CRAIG WON DEMOS. NOD IN CLOSE RACE

Incumbent Bill Craig won the Democratic nomination for Gray County judge by an 8-vote margin over A. J. Carubbi Jr. in Saturday's run-off election.

The total vote was 1785 to 1777 for Craig. The voters in McLean cast 144 votes for Carubbi and 133 for Craig.

Carubbi carried Alanreed 20 to 10. It has been reported Wednesday that A. J. Carubbi Jr. was going to contest the Saturday election results.

If there is no change in the final vote figures, Craig still has another barrier to hurdle at the general election on Nov. 8 when he will face the Republican nominee for the county judge post, Sherman Lenning Jr.

Lenning, it is understood, is planning a hard-hitting campaign and an all-out drive to win in the fall.

There was one other contest on the Gray County run-off ballot Saturday. Although he didn't fare well in the state, Franklin Spears carried Gray County over Crawford Martin in the Democratic primary run-off for Texas attorney general.

The Gray County vote in that contest was: Spears 1763; Martin, 1729—another close contest, with Spears in the lead by a 34-vote margin.

The total vote in Gray County was 3,562. That was 820 votes less than the 4,382 cast in the May 7 primary. Gray County's total of eligible voters is 9,611. This means 6,049 voters stayed away from the polls Saturday.

The formal statement issued by A. J. Carubbi Jr., Wednesday noon follows:

"After numerous contacts by many of my supporters and a feeling of deep obligation to those who have worked so hard in my behalf, I have reached a decision concerning the primary election runoff conducted last Saturday. After examining the voting lists and checking the voting laws of the State of Texas, I have decided to contest the results of the second Democratic primary.

"I have found that a large number of voters who voted in the Republican primary also voted in the second Democratic primary. I have also found that many other voters who voted in the Republican primary were not permitted to vote in the second Democratic primary.

"I feel that if voters who voted in the Republican primary were eligible to vote in the second Democratic primary that all who sought to vote should have been allowed to vote. If, however, they were not eligible to vote, then none of the votes they cast should have been counted.

"At this time I have no way of knowing whether or not a recount excluding the votes cast by voters who voted in the Republican primary would change the results of the election. However, I feel that I have an obligation to the more than 1,700 people who voted for me to assure them and myself that I was defeated by votes which were properly cast."

(Signed) A. J. Carubbi Jr.

Dr. W. Earle Waldrop, Texas Christian University vice chancellor for external affairs presents Ranch Training certificate to Ernie McCracken. He is the son of Roy McCracken of McLean.

Ernie McCracken Completes Ranch Training Program

Ernie McCracken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCracken of McLean, was a member of the 1965-66 class to receive certificates at the graduation banquet on May 27 for the Ranch Training Program at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth.

The Ranch Training Program, a nine-month course, was begun in 1956 at the suggestion of Southwestern ranchmen who were concerned with the shortage of young men having technical and practical training. The program includes classroom instruction and almost 8,000 miles of travel to outstanding ranches and cattle operation sites in the Southwest.

Principal speaker for the banquet was Florida Senator Doyle E. Carlton Jr., whose son, Doyle III, was a member of the class.

Bill Craig Makes Statement to Voters

I wish to sincerely thank all of my friends who worked so hard in my behalf and who cast their vote for me Saturday.

All of the candidates in the May and June primaries worked hard, and through their efforts, and through the help of their friends and supporters ran good races.

I humbly and gratefully accept the decision expressed by the voters Saturday in receiving the Democratic nomination for County Judge in the November General Election.

It has been traditional for Democrats to support and work hard for the candidates of their choice in the Democratic primaries. It has also been traditional for Democrats to then unite behind the candidates of the party in the November election.

Let us all now unite and support all of the nominees of the Democratic party in the coming General Election.

I now seek the support of all of the people of Gray County as I actively continue my campaign as the Democratic nominee for that office of County Judge in the General Election in November, and pledge to continue working to move Gray County forward.

WEIGHT CONTROL: TAILOR THE PLAN

Are you overweight? Are you dieting now? Have you been successful in reaching the weight you desire but then regained your former weight in a period of time?

If your answer is "yes" to questions like these, you are one of thousands of people who have experienced frustration with their weight problem.

The newest and most professional thinking suggests the only kind of weight control program that will be successful is a tailored plan of living and eating habits—tailored specifically for you.

Slow But Sure
There is no guarantee of quick results. Quite the contrary. Though a tailor made suit will immediately improve a man's appearance, a tailor made plan of weight control will take time to get results.

You didn't gain that weight in a hurry. At least most of us didn't. It came on gradually, perhaps over a period of years. The important point now is not so much what you will weigh five weeks from now as five years from now. What is called for is a re-training of our eating and exercise habits. Whatever our life is now, our eating cannot be as before. We need to adopt new patterns of eating and expending energy that are compatible with our age and way of life. And I venture this will take some doing for each of us.

As a starting point, do you really know what you had to eat last week? Such information is imperative if you are to make any headway at all. It is amazing how most of us kid ourselves, or forget actually what we have eaten and how much. A careful record will form the basis for improvement. Even to the amateur, certain improvements will suggest themselves. Overindulgence in highly rich foods will be apparent.

Keep a List
So make a list for breakfast, lunch and dinner for a week—and don't forget to include between meal eating as well. Be sure to include alcohol and soft drinks. An inventory of this kind is your first step toward personalized weight control. List each food or drink in serving measurements such as teaspoons, tablespoons, cups, ounces, grams or whatever—in other words be as exact as you can.

Limit the Amount
Next, limit the portions of what you eat. Start out eating the same foods, but less of most, and maybe cutting out entirely any foods that obviously are in the rich dessert class, or overly fatty, such as fried foods. Broil your meats instead, for example.

There's more to this. Like determining for sure that you are getting the proper number of servings of foods from the four food groups. And which foods are highest in calories. We'll talk about this in a future column. Meantime, any of you who are seriously overweight—ten pounds or more—should see your doctor before starting any weight control program.

Stubble Mulch Farming

Stubble mulching is a system in which all of the tilling, planting, cultivation and harvesting operations are performed in such a manner and with such equipment as to keep most of the crop residues on the surface of the soil. Stubble mulching is a year-round system of maintaining residues on the surface.

There are many advantages of stubble mulch farming. Stubble mulching reduces wind and water erosion. More soil moisture because of higher intake and less evaporation. Maintains constant level of soil micro-organisms. Improves surface structure in surface of soil. Catches and holds snow. Stubble

Charles Bogan Weds Lubbock Girl

Double-ring wedding vows were pledged by Miss Roberta Beth Casperson and Charles Richardson Bogan at 4 p.m. Saturday in Bowman Chapel of First Methodist Church, Lubbock.

Officiating minister was Rev. Robert N. Huckabee, associate pastor of the church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Casperson of Lubbock, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bogan of Tulsa, Okla. The Bogans formerly lived in McLean.

Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Overturf of Denver, Colo., former residents of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thompson of Idaho Springs, Colo. Grandparents of the bridegroom are Mrs. W. E. Bogan of McLean and Mrs. J. B. Erickson of San Antonio. Presenting in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white formal length gown of peau de soie with portrait neckline and bracelet length sleeves extending into a shaped point above the wrist. Be-embroidered Alencon lace motifs accented the fitted bodice and extended in a shaped design onto the sheath skirt. A detachable bouffant peau de soie overskirt extended into a full chapel train.

A lace mantilla caplet held the elbow length tiered veil of English silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white butterfly roses surrounding a yellow-throated cattail orchid with cascades of English ivy.

Attendants were Miss Karen Wright of Kansas City, Mo., maid of honor, and Miss LeJan Bogan, junior bridesmaid, sister of the bridegroom. They wore identical formal length dresses of seafoam green saki silk blend fashioned with A-line skirts. A rolled satin band encircled the empire bodices and formed the bow in center front with streamers to the hemline of the floor length skirts. Dior bows of matching saki held circlet veils of silk illusion. Each carried turquoise carnations and white pompons with cascades of English ivy.

C. W. Bogan served as his son's best man, and Bobby Jones of Lubbock was groomsmen. Ushers were Jack and Richard Casperson, both of Denver, Colo., and Jim Casperson of Lubbock, brothers of the bride, and Clyde Windom of McLean and Lubbock.

A reception in the church parlor followed the ceremony.

For traveling, the bride chose a three piece white and navy linen suit. Accessories were white patent and red straw and an orchid corsage from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home at Tech Village, Apartment G19, 2902 3rd Place, Lubbock.

The bride graduated from Montcrey High School, Lubbock, in 1962 and from Texas Tech in January with a bachelor of science degree in elementary education. She teaches in the Lubbock public school system.

Bogan is a graduate of Seminole High School in Sanford, Fla., and is a junior student at Tech majoring in industrial engineering. He completed a two year tour of duty with the United States Army last January with 13 months at Seoul, Korea.

Marilyn Magee Is Wed in Fort Worth

Miss Marilyn Magee of Fort Worth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Magee of McLean, and Gerald B. Money of Fort Worth, nephew of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Campbell of Bonham, were united in marriage June 3 at 7 p.m. in the Central Christian Church Chapel of Fort Worth. Rev. Campbell, minister of the Disciples of Christ Church in Bonham, officiated.

Tom Whitaker of Fort Worth provided traditional wedding music on the organ, including "More" by Olinero, processional; "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell, "Bridal Chorus" by Lohengrin, and "Now Thank We All Our God" by Karg-Elert, recessional.

The chapel was decorated with two large bouquets of yellow stock, gladioli and roses in brass stands, three palms behind the altar, and two arched candelabra with crescent shaped arrangements.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Don Smith of Amarillo, sister of the bride; Mrs. Bob Patton of Eunice, N. M., Miss Pat Noonan of Teague and Miss Suzette Marshall of Jasper. They wore identical dresses of emerald green featuring scooped neckline, fitted bodice and straight ankle length skirt.

F. Paul Campbell served his brother as best man.

Groomsmen were Joe Magee of McLean, brother of the bride; Walter Baese, Fort Worth, and Stan Hagadone, Teague.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of ivory slipper satin, featuring a shawl neckline, long fitted sleeves with petal points, bouffant skirt extending into a chapel train. The dress was first worn by an aunt of the bride, Mrs. John Dwyer. Her fingertip, tiered veil of tulle was attached to a tiara embroidered with seed pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of a white orchid with yellow throat, surrounded by white roses and stephanotis attached to her white Rainbow Bible, and a point lace handkerchief which was carried by her mother at her wedding.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Magee chose a plum colored lined lace dress with bone accessories. The groom's mother wore a powder blue brocade with matching accessories. Each wore a white orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Central Christian Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was laid with a cutwork linen cloth, which was used by her grandparents at their Golden Wedding anniversary, and was centered with a floral arrangement. Refreshments of wedding cake, golden punch and coffee were served to the guests by Mrs. John Dwyer of McLean, Miss Sandra Phillips of Harlingen and Miss Rosalind Rainbolt of Houston.

Mrs. George Zimmerman of Kalamazoo, Mich., sister of the bride, registered the guests.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose an apricot silk shantung dress with bone accessories.

The couple is now at home at 2923 Lubbock Ave., Fort Worth. The new bride graduated from McLean High School in 1964, and is now a senior student at TCU. She is a member of Kappa Delta social sorority. The groom graduated from Bonham High School, and served in the United States Air Force. He is presently attending TCU, where he is majoring in government and political science.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Crockett and son, Dickie, were in Fort Worth last week to attend the graduation of their son and brother, Douglas, from TCU. He received a bachelor of fine arts degree.

Fashion Show Case Focus on Fall Fashions

By Jewel

There was a wave of new lengths vibrating in show rooms along the more than four miles of corridors in the Dallas Apparel Mart where thousands of manufacturers' lines poured in for the nation's first major market of the fall season. During this market more than 7,000 buyers from eleven states, had the opportunity to accept or reject the many predictions on styles for fall, for time and time again it has been proven that as the southwest goes so goes the nation. The burning issue of the moment is length, and obviously skirts will be short for some time.

In spite of some French designers who are ready for the trend to turn to longer lengths.

Jackets will lengthen, overblouses have started on a downward trend and there is a new lower mooring for belts. Especially in the Junior and Junior Petite sizes. The ever-present Shift is still going strong in the strictly casual dress, but for the most part dresses for this fall have waist lines and have a softer more dressy look.

The Jewel Box has just received a new shipment of summer cottons that will sell for as little as $7.95 in sizes ranging up to 24½.

According to Henry Lowrance, 70 per cent of the cotton is up and practically all has been planted in the McLean area.

A good rain is badly needed on our rangeland but it would probably be better if we could have 10 days of pretty weather on the cotton. The cotton could withstand a hard shower much better 10 days from now than it could today if it was up or just planted.

McLean vicinity look pretty good. In the Pampa vicinity, yields will run from eight bushels up to as high as 24 on dry land. Yield will depend on farming methods and whether or not the particular farmer got under one of the few rains we have had since last fall. It has been several moons since we received a good general rain all over the county.

The average yield on harvested wheat is expected to be somewhat higher than last year because most of the marginal wheat was grazed out. This was done purely as economics matter. Cattle were much higher than wheat.

FREE COTTON CLASSIFICATION

The time rolls around pretty fast. It seems like only yesterday that we fixed up the necessary papers to obtain free classification of cotton under the Smith Doxey cotton classification Act. The papers have been filed out again at our Pampa office. Would Bryan McPherson and Leamon Andrews please go by the local gin office and sign the necessary papers?

GRASSHOPPERS

We have noticed a few pockets of grasshoppers that might need special attention soon. There is a government spray program in progress in Armstrong and Briscoe counties to our south.

If you intend to build anything with bricks, concrete blocks or rocks, here is the general procedure to follow:

All of these materials are cemented together with mortar made by mixing one part cement to three parts clean sand and adding water to make a workable plastic.

If you add 10 per cent lime to this mixture you'll get a mortar that is a little easier to work with and almost as strong as one without lime.

Bricks and blocks should be laid up on either a concrete footing or slab. This base should be four inches or more thick and should be poured over six inches or so of gravel.

If you use rocks, set the first course below the frost line. Rocks should be free of dirt before any mortar is spread on. Be sure each joint is packed with enough mortar to fill any depressions in the rocks.

"Roman Seal" fur is dyed rabbit.

Buffalo Lake Stocked With Walleyes

Buffalo Lake, near Umberger, has been experimentally stocked with 400,000 walleye fry by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, according to Leo Lewis, regional fishery supervisor for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Buffalo Lake was stocked about a year ago with northern pike fry, but the fighting predators failed to become established.

If the experiment is successful, Golden Spread sportsmen will have two walleye lakes in their immediate area.

Recently the Parks and Wildlife Department flew in 2,000,000 Iowa walleye fry for Lake Meredith.

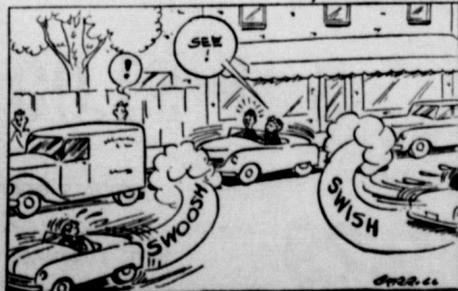

The walleye fry, about the size of mosquito larvae, were distributed in protected coves in all portions of the new lake.

Walleyes now released in Meredith now total 2,500,000 counting the 500,000 released last year.

DOUBLE JEOPARDY

To the athlete defeated in sport, the proverb says: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

But to the prosecutor defeated in court, the United States Constitution says just the opposite: "If at first you don't convict, you may not try, try again."

For, if the prosecutor tried the same case again, he would be putting the accused person in "double jeopardy" — that is, he would be forcing him to face trial twice on the same charge.

Why does the Constitution forbid double jeopardy? It is a matter of simple fairness.

"The underlying idea," the Supreme Court once explained, "is that the State with all its resources and power should not be allowed to make repeated attempts to convict an individual for an alleged offense, thereby subjecting him to embarrassment, expense and ordeal and compelling him to live in a continuing state of anxiety and insecurity."

Yet society, by giving up its second chance of winning a conviction, takes the risk of letting some real criminals go free. To prevent double jeopardy from providing an "easy out" for rascals, the law puts careful limits on the rule.

Consider three examples: A mail fraud trial was called off because the judge became seriously ill;

A murder trial was halted by the discovery that the defendant had smuggled a friend onto the jury;

A forgery trial ended in deadlock when the jurors found themselves unable to agree on a verdict.

In each of these cases a second trial was begun. Each time the defendant objected that he could not be tried again because of "double jeopardy."

But each time the objection was overruled. For in none of these situations had the basic question of guilt or innocence really been answered. Through no fault of the prosecution, the law's machinery had been stopped short, its task yet undone.

In fairness to the accused, we do not ask him to face jeopardy twice. But in fairness to society, we do ask him to face it once. Society, too, is entitled to its "day in court."

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Patton and daughter, Wendy, from New Mexico visited in the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Mertel and Mr. and Mrs. Ebb Patton, over the weekend.
