Tax Information For Summer Worker

Any student or summer employee who expects to make $2,350 or less during the year need not pay any federal income tax, says Van Zandt county agent for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

If a student or summer employee expects to earn $2350 or less and does not want income tax deductions taken out during the year, he can file W-4E For with his employer certifying that there is to be no tax deduction during the year.

However, if at any time after his form is filed, an employee earns more than $2,350, he must file a regular tax withholding form and standard deductions will begin.

An employee who earns more than $2,350, has earned more than $750 in unearned income such as tips or dividends or is being claimed as a dependent by parents must file a standard income tax return, notes, Van Zandt.

WHEELER CHRISTIAN ACADEMY?--
I love it.

Yes, I actually love Wheeler Christian Academy, not only the school but the teachers, the students and everyone that has helped support our school.

Two things that impressed me most was the Christian atmosphere and always knowing that everyone around you cared about you and were interested in what you were doing.

Often I have looked back over the past few years and realized how much this previous year at W. C. A. has changed my life completely. It seems incredible that my way of thinking has changed so much. During this year I have learned to love the Lord and He has become the best friend I could ever have.

I know one thing, I wouldn't change W. C. A. or this past year for anything in the world!

SCHOOLS PREPARE FOR SUCCESS

Quite often parents say they feel compelled to send their children to secular schools so the children will be able to "succeed in life." However, the facts suggest otherwise.

Noted and experienced educators are quoted as saying, "We realize that today the public schools teach over 80% of our American youth. That means that less than 20% come from private schools. And yet, Who's Who... stipulates the fact that students in private schools have six times more of a chance of success than those in public schools. In fact, Arthur Traxler, who was the Executive Director of the Educational Records Bureau, states that private schools of the United States educate as many leaders as all the public schools combined...."

In one of his lectures, Dr. Donald R. Howard, A. C. E. Founder and President, reminds us, "Bank tellers become experts in detecting counterfeit money by handling the real thing." A. C. E. provides real quality education. Your children will come to detect the false by living with the truth.

Give your child the opportunity to succeed.

Aid Available for Nursing Course

Registration is being held open for a short-term health course in nursing assistant and orderly training as a part of Amarillo College's Adult Vocational Education program, which will begin July 12.

Financial aid will be available in the course for all qualified applicants, said Anna Lois Crawford, supervisor of health care at AC.

The course serves as basic preparation for those who are interested in becoming skillful in basic nursing procedures.

Classes will meet on Mondays through Fridays for four weeks. The first three weeks will consist of lecture periods, with classes meeting from 8 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. The final week, students will meet from 8:45 a.m. until 3:15 p.m. for laboratory practice.

Billye Rue, registered nurse, will instruct the course.

Those who are interested in full or part-time employment are urged to consider this basic nursing course. Opportunities are available for trained personnel in almost all area hospitals and convalescent and nursing homes.

Registration may be accomplished in the registrar's office in the Administration Building on the Washington street campus. Interested persons can call Mrs. Crawford at AC for additional information.

Mrs. Muriel Moore returned home Thursday from Portland, Oregon after a month's visit with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerrell Lee.

The power mower has become a part of the Texas family scene, but it can be as dangerous as a coiled rattlesnake.

There's no refuting the labor-saving qualities of mowers, but they should be handled as carefully as you would a rattler, says Dudley J. Johnson, chief of the Consumer Health Bureau of the Texas Department of Health Resources.

Cuts, bruises and puncture wounds are typical of the injuries which the machines can inflict. The gasoline used to power these mowers causes fires which have killed people and burned down the homes of others, says Johnson.

More than 50,000 adults and children are treated each year in hospital emergency rooms for injuries associated with power lawn mowers, says the US Consumer Product Safety Commission. These are the more serious injuries requiring medical treatment. There is no clear picture on the number of painful minor injuries treated at home.

Accidents can happen in many ways.

*Nancy was mowing long, wet grass when it became clogged in the discharge opening. When she tried to dislodge it, the whirling blades struck her fingers. One finger was amputated.

*Jim's father was mowing grass in a hickory tree grove. A nut struck by the blade ricocheted off the house and hit Jim, blinding the right eye.

*A man using a riding mower on a steep backyard terrace started a sideways turn. The machine rolled over. His left leg was so severely cut it had to be amputated.

Mr. Smith was mowing a lot with a garden tractor when he backed up, striking his son who had been playing behind the tractor. The boy's left foot was amputated.

Do any of these accidents sound familiar?

They are accident patterns which are repeated time after time. These patterns are:

1. Contact with the rotating blade. This often occurs when the victim is clearing the discharge chute; when the victim adjusts the machine without turning it off and waiting for the blade to stop; or when the machine hits an obstacle such as a rock and the victim's foot slips under the housing.

2. Propelled objects-- Wire, rocks and twigs can be shot out either through the discharge chute or from under the housing. Many victims in these cases are bystanders.

3. Overturning -- riding mowers used on steep slopes are involved in this type of accident most often.

4. Mower running over the victim-- This often occurs when a riding mower or garden tractor is being driven in reverse. Push type mowers are dangerous when the operator pulls the mower backward over the foot, or slips going uphill, allowing the mower to roll backward.

Experts at the Texas Department of Health Resources say that reel lawn mowers are safe than rotary lawn mowers, primarily because their blades move more slowly than those of rotary mowers. A common accident pattern with reel mowers, however, is attempting to release the reel when it is jammed by a twig or other object without first shutting off the engine.

Since reel lawn mowers cannot cut tall grass efficiently, most consumers prefer rotary mowers. Almost 90 percent of all power lawn mowers manufactured each year are rotary mowers. Their blades can reach speeds of 200 miles per hour and can hurl objects 50 feet or more, unless the mowers are equipped with chute deflectors. If your mower has such a deflector, don't take it off and thereby invite an accident to happen.

line used to power your mower? It can be a time bomb just waiting to explode to catch fire.

One of the biggest "don'ts" in handling gasoline is: Don't store it in a glass container. And, keep it out of any garage or storage room in which a water heater is located.

Q: A friend of mine wants to have a will prepared leaving all of his property to their grandchildren and leaving his daughter nothing. Could his daughter break a will like that?

A: In Texas, a person can disinherit any relative, including children, by leaving property to someone else. Grounds for contesting a will include: lack of mental capacity, failure to observe some legal requirement in the execution of the will, or fraud. However, disinheritance alone is not a ground for challenging a will.

Q: I lived with a seaman and we had a joint checking account in both of our names; he bought me a wedding ring set, but he moved out before we held our marriage ceremony; I drew the money out of the joint bank account and kept the wedding rings. Can he make me give the money back? Can he take the rings back?

A: If your living together did not constitute a common-law marriage, then the use of the bank account would be determined by the intent of the man and woman. If the intent was to share the bank account funds equally, the person withdrawing all of the funds may be liable for half of the amount withdrawn. If the wedding rings were a gift, the women would be free to keep them unless the gift was conditioned on performance of the marriage ceremony.

Q: My volunteer group is going to hold a fund-raising banquet for charitable purposes. Do we need to charge the sales tax on the tickets to the banquet, or on the food when we serve it?

A: If your organization is non-profit and the function is not a regularly scheduled one; and, if the function is not being held in an established restaurant or other eating place; and, if it's all volunteer—you most likely will not have to collect any sales tax. To be absolutely certain, however, you may wish to check with the nearest district office of the State Comptroller.

Q: What happens if the house I want to buy is damaged or destroyed by fire before the deal is closed?

A: This depends upon what the contract you signed stipulates is to occur in this event. The contract should include a provision dealing with damage or destruction of the house by fire or other casualty. Some factors to be considered in drafting this provision include the extent of damage necessary before the contract would take effect, whether the seller has an obligation to repair damage to the house, and the right of either party to cancel the contract in the event of such damage.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
John C. White, Commissioner

Cotton, Corn Acres Increase . . . Sorghum, Barley, Soybeans Down . . . Hog Inventory Up . . . Meat Production Rises.

Texas cotton and corn acres for 1976 are up substantially from levels of a year ago, while sorghum, barley, and soybeans show significant declines, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

Much of the reduction in acreage was caused by drought conditions last fall. In the dryland areas of the High Plains, a substantial number of acres of cotton and sorghum did not get planted because of short moisture conditions.

Upland cotton acreage for the state is up 13 per cent from a year ago, but probably more would have been planted had the weather conditions been better.

Corn, a crop which is now getting more attention from Texas farmers than in recent years, increased in acreage by 29 per cent from a year ago. A large part of the state total is grown on the High Plains and is under irrigation. As a result, Texas has had an average per acre yield exceeding 100 bushels.

Sorghum acres are down this year for two reasons: cotton and unfavorable planting weather. Acreage seeded by the state's farmers to sorghum this year is down 10 per cent from a year ago.

Soybean acreage is down almost a fourth from a year ago; rice acreage is down 5 per cent; oat acres are down 5 per cent; peanut acreage is about the same as a year ago. Wheat acreage is about the same as last year, but yields are 40 per cent under the records set in 1975.

HOG PRODUCERS in the state are following the actions of others throughout the nation and are increasing hog and pig numbers. As of June 1, there were 880,000 hogs and pigs in Texas, up 10 per cent from a year ago.

From now through August, hog producers intend to farrow 50,000 sows; they intend to farrow 42,000 from August through November. If these intentions are realized, this would be a 19 per cent increase in farrowings.

Nationwide, producer intentions from now through November would indicate a pig crop of 42.1 million, up 18 per cent from a year ago.

Record - Trophy Or Both

A large fish is exciting news to any angler and if certain instructions are followed, the successful angler could receive a certificate of fishing merit or a fish record award from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Both of these programs are recognition for trophy-sized fish caught in Texas, but a few anglers have misunderstood the requirements and both record and trophy fish have been eliminated from the competition.

A list of record fish is kept by the Texas State Fish Record Committee with new additions posted annually as larger and larger fish break the record.

Large fish, not a record but of exceptional size, provide management data to the P&WD biologists and, at the same time, are recognized as noteworthy specimens of fish through the certificate of fishing merit award established by the P&WD.

Minimum weights for freshwater fish in this merit award program include; largemouth bass-8 lbs.; crappie-3 lbs. 8 ozs.; white bass-4 lbs.; channel cat-15 lbs.; blue cat-40 lbs.; flathead cat-60 lbs.; striped bass-20 lbs.; walleye-17 lbs. and rainbow trout-2 lbs.

Minimum weights for these fish will likely be increased in the future as introduced populations get older and bigger.

Award rules for the certificate of fishing merit restrict all fish entered to have been taken by pole and line in Texas waters after Jan. 1, 1974. The entrant must have hooked, fought, and landed the fish and each fish must be measured for total length and weighted on an inspected scale. Inspected scales are certified for trade by the Texas Department of Agriculture. A statement of the weight must also be signed by a witness.

An application form must be completed and forwarded to Fish Award Program, P&WD, John Reagan Bldg., Austin, Texas 78701.

More information and record applications forms are available at all P&WD offices or call (806) 744-6583.

If you catch a trophy fish this year, check the record and merit list as you might be eligible for one or both awards.

Brush Control Study Underway

Ranchland in Texas has always had plenty of brush including the famous mesquite, but a brush control project being carried out by the range and wildlife department at Texas Tech University could change the range brush problem.

The mesquite control project is in its third year of operation and good results are being found as amine chemicals such as 2,4,5-T; tordon-225; pentamine-D and dicamba are applied to secondary mesquite growth.

"Our best results with the mist sprayer are on ranchland that was originally cleared of mesquite by chopping, chaining, or aerial spraying," said Dr. Bill Dahl, range management professor. "We use a pickup to carry the mist blower along designated mesquite plots and although the study is not complete, results indicate good control," Dahl continued.

The study plots are approximately three acres in size and cotton plants are set out in containers at measured intervals as test plants due to their reaction to herbicides on these plots from 25 to 200 feet depending upon wind velocity. Normally, aerial spraying operations must cease when the wind speeds exceed 10 mph but, the mist sprayer can continue until velocities reach 15 to 20 mph.

Cotton, one of the most sensitive plants on the South Plains, can be affected by certain sprays up to four or five miles. Therefore, the mist spraying operations are limited to large acreages of ranchland far removed from agricultural crops.

No ill affects from the amine sprays have been noticed or recorded on wildlife or domestic livestock in the treated areas.

More information about the mist spraying project is available by writing Dr. Bill Dahl, Range and Wildlife Management, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Tx. 79409 or by calling Dr. Dahl at (806) 742-2841.

cause damage to seedling sorghum or corn.
 However larger sorghum
 or corn in pre-boot, pre-tassel or later stages generally can tolerate large numbers of aphids
 without significant damage. These aphids are a source of food for our beneficial insects that will later aid in controlling the greenbug. These beneficials must have a food source such as corn leaf, aphids if they are to increase to sufficient numbers to help control
 the greenbugs. Research has shown that yield losses have occurred
 only where corn leaf aphids caused stand loss on seedling plants.

The first generations
 of Southwestern Corn
 borers are infesting corn fields. Corn should be checked for infestation
 of the second generation
 corn borer and control measures applied when 35 percent of the corn is infested with eggs or larvae. On late planted corn, control measures should be applied at a lower level of infestation, around 25 percent.

Corn borer eggs are quite small and are laid in chains or groups that overlap much like fish
 scales or roof shingles.
 Eggs may be found in groups of two to 50 but usually average four to five per group. The eggs are translucent white when first laid. Three parallel rows of reddishorange lines appear prior to hatching, and the color changes to yellow,
 orange-yellow or reddish-
 brown before hatching.

After the eggs hatch,
 the small larvae closely resemble the full grown "worm," which is from 1 to 1 3/4 inches long and dull white or yellowish-white in color.

The larvae also have a regular pattern of dark brown polka dots.
 Corn earworms and fall armyworms can be on corn plants and can cause leaf ragging and grain damage. When the earworm is found on other parts of the plant besides the ear, it may be mistaken because of color variations. Earworm moths deposit eggs
 on the leaves, tassels or silks, and the newly hatched larvae begin to feed almost immediately. Whorl feeding often occurs, but larvae seldom reach the growing tip. Chemical control of the pest is difficult and not recommended.

The fall armyworm is often mistaken for the corn earworm. Grain and forage yields generally have not been increased by the use of insecticides against this pest.

 insects, please give me
