Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

VOLUME 73

McLEAN, GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS - THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1976

Sunday, June 20 Is Father's Day

This year—our nation's Bicentennial year—it is wise not to lose sight of the fact that many of the great men honored as fathers of our country were busy raising families as they were building a nation.

In some cases, as with John Adams and son John Quincy Adams (2nd and 6th President, respectively), son followed father. Others went different ways. But always there was the family. And the men who fought for our young nation strongly believed in the family as the backbone that would make the country great.

"Because of this," said Mrs. Lem Breen, president of the Top o' Texas CowBelles, "Father's Day 1976 has special meaning. Traditionally fathers have borne the brunt of social and political change. But, no matter what his career responsibilities he always had more room on his shoulders for the fatherly duties."

In 1910 the first Father's Day was celebrated. It grew (although it did not become an official holiday until 1972) because honoring father was another way of honoring the family itself. "It was only natural that beef—America's finest food—would evolve as the traditional meal for that special day," said Mrs. Greene. "With wide variety, constant availability and ease of preparation, beef is America's favorite food and there is no better way to bring a smile to Dad's face than by serving beef."

The Top o' Texas CowBelles, along with the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board, are cooperating in the annual Beef for Father's Day campaign. "This is a year for traditions," says Mrs. Greene. "There is probably no more time honored tradition than honoring father. Serving America's finest—Beef for Father's Day—is guaranteed to gladden the hearts of (family) and help to make many a father (not to mention the rest of the Father's Day 1976 a very special day for everyone."

Visiting Mr. W. G. Pearson and other relatives this week are Donna Pearson and Greg of Lubbock, Betty Pearson of Odessa and Helen Taylor and Sarah of El Paso.

Mrs. Mattie Bailey of Amarillo, 13 members of her immediate family, and seven other relatives attended services at the Heald Methodist Church Sunday.

Whaley Receives Texas Superior Service Award

Foster Whaley, who retired as county Extension agent in Gray County this past January after a 27-year career as an Extension educator, received the Texas Superior Service Award here Friday, June 11.

The high award was presented to Whaley during the annual conference of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

Whaley was cited "for inspiring and energetic service to the people of Gray County resulting in dynamic economic growth through educational leadership in beef cattle, 4-H and youth, and community resource development programs."

In making the announcement, Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, Extension director, noted that during the past quarter of a century, Whaley has brought about changes in community living, economic growth, and expanded interest in 4-H and youth programs.

Whaley, who has a B. S. degree from Texas A&M University, continues to make his home at Pampa following retirement.

Rhonda Hager

Hereford Girl Wins First Place At State 4-H Show

A Hereford girl has taken top honors and won a $500 scholarship in the 1976 State 4-H Food Show held recently at College Station.

She is Rhonda Hager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hager and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Shelton of McLean and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hager of Dawn. Her winning recipe in the side-dish division of the contest was called versatile Potato Salad.

In keeping with the contest theme of "Heritage Foods", Miss Hager pointed out that potatoes have been a part of the American diet since the first colonists arrived.

Her recipe, she said, is a traditional version of potato salad molded in a special pan.

Prior to entering the state contest, the Hereford girl had won first place in the side-dish divisions of the Deaf Smith County Food Show and first place in district competition.

In addition to her five-year 4-H Club membership, Miss Hager serves as a junior 4-H leader, teaching younger members in foods and nutrition and livestock projects. She has also been a member of the District 4-H Committee for summer camp. She currently plans to attend West Texas State University and major in education.

A. A. To Meet Thursday Night

icipation fees augmented by donations from concerned individuals and corporations. In addition to their immunizations and clinic work, the Amigos volunteers set up dental programs and dispense eyeglasses. They also hold classes in public health, nutrition and hygiene.

Chapter participants, ages 16 through 20, are screened and graded on a national scale. Those selected participate in an intensive training program. Although it is preferred that applicants have some knowledge of the Spanish language it is not absolutely necessary.

This will be Bob Nailon's third and final summer to work through the Amigos program. He is being sent to Ecuador.

Bob believes that his experience in the Amigos program sparked his interest in a medical career.

BOB NAILON - Resident's Grandson Goes To S. America

(EDITOR'S NOTE: the following article appeared in a Texas newspaper about the grandson of a local resident.)

Through an immunization program called Amigos De Las Americas, 22 Dallas area teenagers, including four from Richardson, will leave at the end of the month to spend a month in Latin America. While there, the students will live with native families or in the health center.

Among the students from Richardson is Bob Nailon, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cliett. He is a pre-med student at Southern Methodist University.

With 35 to 40 chapters nation-wide, Amigos is a medically-oriented charity organizations financed through parti-

MRS. JAMES RAY HARKINS

Laura J. SoRelle and James Ray Harkins Are Married in Amarillo Church, June 5

Miss Laura Janet SoRelle and James Ray Harkins pledged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony at 3:00 pm Saturday, June 5 in the First Presbyterian Church in Amarillo. Officiating was Dr. James R. Carroll.

Laura is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. SoRelle of Amarillo. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Harkins of McLean.

The altar setting featured on each side was a seven branch candleabra accented with greenery. Two gold urns filled with miscellaneous flowers in shades of pink, baby's breath and greenery.

Music was presented by Mrs. Howard Clark of Dumas, the organist who accompanied Mrs. Larry Guess of Temple, who sang "The Greatest of These is Love", "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight organza over bridal taffeta designed with a Victorian neckline of Venice Lace. A sheer tapered sleeves fell into points of lace over the hands. The princess lines of the gown traced with rows of lace. The A-line skirt fell into lace points at the hemline which swept into a full chapel train. She wore a matching lace colf. Her veil of bridal illusion edged in lace extended past the train.

A cascade of white and pink sonja roses accented with baby's breath, greenery and satin and lace streamers tied with love knots was carried atop an ivory satin covered Bible which was a birth gift from her grandmother SoRelle. She carried an heirloom linen handkerchief edged in hand tatting which had belonged to her great-grandmother, and wore the traditional blue garter which was borrowed from a great aunt. In her shoe she carried a lucky sixpence and a penny of the year she was born.

Bridesmaid was Miss Laura Bee Wallace of Gaston, Oregon. Matron of Honor was Mrs. John F. Drake of Canyon. The attendants wore princess line dresses made of ivory voile printed with roses in shades of pink. They carried nose gays of Sonja roses accented with baby's breath, star flowers, and greenery tied with pink ribbon streamers.

Flower girl was Andra Going of McLean, niece of the groom. Ring bearers were Casey and Corey Harris of San Antonio, cousins of the bride. Candle lighters were William Caperton of Espanola, New Mexico, cousin of the bride and Jeff Williams of Canyon.

Best man was Ross Shamburger of Lubbock and groomsmen was Ronnie Mooney of Canyon. Ushers were Mike Harkins, brother of the groom, Art SoRelle of Amarillo, brother of the bride, Brady Hunt of Dumas and Glen King of Muleshoe.

The reception was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. O. A. McBroom of Canyon. On the bride's table was a four tiered off-white cake decorated with pink roses, baby's breath and greenery topped with a cluster of pink Sonja roses and star flowers. On the groom's table was a german chocolate pound cake, decorated with a five branch candleabra and silver service.

For their wedding trip to Ruidosa, New Mexico, the bride wore yellow pants with matching shell and sweater. The couple will make their home west of Canyon.

The bride is a W. T. S. U. graduate, presently working on a Masters in Ag. business and Economics. A 1975 outstanding senior in Ag

Business and economics, Alpha Zeta National Agricultural Honor Organization, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

The bridegroom is a senior student in Ag. Business and Economics at W.T.S.U., past president and member of the Block and Bridle Club. He is presently engaged in a dairy partnership west of Canyon.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. A. Williams SoRelle Jr. of Plainview and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hicks of Amarillo.

A house party was held by Mrs. Jim Beard of Amarillo, Mrs. Michael Olson of Amarillo, Miss Kathy Briertz of Amarillo, Miss Karol Hicks of Amarillo and Mrs. Dan McDowell of Dumas.

Mrs. Ruby Hill had as her visitors some of her children Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dunlap of Riverside, Calif. They also visited her daughter and family of Mena, Ark. Mr. and Mrs. Buddie Hill of Gentry, Ark., Mrs. Joan Webb of San Antonio. Her husband was in Amarillo at the bedside of his father. Mrs. Murrell Hill and children of Achilli, Okla. and her mother, Mrs. Patton were enroute to New Mexico and stopped to see his grandmother and had breakfast with her. Ruby Hill has just returned home from visiting her granddaughter and family of Mena, Ark.

Paint me a portrait of a man, Dear God.
Give him a quiet strength,
And, in his strength, give him grace.
And wisdom, too, Lord.

Paint me a portrait of a man, Dear God.
Make him tall and proud,
And, in his pride, give him compassion.
And make him humble, too, Lord.

Paint me a portrait of a man, Dear God.
Give him a gentle humor,
And, in his wit, give him love.
And beauty, too, Lord.

Paint me a portrait of a man, Dear God.
Give him a life full of comfort,
And, in his comfort, give him hardships.
And build his character, too, Lord.

Paint me a portrait of a man, Dear God.
Give him a loving family,
And, in his family, give him a lineage.
And he can build his strength, too, Lord.

Paint me a portrait of a man, Dear God.
Give him a place in Your heart,
And, in Your heart, take him when it's right.
And he can be with You, too, Lord.

Paint me a portrait of a man, Dear God.
Give him all these things and more,
And, with these things, You've made a man.
And thank You, too, Lord.

Epilog
by Delora Jarrett

You painted us a portrait of a man, Dear God,
You made him all these things and much, much more,
And, with these things You made our husband,
our father, our grandfather, our great-grandfather,
our friend and our companion,
And, we thank You and praise You for him, Dear Lord.
Amen.

I FELT IT

"I know I was saved because I felt it," is the answer some give to the kind of evidence they have as pertaining to salvation.

But this is not dependable evidence, is it? How do they know how a saved person is supposed to feel? They never felt that way before. If they do not know how a saved person is supposed to feel, how do they know the particular feeling they had (or have) is evidence of salvation?

Has anyone ever felt he was saved and then later decided he was not? Yes, many have had this experience. Well, if it was possible for one person to be mistaken about feelings might it be possible that you, too, are mistaken.

"There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death." (Prov. 14:12) Saul of Tarsus thought and felt he was right while persecuting the church: "I verily thought with myself, that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth." (Acts 26:9) Yes, a person can feel right and be wrong!

Of course, when a person is saved he ought to feel good about it but he ought to have more reliable evidence than his on fallible feelings.

"And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments." (1 John 2:3) This is the evidence which is dependable, infallible! "He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him." (1 John 2:4) When one reads the Book of Acts, learns what he must do to be saved AND DOES IT, only then can he know he is saved because he has done what God has commanded!

Teaching children to care for their own dental health has always been a problem for public health educators. However, during the past two years, dental health educators with the Texas Department of Health Resources have been experimenting with a new approach, embodied in a program called "Tattletooth."

The problem with dental health education programs has always been the students' resistance to developing life-long habits of good oral hygiene. Most educational programs have concentrated on teaching children the facts about dental disease and the techniques of brushing and flossing. In almost every case, the students learn the facts and usually practice the techniques for a short while, but there is little or no permanent change in behavior.

According to Cheryl Aiello, coordinator of the "Tattletooth" program for the Department of Health Resources, the new program is unique in that "It takes a humanistic approach to dental health. It relates dental hygiene and the problems of poor dental health to the physical, mental, social, and emotional aspects of the person." She explains that the program is intended to help students develop as a whole person by relating oral health to the students' other needs.

"Tattletooth" has already gained national attention, Ms. Aiello says. "It has been selected by the American Dental Association as one of the nation's six most outstanding dental health programs."

The development of the "Tattletooth" program has taken two years of testing and revision. Ms. Aiello explains, "We design-tested it, revised it, pilot-tested, and then field-tested it, and the materials are undergoing further revision presently." The pilot-testing phase, conducted last year, involved five regional Education Service Centers, with 27 teachers in each area participating in the project. Each teacher completed an evaluation questionnaire, and studies were conducted in the classroom to validate the effectiveness of each lesson.

Based on the information gained from the pilot-testing phase, the entire program was revised. Final field tests began in February of this year, with about 540 teachers and more than 16,000 students across the state participating. The results of the field tests are now being evaluated; further refinement of the program may be necessary before it is released for general use.

Ms. Aiello emphasizes the involvement of several different organizations in the development of "Tattletooth." The program originated in the Department of Health Resources and has been developed under her leadership, but vital assistance was provided by the Texas Education Agency and its regional service centers, and by the Texas Dental Association, Texas Dental Hygienists' Society, Texas Dental Assistants' Society, and the women's Auxiliary of the Texas Dental Association. The development of the program has been financed largely by a grant from the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Another unique aspect of "Tattletooth" is the thoroughness of the program. In addition to student lesson materials for all grades from kindergarten through high school, there are packages of background information for teachers, teacher training materials, support materials for members of the dental community and for school administrators and school nurses, and even a package of public-awareness materials.

Once the final revisions are completed, which Ms. Aiello expects to involve only minor modifications, "Tattletooth" will be ready for distribution to all school districts in Texas.

Market Report

Canned fruits and vegetables, followed closely by tuna fish and peanut butter, head the list of grocery specials at Texas stores this week, reports Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist.

And at fresh vegetable counters, cabbage is an excellent choice, with good quality and moderate price. Fresh asparagus is still available but quality and supply are on the decline now.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Other economical buys in fresh vegetables include carrots, green beans, tomatoes, corn, zucchini and yellow squash, green peppers and cucumbers.

Topping good fruit bargains are oranges, grapefruit, cantaloupe, honeydews and watermelons. Also, features can be found on bananas and pineapples, she added.

But supplies are limited and price levels relatively high on peaches, cherries, nectarines and grapes.

MRS. RODNEY GENE BAILEY

Lana Kay Duniven and Rodney G. Bailey Exchange Wedding Vows Saturday, June 5

Lana Kay Duniven became the bride of Rodney Gene Bailey in a Saturday evening wedding solemnized in the First Baptist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Duniven are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vestal Bailey.

The double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. Robert W. Brown of Clarendon, before a tapered and flanked by spiraling candleabras.

Mrs. Paul Miller provided traditional wedding music. Accompanying herself on the guitar, Gay Simpson sang "Follow Me" by John Denver. She was accompanied by Mrs. Miller at the organ as she sang "Walk Hand and Hand With Me" before the vows were repeated. While the bride and groom were kneeling Gay sang "We are One in the Spirit."

Lantern isle markers were white with salad greenery yellow and white pons baby's breathe with yellow satin bows with white lace.

The bride given in marriage by her father with "her mother and I" a bowal, Lana wore a gown of traditional elegance in white maracaine jersey. The gown featured a noulded bodice with a high lace wedding band collar. The neckline deepened with an openwork in a deep oval with a sheer overlage of swiss net. Delicate embroidery worked into petite fleurette and a cameo silhouette enchanced the overlage. Long tapered sleeves repeated the design being framed with delicate touches of a esaloped Venise lace. From the lifted waistline the skirt fell to floor length train. Her veil had a long train of remembered alicon lace swept the floor at chapel length. She carried a cascading bouquet of white carnation with yellow roses.

son was the bridal attendant. They wore dresses floor length with empire waist made of yellow quiana. The sleeves lightly gathered at the top tapered to hug the arm and wrist. The flower girl was Casandra D' Ann Crockett, of Pampa, niece of the groom. Stephen Scott Duniven of Amarillo and nephew of the bride served as ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Billy M. Orrick. John Hunt of Dallas, served as groomsman. Ushers were Joe Ray Riley, Elmer D. Tretzen of Darrouzette, Dennis Duniven of Amarillo and Marty Duniven, brothers of the bride.

Miss Diane Callaway assisted by Tommy Duniven, both of Lubbock registered the guests.

For the reception in Fellowship Hall, a beautiful four tiered cake surrounded by six hearts shaped cakes and decorated with yellow and white roses, small flowers and bells created by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. O. Duniven.

Miss Cherylan Holmes and Melba Stooksberry served the cake and punch at the bride's table. Mrs. Dickie Crockett of Pampa, and sister of the groom and Mrs. Alan Duniven of Amarillo presided at the groom's table. Mrs. Alvin Danner and Mrs. Frank Simpson also assisted.

The bride is a graduate of McLean High School and attended Texas Tech University. She is presently employed with Jay Lines of Amarillo. The groom is also a graduate of McLean High School. He is a senior at West Texas State University and employed at Montgomery Wards of Amarillo.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Vestal Bailey in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church, June 4.

Helps Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues

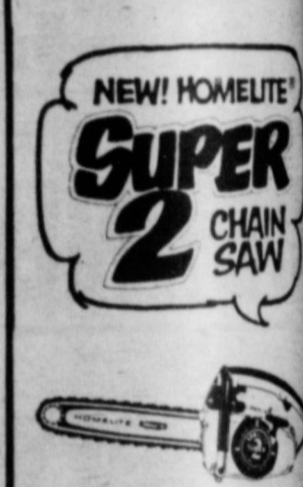

caused by inflammation

Doctors have found a medication that in many cases gives prompt, temporary relief from pain and burning itch in hemorrhoidal tissues. Then it actually helps shrink swelling of these tissues caused by inflammation.

The answer is Preparation H®. No prescription is needed for Preparation H. Ointment or suppositories.

County Agricultural Agents
Texas A. & M. College
Extension Service

by Joe VanZandt
I am writing this news article while on the Texas A&M University Campus attending the State Staff Conference for Extension employees and also going to summer school for the first 3 weeks in June. I will be back in the office June 21.

Wet best describes the general weather conditions in this area. Several inches of rain fell last week. While driving down the last of May, pastures were green and cattle had plenty to eat in nearly all pastures along the road. Sorghum is in the heading stage and looks good but most cotton seems real late as most of it was still very young. Anyway, it certainly looks like this part of the country is not going to suffer from a drought, at least for awhile. Nearly all the cattle I have seen are in good condition and appear to be raising a good calf crop.

Those of you raising corn might have need to know something about reading the color of your corn leaves as they relate to certain shortages or drought. This will apply to garden corn as well as field corn.

If leaves turn yellow, bottom and top, it may be drought. If yellowing starts with the bottom leaves, beginning at the tip and moves up the midrib, giving a V-shaped pattern, it is nitrogen hunger.

If the margins of the leaves become scorched, it is potassium hunger. The sign for phosphorus hunger is purpling of the leaves.

If yellow stripes begin to show while veins stay green in old leaves first it is magnesium; if this occurs first in new leaves, it is iron.

For home gardeners who have hungry corn plants, use about 3 pints (3 pounds) of a complete fertilizer, such as a 10-10-10, per 100 linear feet of row applied about 4 inches from the row and then water after applying the fertilizer.

Fertilization of plants through foliar feeding should not be substituted for soil fertilization. Foliar feeding involves spraying a diluted solution containing plant nutrients on plant leaves.

Foliar feeding should not be used to supply all of the nutrient requirements of field and forage crops. However, the practice can be used as an emergency treatment for supplying plant nutrients required in small amounts, such as iron or zinc.

One disadvantage of using foliar sprays as fertilizers is that only part of the spray applied falls on plant leaves and is absorbed. The rest falls to the ground.

Another disadvantage of foliar sprays is that they can't be used for seedlings or young plants that haven't developed adequate foliage.

Also, since high concentrations of nutrients in a foliar spray would burn plant leaves, the solution must be diluted. This necessitates many applications at a low rate, which is costly.

For instance, an application of 20 gallons (160 pounds) per acre of a fertilizer solution containing five per cent urea (assuming 50 percent will hit the leaves) would only supply four pounds of urea (80 lb. x .05 percent) or only 1.8 pounds of nitrogen. At this rate, it wouldn't be too economical to try to supply 60 to 80 pounds of nitrogen per acre with foliar feeding.
