PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

In the time-flooded delta of our dreams, the architecture of ambition either stands resolute against the current or dissolves into the silt. If its foundation reaches the bedrock of sincerity and if its strength is the product of joy in work, the future will adopt the design.

Society hardly expects us to be perfect in behavior all the time. The supreme wisdom of nature fully appreciates the disaster in monotony that would accumulate in a single generation. The percentage of respectability we are able to attain is controlled mainly by the tolerance of those who know us.

Alcohol is readily absorbed by too much leisure.

Duty seems to function more admirably when it is freighted with distress.

My personal appreciation of luxury has amounted to secret homage at the shrine of a hoped-for adventure; a fabulous safari across the serene mesa of plenty. It has been reduced, however, by the abrasive factors of experience. I believe my forlorn dream might be appeased with nothing more than an abundance of bath soap, making it possible for me to discard the water thin and broken remnants without a feeling of guilt.

Democracy would be easier to explain if all citizens were the same kind of clothes, drove the same make of automobiles, had the same size bank account, belonged to the same political party and performed the same amount of work. Phew! That's the same kind of democracy that exists in prison.

Faith is the star that will return when the temporal cloud is gone; the dawn into the darkest night which must perish.

The pioneer cowboy met his obstacles with admirable courage and confidence. His life was often dependent on his ability to cope with scarcity and his talent for improvising. The almost forgotten custom of killing a rattlesnake with a lariat rope is an example of solving a seemingly impossible situation. The code of the cattle country forbade leaving the deadly reptile, yet the terrain provided no sticks or rocks. The answer was the rope. The practice was considered dangerous since an infuriated snake would often strike the rope and break off poisonous fangs that would later break the skin of bare hands.

Area Theatres To Show 'Mackintosh And T. J.'

Roy Rogers' first movie in over 20 years will open on the premiere date of February 6, at the Midway Theatre between Turkey and Quitaque, and run through February 11, it was announced here this week by Bob Ham, owner.

The movie, "Mackintosh and T. J.," was filmed in the Matador and Dickens area, and many local and area people are in various scenes. The 6666 Ranch between Dickens and Guthrie was the setting for most of the filming.

Mrs. D. N. Gregory, manager of the Palace Theatre in Paducah has announced that the film is booked there, also starting February 6, to run twice each night for a week, 6:30 and 9 p.m. with a matinee at 3 p.m. Sunday.

She said that reservations for advance tickets are available and may be made for whatever date during the week of showing, that persons may wish. The management requests that a self-addressed, stamped envelope be mailed in with the request for reservations. Tickets will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children.

WORLD PREMIERE of the film will be at the Winchester Theatre in Lubbock, February 5, and will be a benefit for the Ranching Heritage Center at the Museum of Texas Tech University.

Roy Rogers will be on hand for the event and those attending will have a reception at 7 p.m. in the lobby of the theatre. The film will start at 8 p.m.

Tickets were originally offered as, Donor tickets, $10., Sponsor tickets, $25. and Golden Row tickets, $50. with those holding Golden Row tickets privileged to attend an after-theatre supper party for Rogers.

It was announced this week that the $10 Donor tickets are sold out, but good seats in the Sponsor rows at $25. are available. More than two-thirds of the Golden Row tickets at $50. are taken, according to Mrs. F. B. Pyle Jr., chairman of the Benefits Division for the Bicentennial event.

Tickets may be purchased from the Ranching Heritage Center, Box 4612, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Tex. 79409.

The center now is planning its formal opening for July 2-5. It is an authentic outdoor exhibit depicting the history of ranching in America's West.

"Mackintosh and T. J." is a contemporary western, filmed at the 208,000 acre 6666 Ranch near Guthrie. None of the sets was constructed. All are set against the backdrop of the ranch. Instead of a 10-gallon hat and buckskin, Rogers' costuming is usually a straw hat and cotton shirt. Instead of Trigger, Roy's transportation is a broken-down pickup truck.

Rogers' co-star is Clay O'Brien who was born six years after Roy's last picture, "Son of Paleface," was released. O'Brien is no newcomer, however. Now 14, he began his career when he was 9 in "The Cowboys."

Rogers, the star of 87 feature films before the long dry spell, chose "Mackintosh and T. J." because of the story. There's action—bronc busting, brawls, a rabies epidemic, and even murder. "But it's the relationship between the tough old cowboy and the fatherless boy that gives the picture its 'heart,'" said Roy. Rogers adds understanding to the part as he himself is the father of nine—four of his children adopted and one a foster child.

First comments, according to Tim Penland, producer, indicate that audiences will see the picture as "top rate entertainment for the whole family."

Director Marvin Chomsky calls Rogers "one of the most unflappable actors I've ever worked with."

Congressman Hightower Announces Nominations To Service Academies

Hightower named George Joseph Hanko, III of Wichita Falls, James Newburn Whyte of Amarillo, and Dennis Dale Pittman of Iowa Park as his nominations to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, New York. Michael Noel Sullivan of Memphis and Tommy Tankersley of Amarillo were nominees to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland.

A maximum of five residents of each Congressional District are allowed to attend each academy during any single academic year. The number of available openings created each year is determined by the number of students from the Congressional District who graduated or have left the academies for other reasons.

Hightower's selections are based on the recommendations of his Academy Selection Committee. The Committee consists of thirteen individuals residing throughout the Thirteenth District. They carefully considered the qualifications of all students who had completed the preliminary application and made their selections.

"I could not be more pleased with the quality of the applicants we considered," Hightower said. "The competition was intense, but I am delighted to be able to present such high calibre nominees to the academies."

Each of the academies reviews the various qualifications of the nominees and will notify them of their acceptability during the Spring. Those selected will begin classes in June.

County Agent Pallmeyer Says

This article ties in with a previous one on pruning, and as there is only one way to prune, "the right way," you may be interested in the following.

There's not one reason for topping trees, and in fact, nine out of 10 times, there's no reason for pruning at all if you've kept the tree hale and hearty.

Deciduous trees and shrubs, vines, ground covers, and evergreens should all be pruned now. Exceptions are spring-flowering shrubs like azaleas, forsythia, bridal wreath and gardenias, which should be pruned after they flower. If you have hybrid tea roses, wait until Feb. 5-20.

Hand shears are fine for small twigs under 1/2 inch in diameter, and long-handled lopping shears are fine for timber 1/2 inch to 1 inch in size, and for limbs over 1 inch in diameter, use a pruning saw.

Make all cuts flush with the trunk as stubs don't heal properly.

Seal big cuts (over 1 inch in diameter) with a pruning paint.

Repair damaged plants at once, because it is more important to keep plants healthy year-round than wait for the correct season.

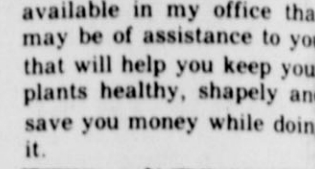

Use common sense when pruning, and check to see that limbs don't fall on power lines or on you.

Always prune after trans-planting, especially for ball- ed and bare-rooted plants, especially big ones. This compensates for roots lost in the digging.

Beware of the door-to-door pruner. Rely on an established business; with years of reputation.

Have a reason for pruning, don't prune just to pass the time away. Bulletins are available in my office that may be of assistance to you that will help you keep your plants healthy, shapely and save you money while doing it.

The tasty banana is second cousin to the gorgeous orchid.

Message Of Importance

Madeline Murray O'Hare is at it again! Several years ago she succeeded in making it illegal to pray a state prescribed prayer in the public school. Now she has obtained 27,000 signed letters protesting the decision of the astronauts to read the Bible as a Christmas message, to the world from their space craft while orbiting the moon in December 1968. She plans to present these letters to NASA with the demand that the astronauts be publicly censured for their act and a further demand to prohibit any further demonstration of religion by public leaders. If this goes through, it could stop the mention of God and prayer on T.V.

There will be a Federal Hearing in Washington to try to ban any religious broadcasting on "radio and television." This covers all Sunday Worship Services that are broadcast over the radio and the services on television. It will also include banning the Norman Vincent Peale and the Hunter Ministry and any other religious programs on T. V. Many sick, elderly, and shut-in people depend on radio and TV to fulfill their worship needs. Mrs. O'Hare will succeed if Christians do nothing! Here is what you can do. Sign, detach and mail the form below immediately. Be sure it is filled in. Would you ask friends to do the same?

OUR FLAG
Historical Highlights

Not many Americans, according to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserves, are familiar with the third stanza of the Star-Spangled Banner. Here it is.
Oh, thus be it ever when freemen shall stand, Between their loved homes and the war's desolation; Blest with vict'ry and peace, may the heav'n rescued land Praise the Power that has made and preserved us a nation.

TEXAS TALK

Book reviews in this column are about as common as a quarter a gallon gasoline... but, a first time for everything. This particular book is the 1975 Yearbook of Agriculture, entitled, "That We May Eat." Released late last year by the Department of Agriculture, the book presents a collective history of the contributions made by state agricultural experiment stations during the past one hundred years. Those contributions... ranging from the discovery of vitamins to the creation of hybrid corn... are explained in terms of their actual importance to the consumer. Containing 400 pages, the hardbound book features 32 pages of full color photography which graphically depicts the growth of the state experiment stations. To obtain a copy, send $7.30 to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 30403.
