Traffic Accidents Will Increase

Traffic accidents and deaths are going to increase in the next few weeks, according to Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Traffic volumes will mount due to Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday traffic. Christmas shoppers will travel in large numbers. Both deer and quail season will be open and hunters will be out in large numbers. Football traffic will also continue to be heavy and travel to basketball games will add to highway traffic.

Increased night time driving will add to the problems of the motorist. Speed too fast for conditions and the drinking driver continue to be the leading factors in accidents.

Major Bell said that DPS Troopers investigated 1,095 accidents involving 569 injuries and 22 deaths in November and December of 1974 in the Lubbock Region.

Major Bell also reminds the Texas motorist to recognize hazardous weather conditions as a factor in causing traffic accidents. The driver should adjust his speed to prevent a tragedy.

'... AND, FOR THE GREATEST GIFT OF ALL'

THANKSGIVING 1975

A case can be made that Thanksgiving is our most gracious holiday, both in purpose and in practice.

While the tradition of a day off from work, a dinner larger than our stomachs can hold, a Santa Claus parade, and a football game have become an integral part of this uniquely American celebration, most of us do pause in gratitude for the abundance and beauty which surrounds our lives.

We're reminded that we enjoy the bountiful resources of a great country because of the courageous pioneering spirit of our ancestors. Most of all, we cherish the freedom of choice which we all have and which allows us to make a good life for ourselves and a better life for our children.

This particular Thanksgiving, as our economy slowly improves and our hopes and expectations rise, perhaps even more Americans will stop for a moment and give thanks.

Accent on Health

Travis L. Duff, M.D., Director

Oysters are one of the most delicacies to come from the seas, and if they're from approved waters and certified processing houses they bear certification number issued by the Texas Department of Health Resources.

Texas has some 1.2 million acres of approved marine waters which are approved for oyster harvesting. Maps of these areas are now available from the Department of Health Resources. The Texas oyster season opened Nov. 1, and oysters are showing up on more and more dinner tables. There are those who think no stuffed turkey is complete without oyster dressing.

Even before the season started, inspectors for the Department of Health Resources' Division of Shellfish Sanitation Control were at work preparing for the buildup in activity.

They are charged with seeing that oyster processing plants, in order to be certified, meet sanitation standards for handling, shucking, packing and storage of raw oysters. And, throughout the year other specialists have been taking periodic water samples in oyster growing areas along the Texas Gulf coast. Water must meet certain criteria to be approved for shellfish harvesting. These water samples are tested in Department of Health Resources laboratories. In addition, meat samples are taken of shrimp, oysters, crabs and fish for laboratory determination of heavy metals (such as mercury) and pesticide residues.

The reason for concern by the state health agency is that shellfish (oysters, clams and mussels) if contaminated, can present a high potential health hazard to the consumer. Shellfish have the ability to filter and concentrate pathogenic microorganism and toxic substance present in the environment. Also, they are packed whole and alive and often are consumed raw or only partially cooked. Harmful substances could be introduced into the shucked meats if this operation isn't carried out in controlled, sanitary surroundings.

All water-borne diseases can be transmitted by contaminated oysters. But the risk can be virtually eliminated if consumers refuse to buy uncertified products.

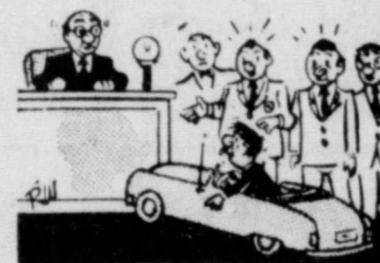

To be certified, the oysters first must have come from approved waters. Maps of certified coastal areas may be obtained by individuals and

A speed-fiend we know bought a new car painted red on one side and blue on the other. "What's the idea of doing your car up like that?" we asked. "It's for when I get hauled up before the judges for speeding," said our young-man-in-a-hurry. "You ought to hear the witnesses contradicting one another."

commercial oysterers at Parks and Wildlife Department offices along the coast, at TDHR's Austin office of the Division of Shellfish Sanitation Control, 400 E. Anderson Lane (millican Building) at its LaMarque office at 1209 Linton and in some local Health Departments in coastal areas.

In Texas last year, oysters production was down 1.2 million pounds, about half of the 1973-74 production and below the 1971 production of 4.7 million pounds. A better harvest is predicted this fall. The Department of Health Resources hopes that all residents enjoy this product from the sea as it is working constantly to ensure the wholesomeness of this product.

Population Faces Flu

At the height of the winter wheezing season, people begin to look around at their ailing neighbors and wonder what they can do to avoid catching influenza.

Physicians usually recommend flu vaccinations mainly for the elderly and persons with serious chronic illnesses such as heart disease, lung disease or diabetes. The best advice is to stay away from infected people. A number of people seem to get flu-like respiratory infections even after being immunized. Often vaccines taken in the middle of a flu epidemic are not effective, especially if a person has already been exposed to the virus.

Once the flu strikes, the Texas Medical Association says, patients often are encouraged to rest, drink adequate amounts of fluids and eat a light diet. Aspirin and cough syrup may ease discomfort. If fever is high or persists, a physician should be consulted since other diseases may have symptoms similar to flu.

Flu symptoms include headache, cough, sore throat, nasal discharge, fever, muscle pains and a general feeling of sickness. The most uncomfortable symptoms usually subside after a few days but the patient is likely to feel very tired and below par for a week or more.

Flu seems to strike most in winter months and often spreads rapidly through classes, home and offices. Health officials urge fly victims to stay home until they are recovered, for their own well-being and to cut on the disease's spread.

Complications of the flu can be varied and include everything from pneumonia to ear infections. If any problems arise along with the flu, be sure and see a physician. Many complications are easily treated in their early stages by administering the proper treatments.

The damage termites cause and the cost of controlling them has been reported worldwide at $1.2 billion a year.

AUSTIN — The debate goes on over whether the legislature will be faced with a billion dollar tax bill in 1977 — or none at all.

Comptroller Bob Bullock stated that if lawmakers continue their recent spending patterns they will have to pass a record tax measure.

But House Speaker Bill Clayton predicted the legislature will be "trying to maintain the status quo" and will avoid growth of the bureaucracy. In spite of Bullock's repeated warnings, Clayton said he is not convinced that a major tax bill will be required.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe at a governmental conference in San Antonio stated government at all levels must become more economical and efficient. He called specifically for "redirection" of spending for education.

State Sen. Peyton McKnight of Tyler, speaking more harshly, said runaway spending in education may bankrupt the state if it isn't brought under control. He called for a lid on education spending.

Meanwhile, the new Joint Advisory Commission of Government Operations (Little Hoover Commission) held its second meeting and adopted a time-table for a year's inquiry into 250 state units of government. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby warned members to keep their eyes on the big spending areas and avoid "rabbit hunts."

Postponed Again

The Senate for the third time postponed the impeachment trial of District Judge O. P. Carrillo.

By a 16-10 vote, senators delayed the trial until January 5 to await outcome of a Judicial Qualifications Commission hearing and federal court final action on Carrillo's income tax conviction.

Carrillo said he will never resign his post on the Duval-Starr-Jim Hogg counties bench, although he has been suspended since last August following House passage of articles of impeachment.

Court Race On

New Texas Supreme Court Associate Justice Ross E. Doughty of Uvalde decided he will not be a candidate to retain his job in 1976.

Two Court of Civil Appeals chief justices immediately indicated an interest in a race to succeed Doughty who was appointed only about two months ago when Associate Justice Ruel Walker retired.

The prospective candidates are Judge Charles W. Barrow of the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals in San Antonio and Martin Dies Jr. of the Ninth Court in Beaumont.

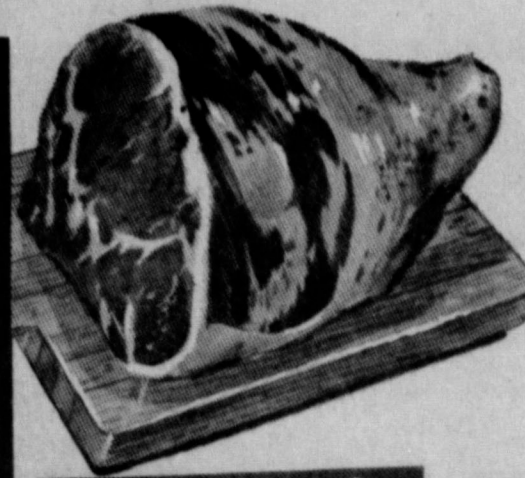

Barrow says he is definitely going to run. Dies says he is "inclined to" but wants to check his bases of support again.

Courts Speak

Reversing itself, the State Supreme Court agreed to consider whether a landowner, to claim an agricultural tax exemption, must prove 51 per cent of his overall income is de-

Third Court of Civil Appeals threw out a State Board of Pharmacy appeal from a district court ruling blocking its enforcement of a limit on advertising prescription drugs. The intermediate court noted an appeal notice already has been filed with the Supreme Court, and two parallel appeals cannot proceed simultaneously.

The Third Court rejected approval by the Savings and Loan Commissioner of a fourth savings and loan association charter for Longview due to rulings on evidence by a hearing officer.

An injunction prohibiting the State Board of Insurance from enforcing a requirement of 90 days' notice for cancellation or premium increases in medical liability policies was upheld by the Third Court.

Improper jury arguments by Dallas prosecutors led to two reversals of cases by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The Supreme Court directed an intermediate court to reconsider a workmen's compensation case in which the lower tribunal earlier had held a Brazoria County chemical worker intentionally jumped off a building.

AG Opinions

A blood sample cannot be legally taken without the consent of a person suspected of a traffic-related offense, Atty. Gen. John Hill stated in a recent opinion. A physician, taking the sample without apparent consent, could be subject to civil liability, Hill stated.

In another recent opinion, Hill concluded those acting under direction of physicians in filling prescriptions do not have benefits of statutory exemptions granted doctors, dentists and chiropractors.

Sales Tax Distributed

Six hundred and seventy cities and towns received October city sales tax rebates totaling $14.5 million.

So far in 1975, the cities have taken as their share of the sales levies $223.7 million — only $10 million short of the total for all 1974.

Indications are the collecting cities will get $25 million to $30 million more this year than in 1974.

Short Snorts

Governor Briscoe told a student group he is still thinking about running for a third term.

The Secretary of State's office is looking into corporate contributions to Texas politicians by major oil companies.

Texas Utilities Commission adopted new procedural rules.

Lo-Vaca Gathering Co., which sometimes had trouble supplying its own Texas customers, can start selling surplus gas out of state, under a Texas Railroad Commission ruling.

The State Democratic Executive Committee will meet December 8 in Fort Worth and consider rules which would speed the pace of slow-moving party conventions.

Blue Cross officials resisted a state audit of the insurance firm's internal practices as long as they deliver Medicaid services as contracted.

Texas Education Agency will launch a survey to determine how many Mexican pupils are attending the largest schools in Texas.

Historical Highlights

A NEW CONSTELLATION

Continental Congress passed a resolution that established the Stars and Stripes on June 14, 1777, but did not specify the arrangement of the thirteen stars on the blue union, except to say that they should represent a new constellation. As a consequence, according to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, we find a variety of forms. The first flag, popularly known as the Betsy Ross flag, had them arranged in a circle, based on the idea that no colony should take precedence.

EDITORIAL

In last week's Tiger Rag an editorial commented on lack of support and participation in school events lately. I feel one reason is because it has become too easy to quit.

To me it seems that if you join a club or organization you must be prepared to work for it.

Yes, it has become a way of life lately to quit when we get tired of it, mad or lazy.

Anybody can quit. It takes no effort or causes any trouble. Nothing is gained or lost. At least you think you lose nothing.

But to stick with something and support it, until it becomes what you want it to, that's different. You must work hard to accomplish this. To truly belong to anything you must stick your neck out, work hard and use some free time. You stay with it, even though it's not going your way. If it fails you, you stay and work, and if it succeeds you get credit, satisfaction and more work.

But in the end it works out you get enjoyment, satisfaction, and it builds you into a better person. You learn to accept and allow for mistakes. It's not an easy row to hoe, but what you reap makes it worth it.

Army Tests Are Returned

Seniors and Sophomores received the results from their Army Services Vocational Aptitude Battery Tests, Friday, Nov. 21.

The tests, given yearly, included examination in electronics, motor mechanics, general mechanics, clerical administration, and general technical areas.

Several senior students were interested in finding out more about a military career and a number had test scores high enough to meet qualifications for work in any area.

Holiday Stain Removal Hints

After holiday dinners, the tablecloth may seem "Doomed"--but if stains are treated while still fresh, generally they can be removed, Mrs. Janice Carberry, a family management specialist, says.

Methods for treating common holiday-type stains depend on what the stain is.

Mrs. Carberry is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. A few general hints are --Test any stain remover on a corner of fabric first.

--Do not add chlorine bleach to an enzyme pre-soak product.

--When blotting stains, blot from the outside toward the center of the stain to prevent it from spreading further.

--Treat stains from the back of the fabric. Place the spot downward on some paper towels so that the stain will come off the fabric instead of going through it.

Turning to specific stains, the specialist said for fruit, where boiling water can be used, pour it through the cloth. If stains remove, sponge with lemon juice solution or hydrogen peroxide.

If boiling water cannot be used, sponge well in cool water. Work glycerine into stain. Let stand several hours, then add a few drops of white vinegar and rinse thoroughly. Launder.

For gravy or milk, use an enzyme pre-soak with cool water or make a paste of detergent and water and work that into the stain. Then launder. If the stain remains, use a dry cleaning solvent. Let dry, then launder. If the stain remains, use a dry cleaning solvent.

Sponge wine or soft drink stains immediately with cool water, then glycerine and water. Rinse with vinegar water followed by a clear rinse. Launder.

Some drink stains are invisible after they dry but turn yellow with aging or heating. And this yellow stain is impossible to remove.

For coffee or tea stains if safe for fabric, stretch cloth and pour boiling water through. Launder, using bleach or an enzyme pre-soak.

When candle wax has dripped on the tablecloth, scrape off as much as possible, then place the stain between paper towels and sponge the back with a dry cleaning solvent. Let dry, then launder. If stain remains, launder again with an oxygen bleach.

ASCS NEWS

Ballots have been sent to all producers to be voted and returned to this office to elect a county committeeman for a three year term to begin on Jan. 1. Don't forget to return yours in time to have it counted, by Dec. 1.

During the last half of November and in Dec. some 75,000 farmers and ranchers will receive either a crop or livestock questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Accurate estimates have always been of great importance to producers and are even more important to producers and are even more important in light of the supply-demand situation facing agriculture today. Data collected in this survey will provide an accurate picture of agriculture for each county and for the State of Texas. Each farmer receiving a questionnaire is urged to fill it out carefully and return it promptly to the Agricultural Statistician in Austin. Individual reports are confidential and used only for state and county estimates.

The National base allotment for 1976 upland cotton is 11,000,000 acres. The National production goal is 12,376,000 standard bales of 48 pounds.

Preliminary loan rate is 37.12 cents per pound applicable to middling one-inch (micronaire 3.5 through 4.9) net weight at average locations.

A farm may qualify for a disaster payment if any part of the allotment was prevented from being planted or the farm does not produce two-thirds of the farm's expected production because of natural disaster. Disaster rate will be announced after Jan. 1.

Target price will also be announced after Jan. 1. To be eligible for a payment based on this target price cotton is required to be planted.

Approvals for grazing CAP land will expire at the end of this year.

Turkey Time . . . Citrus Crop Is A Big One . . . Sheep and Lamb Feeding Increases . . . Cotton Crop Down Again.

As you enjoy your Thanksgiving turkey this week, remember that Texas is a leading state in the nation in turkey production. Texas ranks fifth in the nation in total turkeys produced for 1974, and some experts believe that the state probably could be in fourth place this year.

Turkey has evolved from a Thanksgiving and Christmas delicacy to a year-round nutritious and delicious feast. Turkeys produced now are tastier and juicier compared to years ago. Producers today use scientific methods to assure you of a top quality product. And though there were hundreds of thousands of turkey producers years ago, there are now thousands throughout the state.

Leading counties in Texas in turkey production include Gonzales, Bell, Gillespie, McLennan, Hill, Leon, San Saba, Brown, Blanco and DeWitt. Most of the turkey production in Texas is in the central part of the state.

As you count your blessings this Thanksgiving, be sure and give a pat on the back to all agricultural producers. Without their efficiencies in production, none of us would be eating as well as we do.

WHILE turkey may be the number one consideration for Thanksgiving holidays, don't forget that there is also a bountiful crop of Texas citrus this year.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that Texas citrus production this year is up 38 percent above last year. Based on Nov. 1 conditions, the citrus crop is forecast at 16,300,000 boxes.

Grapefruit production is expected to be 44 percent higher than a year ago. Early and mid-season oranges are forecast at 3,800,000 boxes, up 30 percent from a year ago. Valencia oranges are expected to be up 24 percent from a year ago. Citrus will be in plentiful supply and should be a good bargain for consumers.

SHEEP AND LAMB feeding throughout the state is above both a month and a year ago. Drylot sheep feeders with a lot capacity of 2,000 head or more had 102,000 sheep and lambs on feed for slaughter as of Nov. 1.

This is 19 percent above a year ago and seven percent above a month ago.

COTTON production in Texas is now officially set at 2,800,000 bales. This represents a decline of 60,000 from a month ago. The 1974 crop was even lower, 2,462,000 bales.

Harvested acres are expected to be down 10 percent from a year ago. Yield is expected to be about 336 pounds per acre, which is nearly 100 pounds under the record year of 1973.

Harvest for the state is more than a third complete, which is about on schedule with a year ago.

ONLY about six percent of the fall seeded wheat in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas had sufficient growth to support fall grazing. This compares with 23 percent a year ago and about 20 percent two years ago.

Growth on early wheat seedings in Texas has been limited due to short moisture supplies. In the state, only 11 percent of the seeded acreages had sufficient growth to pasture. This was four times less than a year ago.

Forage supplies generally are poor and very little grazing has occurred.

Market Report

Turkey is in plentiful supply with prices higher than a year ago, but specials will be available before Thanksgiving at Texas grocery stores, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Fryer chicken also reflects a few specials, but prices are trending upwards in general, she said.

Pork prices remain high this week, but hog producers are indicating plans for some expansion in the pig crop--which may mean lower prices, but not until next spring.

At beef counter, prices are slightly lower than a week ago--with best buys on cuts listed in food ads, such ground beef, chuck steaks and roasts, round steaks and liver.

At dairy counters, features include low-fat milk sour cream, whipping cream, cottage cheese, and mild cheddar cheese.

Fruit departments are highlighting apples and cranberries, grapefruit and oranges--along with bananas, grapes and pears.

An increased supply of tangelos and tangerines has resulted in more attractive prices for these items.

Vegetable sections show liberal offerings of cabbage and carrots with and abundance of hard-shell squash.

Sweet potato prices are up a bit, although some stores will feature them for the holidays.

Vegetables in the moderate price range are cauliflower, brussels sprouts, eggplant, potatoes and dry onions.

Other good vegetable buys are mustard greens, turnip tops and collards.

HOLIDAY CHECKLIST
--In buying turkey, look for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's shield. The federal inspection mark of wholesomeness means the product is wholesome--not that it is germ free. However, proper handling and cooking will keep microorganisms at safe levels.

--In selecting turkey, choose one from a refrigerated case in the store--and refrigerate it quickly at home.

--In determining the size of turkey to buy, remember large turkeys usually have more meat in proportion to bone than small turkeys. For tur-

HOW'S The Electric Company DOING?

Let's ask J. T. Burk, stores superintendent . . .

"Crossarms are such a common sight that you probably don't even notice them. But we have thousands of crossarms in our system . . . and they're necessary to bring electricity to you. Ten years ago, one of these crossarms cost $3.43, but today an identical crossarm is $11.46."

That's a whopping 234% increase . . . a reason electricity may be costing you more these days. Even so, electricity is still a big bargain . . . because it's always there when you need it.
