There is a weekend of roping events planned, April 27, 28 and 29 at Burleson Arena, Flomot.

Sunday, April 29, the 1989 National Finals Steer Roping Champion, Guy Allen, Lovington, New Mexico will be competing in a single-steer roping match with Tutt Garnett, Elgin, Texas, at Burleson Arena, Flomot.

These two professional steer ropers met at Burleson Arena last April for their first matched roping together.

Tutt Garnett, who was raised at Matador, thrilled the area fans by winning the match with a total time of 173.54 on eight steers. Guy Allen's time was 194.66 making a difference of 21.12 seconds.

Friday and Saturday nights at 7 p.m. there will be Team Ropings with cattle furnished by Carl Alford of Hereford.

Saturday morning at 9 a.m. there is a "C" Single Steer Roping. This is the final roping in a series of "3" Single Steer Roping at which time the winner will be awarded a certificate for a custom made saddle. The winner is determined by the man winning the most money throughout the series. Coming into the final roping with high money is Chuck Prather, Lubbock, Texas.

The ISRA Invitational Steer Ropers Association begin their single steer ropings at 11 a.m. with an introduction of ropers. Floyd Hardin, presently of Childress, and formerly of Matador, will be on hand to introduce these ISRA ropers.

A "neat and new" event to top off the weekend of roping events will be the 9 a.m. Sunday morning senior single steer roping. The senior steer ropers will be competing for a pair of bits made by Jim Bo Humphreys, Dickens. These men are still professionals who will provide the spectators a morning filled with excitement. Blake Kitchens of the Lonesome Dove Band, Lubbock, will be on hand Sunday to introduce the senior and "open" ropers.

Shawn Burchett from Pryor, Oklahoma, won the open single steer roping last year at Burleson Arena. Introduction of ropers competing in the "open" single steer roping on Sunday, April 29 will be at 1 p.m. at Burleson Arena.

There is a gate admission on both Saturday and Sunday which will provide the spectators and competitors an opportunity to win from a drawing on Sunday afternoon, for a pair of bits, made by Jim Bo Humphreys of Dickens.

Bits made by Wade Brannon of Silverton and Spurs made by Gene Martin of Spur will also be prizes given to competitors over the weekend.

Barbecue will be available all weekend and will be provided by the Lockney Lions Club members.

Barbara's Bylines

Spring is here - we heard the report of the first rattlesnake bite this week. It seems Chip Smith was playing golf and was bitten. We sure hope he is getting better and is more careful of snakes.

Hope everyone enjoys the freshness of Spring and watch out for critters!

Sesquicentennial Sign Stolen From Roaring Springs

Pictured here is the Sesquicentennial sign, which was sponsored and put up by the Predicta Study Club and the Lions Club of Roaring Springs. It was stolen sometime on or before April 1.

The Sesquicentennial Sign, which was placed on the Northwest entrance to Roaring Springs in 1986, during Sesquicentennial activities, was stolen recently. It was first noticed missing, on Sunday night, April 1, by Buzz and LaVoe Thacker. The Roaring Springs Predicta Study Club and the Lions Club sponsored two signs, one which was placed on the Dickens highway and this one on the Dougherty highway.

A reward is offered for the sign's return, with no questions asked. Anyone having any information is urged to call Francis Walters, City Secretary, at City Hall, 348-7231.

The 42-year-old clock which was stolen from Seigler Funeral Home and this Coca-Cola sign, which was stolen from Durham Boot & Saddle Shop, were recovered on San Jacinto Street in Amarillo last week and returned to Motley County by Sheriff Alton Marshall.

M.C.Y.O. Plans Summer Baseball Program

A called meeting of the M.C.Y.O. was held Thursday, April 19. After the reading of the minutes from the previous meeting and the treasurer's report, the president, Kathy Gillespie, reported on the status of the fence repairs that the organization had voted to hire out.

The president reported that only three high school students signed up for softball. She asked the organization to decide if they wanted to continue to offer the softball program to high school students. The M.C.Y.O. will continue to offer the softball program to all students in grades K-11.

There are 60 students signed up to play T-Ball and 57 students signed up to play softball. There will be 5T-Ball teams and 4 softball teams this year. The softball teams will be offered the opportunity to play each other three times instead of two times so that the softball players will have the same number of games as the T-Ball players.

In further business, the members voted to rescind the boy-girl-boy-girl, etc., stipulation on a team when in field. The position a player will play will be up to the discretion of each team's coaches. The batting orders will still be boy-girl, etc. In T-Ball every player will play every inning and bat every inning. In softball every player will play at least three complete innings.

There was a good turnout of members for this meeting, and the officers would like to thank everyone for taking time to attend the meeting.

Western Writer Begins New Career At Age 72

by Marisue Potts

Colquitt Warren is a name familiar to local residents of the forties when he and his wife Inaran an abstract business in the courthouse. Mrs. Warren also worked in the county judge's office for fourteen years during the time they lived here from 1943 to 1959. The Warrens were active in civic, church, and community affairs, heading up various relief and Lions Club committees after World War II.

What his former neighbors might not know is that at age 72, Colquitt Warren began a new career, writing articles of an historical nature. Since being a historian is somewhat like being a detective, Warren's previous business experience of digging out the facts really shines. Coming in mighty handy are his remarkable recall of past events and his natural curiosity.

For the last thirty years Warren has lived eighteen miles northwest of Dell City (that's Texas, folks, but just barely) "where nobody ever stops unless the s.o.b. is lost," he claims with tongue in cheek. Since Mrs. Warren's death in 1986, Colquitt keeps busy writing and "trying" to sell western articles. With dogged persistence, he has found a market for his writing in Western magazines and weekly newspapers, though "I have received enough rejections to fill a book," he confided in a recent letter.

Beginning with his local paper, The Hudspeth County Herald, where he contributes a weekly column called "Musings From Crow Flat," Warren's stories have been published in The Livestock Weekly (nineteen times!), The Cattleman, Old West, True West, Real West, Journal of the West, Horse & Rider, The Brayer, and New Mexico Magazine. Many articles, such as "The Matadors: A Real Cow Town" and "The Last Horse Breaker of the Matadors" for The Cattleman, were submitted under the pen name of Tom Bean. Recently a new byline, the moniker of "Wildhorse," a nickname bestowed by a subject of one of his articles, has recently found its way into print.

One of the highlights of Warren's fourteen-year writing career occurred in February when the Dell Valley Chamber of Commerce presented to him a special award, a Certificate of Merit, for not only writing stories at age eighty-seven, but "selling them to various publications just about as fast as he can write them."

But not content to rest on his laurels, Colquitt Warren is preparing for a return engagement at the Texas Tech's Cowboy Symposium on May 31-June 2. Last year he shared many interesting stories about the early days and old timers of Motley County. A collection of these and other stories is being compiled by his family into a book.

While ever conscious of the past, Warren does not live in the past. He leaps into the exciting future of things to come. With that spirit he is looking forward to "chewing the fat" with old friends from Dickens and Motley County but is fully expecting to make new friends at the big Lubbock get-together. I'll wager that no one will be having a better time!

Motley County Treasurer Attends Seminar

Joe Campell, representative of the Motley County Treasurers' staff took part in the 18th Annual County Treasurers' Seminar at Texas A&M university, April 16-19.

The training focused on the theme, "Each Treasurer is an Architect of the Future - It's Up To Me."

More than 30 speakers addressed the seminar. Subjects ranged from alternative funding for county health plans to how to handle a claim under worker's compensation, time management and media relations.

Concurrent round table discussions also were a part of the program, with county groupings planned by population size.

John Gilmartin, coordinator for the V.G. Young Institute of County Government, a part of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said this training was the third to be offered by the Institute this year for elected county officials.

The county judges and commissioners received training in January, and the county and district clerks in March.

People attending the seminar for county treasurers participated in a brisk-paced three days of training, as well as a banquet where entertainment was provided by the Singing Cadets of Texas A&M University.

Joe M. Rothe, seminar program chairman and an Extension Service specialist with the institute, said each treasurer who attended all sessions was awarded 20 hours of educational credit by Texas A&M's Office of Continuing Education.

The treasurers are required to complete 20 hours every two years according to state law, he explained.

The County Treasurers' Association of Texas cooperated in planning and implementing the training.

April Tax Rebates Shows Increase

AUSTIN, TEX.--State Comptroller Bob Bullock said last Monday that this office sent checks totaling $74 million in local sales tax rebates to cities and counties in Texas.

"That's a healthy increase over last April's payments and good news for the state's cities and counties," Bullock said.

Checks to cities totaled almost $67 million, an increase of 7 percent over last year's total payments at this time, Bullock said.

Houston received $11.7 million, the state's largest payment while Dallas received the state's second largest payment of $7.6 million. San Antonio received $3.9 million and Austin received $2.8 million.

Rebate checks to counties totaled $7 million this month for an increase of nearly 16 percent over last year's total payments at this time. The increase is partly due to more counties collecting sales tax now, Bullock said.

This month's checks include taxes collected on February sales and reported in March by businesses filing monthly tax returns.

Merchants collect the sales taxes and send them to the Comptroller's office with their tax returns. The state keeps its 6 percent share and each month sends cities and counties their portion of the sales tax.

All local sales taxes must be approved by local voters and may be used for any legal city or county expenses. Most areas put the money in their General Fund and use it for operations like fire fighting, maintaining roads and law enforcement.

Totals for Motley County are as follows:

Matador: net payment this period, $839.82; comparable payment prior year, $757.63; % change, 10.85%; 1990 payments to date, $6,586.69; 1989 payments to date, $7,083.81; % change, -7.02%.

Roaring Springs: net payment this period, $1,073.79; comparable payment prior year, $2,294.33; % change, -53.20%; 1990 payments to date, $7,870.82; 1989 payments to date, $6,003.26; % change, 31.11%.

County total: net payment this period, $1,913.61; comparable payment prior year, $3,051.96; % change, -37.30%; 1990 payments to date, $14,457.51; 1989 payments to date, $13,087.07; % change, 10.47%.

PESTICIDES:

TO RISK OR NOT TO RISK

Ever since the Alar and apples scare last spring, the American public has expressed a rising concern with regard to pesticides in the food supply. While scientists feel that the pesticide risk to the American public is negligible, they will admit that all the facts may not be in and that certain questions remain unanswered.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Environmental Protection Agency suggests taking the following steps if you are concerned about pesticides in your food:

- * Wash fresh fruits and vegetables with plain water. Soap is not recommended because their residues may be difficult to remove from some foods and, in no way, is soap tested nor considered safe for human consumption.

- * Peel or remove outer layers of produce. It is possible that wax coatings of such produce as apples, cucumbers and green bell peppers can trap pesticide residues. Outer leaves on lettuce and other leafy vegetables contain higher pesticide residues. However, remember that peeling fruits and vegetables also lowers their fiber content.

- * Buy fruits and vegetables in season.

Out-of-season produce is often imported and only spot-checked for pesticide residues.

- * Buy home-grown fruits and vegetables from farmers markets and produce stands. Local producers are less likely to use pesticides.

- * A final choice is to buy all pesticide-free produce. This produce is both difficult to find and more costly. Consumers wishing to employ this risk-management strategy should also talk with their local grocers about providing pesticide-free produce.

If you have additional questions about pesticides in foods or pesticides in home gardens, call 1-800-8598-pest, the Environmental Protection Agency's toll-free hot line.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are for people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Thought for the Day:

Be cheerful! Of all the things you wear, your expression is the most important.

And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.

When a reporter asked Jim Corbett, the world's heavyweight boxing champion, "What's the most important thing for a man to do to become a champion?"

He answered, "Fight one more round!"

That's what Walt Disney did, when a newspaper refused to give him a job as an artist.

That's what George Gershwin did, when they laughed him off the stage the first time he played the piano in public.

Facing difficulties? Don't dodge them. Rivers get crooked by dodging them. So do men.

Look to the Lord. He's perfect in wisdom and power. He specializes in the impossible. He'll help you to "fight one more round," and win!

Rays of Hope

by Lola Eason

When I was a Junior in High School, the class motto was, "Give to the best you have and the best will come back to you." In later years, after entering the Ministry, I turned the quotation around, "Give to the Lord the best you have and the best will come back to you."

Mark 1:35, "and in the morning, rising up a great while before day, he went out and departed into a solitary place, and there prayed." (Speaking of Jesus).

Prayer will bring to the busiest and most harassed minds a clearer perspective, a calmer judgement. It will establish the mind in its true alignments with God, with fellowmen, and with the purpose of life.

As a Christian, the greatest privilege we have is our communion with the Father. We don't need any special credentials to qualify for this opportunity. How do we look at prayer? Do we think of prayer as a last resort, or do we see it as the most exciting ministry for the Church of today?

Let me establish a fact: The Lord desires to answer our prayers. We also glorify the Lord by our prayers being answered.

St. John 16:24, "Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name; ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full."

In studying the life of Jesus, we see his disciples as they follow him. They see him feed the multitude with five loaves and two fishes, they watch as he turns the water into wine, at a wedding. They see him open the eyes of the blind and heal the sick. But we find in Luke 11:1, the disciples said unto him, "Lord teach us to pray."

We have an adversary who fears nothing but our prayers.

He delights to see us up to our eyes in work, provided we do not pray. He does not fear because we are eager and earnest Bible students, provided we are little in prayer.

Someone wisely said, Satan laughs at our toiling, mocks at our wisdom, but trembles when we pray.

A DIFFERENT POINT OF VIEW

"What a satisfying life you have," said the blue-haired matron, Who'd bestowed her gracious company upon the wagon patrons. The punchers stood politely by and listened to her spiel, Which she delivered ardently with city-woman zeal.

"The clean, fresh air, the open skies, in touch with Nature's charms, And nurturing God's creatures while preserving them from harm. What joy is yours to birth a calf and watch him grow to health! Your rewards are so much greater than the tawdry trap of wealth."

But she twisted diamond rings upon her fingers as if vexed, And posed a careful question in a voice that was perplexed. "How can you dedicate your lives to keeping harm at bay, Yet bring yourselves to dine on beef three times or more a day?"

The boys all cut their eyes, and with unanimous acclaim They threw it to the wagon boss, Turk Harney was his name. Harney wasted little time declarin' he'd consider That there ain't no greater misery than tendin' bovine critters.

"There's just two things they're meant to do: that's die and run away. An' I won't pretend to like 'em 'til my bones are in the clay. They'll drool an' puke an' defecate an' cause undue distress, An' cause heathens just like me to get religion an' confess."

"So it should come as no surprise what I'm about to tell, An' if it's a mortal sin I know I'll gladly burn in Hell. There's no monumental mystery like them boulders at Stonehenge. Ma'am, I don't even like the stuff — I eat it for revenge!"

TEXAS SENATE WEEK IN REVIEW

AUSTIN - The Texas Senate is expected to vote this week on a half-cent sales tax hike to fund public school finance reform by a May court deadline.

The House passed the tax bill last Thursday by a vote of 85-60 amid continued threats from Gov. Bill Clements to veto any proposed tax increase to fund schools.

The tax bill, along with another measure to shift $114 million from the state budget to school finance, was to be heard in the Senate Finance Committee Monday (April 23). If the bills win committee approval, they will go to the full Senate for debate this week.

These two funding bills are companion measures to Senate Bill 1, the major piece of school finance reform legislation that was still in a Senate-House conference committee at week's end.

That committee was expected to work through the weekend to resolve the differences between the $1.3 billion Senate bill and the $500 million House bill.

The tax bill and the budget cut bill are expected to raise a total of about $600 million for school finance, with $444 million expected from the half-cent sales tax increase and $114 million from budget cuts. If the tax bill wins Senate approval and survives the Governor's veto, the increase would go into effect Oct. 1.

With the court deadline less than two weeks away, Gov. Clements opened the session's call last week to a bill that would allow the transfer of funds to prevent school closings if the current session ends without a compromise.

Last week, the State Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional the state's method of financing public schools and gave lawmakers until May 1 to devise a plan to equalize funding between rich and poor school districts.

The Legislature has been in back-to-back special sessions since February to come up with a plan.

If Clements kills the tax bill, the Legislature may attempt to override his veto this week by a two-thirds vote in both houses. Clements has promised a third and immediate special session in May if the sales tax bill reaches his desk.

While awaiting House action on the two funding bills last week, the 10-member conference committee reached accord on several key sections of the school finance reform bill.

Conferees agreed to mandate site-based school management which would give teachers greater input in establishing and implementing academic goals for each school.

The committee also agreed to allow high-performance schools to purchase, at state expense, textbooks not on the approved list. Schools are now permitted to do this, but at their own expense.

The conference committee also struck down a House-proposed plan to allow the governor to name the state commissioner of education. The State Board of Education will continue to select the commissioner, a practice some lawmakers argued invested too much authority in the elected board.

Negotiators on the panel also slashed funding from a number of programs to trim the cost of the compromise bill. Among the cuts was $15 million from the innovative programs section of the bill that included funding for parental literacy, bilingual education and child care.

Another program drastically slashed was the proposed $9 million alcohol and drug abuse intervention plan for each school. That program was cut to $250,000.

The Senate was to reconvene Monday for the last full week of the current session.

51st Annual Lighthouse Electric Coop Meeting To Highlight Safety

A free member health fair will kick off the 51st Annual Meeting of Lighthouse Electric Cooperative on Saturday, April 28 at the Cooperative headquarters on East Highway 70 in Floydada. The health fair will run from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon, and will feature hearing tests, glaucoma tests, diabetes screening, and several other screening tests administered by health professionals. It will also feature informational booths manned by volunteers from area health organizations.

Highlighting the health fair will be the display of both the Methodist Hospital Carelink helicopter and the newly arrived ambulance of the Caprock Ambulance Service. The Carelink helicopter will be on hand from 9:00 until 10:00 a.m., and the Caprock ambulance will be on display from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon. All these activities will be free of charge to Cooperative members and their guests, except for the cholesterol screening, which will have a nominal laboratory fee.

Registration for the business meeting will begin at 10:00 a.m., and the traditional meal will be served beginning at 11:30. This year's menu features barbecue, fish, and chicken prepared by Danny's Fins & Hens.

At 12:30, a special safety program, a high voltage arcing demonstration, will be presented by Bob Smith, instructor with the Electric Power Utilities Training Division of the Texas A&M Engineering Extension Service.

Board of Directors President Louis Lloyd will call the business meeting to order at 1:00 p.m. Business reports will be presented by Cooperative Board Secretary Gaylord Groce and General Manager Bill Harbin, while a representative of the Cooperative's accounting firm will present the financial reports. Also scheduled is a report on the activities of golden Spread Electric Cooperative by its general manager, Bob Bryant.

Three directors are to be elected during the business session. Nominees to be voted on by the membership are: J.W. Jackson and Joe Appling in District 1; Don Bean and Gene Belt in District 3; and Ronald Mullin in District 4.

Musical entertainment will be provided by The Providentials, a barbershop quartet from the Providence community composed of Albert Scheele, Fonty Carthel, Dennis Faver, and Harlan Crume. There will be entertainment for the youngsters during the business meeting, and a nursery will be provided for younger children.

Prizes will be drawn throughout the meeting for Lighthouse members. The grand prize, to be drawn at the conclusion of the meeting, will feature the lucky winner's choice from among several appliances. In addition, a $50 credit on their electric bill will go to the youngest member and the oldest member present at the meeting.

Planning this year's annual meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Mark Appling of Crosbyton; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Warren of Floydada; Mr. and Mrs. Randy Calahan of South Plains; Mr. and Mrs. Curt Scribner of Estelline; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson of Lockney; Mr. and Mrs. Chris Cummings of Hale Center; and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Finley of Floydada.

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes

If you believe that you may be eligible for social security survivors benefits, you should apply for them as soon as possible after the worker's death. Application can be made at any social security office. In some cases, benefits may not be payable for any month before the month you apply.

The application process can be quicker if you have certain evidence at the outset; however, do not delay simply because all the required evidence is not available. The people at the Social Security office can start the application process and advise you about submitting additional evidence.

Some of the evidence needed to support an application for survivors benefits includes:

- * The applicant's and the deceased worker's social security numbers.
- * Proof of the applicant's age.
- * Proof of marriage, if the person is applying for widow's or widower's benefits.

* Proof of marriage, if the person is applying for widow's or widower's benefits.

* Proof of the worker's death.

* Children's birth certificates if they are applying for benefits.

* The deceased worker's Form W-2 (or Federal tax return if self-employed) for the most recent tax year.

* Proof of support if the application is being made for benefits as a dependent parent or grandchild of the deceased worker.

Other evidence may also be required depending on the kind of survivors benefits for which application is being made. For more information or to file a claim call 1-800-2345-SSA.

POLLUTION SOLUTIONS BEGIN IN THE HOME

With Earth Day 1990 approaching, and international attention focused on the environment, many people are starting to think about what they can do to help save the Earth on a global scale. But the simple fact is that a better environment can begin right in your own home. Two-thirds of groundwater and soil contamination comes from household pollution, and over half the phosphates in our lakes and streams are from household detergents.

One of the first lines of biodegradable, phosphate- and toxic-free household products was developed by Shaklee Corporation, and includes all-purpose Basic-H* concentrated household cleaner, as well as a germicide, laundry products, dishwashing liquids and scouring cleansers. The company's Vice President of Science and Technology, Dr. James Whittam, talked to us about the following pollution solutions for your housecleaning needs:

CLEAN UP YOUR ACT: Most detergents contain phosphates, which cause the "algae bloom" that kills lakes and streams. You may be using a high-phosphate detergent without knowing it, because the phosphate content of a detergent may not be listed in the ingredients. So if the label doesn't say "phosphate free," call the company to ask. And use the power of your purse to encourage manufacturers to take the phosphates out!

BEWARE OF TOXICS: Many products in your home may contain toxics, but manufacturers aren't required to list toxic ingredients. Toxics present a hazard to the environment during their production and disposal. Some common household products that contain toxic substances are oven cleaners and air fresheners.

GET RID OF HOUSEHOLD HAZARDOUS WASTE: You might not be aware that drain and toilet cleaners, floor and furniture polish and rug and upholstery cleaners are considered hazardous waste. Most of us dispose of these products by dumping them down the drain — but this can result in serious water contamination. Water waste treatment plants aren't designed to handle hazardous waste materials. In the average city of 100,000 residents, 3.5 tons of toilet bowl cleaners and 13.75 tons of liquid household cleaners are dumped into city drains every month, according to Environmental Hazards Management. Call your local wastewater treatment plant for information on safe disposal of liquid waste.
