TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Nature neglected to place any restriction on the depth to which man's cruelty may sink and did not place a control on his capacity for improving his savagery. Out of the dark academy of torture a device to startle starlings has been introduced, which, for a fee, is guaranteed to make bird life in the vicinity unbearable. It is a phonograph player with loud speakers, and the records are made especially to complement the world of noise. It seems feasible, however, that many of the modern dance records could be substituted at a substantial saving. On the other hand, starlings might die on the spot in such numbers that sanitation would become a problem. Starlings probably do not dance.

With its wick in the oil of freedom, religion has brought light to the world's long caravan of lives, each carrying an individual torch to the portals of eternity.

In measuring a character it is more accurate to consider what a man gives without anticipation of reward, than to calculate his ambitions on the basis of assumption.

Considering the modern methods of recording and transmitting the incidents that are associated with life on this neurotic star, the naive journalist might assume that all the good stories have been told. At times it seems that the bones of interest have been scraped, boiled and served in tasteless words. Unusual stories are everywhere, many of them so true that they become fantastic. Substantiated by the words of a sincere man, this fortuity deserves a place in the past's chronicle, particularly in the record of the automobile. During the period when the Model T Ford first made tracks on the rolling hills of Oklahoma, a new owner was driving toward his home at night when the lights failed. The darkness was impenetrable but he decided to continue the precarious journey. Suddenly a woman broke through his windshield and fell in the seat beside him. When her screaming ceased, her injuries included only a few minor scratches—then she began screaming again. Her baby was missing. At almost the same instant a baby began crying somewhere in the darkness. They found the child uninjured in the road behind the car, still wrapped in its blanket. The automobile had struck a buggy. The woman driver had been pitched through the windshield and the baby in her arms hurled over the automobile. Even the horse escaped injury. Fiction has a worthy counterpart.

Where else except in the latitude of love is it possible for the heart to carry a torch secretly into all the continents of tribulation without being aware of its weight?

Mannerisms are the representatives of individuality, frequently defeating or achieving a purpose before its arrival.

Many Work In Cleanup

Loyal and obedient Lions turned out Tuesday morning to accomplish one of the most thorough cleanup jobs in Matador's history. Boss Lion Randall Whitworth said he was pleased with the response and cooperation of members, as well as civic-minded citizens not members of the club. "It is possible that our campaign on filth (and unsightly conditions) Tuesday may become some child or adult to prevent the victim of filth," Whitworth said, "and our accomplishment is reflected in a mutual pride in the appearance of our town." Pioneers Begin 31st Meet

Heavy County Balloting Indicated by Absentees

One of the most hotly-contested gubernatorial races in Texas' stormy history is rapidly roaring toward the Saturday final with the voter ready to take his place at the polls.

In fact many voters have already indicated a choice between conservative Governor Allan Shivers and liberal candidate Ralph Yarborough through the absentee ballot.

Absentee balloting here indicates a record vote may be expected Saturday in Motley county. District and County Clerk Pat Sheridan said yesterday that 33 applications had been made and all but two had been returned. Records were not immediately available but it was believed to be the heaviest absentee voting ever recorded in a second primary.

Motley county has only one runoff race. Jack Spray, Whiteflat and James Monk, incumbent of Flomot are in the lone county contest for commissioner of precinct two. Many expect the total count to be close.

Gov. Shivers, speaking Tuesday night from the Texas shrine of glory, the historic Alamo in San Antonio, called on fellow Texans to join him in a fight for independence like the one waged (Continued on back page)

Date Is Changed For Ladies Night

Announcement is made by officials of the Matador Lions Club of a change in the date scheduled for the annual joint meeting of Lions-PTA. The original date of Tuesday evening, September 7, has been changed to Thursday evening, September 9. The meeting will be held on the high school campus. The change was made necessary because of conflict with a previously scheduled special meeting of the Matador Masonic lodge.

Mrs. Margaret Springer, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. King of Roaring Springs, visited at Bula, Sunday with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Morrison and family.

Schedule Is Announced For Opening of School

Vacation time is running out on students and teachers in Matador's school system. Superintendent Bert Ezzell has announced that all members of the faculty will meet at 9 o'clock Monday morning (August 30) in the high school building. Instructions will be issued concerning programs for the new school year.

Roaring Springs Teachers To Meet

Saturday, August 28, at 7:45 AM, breakfast will be served to the Roaring Springs faculty members and their families at the home of Superintendent and Mrs. Paul Sweatt. Following the breakfast, a teacher's meeting will be held in the high school study hall. The teachers will also prepare their rooms for the opening of school on Monday morning.

New Teacher Employed Mrs. Bessie Mae Marshall has recently been added to the Roaring Springs school faculty, and will teach the first grade. Mrs. Marshall taught first grade at Roaring Springs last year, but did not return because of the loss of one teacher, due to lowered average daily attendance.

She is a graduate of Texas Tech, Lubbock, with a B.S. degree. She formerly taught at Roaring Springs, as Bessie Mae Smiley.

EMERGENCY POLIO FUND NOW AT $523

Motley county's emergency polio fund drive had collections reaching a total of $523 yesterday, according to Randal Whitworth, cashier of the First State Bank, who is secretary-treasurer.

He said reports had been received from most of the communities in the county but said it was probable some areas had not completed their assignments.

Flomot Home Demonstration Club sponsored a "Polio fund program" Friday night at the Flomot high school building which received donations amounting to $76.62. Punch was served to those attending. District Attorney John Stapleton of Floydada presented a program of slide pictures. He was accompanied by Mrs. Stapleton and their children, Jean and Johnnie.

Ward Rattan conducted the drive in the business section of Matador and Mrs. Freeman Thacker was in charge of the solicitations in the residential area. Mrs. Rose Turner of Flomot, well-known for her charity work throughout the county, is chairman of the emergency campaign.

Hamilton to Deliver Memorial

ALL ROADS lead to Roaring Springs this morning as the Old Settlers begin their 31st annual convention at Pioneer Park. Matador has closed its doors in an observance of respect to the early settlers who pioneered this area of West Texas, and also to permit employers and employees to attend.

G. E. Hamilton, pioneer Matador attorney, will make the memorial address at 10 o'clock this morning according to Rep. Elbert Reeves who is aiding in directing the two-day programs.

Miss Laura V. Hammer of Amarillo, writer of pioneer history, and regularly heard on her KGNC radio feature, will appear on the program today. She will be accompanied by "Cotton John" also well-known for his radio and television shows. He will also have a part on the program today.

Rep. Reeves said that it is probable both Miss Hammer and "Cotton John" will appear directly after the noon "basket lunch" recess. A square dance team from Paducah is also scheduled for the afternoon program.

Many pioneers and former residents have already arrived for the annual reunion. One of the outstanding features of Old Settlers is the opportunity it provides for old friends to meet and visit.

Colorful parade of old-time vehicles and mounted riders which formerly opened the Old Settlers celebration, will be held at 5:30 PM today. The new arrangement is for the benefit of the horses to be used in the rodeo.

Good Rodeo Amused Ward Rattan, president of the rodeo division of Old Settlers said interest is high in rodeo events and that the outlook is promising for one of the best rodeos ever staged in Pioneer Arena. Elimination contests will be held each afternoon and the rodeo shows will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Favorable weather conditions are expected to increase the attendance which during previous years has been estimated from 4,000 to 7,000. A home talent show Friday afternoon and a brief business session will conclude the arranged program. Two dances will be held each night. "Old Folks" dance is held in the pavilion and the "Young Folks" dance is held in the open.

"Spotted" Rains Aid

Motley county's agriculture outlook has been greatly improved during the past week by "spotted" rains, which left as much as three inches in some sections of the Flomot community to as little as a trace in other areas.

The rainfall here (not official) was approximately one-half inch with most of it falling early Monday afternoon.

Northfield was reported to have received more than one inch and Ben Edwards in the Hornica area measured about 1.60. Heavy showers were reported in other sections of the county.

Farmers and ginners say the showers, augmented with cooler nights, will greatly aid the cotton crop prospects and in some instances assure a good yield.

Altho the cotton crop has suffered to some extent because of the prolonged drought and extreme heat, some experienced observers believe Motley county still has an excellent chance to produce a better than average crop. They say it is true that cotton has died in some fields, but generally the excellent May rains produced a "ground-season" which carried the cotton through the extreme weather.

LITTLE GRAVE on the prairie, above, is that of James Stewart Ligertwood, born July 10, 1904 and died November 10, 1906. It is located in a three-grave cemetery about one-half mile south of the Matador Ranch headquarters here. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Ligertwood.

The little boy and his Canadian-born English mother are shown below. Mr. Ligertwood was superintendent of the Matador ranch here between 1881 and 1908 and died several years later in Victoria British Columbia. Mrs. Ligertwood lives at 11450 Chenault Street, Los Angeles.

The young English girl met Mr. Ligertwood while attending school in Fort Worth, and came to the ranch as a young bride. Mrs. J. M. Jackson of Matador, whose husband, the late J. M. Jackson followed Mr. Ligertwood in management of the ranch is a long-time friend of Mrs. Ligertwood, and corresponds with her. The Jacksons were living at Larkey Camp when the little boy died.

Two other graves in the small cemetery are George Walker, 1889, and J. M. Walker baby. The burial ground is well-fenced. Seth Sager, present ranch manager, last year rebuilt the old fence and repaired the grave markers. During the rainy season this spring the graves were blanketed by wild flowers. Picture of mother and child was furnished the Tribune by Mrs. Georgia Williams of 811 Louisiana St., Amarillo.

OLD SETTLERS talk over the past. Jim Meador of Matador, left, and B. F. Simpson of Northfield who worked on the Matador Ranch in 1897, were photographed this month during Mr. Simpson's 83rd birthday celebration held at his Northfield home.

During 1897 when the two pioneers worked on the Matadors, Mr. Simpson was an "outside man" working in the roundups for his own and neighbors' cattle while Mr. Meador was Matador range wagon cook. He cooked "grub" for cowhands from 1895 to 1900 after being employed two weeks as a cowboy. Previous to that time he was a cowboy on various ranches, including the old "Scob Eight" which was later purchased by Swenson Brothers about 1896.

Mr. Simpson has lived continuously in the Northfield community for more than a half century. Mr. Meador is the father of Douglas Meador, Tribune publisher.

The old "Scob Eight" headquarters were located a short distance south of what is now US Highway 70, between Matador and Paducah, at a point near where the Swenson ranch now has a line camp.—Photo by Douglas Meador.

Miss Jeanie Hines Is Complimented At Pre-Nuptial Shower Held At Dougherty

A pre-nuptial shower Monday night in the home of Mrs. L. B. Campbell of Dougherty, was a courtesy for Miss Jeanie Hines, bride-elect of Dick Carpenter.

The hostess list included Mesdames Quinn Martin, Harold Campbell, J. E. Edwards, Fredie Welling and Rufus Emmons of Matador; Mrs. Willis Cooper of Floydada, and Mesdames Fred Cardinal, H. G. Cage, John Lewis, Johnnie Cates, G. W. Smith, Bill McNeill, Raldo James, Bill Smith, Claud Ring, Tate Jones, Ned Bradley, Annie Goss, and Mrs. Campbell, all of Dougherty.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Campbell and presented to the honoree, Miss Hines, her mother, Mrs. Howe Hines, and Mrs. J. M. Carpenter of Roaring Springs, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Mrs. Martin registered the guests.

The bare, polished refreshment table presented a most unique and attractive picture with lime sherbet punch served from a hollowed watermelon half, surrounded with greenery and melon balls. Mrs. Cooper poured, and melon balls and cookies were served with the punch.

Silver and crystal appointments were used, and the centerpiece was a miniature bride and bridegroom under an arch, entwined with English ivy and crepe myrtle. Extending from the arch, and marking a bridal path were pink ribbons bearing the names, "Dick and Jeanie" in silver spangles. A soft glow of candlelight illumined the arrangement.

Many useful and beautiful gifts were presented to the honoree.

Refreshments were served on the lawn, with cloth, napkins, plates and cups all decorated with "Happy Birthday".

Members of the crayon-crowd assisting Ronnie in the celebration, were: Marilyn and Linda Russell of Levelland; Treva and Brenda Hicks, Dickie and David Garrison, Gene, Howard and Kenneth Martin, Pat Cain, Marsha Seale, Sharlene Berryman, Sparky Meason and Don Cox.

BY MRS. J. M.

A little this side the pioneer era, when the settlement was beginning to expand and businesses were being started and new homes being built, housewives began to exercise the privilege of more leisure time, according to recent reminiscence among a certain sewing set. However, time has a way of fleeing and frequently the husband could be seen returning home for lunch, before the meal had even been started. A new magazine or mail-order catalog was hastily put aside as the wife rushed to the kitchen, lit the oilstove burners with one hand and hastily set the table with the other.

If the table was set when the husband arrived, he assumed the meal was about ready, and settled down to a peaceful period of waiting. Otherwise he was liable to be pretty difficult.

One woman however, was not quite quick enough. Lying abed, engrossed in a new novel when her husband made his noon-time appearance, she hurriedly hid the book, and feigned illness which saved her from having to confess her procrastination.

Rumors flew thick and fast about two local doctors and their wives, Tuesday night. The victims were Lorene and Ernest Denney, and Bob Van Meter (he's the new dentist) and his wife, Jo Ann. "Gossip" was the name of the game in progress following a delicious barbecue at the Forrest Campbell home, but the pay-off came when everyone revealed the person from whom they had "heard" a juicy morsel. The docs were charged with everything from wife-beating to unscrupulous practice!

Jack Norman and Forrest were celebrating (belatedly) their birthdays—both on the same day, Aug. 7. Forrest is a year younger than Jack (or vice versa); their wedding dates are 2 days apart, and the Normans have been married a year longer than the Campbells.

Gary Campbell, 7, was busy during the party, entertaining the small fry. These included Bobby Van Meter his own age; Sandra Latimer, 3, Carol Ann Stamper, 6, and Gary Stamper, 2. The latter two are youngsters of another couple who are newcomers in the community, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Stamper. He is high school principal, coming here from Three Way in Bailey county. Mrs. Stamper has our name, incidentally, except that our own was abbreviated in early life and the De left off.

And speaking of birthdays, Sunday was a special event for Rose Carolyn Donovan. Seven close friends, her aunt and mother assisted her in celebrating her 16th birthday, with lunch at Bob's Cook Shack. A musical cake plate held the birthday cake and played birthday wishes, with the guests joining in. They were: Barbara Waybourn, Raynita Dunning (whose birthday—her 15th, was also Sunday), Betty Neighbors, Lucretia Edwards, Joanne Darsey, Christine Green and Sue McCaghen; Mrs. Virginia Willie and Mrs. R. E. Donovan.

Molley-Dickens 4-H Encampment Will Be Annual Affair; Next Year's Plans Laid

Molley-Dickens 4-H encampment at Roaring Springs will become an annual affair, it was decided last week when the first encampment closed 129 4-H boys, girls and leaders attended the camp from Aug. 16 through the 18th, and all were very much in favor of making the affair an annual event.

While recreation was the principle purpose of the camp, also included were lessons on crafts and food by Mrs. Lou Jeffers, Dickens Home Demonstration agent; safety by Charles Taylor, Dickens County Agent, and citizenship by Bill Palmeyer, Motley County Agent.

4-H boys and girls selected Don McGinty, Spur, and Jan Barton, Matador, as co-chairmen of the camp, to be in charge of all programs, lessons and recreation. They were assisted by the agents present, and Mrs. Ike Reed, Mrs. Richard Martin, O. T. Harris, Jerry Green, Paul Sweatt, Mervin Green, Manly Thompson (leaders from Motley county) and adult leaders from Dickens county. Also on hand to help with the program were Curt Hays, Hank Watkins and Ronnie McDeerman, of the West Texas Utilities Company, Abilene.

Principal program of the camp was held Tuesday night with the co-chairmen in charge. Entertainers included Tom Tison, Matador farmer and magician; Harold Dean and Alice Faye Martin, Matador, brother and sister team who sang for the group and Rush McGinty, Spur, who made a talk on 4H club work. Two movies were also shown for the group. In addition to the lessons mentioned, all members prepared their supper the evening of the 17th. This consisted of a casserole of meat and vegetables cooked on an open fire in a coffee can.

Suggestions were taken from the members, as to how the camp might be improved, and plans were laid for the 1955 encampment. Plans made included alterations to improve the functioning of the camp.

VAUGHN FAMILY HAS REUNION AT LUBBOCK

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Vaughn of Harlingen, former residents of Roaring Springs, met with their children and their families, for a reunion Sunday at Mackenzie State Park, Lubbock.

In the group, besides Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn were Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Vaughn, Roswell, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Vaughn, Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. Audrey Vaughn and family, Spur, East and Mrs. Clyde Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Bateman Middlebrooks and daughter, Clyda, Matador.

RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Leonora Luckett has returned to her home here after an extended absence while recuperating from a broken hip and subsequent surgery. She has spent the summer with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Godfrey of Spur, who accompanied her to her home Friday. Mrs. Luckett is able to use a wheel chair, and has for a companion, Miss Rita Walker.

LEAVES FOR OVERSEAS

T/Sgt. Leroy Nelson left Tuesday last week for an overseas assignment on Okinawa. He was accompanied to Lubbock by his family, and from there continued by train to San Francisco, Calif., where he embarked. Mrs. Nelson and children are residing here.

High-Speed Farming Used Successfully To Cultivate Cotton In Soggy Fields

Operation of field machinery at speeds of 15 to 18 miles per hour was carried out successfully on its Brazos River Valley farm. The implement used was a trailer-type rotary hoe, designed especially for the purpose.

Pulling the machine at speeds up to 18 miles per hour enabled operators to cover cotton fields at the rate of 6 to 8 acres per hour, killing weeds effectively and breaking the crust. The high speed was about two and one-half times the rate with conventional rotary hoes mounted on tractors.

Because of the high speeds, the cotton fields could be rotary hoed during intervals between heavy rain showers. Also, the trailer-type rotary hoe could be used several days before the soil dried sufficiently for regular sweep cultivation, permitting breaking of the crust and lowering of the crust several days earlier than would have been possible with conventional equipment.

High Percent Control

Research specialists operating the machinery and appraising the results estimate that 65 to 70 percent of the annual weed and grass seedlings were controlled by one rotary hoeing with the new machine; 85 to 90 percent, with two or more such hoeings; and 95 to 98 percent, when rotary hoeing was preceded by the use of pre-emergence chemicals.

Careful examination after the rotary hoeing at high speeds indicated that over 95 percent of the cotton plants survived without any interruption in growth. This was true even though the cotton ranged in age from 1 to 5 weeks.

The rotary hoe used in these experiments has two banks of rotary hoe wheels mounted behind the trailer axle. Each bank holds six or eight rotary wheels and is mounted on a separate axle so that each bank covers one row. The wheels are raised and lowered by raising and lowering the tongue of the trailer through the hydraulic mechanism of the tractor. This gives finger-tip control over the depth to which the rotary wheels can penetrate and facilitates lifting the rotary wheels for turning and transporting the implement to other fields.

This equipment was used in the Brazos River Valley during the period May 8 to May 19, 1954. Four inches of rain fell from April 28 to May 3, and another 4 inches fell during the night of May 11. Cotton on 60 of the 90 acres used in the experiment emerged after the rain on April 28. The remaining acreage which was on Norwood silty clay loam, was approximately four weeks old when the heavy rains started.

Thick Soil Crust

A thick stand of weeds and grasses emerged following the first rains, and subsequent drying conditions caused a thick soil crust. Operation of the new rotary hoe was started on May 5, but the soil was not dry enough for the sweep cultivation until about 2 days later. Hence, the breaking of the crust and killing of the young weeds and grass were accomplished fully 2 days earlier than would have been possible with conventional cultivation equipment. Use of the new rotary hoe increased the available working time between the two 4 inch rains by 166 percent over that which would have been available for sweep cultivation or use of rotary hoeing at attachments with sweep cultivation.

The 60 acres of cotton that emerged after the April 28 rains were on Miller clay soil that never was dry enough between the heavy rains for satisfactory operation of a broadcast-type rotary hoe. Much of the cotton was rotary hoed three times with the new machine before moisture conditions would permit sweep cultivation.

Some fields of the 5 week-old cotton were thinned prior to the rotary hoeing; others were thinned afterwards. The use of the rotary hoe did not effect adversely the thinning operation or damage the stands of previously thinned cotton.

Packing No Problem

The wheels of the tractor pulling the rotary hoe packed middles to some extent, but this was overcome readily by cultivation with sweeps as soon as the soil dried sufficiently.

A new crop of weeds and grasses germinated after the heavy rain on May 11, and rotary hoeing with the new machine was started again on May 17. Sixty acres were rotary hoed the first day, and the rest of the acreage was covered by mid-afternoon of the second day. Tractor cultivators were not able to start on the lighter soils until the afternoon of May 17, and completion of cultivation on the heavier Miller clay was not feasible until four days later.

Following the successful operation of the high-speed implement early in May, several neighboring farmers in the Brazos River Valley improvised equipment for use on their fields. They took the sweeps off their tractor cultivators and used only rotary hoeing attachments. These attachments customarily accommodate only four rotary wheels per row and, hence, require very careful guiding of the tractor to keep the rotary hoes on the row. However, they have been used successfully in the Brazos River Valley, and it also has been reported that such improvised equipment is in general use in the El Paso cotton growing area.

Farmers Improvise

Equipment similar to that used by Texas A&M College probably can be improvised and built by many farmers or by local shops. Details of the implement's construction, including dimensions and methods can be obtained from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station, Texas. A more complete discussion of the tests and pictures of the implement are available in the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station's Progress Report 1691, a copy of which is available from most county agricultural agents and from the experiment station.

CAMPBELL CHEVROLET CO.

Rogers is Scored In Home Papers

Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress, who last week denounced Gov. Allan Shivers in newspaper articles, radio and television broadcasts, has felt the blistering brand of denunciation applied to his own anatomy. Two citizens of his home town signed the more than half-page advertisement in the Sunday Childress Reporter, and front page advertisement in the Childress Index to charge him with dereliction of duty as a state official — if the charges he has made against Gov. Allan Shivers are true. Full text of the advertisement titled "Now is the Hour of Decision — Supporters of Allan Shivers answer Andy Rogers", is as follows:

"It is not our purpose in this statement to criticize Andy Rogers. We, together with the great majority of Childress county citizens, have heretofore supported him for public office. However, to say that we are disappointed in him is putting it lightly. As state representative and state senator he has been very derelict (to use gentlemanly language) in his duty to his God, his country and his state, if his charges against Allan Shivers are true. He has held one or the other of these offices during all the time Allan Shivers has been governor. If such conditions have existed he was informed of them or at least he was duty-bound to inform himself. He was duty-bound to let the people know—to make a public effort to investigate such alleged offenses—to insist on the governor being prosecuted for his alleged felonious offenses.

"Some four months ago he was in special session with his colleagues, yet he said not a word. Time went on. The first primary was over and Allan Shivers was thrown into a crucial second primary by special interest blocks of votes, yet our senator, who now feels it his duty to inform us, said not a word. As the campaign comes to a close—as Allan Shivers fights the battle for Texas against the odds of organized interests outside Texas, our state senator becomes brave—the time is ripe—the hour has come. All people throughout all ages have known the story of "the knife in the back."

"We will not attempt to impugn the motives of our state senator—everyone can guess the reason for his action according to his or her own reasoning or prejudice, as the case may be. We know only that we have no axe to grind—no reward or promise of reward, except the external and prayerful hope that we may continue to enjoy the democratic principals of freedom and preserve them unto our children. In addition to freedom of worship and freedom of speech, we also adhere to the principal of freedom in pursuit of our walk of life, whether it be a farmer, a merchant, manufacturer, or an employee of such industries.

"It is not our purpose to answer the slanderous statements contained in the senator's article printed recently. Allan Shivers has already answered many times every one of the misstatements made that in any way relates to the issue in his campaign. His word has been backed up by the official statements of those who are in charge of the law enforcement investigation not connected with the governor's office—men who are in a position to know the true facts.

"Neither is it our purpose to criticize Ralph Yarborough's efforts, as unscrupulous as they are, to realize his dream of conquest, power and glory. Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin held such dreams. Mr. Yarborough is an apt student of their methods and we are hopeful they will not succeed in Texas.

"It is our purpose in this statement to urge the re-election of Allan Shivers as Governor of Texas. Let's be reasonable in this crucial hour. We have had a severe drought for several years and it is only natural that we may forget to count some of our blessings. Aside from the drought, let's take a look at the progress of Texas under the administration of Allan Shivers. You have only to step in your car and drive to realize that during the last few years Texas has developed the best system of public roads in the world—which includes farm to market roads. Our penal institutions and state hospitals have greatly improved. If you want the truth about them ask some fair-minded person who visited them several years ago and has visited them recently. Better yet, visit them yourself and inquire about how they were a few years back.

"If you visited your schools before 1950, visit them now and compare the difference. Ask some teacher how much salary he or she drew before 1950, and how much he or she draws since the last advancement in pay. If such teacher isn't still angry because Allan Shivers wouldn't agree to give them a "hot check" for a bigger raise than they finally got in cash, he will tell you the truth about the recent advancement in our public schools and teacher's pay. If you are interested in soil and water conservation, we would suggest that you listen to some fair-minded person who is familiar with the facts, and is not concerned about holding his job with the federal government. Listen to all the state representatives of the Panhandle region who have served with Allan Shivers.

"About the only thing Allan Shivers has not been maliciously criticized for is his successful effort for disaster relief, and the only member of his family that has not been viciously attacked is his two-year-old baby boy. The unscrupulous campaign tactics used against him are foreign to Allan Shivers and to Texas. It is heartrending to see a man so high in principal, so unselfish (he doesn't need the job to make a living) in his devotion to his state thus shamefully treated.

"We do not know what Ralph Yarborough has promised the leaders of the CIO, NAACP and Duval county (George Parr) for their block votes. We do not know the thousands he has promised gravy train government jobs. But we do know he has promised roads and bridges for political support, that his promised spending program will bankrupt the state (estimated at $240 per family per year). We remember the immortal words of our forebearers "The power to tax is the power to destroy." Texas now has several million dollars in the bank rather than being in the "red." Most of us get much cash ahead but we still think it is a good idea, especially when it is our tax money, don't you?

"We like our Texas Way of Life, and, joined by some 1418 Childress county supporters of Governor Allan Shivers, we hope you do.

Respectfully submitted,
W. E. (Ned) Garrison,
Martin Coyne

WARNING!

TEXAS FARMERS-RANCHERS WARNED OF CIO LABOR PLANS

AUSTIN, Tex., Farmers and ranchers of Texas were warned this week that the CIO plans to organize the farm workers of Texas if its candidate wins the Governor's race.

This warning came from Governor Allan Shivers who charged that the backers of his opponents "want to turn the state government over to the same bunch that is trying to wreck Port Arthur."

"One of their red-hot organizers from Port Arthur in as labor commissioner. Then every time a farmer or rancher wanted to hire someone he would have to go through the CIO."

Governor Shivers said there was no doubt in his mind that the aim of the CIO after the job of organizing industry in Port Arthur and along the Gulf Coast is finished is to begin organizing farm labor in all parts of Texas.

"You can imagine what will happen when the CIO starts dictating how many laborers are needed to plow ten acres of land, refusing to allow a man to work more than thirty-five hours a week during the harvesting season and telling how much a farmer can charge for his crop," he said.

The Shivers administration, the Governor said, has worked hard to help preserve and protect the rights of the working man.

"But as long as I am Governor, the professional labor bosses who have been sent to Texas from the East — specifically those in the CIO and its Political Action Committee — are not going to run our State Government," Shivers promised.

Shivers said the average working man in Texas appreciated good government and that they were not going to let CIO bosses and professional organizers from the East do their thinking — and voting — for them.

for study. School buses will make their regular routes and lunchroom serving will be at the regular time.

Lunch Period Shorter
Ezell said that new accreditation regulations require six hours of class work, exclusive of the lunch period, thus extending the school day over previous years.

Class work will start promptly at 9 o'clock each morning. Elementary school students will begin the lunch period at 11:30, starting with the primary and continuing at intervals.

High school students will go to lunch at 12 o'clock and all students will observe a 30-minute lunch period and be dismissed at 3:30. Trustees set the 30-minute lunch period because of the long bus trips necessary for some students (some start to school at sundown). Cooperation is asked of patrons in effort to try the new schedule which has been in use by other schools for years.

The following faculty assignments have been released: First grade, Mrs. Minnie Coldiron; 2nd grade, Miss Verlin Reeves; 3rd grade, Mrs. Josephine Hamilton; 4th grade, Mrs. Viola Keith; 5th grade, Mrs. Jo Ann VanMeter; 6th grade, Mrs. Ethel Damron; 7th grade, Arthur Fair; 8th grade, Mrs. Marguerite Edwards; J. Mrs. Margaret Whitworth will instruct in speech, her room being located in the grade school building, and Mrs. G. E. Hamilton will give private lessons in music, with her room located in the high school building. Mrs. L. D. Wilkerson will continue to teach music here two days weekly as part of the county cooperative teacher program.

School officials express belief that the 1954-55 term will prove a highly successful year for Matador Independent School system.

when the Lone Star State's destiny was being shaped. The governor was interrupted 26 times with handclapping, shouts and cheers as the crowd estimated at 5,000 heard his speech.

Ralph Yarborough, speaking in Ft. Worth the same night said that if he is elected governor he will go to Port Arthur and in 30 days settle the strike that is "pitting neighbor against neighbor." Yarborough hammered at what he called Shivers' "do nothing" record in three speeches in Dallas Tuesday. Yarborough said he considered his election with Shivers "a straight out Republican-Democrat fight."

DROUTH AID...

Governor Shivers said he had received assurance of two top federal agriculture officials in Austin this week-end that they would try to help arrange for a supply of grain at a fixed price. They also promised to study the possibility of extending easier long-term loans to stockmen and farmers in designated drouth areas.

A meeting held here Thursday was attended by delegates from the distressed counties, where plans were made for the Austin meeting with Governor Shivers.

Appreciation is extended to Commissioner Berryman and Clyde Gilbert for their excellent work, by the cemetery association, the Lions Club and the citizenship.

TEXANS... Do You Doubt It Now?

★ PARR AGAINST GOV. SHIVERS

Here is conclusive proof of the link between Parr, Yarborough and C.I.O.

This news story, appearing in the Dallas Morning News on Sunday, August 22, 1954, will convince all TRUE TEXANS that there is a conspiracy by the Parr-Yarborough-CIO Machine to TAKE OVER TEXAS.

Remember the CIO-PARR link has been repeatedly denied by Ralph Yarborough.
