A Second Glance

By Leon Watson

We are proud to have Betty Luckett on our staff at the Tribune. She is really another "Girl Friday" around the office. There are several Girl Fridays contributing to the paper now, and we appreciate that. It makes the week go a lot easier when there are that many Fridays in it.

I have read that we are burning up our oil and natural gas resources as if there's no tomorrow. But tomorrow's needs for energy will be even greater than today's.

This year the U.S. is expected to consume almost 20 million barrels of oil a day. According to the World Almanac only 11 million barrels of oil a day are produced domestically. Frightening, isn't it? By 1985 it is estimated that consumption will increase up to 25.6 million barrels a day, with domestic production rising to only around 11 million barrels daily.

This harsh reality leaves us with one answer. Only if every single one of us curbs his or her unquenchable thirst for energy and takes simple steps to conserve it at home, at work and on the road can we continue to enjoy our way of life -- a way of life made possible by once abundant energy supplies.

Speaking of supplies, there are several cities not far from here which are experiencing water problems. To put it bluntly, their water supply is in critical shape. There are city water superintendents who are asking residents to conserve water.

With the increasing irrigation needs of the farmers during hot spells such as the current one, the underground water level drops considerably and city wells, along with the farmer's, pump less water. Combined with increased waterings of gardens, the wells have barely been keeping up and are currently losing ground.

In Petersburg residents have been asked to wait until they have a full load before they wash; water the lawn in the cool evening hours when evaporation is lowest; flush the commode only when necessary; repair leaky faucets; use paper goods for everyday meals to cut down on dishwashing; and the list goes on. In Olney, Texas the water is so low that residents must now take their washing out of town and fines are levied for anyone caught watering their yard.

Not far from where I grew up there is a town named Springlake. It could easily be called Drylake now. Only a few years ago did the spring stop feeding the lake.

Enclosed is a $6.00 subscription renewal check for the Tribune. When our expiration notice came last winter Dad was facing the darkest part of a series of cancer operations. They said just let it go. With his improvement, we have been glad that you continued to send it.

Letter to the Editor:

I agree with your writer, Leon Watson, in "A Second Glance" that we should hear the other side of the story.

I think it would have been even better had the story been checked out more carefully before it was printed as it is not entirely correct. The gun in question was not a rifle, it was a .410 shotgun which is somewhat different as a .410 is often used to give a pest a taste of buckshot to speed him on his way.

I further agree with the writer that too often, people have a different kind of respect for other people's property than they have for their own. And when they let their dog run on their neighbor's property they have little respect for their neighbor and less for their own dog. Dogs running loose can get hit by autos, cause automobile wrecks, bite small children and spread rabies. A dog lover does not treat his dog this way. I have a dog which I keep fenced in for the above reasons. I don't expect my neighbors to fence THEIR yard to keep out MY dog.

I sympathize with the small boy whose dog was shot and so does the lady who shot the dog. She remembers when her own boys had a dog they loved, and when she saw the dog was seriously hurt she was trying to put it out of its misery.

Respectfully,
Wayne Fletcher

P.S. I was born and lived a large part of my childhood in Matador. Zelma Crump is my mother and she has never hurt a dog or cat in her life up until now.

Editors Note:

We thank you, Mr. Fletcher, for your letter. It is well written and certainly sheds light on the lady's side of the story. No disrespect was intended on the part of anyone when the article about the shooting was published. We feel, now, with your letter informing us more of the situation, that people who do have dogs running loose can better realize that a problem does exist.

Local FFA Members Attend Texas Convention

Local FFA chapter members attended the 50th anniversary convention of the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America, July 11-14, at the San Antonio Convention Center. Charles Cammack, son of Mrs. Ruth Cammack and Gary Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson represented the Motley County FFA Chapter.

More than 6,000 persons attended the four day convention, the highlight of the year's activities in FFA. Some 1,600 voting delegates representing 828 chapters in the state were on hand to elect officers for the coming year and to honor outstanding members of the organization.

Texas is the state with the largest membership in FFA. There are more than 60,000 members and the national organization has drawn many of its national officers from the ranks of the Texas membership. The convention was highlighted by addresses from Ken Johnson, current National FFA President; Bobby Tucker, last year's National FFA President and Reagan Brown, Commissioner of Agriculture.

The convention, which celebrated the 50th anniversary of FFA, had as its theme "FFA at 50: A Golden Past and A Brighter Future." Created in 1928, the Future Farmers of America has had almost a million members since its inception. In its first half century, the organization has been noted for its distinguished contributions to youth, leadership, agriculture and vocational education. Current FFA programs encompass every phase of agriculture from livestock production to development of leadership to agricultural economics.

At the convention, outstanding FFA members were recognized for significant achievement in FFA programs including supervised farming, agribusiness and leadership. Also, more than $300,000 in college scholarships were presented to 70 FFA members by nine organizations that are long time supporters of FFA.

The Motley County delegates were accompanied to San Antonio by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moss. Mr. Moss is the Vocational Agriculture teacher in the Motley County School System.

July 25 -- 31 'Farm Safety Week'

President Jimmy Carter, in a special Proclamation, has designated July 25-31 as the 35th annual National Farm Safety Week in America. The theme for this year's observance is "MANAGE to prevent Farm and Ranch Accidents."

Sponsored jointly by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the observance emphasizes the need for farm safety as a means of reducing costly accidents that hamper agricultural productivity and cause great personal loss to thousands of farm families annually.

During 1977, approximately 5400 farm residents lost their lives in accidents and another 380,000 suffered disabling injuries, according to preliminary estimates from the National Safety Council. About 1,800 deaths and 180,000 disabling injuries were classified as farm work accidents. Work deaths and injuries to farm and ranch residents accounted for 1,600 and 16,000 of these totals respectively.

Texas farm fatalities in 1977 totaled 181 in 110 counties, according to statistics furnished by the Texas State Health Department. The leading cause for farm-related deaths was firearm accidents, with tractors, drownings and fires as other high-ranking causes.

The farm death statistics have risen and fallen in Texas over the past decade, but have steadily declined since the 1968 total of 297 farm fatalities. An increase is shown from the 1976 death total of 169 to the 181 fatalities in 1977 though.

Social Security Tips

Question: A friend of mine told me that the premium for Medicare medical insurance may go up this month. Has it?

Answer: Yes. The basic medical insurance premium increased from $7.70 to $8.20 a month for the 12-month period starting July 1, 1978. The increase is necessary because medical insurance costs have risen as a result of higher charges for medical services. By law, however, the premium increase cannot be more than the percentage increase in social security cash benefits during the previous year. For further information regarding Social Security benefits please contact the Social Security office, 1401-B West 5th Street, Plainview, phone 293-4371.

After everyone had all the ice cream and cake they could eat -- a chipping contest was held. Many spectators to see some good chip shots. 'Twas an evening of fun in a beautiful setting and a special thanks to Laverna and Frank for their genuine hospitality.

This poem was composed by Mrs. Agnes Nelson and sent to Mrs. Rose Turner of Matador, formerly of Flomot.

You ask what it's like in a Nursing Home. Well, nothing can ever be like your own, But it's just what life has always been; A mixture of pleasure, trouble and pain.

It's accepting the fact that youth is gone, That help is needed to carry on. It's instant help when the need has come, It's loving concern from those still young; It's a cheery wave, a hug or two, It's knowing that someone cares for you. It's finding fault, complaining a lot, It's the feeling of security that You've got.

It's wheel chairs, walkers, crutches, canes, It's music, singing, parties and games, It's chapel each morning, a time for prayer, It's a feeling of sadness at a vacant chair. So with dear ones gone, sick and alone, It's thanking God for a Nursing Home. Mrs. Agnes Nelson, resident Ft. Wayne, Ind., Nursing Home

Farm Safety Week

County Agent Pallmeyer Says

Beet armyworms are being found in many cotton fields at the present, but most of the cotton is past the stage where they will become an economic threat. The worms skeletonize the leaves, and if enough are present, controls may be warranted, but the damage I find that most are thinking these worms cause is the result of "sore shin" or seedling disease.

When one finds dead plants, pull it up and see if there isn't a dark belt around the stem below groundline. Many times you will pull the stem into when you try to pull the plant up, and then you will note that this area is very dry. This prevents the transfer of nutrients from the roots to the leaves and vice versa, resulting in plant death.

Wet weather at planting time causes this disease to increase, and even though we don't have these conditions now, remember a few weeks ago at planting time. Organisms that cause this disease are present in all soils in the cotton belt and even though it is too late to do anything about this problem now, seed treatment or the use of fungicides will help in most periods, even though there are some unfavorable weather periods that nothing will help except the use of strong healthy seed. Remember, we don't have this problem every year, but the seed treatment isn't bad insurance any year.

To complicate the problem, I also found Ascochyta or "wet weather" blight in some fields. This disease was present on the main stem, leaves and branches. The first signs were small, round brown dots in which the centers later became ashy colored, and later fell out.

Either of these diseases will reduce stands and set the plant back about two weeks, but the occurrence of warm dry weather allowed most of these affected plants to recover. We didn't need all of these 100 plus days, but it is helping to overcome these problems of disease. Furrow plantings were affected more than bed plantings.

Also, where the entire terminal of the plant is missing, don't blame the beet armyworm for this either. Most of this damage is being caused by grasshoppers, or if cut at the ground line, blame cutworms.

To sum it up, what I am trying to say is "don't spray unless you have too". This could cause a bollworm problem later on, so place the blame where it belongs, and don't open the door for other problems.

Leaf scorch is being noted on many trees. Yellowing or bronzing of leaves is first noted between the veins or along the margin of leaves.

In most cases all leaves on the same branch, or on one side of the tree are affected first. This is caused mainly by hot dry winds, and failure of the root system to provide adequate water or plant nutrients.

Once this problem appears it can't be corrected, but injury can be kept to a minimum by improving the tree's general condition. This can be done by pruning to maintain an even balance between the root system and the top; mulching to improve water holding capacity of the soil; check for insects, and if present, control.

Shipping Fever Disease Afflicts Young Cattle

Shipping fever afflicts young cattle on thousands of farms and ranches every year.

Veterinarians have studied this complex respiratory disease for many years but do not have all the answers even today. In general, a combination of three conditions lead to the development of shipping fever. These are stress plus viral and bacterial infections.

"The livestock owner can control the stress factor," explained Dr. David Smokler, a bovine practitioner in Lancaster. "Work the cattle only in the early morning hours on hot days. I think the 'best' cowboy is one who works the cattle the easiest; that is, without a lot of shouting and running the cattle with his horse."

"Weaning is a very upsetting time to the calf," he continued. "Weaning comes much easier if you'll 'creep feed' some grain the last few weeks and give them the best quality grass hay available. Getting the calves settled down from the weaning process prior to moving them long distances may help prevent shipping fever."

To avoid shipping fever in purchased animals, Dr. Smokler suggests buying calves from a neighbor who handles his animals gently. Do not purchase calves where large numbers of animals from many farms are penned together.

Calves which develop shipping fever usually stand away from other calves, their stomachs look empty and their nose may be dry and crusty or have mucus dripping out. Usually, rapid breathing and a light cough are present with shipping fever.

Good nursing, clean water, the best hay and no excitement are good medicine for the calf with shipping fever. Follow your veterinarian's instructions carefully regarding animal care and antibiotic medication. The chute for treating calves should be no more than 28" wide and three or four calf-lengths long so treatment can be performed without exciting the calf. Roping a very sick calf may inflict permanent injuries.

Prevention of shipping fever is much easier and more successful than treatment after the illness has developed. Some vaccinations before weaning will help prevent development of the disease. Early recognition of the symptoms and prompt treatment are essential when shipping fever is indicated.

Attend School Local Girls

Two sisters from Matador are spending the summer at the University of Texas at El Paso, working in campus offices and attending daily classes that prepare them to enter the University as freshmen.

They are Esperanza Chavira, assigned to supplies and Duplicating, and Maria I Chavira, working for the Department of Accounting.

"Twenty-two of our 27 summer students are prime candidates to enter HEMP this fall," said Carlos Armendariz, counselor. "The other three will still be in high school."

HEMP is the Higher Education Migrant Program, established last August to help students from migrant or seasonal farmworker families to begin and continue higher education. Funding is through the Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs.

"When we recruit students for this program, we find that it is often hard for them to leave home, as they usually are from close families that like to stay together," said Armendariz. "There is also a big change for those who move from a rural farm setting to a city the size of El Paso, but once they make the change they enjoy the excitement of the University community."

The summer students live on campus in Miner Hall. They work 3 1/2 hours per week and attend daily classes from 3:30 to 5 p.m. where the study English composition, study skills, career development, and personal awareness.

"We feel that the best feedback we have after HEMP's first year is that our former students are recommending new ones for the program," said Armendariz. "During the coming fall and spring we will have 40 openings for the program, with 22 of the summer group expected to be the nucleus for the total group."

In order to qualify for HEMP, a student must be an entering freshman, have a high school diploma or equivalent, be a citizen or legal resident of the United States and the State of Texas, qualify as a seasonal or migrant farmworker, and meet CETA Title I qualifications.

Those who enter the program not only begin a University education, but also receive counseling, work experience and educational financial help. The HEMP program at UT El Paso has assigned counties for recruiting students, mainly in West Texas (excluding El Paso County) and also several counties near the Gulf Coast, some in the northern tip of the Panhandle and some in northeast Texas.

Insurance Rate Increase Decision Expected Soon

"The insurance companies request for an additional rate increase will cost the business community of Texas more than $50 million in the next twelve months alone," charged President-Elect of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, Bob L. Wilson of Wichita Falls.

This statement was made to reporters following a heated rate hearing before the State Board of Insurance in which the Texas Trial Lawyers Association and the Texas Association of Business opposed the pending rate hike. The State Board of Insurance is expected to render a decision shortly.

Wilson stated the proposed rate increase was totally "unjustified" in light of the insurance industry's record high profits nationwide in 1977. Further, Wilson stated that the profits of insurance companies in Texas have been among the highest in the nation. For example, State

Farm has admitted its automobile insurance profits were higher in Texas than in any other state in the nation."

In testimony specifically concerning the workers' compensation issue, Wilson reminded those present that the State Board had granted seven rate increases in the past four years, and workers' compensation premiums in Texas cost the state's business community $800 million last year. "In spite of these rising premiums, Industrial Accident Board records show the average settlement to an injured worker in 1977 was less than 1.5 per cent over 1976," Wilson argued.

Wilson then turned his attack on the largest workers' compensation insurance company in Texas. Using figures in their annual report, Wilson pointed out that "its assets have increased 371.1 per cent in the last ten years and 198.6 per cent in the last five years.

Questions Answered By VA Counselors

Q. -- I used all of my 36 months of education benefits obtaining a B.S. degree in 1973. Are there any other benefits to which I'm entitled that I can use to go to graduate school?

Q. -- My World War II GI insurance premium will be more than I can handle financially when I reach 75. What alternatives are available?

A. -- You can convert part of your term coverage to one of the permanent plans available, reduce the amount of your term policy to what you can afford, or use the dividends from either type policy to buy paid-up insurance that doesn't require premiums. Contact the office where your insurance records are located for complete information.

Q. -- I'm going to school under the GI Bill, but I still need financial assistance. Can VA help?

A. In general, eligible veterans may qualify for a VA student loan of up to $2,500 each academic year if they demonstrate their essential expenses during the school year will exceed their income.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO ABANDON

AB-109 (Sub-No. 1F)

Quahar, Acme and Pacific Railway Company hereby gives notice that on or about August 2, 1978 it intends to file with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C. 20423, an application for a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity, permitting the abandonment of a line of railroad extending from Railroad Mile Post G-728, plus 10 poles plus 700 feet, near Acme, Texas, to Railroad Mile Post G-833.2 near Floydada, Texas, a distance of approximately 104 miles, in Hardeman, Cottle, Motley, and Floyd Counties, Texas. The line for which the abandonment application will be filed includes the stations of Paducah, Texas at Mile Post G-766.1 and Floydada, Texas at Mile Post G-833.2.

The reasons for the proposed abandonment are the public convenience and necessity no longer require the continued operation of the line and the continued operation of the line would be a burden upon applicant.

The line of railroad has appeared on the System Diagram Map in Category 1-A § 1121.20 (b) (1) since February 28, 1978.

The interests of railroad employees will be protected by appropriate conditions as set forth in Chicago, B. & O. R. Co., Abandonment, 257 I.C.C. 700 and the applicable provisions of the Rail Passenger Service Act.

Any interested person, in response to this notice, is entitled to take either of the following actions:

 - (c) specific statement of position and summary of evidence with regard to any or all of the following:
 - (1) intent to offer financial assistance;
 - (2) environmental impact;
 - (3) impact on rural and community development;
 - (4) suitability of the properties for other public purposes; and
 - (5) recommended provisions for protection of the interests of employees.

Written comments will be considered by the Commission in all proceedings in developing conditions and in determining whether to conduct an investigation on its own motion. In the event an investigation is conducted, then the commenting party may participate in the proceeding as its interests may appear.

2. File with the Interstate Commerce Commission a petition requesting that the application and proposed abandonment be investigated.

The petition to investigate shall be in the form of a verified statement, and at minimum, contain:

- (a) identification of petitioner including its name, address and business;

- (c) specific reason(s) for requesting the institution of an investigation, including information with respect to petitioner's reliance on the involved service, with allegations of fact supported by an affidavit of personal knowledge of the facts;
- (d) any rebuttal of information or material submitted by applicant; and
- (e) request for oral hearing and reasons therefor if desired.

Upon receipt of a petition to investigate, the Commission shall determine the extent of the investigation to be instituted. Those parties filing petitions to investigate should be prepared to participate actively in either oral hearings or via the submission of additional material in the form of verified statements. Parties seeking information concerning the filing of petitions should refer to 49 CFR 1121.36.

Petitions to investigate and written comments should indicate the proceeding designation No. AB-109 (Sub-No. 1F) and should be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C. 20423 no later than September 6, 1978. Interested persons may file either a written comment or a petition to investigate with the Commission to become a party to this abandonment proceeding. A copy of each petition to investigate or written comment shall be served upon the representative of the applicant, D. E. Engle, Vice-President-General Counsel, St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Company, 906 Olive Street - Suite 1023, St. Louis, Missouri 63101. The original and two copies of all petitions, comments and replies shall be filed with the Commission together with a certificate of service.

In the event a petition to investigate prepared in accordance with the above instructions is filed, then the Commission will conduct an investigation of the abandonment. Written comments filed with the Commission will be considered by the Commission in all proceedings in developing conditions and in determining whether the Commission should conduct an investigation on its own motion in the event no petition to investigate is filed. Additionally, if an investigation is conducted then parties filing comments may participate in the investigation as their interests may appear.

Persons desiring further information concerning abandonment procedures may contact the Interstate Commerce Commission's Section of Finance, Office of Proceedings or refer to the full abandonment and discontinuance regulations at 49 CFR Part 1121. Persons desiring information concerning financial assistance for the continued operation or acquisition of the involved line should contact the Commission's Rail Services Planning Office. THE LIGHTER SIDE

It isn't the people who tell all they know that cause most of the trouble, it's the ones who tell more.
-Sunshine Magazine

VIEWS OF OTHERS

IF ENOUGH PEOPLE ACT AMERICA - LAND OF the free! Home of the Brave! But where are the brave ones? It seems as though we're getting less and less of the stalwart, statesmanlike folks representing us.

Whose fault is that? It is yours and mine. I THINK MOST OF US know the greatest problems facing this nation are twofold. One is a moral issue, the other is an economic one. The right to have a job and wages for doing nothing is not a God-given right. Inflation is created by people. Moral decay is created by people. Both can be cured if enough people who are aware and concerned act.
