Gray Co. To Get Improvements On Highways

Work in Gray County is included in the 1977 Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Road Improvement Program approved recently by the state Highway and Public Transportation Commission. District Engineer A. L. McKee of Amarillo said the work includes the application of asphaltic concrete surfacing material to U. S. HIGHWAY 60 FROM U. S. Highway 60 north of 21st avenue in Pampa, a distance of 17 miles. This work will cost an estimated $156,000. Also in Gray County, a seal coat will be placed on Farm to Market Road 3143 from the end of the brick pavement in McLean 4.4 miles south and east to the Donley County line. Statewide, the 1977 program provides for the improvement of some 4,665 miles of highways at an estimated construction cost of slightly more than $40 million. Similar programs were deferred for about a year in 1975 and 1976

Texas Game Increase In Past 36 Years

Texas' game populations have gone from a time of plenty during the 19th century to one of shortages in the first half of the 20th century and back to relative abundance in the past 36 years. Earliest official state records at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department date back to 1852 and indicate wild game in Texas was abundant at that time. However, in 1884, the as a result of the financial crisis of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. However, since such programs included rehabilitation of old and obsolete highways, safety measures, and provisions for increased traffic capacity, they could not be long deferred. Programs such as these are necessary to prevent deterioration of the highway systems and a resulting decline in mobility.

state Fish Commissioner in his annual report explained a growing shortage of game and fish in all areas of the state except South Texas. Protection seemed to be the key to wildlife abundance, and the first general game law was passed in 1879. The first special game law for Galveston Island was passed in 1860, but apparently little heed was paid to such game and fish regulations until 1923 when the warden force was increased to 45. At that time little or no thought was given to the biology of a species or its habitat. But perhaps the single most important law relating to wildlife was passed without fanfare in 1925. The shooting preserve law gave Texas landowners an opportunity to benefit economically from game species ranging on their property. The public demand for hunting opportunities and profits to be derived from leasing rights prompted landowners to provide game broodstock protection from overharvesting. A comparison of early reports and recent information on game populations and annual harvest shows most game species have increased in Texas since 1930. And in the case of antelope, aoudad, mule and white-tailed deer and turkey, most of the increases in numbers and expansion of range are directly attributed to Parks and Wildlife Department programs.

White-tailed deer have increased through trapping and transplanting, education of the public and protection programs designed to promote both population expansion and harvest. Some 26,000 whitetails have been trapped and moved in Texas.

Texas now leads the nation in number of Rio Grande turkeys after more than 10,000 of the birds have been trapped and transplanted. The eastern turkey was all but extirpated from East Texas by 1945 when only some 100 birds were reported. In 1977 the first spring turkey season is set for two counties as the result of restocking programs.

Pronghorned antelope numbers were extremely low before a restoration program was started in 1939. In a five-year period between 1939 and 1944, some 1,600 antelope were relocated and the work has continued since that time. Educational programs and stringent controls on hunting have increased antelope to a total of 10,000 in the Trans-Pecos and Panhandle regions of Texas.

Ring-necked pheasants were almost nonexistent in Texas during the early 1930s. By 1976 the estimated harvest of the birds in the Texas Panhandle amounted to 24,000. Texas also had its first pheasant season in the rice lands of Liberty and Matagorda Counties in January 1977 as a result of Parks and Wildlife transplanting work.

Wildlife research has contributed to extended seasons on quail, waterfowl, turkey, and white-tailed deer. The quail season has been doubled, a spring turkey season has been set for some

This same field research has shown that both sexes of whitetails should be properly harvested. Since 1953 more than one million antlerless deer have been taken by permit over a large portion of Texas' deer range.

Market Report

Consumers may find lower prices on Boston butt (pork) roasts, ground beef, head lettuce and eggs at Texas grocery markets. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer market information specialist reports.

In pork buying, "specials" appear at a number of markets, especially on Boston roasts--while scattered features include end loin chops, quarter loins cut into chops, bacon and roll sausage she added.

Mrs. Clyatt is with Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

At beef counter prices continue in a reasonable range with some good features. Worth considering are chops, roasts and steaks, ribs, sirloin T-bone steaks. Ground beef is sporting attractive prices, too. If freezer supplies of meat are low, now is a good time to stock up.

At poultry counter fryer chicken prices are slightly higher, and a few features are offered--usually on chicken parts.

Turkeys in the 10-pound range reflect special emphasis, however.

In egg buying, prices generally have dropped cent or two--and large size is the best value.

In fresh vegetable sections, head lettuce supplies are larger and prices are low. Other more - economic choices are broccoli, cooking greens, cabbage, hard-shell squash, turnips, rutabagas and potatoes. Carrot prices are a bit higher, but they remain reasonable.

At fresh fruit counters, orange supplies continue adequate with stable prices. Other seasonal choices include grapefruit, apples, bananas, tangerines, peaches, pineapples and strawberries.

CONSUMER WATCH WORDS: Vegetable supplies are ample, but alert to differing degrees of quality.

Choking on food causes more accidental deaths in the United States each year than are caused by airplane crashes or firearms. In fact, according to the Texas Department of Health Resources, choking is the sixth most common cause of accidental death.

Health officials say that at least 3,900 Americans die each year because food gets stuck in their throats. The actual number may be considerably higher, however, since the cause of death may be incorrectly identified. It has been in recent years that health authorities discovered that many so-called heart attack victims actually were victims of choking. In correct identification of choking victims is especially tragic since the proper treatment must be given immediately.

There are three things you need to know about choking: what causes it, how to recognize it, and what to do about it. In spite of the high death toll in the past, choking can be easily prevented, and treatment for choking victims can be administered by almost anyone--including the victim, if he just knows what to do.

Choking occurs when a piece of food lodges in the windpipe, blocking off a small valve at the base of the throat. The valve controls the flow of air to and from the lungs; ordinarily, the valve opens only when a person inhales or exhales, and it closes when food is being swallowed. If a piece of food lodges against the valve, the victim can't breathe.

Obviously, the best way to prevent choking is to chew all food so thoroughly that no large pieces of solid matter are swallowed. As might be expected, the most frequent victims of choking are children; elderly people, especially those with poorly fitting dentures; and people who are drinking, laughing, or talking while they are eating.

It is particularly important not to confuse a choking victim with a heart attack victim. In both cases, the victim may gasp with apparent pain and double over; also, many heart attack victims do experience difficulty in breathing. The most important difference is that the choking victim can't breathe at all, and therefore cannot speak. Heart attack victims ordinarily remain conscious and can speak, although with some difficulty. Choking victims can't speak and often lose consciousness in as little as two or three minutes. Death is almost certain to follow in as little as four minutes unless prompt, appropriate treatment is given.

There is one technique for treating victims of choking that has been shown to be almost foolproof. It's called the "Heimlich Maneuver," after its inventor, Dr. Henry J. Heimlich of Cincinnati. Dr. Heimlich found that there is ordinarily a reserve of air in the lungs that can be used to expel the dislodged food particle from the throat.

Using the Heimlich Maneuver is relatively simple. If the victim is standing or sitting, stand behind the victim and put your arms around his or her waist, a couple of inches above the belt line. Grasp your hands, just below the victim's rib cage. Squeeze sharply with an upward motion. This compresses the victim's diaphragm, forcing air out of the lungs. The maneuver can be repeated, if necessary, until the piece of food pops out of the victim's mouth. Recovery is almost immediate, although medical attention is recommended in case there are complications.

If the victim has fallen to the floor, or if for some reason the standard maneuver can't be performed, anything that provides a sharp blow just below the

Does this technique just below the diaphragm, will force residual air from the lungs. It's important to understand that a great deal of force is not necessary, and could result in unnecessary internal damage.

Does this technique work? According to health authorities, the Heimlich Maneuver has saved hundreds of choking victims from almost certain death, and has never resulted in serious injury. The technique has been endorsed by the American Medical Association and is being taught to emergency medical personnel, and in first aid courses, all over the country. The Texas Department of Health Resources also endorses the Heimlich Maneuver as a life-saving technique, and encourages you to learn and to practice this technique. You never know when it could mean the difference between life and death for someone in your family.

Program Expanded For Control of Texas Brucellosis

Plans of the Texas Animal Health Commission have been outlined for an expanded program for control of bovine brucellosis in Texas. Joe VanZandt, county extension agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service,

Although not in effect at present, the program could assist livestock owners in reducing the disease incidence more rapidly. The expanded program would be dependent on additional funding requested of the legislature by the Texas Animal Health Commission, along with an expected $1.80 in federal money for each state dollar designated for this purpose.

The proposed program is responsive to recommendations resulting from the International Symposium on Brucellosis held at Texas A&M University in 1976.

The expanded program would provide emphasis on the use of Strain 19 brucella abortus vaccine for producers wishing to follow a calfhood vaccination program, as well as the selective use of adult vaccination with Strain 19 in so-called problem herds, improvement in the present system of finding and tracing infected cattle, and the increased use of supplemental testing on those cattle reacting to the card test," VanZandt explains.

The bovine brucellosis problem is still present in many areas. An expanded program to reduce the incidence and reinforce the overall program goals is the objective of this thrust by the Texas Animal Health Commission.

A blow torch can burn a diamond.

Q: My husband and I have joint savings and bank accounts. Would this property be taxable as part of the estate if one of us should die?

A: Joint savings and bank accounts which are community property cannot be governed by a joint tenancy provision in the contract with the bank or savings institution. Community property laws therefore would give each spouse one-half ownership of the joint accounts, and the one-half belonging to the deceased spouse would be included in the probate estate eligible for death taxes. Tax laws concerning joint accounts created before 1977 and including contributions from either spouse's separate, or non-community, estate classify as taxable that part of the joint accounts which is the separate property of the deceased person.

Q: I was paying for a home when I got married. I finished paying the mortgage after my marriage. Can I sell this property without my husband's consent? And, if my husband and I separate, is there any way of forcing him to give me my share of our income tax refund?

A: Property bought by a person before marriage remains the property of that individual after marriage and can be sold without the consent of the spouse. However, any community income utilized to meet mortgage payments could be subject to reimbursement claims by the spouse when property is divided in a divorce. Income tax refund checks jointly payable to a husband and wife must be endorsed by both before being cashed, so that neither spouse could have exclusive control over the refund from a joint return.

Q: Can a doctor or hospital perform an autopsy on the body of a patient who died in that hospital without obtaining permission from the patient before death, or without permission of relatives?

A: A coroner who has reason to suspect foul play in connection with a death has authority to order an autopsy to determine the cause of death. However, any other interference with a deceased person's body, without first obtaining consent of the surviving spouse or next of kin, is prohibited by law. Any unauthorized interference with a deceased person's body may provide the basis for a suit for damages filed by the person entitled to its custody.

Q: I just moved to Texas from a non-community property state. Is there a definite formula used in dividing property in a divorce? Is only the property acquired after marriage divided?

A: A trial judge generally has power in Texas to award any or all property of a spouse to the other spouse in a divorce settlement. This freedom extends not only to a spouse's share of community property, but also to that spouse's separate property owned before marriage or received by gift or inheritance after marriage. The judge's decision in dividing property is based on the future needs of each spouse at the time of the divorce.

IT WON'T WASH OFF!

Friday morning finds a perplexed governor that has come to sit on the judgment-seat outside the Praetorium. Having already examined Jesus, Pilate has found him to be innocent. Now, he must face a hostile and prejudiced mob who wants to hear this innocent man declared guilty. Not only has Pilate found no crime in Jesus, he knows that "for envy they had delivered him up" (Matt. 27:18). With all this weighing on his conscience, his wife sends unto him saying, "Have thou nothing to do with this righteous man" (v. 19). Pilate represented a powerful government that prided itself in its good laws and their equitable enforcement. For an honorable and just judge, the verdict would have been easy in this case. But weak-kneed and unethical Pilate was on the spot. His response is to ignore his wife, his conscience and justice to become history's best known COWARD!

"So when Pilate saw that he prevailed nothing, but rather that a tumult was arising, he took water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this righteous man; see ye to it" (Matt. 27:24). Pilate wasn't on trial, yet he feels compelled to vindicate himself by washing his hands and saying in effect "I AM NOT RESPONSIBLE!" He should have known that responsibility is not a disposable commodity. It cannot be transferred; it won't wash off!

Our modern society has many "Pilates." They blame guns, laws, poverty, affluence, heredity, environment, etc., etc. --- they are never without some kind of EXCUSE with which to declare themselves "NOT RESPONSIBLE!" --- even in the spiritual realm where men need most to see self guilt and face responsibility.

No man is without responsibility to God. Free-moral agency says it (Joshua 24:15), knowledge says it (James 4:17), redemption says it (1 Peter 1:15-19), and judgment says that all have responsibilities that are inescapable (Matt. 25:31-46; Heb. 9:27). Like Pilate's, these responsibilities cannot be washed off! Neither can they be palmed off; blamed off; regretted off; or ignored off!

How inconsistent then, for people to profess to wear the name of Christ and stand where Pilate stood --- withering in the face of selfish desires or self-serving multitudes, offering excuses instead of facing up to reality and responsibility.

It won't wash off . . . . COWARD!

Irrigated wheat farmers who are not planning to graze their wheat can save money by holding off on early March irrigations. Irrigated wheat that is going for grain production only can go without irrigation for a few more weeks if the farmer is interested in increasing his net profit. Our recent rains and snow have replenished our soil moisture to adequate levels for awhile.

About all farmers get from early March irrigations is increased forage production from wheat when soil moisture is no real short.

Producing the most wheat per acre-inch of water can probably be made this year with two irrigations, one in early April and the other in early May.

If farmers are interested in going for higher yields of wheat and want to apply three irrigations, then I would recommend the following; one irrigation in late March, the second irrigation in late April and the third irrigation about the middle of May.

With irrigation costs up, wheat prices down, adequate moisture in the soil, it makes sense to me to hold off irrigating wheat at least until the latter part of March or early April.

Farmers down state have not been able to get out much fertilizer for this year's crops. Reports I get say it will be very difficult for the fertilizer industry to supply all that is going to be needed prior to spring planting. Once local inventories are used, transportation tends to limit the resupply. Another important factor that can affect supplying delayed local needs is the demand for fertilizer in other regions. Normally a high percentage of the fertilizer is applied for Texas crops before a high demand develops in the corn belt and other regions.

Therefore it is essential that farmers decide how they want to fertilize and apply the amounts needed as soon as practical.

For farmers interested in learning something about the use of infrared sensing in agriculture, there will be a meeting Thursday, March 10 to 7:30 p.m. Courthouse Annex meeting room. Kenneth Gray has invited C. G. Fisher, Aero Sensing, Incorporated, Amarillo, Texas, to present a program on how infra-red photography can be used in crop production.

Homeowners with cool season grass lawns such as bluegrass and fescue can start to work on their lawns now. One of the first things you may want to do is mow and remove most of the old grass. Also if you have had thatch build-up on our grass this may need to be removed.

A limited amount of thatch, about one-half inch, may be desirable because it increases wear tolerance and helps conserve soil moisture. However, when thatch increases beyond this depth it should be removed.

Maintaining a healthy thatched lawn is not an impossible task, but the problems encountered in mowing, watering and pest control often lead to lawn renovation. Short of complete lawn renovation, cultivation practices can be used to control thatch. Vertical mowing, aeration and topdressing when performed on a timely basis will control thatch. In addition, other maintenance practices such as fertilization, mowing, watering and pest management must be adjusted to reduce thatch accumulation.

Our cool season grasses will respond to an application of fertilizer after you have mowed and removed the old grass. This first spring application should contain both nitrogen and phosphorus. If it also contains potash and iron, no harm will be done.

Homeowners buying trees should make sure they are buying varieties adapted to this area. Just because a tree is for sale doesn't make it adapted to our Texas Panhandle. This is true both for shade, ornamental, fruit and nut trees.

If you want to obtain a list of recommended, adapted tree varieties come by the County Extension Office or call 669-7429.

The Pan Tech bull sale and program will be held Thursday, March 10 at the Killgore Beef Cattle Center, Pantex, Texas. The morning program will start at 10:30 and will cover

The new bag limit will

Gambling Income Must Be Reported

Taxpayers must report all winnings from gambling as income on their tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service said.

For tax purposes, gambling activities cover raffles, lotteries, horse racing and bingo games. The IRS considers cash won as prizes in contests and as award from employers to be taxable income.

Non-cash prizes such as household appliances all expenses paid vacations, and cars won as prizes or donated by employers must be included in income at air market values. Taxpayers should report all winning on Form 1040 under the category of other income.

If a taxpayer loses money while gambling, the taxpayer may deduct his or her gambling losses on Schedule A of Form 1040 to the extent of winnings. For example, a taxpayer who loses $200 and wins $150 during the tax year may deduct $150 on his or her itemized deduction schedule in addition to reporting the $150 as income. A taxpayer must have records to substantiate gambling losses, such as racing stubs or lottery tickets, the IRS said.

If a prize or award is payable at some future time at the option of whomever is giving the prize, the amount is not taxable as income until the taxpayer either receives it or the prize is made available to him or her.

Do More than Vote

"I think the main thing that's wrong with our society is we've allowed people to think that in this day and age it is sufficient to vote a couple of times a year at most in order to be a good citizen. And I think if that's all we do, we're going to continue to get exactly what we deserve. I think that all of us have to start doing what I call tithing to our society. Spending at least 10 per cent of our time trying to help run it. That doesn't necessarily mean being a politician, but it may. Getting involved in local government, getting involved in action organizations of certain sorts, informing yourself about issues and so on."

PWD Projects Cut

Revenue from license sales across Texas has dropped drastically and expenses are soaring with all divisions of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department affected.

Hunting and fishing license sales finance 44 percent of the department's operations and one of the hardest hit divisions is fisheries. Priorities for increasing sport fisheries through 1979 are being scrutinized closely. Pike procurement and clamhunting of small impoundments and a 50 percent reduction in private fish stockings are three projects being reduced or dropped due to a lack of funds.

The northern pike program is included in this project cut. Surveys indicate that only a few anglers have accepted the northern pike program and most of the northern pike have been caught incidental to base fishing.

According to figures from 1975-76, license sales are not down in the Panhandle - South Plains. The biggest drop is in the large cities and suburban areas of central and south Texas. Measures are being taken to finance the procurement and stocking of hybrid striped bass, walleye, striped bass, and Florida bass across Texas. If revenue from license sales continue on the downward swing through 1977-78, even these programs could be reduced or eliminated.

The P&WD is looking for ways to supplement the depleted funds by operating department vehicles for a longer period, spending less time on low priority projects, transferring personnel to high priority projects, and hiring fewer P&WD applicants.

To stimulate fishing interest in the large cities, fishing seminars are being held by the P&WD personnel. The increased utilization of fishing opportunities should create an increase in the number of fishing license sales.

The P&WD has furnished the Texas sportsman and his family with the widest variety of the widest variety of hunting and fishing opportunities in the country but, many of these projects will be eliminated if operating revenue is not secure so n.

ODOR COMPLAINTS MUST BE VALID
 Valid information needed to back up complaints about odors from livestock and poultry feeding operations, says an agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Four points to be considered in a valid odor complaint are odor frequency from the alleged source, duration of odor, odor intensity and odor offensiveness. Odor regulations are being studied by the Texas Air Control Board to determine an easier more reasonable way to perfect the prescriptive procedures under the nuisance provision of the Texas Clean Air Act.

FREE HEALTH, SAFETY INSPECTIONS--Farmers and ranchers who want to assure their operations meet standards of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) can get a free on-site inspection, says a resource development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

TOP FLOWER CHOICES
 ---Americans haven't changed much during the past 29 years as far as their top flower choices are concerned; points out a landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The three most popular flowers in 1946 --petunias, zinnias and marigolds--are still the most popular today, based on seed packet sales. Petunias were the most popular in 1946 while zinnias were tops in seed sales in 1975.

Fish and License Sales Tally Differs

Texas anglers have been buying fewer licenses but the Texas
 Parks and Wildlife Department is planning to stock 24 million more fish across Texas in 1977.

The P&WD fish hatch-eries and fisheries personnel, all financed by license sales, will be busy this spring procuring or producing the fish
 for both public and private waters.

Some 21.7 million fish will be stocked in public waters, lakes and waterways and another 2.5 million fish will be put aside for private stocking.

Fish production for 1977 will include 1.5 million striped bass, four million Florida bass, 700,000 smallmouth
 bass, 637,000 blue catfish, 500,000 hybrid striped bass, 278,000
 channel catfish, 14 million walleye, 31,000 flathead, and 128,000 sunfish.

Many of the walleye
 will be secured from out-of-state sources.
 P&WD biologists hope to supplement this number of walleye with several million native walleye
 eggs obtained from Texas lakes.

All fish will be fin-gerling size with the exception of the walleye,
 which are normally stocked as smaller fry
 due to the limited hatchery space.

P&WD hatcheries
 slated to be used to produce fish include Possum Kingdom, San Angelo numbers one and
 two, Dundee, Eagle
 Mountain, Lewisville, Tyler, Huntsville, San Marcus, Jasper, Olmito,
 and Fort Worth.

Fish planned for private stocking include one million native large-

McLean News, McLean, Texas, March 3, 1977 Page 7
 mouth bass, one million
 channel catfish and 465,- 000 hybrid sunfish.

Over 31.5 million fish
 were produced or procured for stocking in Texas last year but, even
 with this influx of fish,
 fishing license sales
 were down some $210, 000.

The fish stocking program is financed thru license sales and the expiration date of fishing licenses which have expired thiy drop.

Many anglers are carrying fishing license before you head
 for the lake or stream
 and buy a new license
 to ehlp support fishing
 and fish stocking projects in Texas.

AC Workshop To Present Opera

The Amarillo College Opera Workshop will present the opera "The Cadi Outwitted" at 8 pm
 March 17 and 18 in the Concert Hall/Theater of the Fine Arts Complex.

The opera will be conducted and directed by J. D. Goddard, instructor in music at AC. Performance accompanist will be Lydia Grey of 2012 S. Milam.

The opera, written by Christoph Willibald Gluck, "is the story of the Turkish Cadi who is fooled by one of his servants and made to fall
 in love with the ugliest
 girl in village," said Goddard.

Eight AC students will complete the cast for the production.

The opera will be open to the public at no charge.

Wrong Prescription

"In most cases, I have no personal quarrel with the objectives of the many advocates who advance their causes . . .
 I want a clean environment
 as much as anyone, and I don't like the idea of our dependence on other nations for energy . . . But the divisive effect of overly rigid devotion to causes is a sure prescription for failure in our search for solutions to our many problems."
