Tigers Throttle Tornadoes, 20-0

By Mike Haynes

The McLean Tigers had to make a round-trip of almost 380 miles to get it, but they latched onto their first District 1-B victory of the season Friday night, shutting out the Textline Tornadoes 20-0 at Textline.

The Tigers raised their 1979 mark to 2-5 and their district record to 1-2 with the win, while Textline dropped to 0-6-1 and 0-4.

The McLean gridders will be back at Duncan Field Friday for a 7 p.m. homecoming clash with the Miami Warriors. Textline will visit Booker.

Seniors Wade Smith, Randy Suggs, and Rex Morris provided much of the offensive firepower for the Tigers Friday as Smith scored 14 points on two touchdowns and two extra points, Suggs completed 4 of 8 passes and ran for 78 yards, and Morris rushed for 82 more steps.

McLean rolled up 292 yards in total offense.

Most of the Tornadoes' offensive punch was provided by senior quarterback Danny Poole, who rushed for 126 yards.

The Tigers tallied touchdowns in each of the final three quarters to win convincingly, but the first period was a stand-off.

1st Quarter

Smith began the game with a deep kickoff into the end zone, and McLean held the Tornadoes on their first possession, taking over at the Textline 47 after a punt. The Tigers quickly drove to the hosts' 15, with Suggs running for 14 on a 3rd down play and McLean successfully converting a 4th down during the drive. But on 2nd down at the 15, Textline came up with a Tiger fumble to end the threat.

The Tornadoes swirled for four successive first downs, the last one at the McLean 44, but their drive was deflated when they were penalized back to their own 46, and then quarterback Poole was clobbered for a loss at the 37. Tiger junior Billy Kincannon returned the punt to the McLean 42.

Suggs completed a pass to the right sideline, but offsetting infractions nullified the play as the first quarter ended.

2nd Quarter

The Tigers then started their drive in earnest, eating up more than half of the second stanza as they kept the ball on the ground.

Suggs picked up 14 to the Textline 44 for a first, and two plays later he ran up the middle for 7 to leave McLean short on 3rd down. Morris plunged for 3 and the first down.

A holding penalty forced the Tigers to retreat to their 47, but that set up a 19-yard scamper by Smith, who took the ball on a reverse and circled the left end to the 28.

McLean was faced with a 4th and 1/2-yard situation at the 22, and the Tigers gained the first at the 21. Morris then dashed 14 yards to the 7 for another first down.

Two more tough yards were earned by Morris. Then Suggs, caught momentarily behind the line as he tried to run left, broke loose and gained a yard to the 4. Morris gained 3 of the remaining steps on 3rd, and on 4th down Suggs followed his blockers through the middle to put McLean on the scoreboard with 5:36 left in the half.

Smith's extra point kick made it 7-0, Tigers.

After Poole returned Smith's kickoff from about the Textline 5 to the 37, Morris recovered a fumble for McLean at the Tornado 43 with 4:38 to go in the half. But penalties kept the Tigers from capitalizing on the opportunity with more points.

The first infraction moved McLean back to its own 35 yard line, but on the next play, Suggs threw to junior James Matheny on the left to the Textline 33 to set the Tigers up with a 3rd and 2 situation.

With 4th and a long 1 at the 32, Dudley Reynolds, a sophomore, made the first at the 31 with 2:45 remaining, but another 15-yard mark-off returned McLean to Textline territory at the 47.

Junior Terry Todd figured heavily in the next two plays as he caught a Suggs Aerial and was stopped at the Tornado 30 and then gained 7 more on a reverse to the left. But on 4th and a long 2 at the 23, a delay of game penalty turned it into 4th and almost 8. A quick pass intended for junior Tim Killham fell incomplete with 36 seconds to go, and it appeared McLean had seen the last of the ball for the half.

Suggs intercepted a Poole pass on the first Textline play, however, returning it to the Tornado 31 with 27 seconds left. On a pass attempt, Suggs scrambled to the 18 for a first down with 19 seconds remaining. A pass to Morris was incomplete with 12 seconds left, and Suggs was sacked at the 25 as the clock ran out.

3rd Quarter

It took McLean about half of the 3rd period to double its scoreboard total. Matheny made an outstanding return of the second half kickoff, running to the right with it to the Textline 40. After the Tigers lost a yard on two snaps, Suggs dashed left for 10, leaving his team about a foot shy of a first down. A quarterback keeper moved the chain, setting McLean up at the 29.

The Tiger drive was interrupted as Textline's defense forced a 4th and 10 situation and Suggs' pass to the left was incomplete. But on the Tornadoes' first play, Morris recovered his second fumble of the night, this time at the Textline 27.

On 2nd down, Suggs scrambled from the 27 to the 13. Then on 2nd and 7 to the 10, Smith again rounded the left end on the reverse play and made it into the left corner of the end zone to score. His PAT was wide to the right, leaving the score 13-0 with 6:43 to go in the 3rd quarter.

No one was able to find the end zone again until late in the game, when the Tigers turned the trick for the third time. Following McLean's second TD, Smith put the ball past the goal on the kickoff. Textline rolled to three first downs, the last one a result of a facemask violation, and set up shop at the McLean 40.

On a 2nd and 11 play, Dudley Reynolds almost intercepted a Poole pass, and after another incomplete throw, a Textline punt rolled dead at the Tiger 17.

Morris gained 4 yards on a screen pass and then 9 on the with a 3rd and 2 situation. He added 4 more on the next play, but a penalty returned the ball to the 29. The Tigers picked up 5 to end the 3rd period.

4th Quarter

Morris plunged for yet another yard, but the Tigers were forced to punt. Suggs' effort was unusually short, traveling only from the McLean 35 to the Textline 48.

Poole ran up the middle for a first down at the Tiger 40, and on the next play Bryan Herber gained 8 to the 32. Poole picked up the first at the 29, but after a penalty left the Tornadoes with a 4th and 6 situation with 8:08 to go, Textline was short and McLean took over at the 25.

Suggs ran for 5 on first down, but the Tigers were stopped there, and the MHS senior punted from that point. Textline dropped the ball, and McLean's Killham snatched the fumbled punt at the Tornado 36.

The Tigers' third score was not in the cards yet, however, as Suggs let loose a pass which was picked off around the hosts' 10. It was his only interception of the night. A penalty put Textline at their own 26 with about 6 minutes remaining and McLean still on top 13-0.

The Tiger defense showed that it wanted the Textline goose egg to stay on the board, pushing the Tornadoes back 2 yards in the first two plays. The pressure continued as Poole was drowned in white jerseys at the 18 on a 3rd down pass attempt.

Things didn't get better for Textline on the punt, as the boater fumbled the snap at the 5. He ran to his left for 10 yards, but that left him short of the first down.

Taking the ball at the 15 with 4:50 left, Suggs ran toward the left sideline. Just before going out of bounds, he threw down the sideline to Smith, who made a good catch just inside the end zone at the left corner of the goal. The play took 7 seconds, and the Tigers had put the game out of reach. Smith's PAT was successful this time, and the scoreboard read Visitors 20, Home 0.

Last week some careless driver apparently turned the corner too fast by the drugstore and ran up on the sidewalk and into the brick wall. Bits of glass were left on the sidewalk, and little damage was done to the car. The same car was seen driving past one of the local churches the same evening as church service was dismissing and the car was travelling at a high rate of speed, disregarding the small children who were leaving the church.

Isn't there anything anyone can do about this problem of reckless driving in McLean, or are we all just going to wait until a small child is killed on our streets until we get up in arms about the situation?

Hope you all enjoyed your extra hour of sleep Sunday. Just remember that whatever the government gives away it always takes back...and next spring you'll lose an hour of sleep when the time changes again!

Don't forget the senior chili supper Friday night before the game. Friday evening should be a special time for our high schoolers. It is also homecoming and the football queen will be crowned. Be sure and come early to see the ceremonies.

Sometimes personal matters have to supersede our commitment to cover all events with pictures. We were unable to photograph the Tigers at Textline because we journeyed to Lubbock for an important athletic event there.

Second-grader grandson Chris Evans was playing in a soccer match which helped determine the city of Lubbock champion (in that division) and of course, we just had to see that important game.

Tornado Sighted Near McLean, Winter Storm Dumps Four Inches Of Rain

The first winter storm system of the year dumped two to four inches of rain in the McLean area Monday night, brought heavy hail and high winds, and spawned an unusual tornado.

The storm siren sounded in the city about 10:30 p.m. Monday night, when firemen spotted a tornado southwest of McLean, moving toward the city.

Judy Trew, Brad Melton Chosen Harvest Royalty

Judy Trew and Brad Melton were crowned Harvest Queen and King in ceremonies at the McLean High School Auditorium Thursday night. The representatives of the senior class won the award as a result of the senior's booth at the Harvest Carnival the previous week.

Mix Trew is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Trew and Melton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N.N. Melton.

Fireman Carey Don Smith said that the sound was so loud, that he was sure it was a large funnel. The funnel cloud moved northeast over the city, but never dropped closer to the ground.

Fireman said that the heavy rain and hail was followed by the onset of fog, which was similar to the weather conditions the night of the Lefors tornado four years ago.

Preceding the coronation, preschooler and elementary students participated in a Spook Show. Winning in the preschool division were Vance Coleman, first; Jeremy Thomas, second; and Ben Brass, third.

Winners in the elementary division were Misty Magee, first; Karen Williams, second; and Anita Yarnold, third.

Hail falling at two different times covered the ground and caused damage to several vehicles. Area cotton farmer Tony Smitherman said that the hail ruined about 80 percent of his crop.

Temperatures dropped from a high of 86 Friday to the low thirties Tuesday night, with scattered snow and rain predicted for the area.

Band Booster Jubilee Set

The Bank Boosters is sponsoring a Jubilee Nov. 17 at the McLean High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. The Jubilee will feature entertainers from the area and several high school students.

Tickets are available from the band boosters organization.

Council Okays 79-80 Budget

The McLean City Council met in special session Oct. 23 to approve the city budget. Following an executive session, councilmen approved the 1979-80 budget with a seven percent salary increase for city employees rather than 10 percent which had been previously considered. The move was taken to comply with guidelines suggested by President Carter.

The city also approved a 9 1/2 percent rate increase on street lights by Southwestern Public Service, with a stipulation that one-half of the lights on Interstate 40 be turned off for a trial period of six months.

Attending the meeting were councilmen Dale Glass, Miro Pagan, George Terry, Ruth Magee, and Boyd Meador, Mayor Sam Haynes, and city superintendent Bob Glenn and city secretary Stella Lee.

Simpson's Market To Close

One of McLean's oldest businesses will close its doors "within the next three to four weeks", according to Flea Simpson, owner of Simpson's Market.

Simpson announced the closing of the store this week, citing health reasons for shutting down the business. Simpson, who bought the store in 1969, said that he had had about 25 inquiries from potential buyers in the last 18 months, but "everyone thinks McLean is too small or money is too tight to invest now," he said.

Simpson plans to sell the stock on the shelves at a reduced rate, and close the store when the inventory is depleted. He plans to keep the building and fixtures in hopes of leasing to someone else. "McLean can support two grocery stores," Simpson said. "It's a good business for anyone who wants to work at it."

Band Receives Division III

The McLean High School Band received two Division III's and one Division II at the University Interscholastic Marching contest in Canyon Tuesday, giving the band an overall Division III rating, according to superintendent Carl Dwyer.

Low temperatures and rainy skies caused several problems at the band contest, according to high school principal Ron Cummings, but "the kids did a good job under the circumstances," he said. "We are proud of them."

The band received a Division II rating in the UIL marching contest last year.

The band is under the direction of Debbie Reipma this year.

Simpson's wife Rae and his two sons Melvin and Stanley have all worked in the store at different times.

Simpson began working for John Cooper in Cooper's Market when he was eleven years old, and following a stint in the Marine Corps in the Pacific

Four Tigers Cited For Play Against Textline

Four McLean Tigers were included on the honorable mention list for Class B player of the week in the Amarillo Daily News Tuesday.

Tiger Rex Morris, according to the paper, was pushing winner Bryan Huseman of Nazareth for the honor. Morris was cited for rolling up 85 yards rushing on 13 carries and making 21 tackles at McLean downed Textline, 20-0. He also recovered a fumble.

Other Tigers gaining honorable mention this week were Wade Smith, Billy Kincannon and Randy Suggs.

Youth Group Plans After-Game Activity

Food, drink, and filmed football action are on the agenda for a get-together Friday night at First United Methodist Church after the McLean-Miami homecoming game.

Teenagers are especially invited to the event, said youth coordinator Mike Haynes, but it is not limited to one age group. He said people of all ages are welcome.

A film of Texas Tech football highlights will be shown, and that offering will include footage of James Hadnot, the Southwest Conference's leading rusher of 1978.

Also shown will be a personality profile film of Tom Landry, coach of the Dallas Cowboys.

Islands in World War II he began working full time for Cooper in 1945. He purchased the store in March of 1969.

Simpson said that he and his wife have no plans to leave McLean. "I'm just planning on a long rest right now," Simpson stated.

Four Tigers Cited For Play Against Textline

Smith, a wide receiver, had two carries for 30 yards including a 15-yard TD, and caught a 15-yard touchdown aerial.

Kincannon was in on 18 tackles. Suggs completed 4 of 8 passes for 81 yards and a TD. He added 78 yards and one TD on six rushes. Suggs also was in on 12 stops and intercepted a pair of passes for 60 yards in returns.

Homecoming Activities Include Bonfire, Coronation Of Queens

A full slate of events is scheduled this week for McLean High School's annual homecoming, beginning Thursday night with a bonfire following the junior high game. At the bonfire to be held on the vacant lot adjacent to the track field, the 1979 Flame Queen will be crowned.

The Flame Queen is chosen from among the members of the Tiger Pep Club. Friday at 3:30 p.m. the Homecoming queen will be crowned at the Homecoming pep rally. Nominees for the honor are Judy Trew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Trew; Elaine Bentley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Bentley; Sally Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Haynes; and Ann Skipper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Skipper.

The Queen and her court will be recognized at half-time of the McLean-Miami game Friday night.

The four senior girls were nominated by the student body. The members of the Tiger football squad will elect the queen.

OPINIONS

VIEWS ARE WRITTEN BY LINDA HAYNES, UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED - IF YOU HAVE AN OPINION ON ANY CURRENT SUBJECT WE WELCOME YOUR SIGNED LETTERS.

YOU CAN'T FIGHT STUPIDITY

People can successfully wage wars against poverty, crime, and disease, but the one thing that can never be successfully conquered is stupidity. A good friend tried to convince me that several years ago, but obviously I have not learned my lesson.

Sunday morning on my way to church I was greeted with the sight of this office building covered with watermelons and raw eggs. It was the only building in the downtown area which was vandalized Saturday night, so I must assume that this was someone's cowardly way of responding to a recent editorial about youngsters' rowdiness.

A small group of boys decided to choose the weekend before Halloween to terrorize the town by throwing watermelons on the Interstate and dropping burning bales of hay on the city streets.

There is no way to explain or justify this type of action except to say that it is caused by stupidity and cowardice.

Department of Public Safety trooper John Holland issued some tickets in the incident but the identity of the boys who bombarded The News office is still a mystery.

If the youngsters who chose this method to express their disagreement with my editorial think that they have frightened me into changing my mind, they are seriously mistaken. In my opinion, they did nothing except reinforce what I have already said.

The problem in McLean is not going to get any better until all of our law enforcement officers decide to issue tickets instead of warnings for this type of behavior and the parents of these boys decide to find out what their youngsters are doing and put a stop to this behavior.

I hope both of these actions happen soon for the sake of the boys involved. I have maintained before in these editorials that it is the offenders who will suffer in the long run. If these boys decide that they can commit any act of vandalism or rowdy behavior without being punished, then it will not be long before they "graduate" to worse things.

If you are the parent of a teenage boy, ask your son where he was Saturday night, or ask John Holland if your son was one of the boys ticketed.

Don't make the mistake of saying "My son wouldn't..." Your son or my son just might do anything he thought he could get away with. For your children's sake, find out what they are doing and exercise some parental control.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

The power of the press, even if that "press" is as small as The McLean News, is an awesome power to hold in one's hand.

In the national media, we have all seen good people ruined by bad publicity, and we have also seen bad people uplifted by the type of coverage they receive. The press has the power to make us believe that Superdevil is an angel, or Good Guy is an immoral, illiterate, totally rotten person.

I have sat at this typewriter for several hours pondering the ethical problems involved in writing an editorial in this paper, for though McLean is a small town, and this paper has a relatively small circulation, an editorial blasting a local official can have far reaching implications.

Does an editor forge ahead, speak his mind, and damn the consequences? Or does he hold back, and wait, and if a situation gets worse, feel guilty for his reticence in speaking what he feels is the truth? The Supreme Court recently ruled that a plaintiff had the right to know what was in a reporter's mind when he wrote a story. If this question were asked about an editorial, could the objective editor say that he was thinking only of the good of the town, about speaking the truth, or would he have to admit that some petty anger influenced his opinion?

Another moral dilemma one faces in writing that kind of editorial is trying to state an opinion, knowing that the person he is blasting has some good qualities, too, a fact that might be overlooked in the heat of an argument. And of course there is also the aspect of considering the family of one who is criticized. From previous experience I know that an editorial downgrading one person also seriously affects his entire family, and they are of course totally innocent of any implications.

So what would you suggest? Shall I call to your attention an inept official, even though most of you are probably aware of the problem, or shall I remain silent, and hope that some miracle happens and he changes of his own free will? What would you do?

Veteran Benefits Described In Booklet

Benefits for veterans and their families and how to obtain them are described in a booklet "Federal Benefits for Veterans and Dependents," according to VA officials.

While there are many other publications describing individual agency programs this is the one that gives an overall view of what is offered and is the place to start for people who have never used VA services.

The 71-page publication tells how to secure education and training, medical care, compensation pension, GI loans and many other benefits.

The booklet also explains who is qualified for these benefits, and lists all VA addresses and phone numbers including the free long distance numbers to VA regional offices.

Cost of the booklet is $1.50. Checks should be sent to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20420.

remaining minutes. Poole returned a deep Smith kickoff to the Textline 42, and a screen pass gave the Tornados a first down at the McLean 43. But the tigers held and took the ball at their own 46.

On the Tigers' second snap, Poole recovered a fumble to give Textline another chance at the shotgun formation. Poole hit Nick Diller on the right for 4 and completed another throw on the same side for 8 and a first down. But the next three plays resulted in the quarter-back being sacked at the 43 and throwing two interceptions. Mike Diller's run on 4th down was short, and the Tigers took over at the 40 with 46 seconds left.

Dudley Reynolds ran for 4 yards, and a penalty against McLean moved the ball back 5. But with 5 seconds to go, Tom Hershey came up with a Tiger fumble at the visitors' 37, giving Textline one last chance to score.

Suggs said "No" to that as he intercepted Poole's pass around the McLean 10 and returned it to the Tiger 35 as time expired.

McLean head coach Jack Dorsett praised his offensive line for its key contribution to the victory. He said the blockers "did a super job all the way across."

Dorsett said the Tigers would have to improve defensively to be able to defeat Miami this week. "Our tackling wasn't what we needed" against Textline, he said. "But the offense looked pretty good at times."

The Tigers had plenty of time to talk about their win Friday night, as the team, the MHS band, and the pep club and cheerleaders all had a four-hour trip home, plus a stop to eat at Dalhart. The buses arrived in McLean shortly after 2 a.m. Saturday Morning.

The band's halftime performance had been a final tune-up before presenting the same show at the UIL marching contest in Canyon Tuesday.

McLean's battle with Miami Friday will be the Tigers' annual homecoming game, with the 1979 football queen to be crowned at halftime. The honored young woman will be crowned earlier in the day at the 3:30 p.m. pep rally at the McLean gym.

Miami will be coming off an open date as it travels to McLean this week, the fourth Tiger opponent in a row to enjoy a free Friday prior to taking on the McLean lads. Five of the Tigers' six District I-B opponents this year had or will have an open date before meeting McLean. Follett, the Tigers' season-ending competition, will host Tyrone, Okla., the week before it visits Duncan Field.

The Tigers will host Follett Nov. 16 after traveling to Wheeler Nov. 9.

Dorsett said Miami, 4-1-1 and 2-1 in district, compares favorably with such teams as Groom and Booker, both squads which defeated the Tigers. He said the Warriors have had success operating the veer option and that "they throw the ball pretty well."

Miami was hurt by the loss to injury two weeks ago of Randy Stone. The 6'0", 205 pound senior played fullback and defensive tackle. One standout who still helps the Warriors is Brad Billingsley, a 6'4", 220 pound tackle.

"We'll have to play pretty good to beat them," said Dorsett. "But we can beat them."

AUSTIN—The U.S. Department of Justice has joined Texas Attorney General Mark White in filing legal claims against SEDCO, Inc. of Dallas, the oil drilling firm founded by Gov. Bill Clements.

Last Tuesday the Justice Department filed a multi-million dollar damage suit against the company, claiming that the off-shore rig used to drill Ixtoc I (site of the largest oil well blowout in world history) was unseaworthy and that its crew including SEDCO employees was "incompetent and negligent."

The federal government still has not made a decision whether to file similar claims against other parties connected with the oil spill.

In the Texas suit filed two weeks ago, Mark White included Pemargo, the Mexican drilling firm which had leased SEDCO's rig, as a negligent party.

Gov. Clements had blasted White's actions as "politically motivated" and he repeated the theme when he learned of the federal government's lawsuit.

"I'm glad to get another jerd in the tree. Jimmy Carter has now joined Billy Goldberg (state Democratic chairman), Attorney General Mark White and Harry Hubbard (president of Texas AFL-CIO). They're all three twirling the same song," Clements said.

Clements' son, Gill Clements (SEDCO's president) said the federal government's suit was a "lot more responsible claim" than previous filings related to the oil blowout because damages were based on $6 million cleanup costs estimated by the U.S. Coast Guard.

About 50 individuals, corporations and governmental entities registered claims Tuesday against SEDCO which totaled more than $50 million.

Achievement Award Applications Are Accepted At Austin

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.)—Applications for the Texas Achievement Award Program are being taken now by the Office of Admissions at The University of Texas.

The Texas Achievement Award Program provides $1,000 per year for four years to selected educationally and culturally disadvantaged freshman students at UT, including minorities. Recipients are chosen not only on the basis of high school academic performance and college entrance examination scores but also on such considerations as extracurricular activities, part-time work, financial situation and family circumstances.

Completed application forms must be submitted by March 1, 1980, and should include a high school transcript, SAT scores, and a Family Financial Statement. Letters of recommendation are accepted but not required.

High school teachers, counselors, principals, talent search directors and other concerned individuals also may recommend students whom they consider qualified for the Texas Achievement Award Program. Application forms and additional information may be obtained from The University of Texas Office of Admissions, Austin, Texas 78712, (512) 471-1711.

Blacks Join Clements
Clements put together another advisory group last week, this one composed of more than 100 black businessmen who had to ante up $125 apiece for the privilege.

Clements called the group "the cream of the crop."

Most of the money will go to retire Clements' gubernatorial campaign debt, estimated at more than $2 million.

The idea of paying to be a member of an advisory group brought a rebuke from black legislator Rep. Paul Ragsdale of Dallas. Calling it "ridiculous," Ragsdale said "I guess that is the governor's business connection. You pay to be in his administration. You pay to be his supporter."

Banker Sues Senator

A Galveston banker filed a grievance with the State Bar of Texas last week, charging State Sen. A.R. "Babe" Schwartz of Galveston with misconduct.

The grievance filed by Shearn Moody, Jr. stems from lawsuits filed by Schwartz and Moody. Schwartz is suing Moody for $245,000 in unpaid legal claims and Moody is counter-suing Schwartz for over $202,000 in unpaid loans.

Federal and legislative officials are looking into a grievance of another nature, this one alleging sexual abuse of a woman employee within the Texas Health Department.

State Rep. Wilhelmina Delco of Austin, who initiated the probe, said the woman complained to her of sexual harassment by a superior. Several other women employees have come forth with similar complaints against the man, Delco said.

Krueger New Envoy

The U.S. Senate confirmed former Texas congressman Bob Krueger as ambassador-at-large and coordinator of Mexican affairs, a newly-created post.

Texas Senator Lloyd Bentsen voted for Krueger while Sen. John Tower voted against the confirmation. Krueger lost a hotly contested race in 1978 for Tower's senate seat.

AG Briefs

Atty. Gen. White in a legal opinion ruled an independent school district may provide for salary increases for teachers and employees for a current school year if it receives additional consideration. It may also adopt a policy to provide additional salary increases for subsequent years; however, the obligation arises only when the contracts are executed.

The request for the opinion came from Education Commissioner M.L. Brock-ette.

Two of the children in our noisy, rambunctious brood are very quiet and introspective. The two youngest members love to read, and their idea of a good time is to be curled up with a book in the middle of the bed. Both of these youngsters, perhaps out of self-defense from living in a house with a group of loud extroverts, had "imaginary friends" as they called them, when they were little.

The older girl had two invisible friends, Boopy and Cindy, who accompanied her everywhere, even to the dinner table. I'll never forget my mother's look of horror when the little girl cried out one day because Mother had shut the car door on "Cindy"! Of course, none of us could tell the extent of "Cindy's" injuries, but apparently she recovered because she lived with us for about three more years.

When the youngest child came along, she too invented some playmates, but she had a whole gang, and each one had a separate personality. "Rosie" was the mischievous one. Nothing was ever broken, no mess was ever made that it wasn't "Rosie's" fault. "Polly" was the good girl who made her bed, and shared the little girl's secrets. The one I could never quite understand was Terry the Rabbit. We never knew if "Terry" was a large white bunny like the famous Harvey, or if he was a small, regular-sized cottontail. But Terry was a good companion.

Another of her friends was Willie Mae. Willie Mae apparently had a bad temper, because she and her friend fought constantly, and sometimes I would walk by the bedroom and hear my daughter loudly chastising Willie Mae for some imagined insult.

For twenty-one years, I have had a baby around the house, and so I was rather sad when the youngest little girl announced to us a few months ago that her "friends" had moved out, and were now living with another little girl. She rarely mentions them now, and when she does, it is with a knowing look that tells me she no longer believes.

Santa Claus, the Easter Bunny, the tooth fairy, and the gang of imaginary friends have left our home after so many years, and I'm really sad to see them go, because once that group of characters leaves, I know it will not be long until there will be no little children around our house at all!

Flea Simpson came in the back door of the News office Tuesday morning to bring us an ad that announced that he was closing Simpson's Market. Not only is the closing a blow to us, since the grocery store ads are our "bread and butter", the closing of this business will be a blow to the whole town. We hope that someone decides to come into town and establish another grocery store, but we will certainly miss being able to run out our back door for a quick snack from the store and a friendly hello from Flea and Rae. I hope they have good luck in whatever they plan to do.

The November issue of Accent West magazine contains an article about the Marie Foundations building and has a picture of Mayor Sam Haynes in front of the building. The article explains the functions of the Marie Foundations building which was recently donated to the City of McLean by Cal and Marie Fraser.

A special thank-you to Mark Morris, Randy Mac Stewart, Deb Crockett, Jack Mercer, and Sally Haynes who volunteered their time Sunday night to clean the watermelon and eggs off the sidewalk in front of The News office. One of the boys commented that he figured everyone in town would think that they had thrown the watermelons since they were cleaning it off, but I assured him that I would make it clear in this column that youngsters who helped clean up were in no way guilty of the vandalism.

The most distressing thing to me about the watermelon throwing incident last week is that the people in McLean will blame all kids for what a few rotten ones did. Take my word for it, out of about 115 kids in high school, there are only about five who are not terrific youngsters. So please don't indict all teenagers for what a few stupid ones do!

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

CULL OPEN, LATE-CALVING COWS:

It is wise to "clean up" herds by culling open cows and give more attention to a controlled breeding program by culling late-calving cows.

There's no need to put expensive winter feed into unproductive cows. Culling the cow herd now will also help you plan on hay and feed supplies for the winter months.

Also, pregnancy testing cows this fall may be a more profitable management tool than ever before. Since it's difficult for a cow to produce a calf large enough to pay her annual maintenance bill and leave some profit for the producer, we know an open cow is surely losing money. In addition, cows calving during the summer months wean calves 30 to 90 pounds lighter than their herd mates which calve at other times. For this reason, it's advisable to cull cows which will calve late next year and buy a replacement which will calve early.

Whoever does the pregnancy diagnosis (usually your veterinarian) will be able to estimate the calving date on each animal and make it easy to identify next year's late calving cows. Your definition of a late-calving cow should change every year until your calving season has been reduced to 60 days preferably, and certainly no longer than 90 days.

Removing barren and late-calving cows from the herd will increase both the herd's reproductive potential and pounds of calf weaned.

Margie Jones returned Monday from a family reunion of the Dick Grothe family at Duncan, Okla. and Ft. Sill, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Watson attended the Milt and Ollie Back Watson reunion in Abilene recently. Three sons and three daughters were among the 51 who attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Archibald of Norwalk, Calif. and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Riley of Ontario, Calif. visited Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Watson recently.

Lawrence Watson visited Dallas, Houston and Dickinson recently and attended the SMU and Houston football game in the astrodome.

Visiting in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Watson last week were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Williams from Bryan, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Williams from Amarillo.

Ed, Allen and Bob Patman did some weather testing last Saturday night and discovered that low temperatures and a flimsy tent are not conducive to a good night's sleep.

Visiting in the home of Bobbi Brown last weekend were her brother-in-law Rafik Salem and his daughter J'han of Ft. Worth, and his sister Soraya Salem of Cairo, Egypt.

The group toured McLean and visited the McLean Cattle Company. Mrs. Salem was visiting the United States for the first time and expressed great delight in the American highway system, noting that many of the roads in Egypt were dirt paths rather than paved thoroughfares.

She was also interested in American custom of shooting quail. She said that in Egypt the custom is to catch live birds in a large net and sell them in boxes. She said a few sportsmen hunt the birds with guns, but most birds are sold live at the marketplace.

Mrs. Salem entertained Jim Allison, Cyndi Simmons, and Lisa Patman by reading their futures from Turkish coffee grounds.

The trio left Sunday to return to Ft. Worth.

Grace Windom is a patient this week in High Plains Hospital in Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Haynes, Dollie and John C. Haynes went to Lubbock Friday to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Rick Evans and family and Scott Raines.

Loose Marbles

by Lisa Patman

Henry Ford may have thought he had a good idea when he invented the Ford motorcar, but he didn't realize that years after he began the whole thing he would have me trying to operate one of his vehicles.

I don't know if it is actually my fault that I am constantly bewildered by the workings of the automobile. I mean, I have carefully studied motors and things and have come to the realization that if I keep gasoline in one end of the thing, and water and oil in the other, and if I can remember where I last put my car keys, the car should go. And, if I can remember not to pass other cars on hills, can tell a red light from a green one, and can remember that the speed limit is now only 55 mph I will get along reasonably well.

So why is it that when I get on an interstate highway I always get behind the little old lady who, deciding to let me pass even if I don't want to, pulls over onto the gravel-covered shoulder, spattering my windshield with large rocks and cracking the glass.

Or I find myself behind the guy who decides to make a left turn out of the right hand lane while I'm in the left turn lane, forcing me to become close friends with a telephone pole.

Then there's the fellow who decides not to turn left out of the Must Turn Left lane and proceeds to crowd into the lane that I'm in. (It's amazing how many telephone poles there are in the world.)

Last week I got behind a truck carrying a load of sand, and I traveled about 15 miles in a mini-sandstorm before the driver decided he was going in the wrong direction and made a U-turn on the road, creating such a cloud of dust that I had to call a search party to come and lead me out.

If I try to abide by the law and drive a proper 45 in a 45 mph zone, I am invariably in front of a carload of people who simply must get to someplace important (like a fast food restaurant, or the next segment of Saturday morning cartoons) in the next few minutes and want me to step on the accelerator. When they finally pass me I can read the obscene words by lip-reading, and they almost always present me with an undeniably obscene gesture which would make even a Playboy bunny blush.

On the other hand, if I am in a hurry I always seem to turn onto the only street in town that is totally blocked by two old friends who are visiting each other in separate cars (I know that sounds confusing but it's the truth) in the middle of the road. If I detour onto another street I find myself behind a pickup driven by an old man who hasn't made up his mind whether he wants to sleep or drive, so he proceeds down the middle of the road at a roaring pace of three miles a month.

When I was a teenager my parents solved the problems I seemed to encounter by hiding my keys, siphoning the gas out of my car, and putting both my legs in casts. Now that I'm a real grown-up person I have to find my own way out of this mess. The only solution I can think of now is to resort to pedestrianism - with my luck I figure I'll get run over by some poor harassed mother who has a car full of kids playing catch with the steering wheel.

HOMEMAKER NEWS

HOMEMAKER CLUB ORGANIZATION:

We are in the process of organizing new homemaker clubs. Homemakers meet twice a month to improve the quality of living in homes and communities and develop leadership. Extension homemaker clubs respond to changing needs of families-needs related to family living, consumer information, family resource management, family clothing, housing and health.

Anyone may join a homemaker club. All homemakers, regardless of sex, age, race, socio-economic level, religion or national origin are encouraged to join homemaker groups.

The homemaker clubs are formed by groups of about 8-15 homemakers who want to learn together. They meet in homes or community meeting places. Everyone is involved. Club members teach, take part in discussions, plan recreation and participate in community projects sponsored by clubs.

If you want to learn more about family living, clothing, nutrition, housing, health and managing family resources, contact the County Extension Office. If you are working, we have a night club or could organize a "lunch and learn" group to meet during the noon hour. If you don't feel you have the time and yet you want to attend activities and educational programs, contact the Extension Office to have your name added to the Homemakers Mailing List. For further information, contact the County Extension Office-Star Route 2 Box 33, Pampa, Texas 79065-or call 669-7429.

BUYING BLANKETS:

Shop now for new blankets-November sales offer the best prices. Comparison shop for blankets at two or three stores to determine the best value for the price you want to pay. As you shop, check the fiber content, construction, care instructions and warranty.

Wool is an excellent insulator and is naturally flame and static resistant. Acrylic, polyester and nylon blankets generally wash well and are non-allergenic. Rayon blankets usually cost less than orlon or wool but may not wear as well. Fibers are also blended for strength and fluffiness.

Hold a blanket up to examine the weave-it should be close and even. Look for nap evenly distributed over the surface. Pull gently on the nap to see if it pulls out easily.

Choose a blanket that recommends an energy-saving care method. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's directions for machine washing or dry-cleaning. Does it mention the number of years under warranty, not pilling and limited shrinkage?

For energy savings, consider buying an electric blanket. It costs approximately 4.5 cents per night to use an electric blanket. Lower your household thermostat five degrees at night with the use of an electric blanket, and you can save 11 cents on your monthly heating bill.

SMOOTH-TOP RANGES AND ENERGY EFFICIENCY:

Smooth-top ranges get the "OK" on energy efficiency-if they have thermostatically controlled elements. They'll save even more energy if their owners learn to finish cooking four by using "retained heat". That means turning off the burner before food is completely cooked and letting it finish cooking with heat that the element retains.

Smooth-top ranges have excellent retained-heat capabilities, researchers say. Also, most researchers report similar amounts of energy used by smooth-top ranges with thermostatically controlled elements and by conventional ranges. Although cooking is about 15 percent slower on smooth tops, their efficient transfer of heat makes energy-use figures similar with those of conventional ranges.

On the other hand, smooth-tops with non-thermostatically controlled units will use slightly more energy than other models, and they do require about 23 percent more cooking time.

4-H Group Has Trail Ride Near Alanreed Oct. 28

AREA HIGHLIGHTS

Alanreed Has Annual Halloween Carnival

The Alanreed Halloween Carnival was held in the school gymnasium last Saturday night. The event under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teacher Organization is held annually as a project to raise funds for various school improvements. The door prize was won by Diane Bailey of Alanreed.

Billy Campbell won the prize for guessing the amount of pinto beans in a container. With a guess of just over 17,000 he was about 200 beans off the exact amount.

The seventh and eighth grade sold chances on a television set which was won by Dixie Becton of Idalou, Texas. The money raised will go toward financing the seventh and eighth grade trip which is tentatively planned for 6 Flags in the spring season.

The game booths, cake walk and Bingo were run by members of the P.T.O. There was a large turnout of the community for the evening of games and dinner. The food was prepared by John Fullbright of the Alanreed school cafeteria.

Somewhere along the way you have to let go of the kids and let them take their own lumps of life. Two years ago I would not have believed that I could move a thousand miles from my own kids. How could they get along without us to chart their every move and decision like we always had?

We had raised them to be independent, we thought, without really wanting to let them do that. There had to be daily visits and phone conversations filled with, "Maybe you should" and "That might not be the best thing to do."

We moved. They are living their own lives, making mistakes, living with their errors in daily living. I look out the window daily. The sun is still coming up. Trucks are still driving down I-40 and Lynn and Joe are doing just fine without me.

I raised one child with no physical impairments. After I was through, I realized I had let her be, had made her be, quite dependent on me. I raised one child with a severe handicap. I knew life would not be easy for him. I had to get him ready early, to be independent from the beginning.

It would be nice if I could say I have learned a great lesson. I am raising another. It is so easy to let him be dependent and is a great source of pleasure for me.

A few years ago a doctor in Lubbock asked me to write a poem to get an idea across to the mothers of cerebral palsy patients—to let the children do for themselves. It could work if we'll let it.

Dirk Hendricks William Bode Van Yssel Monde better known to us as Dick Bode, President of the Alanreed School Board, was born in Bloomendaal, Holland. He was the son of Dirk Richard Bode and Nell Bode and was the oldest of eight children. World War II devastated many countries, and after the war he took countries, and Holland was no exception. Dirk Bode's insurance business was ruined. After the war he took Nell and the seven children (one was born later in this country) to visit relatives in the United States.

They liked what they saw and returned to Holland to get ready to move to the U.S. which they did in 1950. It was quite a change for the family. Although they spoke English, none of them was fluent in the language.

Mr. Bode had been in the insurance business in Holland and after being here for several years, he formed the Dirk Bode Insurance Company in Anaheim, Calif. He died last year but the Bode Insurance Company is still in operation in Anaheim and is run by two brothers and two sisters of the family. They had been well trained through the years as all eight children grew up working at the business after school and on Saturdays.

They all appreciate the heritage given to them by their father, that of pride in hard work and pride in country.

Dick's wife Barbara was born in Littlefield, Tex. and grew up in California where she met and married Dick. They traveled around the country for several years. He was the Marketing Manager for insurance companies in Mississippi and Oklahoma before they moved to Alanreed in 1975. He continued to work for several months for a company in Am arillo and drove from Alanreed to Amarillo daily.

They enjoy their life farming and ranching south of Alanreed. As a young girl, Barbara visited her aunt who lived on the place, and had always thought it the most beautiful spot in the world.

Barbara is active in Alanreed school affairs, served as president of the P.T.O. last year and is secretary-treasurer this year.

They have three children: Margie, a student at Oklahoma Christian College, Dick Jr., a senior at McLean High School and Don an eighth grader at Alanreed.

When Dick Sr. was in his late 20's, he became a United States Citizen. He remembers it as a proud day in his life and mentions often how fortunate he feels to be a citizen of this country. He says he never takes for granted the many privileges that we have.

Coltoto Reunion Date Announced

C.A. Martin, president of the Coltoto reunion committee, announced this week that the annual Coltoto Homecoming will be held on Saturday afternoon, November 3, at the Lefors cafeteria.

Each family will bring its own food to be spread together for a meal at the dinner hour. Geneva Lisenbee will be assisting. Visitation will begin at 1:00 p.m. with musical entertainment and election of officers during the afternoon.

Former Coltoto employees and friends are urged to attend this reunion.

Then another lady in white, gives you your pills for the day. She gave me one little bitty white pill, which caused me to make several trips, but it did away with the swelling around my feet and ankles. I called it "The Mountain Dew Tablet."
You know all of this is prescribed by our good doctors.

LIBRARY NOTES

THE GAMBLERS
 Time-Life Books

Another in the growing list of Time-Life "Old West" series books will no doubt prove to be one of the more popular of all, as it is excellently researched and illustrated, and accurately depicts and records the many facets of the gambling industry during the taming of the west. Differences in gambling in the different parts of the country are shown as well as many little known games popular on the frontier and a number of famous gambling incidents and characters are shown. Anyone who has read "The Gunfighters," "The Great Chiefs," "The Cowboys," "The Indians," or any of this popular Time-Life series will certainly rank "The Gamblers" with the best, and will certainly derive much entertainment from reading this book.

"The Gamblers" is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.
