Thiefs beat the clock in late night robbery

Pictured here is the front of Seigler Funeral Home, without the clock which has hung for 42 years. It was stolen late Monday night.

Thiefs literally 'beat the clock' as they assumingly raced against time, so as not to be seen, while removing the historical 42-year-old timepiece which had hung on the front of Seigler Funeral Home for so many years.

Local Funeral Director, Jeff Smith, went into the Funeral Home Office on Tuesday morning and couldn't get the front lights to work, he called the West Texas Utilities Company, after checking everything out that he knew to check. Kenneth Marshall of WTU arrived and as Smith met him outside and turned to go inside, he glanced up at the wall to look at the clock and there was no clock.

After examination, the clock had been pulled off the wall, breaking the electrical cord shorting out the front office electricity. Pat Seigler, owner of Seigler Funeral home stated that the clock was placed on the funeral home wall when the building was built in 1948. The funeral home was owned at that time by the late Bryan McDonald, who also owned funeral homes in several other south plains towns, including Turkey and Lubbock. Mr. McDonald installed identical clocks on each funeral home that he operated. All of the other clocks have long since quit operating and have been discarded, but the one at Matador has never required repair in the 42 years that has been in operation. It kept almost perfect time, requiring adjustment only when the power was off or when daylight savings time went into effect.

Many a teenager has checked time at this landmark to meet their nightly curfew. Smith made the statement, "What is the world coming to when they steal your clock off your wall."

Seigler also stated he had "no idea whether the clock was stolen by a prankster, or by someone wanting the clock for its antique value. A reward, with no questions asked, is offered for the return of the clock."

Earth Day 1990 Offers Texans Chance to Help Renew the Planet

"Earth Day 1990, which will be celebrated worldwide on Sunday, April 22, gives all Texans the opportunity to stop and take a reading of the condition of planet Earth as well as the chance to rededicate ourselves to practices that sustain and regenerate the Earth by working with nature, rather than against it," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower says.

"What with the depletion of the ozone, global warming, oil spills, unchecked toxic dumpsites, soil erosion, destruction of rain forests, contaminated water supplies and pockets of worsening air pollution, Old Mother Earth has seen better days.

"But the news is not all bad. Since the first Earth Day, exactly two decades ago, we have seen the creation in this country of the Clean Air Act, the Clean Water Act and the Environmental Protection Agency. While these creations of Congress have not lived up to expectations, they have, at least, put the government of the United States on record as dedicated to environmental responsibility," Hightower said.

"More important, however, than the creation of legislation has been the growing awareness in this country and abroad that each of us - individually, in groups and through our governments - must play an integral part in protecting the Earth. This has been true particularly in the last decade, as citizens around the country have banded together to fight toxic dumpsites, to start recycling programs and to demand safety in the transport and storage of radioactive wastes. Governments are also starting to get the message, as they have recently begun to work together across international boundaries to address environmental problems that affect us all.

"This twentieth anniversary of Earth Day gives us, individuals and governments alike, the opportunity to renew our commitment to building a safe, just, sustainable planet.

"Based on that commitment, we at the Texas Department of Agriculture have been hard at work for the past seven and a half years to establish and expand the practice of sustainable agriculture throughout Texas. We are working with producers who are reducing their chemical use and diversifying their crops and herds. We are working with organic producers on the latest technologies to meet the demands of a growing market. We are working with producers on least-toxic approaches to pest control and on low-water and energy-saving methods of farming. We are working to replenish the soil and halt soil erosion. These things - all part of the Earth Day 1990 agenda - we work on every day, every year," Hightower said, announcing several new programs that TDA has launched to coincide with Earth Day 1990.

* TDA is working with the American Forestry Association and Global ReLeaf on a Trees for Texas program, to make planting trees a part of the Texas culture. TDA has a goal of 17 million trees planted in Texas in this decade - one tree for every Texan. This will add to the state's natural beauty and will begin to clear the air. The Trees for Texas Task force is working to see that the right trees are planted at the right times and in the right places year after year.

* Through TDA district offices, an extensive Recycling for Rural Texas training program has been designed to assist local and regional efforts in rural Texas to establish cost-effective recycling and composting programs. This program will recover a large part of our gross state product (up to 10 percent) that is thrown away each year and will help keep our rural areas from becoming dumping grounds for ever-increasing amounts of trash.

* In an effort to promote automobile fuels with less harmful environmental impacts, TDA is outfitting new vehicles to run on liquefied petroleum gas (LPG). In addition, as the official inspector of the state's gasoline pumps, TDA is advising consumers to use the lowest octane rating recommended by the manufacturer of their automobiles and not to buy more-expensive, higher-octane fuels as often pitched by the gasoline industry. Lower-octane fuels cause less environmental harm and save consumers money.

"The global environmental crisis we find ourselves facing - from Houston to Hong Kong, from Brownsville to Buenos Aires, from Amarillo to the Arctic - is not beyond our control. In large part, through our actions and policies we have created this crisis. We can also solve it through our action and policies - each of us acting alone, and acting together. We must start where we are, here in Texas. We can do extraordinary things," Hightower said.

LIBRARY NOTES

by Wilda Dixon

Recent visitors to the Motley County Library have included Johnye D. Davis and Grace Piper from Paducah Library. They were admiring our Library and getting ideas for a possible new Library of their own. Also visiting during the Easter weekend were: Wanetta Benge and Mary Pitts, Lovington, NM; Rolland DeJong, Albuquerque, NM; Earl and Gari Mullen, Carlsbad, NM; Marie Cooper, Del Rio, Texas; Noilene and Ethanie Bowden, Odessa; Kristen Fears, Alan and Nancy Branson, Keller, TX; and Jerry and Ozell Miller of Clovis, NM.

April 4, I flew to Dallas to attend the 77th Annual Texas Library Association Convention. When I arrived at the Convention Center, I picked up my registration packet and then went to the Exhibit Hall. There I found about 400 booths with everything from books to computers to Library supplies to videos and video equipment to the Library furniture on display. During the convention there were 45 authors scheduled to sign autographs and on Wednesday afternoon, at the first general session one of the authors was the keynote speaker. This gentleman is a professor of English, 1989 "Punster of the Year" and was designated "Attilla the Pun," "the fastest pun in the western world" for 1989. His name is Dr. Richard Leqerer and he is the author of at least two books, Anguished English and the one I purchased, Crazy English, which will be ready to be checked out next week. His speech was the only speech I have ever heard that literally had the audience laughing so hard we were crying. I advise everyone to read the book Crazy English and as soon as I can I intend to purchase the other one.

The rest of the convention I attended seminars concerning public libraries and the Small Libraries Roundtable as well as several other topics in which I was interested. I also spent as much time as possible looking at the exhibits. I returned home Friday, April 6.

Sunday, April 8, Spencer and I drove to San Antonio, where I attended a workshop entitled "Unattended Children in the Library." While I was in the workshop Spencer was in the Research Library of the Institute of Texan Cultures where he listened to several oral history tapes.

Although our Library does not currently have a problem with unattended children, I learned some pointers about writing a policy to deal with any future problems. I also learned how lucky we are not to have some of the problems that were discussed by the Librarians from large city Libraries.

April 10, 1990 was Library School and there were 25 children and 7 adults present. They viewed 2 films and had fingerplays and songs and made Easter bunnies. Those present were: Derrick Cruse, Brenda Gillespie, Lacy Carson, Brittany Donaldson, Brett Wallace, Brittany Moore (Jeannie), Chantry and Dakota Meyer, John Wesley Stevens, Tamara Wilson, Brittany Moore (Ronda), Derrick Griggs, Mont Darsey, Stachia Baxter, Coby Reid, Bubba Taylor, Amanda Hurt and Brittany Perryman. Also present were Clint cooper, Emily Hurt, Cassie, Kittie, JoBeth and Brit Campbell, Charissa Conner, Brenda Cruse, Kathy Gillespie, Edan Ruth Green, Lori Campbell, Stacy Reid, Sarah Hurt and Winifred Lee. Thanks to the ladies who were in charge, Brenda Cruse and Winifred Lee.

Plainview and it was there she met John Lincoln who was to become her husband.

Drawing her chair to the table where her materials were located, she began her program by visiting about her work. She just visited about homes and what it takes to make one more interesting.

She stated an Interior Designer does not have to have special schooling or education so there is a constant "battle" with architects on the subject.

These are just some jotted down notes from what Mrs. Lincoln told the group; she doesn't just use one store to decorate a home; one "school" says a table should be in reach of each chair or seat; every room needs a touch of red where in days gone by it was a touch of black; be exposed, go to stores, look at magazines, etc.; a piece of sculpture is a warm accessory when you don't want to use a vase, picture, or some other common object; take lights off pictures and use a ceiling spotlight on them; on a wall, Mrs. Lincoln likes to use grasses, wheat, violets tied with velvet ribbon; use a collection of mailboxes on a hall wall; plates are still good on a wall; shelves are good to work with over the bed or any place needed to add interest or hold special objects; baskets are good to decorate with, throw pillows bring out colors in the room, especially accent colors; family portraits in a group on a table or tray are very good; if you don't like the color in an oil painting, change the color of the barn, the flower or whatever to harmonize with what color is used in the room at the time; a coffee table can be as far as 18" or as near as 12" to the sofa; the breakfast nook is making a comeback; wall units are good additions to any home; if you remodel don't discard the old furniture, rugs, etc. In the interior design business to "update" means to give it a fresh new look. Mrs. Lincoln closed her most enjoyable program by reading from Stanley Marcus' book on "Taste". For the closing thought of the day, Mrs. Bumgardner read the caption from the yearbook, "Spend all you have for loveliness, buy it and never count the cost; for one white singing hour of peace, count many a year of strife well lost, and for a breath of ecstasy give all you have been, or could be." Sara Teasdale.

Refreshments of German chocolate cake, punch, coffee, candies and nuts were served from the beautiful refreshment table to those attending which included those previously mentioned and Miss Rachel Patton, Mrs. W.D. (Vena) Lipscomb, Mrs. Frank (Lola) Pohl, Mrs. Gene (Mary) Louder, Mrs. Harold (Grace) Campbell, Mrs. Furman (Beverly) Vinson and Mrs. Douglas (Lila) Meador.

Members were reminded the next meeting will be April 27 at the home of Mrs. Harold Campbell at 3:30 in the afternoon.

Do Gooders Club of Flomot Has Health Screening Fair

Secretary, Mrs. Bond read the minutes and they were approved as read. A report was given on the Trophy Case project and final plans on the volleyball tournament.

In other business, they voted to sell tickets for a $1.00 each or 6 tickets for $5.00 for the club quilt that is to be given to the lucky name drawn at the Flomot Homecoming in July. Members were also reminded that Home Extension Agent, Beverly Thomas of Vernon will be the featured guest at the club meeting, Tuesday, May 8 at 2:30 p.m. at the Community Center. At the conclusion of the meeting, Secret Pal gifts were exchanged and appreciation gifts were given to the nurses.

Rolling Plains PCA Holds 56th Annual Meeting

Lloyd M. Blackwell of Stamford and Dean Turner of Matador, were elected to three-year terms as Directors of the Board in the Stockholders Annual Meeting held in Childress, Friday, April 6, and Stamford, April 7. Other board members are Dan Henard, Jr. of Wellington, Gaaron B. Tidwell of Munday and Lance D. Morris of Crosbyton.

Retiring Director W.J. Boykin of Childress was recognized and presented a commemorative plaque by Director Garon Tidwell. Mr. Boykin was first elected to the board of Directors in 1974 and has served on board chairman for the past eight years.

Director Henard gave the board Report of the gathering. With a capital-to-total assets ratio of 29.49%, Rolling Plains PCA is one of the strongest capitalized of all Texas lending institutions. A 1989 net profit of $162,000 after federal income taxes of $36,000 enabled the Association to further strengthen its financial base. The surplus and allowance for loan losses accounts are now some 217% greater than they were nine years ago.

Based on capital, asset quality, management, earnings and liquidity, Rolling Plains PCA has again been designated a Tier I association by the Farm Credit Bank of Texas.

The Nominating Committee Report was presented by Chairman Mark Lundgren of Avoca. Elected to serve on the 1991 Nominating Committee were the following: Ross Greene of Quannah for the Childress Office; William C. Luckett, Matador Office; Darrell Richards of Avoca for the Stamford area; Herbert Bellinghausen of Knox City for the Munday area; and Victor Arrington, Spur Office.

President John S. Rike, III acknowledged the strength of Rolling Plains PCA and said that its fiscal soundness "has been truly impressive." He noted that the Association recently loaned some $1,850,000 at 9.5% with the fixed Rate Equipment Loan program and that PCA has various types of lending programs to meet any need.

Highlight of the evening sessions was Bob Lewis as "Tumbleweed Smith." He kept the audience laughing with Texas tales and characters interviewed on his SOUND OF TEXAS syndicated radio program. A barbecue dinner was served prior to the meeting.

In each section a total of $250 in cash prizes were awarded in a drawing from PCA stockholders in attendance.

TEXAS SENATE WEEK IN REVIEW

AUSTIN - The focus of public school finance reform shifts this week (April 16-20) to a 10-member joint panel charged with resolving the differences between the $1.3 billion Senate bill and the $500 million House measure.

The conference committee, composed of five Senate members and 5 House members, began negotiations last week after the Senate declined to accept the more-modest spending plan passed by the House last Monday.

Committee work was to resume Monday (April 16) and continue through much of the week. Meanwhile, the House Appropriations Committee will continue this week to scour the state budget for funds that can be shifted to finance the compromise school spending plan.

A combination of fee increases and fund shuffling is expected to emerge as the most workable plan for financing the measure although a tax bill has not been ruled out. Lawmakers are reluctant to propose a tax bill, however, in view of Gov. Bill Clements' opposition to raising taxes for schools.

The Legislature is operating under a May 1 State Supreme Court deadline to equalize funding between rich and poor school districts or face a cutoff of education dollars.

The court was asked last week by legislators to extend the deadline to August 1 to prevent the possible school closings, but by week's end, no response to that request has been received.

Significant differences separate the two proposed school funding bills. The cost of the House bill increased from $450 million to just over $500 million due to amendments added when the bill passed last week.

The Senate bill, calling for $1.3 billion in 1990-91 spending, establishes specific goals for public education, student achievement and performance, while the House measure leaves that responsibility with the State Board of Education.

The House bill calls for the appointment by the Governor of the commissioner of education. The Senate version would leave the commissioner's appointment to the state board. Both versions would give more authority to the commissioner, however.

The Senate bill would make it state policy to include programs for disadvantaged three-year-olds, while the House measure leaves that provision as an optional authority for the state board.

The Senate bill also allots $9 million to establish an alcohol and drug abuse intervention program at each public school. The House bill does not address that issue.

Serving on the school finance conference committee from the Senate are Senators Carl Parker, Conzalo Barrientos, Cyndi Krier, John Montford and Kent Caperton.

House members on the panel are Representatives Ernestine Glossbrenner, Jim Rudd, Kent Grusendorf, Paul Colbert and Hugo Berlanga.

Back about 50 years ago the lyrics of a popular Johnny Mercer song admonished listeners to "Accentuate the positive; Eliminate the negative - Don't mess with Mr. In Between."

And, notwithstanding the fact that the song precedes by 20 years or more the birth of some members, that's precisely what the Board of Directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. did at its last meeting April 5. At issue was a uniform, non-refundable producer assessment to more adequately fund the research and promotion work of Cotton Incorporated.

Both positive and negative aspects were discussed at length. But in the end the Board centered on the positive and, contingent upon approval in a producer referendum and provision for subsequent producer review, voted full support for such an assessment.

The industry for the past two years or more has sought to amend the Research and Promotion Act of 1966, not only to remove the Act's producer refund provision but also to mandate an equal assessment on the cotton content of textile imports. Accordingly, PCG's position prior to this year supported non-refundable assessments only if a like assessment would be applied to cotton imports. But every move in that direction has run afoul of opposition to the import levy from the Administration and many in Congress.

Now, that opposition is seen as insurmountable, which leaves producers only three practical options; a non-refundable assessment, most likely collectible only from producers; an increase in the current level of refundable producer assessments, or continued underfunding of cotton research and promotion.

Discussion which led to the PCG Board's choice of the first option did not ignore the inequity of importers "getting a free ride," but comments indicated a feeling that producers now paying the assessment suffer an even greater inequity at the hands of producers requesting refunds.

Nor was there a failure to consider that non-refundable assessments would deny producers the right of free choice with regard to support for the CI program. That negative aspect, in fact, was a contributing factor in PCG's support being conditioned on (1) a favorable vote in a referendum and (2) provision for subsequent producer review. It was also suggested that the amount of the assessment could be lowered under a non-refundable format.

In answer to a question on the terms of the producer referendum, PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson said they would probably be spelled out in the authorizing Research and Promotion Act amendment. However, he said, the terms most likely would be the same as those in the original Act, requiring a favorable vote of either two-thirds of the producers voting or a simple majority of voters accounting for two-thirds of U.S. production.

On the positive side, overriding all negatives, was CI's record of achievement and a conviction that more adequate, more dependable CI funding is a must if that record is to be maintained.

Exemplifying the results of CI's work, newly elected PCG President Larry Nelson of Tulsa cited cotton's 51 percent of the total apparel and home fabrics market during the first six months of 1989, up from only 34 percent in 1975.

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes

If you are under 65 and disabled, you are automatically covered under medicare hospital insurance after you have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 months.

If you are a widow or widower between 50 and 65 who has been disabled for at least 2 years but has not applied for social security disability benefits because you receive other social security benefits, you may be eligible for hospital insurance. Additional information about this coverage may be obtained at any social security office.

If you are a government employee and become disabled before 65, you may be eligible for medicare on the basis of your government employment. In general, a 29-month waiting period is required before hospital insurance protection can start; however, you should contact a social security office as soon as you become disabled.

If you, your spouse, or dependent child need kidney dialysis or a kidney transplant, you should also apply for medicare at any social security office. If you cannot visit an office, the application process can be started by phone, or a social security representative can visit your home.

If you are eligible for medicare, protection generally starts with the 3rd month following the month in which maintenance dialysis treatments begin; however, under certain conditions, coverage could start earlier. The people in the social security office can provide information regarding when medicare protection will actually begin.

For more information or to file a claim call 1-800-2345-SSA.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

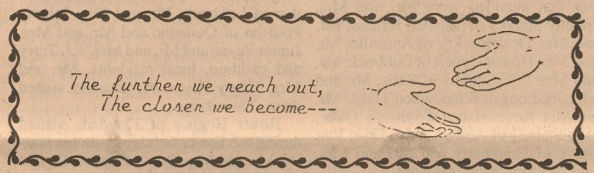

Sometimes an article to the Editor on beautification pays off. Recently my visit to the town hall was a fruitful visit. I learned of a heroes monument being beautified including the town's park. To me that is a town that cares for its looks and an invite to belong to its community. As I spoke through the news media on our graves of fallen and deceased Veterans graves being in deplorable condition. A lot has been taking place in rectifying these places of rest that our heroes and veterans lie in. My hat is off to the folks that care for them that laid their lives for our freedom and the ones that defended and still defend this great country of ours.

Memorial Day is around the corner and I am sure that they await us on that day that we have designated for them as a gift for our freedom. Now if only our leaders stood behind our Veterans that need our help. We would not only be grateful but they would gain back all the confidence of our people. To lead us to being the great country that we are.

Recently an article appeared about a servant for our government that for the work and time he put in. As a man voted in by the people, it was a shame of the raise he got while our poor walk in rags and eat out of garbage cans and beg on our streets for survival. Yes, Mr. President we want our taxes spent on our poor and elderly and disabled before it wonders off in the wrong pockets. Now it is called essentials for our country. Mr. President, even our homeless know how our so called leaders spend monies that our taxpayers pay for as a recent pay hike!! But the minimum wage was vetoed by Mr. Bush due to the fact it was too much. As a famous General in the Battle of the Bulge said, I quote, "Nuts," and I do quote the same to you as a Vet to you. Your broccoli joke was a joke that only two enjoyed. Come up with a plan for the elderly and the poor. Clean up the garbage cans, put the food on the tables for this great country of ours first.

I am concerned.

HAYING/GRAZING OF ACR AND CU

Non-haying, non-grazing period on land designated as ACR (set-aside) and CU (Conservation Use) for pay, including the required 8%, closes on June 1, 1990. The non-haying, non-grazing period runs through October 31, 1990. Farmers are also reminded to be sure that the cropland designated for ACR meets eligibility requirements.

Cropland designated under the 1990 Wheat, Feed Grains, and Cotton Acreage Programs cannot be hayed or grazed during the principal growing months. If this changes, you will be notified immediately. At the request of the county committee, these acres have already been permitted for these uses during the other seven months by the State Committee.

Farm Program participants who do not adhere to grazing, haying, or harvesting restrictions on designated acreage will be out of compliance and could lose program benefits.

LOAN RATES

Loan rates for Motley County's 1990 Wheat, Barley, Oats, and Rye crops were recently announced by ASCS. The rates reflect changes in the National average price support rates from last year, according to Billy Wayne Denison, CED.

Motley County farmers may obtain price support loans on their 1990 Wheat at a rate of $1.88 per bushel; Barley, $1.42 per bushel; Oats, 86¢ per bushel; and Rye, $1.40 per bushel.

Some County rates were adjusted to reflect location and transportation costs and other factors.

The price support loan program serves as a marketing tool for farmers by enabling them to take advantage of any increase in market prices at a later time.

10 Reasons to Prevent Child Abuse

by Dr. Deborah Dero
Director of Research, NCPCA

1. Child Abuse can be fatal. For the past two years, an average of three children a day have been reported as fatal victims of maltreatment. The vast majority of these children are under the age of one.
2. Child abuse stymies a child's normal growth and development. The emotional and physical damage children suffer from abuse and neglect is extensive. Documented consequences of abuse include chronic health problems, cognitive and language disorders, and socio-emotional problems, such as low self-esteem, lack of trust, and poor relationships with adults and peers.
3. Child abuse is costly for many social institutions. Remediating the immediate consequences of serious physical abuse alone costs child welfare agencies, hospitals, and rehabilitation facilities almost $500 million annually.
4. Child abuse costs continue to multiply over time. For example, children killed as a result of parental abuse of neglect never have the opportunity to contribute to society. In 1986 and 1987 alone, these deaths cost over $1.2 billion in lost future productivity.
5. Child abuse victims often repeat the violent acts that they experienced on their own children. Although some victims can overcome the scars of their abuse, child abuse victims are six times more likely to become abusive parents than non-abused children.
6. Treatment services, while critical, are often ineffective in permanently altering parental behaviors. Program evaluations have found that even sophisticated clinical demonstration projects, often consisting of weekly contact for 12 to 18 months, eliminate the future likelihood for physical abuse of

- neglect for less than half their clients.
7. Prevention programs targeted at parents before they become abusive or neglectful reduce the likelihood for future maltreatment. Parenting education, support groups and home visitor programs have consistently demonstrated positive outcomes. Specific gains include improved mother-infant bonding, enhanced parenting skills, and more consistent use of health care services. Recipients of these services also have demonstrated a reduced rate of child abuse when compared to comparable groups of parents not receiving services.
8. Prevention programs targeted at children can improve a child's awareness of how best to avoid child abuse and other unsafe practices. A recent review of 25 evaluations of these programs indicate that such efforts consistently result in increased knowledge for children about safety rules and what they should do if they are being abused. Further, the programs create an environment in which children can more easily disclose prior or ongoing maltreatment.
9. Child abuse prevention efforts serve as a way to combat other social problems of concern to the public and to policy makers. Research has found a strong correlation between a history of abuse and a variety of adult problem behaviors, including substance abuse, juvenile and adult crime, and poor social adjustment. The consistent expansion of prevention services may well lead to the eventual reduction of these problems.
10. Child abuse prevention creates a more compassionate society, one which places a high value on the welfare of children. Insuring the safe and secure rearing of the next generation requires the efforts of all policy makers and all citizens. To the extent all are involved in the battle to prevent child abuse, all are made more aware of the need to nurture human potential in all that we do.

I used to live 6 miles and 37 minutes from work. Now it's an easy 10-minute drive.

Too many people, too many cars. Let's face it, fighting city traffic every day was no way to start the day. Life is just too short for that kind of hassle.

Since we moved to the country, my drive to work is a time to relax . . . notice winter change to spring, or summer to fall. Living in the country gives us the peace and quiet we were looking for.

Country living has another advantage . . . being a member of a rural electric cooperative. Being part-owners means we have a say in how things are run. But best of all is the service we get from the cooperative employees. They have an attitude that just seems to go with folks in the country.
