Tahoka Sunday School.

In the interest of the Sunday school at Tahoka, we would like to say we need more interest taken in our Sunday school. Parents we need you and your children in the Sunday school, and you and your children need the Christian instruction which can not be secured elsewhere. There are not many children who take much interest in Sunday school unless their parents urge them. We find in Proverbs xii. 1. this Scripture, "Whoso loveth instruction loveth knowledge: but he that hateth reproof is brutish." We believe it is far better to have our children in Sunday school than it is to have them running at large over the town learning all the bad things. The Lord aimed for us to assemble ourselves together that we may learn more of him. Young men and ladies we need you very much, come and help us, and let us help you, we feel sure you will be profited. If the larger young folks will attend and take an interest it will encourage the children, we are going to expect your aid and support in our Sunday school work. Come out Sunday, we have new literature.—C. H. PETERS.

INTERESTING CHILDREN.

Youngsters of Oriental Ministers at Washington Never Heard of Christmas Before Coming Here.

There are in the foreign colony in Washington quite a number of children who never heard of Christmas until they came to the land of the free, says the Washington Times. Among them are the two sons and the daughter of the Chinese minister, the youngsters of the Korean legation, and Osman Sureya and Ali Haidas, the black-eyed little sons of Chekil Bey, the Turkish minister. When Wu Ting-Fang was Chinese minister he adopted the American Christmas to the extent that his young son was allowed to go to the white house each Christmas morning with a bouquet almost as large as himself designed as a token for the first lady of the land. In the Chinese colony are several children who have been enjoying an American Christmas for some years past. These fortunate youngsters are the children of Yung Kwai, the secretary-interpreter, whose wife is a New England woman.

Yukon Crops.

Along the valley of the Yukon potatoes, currants, raspberries and salmon berries mature during the hot summer days, which thaw the ground to a depth of four feet.

MOCCASINS FOR SOLDIERS.

Inquiries Made by Representatives of Powers at War for "Bangor's Golden Slippers."

Inquiries have been received in Bangor, Me., from persons supposed to represent either the Russian or the Japanese government concerning prices for moccasins in large quantities and the earliest date of delivery at Atlantic or Pacific ports. It is supposed that the moccasins are wanted for soldiers campaigning in Manchuria. For that purpose they would be eminently suitable, says the New York Sun.

The moccasin is the favorite footwear of the lumbermen of Maine, and was first made in Bangor in 1851. At first only one or two styles were made, but now moccasins are manufactured in great variety, ranging from slippers for women and children—soft as kid and embroidered with beads—to the stout boots and larigans of the Penobscot lumbermen.

Much of the sewing is still done by hand, being let out by the piece to French Canadian families in the neighborhood of Bangor. All moccasins are made of a specially prepared leather, rendered a golden yellow by a peculiar process of tanning.

The common moccasin is not proof against water, but it has room for several pairs of stockings, and that is a strong point in its favor. For keeping the feet warm and dry in cold weather the moccasin has no equal.

The greater part of the moccasin leather still comes from the place of its origin, Pawtucket, R. I., although a considerable quantity is tanned in Bangor. Some years ago Bangor men established factories at Red Wing, Minn., and Racine, Wis.

The dainty bath slippers, which are not really moccasins, but are made from soft elk skin, are in great demand at home and abroad, and are especially favored by the ladies of Japan, to which country Bangor sends large quantities. It now seems likely that "Bangor's golden slippers," as moccasins are called, may be worn by the contending armies in Manchuria.

Magnificent Distances.

The diocese of Kiawatin, in Rupert's Land, is one of magnificent distances. Bishop Lofthouse once walked 200 miles to fetch a doctor for his wife. Many of the Indians walk 25 miles to church, and the bishop has baptized scores of babies which had been carried 150 miles on their mothers' backs over hard-frozen snow. At night the family sleep, wrapped in the deer skins, on branches laid upon the snow.

Yes! Hampton & Son have it.

Lynn, June 30, 1905
Awkard Wilham is very sick, suffering from the results of "over-tu much fude" to use his one words.

The recent rain has left this neck of the woods in a flourishing condition, crop condition were never better, every bodies cotton is good and the indications are that it will make from one half to two thirds of a bale,

Mr. McCornwick who bough the north half of the Bennet section of Lump Wood's, is fencing his place and has the lumber on the ground to builb his house.

Will Montgomery has at last recieved the long looked for wind mill repairs and Mr. Addison has been helping him put up his wheel.

Mr. C Holden arrived Monday with a load of freight for V. R. Kershner.

Every body that is not fighting blue weeds has gohe plum hunting and it seems as thouge hunting is about sll some of them get.

Mr. Morgan and wife have left for Knox county, he has got his crops worked out and has gone back to move to his place.

ESPEJO.

Wedding Bells.

News was received in town Thursday that Deacon Jones was married. Considering that every one has been expecting this very bit of news, the Deacon and the County Clerk were so cute about it that no one found it out until they were ready to have it told. The Deacon was smart enough to get out of town with out having any questions asked. Rev. Walter Griffith of Lubbock performed the cerimony at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Standefer, at eight o'clock Wednesday evening. A nice supper was then served, to which all did justice. The wedding was a very quiet affair. The happy pair have gone on a pleasure trip and will not return to their home in Tahoka for several days.

THE HEALER.

There was a scar on yonder mountain side,
Gashed out where once the cruel storm
had trod;
A barren, desolate chasm, reaching wide
Across the soft green sod.
But years crept by beneath the purple
pines,
And veiled the scar with grass and moss
once more,
And left it fairer now with flowers and
vines
Than it had been before.
There was a wound once in a gentle heart,
Whence all life's sweetness seemed to ebb
and die;
And love's confiding changed to bitter
smart,
While slow, sad years went by.
Yet as they passed, unseen an angel stole,
And laid a balm of healing on the pain,
Till love grew purer in the heart made
whole,
And peace came back again.
"O, wondrous balm of Time on pain and tears!"
One saith: "O healing touch on soul and sod!"
Yea; but the hands that wrought within
the years—
They are the hands of God.
—Mabel Earle, in S. S. Times.

Some Things He Did Not Do.

Thomas Dunn English, who died recently, is to be described on his tombstone: "Author, Editor, Lawyer, Soldier, Physician and Statesman." The Kansas City Star remarks that future generations will be left to wonder, naturally, why he never studied music and china painting.

Has Used Boots 52 Years.

George N. Arnold, of Delavan, Wis., rejoices in the possession of a pair of calfskin boots which he has worn 52 years and which still are in good condition. Mr. Arnold bought the boots in Moravia, N. Y., and has used them for Sundays and "dress up" occasions ever since.

DOUBLE BALLOON AIRSHIP.

Invention of an Englishman That Will Be Something New and Novel.

A new type of dirigible balloon, invented by L. J. Anderson, of London England, is described in the Scientific American. The principal feature is that two balloons, placed side by side, of identical shape and capacity, are employed to lift the vessel. The model having proved successful to the inventor a full-sized vessel is now being constructed. The balloons are elliptical in shape, and will measure 70 feet in length by 27 feet diameter at the widest part. They will each hold approximately 27,000 feet of hydrogen gas, thus giving them a lifting power of 4,000 pounds.

The framework, or deck, of the vessel will measure 75 feet in length, and is to be constructed of bamboo. Another feature of the craft will be the employment of three propellers. The main propeller will be placed at the stern, together with the rudder. By an ingenious arrangement, however, the pitch of the driving propeller may be varied from the deck of the vessel as desired, the object of which is to use it as an auxiliary though powerful rudder, for maintaining or altering the ship's course according to the exigencies that arise. Two subsidiary propellers are placed at the bow and stern of the deck respectively, and are intended to supplement the driving power of the mechanism. The whole of machinery is placed between the two balloons; for the inventor holds that by this design the improvement of the steering possibilities and the maintenance of a straight course are materially increased. The motion of the propellers and their design are entirely new, coinciding as nearly as possible, to a reciprocatory motion, so that the nearest approach to the motion of a bird's wing is obtained. The propellers are to measure 30 feet in diameter.

The motive power is to be supplied from a 50-horsepower electric motor, and the inventor anticipates that a speed varying from 14 to 20 miles an hour in fair weather will be attained. The total weight of the vessel will be 3,000 pounds, which leaves a balance of 1,000 pounds, after deducting this weight from the lifting capacity of the aerostat, for the carriage of passengers, ballast, etc. It is hoped that the balloon will be ready for trials some time this, and its total cost will approximate $10,000.

Just as Effective.

A Missouri man has been fined for contempt of court under precedents extending back to the time of Julius Caesar. It would have been as effective, however, says the Chicago Daily News, had the court fined him just because it could.
