Vandalism Done by Local Youth

Apparently some local youth took part in vandalism in town last Saturday night. Blaylock's fruit and vegetable storage was broken into and nearly $100 worth of fruit and vegetables were scattered along the city's Main Street, some thrown into store and business windows. The Pampa, Amarillo, and Oklahoma newspaper dispensers from the Post Office and McLean News Office and in front of the News Office disappeared.

The incidents are currently being investigated. Anyone seeing the red, orange, blue and green dispensers should report it.

Visitors in the home of Mrs. Aldridge last week were nephew and family, Rev. Mrs. Bert Thomas, Elizabeth and Beth of Luxon, Ark.; her daughter, Mrs. Nachter of Pampa, grandchildren of two children of Allison.

Another Record Pike From Greenbelt

Greenbelt Lake to the east of Amarillo is fast getting a reputation as the place to go for trophy northern pike.

It was only in May that a 17-pound five-ounce pike was taken from the lake to set a new Texas State Fish record.

But on June 11, Buster Dorough of Kress, Texas, landed an 18-pound two-ounce northern pike to break the month-old mark.

Dorough's fish measured 41 3/4 inches in length and 17 inches in girth and was taken by trolling an artificial lure on 20-pound-test line.

Quarterly Sales Tax Reports Due July 31

AUSTIN--Comptroller Bob Bullock reminded 225,000 retail businesses Monday that July 31 is the deadline for sending in quarterly sales tax reports.

Late reports are nothing but headaches for the taxpayer and for the Comptroller's Office," Bullock said. "I'd like to see every quarterly report filed on the deadline."

Reports due July 31 cover April-May-June quarter. Forms for the reports were sent to all sales tax permit holders by Bullock's office in June.

"Most of the delinquent or tardy reports are just oversights and simple mistakes but the consequences under the law are just the same," Bullock said.

During an office "coffee break," a group of secretaries was discussing capital punishment. One, asked whether she would prefer electrocution or the gas chamber, answered: "Not gas! Gas makes me sick!"

July 25-31 Set As Farm and Ranch Safety Week

"Texas farms and ranches play a major role in the economy of Texas and help feed millions of Americans, said Gov. Dolph Briscoe in a proclamation designating July 25-31, as Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week.

But in addition, Texas farms and ranches had a most "unwelcome harvest" while producing their 1974 agricultural products, the deaths of 285 farm and ranch residents, according to Joe Smetana, Vice President for Farm and Ranch Safety, Texas Safety Association. This figure represents a 33% increase over 1973 fatalities, which was a 16.9% increase from 1972.

Causes of fatalities last year according to data from the Texas Safety Association and The Farm Bureau were accidents involving traffic (97), tractor (34), drownings (34), firearms (24), and fires and burns (21).

Other causes recorded include falls (18), machinery (15), animals (13), electric current (10), and miscellaneous (19).

"Texans are proud of the farm and ranch families from whom come the abundance of food and fiber," says the Texas Safety Association, and strongly encourages safety practices to reduce the needless waste of human resources.

Food Stamp Fraud

WASHINGTON--Scandalously loose federal regulations are taking food from the mouths of the needy and giving it, at taxpayers' expense, to the undeserving.

The federal food stamp program has degenerated into a gigantic boondoggle. What began 10 years ago as a modest federal project funded at $40 million has mushroomed into a fiscal monster that will devour $5 billion of the taxpayers' money this year.

Use of food stamps has increased from one of every 439 Americans in 1965 to one of every 13 Americans today, and the growth of the program is likely to be even more astronomical in the future. Under present regulations, one of every four Americans is eligible for food stamps, and that could easily grow to one of every three Americans.

Under present regulations:

—Some able-bodied persons who do not want to work can get food stamps;

—Owners of jewelry, furs and luxury appliances can get food stamps;

—Minor children can get food stamps without parental consent or control.

Enough is enough. It is time to put a halt to the flagrant abuses of the food stamp program.

Above the plains of Texas, in the cool of the Sacramento mountains of New Mexico, a delegation of 4-H leaders from Gray County are attending the 4-H electric Camp this week which is located 28 miles southeast of Ponderosa, New Mexico. Those attending the camp, sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company are, left to right, front row; Frank Morrison, John Baggerman, Don Smith, and Steve Snellgrose. Back row, left to right: Dana Smith, Sally Brainard, Berklee Brainard, Ranette Miller, assistant county home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Ed Brainard, adult leader. The SPS Company instructor is Wendene Shelton from Pampa.

Market Report

Demand for beef, particularly for quick-cooking cuts, is influencing the price, one consumer market information specialist said this week.

"For real economy, select the less tender cuts such as chuck roasts, chuck and round steaks. Other good choices are ground beef and liver, pricewise," Mrs. Wendolyn Clyatt, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, said.

Another economical possibility is fresh fish and shellfish. Many varieties will be available in the coming weeks, adding to good supplies of fresh frozen seafoods. This means attractive buying opportunities at prices substantially below a year ago, the specialist reported.

Increasing supplies of peaches, nectarines, plums, and grapes have resulted in slightly lower prices.

Fresh vegetables soon to be arriving on the market in canning-size quantities are purplehull peas, soft shell squash, carrots, corn, cucumbers, cushaw, green onions and radishes.

Prices are slightly higher on fryer chickens.

Eggs are good supply at reasonable prices. Compare large and medium sizes for the best value for egg money.

This year's crop of apricots is large. But since the season is short, prices will remain relatively high.

ACCEPTING CHRIST

We hear a great deal about "ACCEPTING JESUS CHRIST." What does it mean to really accept Christ? If we answer this question properly, we have to consider two things:

1. Jesus the "man," our Saviour, and;
2. His PLAN, the divine revelation which is the New Testament.

Many people think, accepting Christ is one thing, and accepting His word is yet another matter. To them, it is important that men feel deeply about who Christ was, and what He did, but not very important that we DO WHAT HE SAID. This mistaken idea is the reason that millions have given "mental assent to" or "believed in" Christ as Saviour, yet feel little or no responsibility toward obeying His commands. The Bible, God's revelation to man, teaches that it is IMPOSSIBLE to believe in and accept Christ, "without accepting both Jesus the "man" and HIS DIVINE PLAN! Hear Jesus: "...why call ye me Lord, Lord, and DO NOT THE THINGS I SAY?" (Luke 6:46); and from 1 John 2:3-4, "And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments. He that saith, I know him, and KEEPETH NOT HIS COMMANDMENTS, IS A LIAR, AND THE TRUTH IS NOT IN HIM."

The Book of Acts shows us thousands who "accepted Christ" and were saved; Three thousand on the day of Pentecost--Acts 2; Saul of Tarsus--Acts 9, 22, 26; Cornelious and his household--Acts 10; Lydia--Acts 16; the Philippian jailor--Acts 16; Crispus--Acts 18:8, 1 Cor. 1:14; many Corinthians--Acts 18:8. Note that each of these did just what the Scriptures teach that YOU must do to be saved from YOUR sins and live in hope of everlasting life. They:

1. Learned the truth--the will of God. (John 8:31-32; John 17:17)
2. Believed in Christ--the Son of God. (John 8:24; Gal. 3:26; Heb. 11:6; Rom. 10:17)
3. Repented of their sins--turned to God. (Acts 17:30-41; 1 Thess. 1:9; Acts 3:19; Luke 13:3,5)
4. Publicly confessed Christ as the Son of God. (Acts 8:36-37; Rom. 10:9-10)
5. Were baptized into Christ for the remission of their sins. (Matt. 28:18-20; Acts 2:38; 1 Pet. 3:21; Mark 16:15-16; Rom. 6:1-6; Gal. 3:26-29)

This was and is the ONLY WAY one can "accept Christ" as Saviour: that is, personal belief (faith) in Jesus, and faithful obedience to his commands revealed in the New Testament.

Millions there are who believe in Jesus as the Son of God---but FEW are willing to accept and OBEY His commands.

Hartley Davis, Edwina and Rossie Davis visited Mrs. Nettie Reed of Miami and Mrs. Linda Reed of Pampa Friday.

Do you get chigger bites, seed ticks or mosquitoes when you go fishing or camping? Well, I did and here is what I did. First I applied Mentholatum, which I always carry, then in the night as the itching got worse, I rubbed on Bengay by mistake, and that burned like fire, but stopped the itch for awhile. I proceeded to use everything from alcohol to baking soda and bacon and sausage grease mixed with salt. None of these helped, so then I did what I should have done first and went to the drugstore and got a lotion. Also when you are going be sure and use insect repellent.

Highlights
AND Sidelights
 by Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The House of Representatives may be returning to Austin before September 1 to consider the first impeachment proceedings in more than 40 years.

A select House committee already has directed its staff to draft several articles of impeachment against 229th District Judge O.P. Carrillo of Duval County.

Committee members rounded out their examination of the record in their inquiry into allegations against Carrillo last week in closed-door session.

They will vote in open session on the proposed articles.

If a majority of the 11-member panel vote to press any of the articles, the House must be called into session to consider them on the third Monday following the committee report.

The constitution further provides that the Senate must try impeachment charges brought by the House against certain state officials, including district judges.

A two-thirds vote in the Senate is required to convict.

Fewer than a dozen serious impeachment proceedings have been brought in a century. Only one of these—the 1917 case against then Gov. James E. Ferguson—actually resulted in a removal from office.

Raids Continue

Comptroller Bob Bullock led more raids against sales tax-delinquent firms in the Dallas area which, he said, owe more than $200,000 to the state and city.

The Comptroller's agents locked a restaurant, closed a concrete manufacturer, took inventories and equipment from a photo shop, appliance shop, air conditioning firm and microfilm service company.

Property seized will be sold at public auction to satisfy tax claims unless owners pay up, Bullock said.

He scheduled an auction July 21 in San Antonio for nearly 15,000 cases of whiskey, wine and beer taken from three discount liquor houses whose owner owed $405,000 in delinquent sales taxes.

Highways in Trouble

Texas Highways and Public Transportation Department cancelled August contract lettings because of inflated costs and declining gasoline taxes.

Both T.H.P.T.D. Engineer-Director B.L. DeBerry and Gov. Dolph Briscoe, meanwhile, expressed concern over President Ford's federal highway program.

DeBerry said reducing the federal highway trust fund would impose a heavier tax load on the states and further reduce construction.

Briscoe said the administration's offer to return one cent of the gasoline tax to the states "covers up an attempt to move two cents into the federal treasury and away from needs of the states."

Courts Speak

The Supreme Court upheld an injunction against a $45 million Southwestern Bell Telephone Company long distance rate increase in Texas, pending outcome of a state legal challenge.

The High Court also denied Coastal States Gas Producing Company's proposal to move a suit over San Antonio gas rates and supplies from the city.

In other recent cases, the Supreme Court held:

The State Board of Pharmacy should not be allowed to shut down 59 Walgreen drug stores during an appeal of a case involving a law against advertising prescription drug prices.

Conservation and reclamation districts can use maintenance funds to compensate persons damaged due to negligent use of motorized equipment:

- Exxon Corp. is entitled to reversal of $227,000 judgment arising from a job death case because company attorneys were not permitted to show proof the widow had remarried.

- County funds must pay cost of publishing divorce case citations for the poor.

Third Court of Civil Appeals held the state sales tax constitutional.

Americans Have Most Goods, Highest Income

Someone once condensed the total population of the world into one imaginary town of 1,000 people. The interesting observations on Americans which resulted were printed in a recent issue of TESCO ROUNDUP, Texas Electric Service Company's employee newspaper.

Some 60 persons out of the 1,000 would represent the total U.S. population, with the rest of the world represented by 940.

The 60 Americans would be receiving half of the total income of the entire community; the 940 other people would share the remaining half. Of the 60 Americans, the lowest income groups would be better off than the average in much of the rest of the town.

The 60 Americans would possess nearly 16 times as much goods, per person, as all the rest of the people.

On an average, they would produce 16 percent of the town's total food supply. They would consume most of it themselves, and much more than they really needed.

In the entire town of 1,000 about one-third of the people would be classified as Christians.

Health Tips

Having a beautiful tan is a status symbol to most Americans. Too much roasting, however, results in more burn and less status.

The Texas Medical Association points out that the sun has little or no health value and can sometimes cause more or less serious skin problems, including cancer.

There may be psychological gain--a sense of relaxation or well-being--from basking in the warm sunshine. But don't over-do it!

Over-exposure can cause burns, as almost everyone has found out. Continued over-exposure over a period of years can cause the skin to look weatherbeaten, wrinkled, leathery and coarse.

If you are going to "catch some rays", the time of day is all important. The burning ultraviolet rays are most intensive from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunburn is unlikely before 8 a.m. and after 5 p.m. High noon is the hottest time of day. Rays reflected from sand or water can burn, even if you are not directly exposed.

Your first time out in the sun should be for a minimum amount of time. Ten minutes on each side is enough. If you must "bake" longer, do it before 10 a.m. or after 2 p.m. Increase the time of exposure about five minutes on each successive day. Don't be fooled by a cloudy or hazy sky. You can burn on cloudy days too.

Most suntan lotions contain chemicals called sunscreens, which absorb various wave lengths of burning ultraviolet rays. The better lotions allow you to stay in the sun longer with less risk of burning. They do not, however, shut out all the radiation, or else you wouldn't tan at all.

Choosing an effective sun-screen is difficult. Your best bet is the product made by a reputable manufacturer. For a day at the beach, one coat of lotion is not enough.

Apply it as directed, after each swim, and whenever it seems to have rubbed off.

Your eyes and hair need sun protection too. Wear dark glasses and don a hat when possible.

If you do get sunburned, treat it as you would any other burn. Use soothing lotions to ease the pain. If the burn is unusually intense, see your doctor.

The best prescription for sun baking is to use a large measure of moderation--no fast or slow burns!

Red tape is so called for the practice of tying official documents with tape of that color in 17th century England.

Texas Waterways-- An Analysis

By J. D. Peer
 I&E Field Officers, Lubbock

The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department's trail and waterway section has completed an analysis of Texas waterways for the primary purpose of enhancing the recreational usage of selected rivers and streams in Texas.

The "analysis" provides an in-depth look into such aspects as which waterways are floatable, the best times of year to float them, water conditions and flow, general descriptions of the waterways points of public access, outstanding land marks and unique features and areas which have potential for danger.

"Some of our waterways are being subjected to adverse impacts which diminish free flowing and natural qualities of the streams and some means of securing and protecting these waterways are essential," Ron Josselot, head of trail and waterway planning, said.

"We have become urbanized and escape to these sanctuaries is necessary for our well being," said Josselot. "The increased usage of some of the more popular waterways indicates that a waterways system should be completed."

The passage of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers Act of 1968 lay the basic groundwork for a system of waterways classification across America.

The only Texas waterway now being considered for inclusion into the National network is the Rio Grande river from Alamito creek near Presidio to the backwaters of Amistad reservoir.

Texas has followed these same guidelines and a waterway must meet certain criteria for inclusion into the state system. These rivers must be in a free-flowing natural condition. The quality of the water and the amount of flow are also considered. One of the most important aspects is the state of development along the river, although some evidence of man's activities may be allowed.

The three classifications of waterways in Texas includes wild rivers, scenic rivers, and recreational rivers.

To determine which river or waterway should be put in one of the three categories, the P&WD sent questionnaire to knowledgeable waterway recreational askings for a list of their favorite streams and reasons for possible inclusion into the Texas waterways system.

Members of the trail and waterway branch actually floated many of the suggested waterways to check the streams potential.

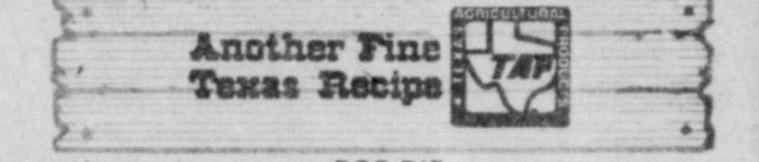

Studies were made of published reports on Texas waterways experts and enthusiasts were recorded.

From all of this information came the publication "Texas Waterways--an Analysis."

A few copies of this analysis are available by sending a written request to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Ron Josselot, Trail and waterway, John H. Reagan Bldg., Austin, Texas 78701.

EGG DIP AND FRESH VEGETABLES—Served with a selection of raw summer vegetables, egg dip provides a healthful, nutritious snack or a light meal. For additional recipes, write Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Tex. 78711.

EGG DIP

6 hard-cooked eggs, sieved	2 Tbsp. soft butter
1 tsp. prepared mustard	1/2 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 drop hot pepper sauce	1 tsp. Worcestershire
Salt to taste	1/2 tsp. liquid smoke
3/8 cup mayonnaise	1/4 tsp. pepper

Combine ingredients and beat until smooth. If mixture is too stiff, gradually add small amount of milk or cream until it becomes proper consistency for dip. As with any egg salad, personal taste will dictate the amount of seasoning used. Experiment with egg dip according to taste. Serve with raw summer-fresh Texas vegetables.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear McLean News:

Enclosed please find my check for another year's renewal of the McLean News.

I enjoyed my recent visit in the home of the Clarence Pierce Family and seeing all my friends in McLean once again. Also the visit in the home of my son, Jim Mac.

Charlene and her family returned to Sedona with me after my trip to Denver City to visit the Charles Honeycutt family (JaneHe). I enjoyed having the Norris Cunningham family in my home here after my return also.

I enjoy my new home area very much but I'll always be a "transplanted" Texan with a special accent to identify the fact. The McLean News helps me to remain in touch with the home town and I look forward to each weekly issue.

Plastics is a rapidly expanding industry. Its total sales volume is expected to grow from approximately $23 billion in 1970 to an estimated level of $364 billion in the year 2000. But plastics derive from natural gas and crude oil; just as power does. So, to insure the future of the plastics industry, many people support government action aimed at using alternative sources of energy, such as nuclear and solar, while allocating adequate supplies of petroleum feedstocks to the production of plastics.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

A sweeping change in state-wide ambulance service has taken place in recent years, and one of the Texas Department of Health Resources.

Where ambulances once were directed toward speed, they now put emphasis on trained personnel and life-sustaining services while en route to a hospital.

The types of modular ambulances seen on popular television shows are becoming quite commonplace across Texas. These are the preferred types and more and more Texas communities are installing them.

A move to further assist communities in setting up ambulance service, complete with trained personnel, has prompted the Division to place its training personnel at strategic locations in regional settings in Texas.

No longer will it be necessary to call Austin for assistance, says Charles E. King, director of the Emergency Medical Services Division.

"Supervisors are stationed in the Regions," says King, "and they are enthusiastic about being close to those in need of assistance. All are knowledgeable in all phases of the program-- which includes Emergency Medical Services, Medical Advisory Board, Civil Defense and Radiological Defense."

The EMS Program has had a tremendous effect on upgrading ambulance services, and cities throughout the state have gone to highly trained personnel and sophisticated life-sustaining equipment which goes far beyond that required for certification. In some cities, medical colleges have entered into training of ambulance attendants to assure the finest use of equipment.

In the beginning, those in the Health Resources Department's emergency medical program had to knock on doors to interest cities and towns in attendant training. And, the Division provided training, with help of local medical society members. But the life-saving program now has developed on such a broad scale that there's not enough personnel to provide training.

Through its regional setup, says King, the Division provides expert consultation services with towns suddenly without ambulance services or those wishing to upgrade services. They help organize classes, inspect and certify ambulance and give examinations to those taking various training courses. They also do basic communications counselling, aiding operators of emergency vehicles in selecting and properly utilizing radio equipment.

"One of the most exciting fields in medicine today is in the area of emergencies," said King. Many emergency teams operate from military helicopters to speed patients hospitals, he said.

Andrew L. Woodward said the regionalizing of EMS per personnel is basically the same as the whole concept of regional offices--getting services nearer those who need them and taking them into areas which haven't received them before.

With regionalization, many areas find the EMS representatives can coordinate between agencies and other interested personnel in the formulation of a more efficient EMS system.

"You'd be surprised how important it is to people not to have to deal with someone from the State Capital," said Woodward. "If someone near Lubbock needs help we have men stationed there for them to contact. A Northeast Texas County judge who came to the Austin office for help was delighted to learn that a regional man was stationed in Tyler.

The basic function of EMS, reiterated Woodward, is to assist in training of ambulance attendants, consult with local people in setting them up, helping with communications problems and "to do a lot of personal consulting." Further, he said, we can do about 90 per cent of licensing and inspecting of ambulances.

Where ambulance companies may not have seen the value of their vehicles having proper equipment before, they can have it explained personally by the regional representative of the Emergency Medical Services Division of your Texas Dept. of Health Resources.

Understanding Children's Behavior

It takes time and experience for a child to learn what kinds of behavior are acceptable to others, Mrs. Ilene Miller, family life education specialist, reminded this week.

"While he is learning, a child will make many mistakes through trial and error. "When a child misbehaves there are two factors parents must deal with: his actions and his feelings. That makes it important for parents to stop before taking action and try to understand why the child acted as he did.

"In most cases the child is not being bad on purpose --only human," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Parents help by being accepting of a child's feelings, even when his behavior is unacceptable. Children are not always able to express their feelings adequately with words, but their behavior may be a guide to their emotions.

"A child may be telling caused by inflammation

that he is tired, frightened or jealous through his actions. Thank about why he might feel as he does before reacting to what he has done," she suggested.

Curiosity may be mistaken for misbehavior. A child needs adult help to know what he may do and what he can touch. Positive instructions help him learn more acceptable behavior.

"Another frequent cause of misbehavior is boredom. Children have short attention spans and lose interest easily. Parents can be sensitive to the child's feelings and suggests acceptable alternative activities when interest fades.

"Children may misbehave because they are trying to show their independence or to get attention. Careful examination of the situation can help parents determine what their children are able to do and why they are responding in a certain manner, the specialist noted.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Radar Vs. Motorist

Citizen Haines, given a ticket for speeding, determined to fight his case in court. At the hearing, officers relied on radar evidence to prove the charge against him. According to radar, Haines had indeed been travelling well over the speed limit.

But the police overlooked one thing. They failed to produce evidence that their radar equipment was in good working order on the day Haines was arrested. Result: he won an acquittal.

This case illustrates how the law, while accepting the benefits of technical progress, is also concerned with fair play for the individual. Almost everywhere, in traffic cases, courts will insist on evidence that the radar equipment was working properly when it was put to use.

Today it is standard practice for such equipment to be checked regularly. Usually this is done by tuning forks or by clocked road tests. Even so, some motorists, still not convinced, have challenged the entire principle of radar, calling it too experimental to be trusted in the courtroom.

In an earlier day, the law too was skeptical about radar as a scientific principle. But now that skepticism has largely disappeared. As one judge put it:

"X-rays, electrocardiograms, time by watches, identity by fingerprinting, and ballistic evidence are freely accepted in our courts for their general reliability, without the necessity of expert testimony as to the scientific principles underlying them. The use of radar for speed detection may now be said to fall in this category."

In one case an arrested motorist, flagged down by radar, tried a different tack. He claimed he was the victim of an illegal "speed trap." But the evidence showed:

- 1) that the vehicle containing the radar equipment was plainly marked as a police car; and
- 2) that the officers manning it were dressed in their regular uniforms.

Unable to see any "trap" in this situation, the court ordered the motorist to pay his fine. The judge felt that a speeder could not complain merely because police had found a new and better way to catch him.

Cheap Call One-Plus

One-Plus is always the cheapest way to call Long Distance. For example, a coast-to-coast call during business hours (8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday) is only 56¢ for the first minute. Out-of-state calls spanning shorter distances cost even less.

Cheaper Save 35 percent evenings

You save 35 percent over the day rate when you call out of state the One-Plus way evenings (5 p.m. to 11 p.m., Sunday through Friday). For example, a coast-to-coast call costs only 36¢ for the first minute.

Remember, additional minutes are always less than the first on out-of-state calls. Where One-Plus dialing isn't available, One-Plus rates apply on station calls. If you dial direct and reach a wrong number, call the operator. You won't be charged.
