Cathey Perryman, Jeremy Davis 4-H Gold Star Winners

The Motley County 4-H Awards Banquet was a big success with Jeremy Davis and Cathey Perryman being awarded Gold Star Awards. Adult Leaders of the Year are Billie Willmon and Craig Turner. Special entertainment was by Trent Willmon and Billy Lefevre, singing two very entertaining songs to end the program after the awards were presented.

After a delicious meal, prepared by Betty Bearden and Mary Lou Grundy, Rusty Willmon, acting as Master of Ceremonies, introduced Lacy Parks to give the Welcome. Josh Palmer gave the invocation and Dustin Davis led the audience in the Pledge to the American Flag and the 4-H Motto. Heather Turner recognized and thanked sponsors and committees. At this time, Rusty Willmon introduced the speaker, Shannon Myers of Clarendon and the Donley County 4-H Clubs.

Shannon explained her early interest in 4-H and the rewards and challenges of being in 4-H. She challenged the 4-H'ers to set their goals high and aim for the Stars as she ended with words from George B. Shaw.

4-H'ers gave reports on different events and trips they have participated in this year. Billy Lefevre and Jeffrey Martinez told of their trip to the Teen Leader Lab in Brownwood; Jeremy Davis and Trent Willmon, State 4-H Congress in San Antonio; Jaylene Burge and Cobey Turner, 4-H Camp in Brownwood; Christie Pierce, Spectra '89; Billy Lefevre, State 4-H Roundup in Brownwood; Rusty Willmon and Shannon Myers, Texas 4-H Council in Trinidad, which is a trip for District Officers only.

Rocky Vinson, Motley County Agent, presented the Awards for all the winners in each special program and also Certificates of Completion to those completing their projects. This list will be printed in the Tribune next week.

The Benediction was given by Lacy Parks.

Woman Explores Far East

Allison Bennett in one of the many locations she explored on a year-long adventure in the Far East.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Jo Allison Bennett is the daughter of Mrs. Chella Lincoln of Roaring Springs. This article was taken from the PLAINVIEW DAILY HERALD and was written by Robert Carter, South Plains Plus.

Often youthful dreams of foreign lands remain just dreams to be told around the fireside at night.

But in the case of Jo Allison Bennett, the dream became a reality - and sometimes reality isn't everything dreams promise.

Miss Bennett, 25, graduated from the University of Texas at Austin in 1986 with a degree in Latin American studies. The daughter of Chella Lincoln of Roaring Springs, and the late Byron Bennett, of Plainview, grew up the youngest of four children.

The other children were content to stay in this country, one married with children and the other two working in South Carolina. But Miss Bennett dreamed of faraway places and when she was a junior at Plainview High School part of her dream came true.

Commissioners Court Meeting Report

The Commissioners Court met for their October meeting, October 9, with Judge Billy J. Whitaker and all Commissioners attending. Also present was County Clerk, Lucretia Campbell.

After a ride to each floor on the new handicap elevator, recently installed with Federal Grant Funds, the Court opened with Fraiser Watson giving the invocation. Clerk Campbell read the minutes of the September meeting. These were approved as read.

The Judge asked the Court to approve a temporary J.P. for Precinct 4, due to the absence of J.D. Mitchell, Justice of the Peace for many years. The Court approved Gale Stafford as temporary J.P.

Wilma Manning and Cathy Roberts, representing the Child Welfare Board, presented the contract written up to the Court's specifications previously handled by Shalane Wesley, who recently moved.

After reading and discussing the Contract, Commissioners elected to have the County Attorney read and approve it before signing.

Dude Speed, DPS, asked the Court if they had decided if the DPS and Game Warden officers could be moved downstairs. After inspection of the downstairs rooms, it was decided which rooms will be used for these offices and which ones for the County Agent's room.

Bills were reviewed and agreed to be paid.

Reports were read from Treasurer, Agents, Library and J.P. J.P. fines collected for September were $3,185.00. A report was given on Gertrude Smith and cards were signed to be sent to her.

Clerk Campbell announced that she and the Motley County Courthouse would be host to the Area II District and County Clerks workshops on Friday, October 13.

After the minutes were read by City Secretary, Anna Wilson and approved by the Council, they heard the 1988-89 Audit report given by Fred Thayer, CPA.

After hearing the explaining of the audit and problem areas needing correcting, the council went into closed session for discussion.

Next on the agenda, Glennard and Edith Daniel reported to the council that the business people downtown would like to have a Christmas tree for the downtown area and asked if the City Council saw any problem. After discussion, the Council were all for it.

They had a report from Mission Cable saying that they planned to meet with the Council next month.

The Council had a request from Bennett Reeves of the Roaring Springs Ranch Club asking if the City would be interested in letting the Ranch hook up to the new water system. After discussion, Thacker moved they add this to the preliminary study to be considered.

After a lengthy discussion about the city pickup, it was decided to purchase a second hand Ford from Don Wilson, if it was not a conflict of interest.

Council elected to change their meeting time to 6:30 p.m. for the November meeting.

Council signed a 'thank you' letter to Senator Phil Gramm for helping the city get the grant monies for the new water system.

Mary Webb read a thank you letter from the Frank Mitchell family.

in the Motley County Clinic Building by Hammonds Heating and Air Conditioning of Floydada.

The Board opened the one bid on propane, received from Cooper Oil Co. This was accepted. After discussion, it was decided to rotate propane companies each year, as long as the prices were the same and the other companies were interested.

Matadors Suffer District Loss

by Memori Assiter

The Motley County Matadors suffered their first district loss Friday night when the Knox City Mustangs defeated them 25-7. The Matadors still remain in the running for the district championship.

The Greyhounds scored twice in the first half and the Matadors made their only points in the second quarter when Walter Linson scored on a three yard run. Clay Ewing made the extra point. Going into the second half the Greyhounds led only 12-7. The Matadors had costly penalties that hurt their effort to come back. The Mustangs scored two more touchdowns to make the final score 25-7. The Greyhounds had 20 first downs to our 10 and they had a total of 328 yards, while the Matadors had only 188.

The Matadors have been working very hard and focusing on their mistakes this last week. They will meet the Dragons at Paducah this Friday at 7:30 p.m. The Mats will need all of the community's support to boost their district record.

Congressman Sarpalius Holds Telephone News Conference

Congressman, Bill Sarpalius, held a telephone conference last week with the Motley County Tribune and other newspapers in District 13. Sarpalius stated that a lot happened last week and that he felt three of the biggest issues had been taken care of by the Congress.

The repeal of "Section 89" of this year's reconciliation bill passed. They repealed the Catastrophic Insurance Program and they adopted the new child care bill.

The Congressman answered questions of reporters and explained some of the pros and cons of these issues: From all calls and letters Sarpalius has received, no one was in favor of the Section 89. He also sponsored the repeal. Sarpalius received over 5,000 letters concerning the catastrophic health care for Senior Citizens. He stated this would be good for the lower income and no insurance senior citizens, when they start looking into this

I talked to Earline Vaughn Monday night. She had survived her trip to El Paso in good shape but was having to keep her leg elevated considerably so Nancy wasn't making her walk around in circles yet.

Thank You

We would like to take this opportunity to say Thank You to everyone for the beautiful flowers, visits, phone calls, cards and especially the prayers during Billie Dean's recent hospital stay. The concern and care of all our friends is sincerely appreciated and we feel blessed to be a part of such a caring community.

United Methodist Church To Hold Joint Celebration Sunday

Members of the First United Methodist Church in Matador Church in Matador remember with pride, ten years ago this fall, when they finally were able to worship, for the first time, in their new sanctuary and fellowship hall.

This Sunday they will be celebrating that occasion as well as their annual Harvest Festival. Services will begin at 10:30 that morning. Sunday school will be dismissed, for that day only.

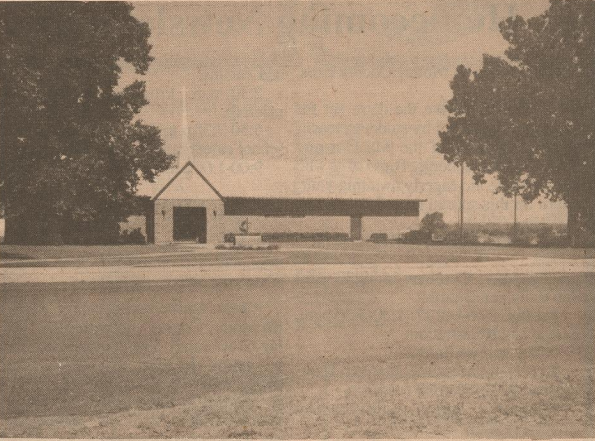

On September 15, 1979 members met for the first time in the beautiful new sanctuary and fellowship hall. Much work had gone into preparing for that day, by members of the church. They had worked many long hours since that day of May 24, 1978, when the roof of the church collapsed, creating major damage. This caused new facilities to be erected.

Rev. Gene B. Louder, church pastor, will be in charge of the worship service, with the Rev. Eddie Marcum, pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Fritch and a former pastor, who served the church during the last ten years, delivering the morning message. A history of the church will be given and special music will be provided.

Each year the church has a Harvest Festival, in which additional money for the church is raised.

Following the covered dish dinner, at the noon hour, more activities are being planned, which will include a time of reminiscing and visitation.

All members, former members and friends, who can, are urged to make plans to be in attendance.

PLANNING FOR COLLEGE

SPELLING BEE

AMARILLO, TX -- Public, private and parochial students are invited to participate in the Regional National Spelling Bee co-sponsored by the Amarillo Globe-News and West Texas State University.

The date of the 1990 Regional Bee will be April 7 and the site is the campus of WTSU in Canyon.

Each director in the four-state area, including the Panhandle of Texas, parts of Kansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico will coordinate their county contests.

Serving as director for Motley County will be Oran Hamilton, principal of Motley County Elementary and Junior High School, Matador.

The age limit is 16 and a participant must not be in a grade higher than the eighth by the end of the current school year.

There are two levels of competition: The Junior Bee is for students in the fifth and lower grades; the Senior Bee is for students in the Eighth and lower grades. In some instances directors combine the two levels. Only Senior winners compete in regional.

The district sponsors will entertain each county Junior Champion and each county Senior Champion at a spellers' luncheon prior to the regional competition on April 7. Special bee medallions will be given each county finalist.

The 1990 regional winner will receive an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. as a participant in this year's National Spelling Bee, sponsored by the Scripps Howard Newspapers.

The trip to D.C. includes expenses for one parent.

Gene Parker, placement director for WTSU, serves as bee coordinator for the Amarillo Globe-News.

"I encourage all students to participate in this educational program," he said. "those of us at WTSU who work on the Bee are pleased to assist the Amarillo newspaper in making young boys and girls aware of how important spelling is. It is more than memory work, or just putting letters in the proper sequence. It is communication."

Schools in the area use the study booklet, "Words of the Champions", prepared by the national sponsors.

The booklet, containing more than 500 new words over 1989, is priced at only 50 cents and is available from Jeane Bartlett, Spelling Bee Editor, Amarillo Globe-News, Box 2091, Amarillo, Texas 79166.

Memori's Memoirs

by Memori Assiter

If you attended last week's Varsity football game, you were probably asked by someone to buy a chance on the Student Council's Cake Raffle. The $1.00 tickets will be on sale at both gates and at the Concession Stand during every home football game. The drawing will be held during half-time. Last week's lucky cake winners were D'Anna Russell and Dan Brandon.

FHA and FFA meetings were held on Tuesday. The clubs selected their Beau and Sweetheart. Cindy Shorter, daughter of Clois and Kathy Shorter of Flomot was elected FFA Sweetheart. Cary Franks, son of Coy and Connie Franks of Flomot, was named FHA Beau.

Thursday, the Mavericks will play their last football game against Lorenzo, here, at 5:00 p.m. Friday the Matadors will play Paducah, there, at 7:30 p.m. for their second district ballgame. Saturday, the Cross Country girls will run in a meet at Floydada. Good Luck to all of these teams.

by Memori Assiter

The Junior Class has selected their class officers for the year. Brandee Spray, daughter of Joel Dean and Debra Spray of Matador, was elected as President. David Alexander, son of Alvin and Seven Alexander of Matador, will serve as Vice President. Matt Washington, son of Tim and Deana Washington of Flomot, was elected Secretary/Treasurer. Neal Sedgewick, son of Joe Dale Rice of Roaring Springs and Jerry Sedgwick of Amarillo, will be the class reporter.

Representing their class at Student Council meetings will be Amy Stephens, daughter of Roy and Joanie Stephens of Matador, and Jimmy Cummings, son of Ron and Marie Cummings, of Matador.

The Junior Class will be planning money-makers for the up-coming year to raise money for the Jr-Sr. Banquet.

"You'll also want to know something about the life of a college student at the school and, if the official publications don't tell enough, you might want to look at an issue of the school newspaper to see what the students write about, see what they complain about, see what activities are announced in the calendar.

"We always tell people just to wander, to break away from the official tour and to sit in a coffee shop on campus and listen to the conversations going on around them. What are the students talking about? How do they talk? What kinds of books are they carrying? You don't have to be forceful or pushy to do that, you just have to be observant."

Finally, O'Neill advises parents to try to help their children without pressuring them. "The parents who seem to do the best in the process are the ones who show only enthusiasm and no anxiety."

Students generally appreciate their parents' interest in where they go to college. But if their parents seem too anxious that they make the "right choice" -- usually a narrow range of schools or even just one school that the parents have all their hopes on -- that anxiety is sure to be transferred to the student and makes the search for a college a battleground rather than a pleasant experience."

ging," says O'Neill. "But if we can talk to these families early enough, we can tell them that $20,000 won't necessarily be the actual price to them. It's the cost of the education, but not always the price.

What O'Neill means is that while it may cost a university $20,000 to house and educate a student for one year, at many good colleges fewer than half the families pay that much. Many of the country's competitive colleges - including the University of Chicago - have a "need-blind" admissions policy, which means that admissions committees don't consider a family's financial status when deciding whether or not to admit a student. At these schools, families are asked to pay only what they can reasonably be expected to contribute.

Unfortunately, since many families don't realize that universities and colleges are eager to help them find ways to pay for college, they often overlook the schools that might provide the best education for their children.

"The most important thing is not to rule out a place because you think it costs too much," advises Alicia Reyes, director of financial aid at the University of Chicago. "Even worse is when people with lower incomes - and particularly minority families with lower incomes - immediately think they can't afford college and don't apply at all. Financial aid is available, and the family with a low or modest income usually won't have to pay the full price. Sometimes families with surprisingly high incomes demonstrate need - because, say, of the number of their children - and qualify for financial aid."

Financial Aid

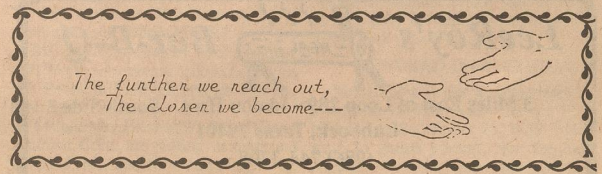

While students try to decide which college fills the bill, parents must decide how to pay the bills. This year, tuition, room and board at some of the nation's top private universities will exceed $20,000.

"I don't know what gets people over the shock, because $20,000 must be stag-

The average price paid to farmers for U.S. cotton inched up to 61.1 cents per pound in August, half a penny above the July price and 8.2 cents over the 52.9-cent yearly low established in February. The August increase, together with the months' 430,000 bale marketings, brings the cumulative weighted average price on 5.67 million bales sold through August to 56.2 cents, up four-tenths of a cent from the July figure.

Producers are keenly interested in these numbers because they determine the size of deficiency payments due after the end of the year. The per-pound deficiency payment rate will equal the difference between the calendar year weighted average farm price, as reported by the National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS), and this year's 73.4 cent target. Each farmer's total payment will be determined by multiplying the rate times his farm's established per-acre program yield times planted acres.

Basing payments on program yields instead of actual yields, says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, is a significant feature of the current cotton program. "When we have a bad crop year like this year," he explains, "some producers would get no payment at all and others very little if payments were made on actual production." That feature, however, can't make up for the low payment rate that appears in the offing for 1989.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture last fall, using world supply-demand estimates in effect at the time, projected a payment rate of 21.4 cents per pound. Forty percent of that amount, 8.56 cents, has already been paid. And, looking at rising monthly average prices as the season approaches the heavy marketing volume normally seen toward the end of each year, producers now are wondering how much the final payment may be and even if they might be required to repay a part of the advance.

Concern about the size of the final payment is fully justified, Johnson says, "but it's hard to imagine the year's total payment falling below the eight-and-a-half cent advance." For that to happen, according to PCG figures, the farm price for the remainder of the year would have to average almost 70 cents per pound and marketings would have to be about nine million bales. The marketing figure is entirely possible, Johnson says, "but the chance for an average price above about 65 cents is remote at best."

A more realistic projection for the final four-month period, he thinks, is about nine million bales at an average price between 62 and 64 cents, resulting in a year-long average price of 61 or 62 cents, resulting in a year-long average price of 61 or 62 cents. The total deficiency payment under that scenario would be between 12.4 and 13.4 cents, leaving a payment above the advance between 3.8 and 4.8 cents per pound.

Preliminary marketings and price figures reported by NASS through August appear in the chart below.

Crosbyton Clinic Hospital Receives Federal Grant

A large number of the approximately 2,700 rural hospitals in the United States are experiencing financial distress. Many rural hospitals are faced with a declining population base, structurally weak economy, and healthcare manpower shortages. These trends, combined with increasingly stringent government regulations are challenging the survival of many rural hospitals.

Crosbyton Clinic Hospital has experienced some rough times. In an effort to improve the economic health of Crosbyton Clinic Hospital - thereby ensuring a continuation of quality care to the residents of its service area - local "homegrown" residents will be needed to provide the necessary manpower for the hospital's future welfare. In other words, we need young people from places like Matador, Ralls, Crosbyton and Spur (to name a few) to become educated in nursing, medical technology, and other medical professions. We need local people to become trained physicians, nurse practitioners and paramedics. Of course, such optimistic plans cannot and will not materialize overnight. But we must plan and encourage action today!

Thanks to the Rural Health Care Transition Grant, we are now in a position to financially assist local students who are interested in pursuing careers in the health care industry. Funding is also available to current employees who desire to upgrade their professional credentials. Upon completion of an approved training program (LVN, R.N., Medical School, etc.), the scholarship recipient would be required to pay back only the principal portion of the educational loan if they return to practice in the community for five years. Any amount of time less than five years would require repayment of both principal and interest at the current market rates.

The $70,000 budgeted for the Scholarship Loan Program ($35,000 for each of two years) will be awarded through a competitive application process. Those qualified applicants who are selected will be chosen by a committee. The committee will be comprised of representatives from the hospital, county and school districts throughout the hospital's service area.

All those interested in pursuing a career in a medical profession are encouraged to apply for funds available through the Scholarship Loan Program. More information on the application process will be available in next week's paper.

Judge Jimmy Ross Resigns Briscoe Office

Jimmy Ross, of Quitaque, resigned, effective immediately, his elected position as Briscoe County Judge at a special called Commissioners court meeting Thursday, September 28, 1989.

Ross, who was first appointed as County Judge by county commissioners in 1987 to fill the unexpired term of Judge Fred Mercer and later elected by a majority vote last year, was under fire from a group of concerned taxpayers because of the recent filing of a proposed budget and tax increase.

An overcrowded courtroom was the scene at the Briscoe County Courthouse as county governmental officials faced a decision of whether or not to roll back taxes and/or re-enter the 1990 budgetary process as requested by a group of taxpayers known as Briscoe County Taxpayers Association of Concerned Citizens (BACT).

Approximately 75 citizens were present at the 4 o'clock meeting. BACT's attorney, William Warnick was on hand to explain his client's position and intent.

L.B. Garvin presided over the 10 minute meeting, offering the resignation of Ross at the onset of the proceeding. Ross was not present at the meeting.

In a press release to the media dated September 28, 1989, Ross stated "I have had the honor of serving the people of Briscoe County as judge for the past two years. During that time, we have examined the need for a more diverse economy and have taken some initial steps to make Briscoe County an even better place to live. There is still work to be done. I have submitted my resignation as county judge effective immediately. I do so to pursue other interest and to spend more time with my family, which has moved from Briscoe County because of health reasons.

I hope my successor will continue to work with the task force which has been formed to attract tourists and sports people to the county. Only in diversification will Briscoe County grow and prosper."

Remember safety first when installing antennas.

- Stay clear of all electric lines, assume all wires are uninsulated.
- Be sure there's enough distance in every direction so that if your antenna should fall, it won't hit a power line.
- If an antenna does start to fall, let it go and stay clear. Never touch it until you're sure it's not in contact with any wires.
- Work only in dry weather and never on a windy day. Most antennas are top-heavy and difficult to control in the wind.
- Guy wires should be secured so they won't whip around and come in contact with power lines.
- Make sure antennas are grounded properly.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I am a lover of history and I have a somewhat unusual hobby. I collect old tokens used by stores, barber shops, pool halls, bakeries, saloons, forts, and other businesses years ago. The tokens were "good for" 5¢, 10¢, 12 1/2¢ or such in trade or merchandise of "good for" a loaf of bread, one drink, one shave, one ride or whatever. They were usually made of metal, and while having the general appearance of a coin, they were made in all shapes and sizes.

I am hoping that if you have a "Letter to the Editor" section or such in your paper that you might mention my search. I know that this request is relatively unimportant, but as our elderly pass away and the younger members of the family inherit their possessions, tokens and other items are considered junk and thrown out. I do get a great deal of enjoyment from my hobby and I do believe that these concrete reminders of our great heritage are worth preserving.

I have reason to believe that some of these tokens were used in your area and I would be most interested in obtaining some of them for my collection.

I would like to hear from anyone having one or more of these tokens or from anyone that might be able to help me. Any help that you can give me of any kind is greatly appreciated. My address is Travis Roberts, Box 1168, Bellaire, Texas 77402.

Thank you kindly in advance and best wishes.

small town in Brazil near Rio de Janeiro she learned Portuguese. But the student exchange program ended too soon for Miss Bennett and she returned to the United States, hungry to see more of the world.

After sending 60 resumes to Japan when she finished her college degree, the slim, blondhaired, blue-eyed woman received three offers to go to Tokyo, booming in population and high technology.

"I left June 4, 1988, flying to Tokyo and staying there until the first of October," said Miss Bennett. "The initial job I had was in downtown Tokyo. I was an English teacher for businessmen, but I was only there for 10 days."

The "culture shock" of Japan, coupled with the heavy congestion of the city (population about 18 million) discouraged the West Texan. "The closest I could get to my job was 1 1/2 hours away with three switches (transfers) on the train. The switches along with the congestion were overwhelming. It was hectic."

Her employer was understanding, however, and let Miss Bennett go with no problems. The stubborn young woman refused to go home and within a few days obtained another job in a suburb of Yokohama near Tokyo.

"I taught 18 to 22-year-olds grammar and conversational English," she said. She worked for the American Universities League. "My students were trying to go to universities in Japan and America."

But after 3 1/2 months at the job, the impatient English teacher wanted to see more of the world. Son on Oct. 1, 1988, she went to Taiwan in search of a job. "There are a lot of English-teaching opportunities there," she said. "A family hired me to teach their children English and western culture. The family was moving to New Zealand."

But by the end of October the restless Miss Bennett decided to travel more so she flew to Hong Kong. "I stayed there just long enough to get my visa. From there I went to China by ship. I went to Shanghai for two to three days and then boarded a boat for six days up the Yellow River.

"We got off at the last point in a town called Wuhan. I met three Norwegians on the trip up the river. I had people to talk to. I took a two-day train ride into Kunming (a state in China) where I found 23 minority groups.

"After that I went to Yangshuo and it's known for the formation of its mountains. They look like stalagmites. A highlight of the trip was taking a boat (not a tourist boat) up the river and being the only foreigner in the region. I saw a hand-pumped drill a so-called dentist was using to drill teeth. It didn't look very sanitary."

From there Mrs. Bennett traveled to Canton and took a ferry to Hong Kong. She had spent from Nov. 7 to Dec. 11, 1988, in China, long before the Beijing student uprisings for freedom.

But back in Hong Kong she encountered robbers and had everything stolen. "I walked to the American consulate to get a passport and I had money wired to me. I was delayed two weeks."

Miss Bennett then went to Nepal and stayed until late February. Then she took a 4-day journey by bus and train through Kerala, a state in southern India.

"It's known for its beaches," she said. "I was tired of being cold. I was in India for six weeks. I took a train to New Delhi and then rode a camel for three days across the desert."

She then went back to New Delhi and flew to Bangkok, Thailand and took a train to Malaysia where she island-hopped for about six weeks.

On June 4 of this year she had completed one year by herself overseas. "I met a friend from Houston at this time," she said. "We traveled together in Thailand for the next two months. I came back to the States on July 31."

"Let no one be found among you...who practices divination, or sorcery, interprets omens, engages in witchcraft, or casts spells, or is a medium or spiritist or who consults the dead." Deut. 18: 10-11

Advertising Services Tackles The Tough Jobs

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was taken from the LUBBOCK AVA-LANCHE-JOURNAL and was written by Ray Westbrook, A-J Business Editor. Brenda Williamson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Hicks of Lubbock, former Matador residents. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson had their T-shirts and bandanas for sale at the Old Settlers Reunion held in Roaring Springs in August.

Advertising Services Inc. has a collection of logo ideas and the willingness to travel.

Armed with blank T-shirts and an RV equipped with decal transfer capabilities, Charlie and Brenda Williamson have performed as concessionaires for events as diverse as motorcycle enduros in Colorado and Texas, to Monterey High School's 1959 Class Reunion.

Their baseball and golf caps have adorned Texas farmers and Alaskan oil-spill cleanup crews.

But the T-shirt and headgear items are only a small percentage of the products which flow from their shop at 1910 Ave. Q.

Futures and Options Workshop can help form Marketing Plan

LUBBOCK - Financial and marketing risks in farming operations are much greater than a few years ago, says an agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This has farmers and lenders paying more attention to carefully planned marketing of crops.

Narrow margins of earnings and wide swings in prices and income are causing farmers and lenders to take a new look at the payoff for developing marketing plans and implementing well managed strategies, said Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension Service economist and marketing specialist.

To help cotton farmers be able to evaluate alternative pricing strategies for use in their marketing plans, the Extension Service will hold a one-day, in-depth workshop here Oct. 27. It will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center, FM 1294 just east of I-27 at the Shallowater exit.

The workshop is designed for those with some experience with futures and options, Smith said.

"Although producers don't individually control price, they do control when and how to price," Smith said. "Funda-

The company also turns out signs, bumper stickers, banners, vinyl decals, window stickers, yard signs, truck/fleet markings and magnetic signs.

Their playground signs for the Burger King chain are shipped throughout the United States.

Williamson, a commercial artist, joined the firm in 1971 after returning from military service in Vietnam. He acquired the business in 1975.

Mrs. Williamson said, "Charlie is the artist. He does all the production art work.

I am the secretary/treasurer - the business person

"We do concession T-shirts for different events like enduros and car races, that type of thing," she said. "We do everything right on the spot."

Williamson and the couple's sons, Quincy and Casey, often ride in the enduros. A motorcycle enduro is a time/distance race of from 80 to 100 miles in which a winner is picked on the basis of arriving at the finish line at a specific time, and not early or late.

The Williamsons' affinity for motorcycles also has led to another large account - Christian Motorcyclists Association - and a consequent distribution of their products throughout the nation.

The organization, which claims Levelland as headquarters, has about 35,000 members.

"They go on road tours and have rallies, and we do the T-shirts and decals," Mrs. Williamson said.

The company recently began printing banners for Kingsgate Center. "Kingsgate is the first in Lubbock to use them," Mrs. Williamson said. "They are big in Dallas and California and other places."

According to Williamson, the company has directed its attention to customers' needs and not necessarily to volume. "We want them all," he said. "And we also always end up with the most difficult jobs in town, the ones everybody else turns down. When we first started, that's the only kind we got. So, now, we specialize in doing the difficult jobs."

However, the company has turned out some volume jobs also. Bergstein Oil Field Service Inc. ordered 3,000 caps from the firm to take to Alaska, where it helped Exxon in cleaning up the oil spill.

"We have many good friends we have done business for. It is really great. Everybody has been good to us and we try to be good to them," Mrs. Williamson said.

She said the company buys all the materials locally that it can. "We believe that anytime you purchase stuff, and you are a Lubbockite, you should buy in Lubbock."

The company does a lot of printing for Texas Tech University, including T-shirts, bumper stickers and Red Raider Club decals.

Advertising Services has six employees.

Clients from the Lubbock area have spread the company's area of service as they move on to jobs in other states, from which they send back orders.

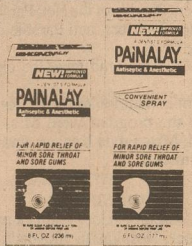

The Williamsons' plans for the future are simple: "Just keep building."

Praise the Lord; for the Lord is good; sing praises unto his name; for it is pleasant.

next year. Also it was going to be an expensive program and there are just no funds for this now.

The new Child Care Bill has some good areas and some he didn't like. Sarpalius stated it would help the Headstart Program but put more regulations on it than he wanted and are too strict. He feels each state should be able to set some of the regulations geared for that state.

This bill hasn't been upgraded in 20 years and he felt it necessary to get it passed. Congressman Charles Stenholm and Sarpalius both want to change the part that day care centers receiving federal funds, could not have prayer or any religious teaching. They also want it to help mothers who are on welfare to have a place for their children to stay while they work.

Sarpalius answered a question concerning the capital gains tax. He had done more study and inquiry on this one issue than any other, since being in Washington. He stated that he supported the Democratic proposal, for it was the best to generate funds, he is in favor of a more equal tax plan and also in favor of encouraging more saving in America. "I feel the Senate will put it all together and have a good plan," Mr. Sarpalius stated.

Some other issues Congressman Sarpalius commented on were the "Clean Air Act." He feels this act will help the gas and oil industry in the Panhandle. The Congressman believes the drug problem can only be solved when there is less demand, due to rehabilitation and education.

Sarpalius stated that the farmers will be helped soon due to changes being made concerning the "Ghost Acres."

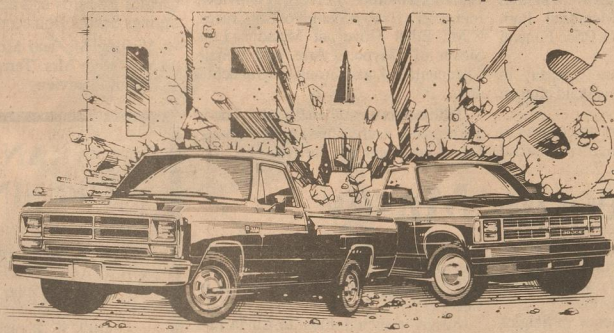

Sarpalius thanked the newspapers for taking the time for the phone conference as he ended the conference.

Praise The Lord!

TRIBUNE PREPARING FOR HOMECOMING PAPER

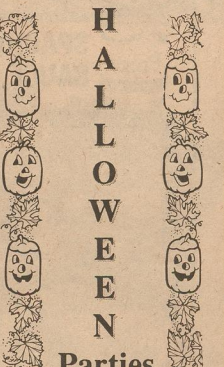

We are beginning work on our Homecoming paper, which is due October 26. We are asking our readers, again, to please bring in any old pictures of classes, schools, etc. for all county schools, Roaring Springs, Flomot, Northfield, Matador, Whiteflat, etc. We have a limited supply of pictures in our files and think it would be great if we could print some new ones. Also if you have any interesting stories, relating to any of the county schools, please send them in, also.

We appreciate your help so much and we assure you that we will take very good care of your pictures and return them as soon as possible. All pictures and information will need to be in our office no later than Friday, October 20. Thank you!
