Low Moisture, Clean Cotton Preserves Quality of Lint

The inherent quality of cotton can best be preserved when the producer maintains moisture and trash at low levels during machine harvesting.

By keeping moisture and trash content to a minimum, more cotton goes into the trailer that can give a higher quality product and a greater dollar return. On the other hand, excessive moisture and trash lowers picker efficiency, creates quality problems in storage, and requires more drying and cleaning at the gin. Overdrying and overcleaning at the gin are considered to be major causes of fiber damage, and subsequent poor mill processing and yarn quality, the National Cotton Council reports.

The use of harvest-aid chemicals helps to keep moisture and trash content low. Such factors as plant and field conditions, amount of open cotton and green leaves on the stalk, weather outlook, and method of harvest will largely dictate the use and timing of harvest-aid chemicals.

Deciding when to start picking each morning will depend primarily on the moisture content of the seed cotton. Moisture varies each day, depending upon the amount of dew, relative humidity, rainfall, amount of green leaf cover, sunlight, wind velocity and other factors. Also, moisture exceeds critical levels as humidity rises in late afternoons at different times on different days. As a general rule, it is safe to harvest when seed cotton moisture is 10% or less.

In addition, the harvesting machine must be in good order and adjusted and operated in accordance with plant and field conditions. Operators should be trained and supervised. Only water should be used in the spindle moistening system and only enough to keep spindles clean. When using hard water or when excessive green leaf conditions exist, a small amount of detergent may be added (a ratio of about 1 to 500).

Since conditions and materials may vary from area to area, cotton producers should consult local agricultural authorities on specific recommendations for their area.

Boys Ranch Swamped By McLean Tigers 28-0

Despite the drizzling weather, the McLean Tigers made believers of the Boys Ranch Rough Riders last Friday night as the Tigers won their second game of the season. With a halftime lead of 14-0, the Tigers went on for a 28-0 victory over the Rough Riders.

Raymond Baker tallied 22 points on three touchdowns and two conversion runs to win him the honor of "Player of the Week."

Ernest Smith put the Tigers in from 34 yards out in the first quarter. The run for the conversion failed and the quarter ended with McLean leading 6-0.

Baker got into the action in the second quarter, scoring on a five-yard run, to cap a 66-yard march. He then went in for the conversion for a halftime lead of 14-0.

Baker tallied once in the third period when he scored from three yards out and ran the conversion, and then he tallied in the fourth quarter on a one-yard run to end the scoring.

The Tigers will go to Lefors this Friday night to go against the Lefors Pirates. The Tiger fans will be there to back them all the way.

Raymond Baker Player of the Week

Player of the week honors went to a McLean boy this week, Raymond Chester Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Baker, who led the McLean Tigers to a victory against the Boys Ranch Rough Riders last Friday night, was given this honor.

Baker, a senior 2-year letterman, scored three times and added two conversions for 22 points. The Tigers downed the Rough Riders 28-0.

The 165-pound fullback scored only twice last season, so his output Friday starts him off with a season high. McLean is proud of Raymond for winning this honor.

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 28 accidents on rural highways in Gray County during the month of August, according to Sgt. J. W. Wilson, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in one death, 16 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $14,910.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first eight months of 1966 shows a total of 145 accidents resulting in four persons killed, 79 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $79,650.

Motorists are urged to have their vehicles inspected in the routine visits to garages and thereby eliminate the necessity of having to wait in line at a later date for an inspection sticker.

Sept. 18-24 Named Texas Highway Week

The Texas Highway Department, with 840 thousand acres of right of way to care for, is the states biggest landscape gardener. Efforts started 30 years ago to beautify Texas roadsides. Plantings subtly call attention to potential roadside hazards and retard erosion.

Gov. John Connally has designated Sept. 18-24 as Highway Week in Texas, urging Texans to consider the benefits of their fine highway system. Highway Week theme: "Better Highways Save Lives . . . Time . . . Money."

Love Gives Child Sense of Security

The best thing parents can do to keep their children out of trouble is to love each other.

This word of advice comes from Mrs. Patsy R. Yates, Texas A and M University Extension family life education specialist.

Psychologists indicate that many individuals reach adulthood unable to love anyone because they have not learned how to love in their own homes, she adds.

"People who are incapable of loving anyone are the unhappy, maladjusted individuals who often turn to antisocial behavior in an attempt to seek attention. They are also found frequently in the divorce courts and the psychiatrists' offices," says Mrs. Yates.

How do parents teach their child to love, to care for others? The clue, says Mrs. Yates, is explained by Dr. Christine Beasley, professor of University of Tennessee. "We learn to love by loving," says Dr. Beasley.

This theme may be one of the most important ones that young parents can remember as they attempt to guide their children. A child learns to love by loving those around him. And he does this as he does many other things in life—by imitation.

One of the surest ways to teach a child to love, to give him the security of knowing he is loved, is to set a good example, reminds Mrs. Yates. Young parents may not be aware that their love for each other may be the basic ingredient in a secure and happy childhood for their children.

"The child whose parents have a strong happy marriage has the best opportunity for learning to love others, and also for the formation of a happy home of his own," says Mrs. Yates.

FIRE ANTS BECOMING PROBLEM IN SE TEXAS

Estimates are that some 9 million acres in Texas are now infested with fire ants, according to John Thomas, extension entomologist at Texas A and M University. Mirex gives good, safe control, he says. The main infested area is in southeast Texas.

AUTO THEFT FREQUENCY

The chances of your car being stolen rose from 1 in 203 in 1948 to 1 in 153 in 1964. There were 466,806 cars stolen last year, many of them by thieves who found the cars unlocked and keys in the ignition switch.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Stanford

Far-flung operations of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department have been placed under new administrative leadership.

Commissioners have named J. R. (Bob) Singleton as executive director. He replaces J. Weldon Watson, who resigned last June.

Singleton had been serving as director of Region IV with headquarters in La Porte.

He picked Robert G. Mauermann, Region V director at Rockport, as his chief deputy.

In his first press conference, Singleton said he is considering recommending a change in the commission's controversial policy on shell dredging.

He did not disclose exactly what he has in mind but said any such proposal would be "in the field of sound policy." His own close observation of dredging operations, he added, have convinced him that the commission's 1963 and 1964 orders permitting shell dredging up to 300 feet of live reefs under close department supervision result in "extremely insignificant" oyster kill.

This issue has been heatedly debated between dredgers on one hand and fishermen and conservationists on the other since the old 1,500-foot-minimum distance-from-reefs policy was abolished.

A statewide tour of department facilities, particularly the parks, is planned by Singleton in order to familiarize himself first-hand with problems and needs.

Singleton declined to express his views on "closed door" meetings of the three-member P-W Commission. However, he said "My duty is to implement and carry out that policy."

AG RULES—Not only may a county cut its tax rate when the reason for the tax disappears, but, according to Attorney General Waggoner Carr, it must. He pointed to the law which prohibits the use of tax funds for any purpose other than for which it was levied. Carr also held that, while a city may prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages at any time, it may not prescribe a lesser penalty for such an offense than is provided by state law.

A district court has exclusive jurisdiction over all suits on behalf of the state and county for the collection of penalties on delinquent personal property taxes, although the county court may have the power to share jurisdiction in a suit against property for the actual taxes, Carr ruled.

BIG BEND AIRPORT PLANNED

Federal money will be available for building an airport adjacent to the Big Bend National Park for commercial and general aviation, confirms Charles Murphy, Texas Aeronautics Commission director.

Daniel Beard, National Park Service Southwest regional director, said $450,000 is expected to be provided by the U. S. government.

Money will go to land acquisition, planning and designing and actual construction. T.A.C. will supervise the work, including awarding of contracts, Murphy said. State will have to pay the cost of constructing terminal facilities and auto parking accommodations, as well as airport operation.

Texas funds are not now available and will require legislative appropriation or transfer from other source. Arizona's share of the Grand Canyon airport constructed under similar terms was about $160,000.

STUDY RESULTS—Attorney General Carr reports that a two-month study of Texas Highway Department reveals no indication or evidence of price fixing among asphalt producers' sales to the state.

Carr's staff made the study at the request of DeWitt C. Greer, state highway engineer. Request followed the filing of lawsuits in other states alleging anti-trust violations by asphalt producers.

PROGRAM HAS BOOST—Texas' marketing program got a big boost when John C. White, commissioner of agriculture, received more than $45,000 in donated equipment to be used as traveling showcases.

These contributions from farm commodity groups, individuals and industry signaled a "new era" in Texas agriculture, marketing and education," White said.

Gifts included two large trucks, two power generators, two mobile trailers, exhibit material and operational funds.

SHORT SNORTS

Gov. John Connally approved Neighborhood Youth Corps projects for Canutillo Independent School District, El Paso; City of Snyder, and Advance, Inc., in San Antonio.

State will earn about $2,000,000 more in interest on its time deposits this year due to a one-half per cent increase, State Treasurer Jesse James estimates. James said interest collections under the 4½% rate should be $10,600,000, compared to $8,700,000 for the fiscal year which ended Aug. 31.

Texas' oil production allowable was boosted for October to 33.5 per cent of potential. Raise was first in five months. October percentage allows maximum oil production of 3,154,384 barrels a day, compared to September allowable of 3,125,028 under a 33% factor.

State Board of Health has withheld action on 80 requests for federal hospital construction funds until Congress appropriates money for distribution. Since only about $17,500,000 in federal funds will be available for Texas, state board will have to sift through all the applications to find the most pressing ones.

Auto inspection period for 1967 has officially opened, says Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Department of Public Safety director. Inspections will continue at 5,500 official inspection stations through next April 15 when 5,500,000 Texas vehicles must display new green and white stickers.

Teenagers Need Medical Check-Ups

The forgotten years in the medical profession might well be the teen years, says Mrs. Patsy R. Yates, extension family life specialist at Texas A and M University. Pediatricians care for the child until he or she is 10 or 12. Specialists in various diseases or in fields such as gynecology, geriatrics and surgery take over when the person becomes an adult.

Does this mean the teenager doesn't need medical attention? Quite the contrary, says Mrs. Yates.

The adolescent period of life is one of rapid growth spurts, both physically and emotionally. The teenager is torn between feelings he had as a child, and those feelings now expected of him as he takes his place in the adult world. It is often a period in which malnutrition causes problems such as anemia, sight difficulties, acne and emotional depression. These problems often have led to teen suicides, the fourth leading cause of teenage deaths in this country.

It is too easy for parents to pass off irritable, moody behavior or complaints about ill health as a stage or "just a period he's going through." Maybe it is, but a friendly, competent family physician is one of the people every teenager should know well. He is often an emotional outlet as he plays his role of teen confidant.

Frequent physical check-ups can reassure both the young person and the parents that all is well. It may also point up the cause of emotional or psychological problems. Good health is vital to a happy, successful adjustment to any stage of life. It can be all important to your youngster.

Mrs. Sena Stroud of Glover, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nicholson of Ashland, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Merle Stevenson of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Petty visited the first of the week with Mrs. C. G. Nicholson, who celebrated her 89th birthday.

Good Food Patterns Important to Health

Good food patterns for teenagers are important for their health and well-being. This reminder comes from Miss Louise Mason, food and nutrition specialist with the Texas A and M University Agricultural Extension Service.

often consume quantities of snack foods, such as cookies, cakes and soda pop, which contain little more than calories.

Research shows that nutrients such as calcium, vitamin A, vitamin C, thiamine, riboflavin and iron are lacking in the diets of many teenagers.

"Snack foods should furnish some of these nutrients," Miss Mason said. "Milk, milk drinks and fruit juices may replace the carbonated beverages. The weight-conscious adolescent may be interested to know that one eight-ounce cup of non-fat skim milk has 81 calories, and supplies calcium, thiamine and riboflavin, while the only contribution of eight ounces of carbonated beverage is 106 calories."

Cheese, meat and peanut butter sandwiches are high in food value, yet they contain fewer calories than are found in cakes and pies. Carrot sticks, raw tomatoes and oranges are also good snack foods. The carrot sticks furnish vitamin A, while the tomatoes and oranges furnish vitamin C.

"Adequate nutrients for the adolescent's rapid growth may be easily provided by a careful selection of foods for meal time and snack time," Miss Mason says.

MORE LEAN MEAT ON STEERS

Frank Oris, extension meats specialist at Texas A and M University, says the amount of lean meat on steers is increasing. In the last four years, lean meat on steers has increased three per cent, he says. Fat thickness is less, too, he says. Reason for the changes: ranchers are selecting and breeding for leaner, meatier type animals.

COOL FOODS FOR HOT WEATHER

High temperatures seem to put temperamental people out of temper for hot foods. And why not?

There used to be lots of prejudices about the temperature of foods and drinks, and health educators had their share. I remember a controversy I had with some of my colleagues when I was so bold as to suggest that cool drinks were okay if they were sipped and not gulped. My defense was that there was some chance of this advice being followed, while if I suggested that all iced drinks be banned, all I would get was the big laugh and the designation "health crank." Later, the Journal of the A.M.A. published an article saying that iced drinks do no harm if they are not taken too fast. Well, differences of opinion make life more interesting.

Cool Planning
So now, does hot weather really make a difference in what and how we eat? Eating, should be a pleasure and not a chore. This means that we should pay attention to eating somewhat differently when the weather is hot.

Naturally we must keep the diet balanced. Thus we should not reduce our intake of protein. But we may get protein in milk, ice cream, cheese, cold meats, poultry and fish, and eggs hard-cooked in your salads — instead of the conventional hot cooked foods which are fine when the weather is cool.

Neither do we need as many calories to maintain body temperature when it's hot; so we can reduce the fats in our diet, especially the hot fried ones, and get our quota of fat from cream on our berries and, again, ice cream, and cool salad dressings.

Since we need fewer calories, we can use more of the low-sugar vegetables so useful in salads — lettuce, white or red cabbage, radishes, young onions, carrots, cucumbers, tomatoes. Enriched bread-stuffs round out a well-planned diet.

Cool Meals
What about "a hot dish with every meal," which used to be a nutritional slogan? Maybe I'm a maverick, but I see no real need for a hot dish in hot weather, when there are so many cool foods that can serve just as well. Salads, for example, can be made in infinite variety, garnished with fish, cheese, fruits, vegetables, meat, crisp bacon, anchovies, eggs, nuts, olives and pickles. With the addition of some of the numerous varieties of flavored wafers now available, salads become meals in themselves.

Beverages? Cool milk, shakes of various flavors, iced tea or coffee, soft drinks served in a pleasant room or on the patio, or under the trees on a picnic... That's cool, man, co-ool!

4-H'ers 'Beef' It Up
To Win Honors

"I think I've been fortunate to live in a small country town in sight of school and church, and yet have a barn and cattle of my own."

That's the view of one young man who has spent about half of his 18 years as a 4-H member. And he has been an exceptionally busy 4-H'er, having devoted the last seven years to junior leadership. That means he has helped younger and less experienced members, held 4-H offices and aided in club and community events.

His specialty is raising beef cattle.

He is one of several hundred thousand rural boys and girls working with livestock projects. The beef project is the most popular, judging by the consistently high enrollment. In fact, last year a record high enrollment of 160,000 members was reported by the Co-operative Extension Service.

Successful 4-H beef program members will be honored this fall in their home state and in Chicago during the National 4-H Club Congress.

Sponsor of the national 4-H beef program, E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., provides the congress trips for 50 state award winners, $500 scholarships for six national winners, and medals for county champions.

Evidence of beef club members' successes, and some failures, has

Mrs. M. Harkins' parents and brothers of Wellington visited in her home recently.

Edgar Lee Bailey entered WTSU last week.

Harry Tate left last week for Lubbock Christian College for another year of study.

Miss Judy Connell left for WTSU, Canyon, last week.

Mrs. Walter Riddlespringer and daughter of Amarillo visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Pickett.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bidwell attended the funeral of Sid Stewart at Clarendon last Saturday.

Miss Jana Davis is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. Gary Gray, in Amarillo.

been prominent in county and state fairs, and in district and national shows as well.

Among the most valuable exercises in responsibility, restraint and determination, they say, has been learning how to raise beef cattle; judge and show animals; keep cost records; give demonstrations and make speeches.

"I learned (from the county extension agent) about correct practices, sound buying fundamentals and balanced feeding," said a 1965 4-H scholarship recipient. "This in turn, influenced my father who didn't know too much about livestock either."

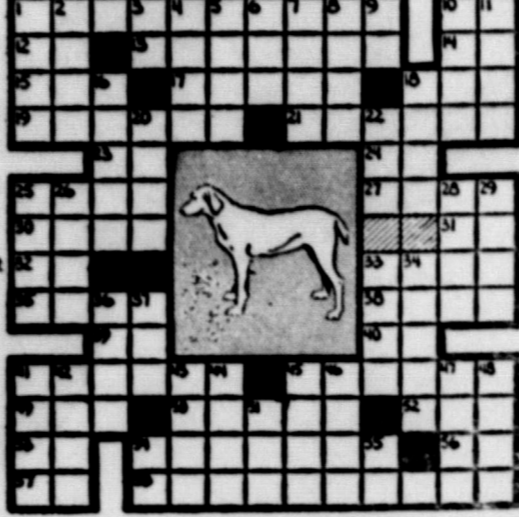

A lot of parents gratefully acknowledge the "influence" of 4-H.

Here's the Answer

New Mansion Is Recommended for Texas Governor

At its initial meeting, the Texas Fine Arts Commission, created by the Legislature in 1965, recommended a new governor's mansion and said the present residence, completed in 1835, should be operated as an historic house.

Governor Connally has not yet expressed his view on a new mansion. However, last year when the State Building Commission, of which he is chairman, recommended a new $1,000,000 mansion, he differed and recommended that the money be used elsewhere.

The commission outlined a far-reaching program to encourage development of, and participation in, the arts, including traveling exhibits, festivals, awards, nighttime family entertainment in communities and revived hand concerts on the square.

Former Atty. John Ben Shepperd of Odessa was named chairman of the new agency.

MEET ME THERE

A preacher amazed his congregation one Sunday morning with this announcement:

"You don't love me, because you don't pay my salary. You don't love one another, for there are no weddings. And God doesn't seem to want you, because nobody dies."

"Now, since I have the honor to have been appointed chaplain for the penitentiary, this will be my last Sunday among you, and I will ask the choir to stand and sing, 'Meet Me There.'"

NEWS OF CONSERVATION

By LYNN McDANIEL, WUC

Most of the farmers are getting ready to plant wheat. We need a good rain to give the moisture needed to bring the wheat up.

A word of caution to irrigation grain sorghum producers. If your grain sorghum is in the bloom or soft dough stage, it is probably in need of a good irrigation. The grain sorghum is using about .35 inches of water per day now. A good test is to take a shovel and dig down about two feet. If you haven't watered it since the rain it will surprise you how dry the soil is. This is the critical time for water and is the time you make large grains or small grains.

Elmer Balch is harvesting his switchgrass. It looks like he will make a better seed crop this year than he made last year.

Harry Youngblood has been harvesting sidecoats grama on his place at Lefors. The blue grama is making a good seed crop and should be checked into to see if you could possibly harvest some of the seed for a good cash income.

Land leveling continues to be on the upswing in Gray County. Harvey Waters and Gregg Lamb have completed their land leveling for this year. Ralph Britten is leveling land on his farms for irrigation water distribution.

All people in the nation should be proud of the farmers who are keeping the cost of groceries at the level they are now. The farmers are making it possible for us to enjoy many of the better things of life by their efficient production.

Life With The Rimples By Les Carroll

It's a 'Healthy' Year For Nation's 4-H'ers

It's generally assumed that 4-H boys and girls as a group are a healthy lot because the 4-H represents "Health." All 2½ million members have "pledged their health to better living."

There is a health program, however, specifically planned to teach 4-H'ers the basic rules for good health, wholesome personal habits, and to safeguard community health. Sponsored by Eli Lilly and Co. and supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, this program enrolls well over 600,000 4-H'ers annually.

Not only do members carry out individual projects suited to individual needs, but local clubs take on community health projects such as assisting with tuberculosis, heart and cancer educational campaigns. In smaller towns, drinking water surveys are made, safety hazards checked and help is offered to hospitals, old peoples' homes and the handicapped.

At the end of the 4-H Club year, members' records are evaluated for progress and outstanding achievement. The extension staff carefully evaluates the records submitted for county and state competition and awards.

The member who completes the best health project in the entire state will be a delegate to the 45th National 4-H Club Congress with expenses paid by Eli Lilly. Six national winners will be chosen from among state winners to receive $500 scholarships.

More than 5,000 4-H members are expected to earn the county 4-H Health medal this year.

To be eligible for state and national awards, the boy or girl must be over 14 years of age, and have been a 4-H member for at least three years.

Joyce Beasley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Beasley, is attending Texas University, Austin, this year. Her address during the coming school year will be Joyce Beasley, 2613 University Ave, Austin, Texas 78705.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bailey were in Oklahoma City Monday to attend a funeral.

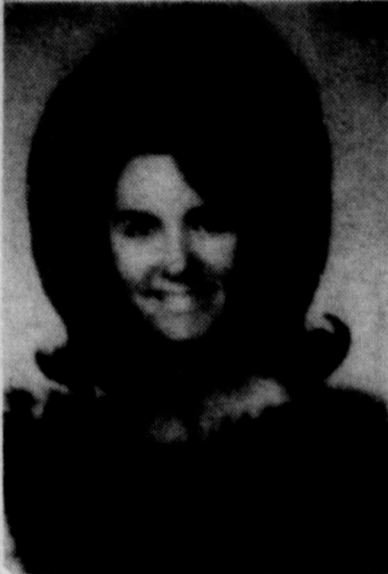

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to my friends and neighbors for the beautiful gifts, lovely flowers, cards, your calls and visits while in the hospital and since I have been home. Thanks also for the food you have brought to our home. God bless each and every one.
