Matador Ranch Marker Dedications

Bundy and Vance Campbell with Henry H. Campbell Historical Marker

by Marisue Potts

Though attending historical marker dedications is not an unusual event for public officials, attending three in one day must be considered quite a feat!

Texas Legislators, Senator Steve Carriker of Roby and Representative Warren Chisum of Pampa were in Motley County on August 24 to partake in the Old Settlers parade, memorial activities, and marker dedications for the Matador Ranch, H.H. Campbell and Frank Mitchell.

markers followed a keynote address by Dr. David Murrah of the Southwest Collection of Texas Tech at the memorial service. A capacity crowd packed the Pioneer Pavilion in Roaring Springs to hear Murrah cite many examples of hardships faced and conquered by the early pioneers. The terse, condensed language of marker inscriptions cannot document the personal stories.

On hand to accept kudos for the unique design of the Campbell marker was District Engineer Vance Castleberry of the Texas Highway Department.

Special guests included John V. Stevens, Manager of the Matador Land and Cattle Co. Ltd., from 1946-1951; Retired Major General M.J. "Tex" Reilly of Albuquerque, N.M., whose father was manager from 1921 until 1946; and John Lincoln, first president of the Matador Cattle Co., division of Koch Industries.

in a wagon symbolizing all the past and present Matador cowboys. Riding beside the mule drawn wagon was the youngest cowboy, John Colton Russell, age 1 1/2, in the saddle with his grandpappy Sonny Russell. Dennis Gaines represented the modern Matador Cowboy as an employee of Koch.

Several group pictures of families, managers, cowboys, and Matador Ranch women were taken for the Motley County Historical Commission archives.

I certainly enjoyed my Saturday afternoon visit with Peggy and her mother, Norma Nell Marrs, and also the Martins from Lorenzo. She is the daughter of Riley Riggsby. Mary Ruth Counts Kingman, Box 6364, Titusville, FL 32782 was hoping to find a "best friend" classmate of hers whose name I have forgotten, but it seems like it was Mary Beth. Mary Ruth and Jettie Moss are hoping to arrange a class reunion next year. If any of you readers want in on that, or just want to get in touch with Mary Ruth, she left the above address for you. She got to take home the award for coming the farthest to Old Settlers.

The next big happening at the Library will be September 9th, when we will host an autograph party for Motley County's newest published author, Mr. John Lincoln of Roaring Springs. You will be able to buy his book RICH GRASS AND SWEET WATER, meet the author, and have him autograph your copy if you come in after 3:00 p.m. There will be refreshments, too, furnished by Friends of Motley County Library. We certainly appreciate Mr. Lincoln allowing us to be the first to introduce his book to the public. I hope you read the article by Michelle Bearden about Mr. Lincoln and his book in last weeks "Old Settlers" issue of the Motley County Tribune.

On the following Tuesday, September 12, at 10:30 a.m. the preschoolers will meet for their Reading program again. We will find out how many have graduated at Kindergarten, and see who has gotten old enough to attend since last year. We have some books to preview, films to see, and Lola will be back! All children from 2 1/2 years old to Kindergarten age are welcome to come and meet new friends and enjoy all the activities.

Winifred Lee did it again with a window display that had just the right old-time look to tie in with Guys and Gals Old Settlers decorations. Thank you! I hope you will come in to take a closer look and enjoy the articles from the Southwest Collection that Marisue Potts arranged in our display case.

Correct me if I'm wrong, but while I was scanning back copies of Library Notes to find when we had last published out of town guests, it appeared that I had failed to mention the display of Sandra King's Wildflower watercolors that had drawn so many favorable comments. We enjoyed them and thank Sandra for sharing them. June Keltz had done the beautiful job of matting and framing them and furnished the easels for them.

Larry Markham came to our rescue again and fixed the chair we used at the checkout desk. It's back had been sprained so that it nearly laid you in the floor if you leaned back. But since Larry came in this morning, it's an upright again. Thank you, Larry.

I said to Wilda one morning when she was writing Library Notes while I was meeting with a Reading Group. "We need to put in a Thank you for the Memorial donations." She asked, "How far back?" Neither of us have found the time to answer that question yet, but maybe we will before next Tuesday. Meanwhile, let us assure you that we do appreciate donations given in memory of loved ones and the donations we have received for the book fund by people who didn't even get to enjoy the entertainment of Dennis and Buck, and also out-of-towners like Patricia Green who pays dues to Friends of the Library just because they are glad we have one.

READER'S COLUMN

THE FLANKERS

by James (Tootie) Meador

We have told about the wild horse riders and about the calf draggers, but we've never written about the hub of a branding, which is your flankers. Every man in the branding depends on the flankers. Your de-horners, your branding man, your needle man and your knife man.

I'm going to tell about some of the best flankers that I've worked with or seen perform.

We will start with the smallest man first. The best small man I've seen flank is Banty Brandon. Banty would go down the rope talking to those big calves and when he let them up he'd be talking to them. Banty was so quick if he ever had to flank a calf a second time, if you weren't looking straight at him you would never notice it. I've seen Banty flank a 600 lb. maverick at the Bird ranch and he threw him as high as his head.

The best tall flanker I ever saw was Slim Durham. I've seen Slim grab an old big calf and spit that red tag Tinsley clear across the corral and turn a flip.

The stoutest flankers I've ever seen work was G.T. Bird, Luther Lancaster, Pocket Crawford and W.O. Cox.

During the war I came back on furlough and went to the wagon. It was camped at Dugout or Turtle Hole. W.O. Cox was flanking and somebody hollered, "beef". When they did W.O. picked up a calf as high as his head and came down and broke his neck. That stopped the branding for a little while. The cook and the hoodlum and one cowboy had to butcher the calf. All that was ever said, Red Payne said, "Who in the hell hollered beef."

I've seen G.T. Bird go to the back of an old yearling, grab him by the tail and throw him. How he ever did that I don't know, but he could.

I've flanked a lot of calves with Luther Lancaster and one thing I hated about it, they would always drag him the biggest calves.

When I was at the JA's, there was a man working there by the name of Jack Curry who ran the wagon for Johnny Stevens at Alamositos. He told me that Johnny Stevens was a very stout flanker and he showed them he could flank calves with the best of them.

Good draggers like good flankers, the best draggers I ever took a calf off the rope was John Stotts and Don Dobie. Good flankers like to pick good draggers too.

The Wagon Hammer was working cattle at Wolf Creek. I went over to hold them. That summer some boys from Lubbock came down to work for the Wagon Hammer. There was one boy named Pepper and that day he was having a little trouble flanking and Charles Payne told him, "you need to tell that old man that's dragging calves (which was John Stotts) to give him plenty of slack." All that Stotts did was nod his head, and he got all the slack he could handle. He had on a Levi jacket. It was cut to threads, and was bleeding a little bit and was give out. Finally Pappy Deaton told him, "Pepper you get over there and rest, you're doing more work than all the rest". He didn't argue with Pappy. That's a hard way to learn to be a flanker.

When Claude Jeffers was running the wagon in the thirty's, the California roll was very popular. We were branding at Ben Edwards and War Rattan was dragging calves. I asked Kenneth Jeffers if he could still do the California roll. He handed me the needle and told Ward to drag him out the biggest calf in there. He threw out 3 or 4 calves for me rolling them over his right hip and threw them nearly across the corral. It looked awful easy but I never got brave enough to try it.

There's still good flankers, but these men are outstanding in my eyes. I'm sure the men that worked with them would agree with me. I could name a bunch more good flankers. My two sons, Charles and Joey are good flankers. J.G. Campbell was a good calf flanker and Alvin (Bull) Durham.

Flanking is kinda like hauling wood. you dread it, but its something thats got to be done. It seemed easy to the men I've mentioned and really not hard work.

It would be hard to replace the men I've mentioned. In my book they are and were professionals.

Thank You

I cannot find the words that can even begin to express how my family and I feel. We are so richly blessed by having friends and neighbors like all of you. The spirit of caring and sharing that everyone has shown toward us is almost beyond our comprehension. Thanks to everyone for all the food brought, beautiful flowers, the many cards with such comforting notes, phone calls, personal visits, for the many donations to the "Love Fund" for us, for all the labor, donations, and love that went into making the house so bright and cheery for us to come back home to, and all the many other acts of kindness and love that each and everyone of you all have shown toward us. We appreciate it all very much! Thank you all for being here when we needed you and helping us to begin our lives again.

Letter To The Editor

Another Way....

Problem: The City of Roaring Springs needs water and the Ranch needs treated water.

Suggested Solution: Let the City set up the treatment center near the water supply at the ranch. The City would be responsible for the treatment of the water and pumped to the City.

Results: The ranch would have potable water. The City would have potable water at a reasonable cost.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture via the August 16 Federal Register has invited public comment on pending upland cotton program decisions. In turn, Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, is inviting input from its members on the comment PCG plans to submit to reflect the views of producers on the High Plains.

Interested parties have until October 16 to submit comment for USDA's consideration in formulating 1990 program details, some of which by law must be announced by November 1. According to Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, PCG initiated development of its comment at an Executive Committee meeting August 22. But committee members, Johnson says, agreed to delay the finalizing of program recommendations until near the deadline. "Meanwhile we'll have an opportunity to discuss the issues with more of our people, plus we'll have the advantage of the information available in the September and October crop reports and supply-demand estimates."

Two major components of next year's program, the loan level and target price, are not up for debate. The loan level is set by a statutory formula at 50.06 cents, and USDA will consider no alternative to the 72.9 cent minimum target price set by law.

What PCG considers the most significant issue on which the Department requests comment concerns acreage reduction - whether there should be an acreage reduction program (ARP), what percentage reduction should be required, and whether it should be supplemented by a paid acreage diversion program. The PCG group, pending receipt of future reports on U.S. and world production, domestic consumption and exports, settled on a tentative recommendation that a 15 percent ARP be required and that producers be given the option to divert an additional 10 percent for pay.

Other major program provisions under consideration include:

- Which of two marketing loan programs should be implemented, Plan A or Plan B. Plan A calls for a fixed loan repayment of level applicable for the entire season. Plan B, the plan in effect for the past three years, entails a variable loan repayment rate set each week at the adjusted world price.

- Whether loan deficiency payments should be made to producers who, although otherwise eligible, agree to forego obtaining loans. The payment rate equals the difference, if any, between the loan and loan repayment rates.

- Whether to implement the inventory reduction or "half-ARP" provision. This feature offers loan deficiency payments to producers who forego both the loan and deficiency payments and plan no more than their crop acreage base minus one-half the announced ARP percentage. Payments must be made from government-owned cotton stocks and are based on the quantity of cotton otherwise eligible to be placed under loan. There would be no payment if prices remain above the loan rate or if, as is currently projected, government stocks are inadequate to operate the program.

On these provisions, the PCG committee favors recommending (1) continued use of the Plan B marketing loan program, (2) continuation of loan deficiency payments on a bale-by-bale basis and (3) implementation of a "half-ARP" program.

Social Security Tips For Motley County

When the idea of direct deposit of social security checks was first introduced in the middle 1970's most people were not used to the idea of having their checks deposited directly into accounts in their financial institutions. They were used to having their checks in their hands by the 3rd of the month.

To prevent their checks from sitting in the mailbox for a long time, beneficiaries had to be home when the checks were delivered.

On many occasions, plans for a vacation or trip scheduled to start before the 3rd of the month, or to end many days after the beginning of the month, had to be changed out of concern for their checks. Then the idea of direct deposit began to be more attractive.

To be home on the 3rd of the month was not always enough. Sometimes the check didn't arrive on time. There was also the standing in line to cash the check.

All these concerns are solved with direct deposit. When people started discovering the advantages of this service, the number of beneficiaries with direct deposit grew. However, 50 percent of the 38.6 million of social security beneficiaries now have direct deposit.

Advantages of direct deposit include: freedom from worry, freedom to be far from home any date of the month, freedom from waiting in line to cash the check, and the assurance that the check is safe in the bank ready to be used at any moment from any place.

And this can be supported by more than 18 million social security beneficiaries who are presently enjoying the advantages of this service.

To arrange for direct deposit, just contact any social security office. Be sure to have your social security number and a copy of your deposit slips, or something that shows information about your account.

For more information or to file a claim call 1-800-2345-SSA.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
Michael A. Guido
Metter, Georgia

A little girl misplaced her birth certificate, and she cried, "I lost my excuse for being born!"
It's sad if you haven't discovered why you were born. Our Lord said, "For this reason was I born, to bear witness to the truth." He knew what He was living for.

Just as God had a plan for His life, so He has one for yours. Would you like to discover it?

Turn your life over to Him. Then with the Father above you controlling all things, with the Saviour beside you directing your footsteps, and with the Spirit within you impressing you inwardly, you'll find God's plan for your life.

Allison - Todd Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris Todd

Carol Campbell Allison and Robert Morris Todd were married July 8, at Saldo United Methodist Church, Salado, Texas with the Rev. Joe Bentley officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her son, James Todd Allison of Mineola, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Lucretia Campbell of Matador and the late R.E. Campbell Jr. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Morris Todd of Tin Cup, Colorado.

The double-ring ceremony, held in the late 18th century white frame church with a towering steeple and stained glass sanctuary, was decorated with large white fan-shaped baskets of longstemmed red and pink roses, pink baby's-breath and pink snapdragons. The altar arrangement was flanked by white candles in brass holders. Pews down the bridal aisle were marked by pink snapdragons tied with darker pink ribbons.

Richard Campbell III, brother of the bride, and his daughter, Jana, of Lubbock sang "All I Ask Of You," a love theme duet from The Phantom of the Opera. Mr. Campbell also sang "When I Found Love," and closed the ceremony with the altar prayer, "Shall We Break Bread Together." He was accompanied by organist Nancy DeWees of Fort Worth.

Matron of honor was Charlotte Richardson, Dallas, sister of the bride. Dr. Richard Todd of St. Louis, Mo., brother of the bridegroom was best man. Craig Christian of Pflugerville served as usher.

Flower girls were Elizabeth Todd-Chatin, niece of the bridegroom, and Cameron Christian, great-niece of the bride. Ring bearer was Byron Campbell, nephew of the bride.

The bride wore a waltz length white Capriccio Irish linen dress by Digna, featuring a Victorian neckline and hand-stitched lace bodice with tulip sleeves, a design that was repeated in the hemline that swept to ankle length. Her headpiece was sprigs of baby's-breath and fern tucked in an up-swept hair-do. She carried a bouquet of pink and red roses and pink baby's-breath tied in a nosegay with dark pink ribbon. Matron of honor wore a pink linen two-piece suit with pink glass beads embossed on the bodice and sleeves. Her bouquet matched the bride's bouquet.

The bridegroom wore a light gray suit with a gray and rose silk tie. Best man also was dressed in a gray suit with which he wore a gray silk tie.

Dresses worn by the flower girls were white, floor length lace over pink taffeta with pink satin ribbon sashes. They wore pink and white satin ribbons in their hair and carried white baskets with miniature pink and red roses with baby's-breath.

The ring bearer was dressed in a gray jacket with a bright rose cummerbund and bow tie. He carried a pink and white needlepoint pillow designed and hand-crafted by the bridegroom's mother.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece pastel floral suit, and the bridegroom's mother chose a pink linen dress trimmed with linen rosettes. Members of the wedding party and house party wore red rose and ivory ribbon silk corsages and boutonnières.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at The Rose Mansion, a turn of the century refurbished plantation estate in Salado. The Mansion, occupied for the weekend by the bridegroom's parents and family, was decorated with vases of roses. The lawn and brick patio area, shaded by giant live oaks, was the setting for the reception. Featured was a white, two-tiered wedding cake decorated with Doves of Peace and pink roses, and fruit punch along with a bridegroom's chocolate cake, and coffee.

Registering the guests at the church and reception and serving croissant sandwiches, fruit, melons, cheeses, nuts, and mints to guests were Rebekah and Jana Campbell, Lubbock, nieces of the bride and a friend, Sandi McGuire of Fort Worth. Sharon Murrah, Salado, played the piano and accompanied Jana Campbell in numerous solos for the occasion. Tables were covered with white linen cloths and decorated with pink flowers.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding and reception were three high school classmates of the bride, Mrs. Ann Lee Cox, Arlington; Mrs. James (Cherri) Karr, Whitney; and Janie Waybourn Brooks of Las Cruces, N.M. who furnished all the flowers as a courtesy to her longtime friend.

The Rose Mansion also was the scene of a pre-nuptial family party on July 7 in honor of the bridal pair. The picnic, hosted by the bride's niece and husband. Charise and Craig Christian of Pflugerville, was held on the garden patio and attended by 27 guests.

In addition to the hosts and their daughter, Cameron, others present were Mrs. R.E. Campbell, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Darsey of Matador; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Richardson, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Campbell III, Jana, Rebekah, and Byron, Lubbock; Todd Allison, Mineola; and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wallace, Amanda and Matthew, Grand Prairie.

The bridegroom's family included his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Todd, Tin Cup, Colo., and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gasser, Tulsa, OK, and Carol Gasser, Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Todd-Chatin and Elizabeth, Tusculooosa, Ala., and Drs. Richard Todd and Karen O'Malley, St. Louis, Mo.

Charlotte and Michael Richardson hosted a family brunch on July 9, at Mill Creek Country Club at Salado, honoring the new Mr. and Mrs. Robert Todd. Attending this event from Matador were Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Darsey and Forrest Campbell, and Louise Halsey of Borger.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd have established residence in Austin, at 2250 Ridgepoint Drive, 1502, where they are now employed. She formerly was employed at the Arlington Citizens Journal and has her degree from the University of Texas at Arlington. More recently she has been with the Dept. of Texas Human Resources in Fort Worth, where her husband also was employed in the aerospace program as an engineer and is now with the Texas Dept. of Aerospace in Austin.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a long formal gown of white bridal satin, silk imported Venise lace, and Shiffli lace. The V-neckline and malded satin bodice were enhanced by heavily beaded appliques trimmed with bridal pearls and sequins, and a large bow with Rosettes at back. The long sleeves, puffy at shoulders, were designed with beaded lace appliques and bridal point cuffs. The basque waist, pointed front and back, flowed into the softly gathered crystal satin skirt edged in band of Shiffli embroidered lace and cathedral train. She wore a fingertip veil of net with seed pearls and headpiece of white silk ribbon and lace. A white bible belonging to her mother was placed in the center of the bouquet and gold wedding bands belonging to her maternal great-grandmother and paternal grandmother, and a white lace handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother, were tied onto the bouquet.

The bride and groom's chosen colors of red and white highlighted the alter and aisle decorations. White satin bows adorned the ends of the pews and white bows, gossamer, and taper candles rested in the windows. Two heart candleabras and one double ring candelabra was arranged at the altar, with an archway and two large vases of Cladiolas and roses.

The centerpiece was the bride's bouquet. A hexagon-shaped chocolate cake with the bride and groom's monogrammed initials on top was on the groom's table, accented by silver tea service.

COTTON PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED

Two specialists from the District 3 office of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be in Motley County on Tuesday, September 5, to discuss cotton problems. They are Emory Boring III, Entomologist, and Al Alexander, Agronomist.

They will be visiting some local farms and answering questions on the cotton situation here in the county. The first stop will be at the home of James Gwinn near Whiteflat at 10:00 a.m. on Tuesday, September 5. Anyone who wishes to talk to either specialist can meet them there at that time. Both men are very knowledgeable in the areas of insects and cotton production and will be happy to discuss their views with you.

For more information you can contact me in the Motley County Extension office at 347-2733.

SOIL TEST FOR FALL WHEAT PLANTINGS

Farmers should take time in the next few weeks to collect soil samples from fields they plan to plant to wheat or other fall-seeded small grains.

Soil test results done now will be returned early enough to allow plenty of time to apply recommended nutrients and incorporate them into the soil during final seedbed preparation.

Incorporating or knifing nutrients into a moist seedbed is important to reduce nitrogen volatilization losses associated with surface-applied urea-containing fertilizers. It also allows placement of non-mobile nutrients such as phosphorus into the active root zone of plants.

Small grains that are to be grazed naturally require more fertilizer than ungrazed grain because of nutrients removed by grazing. About 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen are removed in forages grazed by stocker cattle for each 100 pounds of beef produced per acre.

"This nitrogen, less some recycling, must be replaced to provide adequate nutrition for grain production after livestock are removed.

A soil test remains the best way to determine fertilizer needs. It discloses how much of a given nutrient to apply, which depends on such factors as the level of that nutrient in the soil, residue levels, cropping history, available moisture, grazing practices and general management.

A general "rule of thumb" indicates that wheat requires about 2 pounds of nitrogen per bushel of grain produced. Therefore, a 30-bushel yield would remove about 60 pounds of available nitrogen per acre. A soil test will determine the amount of residual nitrate-nitrogen in the soil test will determine the amount of residual nitrate-nitrogen in the soil and reduce nitrogen recommendations by that amount.

Michael A. Guido
Metter, Georgia

In London one night a blind man was feeling his way down a dark street. In one hand was a white cane, and in the other a lantern.

A passer-by was amused. He asked, "Why are you carrying a lantern?"
"I'm not carrying it for myself," he answered. "It's for others. I don't want others to stumble over me."

It's your duty to think of everything, not as it affects yourself only, but as it affects others.

The Bible says, "Each of us will give an account of himself to God." Make up your mind not to put any stumbling block in your brother's way. Anyone who serves Christ in this way is pleasing to God and approved by men.
