-H

CORNER

4-H youth in the electric energy program know fluorescent lights can save energy. For example, one watt of fluorescent lighting will provide four times more light than one watt of incandescent lighting. Young people 9-19 in the national 4-H electric energy program have made wise energy use a way of life. Among energy conservation practices they engage in are these: turn lights off when a room is vacated for more than 15 minutes; keep lamp bulbs, fixtures and shades clear (dirt and dust can absorb as much as 50% of the light); and replace darkened bulbs with new ones where possible. Each year, more than 100,000 4-H members learn-by-doing to conserve and manage their own use of electric energy, and to explore more efficient uses of energy and new energy sources. Their projects and activities, supervised by the Extension Services nationwide, also include making useful electrical items, repairing small appliances, and working with electronic equipment. And 4-H'ers investigate career opportunities in electric and allied industries. Westinghouse Electric Corporation offers incentives for these 4-H members at all levels of participation: six $1,000 scholarships nationally, expense-paid trips to National 4-H Congress each November in Chicago for state winners; and four medals of honor in each county.

Winners are chosen by the Extension Service and awards are arranged by the National 4-H Council.

More information on the 4-H electric energy program is available from the County Extension Office, located in the Courthouse Annex in Pampa.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, sex, color, religion or national origin.

Five Meetings Planned To Discuss Fuel-Alcohol Plant

Five meetings in North Plains cities are planned during December to complete efforts toward the way for construction of a fuel-alcohol plant in the area.

The drive, which began in late October, is over 60 percent completed. When finished, area farmers will have raised $325,000 cash and committed 3 1/2 million bushels of grain-corn, wheat and grain sorghum toward the project.

Directors of the Northwest Texas Grain Products Cooperative say they hope to complete the drive "before Christmas."

Sites and dates of the five December meetings are known, but times and places will be announced at a later date.

The five area meetings begin on Dec. 10 in Pampa, followed by Stratford, Dec. 11; Dalhart, Dec. 12; Panhandle, Dec. 13, and a final meeting in Groom on Dec. 14.

To date, grain growers over the North Plains have pledged over 2 million bushels of grain-corn, wheat and grain sorghum and committed over $100,000 in "front money" for preliminary financing of a fuel-alcohol plant. More is "coming in daily."

Farmers over the area are asked to commit five cents a bushel, or $500 per contract, toward the base financing of the proposed plant.

Directors of the NWTGP Cooperative say that reception of their plan has been met with "enthusiasm" over the North Plains and supporters in Moore, Dallam, Hartley, Sherman, Hansford, Gray and Ochiltree counties voiced approval at earlier meetings held to explain the proposed facility.

The proposed cooperative will be a closed membership corporation and directors say now they "anticipate closing the membership rolls before Christmas."

A 20-million gallon a year plant is presently planned for the area. This would require seven million bushels of grain annually for year-round protection.

The cooperative can legally function when contracts guaranteeing 51 percent of this requirement are met. The remainder could be purchased on the open market.

During November the fuel-alcohol plant proposal was explained to prospective cooperative members across a wide area of the North Plains.

Meetings were held in Dalhart, Gruver, Spearman, Pampa, Perryton, and Booker resulting in the signing of over 2 million bushels of grain and the commitment of $100,000 for the proposed facility.

North Canadian Bankers Association members gave its support to the plan last month.

The cooperative is seeking a $500 cash payment for each 10,000-bushel contract to provide front money.

Cubs Win, Cubettes Lose

The McLean Cubs and Cubettes traveled to Hedley where the boys had an easy time defeating their hosts, but the girls lost a one-point squeaker to the host team.

In the first game, the Cubettes failed to score in the first quarter but hit eight points in the second quarter to lead Hedley at the half 8-6. In the third quarter, the McLean quintet again scored eight points, but the shooters turned cold and Jana Harris hit the only basket in the fourth quarter, while Hedley scored 7 points to top the Cubettes with a final score of 19-18.

Scoring for Jack Dorsett's Cubettes was balanced with Maria Eck, Sharla Todd, Jana Harris, and Roxie Littlefield each scoring 4 points. Candi Carpenter scored two points.

In the second game, Joe Riley's Cubs had little trouble with the host team. The Cubs scored 12 points in the first half to Hedley's 2. Second half play was not much different with the Cubs scoring 14 points in the half to Hedley's 6, and the visitors from McLean walked away with an easy victory, 26-8.

Scoring for the Cubs were Robert Wynn with 7 points, Scott Stubbs with 6, Robert Swanner and Steven McAnear with 4 points, Robert Vasquez with 3 points, and Kevin McDowell with 2 points.

inflation fighting ideas

In South Dakota, fuel consumption in identical houses was 25 percent less in the one with a tall windbreak on the north side. When the house was sheltered on three sides, but exposed on the south side, the fuel consumption was reduced by 40 percent.

In a test comparing houses warmed by electrical heaters—a fully exposed home, and identical counterpart, but sheltered by a windbreak of trees and shrubbery—the difference in fuel consumption for an entire winter was 33.92 percent.

Information about the most effective placement of trees and shrubs for energy conservation has been provided by the American Association of Nurserymen. The location of windbreaks, the AAN says, is the key to their efficiency.

Almost any kind of trees and larger shrubs will provide valuable results; however, evergreens are ideal in most climates since they retain their fullness over the winter months. They should be on the north and west sides of the building, with an extension on the east if space permits. The southern exposure should be left open to permit the sun to enter.

COLLEGE STATION — Although Texas A&M University continues to have the nation's largest agricultural single-campus enrollment, most students come from the state's major metropolitan areas, according to an analysis of the university's record-breaking fall registration of 31,331.

While Texas A&M is attracting large numbers of students from the big cities and surrounding areas, it continues to draw from all sections, with students from 246 of the state's 254 counties.

Of the overall 31,331 enrollment at the state's second largest university, 27,207 students are from Texas, with 2,661 coming from all of the other 49 states and various U.S. territories and 1,463 from foreign countries, primarily in Latin America.

Around Christmas time, there are always plenty of recipes for fabulous desserts, but sometimes it is difficult to think of anything different to serve as accompaniment for the traditional turkey and dressing.

Try these recipes to give a different taste to your traditional holiday meal.

GREEN AND WHITE SALAD
1 bunch fresh broccoli
1 medium head cauliflower, broken into flowerets
1 1/2 cups finely chopped celery
6 green onions, finely chopped
1/4 cup Miracle Whip
1/4 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 tsp. pepper

Remove large leaves of broccoli and cut off tough ends of lower stalks; discard. Wash broccoli thoroughly and cut into 1 inch pieces. Combine vegetables in a large bowl.

Combine remaining ingredients, mixing well. Pour over vegetables; toss lightly to coat. Cover and chill thoroughly before serving.

CORN PUDDING
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons all purpose flour
3 eggs
1 (17 oz.) can whole kernel corn, drained
2 cups milk
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 cup butter

Combine sugar and flour in a medium mixing bowl; add eggs, beating well. Stir in corn, milk and salt.

Melt butter in a lightly greased 1 1/2 quart casserole; pour in corn mixture. Bake at 400 degree for 1 hour or until firm. Serve hot.

It could be if it's at The University of Texas, for the College of Fine Arts is opening more of its art, drama and music courses to non-majors.

The intent of the new effort, according to Associate Dean Bill Francis, "is not to mold professionals—but to develop tastes, increase understanding through participation and build a base for leisure-time activities."

Dean Oscar Brockett, who has encouraged the move, feels "something is missing" from the lives of college-educated persons who have no familiarity with the arts.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

The holiday gift-buying season inevitably is followed by the post-holiday gift-returning season. Most consumers expect to be able to return or exchange gifts with little or no trouble beyond, perhaps, the inconvenience. Unfortunately, there frequently is a difference between what needs to be returned and what can be returned; and, if necessary adjustments are to be made this difference should be understood before the gifts are purchased.

Most stores are not legally required to refund money, exchange merchandise or accept returned goods for store credit unless the item is defective or is not as represented. Even though not legally required to do so, most merchants are very agreeable about accepting returned merchandise since this is an important customer service which encourages repeat business.

To take best advantage of those stores whose policies allow merchandise to be returned, there are some things to consider before you begin your holiday shopping.

Sometimes stores will not accept merchandise back for a full cash refund but will issue or allow a credit or exchange for other merchandise. A store may rightfully do this so it is important for shoppers to check on a particular store's policy before buying gifts that may need to be returned or exchanged.

There are certain instances in which a store is legally required to make adjustments. For example, if a store advertised car coats with sheepskin linings but you discover the lining actually is acrylic pile, you have the right to return the coat for an adjustment. Or perhaps you ordered a size 12 dress but the store sent a size 14. Or you specified a green table lamp, but got a blue floor lamp. The store must correct its error or make some satisfactory adjustment in such cases.

It is important to remember that if a store has advertised goods for a special sale, there may be a "no return" policy on that particular merchandise. Other items, such as pierced earrings, swim suits, undergarments, and other intimate apparel, normally is sold on an "all sales final" basis for the customer's protection. Once again, shoppers should inquire about the store's policy. See CONSUMER Page 8

CELLAR JUST FOR YOU

There is a next door neighbor in the movie, Dr. Gribble. He is a master criminologist after office hours—just a hobby. His favorite pastime is hunting this maniac who has killed all his wives. Cortez is going to kill Cecily. One man on earth has been trying to track him down for years. He lives next door. Talk about luck.

The scene switches. Ominous music, a dark metal sign blowing in the wind—SCOTLAND YARD. Nigel and Mavis are trying to find Cecily. The Inspector shows them a picture of the bearded murderer. He looks a lot like Cortez, who is clean shaven. They leave to catch a train. I leave to fold the laundry.

When I returned, the honeymoon was over. Cortez is showing Cecily steamship tickets for their trip to exotic countries. She starts to open them. He has a wall-eyed fit—gently of course—"Oh no darling you must never open steamship tickets in advance—bad luck." He should talk to a sailor I met once—bought a ticket to Lubbock, wound up in L.A.

You knew there would be a rainstorm in this picture. There was a rainstorm. It was a duzy. Anyone with any sense would be in that cellar. Not Cortez. He goes to town. It is August 31. She picks up a candle, goes to the cellar, sees a lot of jewels and a deep hole. Too soon old, too late smart. This is your girl.

She tries on one of the rings. It doesn't fit. NO KIDDING!! She goes back upstairs just as Cortez returns with a big flash of lightning. I forget the lamp dry and the tub. This is big stuff. Nigel, Mavis and the Inspector are on a train going somewhere.

Cortez knows she has been to the cellar. They have a big fight. She goes to bed with a headache. Later they make up. She says sweetly, "I'll never forget this cottage even if I never see it again." She has two chances—Slim and None.

He is about to kill her. She knows it. So what do they discuss? It is Ethel's day off. "Shall we have a bite of supper? It will be the first supper I ever cooked for you, darling." According to that black book, it will be the last. Tension builds. Cortez has the wild look of a madman that comes during the last 10 minutes of a movie. He has not mentioned her beauty for 15 minutes. Up to then, his absolute limit was five. Does she sit down and try to reason with him as we are taught by Dr. Joyce Brothers? No. She says—"What did Ethel do with the chutney and the mustard?" She should be singing Rock of Ages and she wants to know where the chutney is.

The storm rages outside, waves crash against rocks. It is 10 minutes til 9. I am standing up in the middle of the bed waiting for the inevitable.

My husband enters. "Address this package. I have to mail it in five minutes." I address the package. My 10 year-old says "Mom, what would you do if a spider was coming towards you?" "nothing, NOTHING", I yelled, "GO AWAY, I'M BUSY!" "What if he was 64 feet tall, Mom?" "GREAT, MARVELOUS." I screamed, "MAYBE HE'D EAT YOU AND YOUR DAD—THEN I COULD WATCH THIS MOVIE!"

"What if he had a car, Mom?" This stops me momentarily. Spiders have cars? I got back to the movie after the horses ran over Cortez, after Cecily had been saved, in time to see Nigel embrace her and the words—THE END.

I am not going to watch anymore of those things. I am busy digging this big hole in the cellar.

Oldest known bale is on display

COLLEGE STATION — An ancient bale of Mississippi cotton, the oldest bale known to exist, is now on permanent display at Texas A&M University.

The old cotton raised by slave labor in 1859 was originally baled by hand with heavy iron bands. In 1955 it was re-pressed and enclosed in a glass case as a museum piece.

Cotton experts at Texas A&M say the old fiber is as strong as when it was pressed in the 1860s. Cotton is very durable when baled and will remain in top condition for a long time, they note.

The relic was exhibited at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904 and in the New Orleans Cotton Exchange in 1945. Prior to the World's Fair, the tattered bale was on exhibit at Memphis in 1890 and in Chicago in 1893.

Chemistry program ranks sixth in nation

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University's chemistry research program has been ranked sixth in the nation, based on 1977 figures for dollars expended on research and development, according to the National Science Foundation.

Chemistry studies here totaled $3,894,000 that year and 1978 figures should reflect a significant increase, university officials noted.

Texas A&M was one of only nine institutions to exceed $3 million in 1977 and led in the South and Southwest.

PIONEER Harvest Hotline

John Maxson reports High Plains Results

Again this year Pioneers brand seeds are delivering outstanding yields in field after field. But we know it takes more than one year's performance to tell the whole story. Look at these results, then ask your Pioneer dealer to show you records from several years. You'll see for yourself why Pioneer brand seeds have become famous for their consistency.

In 24 comparisons in this area, 3311 averaged 181.3 bu./A. for a yield advantage over competitive hybrids of 208 bu./A. In addition to this top yield potential, 3311 has shown excellent drought tolerance. And it adjusts kernel depth to match growing conditions. Northern High Plains corn farmers aiming for top yields should look to 3311 again next year.

This popular hybrid proved itself again in 1979 as it out-yielded competitive hybrids by 17.7 bu./A. in 24 comparisons. Excellent for grain or silage, 3195 has high seedling vigor, quick grain fill, and excellent disease tolerance.

A yield advantage of 14.9 bu./A. over competitive hybrids was produced by 3184 in 32 field comparisons on the Northern High Plains this year. Well-known for its dependability and consistency, 3184 proved its outstanding drought tolerance and standability in field after field.

Although relatively new to many High Plains farmers, 3183 is an established favorite of many across the U.S. And its performance on the Northern High Plains proves why it's so popular. In 34 comparisons, it averaged 12 bu./A. more than competitive hybrids while averaging 153.0 bu./A. in these tests. With performance like this, make sure 3183 is part of your 1980 farming plans.

3360 showed a yield advantage of 8.7 bu./A. in 27 comparisons on the High Plains this year. With better standability than most of the upright leaved hybrids, 3360 is one of the most consistent performers you can plant.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

PHEASANTS:

Pheasant season is just around the corner, December 8th. Our pheasant population is still in the infant stage in the Gray County area. Would-be pheasant hunters are reminded of this fact. If you are serious about hunting pheasants, let me recommend that you try to satisfy your hunting fever in the northern or western parts of the Texas Panhandle. Your chances of finding ample pheasants are better elsewhere and we still need more seed stock here in Gray County, especially the hens.

Even though there may be a few cock pheasants to spare, it seems that invariably a hen gets up at the wrong time and location and is mistaken for a cock. When hens are killed, besides being against the law, it serves to reduce next year's population. We can thank the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation Board for purchasing pheasants which were released in the Gray County area about 3 or 4 years ago. Let's all do our part to conserve these so that maybe in several years, we'll have as many pheasants as other good pheasant areas have today.

CROP LIVESTOCK REPORTS IMPORTANT:

Over the next few weeks, thousands of Texas farmers and ranchers will receive a crop or livestock questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service or will be personally interviewed by their field staff. Information obtained provides the basis for determining the final acreage, yield, crop production and livestock and poultry numbers in Texas.

All estimates published by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service are based on data provided by Texas farmers and ranchers in these surveys. That's why your cooperation is necessary for accurate estimates. In turn, these estimates are essential for you in making the wisest production and marketing decisions.

Accurate estimates are also essential to farm organizations and legislators in promotion, planning and enacting wise legislation. Since the basic information for estimating in the reports must come from farmers and ranchers, you are really helping yourself.

Collection and publication of agricultural statistics is a cooperative effort between the Texas and U.S. Departments of Agriculture. This cooperation avoids duplication of effort, saves money and increases the effectiveness of statistical reports.

Individual farm and ranch information is kept strictly confidential, and only state and county summaries become part of the final published estimate.

County estimates for 1978 and January 1, 1979, inventories are available on livestock, poultry, dairy, field crops, small grains, cotton, vegetables, fruits, and pecans and cash receipts from the sale of Texas farm commodities. Bulletins can be obtained from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, P.O. Box 70, Austin, Texas 78767, or by writing Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

STORE SPRAY EQUIPMENT FOR WINTER:

Store spray equipment properly for the winter, and it will be ready to use next spring and summer.

First, wash the sprayer thoroughly. Then apply a light-weight oil, such as a summer oil used in spraying ornamentals. The oily film will prevent rust and corrosion that might otherwise occur.

With hose-on sprayers, thoroughly wash all parts, including any screens or strainers.

Since sprayers are costly, a little time spent now for care and maintenance will assure that they will be ready for the next spray season.

SAVING FARM FUEL:

Farmers can cut fuel consumption considerably by operating equipment and storing fuel efficiently.

One of the easiest practices to adopt is "gearing up and throttling down" when operating a tractor. Studies have shown that reducing engine speed and lightening loads can reduce fuel consumption as much as 20 percent.

This practice doesn't apply to power take-off (PTO) operations, though. PTO work, such as using a hay baler, requires a constant speed and throttling down cuts back the PTO.

Proper maintenance of gasoline engines can also save fuel. Correcting ignition timing, replacing worn-out spark plugs, servicing air cleaners and making necessary carburetor and governor adjustments can increase horsepower as much as 11 percent and reduce fuel consumption almost 14 percent.

Fuel storage is another area where farmers can become more efficient. Up to 10 gallons of fuel per month can be lost from an above-ground fuel tank due to evaporation. Painting the tank white can reduce the loss of only six gallons per month.

Placing the tank in the shade and installing a pressure vacuum relief valve can reduce evaporation even more. The most fuel-efficient storage system is the underground tank, which loses less than one gallon of fuel per month.

Transportation and cultural operations account jointly for almost 40 percent of the fuel used on the farm. Any relief in these areas will be a big help to the farmer in view of the present fuel situation.

Loose Marbles

by Lisa Patman

For months now my editor has urged me to have an opinion of my own. I have tried, really I have. For several days I felt very strongly about tooth decay, and for a time I was against termites, but for the most part I have found that my opinions very closely parallel those of the last person I have spoken to. However, in the very best interests of this newspaper, I have finally decided to speak out on a subject which has disturbed me for some time.

I am against girly magazines, centerfolds and all. Now some of you may think that I have been influenced by certain feminist groups who claim that these magazines exploit the female body. Or you might decide that I agree with those moralists who say that these publications lead young people to think more about sex than they should. Actually my reason is much more basic than either of those.

I object to girly magazines on the grounds that they give a fellow false hopes. Imagine the poor guy who in his younger years makes a careful study of each monthly centerfold, only to marry some poor girl who is twenty pounds overweight and pimply.

Then there's the husband who eagerly awaits his brown paper wrapped mail each month. Imagine his feelings when, having perused the magazine quite thoroughly, he looks up to see his own wrinkled and stretch-marked wife. It really isn't fair to either party.

What I would like to see is some magazine which would feature real-life models. Perhaps there could be a Miss Saggy January, a Miss September Stretch Mark, or a Miss Overweight October.

There could be a Miss Frightening February. Awful April, and a Mediocre March. Miss Moussey May would epitomize the look that most of us develop during the night and see in the morning mirror. Miss Jumpy June could represent the nervous side of most of us, and Miss Plain Jane July would be just that.

Miss August could be spotted with acne. Miss Nassty November could be covered with pablum from feeding the baby, and Miss Dreadful December would characterize those of us who have everything wrong.

Imagine how nice this would make it for approximately 90 percent of the female population of the civilized world. No longer would husbands groan when they compared their spouses to the playgirl of the month-they would have living, breathing centerfolds of their own, right in their very homes.

How thrilled the young husband would be as he watched his bride develop bumps, bulges, stretch-marks and wrinkles. With a little work she could be potential centerfold material.

I think the idea could really take over if we all got behind it. So get those 8 x 10's ready, ladies---Playboy may be calling us any day.

Practical Tips To Help You

By Jeanne Owens

Owens Country Sausage, Inc.

Being prepared for quick meals and unexpected guests at dinner is an important part of good home management, an art you can master with a little forethought and practice.

Certainly, a major ingredient is keeping on hand a supply of foods you can fix in a hurry. Know the shelf life of everything you buy. Sausage, for instance, keeps much longer than beef—two or three weeks in the refrigerator—and usually costs about half as much, so it's always good to have on hand. You can use it to make these Oh Boy Farm Boy meal-sized sandwiches or spicy Sausage Tacos.

OH BOY FARM BOY

1-1/2 lbs. Owens Country Sausage
2-3 tbsp. water
1 tsp. butter
3/4 cup washed, drained sauerkraut
6 slices Swiss cheese
6 hamburger buns, split, toasted and buttered

Make 6 patties. Place with water in cold frying pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Remove cover, pour off drippings and brown. Melt butter in saucepan. Add kraut. Cook slowly until heated through. Place patties on broiler rack.

SAUSAGE TACOS

1/2 lb. regular or hot Owens Sausage
3 chopped green onions
4 eggs
2 tbsp. cream
2 tsp. butter
1/2 cup grated sharp cheese
Flour tortillas
Salt and pepper

Brown sausage with onion. Remove from heat. Beat eggs until foamy. Add salt, pepper, and cream. Melt butter in clean skillet, add egg mixture and cook until almost done. Add sausage mixture and cheese. Stir well and spoon into hot flour tortillas. Serve with hot sauce. Serves 4-6.

For a free collection of sausage recipes, write to Recipes, Jeanne Owens, Owens Country Sausage, Inc., P.O. Box 249, Richardson, TX 75080.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Is the energy crunch coming again to Texas, land of petroleum and natural gas?

Some say it isn't, some say it is.

And a few say it's already here for farmers and ranchers.

Some days ago, Gov. Bill Clements, who had been monitoring the energy situation in Texas, said that gasoline supplies may become tight, but there will be no need to reinstate the odd-even rationing plan of last summer "unless consumers panic and begin topping off their tanks."

Railroad Commissioner John Poerner thinks another crunch is near because of a federal decision to increase production of home heating oil for the northeast states.

Home heating oil is another name for diesel fuel . . . and there's already a shortage of diesel here in Texas, at least for farmers and ranchers.

Several farmers and fuel suppliers testified during a House subcommittee hearing last week that oil firms' manipulations of diesel fuel threatens to drive them out of business.

It seems there is diesel fuel available for them, but it is through irregular channels and for a much prettier price. The farmers openly called the secret channels "the Black Market," which is an inaccurate term.

Since diesel was deregulated last July, there are no government controls to keep the price down. The term "Black Market," as used during the hearing, is a reference to the manipulations by oil firms, which though legal, are done in secret to hike the fuel price and avoid bad publicity.

Several oil company representatives were present to testify they were not secretly directing fuel to the spot market.

So is there a shortage? State Rep. Dan Kubiak, who chaired the subcommittee, said the answer depended on who you believed at the inconclusive hearing—the farmers or the oil companies.

"From the testimony presented, one conclusion is we will not have shortages in the near future. But by all other indications, we will have a shortage—we have one now," Kubiak promised more hearings as the probe continues.

A Presidential Visit
Top Texas Democrats endorsed President Jimmy Carter preparatory to a Dec. 8 visit for his Austin fundraiser.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Speaker of the House Bill Clayton, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and State Treasurer Warren G. Harding appeared together to announce their support for Carter.

"President Carter, under very adverse circumstances, has compiled a fine record as president of the United States," Hobby said.

Only a catastrophe, such as a setback in the tough Iranian situation, will prevent Carter from making the campaign swing through Texas, his supporters say.

And Presidential Polls

A statewide poll conducted by Texas Monthly magazine indicates Carter, much maligned in Texas, will not fare too badly in this state, but the movers and shakers in both parties are still taking a wait-and-see attitude. The poll showed Carter trails challenger Teddy Kennedy by one percentage point, 34.6 to 33.7, and that Calif. Gov. Jerry Brown musters only 6.9 percent support.

Kennedy's support came from all large urban areas, except Dallas-Fort Worth, and from minority areas. Carter is backed by conservative Democrats, Kennedy by the liberals, and both have about an equal number of moderates at this point. Veteran observers say look for a real fight.

Among Republicans
According to the poll, former Texas Gov. John B. Connally leads Ronald Reagan, George Bush, and all others in Texas.

Connally mustered 30.3 percent to Reagan's 27.6 percent and Bush's 13.2 percent. Not unpredictably, Connally called the poll's re-
