PLAN NATION-WIDE PROTEST OF SACCO-VANZETTI EXECUTION

I. W. W. Leaders Make Announcement of Their Plans

(Special to Telegram) NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Plans by the Industrial Workers of the World for an attempted tie-up of New York's water front next Tuesday, as part of a nation-wide protest against the execution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, was announced by Roger Franezon, chairman of the general executive board of the organization, today.

ON HUNGER STRIKE BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 5.—Indications that an appeal to the United States supreme court on behalf of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti will be made within a short time was given at headquarters of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee today, although no definite announcement as to the course to be taken was forthcoming.

Sacco and Vanzetti, who are scheduled to be electrocuted next Thursday, slept well last night, according to attaches of the state prison at Charlestown. Both refused breakfast today, but Celestino Madeiros, convicted of another murder, who is in the death house with the two men, ate heartily.

By refusing breakfast today, Sacco prolonged his hunger strike into its twentieth day.

GENERAL STRIKE ON BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 5.—A general strike in protest against the Sacco-Vanzetti sentence went into effect today, nearly all workers in the factories and shops joining in the movement.

TO SOON OCCUPY NEW WAREHOUSE

The big new warehouse of Flood and Daughtry has been completed and the transfer of their remaining equipment from the old building near the Thomas building to the new quarters will be made next Tuesday.

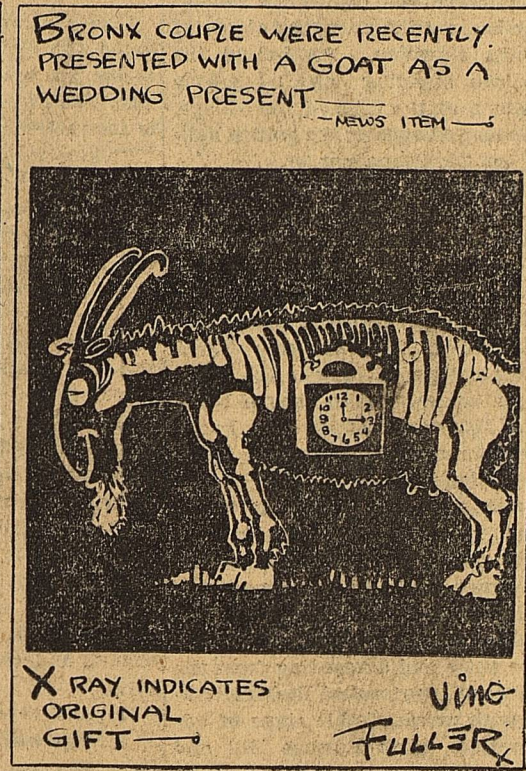

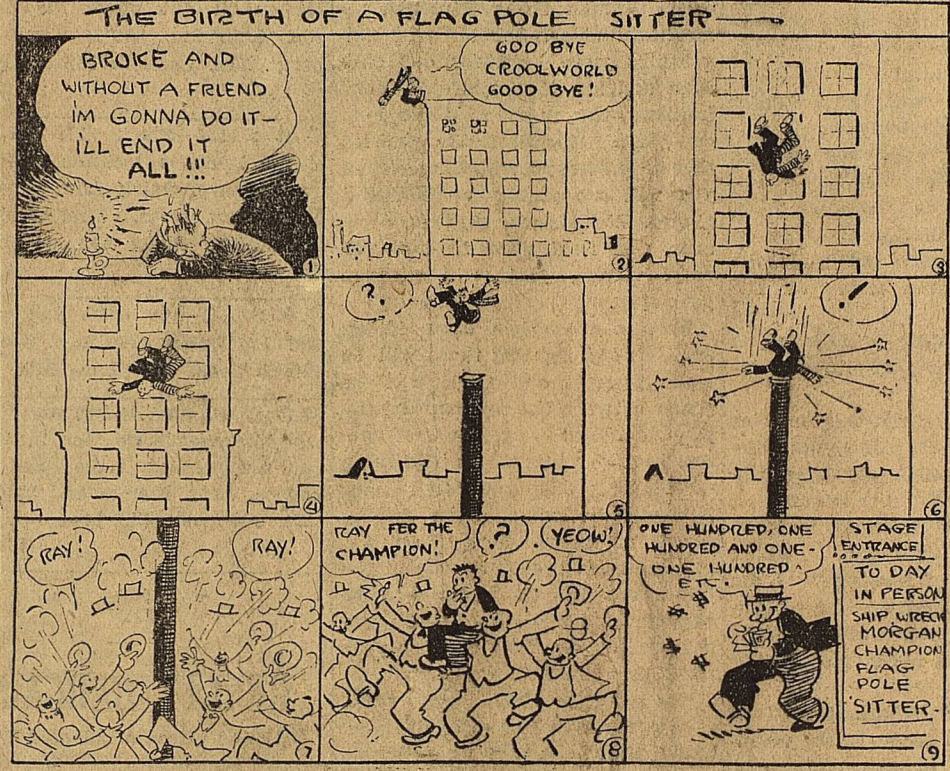

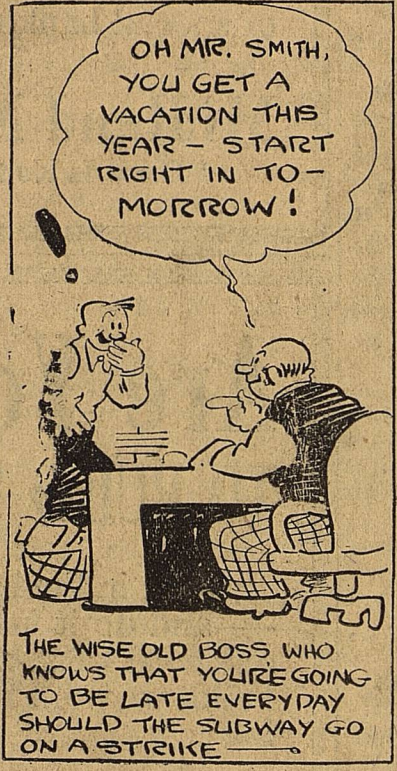

This gives this growing firm of transfer and coal men a fine plant, well equipped, and in line for the growing business of Midland.

COMMENTS OF MAN ABOUT TOWN

Do Midland women have small feet, and Midland gentlemen as small as a gentleman's foot should be? We dare not give the answer to this question furnished us by the shoemen of Midland but it is an established fact that the further west one goes the larger grow the feet of the people living there. Nor can this be said as being an optical illusion. Of course when women's skirts drag the ground and men wore bellbottom trousers no matter how large the foot of the party under observation, his foot appeared very small. Even Byron the great poet said his sweetie's foot looked like a mouse trying to crawl from under her skirt. Evidently he merely saw the toe of the shoe.

Now, that summer trousers are in vogue and wide, lowcut shoes, the ordinary masculine looks like a reproduction of Charlie Chaplin, at least as touching the flat feet. And the Ladies! Since skirts have gotten above the ankle the full shoe has come under observation and it is observed that they are larger than once thought. And when the skirts reached the deadline of the parking zone it was seen that some of the biggest feet in Texas were revealed in helpless exposure.

Two reasons are given for the large feet in Midland. This was brought out in Dallas the other day when National Judges tried to choose the prettiest foot. It was found that much walking after the cows gave flat feet. In addition to this walking in hot sand caused the feet to flatten out as do the colored brethren walking barefoot in the cotton fields. Then it was learned that even the heat caused the foot to expand, and that women of colder climates wore shoes several times smaller than in equatorial zones. It was also advanced that riding horses caused them to swell, bringing on foot trouble. Even, Heroditus, the great historian of early Rome, states that nearly every man in the Cavalry of Rome had diseases of the feet from riding horses. Those who rode without saddles became cripples.

So the reason for Midland's large and muscular feet is attributed to the heat, the walking and horse-back riding. Small feet can be obtained by having a surgeon cut off the small toe of each foot which many people do, or putting the feet in a shrinker as do the Chinese ladies.—The Man About Town.

H. B. Dunagan, Foster Brown and J. F. Brookman left today for Dallas and Fort Worth. H. B. and Foster will visit friends in Fort Worth and go on over to Dallas to have their eyes tested. Mr. Brookman will journey on down to Temple and Belton for a visit with friends and to see his daughter, who is a student at Baylor college, Belton.

SUGGESTION TO FARMERS GOOD

FARM AGENT ATKINS URGES PRODUCTION OF INFERTILE EGGS

Some day we will be able to buy a dozen eggs and all of them be fine eggs if the movement begun by H. L. Atkins finds a response on the part of the farmers of the Midland territory. Mr. Atkins states that if he can get 50 farmers to kill their roosters and have only infertile eggs for sale, he will find a market here or elsewhere for them regularly.

The infertile egg is the only egg for the market. It has been shown that an egg that has been rendered infertile can be placed in an incubator and kept there for 21 days without harm to the egg save for a thinning of the white portion.

A fertile egg or which a hen has been for even one day or has been in the sun for a short time begins to develop a chick and then if removed from the hen or the heat it at once becomes foul and rotten.

Several Midland farmers have been attempting to build up this side of the egg business and today they are called for at those groceries where guaranteed eggs are on sale. A dozen guaranteed eggs at 30 cents are much cheaper than those not guaranteed at 20 cents, at least when in the cheaper dozen there are five bad eggs.

Judge Klapproth Gives Fine Report

Judge Chas. Klapproth, of the 70th judicial district, reports the completion of his official labors over his district for the first round. He starts again in September and makes the round again, presiding in district court. His district runs north, south, and west of Midland. This is the judge's first term in this office, having formerly been county judge.

He reports conditions as very favorable in his district and everything very fair. His reception at the hands of the officers and various court attaches has been all that he could ask. On the whole business moves with precision and court matters were expedited with the unified working of all concerned. He missed presiding over a few sessions of his court because of illness. One of these was in Midland.

Lately Judge Klapproth suffered seriously, even critically, as a result of an operation for the removal of his tonsils. Hemorrhages followed and he became much weakened. Now he is again on the road to satisfactory recovery.

FARMER SHOT TO DEATH WHILE SLEEPING—BOY LIVED IN FEAR HE AND HIS MOTHER WOULD BE KILLED

(Associated Press) FORT WORTH, Aug. 5.—Robert McKinley, aged 18, who lives near Mansfield, was charged with murder here today in connection with the killing of his step-father, William Holloway, aged 40, a farmer, who was shot to death as he lay sleeping on a bed in his front yard last night.

"I shot him because I believed he would kill my mother and myself at the first opportunity," McKinley is said to have told officers. "I left home two years ago because Holloway mistreated us both."

(Associated Press) MIAMI, Okla., Aug. 5.—Charles Warner, federal prohibition agent working out of Tulsa, who last night shot to death Elmer Fulton, aged 18, at Picher, was charged with murder in a complaint filed today by A. L. Commons, county attorney.

Warner was attempting to arrest the youth for alleged rum running. The rank of commodore in the United States Navy was abolished in 1899, just after the Spanish-American war. James Clarkson Gillmore, who died in June, 1927, was the last officer to hold the rank.

Large Crowd Sees Willard the Wizard

Willard, the magician, entertained a large crowd of men and women who turned out for his mystery show last night. The big tent is on the highway, two blocks east of Main Street. Those attending the initial performance of Willard the Wizard Show were agreed that Professor Willard and his assistants present a clean, classy and clever entertainment.

The work of Professor Willard also Lottie Willard, in popular song numbers, pleased everyone. Another feature worthy of mention is the Royal Marionettes, who were great favorites with the children.

The Willard show will be in Midland tonight and Saturday night, playing at popular price. This organization recently played a three day engagement at the Lyric Theatre in San Angelo, and although the theatre seats one thousand and people, hundreds were turned away.

CHARITY TOWARD ALL

The farmers of Midland county are very much interested in seeing that the interest of the farmers of this section are cared for and that the development of Midland shall not be such that the farmer is sidetracked. Because Coolidge left the farmers of the Mississippi to build their farms away after the flood does not mean that all the farmers of America are to be left to the mercy of chance.

Many years ago the coming of one new farmer to this section was a matter to call out all the old guard for a celebration. Now the coming of a new farmer to this section is just one more resident added. Some seem to have forgotten that the farmers are after all the foundation of American prosperity and are a symbol of banking and commercial stability.

A leading citizen of Midland made the statement the other day that while Midland raised $10,000 for one enterprise in Midland, nothing else and $7,500 for another, nothing especial had been done for the farmers of territory adjacent to Midland. He stated that if the Midland merchants put up even $5,000 to help the farmers it would do as much good as other projects in which they were interested. It was even pointed out that in the matter of the rabbit drive some sections failed to get help when needed and during the spring drought when the farmers were idle Midland instead of using the labor of idle Midland farmers.

NEWS GATHERING

News is a peculiar thing. It has an elusive quality that few realize until an actual search is made for it. Sometimes the newspaper reporter is completely buried by an avalanche of news; then again news is as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth. One day the newspaper bubbles and effervesces with all kinds of stories and articles; the next issue may have little of real news value in it.
 Is it the fault of the newspaper man that events do not shape and distribute themselves equally over every day of the week? It is not.
 The news must be taken as it comes.

But there is one way in which
 Mr. Average Citizen can help.
 When a reporter asks a question pertaining to something of news value, don't growl back: "Whatna want?" The reporter is trying his best to find out the news of the day. If you will give him the answer to his question and anything else you think of, it will be appreciated. Even the slightest event which may seem of no importance to you, may give the reporter a clue to a new newspaper story.

There are few of the growler type in Midland. Nearly all treat the newspaper man courteously. That is as it should be. He is endeavoring to give you a fair digest and resume of the day's activities.

Help the newspaper reporter when he comes your way. It will rebound to your best interests in the end.

"Where did they get the signs and the meaning of them?" inquired Bud.
 "From the early missionaries who instructed the Algonquin tribe in these mysteries, and later, the order extended to other tribes."

"Do you know the word, 'major'?"
 "Yes, it is: 'Wakan,' which means 'Spirit of Mystery.' I am an honorary member of the Medicine and will now attend their council and the ceremonies of the pipe."

"I have very important matters to discuss with them. In the meantime, you can enjoy a visit with Red Flower."

"Tell me, Major, 'what are the ceremonies of the pipe in the Medicine?'"
 "The bowl of the pipe that is used in these ceremonies is a petrified deer's heart, with a long stem. It is filled with aromatic herbs and the 'great chief' lights it and takes a few puffs, then hands to the earth, and says, 'Our Father! The pipe is then passed from one Medicine man to another, each taking a puff and repeating the words of the 'great chief.'"

Pawnee Bill then entered White Fox's wigwam, while Bud strolled about looking for Red Flower.
 After the pipe ceremonies, Chief White Fox returned Pawnee Bill that he had just returned from a conference of the five great tribes, He told of the great admiration they had showered upon him and of the stirring speech he had made to the assembled chieftains and braves.

White Fox was a university graduate, but like many another Indian, he had returned to the customs, the dress, and the speech of his people.
 "White Fox, I should like to hear your speech," urged Pawnee Bill.
 White Fox addressed
 The chief reflected a moment, then spoke frankly.

"In the days of our fathers the redmen were a great and a brave people. The words were filled with roaming deer and antelope; the water full of flashing, playing fish;
 the wild geese flying in the air.
 Then came the white men spreading over our prairies, fighting, crowding us, driving us onward, farther and farther we were driving. We grew sullen and fought the intruder. At last, the great white chief at Washington, sent soldiers and used force rather than diplomacy, and we were herded to the Indian Territory. Then the digger for minerals came with fire-water to buy the secrets of wealth from the redman. Soon came the squatter, and the squawman, the cattle and the cowboy. They received much but gave little. Then, at a council of our tribes, it was decided to send our young braves to learn the wisdom of the white man.
 We were taught many useful things but with the habits of the pale-face some caught his diseases, others his cunning and selfishness.
 The Indian is a child of nature, and has an appreciative sense of justice when it is administered with equanimity. Perhaps the Indians sense of 'meant' is not as definitely defined as it might be, yet he has a keen appreciation of the white man's superior strength. The Indian has held himself in restraint to a degree impossible to be understood by the pale-face, who has robbed him of his home and hunting grounds.

"Many graduates of the universities returned to their tribes and the buckskin leggings, the terepee and the blanket. The Great White Chief's hand is heavy upon us now, and we are driven to the last corner. With the opening of Oklahoma, the last great hunting ground of the Indian is gone. The beauty of our life is untrammeled freedom in the open wilderness.

Personal Mention of People You Know

By MRS. J. B. SMITH

C. W. B. M. Give Picnic Supper

The C. W. B. M. met in regular monthly session yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. H. Butler.

The meeting opened with the singing of the hymn, "Take Time to be Holy." A short business session was held.

Mrs. Erikson read a very interesting article, "The Red Headed Boy" and a splendid talk on "World Wide Prayer for Missions" was made by Mrs. Pemberton.

The singing of a hymn closed the inspiring meeting.

A picnic supper on the spacious lawn of the Butler home followed the regular meeting.

Platters of crisply browned fried chicken, potato chips, bowls of colorful and tasty salads, pickles, sandwiches, iced tea, coffee and ice cream—everything needed for a sumptuous supper was arranged on the long tables which had been placed under restful shade trees.

This delectable menu was climaxed by the serving of home-made cakes, rich with nuts and thick, smooth frostings, and home-made ice cream.

And throughout the evening the spirit of good-fellowship, of friendliness and informality prevailed and made of the affair a huge success.

Mrs. Patterson Passes 90th Milestone

Mrs. Barbara Patterson, mother of T. S. Patterson, celebrated her 90th birthday at her home here yesterday.

The Telegram joins with a host of friends in expressing congratulations and best wishes to Mrs. Patterson.

The Reason Why

"Why didn't you send your man to mend my electric bell as you promised?" "He did go, madam, but as he rang three times and got no answer, he concluded there was no one at home."

That Brig. Gen. Jas. C. Rhea died suddenly at his home in Brookline, Mass., last Wednesday morning seems not to have been known to many friends here until yesterday; some not until this morning and still others may not have known even now.

"Gen. Rhea saw service in Cuba and the Philippines from 1905 until 1915. At one time he was superintendent of the Philippine constabulary.

In 1915 he became chief of staff of the Tenth Provisional Division along the Mexican border. In 1913 he went to France with the 305th Infantry of the Seventy-Seventh Division.

Gen. Rhea married a daughter of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, and of immediate relations surviving are but the wife and two children, Lieut. Fitzhugh Rhea of the United States Navy, and the daughter, Nell, who married an army officer and now resides in China.

Midland friends took great pride in Gen. Rhea. Recently he was retired as a brigadier general and upon a pension, although not far advanced in years, and his passing was untimely and a sad shock to all.

A Story of The Cuckoo

Perhaps many of you have never heard the cuckoo, but those who have been in the country in England will know him well, at a distance at least.

In May he sings all day, In June he alters his tune, In July he prepares to fly, In August go he must.

Cuckoos never build nests for themselves; but their eggs are found in nests belonging to other kinds of birds and left for them to care for.

Some people are able to imitate a cuckoo very well. One warm day the writer was sitting by a stream with a friend and we heard the cuckoo some distance away; this girl was able to imitate him.

In a few moments a funny thing happened; he came and fluted close over her head and made strange sounds, and appeared to be much upset about something and would not go away.

"THE VERY WORD 'DEATH' SENDS A CHILL THROUGH MY BODY"

(Associated Press) HUNTSVILLE, August 4.—Clifford Franck, 29 of Houston, writes while he is an inmate of the death house at the state penitentiary here that "the very word 'death' sends a chill through his body."

Franck described his prison and sketched the treatment which had been accorded him. He wrote to the Houston Chronicle from the death chamber of "the little green door" through which condemned men walk from their death cells to the electric chair.

"The death chamber," he recited, "is located on the east side of the prison at Huntsville. There are two doors to the chamber. One is used by the guards and prison officials. The other is a little green door through which the condemned men march to death."

"There are nine cells in the death chamber and all of them are occupied at the present time. Each inmate is given a bath and a shave once a week. On shaving days 'Big Monk,' also known to inmates as 'the bouncer' puts the 'harness' on each condemned man as he is ready for his turn in the barber chair.

All condemned men are kept in solitary confinement and extra precautions are taken in handling of them by prison authorities. The chamber is well lighted by four large ceiling lamps and a small light in front of each cell, which burns night and day. That makes 13 lights in the chamber, an unlucky number.

"We have two large electric fans which make it cool and pleasant here at all times. We are furnished with ice water.

"The only recreation a condemed man gets is a weekly walk around the prison with Assistant Warden Schram. He is very considerate and kind to us and is ready to favor us whenever he can. Only three inmates are taken for a walk at a time. "The Bouncer" puts the "harness" on us and helps the assistant warden escort us around the yard.

"We also have a Victrola that is played daily for us by the boss in charge of the death chamber.

"Three good meals are served to us every day. Breakfast is served about 7 a. m. We get hot cakes, strip bacon, hot biscuits, coffee or milk. Dinner comes about 11:45 a. m. and consists of roast beef, hot biscuits or bread, two kinds of vegetables, pudding, coffee or milk. Supper is similar to dinner. The menu is changed daily.

"Two guards are in charge of the death chamber. They are 'Boss' Bowden and 'Boss' Mock. They have been kind and obliging to us. They work six hours on and six hours off, one of them on duty all the time.

"Warden Speers is the big boss in charge of everything. He seems to be a fair and square man and has shown us numerous favors.

"We spend our time in the death chambers writing, praying, singing hymns, reading the Bible, talking to each other throughout the day. The favorite topic of conversation is our trials and conviction.

"I read at night until the wee hours and can hear the prison clock toll off the hours. My mind wanders from the printed page and I wonder when my time will come to march through the little green door that means death. That very word 'death' sends chills through my body. I am living in hopes of another trial.

"There are nine of us here with only a little green door between us and death. The cells are numbered one to nine. I hear that another condemned man has been brought in, a man named Milliken from San Antonio."

Franck, who was condemned to die for the shooting and killing of his wife in Houston on March 24 at the apartment house where she had taken refuge, recited in the letter that of the nine persons in death cells, seven were negroes. Himself and F. M. Snow, a man of 49, convicted in Stephenville of murder, whose execution has been fixed for August 12, were the only white men.

WOULD REVIVE OUR TRADES DAY COUNTY AGENT SEES MUCH GOOD IN IT FROM MANY ANGLES

County Demonstration Agent Atkins, co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce, is attempting to restore the "Trades Day" that was so valuable last year. It brought to Midland each trades day hundreds of the farmers of this section and encouraged them to come more often.

The idea of this day is to have the merchants give a small ticket costing the merchant less than one cent to each purchaser. Then on trades day there is a drawing for small sums in gold.

But the chief value of this, according to Mr. Atkins, lay in giving the county agent an opportunity to be before the farmers and allow them to ask questions, thus permitting every farmer to get in on the ideas being advanced by the government authorities on farming.

Another valuable thing connected with it was that a county agent becomes an intermediary between the city and rural people, two factions often found in some cities. The farmer has the impression that the merchant is trying to skin him; and as one man said the only relief he gets is that someone relieves him of his pocketbook. The county agent can go among the farmers and encourage them, bringing them to a better understanding of the local town merchant.

T. and P. Freight Is Largely Increased

Reports for the past month forwarded by local agent J. J. Hamlett of the Texas and Pacific railway show an increase for the past month of about $45,000, although there was a short decline for the month.

The growth of business beginning almost a year ago, or at last October, has reached such a stage that it is asserted by some that the business done by the local depot is in excess of any office between Abilene and El Paso. For sometime Agent Hamlett was called upon to do several men's work. At times he was in the office, then on the yards lastly collecting among the business houses. He is a very popular agent, both with Midland people and railroad men passing through this city.

Recent additions to the local force has brought the number of local employees to four, which includes Agent Hamlett, Jim Whatley has charge of the freight department. Another man has been added to the express force also. City delivery with wagon, has been inaugurated. "Spec" Voliva is express agent.

With the coming of the fall months and traffic is resumed in coal, cotton and other commodities the receipts will be in advance of the present time. Considerable building material is shipped in both to the lumber yards and some to private concerns who have their material shipped here from El Paso and other cities.

Panel made of sugar cane fibre have been found to reduce the noise in a room by 50 per cent.

Your Birthday by Stella

AUGUST 6

Nelson Keys, the well-known English comedian, who recently duplicated on Broadway to a success he enjoys in London, will celebrate his birthday tomorrow. Mr. Keys is a Leonian, with something in him of Scorpio and Cancer and a great deal of Libra, for Jupiter, Uranus and Mars were in that sign when he was born. This gives him a forceful personality, dramatic talent, originality and a very lively sense of humor—a galaxie of talents which could hardly fail to win success and popularity.

Both Italy and France are under the influence of Leo and the people of those countries manifest many of the characteristics of this sign. The gaiety of the French and the dignity and pride of the Romans and of many Italians of the present day are typical of Leo. In many ways it is considered the most fortunate of the signs. Yet its children are not always lucky in love. They so often are disappointed in people. This may be because they have so much faith in human nature that they expect men and women to be more perfect than they really are. Luckily, they are able to forgive and forget more easily than some of the other types and, with characteristic faith, are always ready to believe in some one else. This is one reason why they never go completely down. For a time they may lose their perspective, but always they rise out of their despair and, with renewed faith, go out to meet new adventures and experiences. The Sun continues to shine and dawn disperses the dark night.

Reinhold Werrenath, one of America's most popular and successful baritone, and Miss Marie Brard, the well-known pianist, were also born on August 7. The poet Shelley and the famous French writer Guy de Maupassant were born on August 6.
