CAMPAIGN AIMED AT SCREW-WORMS—A special campaign to deal a final death blow to the tenacious screwworm is being launched. Called "Mission '77: Stamp Out Screwworms," the campaign will be kicked off at a conference called by Gov. Dolph Briscoe in Austin on Feb. 24 at 9:30 a.m. at the Municipal Auditorium. The campaign is designed to create a new vigilance on the part of livestock producers in handling and treating livestock to eliminate the screwworm completely from Texas this year. Factors such as the cold winter, the new screwworm plant in Mexico, and a new strain of sterile flies, should help accomplish the goal, contends the director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Newman suggests that we speak plainly, openly and honestly without the use of jargon and cliches. The book review is open to the public at no charge. Cokes and coffee will be served.

Postal Service Estimates $514 Million Loss

American consumers lost an estimated $514 million last year as a result of mail fraud and misrepresentation-by-mail schemes, according to Postmaster Frank Simpson. Accounting for most of the loss were schemes involving stocks and land investments, credit misrepresentation, and false claims against insurance companies. "In a concerted effort to assist consumers, Postmaster General Benjamin F. Ballar has designated February 21-26 as the second annual Postal Consumer Protection Week. This week is designed to alert the public to mail-order schemes and serves to emphasize the consumer protection activities of the Postal Service," Postmaster Simpson said. "The Postal Service has been helping consumers since enactment in 1872 of the Mail Fraud Statute."

Investment schemes ranked first in dollar value, with a loss to the public of $59 million. Failure-to-furnish merchandise ranked first in the number of complaints received, with more than 19,000 reported, involving a loss of $2.6 million. Postmaster Simpson stressed that the overwhelming majority of those companies making up the $60 billion mail-order industry are honest and seek to satisfy their customers. But as in other industries, there are a few disreputable ones that cause problems. The Postal Service actively investigates mail fraud and false representation by mail, and assists with mail-order and service problems, through the efforts of the Postal Inspection Service, the Consumer Protection Office of the Postal Service Law Department, the Service's Judicial Office and its Consumer Advocate.

The consumer protection activities of these department include attempts to resolve unsatisfactory mail-order transactions such as failure-to-furnish ordered merchandise or make promised refunds. Administrative proceedings may be initiated against mail-order firms that falsely advertise their products. In case of mail fraud, the Postal Inspection Service presents investigative results to the appropriate U. S. Attorney for criminal proceedings. "In conjunction with Consumer Protection Week, we are re-emphasizing the Consumer Service Card program, to remind consumers of our continuing interest in their mail-service and related problems," Postmaster Simpson said. "Consumer Service Cards are available at the post office or from letter carriers, and provide the means for attacking problems individually and geographically."

Boneless brisket is a thin, flat, less tender piece of meat which has been boned. This less expensive cut of beef can be successfully barbecued, roasted or cured and sold as corned beef. Mrs. Mary Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

Wildlife Violations Are Tabulated

Game and fish violations head the list of citations completed by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains as the hunting seasons come to a close.

Of the total 798 citations issued by wardens, 411 were for state game and fish violations including no license, hunting out of season, and over limit. Water safety violations accounted for 18 and littering, trespassing, disorderly conduct, drunk, and other violations accounted for 144 citations.

All P&WD wardens are commissioned state peace officers and any violation of a Texas law can be and is handled by these outdoor officers.

District 1, which includes all counties in the Panhandle, lead the total number of citations with 366. Chuck Cosper, game warden assigned to Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer counties, issued a total of 69 citations to lead his district.

District 11, which is all the South Plains counties in the Lubbock district, accounted for 225 citations with Ronnie Ainsworth, Plainview warden, leading the way with 43 in assigned area of Hale and Floyd counties.

District 111, which is the Abilene area, completed the total with 207 citations being issued. Jackie Young, Haskell game warden, accounted for 37 of these violations being filed in his assigned area of Stonewall and Haskell counties.

Violations filed by game wardens in these three districts are nearly identical for both the 1975 and 1976 seasons.

Ted Wheelis, Lubbock regional supervisor, said complaints of shooting from the road and trespassing create more problems due to involvement of landowners, sportsmen and the P&WD.

Trespass complaints are generally initiated by the landowner and represent violations against private property instead of state property. The landowner usually contacts the local game warden when a violation occurs and the complaint is signed by the landowner before charges are lodged in the local court.

Since over 90 percent of the land in Texas is private property, and hunters and fishermen failed to get permission to trespass in many cases, this violation headed the list of complaints in 1976 in Texas.

Landowners, who are the stewards of wildlife, and sportsmen, who help to manage wildlife populations by hunting, need to resolve the problem of trespass prior to the 1977 hunting seasons.

Landowners interested in leasing their land or allowing hunters to harvest the surplus wildlife should list their names, address, and telephone numbers with the local game warden or in local newspapers.

Sportsmen interested in finding a place to hunt or fish can do so by going out and talking to the landowner, joining a hunting club which leases hunting rights, or obtaining a lease for themselves or their families.

Texas has some of the best hunting and fishing in the United States but, only after an agreement between the landowner and sportsman can this venture be legal and successful.

"Ground beef" is just what the name implies. No extra fat, water, extenders or binders are permitted. Seasonings, however, may be added as long as they are identified on the label. Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says,

SEMINAR FOR COUNTY, DISTRICT CLERKS---The annual County and District Clerks Seminar at the Ramada Inn in College Station, Mar. 1-2 will provide clerks with information to do a more effective and efficient job of record keeping, says a county officials program leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Discussions will deal with records relating to inheritance taxes, criminal proceedings, probate, the Family Code, the Uniform Commercial Code, elections and grand and petit juries.

This weekend, call both families for practically the price of one.

It's true! This weekend—and every weekend between 11 p.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Sunday—you can place two Long Distance calls for practically the price of one weekday evening call, when you dial the 1+ way.

For example, a 10-minute call to someone a thousand miles away weekday evenings (5 p.m. to 11 p.m., Sunday-Friday) would cost you $2.44, plus tax. Which, you'll admit, isn't bad.

But for practically the same price, you could make two eight-minute calls over the same distance... any weekend.

It's almost like getting one call free!

So this weekend, enjoy a couple of Long Distance calls. And make three families happy!

Long Distance. What else is so nice for the price?

Accreditation to be topic for McLean meet

McLEAN — A new accreditation planning procedure mandated for Texas public schools by the legislature will be discussed at a meeting set for 7 p.m. Thursday in the McLean High School auditorium.

Supt. Homer Jefferson said the new accreditation procedure will be set up in four basic steps, with phase one to deal with development of a set of preliminary goals for student development, using teachers and teams of lay citizens.

"Since phase one is of most concern to the public, I am urging residents to attend this important meeting," Jefferson said.

The meeting will be conducted by Dr. Kenneth Laycock and Dr. David Cole.

you and the LAW

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: Before I moved to Texas in 1970, I had a will executed in Illinois, where it is on file. Is this will valid in Texas?

A: Prepared in other states generally are valid in Texas. The difference in each state's laws, however, could affect both the cost of probate and the decision on designating beneficiaries. For example, Illinois law does not allow you to appoint an independent executor in your will, which is allowed under Texas law and can reduce probate expenses and restrictions. And, Texas community property laws might change the choice of beneficiaries selected by a married person.

Q: A judge awarded my ex-wife 60% of my monthly retirement pension in a divorce decree. Now, she's remarried and being supported by a new husband with substantial income. Would her remarriage affect my chances of having that divorce decree altered? And, why wasn't the retirement split evenly, instead of 60-40, if it was community property?

A: A property division in a divorce decree is for the purpose of separating property at the time of the divorce. It cannot be changed at a later date on the basis of changed circumstances of either former partner. In dividing community property, a judge is free to award any portion of the property to either partner and is not required to divide the property evenly.

Q: Do doctors have a right to give or order tests, treatments, x-rays or medication without the knowledge and against the will of the patient? If so, would they not have the right to perform surgery without a patient's permission?

A: A physician must have either the expressed or implied consent to administer treatment or perform an operation. This rule is subject to exception in an emergency if it is impossible or impractical to obtain the patient's consent or the consent of anyone authorized to assume such responsibility. The general rule prohibiting the performance of an operation without the consent of the patient extends to the performance of operations different in nature from that for which a consent was given, and to operations involving risks and results not contemplated.

For variety, use your favorite salad dressing instead of mayonnaise.

Q: I obtained a default judgment against someone to collect a debt. They have kept their checking account inactive to prevent me from obtaining those funds to satisfy the judgment. Could I hold a lien against the proceeds of their homestead if they sell their home and move to an apartment?

A: The family homestead is exempt from all general claims of creditors. This exemption also extends to funds obtained from a sale of the homestead within a short period of time. If a debtor sells his home, deposits the proceeds into a bank or savings account, and rents an apartment, the homestead exemption has been abandoned, and a creditor can move to establish a lien upon the funds to satisfy his debt.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

HOLDING DOWN LAND TAXES---Taking advantage of tax angles when buying or selling real estate may save a farmer or rancher thousands of dollars, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. A buyer should set up the right tax "basis" for the land. He should also allocate part of the total price to unharvested crops and put a value on all buildings, equipment and timber on the land. When selling real estate, it's best to do so when crops are still in the ground. When transferring a farm to a son or daughter, one way to avoid charging a fixed price is to arrange payments in the form of a percentage of the annual farm receipts over a number of years.

Involve children in ecology by rewarding them for conserving their resources--family, heat, light, water and gasoline. Mrs. Linda McCormack, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, suggests.

Editorial

by Judith Bentley
What would you say if a person asked you to give them some reasons why they should want to be a student at McLean High School?
This is what some of the McLean Beauty Pageant contestants were asked by the judges at a tea held in the English room, Saturday evening.
Some of the answers were "you'll never get lost because the building is so small"; "the people are friendly"; "the students try to keep their spirit up"; and "it is easy to get to know the students at MHS."
Would you be attracted to attend school at McLean High School by these answers--if not, why not? We know the factors that make a school no. 1 so let us put our school at the top of the list. The students are the key to pride and spirit.

Editorial

by Peggy Van Huss
With the preparation of the Miss McLean Pageant and the upcoming favorites election, there has been a lot of complaining.
"Why should we even try. We already know who has it." Do they really know? Maybe so, but why?
"The same old people get everything. I don't have a chance." Maybe not. With that attitude, probably not. These people seem only to want to gripe. It doesn't seem they want anything. If they would work to keep up their grades; if they would work to make friends and not enemies; if they would get a better attitude toward the world, maybe then the same old people wouldn't get everything.

Local Students To Visit College

by Maridale Glass
Missing a day of school is always fun, but especially when you spend it at college. Maybe that doesn't sound right, but February 25, ten senior girls are going to West Texas State University to visit the school and stay the night in the dorms. They are Peggy Van Huss, Beth Hambright, Teresa Mounce, Lela Skipper, Cindy Sherrod, Rose Dwyer, Judith Bentley, Maridale Glass, Donna Benningfield and Cathy Estes.
They will leave Thursday afternoon after school. The school has given the girls free passes to the Activity Center. That night they will stay in the Brown and Mac-Caslin dorms. The following morning, they will report to the Student Union Building and will be taken on a tour of the campus and its separate departments.

Credit - Insurance Experience Set

By Mrs. Elaine Houston
County Extension Agent
Trying to control family living costs can be compared to controlling your waistline. When you want to reduce your eating you seem to develop uncontrollable hunger pains.
Families are increasingly turning to credit as a way to satisfy their spending hunger pains when they do not have enough money to buy with cash. Credit in some ways has helped families to come out better when unexpected inflation occurs.
Credit costs money. It inflates the cash price of what you are buying. If the interest rate you will have to pay is greater than the current and projected rates of inflation you will lose money instead of gaining by using credit.
You can learn more about credit and how to shop for credit, interest rates, how to complete application forms and the differences in credit interest rates by attending a Credit and Insurance Experience. This program will be held February 22 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Pampa Senior Citizens Center.
The Credit and Insurance

Experience will enable consumers to shop for credit insurance in simulated situations. Local resource people will be available to help consumers.

This program is sponsored by the Gray County Family Living Committee. The program is free and everyone of all ages is invited regardless of socio-economic level, race color, sex, religion, or national origin.

Who bailed out the Navy in 1798?

We were still paying off the Revolutionary War. Then we were faced with yet another war, this time on the seas.
How could we afford to build up our Navy?
Well, Congress called for help through the issuance of government securities. And the citizens came through to the tune of $711,700. Enough to make the down payment on 10 new ships.

Their investment paid off. And you can follow their example today.
When you buy U.S. Savings Bonds at your bank or through the Payroll Savings Plan at work, you're investing in your country. And as if that weren't enough, you're helping yourself to a safe and generous return.
What better way to stay afloat?

By Joe Van Zandt
 Rain! What a beautiful sight a good February rain can be especially after a 4 1/2 month period of cold, dry weather. This rain certainly gave wheat farmers a boost and will keep their wheat going for a good while longer. Most farmers had been reporting good lower moisture but this rain was needed to help settle the dry, loose topsoil. With the warmer weather, wheat has started some spring growth and should get enough cover on the ground now to prevent a lot of blowing dirt when our March winds hit.

Speaking of spring growth and wheat - farmers need to check their wheat fields for weeds. I hear reports and have seen some wheat fields heavily infested with mustard weeds. Conditions have been good this year for mustard weeds to get started in wheat fields.

A good, timely spraying with 2, 4-D can pay big dividends on a wheat crop.
 Research Center, Bushland, has shown that one weed per square foot can cause a ten percent reduction in wheat yields and two weeds per square foot can cause a 20 percent yield loss. At these low levels of weed infestations, an application of one-half pound of 2, 4-D could be profitable.

Wheat needs to be fully tillered or stooled out before receiving an application of 2, 4-D. Small wheat that has 2 to 10 tillers is susceptible to injury from 2, 4-D.

On the other hand, weeds need to be sprayed when they are in a rosette stage with a diameter approximat-ly the size of a half-dollar.

Tansy mustard is the most common and an easy weed to kill in wheat. Generally one-half pound of 2, 4-D will control it. However, Treacle mustard is more difficult to kill and requires up to one pound of 2, 4-D per acre. With the good soil moisture conditions present now, a well timed application of 2, 4-D should pay dividends later on with increased wheat production from weedy fields. Every wheat farmer should check his fields in the next few days because conditions are about right to get with the program.

Don't wait until you see the mustard weeds eaving in the fields with their yellow blossoms. By then, they have already robbed your wheat crop of needed moisture and caused a reduction in potential yield.

The second session of our Gray County Crops Short Course will be held Feb. 24 at 7 p.m. in the courthouse amex. Discussions will cover weeds control, irrigation water use, crop production costs and projected crop prices.

Speakers for this program include: Dr. Allen Wisse, professor - weed control, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Bushland. Also Mr.
 Leon New, area irrigation specialist, and Dr. Ray Sammons, area economist-management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Wisse in his discussion on weed control has tried also about every combination of herbicides you may have.
 His research work has greatly assisted most chemical companies in getting herbicides labeled for use on our local crops.

Leon New has worked with irrigation farmers in the Panhandle area on methods to help reduce irrigation costs and be more efficient with irrigation water. With the high costs of water and fuel, Leon may have some idea that could help reduce your irrigation expense this year.

Ray Sammons has presented some very interesting programs earlier this year. Although relatively new to this area, Ray has had a lot of experience to call on and should have new ideas on ways to make more net profit, either by cutting costs or increasing income. He is also going to look into his crystal ball and give us some forecast on crop prices.

TIME TO CONTROL SCALE INSECTS

Very few plants are likely to escape attack from scale insects. They are among some of the most destructive pests of a wide variety of plants. Although more than 2,000 species of scale insects are known to exist, their biology and damage is quite similar. Scale insects get their name from the fact that the adults form a protective layer of wax over the body. This wax layer can take on many forms from a thin layer of wax to layers of wax in the form of plates, powders, or tufts. Once the adult female inserts her mouth mouthparts into the host plant, she never moves again, eventually losing her appendages.
 The adult male feeds intermittently upon the host, emerges from the wax layer, forms wings, mates with the stationary female, and then dies. The mated female produces eggs and dies also. The eggs hatch into "crawlers" which begin to crawl about to eventually repeat the above process.

With the wax layer serving as a protective shield, the scale insect is relatively safe from most insecticides. Dormant oils applied during the late winter, early spring season offers one of the few effective control measures of scale insects. These oils kill all life stages of the scale insect by enveloping them in a continuous oil film which interferes with respiration of the insect; thus, eventually suffocating it. With the exception of the roots, complete coverage of the plant with oil is necessary to obtain satisfactory control of the scale insects. Dormant oils should be applied before new plant growth begins, when temperatures are between 40 and 65 degrees F, and when no freezing weather is expected for the next 48 hours.

When mixing and applying dormant oils, use only amounts recommended by the manufacturer, for some trees tolerant of recommended application rates of oil may be damaged if excessive amounts are used. Even recommended rates have been noted to cause damage to such trees as beech, sugar and Japanese maple, hickory, walnut,
