Driver Injured In Freak Wreck

A Spearman man is in good condition in Hansford Hospital after breaking a car in half on a tree at 1:30 a. m. Sunday. Sylvanus Drerup received severe scalp lacerations, a fracture of the left shoulder, lacerations on the right arm and the attending physician said he was also suffering from a concussion and shock.

Drerup was injured when his late model car hit a tree on the curve two and one-half miles northeast of Spearman on Highway 15. The car broke in half right behind the front seat. Drerup was thrown from the vehicle by the force of the impact.

Officers investigated the accident thought the driver must have gone to sleep. There were no skid marks on the pavement indicating he had tried to apply his brakes before the car hit, they said.

Drive Starts Decorations

A drive is being started by the Spearman Chamber of Commerce for money to purchase the proposed Skyline Christmas Decorations for Main Street.

These are the decorations that were demonstrated on Main Street just prior to the celebration.

The retail merchants' committee has voted to purchase these decorations if enough donations can be gathered to make the purchase.

Each decoration will cost $190 and it will take nine units for Main street. The decorations, plus permanent wiring will make the total bill approximately $2,000.

Any person or business wishing to help with this project may send a donation to the Chamber of Commerce, Box 161.

The order must be placed by July 1, if the decorations are to be ready by Christmas.

Jenny Massad Is In WT Production

Gene Cudd, director of the campaign, said it is making progress, but much work still remains to be done.

Chamber President Charles Gilliam pointed out that the chamber has a list of projects to help build a stronger, more aggressive community, but right now the chamber needs manpower and money to carry out the projects.

The Iniquities

In Exodus it is written that the iniquities of the fathers shall be visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generations. Today the iniquities committed against the Negro race during the past 300 years are being visited upon the children.

If you have lived or traveled in the parts of this country where there are large concentrations of Negroes, it is easy to understand the resistance to forced integration. To these people the Negro is considered, this consideration is based on years of experience, dirty, uneducated, immoral, and lazy. Be it north or south, east or west, the whites want the Negroes to stay in their places and that is away from them. Be it a legal barrier or a social one there is and will continue to be segregation against the Negro.

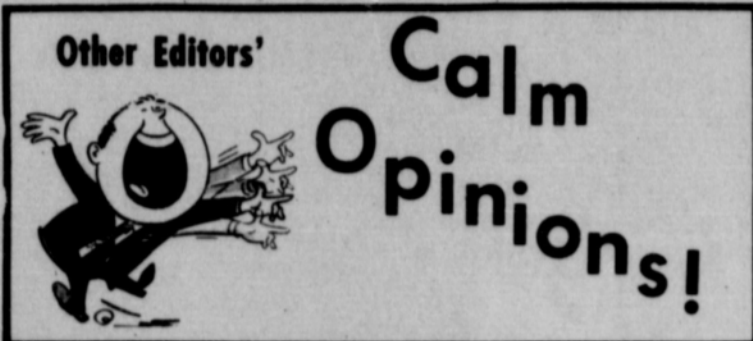

One hundred years ago this month President Lincoln freed the Negro from slavery with the Emancipation Proclamation. That freedom, like the legislated integration of today was a technical thing. And just as the Negro's lot did not improve rapidly after he was supposedly released from slavery, it will not improve rapidly when technically all the segregation barriers are removed. The Negro will be accepted when his social situation is improved.

Why after 100 years of "freedom" is the Negro's social position so low? It is low because we have done so little to help him improve. Until recently his schools in the south were little more than jokes. In the north no great effort was made to keep him in school. Job opportunities have been the lowest, dirtiest, and most irregular. We gave millions to churches and other groups to send religious, medical and educational missionaries to teach the poor downtrodden masses of foreign countries, but there was little or nothing for work among these same masses in our own country. It might have been thrilling and rewarding to dedicate one's life to helping the savages in Africa, but there was no great recognition for helping his brother, the "nigger", in this country.

We completely ignored the black man. We tried to keep him down in "nigger town" be it in the south or north, but a few "bleeding hearts" ruined the plan. They gave a few enough help for them to manage some sort of education. This group raised themselves enough to see their people could have better. Now, they are trying to lead their people from the bondage of "nigger town."

The Red Sea of segregation is being forced open by politicians who have found it is good for votes. We are going to have the Negro wandering in the wilderness. It is not going to be pleasant, for there are not too many of us who want those "black, nasty, blankety-blanks close to us." However, we will have them and their problems for it is written, "the iniquities... shall be visited unto the third and fourth generations."

Battle Over Farm Policy

Now that the Administration has lost its fight for rigid controls over wheat production, the battle over farm policy enters a new and crucial stage. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman is tempted to let the farmers stew in their own juice and discover for themselves the harsh realities of an abrupt return to the free market. The Republicans want to make political hay out of the wheat vote by continuing to offer protection to the farmers. Either course would be a mistake.

The Administration has to face up to the fact that wheat is too important to be left to the wheat growers. President Kennedy, who won the White House in 1960 without the aid of the farm states, may stick to his position, taken before the referendum, that the Administration will resist any attempt to bail out the farmer. Like the old gray mare, the farm vote isn't what it used to be. Moreover, the Department of Agriculture can cite the precedent of 1939, when the tobacco growers rejected controls only to restore them the following year after suffering a severe drop in income.

But the price of doing nothing on wheat, the nation's largest field crop and third largest cash crop, is enormous. It will mean a vast addition to our already swollen granaries and poverty for many marginal farmers. It is unfair to punish farmers for their decision when the Government's past policies are at least partly responsible for the present situation.

Even the American Farm Bureau Federation, champion of the free market in agriculture and leader of the fight against controls, does not favor complete abandonment of the farmer. But its proposals and those sponsored by Republicans in Congress, amount to a reward for defeating the Administration. Their plan of a hand-out, of greatest benefit to the big and efficient farm units, would be an even bigger mistake, because it would do nothing to eliminate either poverty or the surpluses.

With farmers turning thumbs down on high price supports and tight controls, the only permanent solution lies in a return to a free market, while the Government takes steps to spare farms unnecessary hardship in making the transition. This means the gradual elimination of all price supports on crops, which will restore a single price system in both the domestic and world markets. Direct payments should be made to marginal farmers, who should be encouraged to leave agriculture by being given re-training. Direct payments also would be made to all farmers who agree to curb or divert production.

The road back to a free market will not be short or easy. Nor will it be inexpensive. But the problem of plenty amid poverty will grow worse if the Administration and its opponents remain attached to the old and unworkable solutions. The only hope is in a brand new approach that will end the overproduction of crops and substandard farm income.

Financial Program Discussed County Agent's Report At Water Works Meeting

by Robert Adamson

A new financial program was the topic of discussion at the June 20 meeting of the Canadian Water Works Sewage Association. The committee work being uncompleted, hampered further progress, immediately.

A Unit I Sewage Treatment School, at Canadian, was announced for Sept. 9-20 with Harold Bryan as instructor. District schools provide opportunity for area members to work regular hours and attend night classes.

Different types of mosquito fogging machines were discussed among members, since some of the members had never had any experience with this type apparatus.

It has been commonly reported in certain areas that the question of whether the water works association was beneficial or not. It is time for some people to be reminded of a few facts. The most important thing for the existence of any life is potable water. In today's world of excessive organic and industrial wastes, the only way we can maintain clean, safe water for life, recreation, and the future of our country is to have trained personnel devoting their time for the welfare of the public.

District Association meetings are held monthly. They cover all phases of water and sewage developments and problems.

Most cities pay all expenses for their employees but others contend that the worker gains more than the city, by keeping up his license and should pay his own way. This is, of course, far from the truth, however. The average member has about enough time for a quick shower and shave before leaving home after work for a meeting. Normally he will be gone from home from 4 to 7 hours each time. During district schools this happens ten consecutive nights.

Nothing can be more of a threat to each of us and our families than the water which we use, in the hands of an individual who will not give of his time and energies toward learning and practicing the proper treatment of water and sewage wastes to protect the people he is devoted to daily.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yingling of Higgins have spent a week vacationing at Durango, Colo. They returned home on Sunday.

Mrs. Ray Lackey, Tim and Ann spent Friday and Saturday at Enid. Ann stayed for a longer visit with her grandmother and aunts.

Some people are so progressive they don't wait until the first of April to make fools of themselves.

COUNTY 4-H CAMP

Seventeen 4-H boys have registered for County 4-H Camp which will be held July 8-9-10 at Panhandle A&M College. This should make a good softball team to play the three Oklahoma Counties. More information about the camp will be sent to those who will attend at a later date.

HINTSON MAINTAINING EGG QUALITY

Eggs have their highest quality when first laid and from this point on, explains F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist, every quality factor begins to decline.

How fast or slow egg quality declines depends to a large extent on handling and storage practices, says the specialist. The most important is to provide a holding temperature of not more than 55 degrees with a relative humidity of about 80 percent.

If such conditions are maintained, they will materially aid in keeping the original egg quality high for two to two and a half weeks, points out Beanblossom.

Egg quality can be easily and accurately checked by breaking out a sample, one or two percent from each group, and measuring their Haugh Unit Score. This, explains the specialist, is the ratio of the albumen height and the egg weight. A score of 72 or better equals grade AA, 55 to 72 is grade A and 31 to 55 is grade B.

Several firms in Texas are now breaking out eggs on a routine basis for quality determinations as a part of their grading program. Beanblossom says that he will be glad to supply information on the break-out programs now in operation. Requests should be addressed to F. Z. Beanblossom, poultry marketing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, College Station, Texas.

COTTON WATER USE

The highest rate of water used by cotton is .25 to .4 inches per day which is during the peak bloom stage. The cotton should never suffer during this stage. Do not be claimed if you find squares in the ground that has not been damaged by insects. Only about 40 percent of blooms make bolls anyway. The first white bloom is the time when you should be sure the cotton has sufficient water.

SUMMER LAWN CARE

Nitrogen should be applied every 30 to 40 days during the summer at a rate of one pound of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn. Such applications will keep the lawn grasses green and vigorous during the growing season. In the fall, 30 days before the first expected killing frost, the lawn should get an application of a complete fertilizer.

The lawn should be watered only when the grass needs it. A slight wilting is an indication the grass needs water. Frequent light waterings are not recommended. Wet the soil to a depth of six inches or deeper. This will encourage deep root systems and enables the plants to utilize the plant food applied. It is best to water in the mornings.

Last winter a lot of grass froze out. This was due to the ground being dry when the weather was below zero. This fall water your lawn sometime in November or December. This will be good insurance for a pretty lawn next year as it might not snow or rain again this winter.

Wheat Provisions Discussed By Agriculture Department

The wheat program for 1964 under provisions of existing law are reviewed by the US Department of Agriculture in response to questions that have arisen since the referendum of May 21.

Price support will be available to producers who plant within the acreage allotments which have been established for the 1964 wheat crop. Allotments were announced in April. The national average support price will be 50 percent of parity. (The present parity price is $2.51 per bushel.) There will be no marketing quota penalties for planting in excess of acreage allotments.

However, the statute provides that producers who overplant their allotments will receive "history" credit only in the amount of their allotments.

Farmers who have Conservation Reserve contracts agreed to plant within their farm acreage allotments, and this means that the 1964 Conservation Reserve payment for the farm is dependent on compliance with the wheat acreage allotment.

Wheat that was grown in excess of marketing quotas in the past will be subject to the original penalty provisions until July 1, 1964. After that date, stored excess wheat may be released without penalty. The amount of such wheat in storage on farms and in warehouse is estimated at 45 million bushels. This could be increased from the 1963 crop, which is subject to marketing quotas, and excess wheat from this crop may be stored by the producer to avoid payment of the penalty. On the other hand, underplanting or underproduction of 1964-crop wheat could result in the early release of excess wheat that had been stored from previous crops to avoid payment of penalty.

Other items of interest to growers in administration of the 1964 wheat program without marketing quotas include:

ASC county committees will hear all appeals of 1964 farm wheat acreage allotments. Farmers have 15 days from the date of the county committee's decision to appeal to the ASC State Committee if they do not agree with the county committees decision.

Hearing on appeals of farm normal yields will not be scheduled because the yield figures will not be applicable for 1964. Where producers wish to furnish proven yield data, such data will be filed in the county office with other record of that farm.

TREE FEEDING—This sketch shows a tree's feeder root system and the proper spacing of holes to secure balanced feeding.

Growth of Trees Depends On Proper Fertilization

Many home owners assume a tree's slow growth is part of the plan of nature. As a result, because of improper feeding, trees are forced to pace their growth by decades rather than by years or months.

The overall growth of trees and the color of their foliage determine how much fertilizer they need, according to agronomists with a leading agricultural chemical company. Slow-growing trees with light green or yellow leaves should receive more fertilizer than trees showing normal growth.

Adequate tree fertilization is determined by the tree's trunk size, measured four feet above the ground. Four pounds of fertilizer for turf and trees per inch of trunk diameter will supply the amount of plant food the tree needs. Trees growing on infertile, light-textured soils should receive higher rates of fertilization, as should fruit and nut trees.

Proper placement of the plant food around the tree determines its effectiveness. The fertilizer must be placed to reach the tree's feeder roots, which extend outward around the tree just beyond the branch overhang. Therefore, fertilizer should be applied in holes 12 to 18 inches deep and 1½ feet apart around the tree. On light, sandy soil the holes may be more shallow.

After mixing the fertilizer with about three times its volume of good topsoil, pour the mixture to within four inches of the top of the holes. Finish filling the holes with soil and water thoroughly.

WHAT TO DO NOW

The evergreen santolina, used rather infrequently, is a beautiful small plant resembling the gray but it grows rather rapidly. Keep it sheared back.

The greenhouse ranges hold an ample supply of caladiums. Put these into the borders for summer color. The white varieties are particularly pretty in the evening and under light in the garden.

Keep putting in new St. Augustine grass as long as it is available. Since the first grass that came in after the freezes was not up to standard, plant now and keep well watered until established.

Continue to weed regularly to prevent seeding. Weeds take up both food and moisture intended for the plants and flowers. All lawn weeds should be kept out.

Trailing geranium in several varieties makes a beautiful hanging basket. The vine-like growth is graceful in its form and quickly hangs down to cover the basket.

There are still many small started plants on the market—especially petunias, caladium and coleus.

Unless the trumpet vines (sometimes called "cow vines") are controlled, seedlings will invade grass areas and become pests in persistence to grow. Digging these out is a real chore and only partially successful.

Plant zinnia seed to prolong the blooming period of these fine annuals. More seed may be planted in July to last until frost.

Grassula, a sun-loving plant, will brighten the summer borders or make a pot collection that is beautiful.

THE MORSE CODE

A meeting of the Church Participation committee of the Community Improvement program was held at the Methodist Church Tuesday night.

Purpose of the meeting was to formulate plans for the year to increase more church participation and cooperation among the churches of the community.

Plans were made for a Community Singspiration to be held at the Community church Sunday June 30 at 3:00 p. m. There will be special numbers from each church group as well as general assembly singing. Everyone is urged to attend this event.

Other plans were discussed and will be given at a later date.

The group adopted a slogan for their work, "Good community relations can grow only as community parents lead their children down the right road."

Members present were Mrs. Wilson McCloy, chairman, Rev. Vance Zinn, Rev. L. D. Cleveland, Rev. Harold Fleming, Alan Dixon, Judy Reiswig. Other members of the committee are Mack Dortch, Mike Johnson, and Robin Giblin.

A group of junior high students from Morse are attending the Texas Tech summer band camp being held on the campus of Tech this week. The camp officially opened Monday morning and will continue through July 3. Twirling, band and chorus will be offered during this period.

Those attending are Judy Gillispie, Bob Womble, Suzanne Dixon and Sylvia Parks. Perry Dixon took the group to Lubbock Sunday.

Carolyn Henderson was honored on her 11th birthday with a slumber party given by her mother, Mrs. Earl Henderson.

Guests present were Becky Fleming, Nancy McCloy, Maria Escamilla, Gail Brothers, DeAnn Schad and the honoree.

Junior leaders Judy Reiswig and Patricia Henderson of the

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woolley returned Sunday evening from a weeks vacation at San Isabel, Colo.

Morse 4-H club held a record book school for some of the younger members at the Reiswig home Monday afternoon. First year girls were Cheryl McCloy, Nancy McCloy, Becky Fleming, Maria Escamilla and Carolyn Henderson, second year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dortch and family of Colorado are visiting in the home of his parents, the Mack Dortches. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Dortch and children of Spearman were also guests in the Mack Dortch home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wilson of Sunray were guests of the Desmond Kellys Sunday. The Wilsons have a new three weeks old son.

Mrs. Henry Reid underwent surgery Friday morning in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Renda and Kenneth Woodruff of Amarillo, grandchildren of the F. W. Boney, are visiting in the home of their grandparents at the present time.

Miss Leta Allen of Childress was a guest of Joyce Schick this past week. Her parents, the Ivan Allens, came after her on Saturday.

On Saturday afternoon a group of Leta's friends gathered at the home of Jeannie Womble for a visit.

Russell Welch went to Liberal on Sunday to get his daughter Jene who has spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mead while her mother is in the hospital at Shattuck.

The Way I See It

Robert Cordes, Pastor
Oslo Lutheran Church

The human mind is composed of the conscious and the sub-conscious. If we want to remember things, we can store them in the sub-conscious and have the facts, names, etc. available.

The mind can also store in the sub-conscious mind things that we want to forget. For example, we can have some serious sins we have committed. The guilt weighs heavily upon our conscience. We want peace. But where to get it? So often humans bury their guilts, fears and evil feelings--hoping that with time the scar of guilt will be forgotten.

If forgiveness is not found, the pressures of these guilts and fears can build in pressure and proportion---much like a balloon. Eventually something has to pop. This condition can cause ulcers, or nervous breakdowns, unnormal actions and even vicious actions as the soul seeks for some relief.

All of us do evil. "The good that I would I do not; but the evil which I would not, that I do" states Paul. Where do you find relief? Or are you seeking it? Often we try to cover up our sordid life. I know many try to present a very good front to the pastor and are afraid to openly confess their guilts for fear the pastor will think less of the person when the sin is exposed.

But sooner or later we must find relief for our burdened souls and conscience. Where? God doesn't leave us in this terrible situation. He sent His Son Jesus into the world to get us out of this "jam". Jesus rescued us from the guilts of our sins so in Him we can again be free.

He promises, "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." (1 Ju. 1:9) Trust this promise. Confess your guilts. Get them out in the open where the Lord can assure you He does cleanse. Guilt and burdens buried in the sub-conscious mind always cause torture to the person. Believe me, you will suffer if you don't. Come to your Savior in true confession--and if you so desire to the ones against whom you have sinned. Then go in peace.

Mrs. Emma Atteberry of Mercedes was in Spearman last week visiting her brother Joe Reeves and Mrs. Mattie Ruth Richardson. Mrs. Atteberry will be remembered as Emma Reeves, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Reeves who formerly lived in Spearman. She is presently teaching school in Mercedes.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mullins went to Goodwell on Sunday and brought back their granddaughters, Jan and Jodie, to spend a few days. Mrs. Roger Mullins came Monday and visited till Wed. in the Oscar Mullins home taking the girls home on Wednesday.

Agriculture Industry Not Losing People

It is common knowledge that the number of people on Texas farms and ranches is declining. But it is less commonly known that many of the people leaving the country are not leaving the agricultural industry.

Today nearly 40% of all Texans derive their income wholly or in part from farming and ranching or connected businesses, says John McHaney, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. These businesses supply the production needs of farmers and process and distribute agricultural products, he adds.

Many agricultural processes that were once handled on the farm are now performed by these businesses and likewise much labor that was once needed on the farm is used by them. As one example, farmers today purchase most of their power in the form of gasoline and machinery instead of raising animals and feeding them, says McHaney. Therefore, workers that supply these production needs perform a service for the farmer and are partially dependent on him for their living. About 96% of the agricultural production in Texas must pass through the business firms of the state before reaching the final consumer, he points out.

There are many reasons for the growing interdependence of agriculture and business, says McHaney. Some of them are that farming and ranching require a large capital investment, more cash is spent for living expenses and crop production today, and farmers are more dependent on the market place.

Increased efficiency in farm and ranch production has released much labor to the urban areas but much of this labor retains its connection with agriculture. Today's agricultural industry involves more than farming and ranching, the economist concludes.

Battle Against Screwworms Continues

A new wrinkle has been added in the battle to eradicate screwworms from the Southwest. Screwworm flies reared and sexually sterilized in a plant near Mission are now fed prior to being released from airplanes over large portions of the five-state eradication area.

Entomologists have found that feeding gives the flies a better chance for survival after being released and results in larger numbers of vigorous flies available for the program.

A small paper cup containing a cotton ball and corn syrup is placed inside each carton at the same time the box is filled with sterilized pupae. After the flies have emerged, they can feed until they are released.

Experts list these advantages to fly-feeding:

More flies are alive at release time, since cartons can be held an extra day giving pupae more time to emerge.

Flies live longer after release and are better able to find shelter and food in nature.

Fewer flies are lost during periods when unfavorable weather does not permit aerial release and flies may have to be held for several days.

Also during cold weather, it is possible to hold the flies until they are ready to mate, while otherwise many probably would not survive that long in nature.

Eradication officials are so pleased with the results of fly-feeding tests they are exploring means to completely mechanize the operation. They feel the initial expense could be paid off within a few months through savings in man-hours and reduced loss of sterile flies.

Seafair Queen Gail Reid —Seattle's Space Needle "Dwarfs" Mt. Rainier

Seafair Queen Gail Reid, the 600-foot Space Needle, and majestic Mt. Rainier, which rises over 14,000 feet, are three reasons why Seattle is a good place to visit. Queen Gail reigns over the 10-day Seafair celebration, August 2-11, which is the highlight of the summer vacation season. Parades, the $25,000 Seafair Trophy Race for unlimited hydroplanes, and a jam-packed program of marine-flavored events occupy the 10-day calendar that annually attracts tourists from throughout the nation.

SEATTLE, WASH. — A gigantic summertime fun festival — the 14th annual Seafair celebration — is being readied to take over where the Seattle World's Fair left off by focusing the attention of the nation's tourists on this maritime city.

Determined to continue the showmanship demonstrated during the multi-million Fair, Greater Seattle, Inc., a veteran civic promotion organization, unveiled plans for a million dollar summer season that include, in addition to the colorful ten-day Seafair extravaganza, top-flight musical productions and name Hollywood and Broadway entertainment.

Seafair will get under way August 2 and run through August 11 with the $25,000 purse Seafair Trophy Race for unlimited hydroplanes as the exciting climax. The water spectacular will bring the nation's fastest racing boats to Seattle's Lake Washington in a thrilling test of speed and endurance. Speds up to 180 miles per hour are commonplace in this event and a log-boom and beach full of a quarter-million spectators is again expected.

But, before the race, the untold tens of thousands of tourists, as well as Seattleites, gorge themselves on a menu that spans a myriad of events from archery to water skiing. While pretty queens and princesses, outlandish pirates, and regal Royalty hold sway over the mardi gras atmosphere, majestic parades serpentine their way through city streets. The Grande Parade, held the first Saturday of Seafair, annually draws 200,000 people, young and old. Theme of this year's parade is "The Golden Years". The U.S. Navy's Pacific Fleet visits during Seafair and sends 5,000 bluejackets ashore for a Seafair liberty.

The entertainment feature of Seafair is Al Sheehan's Aqua Follies, held nightly in Seattle's outdoor lakeside showplace the Aqua Theatre. Three hit musical shows, headed by Gretchen Wyler in "Redhead", are slated for the Aqua Theatre July 9 - July 13. Anna Maria Alberghetti, another Broadway TV and motion picture singing star, will star in "Kismet" at the lakeside theatre from July 23 through July 28.

Show business has to share the summer spotlight with a varied sports program, which includes a pre-season pro-football game on August 17, in the University of Washington Stadium featuring Kansas City vs. Oakland of the American Football League.

Changes Expected On Meat

USDA Releases Results of Study

WASHINGTON, June 18 — The Department of Agriculture predicted Tuesday "substantial changes" will have to be made in the structure of the meat industry in the Southern Plains within the next few years.

This prediction is the result of a study of the meat industry in Texas and Oklahoma made by Texas A&M and Oklahoma State University.

The two schools collected information on volumes of meat handled and procurement and selling practices from packers, wholesale meat distributors and retail food chains.

"This study is part of a program of continuing research to determine the structure of the Southern Plains livestock and meat industry, its competitive potential and the effects of economic forces such as population, income, and technology on the market structure," USDA said.

Large retail chains, and voluntary and co-operative retail groups — are growing rapidly and shifting to centralized meat buying. Retailer emphasis in buying is on products of specified quality and uniformity.

According to USDA, the increased importance of commercial cattle feeding of the Southern Plains has given the area its own supplies of quality beef.

Population and income growth have caused increased demand.

These are some of the things which may emerge: More specialization, increase in size of slaughtering plants, decrease in number of wholesaling firms, additional federal inspection of slaughtering facilities, and increased emphasis on pork and other cured products.
