Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

VOLUME 77 McLEAN, GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1980 PRICE 25¢ NUMBER 41

When you live in a town as small as McLean, you eventually grow to know almost everyone in town. Our big city cousins consider that a bad aspect of small-town living, but I consider it one of the pluses. Knowing your neighbors very well also means sharing with them their joys...and their sorrows. During the past week, five residents of the McLean area died, and there is not a person in town who has not been affected by one or more of these deaths. I knew all five people but two of the women were particular friends of mine. I met Mrs. Brent Chapman about 18 years ago, when I was a new comer to McLean and visited one of the local bridge clubs. Now, Mrs. Chapman was a bridge player deluxe. She was one of those people who knew every rule of the game, and liked nothing better than a tough-fought match.

At this particular bridge club meeting, I had been invited because I was new in town and didn't know anyone. I explained to all present that I had never played bridge before, and knew nothing about it. Everyone was kind to me as they tried to explain the very complicated rules of that game, but imagine Mrs. Chapman's consternation when she drew me for a partner, and drew one of the best hands of her life! I learned later that she had 34 points in her hand, and as we went through that ritualistic dance of bidding and answering I could tell she was growing more and more distressed, because she was afraid I would make the wrong response and cut off the bidding.

Finally in desperation, she slammed her hand on the table and bid a resounding "TWELVE NO-TRUMP!" Of course, you bridge players know that there is no such bid, and she did too, but the excitement of the moment had just carried her away with the bidding. Everyone had a good laugh with the expert Mrs. Chapman, and the game continued, but she and I laughed many times about that fantastic bid.

And of course, Alice Short Smith was a special person to so many that it would be useless to try to eulogize her in this brief space, but what a lovely lady she was!

A wealthy woman with perhaps the most high-class education of anyone around McLean, she was also one of the most humble, self-effacing people I ever met. There was not a snobbish bone in her body, even though her many philanthropies, her business accomplishments, and her background certainly would have given her a right to be.

She did not like for people to mention her many good deeds, because it was embarrassing to her, and if the subject was ever mentioned, she quickly brought up a new subject of conversation.

A kind, considerate, generous woman.

Tigers Stomp Erick Bearcats 32-6

By Lisa Patman

McLean's head coach Jack Dorsett predicted last week that the size of Erick's eight-man field would limit Tiger sweeps during Friday's ballgame, and he was right. The narrow, 80-yard field did force the Tigers to take to the middle where they centered in on an overwhelming 32-6 victory over the Erick, Oklahoma Bearcats.

The interstate grid battle proved to be a spotlight for the Tigers, as James Matheny and Terry Todd combined efforts to gain 274 yards rushing. Brock Crockett, Bill Skipper, and Kevin McDowell aided the Tigers on yardage carries to bring McLean's total rushing to 348, while the McLean defense led by Theron Stubbs, Tim Smith, and Bill Kincannon held the Bobcats to 42 yards on the ground.

The first quarter of Friday night's ballgame showed the Tigers making a methodical drive up the middle, giving the ball back to Erick with little more than a minute left before the start of the second quarter.

In the second quarter Erick was forced to return the ball to the Tigers at the Bearcat 37 when Tim Smith and Bill Skipper forced a fumble on a pitch-out and Tiger Mike Lane recovered. Todd and Matheny took it from there, alternating up-the-middle-plays until Todd carried it over the goal line with 4:39 left in the half. The extra point kick was signaled no good, and the score read McLean 6, Erick 0 as the Tigers began their roll to victory.

Erick managed no yardage as they piled up 1st and 15, 2nd and 20, and 3rd and 20, then trying a desperation Statue of Liberty which Tiger James Matheny spotted and squelched, leaving Erick with 4th and 25. The fourth down kick left the ball on the Erick 29 and set the Tigers up for their next touchdown. With 2nd and 10, Terry Todd, breaking through several tackles, scampered to the goal line on the 39-yard run, bringing the score to 12-0. Tim Killham snared a Dudley Reynolds' missile in the end zone, raising the tally to McLean 14, Erick 0 as the clock ticked toward the end of the half.

Early in the third quarter, after a cross buck play by Terry Todd brought McLean to the Erick 39, an errant pitchout was recovered by the Bearcats, and it was Erick's ball at the McLean 35. But the Tigers remained undaunted as they watched Tim Smith and Bill Skipper rattle the Bearcat of fensive line until Mike Lane took the action as he snared an Erick pass, setting the ball down on the McLean 9. As the McLean crowd fidget-ed at the ball so close to their own goal, James Matheny waltzed around Erick's defense, breaking to the outside, and with Terry Todd screening off any of the opposition that managed to get in the way, raced to the goal line, upping

Matheny Named Class 1A Player Of The Week

McLean's James Matheny was named Class 1A Player of the Week by the Amarillo Daily News in a story by assistant sports editor Kenneth W. Tidmore Tuesday.

"Matheny, a 170-pound senior, prodded and pounded the Erick squad both offensively and defensively as he paced the Tigers to a 32-6 victory."

Tidmore wrote. The McLean Tiger who plays halfback and linebacker, gained 150 yards and a touchdown on 14 carries, and made one touchdown.

Defensively he made 14 tackles, four stops and 10 assists.

Two other Tigers, Terry Todd and Tim Smith, were named honorable mention by the paper. Todd, a senior fullback, gained 125 yards on 15 carries. Smith, an offensive guard and defensive end, was in on 11 tackles on defense.

Other players mentioned in the honor list were Groom's Aaron Wieberg, Booker's Mark Bechtold and Valley's Dee Dowd.

Five McLean Residents Die

Five long-time residents of the McLean area died this week. Although none of the deaths were related, it is the largest number of deaths in a single week in McLean in several years.

Four Lane Highway Opens

The hazardous stretch of Interstate-40 between Alanreed and the Clarendon exit was terminated Friday when the new four-lane highway was opened to traffic.

The highway was narrowed to two lanes in January of 1979, despite concern from local officials about the potential hazards of the road. From May of 1979 until the opening of the four-lane Friday, 15 people lost their lives on the 10-mile stretch, including 9 who died this summer.

The deadliest month for the road was May of this year when six people died.

Most of the accidents over the last 18 months had several similarities. Most were head-on collisions, most involved out of state drivers, and many of the accidents occurred at either daybreak or sunset.

The Texas Highway Department installed 136 signs in an effort to warn travellers about the hazards of the highway.

The construction, which began in the area in 1976, cost the taxpayers about $20 million. Contractors on the job included Gilven-Terrill of Amarillo, Dahlstrom Corporation of Buda; Pauls Fence of Joshua; and H.B. Zachry of San Antonio.

Among the dead were Raymond Tim Philpott, 26, of Sapulpa, Okla. died May 2, 1979; Dennis Allen Pooley, 30, of Stillwater, Okla. and Sally D. Snell, 24, of Stillwater, Okla., died June 27, 1979; Johnny L. ## Bi-Lingual Program Is Unfair

Ben Ezzell in The Canadian Record

Bi-lingual education, in the sense that means providing bi-lingual teachers in the public schools to help alien children learn to read and speak English so that they can pursue their education along with English-speaking classmates, is a good and needed thing.

But in the sense that the federal bureaucrats are using the term, the require alien children to be taught in their native languages as well as (or instead of) in English, bi-lingualism in the classroom is as un-American as it is un-economic.

We see nothing wrong or unreasonable in expecting immigrants to this country to learn the language of the country. We believe it is an act of good citizenship, as well as a good-neighborly one, to help immigrants to our country learn the language and the customs...and we think the public school classroom is the place where immigrant children should be helped in this way.

But that does not mean that we should feel an obligation to educate immigrants in their native languages. There is a vast difference, educationally and socially, in providing Spanish-speaking teachers in Texas public schools to help children of Mexican immigrants (legal or illegal) to begin the learning process in English-speaking classrooms, and in providing Spanish-speaking classrooms in the public schools for these children.

To do the latter is a disservice both to the English-speaking taxpayers citizenry which must foot the bill, and to the Spanish-speaking children who are not encouraged to learn the new language. The same is true of immigrant children (or adults) of any other nationality.

Educationally, it is idiotic. Experience in the Canadian public schools with children of other nationalities over the years...including Vietnamese, Hungarian, and Dutch as well as Mexican...has proved beyond doubt the abilities of these children, under patient and understanding guidance of dedicated teachers, to learn English quickly enough to compete soon with their peers in English-speaking classrooms. These young immigrants have, in many cases, proved themselves to be superior students...and a command of the language of their new country has been of far greater value to them, socially and economically, than continued instruction in the language of a homeland they will not return to.

Bi-lingual classrooms, in such cases, provide only a crutch for the immigrant, and a burden for their hosts.

By the same reasoning, we believe it is wrong...socially and politically and economically...to require publication of election notices and ballots in languages other than English in a land where English is the national language. We believe it is not unreasonable to expect immigrants who aspire to citizenship to learn the language of their adopted country as a pre-requisite to attaining the privileges of citizenship, including the privilege of voting in public elections.

Yet it is the edict of the federal bureaucracy...in its misguided concern for the rights of minorities...that much of this country should conduct its business and operate its schools in the language of one or more ethnic minorities. This, we believe is unfair to all concerned...including the minority people.

"It's an ambitious goal," the postmaster said, "but postal inspectors are a tenacious group." Since last October their efforts have resulted in stopping more than 500 questionable work-at-home promotions resulting in savings of thousands of dollars to the public.

"If you think you might be a victim, or simply see an ad for a work-at-home scheme in a publication," the postmaster said, "let us know so that we can achieve our goal of eliminating these kinds of rip-offs."

The most common work-at-home promotion seeks people to stuff envelopes even though envelope-stuffing today is a highly mechanized operation. Literally thousands fall victim each year, the postmaster said, despite the fact that many people realize no company could afford to pay people to perform such a chore by hand.

"Unfortunately, it is the elderly or low income people who lose money to these con men," the postmaster said, "and that makes this kind of scheme particularly disgusting."

The postmaster suggested the next time readers see an ad for a work-at-home scheme, they clip it out and send it to him so postal inspectors can be among the first to examine it.

McLean's score to 20. The extra point attempt failed. Dudley Reynolds' kick into the end zone brought Erick to 1st and 10 at their own 15. Matheny, Bill Kincannon, and Terry Todd conspired to back the Tigers to 3rd and 14, and Mike Lane batted away an almost certain touchdown pass, leaving Erick at 4th and 14.

Erick's kick fell dead at the McLean 22, and Brock Crockett on the next play, plowed through to pick up five for the Tigers. Dudley Reynolds, recovering a broken play, made it to the McLean 35 for a 1st and 10. With 2:09 left in the third, a handoff to Crockett landed the ball at the Erick 38, and Terry Todd, proceeding up the middle on the fourth down, brought the Tigers to 1st and 10 on the Erick 33. Todd then broke loose to the Erick 8 yard line as the third quarter drew to a close.

But changing ends of the field didn't change the Tigers luck as Billy Joe Skipper grabbed the handoff and charged across the line for another Tiger touchdown. The scoreboard read McLean 26, Erick 0, with 10:39 left in the game. Reynolds' kick to the Erick end zone again gave the Bearcats a chance, but it wasn't the one they were looking for. McLean held the Bearcats, with Bill Kincannon spooking the Erick quarterback into blooping a pass. Erick returned the ball to the Tigers at the 40 yard line.

McLean again began a drive to the goal and with Brock Crockett and Kevin McDowell in charge of the ball, gained the Erick 25 before a pass was intercepted by an excited Bearcat. Quick thinking by Tiger Brock Crockett stopped the interloper at the Erick 10, where the Tigers kept the Erick team until McLean could regain its composure. McLean managed to contain Erick, taking the ball over again, at the Bearcat 19. Then it was the Tigers' ball all the way as Brock Crockett took it to the 4 yard line, and Kevin McDowell pranced in for another goal. With the time at 3:51 McLean led by 32 points.

No one was able to discount Erick's determination, however, as with only a little over a minute left in the game, the Oklahoma team gained their first goal of the night on a spectacular 50 yard pass from Ronnie Davis to Harold Hammond. The Bearcats extra point attempt failed, and the clock ran out on Erick with the score McLean 32, Erick 6.

Coach Jack Dorsett said "Our line had the best game they've had all year. Although we were a little disappointed in the first quarter, we were sure happy about the rest of the ball game. The offensive line did a super job the whole game."

"We expect the Memphis game to be pretty exciting," Dorsett continued. "Their boys are pretty big. They have won only one game, but they've

POPCORN FACTS & FANCIES

Lots of things start popping when summer's past...including popcorn. Fall's the peak season for popcorn sales and consumption.

The pleasure of popcorn isn't new. Five-thousand-year-old popcorn ears have been discovered in New Mexico. Just as many Americans prefer popcorn, popcorn appears to prefer America. Attempts to grow it in Europe and North Africa have failed to produce a product as excellent as ours.

To help ensure that popcorn is properly popped, the Popcorn Institute recommends using poppers that have qualified for its Seal of Quality Performance.

Popcorn has no sugar, additives, or preservatives. It's economical... a quart of popped popcorn costs pennies per serving... it's high in fiber and low in calories... only 25 to 55 calories in a cup of unbuttered popcorn. Popcorn's popularity will continue to pop, especially in October... it's Popcorn Poppin' Month.

Officials of the club extended an invitation to all senior citizens to come to the hall on Thursday and Saturday nights to play dominoes and "forty-two." Refreshments are served.

Gray County Cookbook Planned

A Gray County heritage cookbook is being compiled by members of the Civic Improvement Committee, Pampa Chamber of Commerce, to commemorate the 80th birthday of Gray County. To be released in 1982, it will feature recipes and historical data of early settlers as well as current residents. Men are urged to submit recipes, too. Deadline for mailing in the recipes is October 10, 1980.

The recipes should be mailed in typed or printed form to Mrs. Darlene Birkes, 2356 Aspen, Pampa, 79065. Members of the Heritage Cookbook Committee include Thelma Bray, Ruth Barrett, Chris Campaigne, Jeanie Campbell, Irene Harrah, Elizabeth Hurley, Viola Jordan, Katie Key, Carol Mackey, Loren Price, Kathryn Steele, Johnnie Thompson, Clotelle Thompson, Cynthia West, and Lillian Skelly.

Guidelines include listing the ingredients in the order used and avoiding abbreviations.

More than one recipe may be submitted. The donor's full name, including maiden name and husband's initials, should be included. Recipes may be submitted by friends or relatives of deceased settlers.

For the historical portion, donors are asked to write some information about themselves and or about the recipe. This might include approximate dates the donor has lived in Gray County, contributions to Gray County's history and growth, main activity or occupation. Information about the recipe might include where or when it originated, to whom it belonged, and if it was used for a special occasion or guests of note. If the recipe can be related to an incident that might be historical, amusing, noteworthy, or informative, this should be mentioned.

Any quips, home remedies, etc. that would reflect periods in Gray County's history, as the oil boom period, World War II, can be included.

MR. AND MRS. BILLY BOB TERRY

Jill Trew, Bill Terry Exchange Vows

Jill Rae Trew and Billy Bob Terry exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony Sept. 27 at First United Methodist Church in McLean. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length white dress which featured seed pearl and Alencon lace around the sweetheart neckline. The lace touched the hem of the chapel-length train, and accented the long, fitted sleeves of the dress. She carried blue and white satin flowers in a large circular bouquet.

Attending the bride were the maid of honor, Judy Trew, twin sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Jamie Trew, sister of the bride, and Gail Terry Glass, sister of the groom.

They wore identical ice blue floor-length dresses which featured empire waists and sheer sleeves. The dresses were fashioned from disco satin. The attendants each carried a nosegay of blue and white satin flowers.

Best man was George Terry, father of the groom. Groomsmen were Tom Glass and Marshall Hanes.

Ushers for the wedding were Dean Trew and Carter Trew, brothers of the bride.

Traditional wedding music was played by Joyce Haynes on the organ and Ida Hess on the piano. Bonnie Brass sang the "Wedding Song," and Mrs. Brass and Mrs. Hess played "H."

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the parlor of the church.

The round serving table was covered with a floor-length blue cloth, topped by white lace. The table featured a three-tier wedding cake, topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom, and accented by a curving staircase and blue flowers. The centerpiece of the table was a silver candelabra holding candles and the brides' bouquet.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Trew, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Terry, all of McLean.

Following a brief wedding trip to Amarillo, the couple is at home in McLean. She is employed by Terry's Electric and he works for Gulf Oil Company.

Serving at the reception were Shara Bush and Ann Skipper. Diane McAnear registered the guests.

Halloween Is Theme Of Pioneer Study Club Meeting

Miami Topples McLean Junior High Cubs

The McLean Junior High Cubs hosted the Miami griders last Thursday night and lost to the visitors 14-2 in a tough defensive battle. Miami scored with two minutes left in the first quarter, and then scored 2 points on a conversion run.

At the beginning of second quarter, McLean's defensive unit pounced on a Miami player lost in his own end zone, and gave McLean their only points of the game.

The tenacious Cubs got to Miami's 1-inch line before the buzzer ending the first half sounded, and they were never able to get that close again.

The game ended with Miami 14 and McLean 2.

The Cubs will travel to Lefors tonight for a game with the Bandits. Game time is 6:30 p.m.

LIBRARY NOTES

by Sam Haynes

FOXFIRE 6 edited with an introduction by Eliot Wiggin-ton.

Foxfire 6 is the latest collection in the best-selling Foxfire series. Like its predecessors, this volume is as unique as the people whose lives and customs are documented here.

Friends such as Jake Wal-droop, a 91-year-old who made his way logging and hunting. Ethel Meadows, a 93-year-old who grew up in the days following the Civil War, and Ben Ward, a self-educated inventor who designed and built his own sawmill, are introduced through their stories and thoughts.

Chapters on wooden locks, shoemaking, and gourd banjos give detailed information which allows the reader to appreciate and construct these articles, and the roundup of toys and games provides instructions on how to make everything from fluttermills to wagons, and play such games as green grass and townball. Finally, an extensive section on the homeplace offers three views of the total home environment, providing a context for the artifacts and activities which the Foxfire series has presented.

Foxfire 6 is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

COLLEGE STATION — Don't breathe a sigh of relief because you think Texas' tornado season is over, because it's a year-round problem, say Texas A&M University climatologists.

Peak times are between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. in April, May and June. But 109 twisters touch ground in an average year, with more going unreported in sparsely settled regions. Hurricanes, which remain a threat through October, can spawn dozens of tornadoes as they move inland.

Legislative Proposals Submitted To Spur Alcohol Fuel Production

AUSTIN—A special state energy committee headed by Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has formulated an eight-point legislative proposal to stimulate fuel alcohol in Texas.

The proposals were approved by the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council (TENRAC) and are now to be submitted to the Governor and the Legislature, Brown explained. "Texas has the potential for producing large quantities of feedstock for conversion to alcohol fuels. However, Texas has generally lagged behind many other states in developing a fuel alcohol industry," Brown continued. "The proposals submitted for consideration would help make fuel alcohol production feasible and attractive in Texas, and would allow this infant industry a chance to establish competitive footing."

The major points of the report formulated by the Subcommittee on Agriculturally-Derived Fuels included:

1. Exempting gasohol from the five-cent per gallon state motor fuel tax until Dec. 31, 1986. At that time, one cent per gallon would be added to the price of gasohol each year until the motor fuel tax was equalized on gasohol and gasoline.

2. Directing state agencies to use at least 10 percent of their fuel budget for gasohol and/or alcohol fuels as they become available at competitive prices.

3. Creating a division within the Texas Department of Agriculture to establish and administer standards governing various aspects of the marketing of gasohol and alcohol fuels.

4. Amending the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Code to stimulate competition in alcohol fuel production.

5. Providing funds for H.B. 2803, which was passed by the 66th Legislature but not funded. This would allow the Texas Industrial Commission to make loans for fuel alcohol plants in the state.

Texas ranks first in the nation in 1980 in total cattle on feed with 2.0 million head, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

Homemaker News

by Elaine Houston

BLAZER WORKSHOP TO BE HELD AT NIGHT:

A special shortcourse to teach homemakers factory methods of tailoring will be held Tuesday evening, October 14 from 7 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. in the Courthouse Annex Meeting Room. The class is free and only tailoring for a blazer jacket will be presented.

Those attending will view demonstrations on tailoring techniques, pattern and fabric selection, interfacing techniques, lining jackets and finishing the jacket. Handouts will be given to those attending.

HOMEMAKERS ASSOCIATION TO HEAR NATIONALLY KNOWN SPEAKERS:

Four Gray County Extension Homemaker Club members, Mrs. Marta Schwede, Mrs. Katie McDonald, Mrs. Roselle Collingsworth, and Mrs. Marilyn Butler will hear "Heloise" and author, Jane Segerstrom during the Texas Extension Homemakers Association annual meeting, October 14-16, at the El Tropicana Hotel in San Antonio.

Local delegates will join more than 1,000 other delegates from across the state as Texas Extension Homemakers Association members gather to discuss today's family. They will attend workshops concerning family life, health, safety, citizenship, 4-H and youth, recreation and cultural arts—and then, bring home what they learned in order to benefit more than 20,000 additional Extension Homemaker Club members. In addition, the delegates will later promote county-wide activities for the public that will reach thousands more Texas homemakers and their families.

Keynote speaker on October 15 will be Jane Segerstrom, author of "Look Like Yourself and Love It," who will address the annual convention on the same topic. That evening, "Heloise," who writes the syndicated column, "Hints from Heloise," will speak to the delegates. Heloise, of San Antonio, as author of the nationally distributed column is really a "second generation" author of the column, following her author-mother, who originated it. Other activities during the state meeting will be the semi-annual election of officers and a closing-evening banquet featuring a Mariachi Band.

DIET-CHECK IS COMING: In November, Mary Sweeten, Food and Nutrition Specialist will be in Pampa to talk about proper eating habits. Consumers in the area will have the opportunity during October to complete a diet sheet on one day's meals. These will be processed through a computer to check for adequate nutrition, and calories. We would like to encourage everyone interested to call or come by the Extension Office to get the form needed. When returned to the Extension Office, we will process through the computer and return to the consumer on Nov. 6 when Mrs. Sweeten is in Pampa. Texas' small towns are doing just fine COLLEGE STATION — Once depicted as an endangered species, the small town in Texas is alive and well, says Dr. Robert Skrabanek, sociologist at Texas A&M University.

Two-thirds of all Texas towns with less than 500 people lost residents between 1950 and 1960. The situation began to reverse in the late '60s, and now three-fourths of those towns have recorded population increases, he said.

OVER 9 MILLION pounds of mohair were produced in Texas last year. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown hopes that amount will increase significantly as trade with Japan was promoted recently in a visit by a Japanese trade mission.

Japanese Buyers Tour Texas Mohair Industry

AUSTIN—Thanks to the marketing efforts of Texas trade representatives in the Far East earlier this year, Japanese buyers have taken a firsthand look at the mohair industry in Texas, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said recently.

The reciprocal visit September 29-October 1 by the Japan Trade mission included several of Japan's largest mohair buyers.

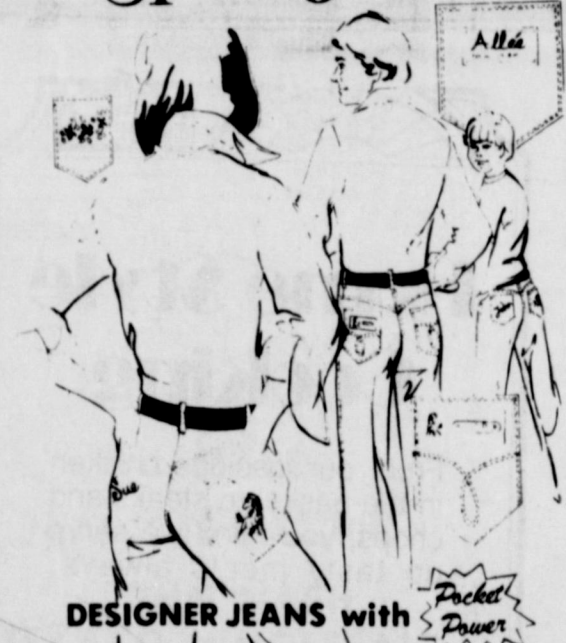

The Texas Department of Agriculture and the Mohair Council of America hosted the Japanese trade mission, which toured several Texas mohair warehouses and Angora goat ranches, as well as Brady Combing Co. of Brady, the nation's only surviving mohair processing plant. After meeting with members of the Texas Mohair Producers Board, the team concluded its tour with a stop-over at Texas Department of Agriculture headquarters in Austin.

"Japan consumes almost 3.5 million pounds of mohair per year, or about 15 percent of total world consumption," said Brown. "That country used to be our best customer, but gradually shifted its purchases to South Africa. It was claimed that Texas mohair contained too much kemp, a coarse, inferior hair which cannot be dyed. However, we feel that this bad reputation is undeserved, and we are making every effort to win back these valuable customers."

Brown noted that processing methods, rather than the product itself, are responsible for much of the kemp problem with Texas mohair. Most mohair produced in Texas is processed in Great Britain, where it is often blended in with kempy mohair from other producing areas. Texas produces over 90 percent of all U. S. mohair.

HOW TO TEST YOUR TOTS FOR BLINDNESS

Your preschooler can't tell you that he has a vision problem. But, says the National Society to Prevent Blindness, actions can speak louder than words.

Look for these body language messages from your preschooler: excessive rubbing, shutting or covering one eye, tilting the head or thrusting it forward, blinking often or becoming irritable when doing close work. Watch for crossed, red-rimmed, swollen or watery eyes, and bouts of dizziness, headaches and double vision.

One in every 20 preschoolers—nearly half a million throughout the U.S.—

has an eye disorder of some kind. Many of these vision problems are most effectively treated in the early years.

To find the children in need of attention, the National Society to Prevent Blindness offers a Home

Eye Test for Preschoolers. For a free copy of this do-it-yourself test, available in English or Spanish, write to your state Society to Prevent Blindness or the National Society to Prevent Blindness, 79 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10016.

Foreign diseases seen as threat to American animals

COLLEGE STATION — Smuggling frozen semen from high-powered Brazilian bulls is daily increasing the risk of economically devastating foot-and-mouth disease in Texas, says a top federal scientist.

Foot-and-mouth disease, eradicated in Texas 55 years ago, and African swine fever, unknown in this hemisphere until 1971, are two of the foreign animal diseases most worrying scientists. Dr. Jerry Callis said at Texas A&M University.

Callis, director of the Department of Agriculture's Plum Island Animal Disease Center in New York, said ordinary pasteurization and hide and cheese processing do not eliminate foot-and-mouth virus from products of infected animals. He also said completion of the Pan American Highway from South America would dramatically boost the chances of eventual invasion of foreign animal diseases.

COLLEGE STATION — A profile of students entering the graduate business program at Texas A&M University this fall shows an eight-fold increase in the enrollment of former school teachers, counselors, and those with education backgrounds but no work experience, say college officials.

At least 50 percent of those entering the graduate business school have undergraduate degrees in areas other than business administration. Among these 16 percent have education degrees, 19 percent come with liberal arts backgrounds, eight percent from engineering or technology and seven percent from science. And at least 40 percent of the students this fall are women, officials say.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

Large populations of field crickets are being reported from several areas in Texas, crawling on the walls of buildings and blackening sidewalks and parking lots. They are observed particularly when they pile up in large numbers against the sides of buildings in downtown areas. A few reports include invasion of residences and some minor plant damage.

Field cricket problems actually began last fall when eggs were deposited in undisturbed areas such as pastures, roadside ditches, grassy areas and city parks. Evidently, environmental conditions were conducive to continued population maintenance throughout the spring and summer. It is rather typical that large populations occur in the fall following prolonged dry weather in the spring and summer. Field crickets migrate or disperse in late summer, especially following brief periods of cooler temperatures and rains. Also, these crickets seem to be a much greater problem in urban or built-up areas. They are attracted to lights-street light, home security lights, illuminated windows and signs, and this works to concentrate them in towns and cities.

Field crickets lay as many as 150-400 eggs in the soil. The resulting hatch produces nymphs in the warmer southern regions. Their food comprises of a large number of plant hosts. Eggs are deposited for the next generation sometime prior to the first killing frost.

Large numbers of field crickets can damage ornamental and garden plants, particularly where surrounding areas containing the usual host plants have dried up. Their entrance into residences is purely accidental; however, they appear to be extremely successful in getting into houses and commercial establishments. They gain entrance through open doors and unscrubbed windows, cracks and crevices around window and door frames and attic vents or louvers. Field crickets become a nuisance in homes by their incessant chirping and mere presence.

They occasionally feed on fabrics, particularly clothing that is stained with perspiration or foods.

More than likely the current populations of crickets will be around until the first frost. During this time, taking certain sanitation measures will serve to reduce cricket feeding and breeding sites. Eliminate weeds and dense vegetation around the house foundation, as well as piles of bricks, stones, wood and other debris where crickets may hide. Cleanout trash dumps which provide both food and harborage areas. Insect proof your home by caulking, weather stripping, and making sure all screens and doors are tight fitting. Eliminate as many light sources as possible at night to reduce the numbers of field crickets that may be attracted to your home.

Applications of insecticides indoors in only minimally effective since crickets have a tendency to wander into the many hiding places that are present in a residence. Control of crickets outside of structures is more effective and serves to prevent them from moving indoors. Sprays should be applied to foundation walls, windows, door facings, crawl spaces, door thresholds and in and around garbage cans, and wood piles. When infestations are large, treat a 5-20 foot swath around the house.

Insecticides that are effective against field crickets are listed below. Note that certain of these chemicals are suggested (and labeled) for use either indoors, outdoors, or in both localities. Bait formulations are effective when used correctly. Baits should be scattered in areas where crickets are likely to congregate. In some instances and where the product label gives specific directions, a light moistening of the bait after it has been applied enhances control.

Hightower Given Award By Business Group

(Washington, D.C.)-- The National Associated Businessmen, Inc., one of the major national associations that represent the interests of small businesses in Washington, has awarded Congressman Jack

Hightower a "Watchdog of the Treasury Award" for voting against unnecessary federal spending during the 96th Congress. The National Federation of Independent Business had already named Hightower as a recipient of the "Guardian of Small business" award. In the evaluation of the National Associated Businessmen, the 13th District Congressman was in the upper 20 percent of the 435 members of the House of Representatives in fighting to protect the taxpayers of this country.

In his response to the award, Congressman Hightower stated, "it is gratifying to find that this group, working to represent the interests of small businesses, feels that my work and judgment on issues before Congress points to the same goal. The first and foremost need of small businesses today is that inflation be brought under control. That has been and continues to be first and foremost purpose in my service to the people of this district and our nation.

"To reach a balanced budget, to become energy self-reliant; to develop a positive balance of trade; to end unnecessary government regulation; these are all a part of the inflation fighting process. I am proud that this association believes that my actions have supported my words."

Hightower, finishing his third term, serves on the powerful and influential Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives.

The Extension Service is the parent organization of 4-H.

To celebrate the weeklong event, 4-H'ers will be conducting a number of special activities, including County 4-H Banquet, 4-H Officer Training, Membership Drive and 4-H Club meetings.

4-H is the nation's largest out-of-school educational youth organization which offers unique learning experiences for youth through its time-tested "learning-by-doing" approach. 4-H'ers become involved in a variety of practical real-life activities that range from agricultural and clothing to health and wood science. Programs vary according to youth needs

Nation's supply of engineers is falling short

COLLEGE STATION — The dean of the nation's largest college of engineering warned recently the nation's supply of engineers falls far short of industry demand and there is no sign of relief.

Shortages have developed for petroleum, chemical, electrical, mechanical, aerospace, civil and safety engineers, said Dr. Robert H. Page of Texas A&M University.

Although Texas A&M graduated a record 881 engineers in 1979, including 80 women, recruiters from industry and business still demand more.

It's True.

"We bought a house a few years back, and it had a heat pump in it. I was very satisfied with it and simply decided to have it put in our new home here. The reason I like the heat pump is because it is efficient, simple and clean - you don't have to fuss with any change over from heating and cooling. I was given projected operating costs of the heat pump in both homes by Southwestern Public Service. And, in every month since I've had the heat pump, my actual monthly operating costs have been considerably lower than the estimated projections. So, consequently I've been very pleased. I would definitely recommend the heat pump to my friends or anyone else because in my opinion, it is a good unit and economical."

Jerry Newsum

McLean Tri-State High School Rodeo Club wishes to express their gratitude and sincere appreciation to all the business merchants and individuals who made donations and contributions toward our rodeo. ### Inflation - Fighting IDEAS

Coupon Clipping Packs Clout Coupon-clipping can save you money, help you purchase quality merchandise at cut-rate costs, and (if you're lucky) whisk you away on a free vacation. Simply follow this advice: Wednesday is usually the best day to scour the newspapers for money-saving market coupons. (File them by category: Food, Drugs, Paper Products, etc. for easy finding) and then look for supermarkets' double or triple-coupon days.

Check boxes and labels for specially priced merchandise. You may find anything from pantyhose to instant cameras! $20,000 and an all-expense paid two-week vacation to Japan is what one coupon clipper will win. That's the first prize in the Gillette World Series Winning Team Game. Bring the game pieces (miniature baseball diamonds) printed on coupons in national magazines to a participating store. Then see if they match the diamonds featured on the Gillette World Series Winning Team Display.

Keep your eyes open for coupons for related items on various products. A cat-snip bottle may feature a coupon for a discount on your next beer purchase. And remember, refunding is an extension of couponing. Buy products with coupons featuring a refund offer. Later, mail in the label to get your money back. Coupons can be a prime cut in inflation for anybody—and sheer elation for a few!

May we take this method of thanking our neighbors and friends for their kind expressions of sympathy. These expressions have been deeply appreciated.

The Family of Buel Watt

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to all of you for your many acts of kindness and words of encouragement during the illness and at the time of death of our loved one.

A special thanks to Thomas Nursing Home, the doctors and nurses for their excellent care and attention, and to Rev.

Wells and all the wonderful ladies of the Baptist Church for the preparation and serving of the lunch.

To all of our friends who sent flowers, cards and food, many thanks.

May God bless each of you.

The Family of J.A. Meador

Gone Fishin'

by Jeanette Fish

I have spent considerable time the past few months studying the Presidential candidates' wives. Nancy Reagan's rapt, adoring gaze says to the world that coffers of gold are falling, at the rate of 100 per minute, from Ronnie's lips. She holds the record for an unblinking, fixed gaze, which in the world of nursing sends us hurtling to the phone to get the doctor.

You may think he is saying to her "Oh, my darling, you are the greatest thing since automatic transmissions." No! She spends half a day with lip quencher and Touch Me hair spray, just to hear her beloved say "Cut Taxes! Get everybody a job whether he wants one or not and BALANCE THE BUDGET!"

I began last week to practice the Nancy "Look." During our monthly balance-the-budget bloodletting, I sat rapt, adoring, and plenty silent, within one foot of the worshipped face...who was not being worshipful or silent.

The "Who wrote these checks, I sure didn't" situation deteriorated quicker than Reagan says "Carter steals shopping carts." It plummeted to the two things my husband vowed to cut...my throat and my credit cards. I adjourned to the kitchen, and ate every single bite of two doughnuts.

Failing "Nancy", the next step seemed to call for dressing up, ala Rosalyn Carter. I showed up for the next session in clean blue jeans (just barely faded), wearing shoes IN THE HOUSE. We had visitors and Beloved Face was telling a story.

Now, after four years of practice Rosalyn has got the "YOU ARE A PERFECT HUSBAND" look honed to a fine point. Any woman who can hold that look for a half hour without once turning from the TV camera...when you know she's pinching the hoody out of Amy every five minutes...is a role model to be plucked.

I listened raptly with my Rosalyn look as B.F. (Bob Fish, Beloved Face) had the floor. I slithered into the room, sat down gracefully, looked meaningfully at HIM over a cup of coffee. He was well into his tale...something about the time back in the 40's when he and his brothers had a bunch of pigs.

They took a pig to Groom and traded him for some feed for the other pigs. This went on for several weeks (the pig trading, not the story) until he said, after about an hour, "By golly, before long we had fed up all them pigs." The Nancy/Rosalyn look faltered, thought jumbled. How did those pigs feel? My adoring look was gone...my second failure in adoring gazery.

Joan Kennedy looks lovingly at Teddy but they don't even live together anymore, so forget her. That's too easy.

That leaves Kiki Anderson who gently corrects people with "Not if my husband wins, but WHEN my husband wins."

"Dearest darling Bob, I won't say if you buy me diamonds for Christmas but WHEN you buy me diamonds for Christmas." His answer was one of those wordless husband-to-wife looks that said "I wonder if I can get her someplace for help before she climbs upon the roof and screams."

Now that might work! Climb upon the kitchen table, get an old pillow case, swing it around your head like a bull-fighter and howl at the light fixture. You probably won't get limousines, White House dinners or diamonds...but you might get out of cooking supper one night.

Meat Surplus Only Temporary

AUSTIN-Texas red meat production is up, but only temporarily, reports Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

Slaughter increased in every category except calves. The January-August slaughter breakdown was: cattle 3,787,000 head, up 5 percent; calves, 118,600 head, down 29 percent; hogs, 984,000 head, up 23 percent; sheep and lambs, 777,000 head, up 27 percent.

"The hot, dry summer forced many producers to move their cattle, sheep and lambs off the withered pastures and into slaughter plants," Brown explained. "This created large supplies of meat initially, but could reduce them in the long run."

Loose Marbles

by Lisa Patman

A male friend stopped me the other day to ask if I had chopped up any more men in my column that week. It really surprised me that he took that view of my writing since I am often quite tolerant of men. On occasion I even chance on one that I like.

Maybe he had read between the lines and figured out that basically I am a bit envious of men. For while I adamantly support the feminist movement, I am really hacked at men's attitude toward their bodies.

Men really like their bodies. The entire sex is thrilled with their own little bodies, happy with an army of pot bellies, satisfied with receding hairlines, proud of their spare tires.

Men, for example, are so comfortable with their own bodies that they will say to them "Why don't we take a little nap" of "Let's put our feet up and watch the ball game, we've had a hard day" while us female folk are scurrying around saying to our bodies "All right, let's suck it in. Let's see if we can firm up these thighs." and "Will no one ever find a cure for stretch marks."

For the most part we gnash our teeth, pull our hair, and bewail the fact that we are not perfect 10's, while we are harassed with a fellow who not only would qualify as a so-so 2 1/2 (on a good day) but thinks that 2 1/2 is the best number to be.

Men never worry about their chests drooping. They never think about how they look from behind. Women, on the other hand, always worry about how they look from the rear view. For years I have backed out of rooms in the hope that no one will notice how much baggage I carry back there.

Men don't worry about un-plucked eyebrows, unshaven underarms, unsightly stubble on their legs, or black roots (well, there is one fellow I know who is a rather obvious Grecian Formula user, but there is an exception to every rule.) Men never have to panic over runny mascara, overnight moisturizer or padded bras. Men look distinguished with gray hair. Women look gray-headed. Men wear old clothes happily. Women look distraught in faded denims.

I don't think it's fair. In fact, if the women's movement wanted another cause, they could try to get men to be as guilt-ridden and style-conscious as women.

It's only fair. After years of struggling with girly women should be able to settle their undergirded behinds into easy chairs and say "We've had a hard day, let's park it for awhile" while men dig frantically through the closet for something decent to wear while mowing the lawn.

I know it's all a fantasy. I realize that women will continue to worry about their hair becoming unruly in humid weather while men simply try to keep a shine on their bald heads, but a girl can dream can't she? Meanwhile I must stop thinking about it—it's time for me to back out the door to lunch.

ACTIVITIES

Our deepest sympathy to the J.A. Meador family. Mr. Meador passed away Thursday, Oct. 2.

Mrs. Mary Treat and Mrs. Effie Phillips are in McLean General Hospital.

Our ladies have completed a quilt top, and the Senior Citizens have it on the frames at this time. It should be completed shortly, and chances are now available for a $1 donation.

We have been getting lots of fabrics to make our dolls, and we appreciate everyone who has brought supplies to us. We are still in need of glass cereal bowls and saucers.

The Church of Christ conducted church services Sunday.

Monday the Senior Citizens were here to play Bingo with the residents.

Wednesday, members of the Church of Christ were here for Bible study.

Friday, that wonderful lady Martha Parker was here with her movies.

The Ladies Auxiliary members are still coming on Tuesdays and Fridays when our ladies piece quilts. We appreciate each one who comes.
