Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

VOLUME 76 McLEAN, GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1979 PRICE 20¢ NUMBER 36

We always have interesting visitors at the News office, but this week brought a special visitor to see us. He was J.T. Asher, currently living in North Carolina. Asher stopped in McLean on his way to Alaska, and while here he happened to see a copy of The News with the story of the Prisoner of War camp, and found his picture!

Asher was the officer in charge of the camp in 1945 after the prisoners were transferred from the camp.

Asher said that he lived in McLean long enough to live through one blizzard, two sandstorms, one dust storm and two big rain storms! We asked him if he was ready to leave after that, but he said that he loved living in McLean, and thought it was a veritable paradise.

He remembered two of his favorite people when he lived here were Chuck Cook and Jake Hess, the father of F. Jake Hess. He said that Mr. Hess let him ride horses on the ranch and he still remembered the thrill of that.

He and his wife were very complimentary of the News and bought several editions. It was really exciting for us to meet someone who had been so closely involved with the camp.

Another visitor to this office last week was Annie Reeves, who brought us five of the biggest tomatoes I've seen this year. She said the giants were beefsteak tomatoes, and I can vouch for the fact that not only were they beautiful, they were delicious. Thank you, Annie!

We have finally had some response to our request for the forming of a Chamber of Commerce! A local businessman came in the News office Friday, and wanted to know where to join the Chamber. So we are inviting everyone who is interested in the growth and progress of McLean to come to a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 13 (Thursday) at my home at 317 Walnut. At that time we will discuss the formation of a Chamber, and try to get organized!

Mark your calendar and plan on attending.

George Bernard Shaw said: "The secret of being miserable is to have the leisure to bother about whether you are happy or not."

Billy Thomas, administrator of The Thomas Nursing Home in McLean called last week to say that work will begin soon on a curb and gutter around the home. Thomas said that the crew will be in McLean in about a week to begin the work, and he said that any in McLean who would like to have curb and gutter work done on their property could contact him.

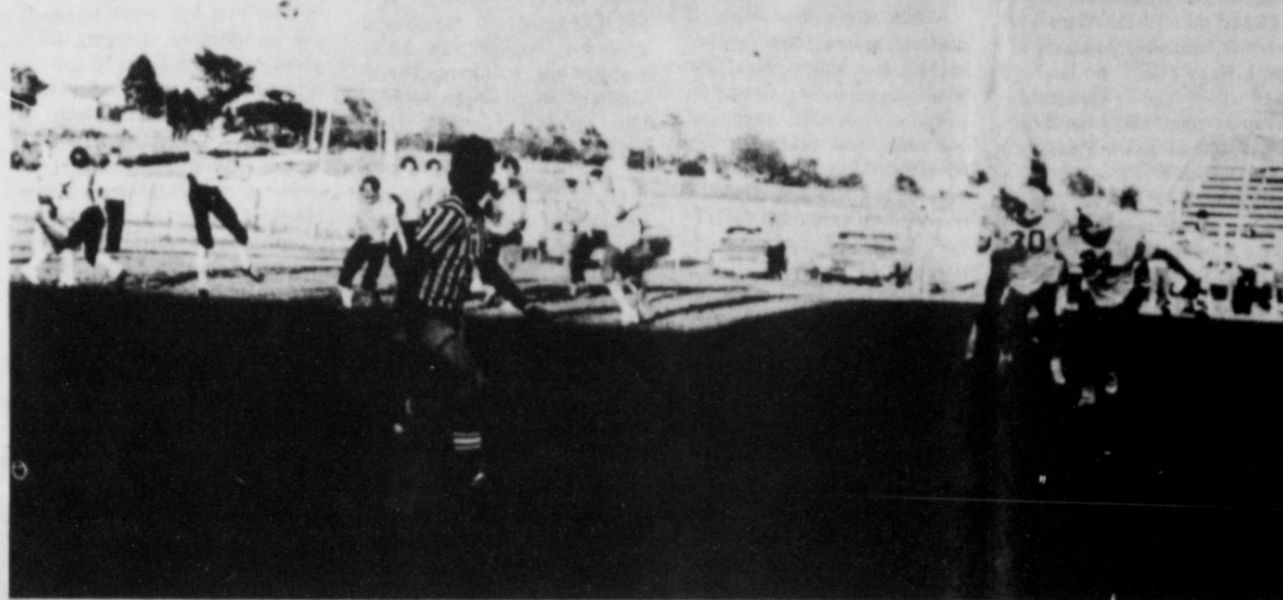

It is very difficult to get the workers to do this kind of work, so if you have an area that you've been intending to have worked on, contact Thomas. He said that the company estimated it would cost the home

Tigers Outscore Bucks By Two TD's Friday

Buoyed by enthusiasm after a successful scrimmage last Friday, the McLean Tigers will take on the Eagles in the season opener for both teams. Kickoff will be at 8 p.m.

The Tigers showed flashes of brilliance on offense and a steady, hard-hitting defense in the scrimmage against White Deer at McLean's Duncan Field. Coach Jack Dorsett's charges struck for two touchdowns to none for the visiting Bucks in the long scrimmage which began in bright sunlight and ended in the dark on a dimly lit field.

A larger-than-average crowd attended the preseason action. Rex Morris, who sat out last week's scrimmage at Happy with injuries, broke loose for a 24-yard touchdown run against White Deer, and quarterback Randy Suggs ran 6 yards for the other score. Forty yards was the closest Class A White Deer managed to come to the Tiger goal. The local eleven also drove to the Buck 6 yard line before being stopped short of a third touchdown.

The Tigers completed several passes, with Suggs throwing successfully to receivers who came up with some difficult catches. White Deer intercepted two McLean serials, but for the most part the Tigers showed a potentially potent passing attack.

The scrimmage also was marked by a number of runs in which Tiger backs broke into the Buck secondary for long gains. Yellow flags fluttered to the ground with regularity, but Dorsett said he was not overly concerned with his team's miscues. He said many of the penalties were the result of new rules with which the Tigers were not familiar, including the new ban on blocking below the waist.

Dorsett suggested that the 1979 edition of the Tigers will be a different type of team from what McLean fans have watched in the past, referring to a more wide-open offense and a swarming defense. He said the Tiger slot-offense was improved Friday over the previous week. The offensive players are "where they need to be," he said.

Dorsett said the coaching staff is pleased that there were not many unassisted tackles in the scrimmage because "everybody was in on them." He said the fact that 10 players were in on many tackles was evidence of the Tigers' "super pursuit."

The first-year head coach said both the varsity and the B-team did good jobs in the scrimmage. "We needed to score and keep them from scoring, and we did," he summarized. He said White Deer coaches agreed that the Tigers "really got after 'em."

Chillicothe, a Class B club like McLean, was outplayed by Petrolia in a scrimmage last week, scoring one touchdown to two for its opponents. Chillicothe runs out of a straight T formation and plays a "5" defense similar to McLean's.

Leading the Tigers against Chillicothe will be the following coaches and their assignments: Dorsett, offensive line, line-backers, and defensive ends; Riley, offensive backs and defensive line; Jerry Cook, receivers and defensive backs; and Vester Joiner, scouting.

The Tigers will host Shamrock at 8 p.m. Sept. 13 in their first home contest. Dorsett said season tickets still can be obtained by calling him or Coach Joe Riley, by seeing the coaches at the football field during practice, or at the gate before the first home game.

Activities planned for our celebration are a 2 P.M. program with a special speaker, the Crowning of Miss Girlstown, U.S.A. at Borger for 1980, and a drawing for a blue diamond turquoise squash blossom necklace.

They will also serve their special bar-b-que from 3 P.M. to 7 P.M. Everyone who purchases a bar-b-que ticket at $1.00 per plate is eligible to win the necklace.

Both teams' defenses tightened in the fourth as only four Mudhens batted and the Angels were put out with three up and three down. The Methodists had one last bat in the fifth and Thacker Haynes and Sammy Don Haynes narrowed the Woods, and Fish came home to put their team on top 2-1 after one.

Suggs scored for the Methodists to tie it at 2-2, and the score remained knotted at the end of two innings. But in the third, the Angels sent four men successfully around the base paths to take a 6-2 cushion. Fish, Cook, and McAnear all scored, and Wendell Ridgway hit a home run to highlight the inning.

Organizational Meeting Set

All residents of McLean and the McLean area who are interested in promoting the town are urged to attend an organizational meeting of a McLean Chamber of Commerce, according to promoters of the organization. The meeting has been scheduled for Sept. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Sam Haynes, 317 Walnut.

Fire Department Receives Check

The McLean Fire Department received a check for $75.00 recently from Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies as an expression of thanks for the Department's work on the property of Johnnie Carpenter, Lefors Route, McLean, Texas.

The money will be used for their loss prevention program.

The Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies pay fire departments this amount when the department works at a fire in rural areas, involving property insured by them.

The Insurance Company believes fire departments have contributed to reduce the amount of loss involved by fire and more important, to prevent fires. It is their hope this money will help the McLean Fire Department in their program.

McDonald Gets Paramedic Certificate

Jim McDonald, fire chief of the McLean Volunteer Fire Department, is one of 43 paramedics to complete the 480 hour training course established by the Panhandle Emergency Medical Services System with funding through the Levi Strauss Foundation.

A graduation banquet for the paramedics will be Sept. 6 in Amarillo.

In addition to their training as Emergency Medical Technicians which certifies the students to identify life-threatening conditions, stabilize patients, prevent complications and begin emergency treatment, paramedics can resuscitate and begin intravenous therapy.

Additionally, paramedic professionals detect cardiac problems, administer electrocardiograms, and drugs under medical direction.

Finley Awarded Fellowship

Eddy Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Finley of Alanreed, has been awarded a graduate fellowship to study toward a doctorate of agricultural education degree at Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Okla. He will also be assisting with research in areas of agricultural education for the state of Oklahoma Center for Research in cooperation with OSU.

Finley has a bachelor of science degree and a master of education degree from Texas Tech University. He also is a 1967 graduate of McLean High School.

Board Approves Budget

During a special called public budget hearing meeting of the board of trustees of the McLean Independent school district Friday night, the board approved the budget for the 1979-80 school year.

No taxpayers appeared at the meeting to question any part of the budget.

The board also approved the hiring of Lane Warrick as business teacher at the high school, and Nona Mann as library aid.

The purchase of $2,000 worth of shop equipment was approved, and the board told superintendent Carl Dwyer to take applications to hire a secretary for the superintendent's office.

The board discussed participation in the county-wide appraisal district, but made no decision at the meeting.

The budget for the school for 1979-80 calls for expenditures of $615,146, an increase of 8.2 percent over last year's budget.

Attending the meeting were board members Tony Smitherman, June Suggs, Darryl Herndon, Jim Allison, and Joe Magee; superintendent Carl Dwyer; and business manager, Shirley Johnson.

Commissioners Vote Against Appraisal District

Gray County Commissioners voted Friday morning not to enter the new county-wide central tax appraisal district to be established in 1980.

All taxing entities in the state, with the exception of county governments, are required by law to join the new appraisal district following the passage of House Bill 621. Membership of county governments is optional, although a vote on a constitutional amendment requiring county participation in the district is set for November, 1980.

Commissioners said they were gambling that the amendment will not pass.

The decision to remain out of the district followed several strongly worded statements against the central office by PCT. 3 Commissioner J.O. McCracken, according to The Pampa News.

Commissioners received a letter from representative Foster Whaley strongly discouraging participation in the district. Whaley described the legislation as an "urban versus rural" bill, meaning "less local and more state control."

Glass Station Burglarized Again

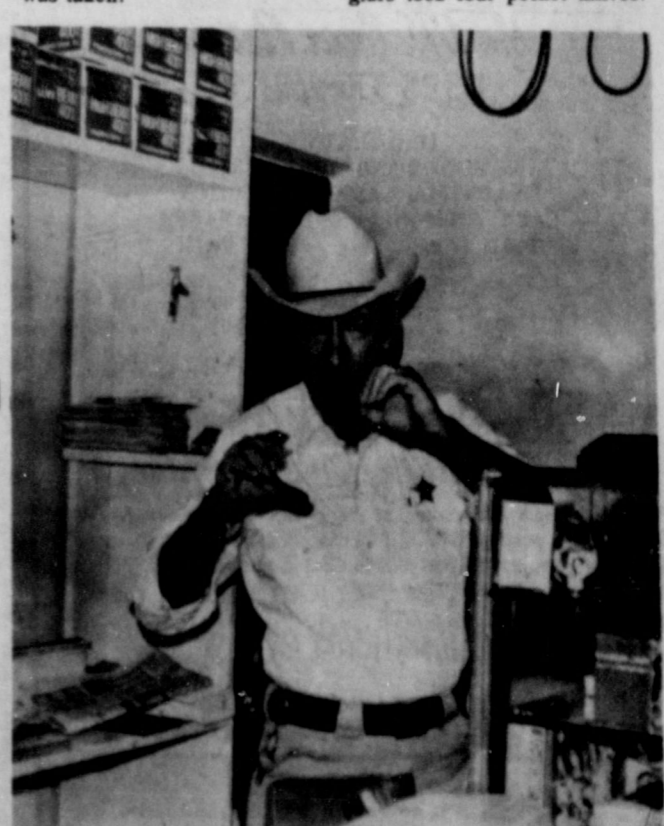

The J.R. Glass Phillips 66 Service Station was robbed Thursday night for the second time in five months. Dale Glass, owner of the station discovered the break-in at 7:15 a.m. Friday when he opened the station for business.

Glass said approximately $190 in cash and merchandise was taken.

The burglars ransacked the building, scattering papers and merchandise over the two rooms.

J.D. Fish, constable, investigated the incident and called in Keith Brown, Gray County deputy sheriff, to dust for fingerprints.

In addition to cash, the burglars took four pocket knives.

WHO SUFFERS...

THE CRIMINAL OR THE VICTIM?

When a violent crime is committed, who suffers more, the criminal or the victim? Anyone who has watched the progress of the Jimmy Paul Vanderbilt case in Amarillo can definitely answer that question.

It is, of course, the victim, and in the case of Vanderbilt, the victim's family.

Vanderbilt, you will remember, was convicted last week (for the umpteenth time) of the murder of Katina Moyer, a 16-year-old Amarillo high school girl. That murder occurred four years ago, but because of our twisted sense of justice, her confessed murderer has just now been convicted. Taking into account the appeals that are bound to follow his conviction last week, it may be another four years before the case is finally settled.

The expense of this lengthy process to the taxpayer boggles the mind. How many thousands of dollars have been spent on the trials and retrials of this man?

The most important waste, however, has been the anguish suffered by Hudson and Nancy Moyer. I have watched with growing anger as this agony for the Moyers has dragged on and on. How many times will this poor mother be forced to retell the events of the last day of her daughter's life? How many times will her father, himself a lawyer, be forced to sit in a courtroom and look at the face of the man who ruthlessly murdered his daughter?

Have't they suffered enough? Not only was their daughter taken from them in the most horrible way imaginable, but now they have had to watch this hell drag on and on.

In some interviews on television, Vanderbilt has appeared to be a poor, confused person, and if one didn't know the circumstances of the brutal way he murdered the child, one might almost have sympathy for him.

And that is the biggest disgrace of all. Vanderbilt committed a crime, and hopefully he will be punished, but there is no punishment that the state can inflict, not even death, that will equal the punishment he inflicted on Katina and on her parents. The Biblical punishment of an "eye for an eye" would not work on him, because he has no children, and only a parent can begin to imagine how horrible the loss of a child could be.

My heart goes out to the Moyers. I hope that last week will be the end of the horror they have suffered, and that perhaps they can begin to rebuild a life and find some meaning to it even though their child is gone.

ANONYMOUS LETTER WRITER:

You certainly accomplished your purpose, friend, if your purpose was to get under my skin and make me angry. Even though you did not have the courage or the integrity to sign your name to your snide remarks, I have chosen to reply to them.

I wrote an editorial about shopping at home, which you clipped and sent to me. You also clipped and sent a "Brief" item that stated I was one of a group who had been shopping in Amarillo. Your comment was that that showed a double standard. (By the way, even though you only wrote 14 words, there were two grammatical mistakes).

Apparently, I hit a nerve, and condemned something that you do regularly!

knows that there are certain items that one cannot purchase at home. Perhaps my editorial was not clear enough. I believe that we should buy everything that we can in McLean, but there are certain items that are not for sale here or have you shopped so little in McLean that you did not know that?

As soon as the merchants in McLean begin stocking children's shoes, young girls' clothing, chemicals for dark-room work, new cars, and sheet music, I will buy everything here.

Until that time, a shopping trip to a neighboring city on occasion is imperative.

But for one reason I am pleased that you wrote the letter. Each time someone comments on errors in the paper or disagrees with something that is said, at least we know you are reading the paper, and that's what a paper is for after all!

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

It was in August 1942, some eight months after Pearl Harbor, that Calvin Graham says he finally talked his mother into letting him go off to war.

It was not until last year, though, 35 years after he served with the U.S. Navy in World War II, that I was able to persuade the Navy to award him an honorable discharge.

I am still working to get him his benefits from that service, but we now have every reason to be optimistic that this 49 year old Fort Worth resident is about to win final victory in his drawn-out battle with the Washington bureaucracy.

It is understandable that Calvin's mother was reluctant to let him enlist back during those dark, early days of World War II. Three of her sons were already in the Navy and Calvin was clearly underage. "I was only 12, but I weighed 122 and stood 5-2. When I went through the recruiting office routine, apparently nobody doubted that I was old enough to be a Navy man," he later told The American Legion Magazine.

After Boot Camp and a month scraping paint off a battleship in dry dock at Pearl Harbor, Calvin sailed into the Pacific combat zone aboard the U.S.S. South Dakota.

He fought as second-loader of a 40 mm. anti-aircraft gun in two World War II battles: Santa Cruz and Guadalcanal. He injured his mouth during the battle of Guadalcanal. As he explains it he was carrying a message to an officer when someone yelled "Down!" He hit the deck just before an explosion went off.

After the battle Calvin was one of 30 or so sailors ordered to rescue duty. A brief quote from The American Legion Magazine shows the horrible impact of war on the boy:

I came across one of my best friends, Red Hezil, with his head blown off. For an instant I was sick...

In early 1943 Calvin's mother changed her mind, told the Navy his true age and his service was terminated on April 4 of that year.

The Navy awarded to Calvin Graham the Asiatic Pacific Service Medal with two campaign stars, the World War II Victory Medal and the Navy Unit Commendation with one Bronze Star. They once took his medals away, but later affirmed that he is entitled to wear them.

They would not, however, grant him a discharge, claiming that since he had lied about his age he was never legally in the Navy so he couldn't be discharged from it. I learned about his case in 1977, introduced legislation on his behalf and finally—after convincing the Navy that other 12 year olds had served during World War II and received honorable discharges—was able to prevail.

The Navy issued an honorable discharge to Calvin Graham on May 5, 1978. They made the effective date of the discharge April 5, 1943 and suggested that he contact the General Accounting Office about benefits that might be due him.

But after he applied for medical benefits, Calvin's troubles started again. The GAO denied his claim on the ground that he hadn't applied within the six year statute of limitations, dated from 1943.

Calvin assured me that he had applied in time, but that the Navy had lost his application. So I went to work, contacting both the Navy and the General Accounting Office.

I have heard, now, from Assistant Secretary of the Navy Edward Hidalgo who writes that "in the time since their denial of Mr. Graham's claim, the General Accounting Office has found evidence that a claim by Mr. Graham was filed within the original six year statutory time period. This would seem to solve any procedural bar to payment of Mr. Graham's claim."

I would certainly hope so. For 37 years the bureaucracy has been engaging Calvin Graham in a battle far more difficult and debilitating than those he fought from the decks of the U.S.S. South Dakota in World War II. It is time they broke off the engagement.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Governor Bill Clements has reversed his position on history's largest oil spill which so far has washed over a million barrels of goo onto Texas beaches. The Governor last week toured the oil-blackened beaches of Corpus Christi and announced the spill was an "unprecedented problem."

He promised local officials he would do all in his power to provide them economic aid for lost tourist and business dollars on the Gulf Coast.

When the off-shore oil drilling rig in Campeche Bay in Mexican waters blew out five weeks ago, Clements called subsequent ecological warnings and related press coverage "much ado about nothing." Clements stuck to those comments until recently, and his change in position is thought by many to be a real step in cleaning up the giant oil spill and recovering the economic loss to the Gulf Coast.

Several state officials, including Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Bill Clayton and Attorney General Mark White, have called on the Governor to take all steps necessary to make the economic recovery, including a possible lawsuit for damages against Mexico.

White said he has not ruled out the possibility of suing the Mexican government, PEMEX, the nationally-owned Mexican petroleum industry, and SEDCO, Inc. of Dallas, which supplied the offshore drilling rig being used when the oil well blew out.

Clements was president and chief executive of SEDCO prior to becoming governor, but he has since placed his majority stock holdings in SEDCO into a blind trust.

Calls for a Lawsuit

Clements has discarded the idea of a lawsuit against Mexico as "not being a good neighbor," but last week other Texans joined the call to keep such an option open, including U.S. Reps. Henry B. Gonzalez and Jim Collins.

Meanwhile, SEDCO officials reject any liability for the spill, saying "gross negligence" must be proven on their part, and State Republican Party Chairman Chester R. Upham Jr. blasted White for "playing politics with the issue."

The United States and Mexican governments have so far not discussed publicly what course they will take once the spewing oil well is capped, probably at the end

Mary Bell

We thank you for the article in your paper August 23, 1979 (about the Bruce family.)

We thought you would like to know that the writing about Paul Bruce was written by Truman Bruce's daughter Teresa not for an English term paper, but for publication in this fall in the Hamilton County Historical Book. The book has now gone to press. The article was "Tribute to an Ancestor." We were quite proud of her and again we thank you for printing it in the McLean paper.

In the footnotes, you did not mention Truman Bruce and wife Virginia and daughter Teresa at Hico, Texas. They have a farm north of Hico and Teresa has entered Tarleton State College for her fall semester.

Thank you again. Mrs. Truman Bruce Hico, Texas

of September.

Telephone Increase

In Austin last week the Public Utilities Commission recommended that Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. receive a $136.7-million-a-year rate increase, but commissioners asked for more time to consider how the increase should be divided among customers. The increase was about $9 million less than the telephone company's request of $145.2 million.

Committees Returning

Several legislative committees met last week to begin preliminary studying of problems and bills to be considered in the 1981 session. Among those holding hearings in Austin were the House Agriculture and Livestock Committee and the House Committee on Intergovernmental Affairs. The House Committee on Environmental Affairs has been holding hearings along the Coast to determine the extent of the bad effects of the oil spill.

Mexican Coal Eyed

Governor Clements said Monday he would look into the possibility of several Texas cities buying coal from Mexican mines being developed near Eagle Pass. The Coahuila coal is equal in quality to coal which San Antonio is buying now from Wyoming.

Clements met last week with Coahuila Governor Oscar Flores Tapia to discuss the problems of drug and automobile smuggling. Clements said they agreed to establish a joint commission to discuss mutual interests such as livestock and veterinary problems, exchange students and cultural exchanges.

New Laws in Effect

Several new laws passed by the recent Legislature went into effect on Aug. 27 or Sept. 1, including the new usury rate hike which raised the ceiling on home mortgage loans from 10 to 12 percent. The lending increase was raised after savings and loans representatives complained of too little money available in Texas to loan to homebuilders.

The new law has a Sunset kicker which causes the new rate to expire in two years, at which time it will be renegotiated through the legislative process.

Deputy Resigns

Chief Deputy Comptroller and former Plainview state representative Ralph Wayne resigned his office last week because of health reasons. Comptroller Bob Bullock said he valued Wayne's assistance but he valued his good friend's health even more.

From the first introduction it would be clear that you could save the puns for someone else—like Fresh Faye, who will laugh at your witticisms while she makes a pass at your husband.

For the family that has a history of thyroid problems there could be a whole passle of Giant Georges, Jumbo Jims, and Extra-Large Lucys.

Surely there is one of your kin who would be more recognizable if he were named Stewed Steven. Outsiders would never have to guess about his erratic behavior; they would instantly realize that he had a tendency to list toward the bottle.

Smoked Sarah would be easily identified as the gal with the nicotine problem, and Thick or Thin Thelma would be the one with the weight problem.

You would know automatically that Soft Sadie was the one to go to when you needed a quick loan, that you could count on Self-Rising Sam to be the first one up in the morning, that Crusty Caleb was a bit rough around the edges, and that Hey fellas! Whatever happened to Lovable?

American Beauty Alice was a real looker.

Old-Fashioned Olivia would surely always be behind the times. Sweet Sue would be forever glad to see you. Fancy Farrah would have notions of grandeur.

A family favorite would be that sentimental old girl-Tenderized Tillie.

Instant Lizzie would be Johnny-on-the-spot. Come to think of it, Johnny-on-the-spot would be Johnny-on-the-spot.

The whole idea seemed so simple to me that I was convinced that this was the answer to many of our problems, so I decided to take a poll of my friends to see what they would rename me if they could do such a thing.

I found the flaw in the theory. It lies not in the name, but rather in the namer. It all boils down to what that fellow thinks of you.

In my case there were several who redubbed me Lardy Lisa, Lumpy Lisa, and Leaden Lisa. There was a Loony, a Lanquid, and even one Lot-A-Burger Lisa. Loving Husband wanted to know if he could rename me Lemon Lisa and have me recalled. The children offered to save their lunch money to pay for a brain operation in order that I could be called Lobotomized Lisa. The town chauvinist called me Lowly Lisa, and the last I saw of Mom and Dad they were arguing whether to call me Loud Lisa or Lazy Lisa.

Hey fellas! Whatever happened to Lovable?

In The Kitchen

September is finally here, and though it has been a beautiful mild summer, I can hardly wait for the cool, crisp Autumn days, and the wonderful food of wintertime.

We don't have to wait for cold days to enjoy some of winter's best treats, however, especially since apples are in season now in McLean.

This recipe is a very different looking apple pie, but it still tastes as great as Mom's best.

- APPLE PIZZA PIE
- 1 1/4 Cup Flour
 - 1 tsp. Salt
 - 1/2 Cup Shortening
 - 1 Cup Shredded Cheddar Cheese
 - 1/4 Cup Ice Water
 - 1/2 Cup Powdered Non-dairy "Cream"
 - 1/2 Cup Brown sugar, firmly Packed
 - 1/2 Cup Sugar
 - 1/2 Cup Sifted Flour
 - 1/4 tsp. Salt

- 1 tsp. Ground Cinnamon
 - 1/2 tsp. Ground Nutmeg
 - 1/4 Cup Butter
 - 6 Cup Peeled Apple Slices (1/2 inch thick)
 - 2 Tablespoons Lemon Juice
- Mix flour and salt; cut in shortening until crumbly. Add cheese. Sprinkle water over mixture gradually; shape into ball. Roll pastry into 15 inch circle on floured surface; place in pizza pan or baking sheet and turn up edge.

Combine powdered non-dairy cream, sugars, 1/2 cup flour, 1/4 tsp. salt and spices. Sprinkle half of this over pastry. Cut butter into remaining half until crumbly.

Arrange apple slices, overlapping them in circles on crust. Sprinkle with lemon juice and remaining crumbs.

Bake at 450 degrees 30 minutes or until apples are tender. Best if served warm.

NEWS FROM ALANREED

During the depression, the Marshalls lived at Fry, where Mr. Marshall worked two jobs, and Mrs. Marshall and one son did roustabout work. Polly recalls the time at Fry that the Jim Ned Creek flooded and the Skelly Oil Camp washed away with big oil tanks floating down the road.

When Polly was 18, the Marshalls moved to Kellerville. In 1935, she married J.D. Harrison who worked for the Phillips Company for many years. The Harrisons lived at Hopkins for a long time and J.D. (Jim) was well-known in the area for his love of fishing and gardening.

They moved to Alanreed 20 years ago. Mr. Harrison passed away.

Polly has continued to be active in the Home Demonstration Club and the Alanreed Improvement Association. She likes to stay busy and try new hobbies and handicrafts. The Harrisons had five children: Nancy Eargle of Flint, Mich.,

Gone Fishin

by Jeanette Fish

Penelope was my neighbor in California. She was from London and had three children. Six-year-old George was on his way to becoming a nuclear physicist. Edward, eight-years-old, with a talent for architecture, was working on plans for a new World Trade Center. Betsy was just your average ten-year-old girl, who made straight A's, could sing every note of Madame Butterfly, and was painting an exact replica of Da Vinci's Mona Lisa.

Penelope's children spoke quietly, loved to go to church and said "please" and "thank you" to EACH OTHER. They brought me hot loaves of bread. "Mommy baked this for you" and had never heard of Spiderman.

When my children spoke to each other at all, it was "Would you please come out of the bathroom before my birthday, which is six months from now?"...and "Thanks a lot for throwing my socks down the garbage disposal." My son, Joe slept in a bed in my house for more than 20 years, never once wondering if the sheets ever got changed. For six straight years, he spilled a glass of milk at mealtime, and was noticeably not asked to squirt ketchup on the mile-long Guinness Book of Records submarine sandwich.

Secretly, I hated Penelope. You could not scratch the surface of her calm. Accepting the still-warm cinnamon rolls daily, I fought the urge to mention casually that I had just agreed to head the campaign in favor of a tax increase and did she know that only last Sunday I had accidentally sprayed my hair with an AEROSOL can at the zoo in front of the baby seal's cage (the only two specimens of that kind on the North American continent.)

There finally comes one perfect moment in life after you children are grown. Joe came to visit us from California this week. He has worked at the same job for two years...He bought a new car without our advice or assistance...and took a day off to clean his apartment and pay his bills BEFORE coming to see us.

I played Penelope and wore her soft, sweet smile for a week before Joe's arrival, which led my husband to believe that I may have written a check that he doesn't know about.

Joe arrived, his suitcase neatly packed. By Labor Day, I was speaking with a clipped British accent, telling him about the quaint little village of Alanreed.

We were at the kitchen table. Joe was eating ham which I had sliced heart-shaped. He opened the tiny, barrel mustard container imported from England. I took a genteel sip of mint tea, leaned back and had just asked his opinion of Thomas Paine's essay on Common Sense...when the mustard exploded!

I had mustard up my nose, in my eyebrows, and running down my neck. This was from two feet away. Joe had mustard on his armpits, embedded in his watch and in both ears. It brought me back to reality. I dumped the tea in the sink and poured myself a gloppy cup of coffee, loaded with cream and sugar. My little boy had come home.

He says the new car has smoke coming from the dashboard, and he has got to live on $27 for two weeks after he gets home.

Kellerville Exes Invited To Reunion

Plans are being finalized for a reunion of current and former residents of Kellerville, according to Ray Gossett of Lefors. Gossett said that all former residents of Kellerville are invited to a reunion at the Lefors Civic Center Sept. 9. The doors will open at 10 a.m. and close at 5 p.m. for the festivities. Gossett said that people are invited to come anytime during the day. He also said that those wishing to, may bring a covered dish for a luncheon at 1 p.m.

Church Of Christ Marks 50 Years In Lefors

The Lefors Church of Christ is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year. The congregation began meeting in 1929 with eight members: Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. M.W. Graves, Volna Ogden, Ludie Carruth, Mr. Brummet, and Ola Gregory. Mr. Sanders was the school superintendent, Mr. Graves was the school principal, Mr. Brummet was a railroad engineer and Mrs. Ogden in later years was postmaster. Flavel Yeakly was the first minister and served for about 18 months. The first meeting place was in a sheet iron building located at 511 East Second Street. This building was purchased by the church. They met at this location from 1930 to 1943. Ministers during this period were Mr. Bishop, Luke Preba, Felix Tarbet, Harvey Pike, Jim Vermillion, and C.B. Holmes. Those serving as elders during this period were E.G. Sanders, M.W. Graves, and G.S. Witt, a brother of Dr. John Witt of Groom. In the fall of 1943, a church building was moved to 215 East Third Street. It was purchased and moved from Magic City. Ministers who served from 1943 through 1957 were Vaughn Shofner, William Shafer, J.W. Andrews, Bob Bolton, D.C. Lawrence and Bob Beaty. Elders serving were Frank Wall, Clarence Tilly, Lemuel Ford, Wilbur Babb, and Luther Welborn. Deacons were C.H. Brickley, Luke Glover, and Ralph Carruth. It was during the ministry of Bob Beaty that the present church building was constructed. G.S. Witt was the contractor of the new building which has a capacity to seat 250. The first service was held in June, 1956. The elders who served at the time of completion of the building were Wilbur Babb, Lemuel Ford, and John Roberts. Deacons were Ralph Carruth, Daniel Rose, Alton Flinchum, and Charles Roberts. Charlie Tutor was the next minister, followed by Dolye Harris. A preacher's house was purchased from Guy Hedrick and Zeb Sailors lived there from 1963 to 1967. Other ministers have been James E. Bryant, Pat Burk, David Dennis, Ron Lamb, and Denny Ray Sneed, who has been there since November of 1975. In 1976, the group built a Fellowship Hall Annex. The present membership of the church is 95. Elders are Arlin Howe and Harry Youngblood. The Deacons are Walter Elliott, Carl Wall, and Ray Gossett.

JOIN AN EXTENSION HOME-MAKERS CLUB:

What better time than September to join an Extension Homemaker Club? The kids are in school, the canning is done, the yard looks pretty good, and you need a change of scenery. Call the County Extension Office and let me talk with you about it. Or better still, invite some of your friends for coffee and let's organize a new club. Educational programs are what we have, with friendships and fun. Call us at 669-7429.

During September, the Extension Homemaker Clubs will have programs on weight control and a cooking demonstration. Mrs. Faye Trgovac will present two demonstrations on "Wok Cookery", September 4th and 6th at 2 p.m. in the Annex Meeting Room. Clubs with these meeting days are to meet at the Annex. Visitors are welcome.

TRI-STATE FAIR: We have a limited supply of Tri-State Fair Catalogs. If you are thinking about entering the fair, stop by for a catalog or call to get the mailing address for your free copy. The fair is scheduled for September 17-22. Women's division entries will be due on Friday, September 14th and 15th. Contact the Tri-State Fair Grounds or the County Extension Office for further details.

CHILDREN'S BACK-TO-SCHOOL SHOES: Send your child back to school with well-made, well-fitting shoes that protect pliable young feet from the pounding they take. Your child's feet and shoes can affect the way he performs in the classroom and participates on the playground. Buy the best quality shoes you can afford for your children. Materials and construction will vary with price, but do some judging, too.

SAFETY-First, be sure to wash your hands before preparing the foods, and use clean tablecloths, chopboards, utensils and other equipment. Then, make sure to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold to insure safety. Foods to keep cold include milk, meat, fish, poultry and eggs. Also, to retain "appetite appeal", some fruits and vegetables and other foods should stay cold-such as crunch-cold carrot or celery sticks, along with cheese cubes.

on sale. Look for shoes that protect the feet, hold the foot steady and secure, allow for some room to grow and some wiggle room, allow the foot to breathe.

When buying shoes, don't ask for the size you think the child needs. Have both feet measured while the child is standing. There should be one-half to three-fourths inch space between the end of the longest toe and the tip of the shoe to allow for growth and wiggle room. Also, check foot shape and girth (thickness). The shoe's widest part should match up with the foot's widest part. You should be able to slightly pinch up the upper part of the shoe across the widest part of the foot when the child is standing.

The heel should fit snugly and firmly so you can't insert a finger between the heel and back of shoe. The upper part of the shoe shouldn't gape widely when the foot is bent. If the shoe fits from the heel to the ball of the foot, the arch of the shoe will fit the arch of the foot. Also, children shouldn't wear hand-me-downs in shoes. It forces children's feet to conform to the footprint in the shoe.

"REV" UP FOR BROWN-BAG LUNCHES: "Rev" up your ingenuity for brown-bag lunches-with nutrition, safety and enjoyment in mind. Enjoyment depends on nutrition, safety and taste-so basic guidelines and imagination are all you need.

NUTRITION-A nutritious lunch includes foods from the basic-four food groups. They are milk, meat, fruit-vegetable and bread-cereal. Milk-group foods can be milk or milk products. Meat-group foods can be meat, fish, poultry, eggs, beans or nuts.

Buy on sale, if possible, but only if you can get the right fit-not just because the shoes are

Postal Service Orders Mail Hold On Certificates

The Postal Service Judicial Officer has ordered a temporary "mail stop order" against a Las Vegas company involved in a vacation certificate operation.

Evidence presented by postal inspectors linked the firm, Computer Selections, Inc. of 605 Las Vegas Blvd. to a Chicago firm which had been ordered to change some of its advertising claims and refund policies for offering vacation certificates to Las Vegas and other resorts.

Judicial Officer James A. Cohen issued the order upon a petition of the Postal Service Law Department alleging that Computer Selections President Edna Waldman, alias Edna Chambliss, was associated with Columbia Research Corporation of Chicago and its president, Raymond Anderson.

As a result of the action, mail containing payments to Computer Selections for vacation orders to Las Vegas and other resorts will be detained until there is a hearing to determine whether the actions of Computer Selections violate a consent agreement by using the mails to obtain money through misrepresentations.

Two months ago, Columbia Research and its president agreed to stop claiming in advertising that lodging, gaming, food and drink obtained with the vacation certificates was "free" or "on the house," unless the buyer got those benefits without extra cost or effort. It also was agreed to include in the advertising all conditions, restrictions or limitations on the availability of "vacation package" offers, and to include in the advertising the availability of refunds if the certificate buyer is in any way dissatisfied.

The Postal Service said postal inspectors found several employees of Columbia Research were involved in setting up and operating Computer Selections, both before and after a U.S. District Court Judge in Chicago ordered Columbia Research to change its advertising and refund policies. Computer Selections employees, according to Postal Service attorneys, also tried to obscure their connection to Columbia Research with fictitious names and personal histories.

The attorneys also said advertising circulars of both companies are "strikingly similar" in text and format.

Notes From Your County/Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

GRASSHOPPER PROGRAM:

We finally got the final bills for the Grasshopper Control program last week. The cost of the program to the ranchers is approximately 46 cents per acre and they will be getting a refund of about 14 cents per acre.

In visiting with the USDA officials, they said that their inspections during the last few weeks indicate that most all areas of the Panhandle rangeland not sprayed this year had the potential for damaging numbers of grasshoppers next year. We may have more landowners interested in paying for a grasshopper control program next year than we did this year because of the general heavy grasshopper population this summer. When you consider that for only 46 cents per acre, you could have had your rangeland sprayed—that really is a fairly small investment when you think about how much grass those grasshoppers consumed. At $2 for a bale of hay, that is less than one-fourth bale of hay per acre would have paid for the spray program.

LUBBOCK FIELD DAY:

The latest research on cotton varieties, water use efficiency, sorghum improvement, and weed control will be featured attractions for the annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station for Lubbock and Halfway. The event begins at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 11th at the research site, 7 1/2 miles north of Lubbock on U.S. 87 at Farm-Market Road 1294.

Research efforts at the Lubbock and Halfway station focus especially upon the needs of producers throughout the High Plains of Texas. Field tours will be conducted throughout the afternoon, with tractor-drawn trailers shuttling visitors to key demonstrations.

The field day is a cooperative presentation of TAES, The Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the High Plains Research Foundations, the Science and Education Administration of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the National Weather Service.

Principal stops on the tour of the Lubbock station will feature reports on ways to help plants make more efficient use of water, tests of cotton hybrids, tissue testing to assess soil fertility, weed control research, improving sorghum varieties, the potential for wine grape production in the South Plains, breeding and improvement program in soybeans and sunflowers, and sesame variety trials. During the stops on the tour of the 320-acre research site, Experiment Station scientists and Extension Service specialists will answer questions and discuss problems with the visitors.
