TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

We point to our neighbor's mistakes under the assumption that if he stubs his toe, calling attention to the act provides some kind of sanctuary for our own shortcomings.

Some memories are etched on the face of our hearts to remain forever. The tides of time may churn against them but the details remain sharp and poignant. That is the way I remember the music of clattering train wheels on my first trip home after two years in California. Some of the passengers entered my Pullman bearing gift-wrapped packages, and my own luggage held similar gifts. Snow was falling in the Arizona mountains when I awoke the following morning and the train seemed charged with the enchanted spirit of Christmas. Strangers smiled and spoke with pleasant eagerness and the usually caustic trainmen were civil. My mother cried, as I knew she would when I held her in my arms, and every article in the house looked exactly as I remembered it would look. My paint horse stood in the lot with his back to the north wind, motionless, his eye lids closed, dreaming. The sky, the horizon, and the clouds fit perfectly into the pattern I had made so many times. Christmas is for the young; its memories for the old.

Most seasoned parents affirm that their children break the sound barrier at will and without the aid of supersonic speed.

Tower Visits In Matador

Senator Tower was introduced by Bill Hale of Floydada, representing Texas 66th District. Tower touched on many subjects during his talk and later in a question and answer session. Among topics discussed were guidelines by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), which area health officials say could close all rural hospitals in this area.

During the question and answer session, Tower discussed beef importation and said that Australia has shipped beef to the United States that did not meet standards. He informed those attending that a bill has been introduced that would require all imported meats to meet standards set by the U.S.D.A.

Also discussed by the Senator were labor unions and their influence on the government. Tower voiced his support of the Title B Taft-Hardy Law, which is the right to work without unions. Many other topics of both national and international issues were discussed in the meeting.

Tower, who is in his 3rd term, has not yet announced for re-election. He is expected to do so in January. No primary opposition is expected by Tower. Two Democrats are running for his office and are U. S. Representative Bob Krueger of New Braunfels and former state Insurance Commissioner, Joe Christie.

In making the trip to Matador, Senator Tower was accompanied from Floydada Airport by Bill Hale, Vance Campbell and John Farris. His wife also accompanied him in making the trip.

Lions Hear Guest

Program for Matador Lions Club, Tuesday at the United Methodist Church was presented by a guest, A. W. Dunning of Amarillo, Staff Assistant, Special Service Dept., of the Santa Fe Railway.

Introduced by Lion Bob Stanley, Mr. Dunning showed a film, "Operation Lifesaver," featuring safety precautions at Texas railroad grade crossings. The film was both educational and entertaining, showing strips from early "Keystone Cop" movies with accelerated action.

Before showing the film, Mr. Dunning spoke briefly and explained the benefits to be gained from a safety campaign of this nature. The program is presented to civic groups in cooperation with Governor Dolph Briscoe, Texas Department of Public Safety, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Texas Railroad Association and various other organizations.

The film narration revealed that 1500 people die each year at railroad crossings, despite the "warning lights, bells and gates. "I witnessed one man who drove his pickup around the gate, to cross the tracks as a train approached, Mr. Dunning declared.

Mr. Dunning is in his 36th year of service with the Santa Fe. He served three years in the U.S. Air Force during World War II, retiring a Lt. Col. with 28 1/2 years service in the U.S. Air Force Reserves.

"If you want to really get that 'Christmas Spirit' consider a contribution to the Girlstown Christmas Fun," said Emilio Aguilar, president of the Matador Lions Club as he announced his club's participation in the 9th annual Lions District 2T-1 coat and shoe drive for Girlstown, USA. Each of the 98 girls located at the Borger, Whiteface and Austin campuses will be given a $90 gift certificate to be used to purchase a new coat, a new pair of shoes and other needed clothing for Christmas.

"With the help of the good people in the Golden Spread the Lions of District 2T-1 have been able to purchase this needed clothing for these girls for the past eight years, also we have been able to contribute to the Girlstown operating fund and through special projects we were able to build a building on the Whiteface campus during the past year," said the Lions governor. Since the founding of Girlstown in March 1949 approximately 1600 girls have made their homes on one of these campuses. "Funds raised in excess of the amount needed for the gift certificates will be presented to Girlstown," said Nolan Grady, District 2T-1 Girlstown chairman.

County Shares In Texas Travel Dollar

AUSTIN, Tex., -- Motley County received $3,708,600 of the State's $6,075,952,000 travel receipts in 1976, a national study commissioned by the Texas Tourist Development Agency has disclosed.

The 1976 figures reflect an increase of 15 percent in travel receipts over 1975 when Motley County's travel business accounted for $3,216,000.

In addition to gross receipts, the study found that Motley County in 1976 had 147 of the state's 227,258 travel-related jobs, with an annual payroll of $754,800.

It also estimated $147,500 in state and $30,900 in local taxes were paid by county visitors in 1976.

The study was done by the U.S. Travel Data Center in Washington, D.C., an independent travel research organization funded jointly by public and private sectors.

It was based on the Center's Travel research organization funded jointly by public and private sectors.

It was based on the Center's Travel Economic Impact Model which breaks out a state's share of the national travel market on a county-by-county basis.

County Agent Pallmeyer Says

Since the cheese orders sold by the 4-H club members have been delivered, some others have asked if they could place an order. This will depend on the numbers still wanting cheese!

I am not asking the 4-H members to make another selling drive, but orders can be placed with me by Friday, December 16, and if there is enough to justify the delivery an order will be made which should be here by December 22. Money for Deluxe Pak is $11.00, Snack Pak, $9.00; American slice, $5.50; Mild cheddar, $3.75 and Pepper cheese, $3.00 and must be in my hands by December 16, and if the order is not justified, the money will be refunded.

The commission will go to the 4-H fund.

The appearance of small brown beetles or small moths in the kitchen or in other food storage areas probably indicates the presence of pantry pests. These insects will continue to show up until the infestation is controlled.

When beetles or moths are observed, search all areas where food is stored, removing and destroying heavily infested food stuffs. Infested material that is still useable should be heated in a shallow container at 160 degrees for 30 minutes or frozen for 4 days at 0 degrees. After heating or freezing, store food in an air tight container. Cabinets and cupboards should be thoroughly cleaned, giving special attention to cracks and crevices.

After thoroughly cleaning, apply sprays containing malathion or baygon to the walls and underside of the shelves. Mix and apply according to the directions on the label, but do not apply to the point of run-off.

Periodic inspections should be made as this method will help to save stored cereals, bread, macaroni, dried fruit, nuts, cornmeal, seed, chocolate spices and even dry pet food and tobacco.

Copies of the 1978 Farmers Tax Guide have been mailed to those who have requested them. I have additional copies for others who would like this material.

Second grass clippings on the fertilizer tests conducted on the Banty Brandon and John Stotts places have been made. Since the June clippings 192 lbs. per acre were produced on the unfertilized strip on the Brandon place as compared to 897 lbs. per acre on the fertilized strip. On the Stotts place unfertilized grass produced 84 lbs. to the acre as compared to 158 lbs. per acre on the fertilized ground.

For the season 6871 lbs. per acre was produced on the fertilized Ermelo lovegrass on the Brandon place as compared to 766 lbs. per acre on the unfertilized ground. On the Stotts place, the unfertilized Sideoats grama produced 328 lbs. per acre as compared to 1940 lbs. to the acre on the fertilized area.

Results of the protein tests on Nov. 1 clippings have not been obtained, but digestible protein on the June clippings indicated a higher percent of protein in the fertilized grass as compared to the unfertilized grass.

Complete results will be included in the demonstration handbook which will be distributed next spring.

The model measures the economic impact of all travel involving overnight trips away from home, and day trips at least 100 miles or more from home. Thus it includes travel by Texans as well as out-of-state visitors, for all purposes. It includes estimates of the traveler's spending at home in preparation for the trip, his spending en route, and that at his destination.

Basic data for the model comes from the National Travel Survey, conducted every five years by the U.S. Census, and from the Center's own National Travel Expenditure Model. It was the latter which estimated that in 1975 Texas had dislodged New York for third place in the nation's travel industry. The 1976 figures, however, show Texas back in fourth place behind California, Florida, and New York.

"We're pleased that travel research techniques have finally developed to the point that states can determine where, within their boundaries, travel dollars are spent and travel-related jobs exist," said Frank Hildebrand, executive director of the Texas Tourist Development Agency.

"Now we can trace travel's considerable economic impact on a county-by-county basis, observe changing patterns annually, and help direct the rapid growth of this burgeoning industry."

Parents Advised To Check Toys Properly

Children should be seen and NOT HURT this Christmas by new toys says the Texas Department of Health.

A few months, or a year or two in a child's development can make quite a difference in his ability to cope with toys. "That's the reason manufacturers are required to place precautionary labeling on toys," says Harold Ray, director of the Department's Product Safety Division.

"Consumers should look for the warning label on a toy which states that the toy isn't recommended for a child under a certain age," he said. "If such a label warns that the toy is too advanced for your child, look for something else that fits the child."

Ray said a testing process is being used which can help parents determine the right toys for their children. The United States Consumer Product Safety Commission has regulations for the use and abuse testing of toys. These regulations provide tests for impact, bite, flexure, torque, tension and compression—all simulating the normal and reasonably foreseeable use, damage and abuse of toys, games and other playthings.

The testing is done using different age levels of children for whom the toys are intended. These age levels are 18 months and less, more than 18 months but not more than 36 months, and 36 months to not more than eight years of age.

What can you as an individual do to prevent a miss-match of a toy and a child this holiday season?

First, be aware of how the toy is built, says Ray. "Parents should avoid toys with the obvious hazards such as sharp points; rough or unfinished surfaces; small, detachable parts that may be swallowed; and brittle plastic or glass that breaks easily and leaves sharp edges that cut," he said.

Other things to watch out for include poorly constructed toys with sharp spikes or pins that are exposed when pulled apart by a curious child, and toys with triggers, gears, or other parts activated by a spring or motor that may pinch fingers or catch hair.

Ray said there is a safety regulation for electrically operated toys. The regulation specifies maximum temperatures for these toys and requires reliable electrical construction. Electrical toys must bear warning labels stating they are not recommended for children under a certain age. "For toys containing heating elements, the manufacturer may not indicate that the toy is recommended for children under eight."

Some 5,000 new toys enter the marketplace each year. The holiday season will find more than 150,000 different kinds of toys for sale in an estimated one million retail outlets. Despite the efforts of toy manufacturers, retailers, state and federal inspectors and different governmental agencies, it is impossible to inspect every toy.

But it is possible for parents, relatives, and older sisters and brothers to check every new toy bought and every old toy around the house for hazards.

There are some specific things you can do while thinking toy safety. These suggestions include:

Buy toys that suit the skills and abilities of children

Avoid toys that are too complex for young children. No small child should play with electrical toys or those which can produce burning temperatures.

For toys likely to end up in little mouths, look for labels that give age recommendations or safety information such as "Not recommended for children under three," or "Non-Toxic."

Watch out for toys that have sharp edges, small parts or sharp points.

Avoid toys that make loud noises which can damage hearing, as well as propelled objects that can injure eyes.

Explain to the child how to use toys properly and safely. Always try to supervise young children while they play.

Insist that children put their toys away so they don't get broken, and so no one trips and falls on them. Examine toys periodically. Repair broken toys and discard toys that can't be fixed.

Ray says tripping on toys causes the most accidents, but many serious injuries result from exploding gas-powered toys, from flammable products, from those with sharp edges, and from children swallowing small parts or placing tiny toys in their noses and ears.

To report a product hazard or a product-related injury, write to the Product Safety Division, Texas Department of Health, 1100 West 49th St., Austin, 78756.

IT'S THE LAW!

In an effort to protect America's environment, some people are supporting legislation that could waste America's resources.

AMERICA MIGHT BE BETTER OFF if some laws were off the books.

According to the Du Pont Company, the Federal Water Pollution Law that will require by 1983 installation throughout industry of the "best available" technology, does not take into account that by 1983 many of the nation's waterways will either be clean enough to be enjoyed by both people and wildlife, or polluted by natural or municipal sources which industrial devices cannot control.

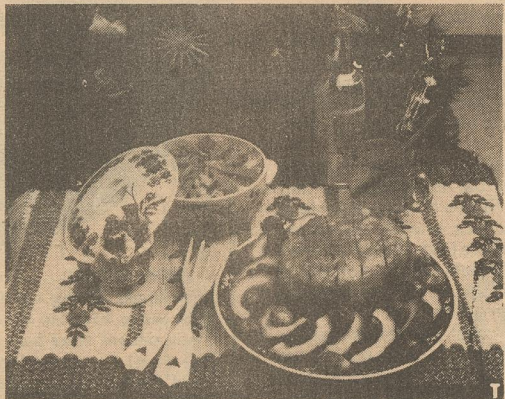

Requiring technologies and costs that don't result in tangible benefits to environmental safety and public health is a waste that diverts scarce resources from other national priorities—productive growth, energy conservation, formation of jobs and control of inflation.

Many people feel that when it comes to preventing those kinds of problems, there ought to be a law.

If too much moisture condenses on the inside of your bottle terrarium, remove the top for a few hours until it clears.

Add Polish Spice To Holidays

THINK POLISH—Polish Canned Ham and Polish Wodka are the perfect complements for the holidays. Try Polish Ham with Spirited Orange Glaze.

Everywhere in the world, the traditional Christmas Eve dinner is probably the most memorable meal of the year. In Poland, for instance, it was originally meatless and consisted of 12 courses. Today, it is served on a white tablecloth laid over a bed of straw, to symbolize the manger of the Christ child, and the 12-fruit compote served in modern households represents those original 12 dishes.

Special meat dishes are served on New Year's Eve. Polish Ham with Spirited Orange Glaze is a perfect holiday dish. It is easy to prepare and generous in amount, which is typical of the Polish cuisine. Glazed with Polish wodka and orange marmalade, this dish warms the heart and the palate.

Ham Polonaise With Spirited Orange Glaze
 1 jar (12 ounces) orange marmalade

- 1/2 cup Polish Wodka Wyborowa
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- 5-pound canned ham
- 2 tablespoons water

In saucepan, combine marmalade, wodka, lemon juice and spices. Heat, stirring, until marmalade is melted.

Place ham in roasting pan. Add water. Bake at 350°F. for 1 hour, brushing frequently with glaze.

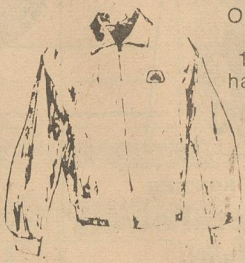

To serve, garnish with cooked vegetables in season; serve with remaining glaze. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

THE EGG AND THE GRAPE

During the holiday season, there is no happier marriage than eggs and brandy. Both traditional and non-traditional holiday recipes made with eggs and brandy can highlight festive entertaining.

Brandy, if you don't know, is the spirit distilled from wine. Whereas most spirits are made from grain, grapes give brandy a rich, delicious taste that makes it perfect for cocktails and elegant recipes. Eggs, on the other hand, offer the highest quality protein you can buy, and at about 60¢ a pound, represent an outstanding value in a world of rising prices.

Today's brandy drinker prefers lighter, more flavorful drinks, so California Brandy out-sells imported brandy by a margin of 4 to 1. California Brandy starts in the outstanding wine growing area of the San Joaquin Valley where the sun ripens grapes beautifully. The grapes are fermented into wine; then the wine is distilled. From the still, brandy goes through an oak-aging process of at least 2 years.

Not all California Brandy is created equal. The same care that goes into making fine wine goes into making fine brandy. E & J Brandy represents California Brandy at its finest. It has a fruity bouquet and velvety smooth taste. When E & J is mixed with eggs, the result is bound to meet with the approval of friends and family.

This holiday season, instead of buying prepared eggnog, start with fresh eggs. Then serve hot eggnog, perfect for those cold winter nights, and frothy cold eggnog, a winter classic. Frozen or molded eggnog makes a spectacular dessert. Come Sunday morning, serve a milk and brandy punch with your omelet for brunch. Or try a Flip or Fizz made with brandy, and discover for yourself how compatible the egg and the grape are!

Here are some great recipes:

8) Return to pan and freeze firm, about 2 hours longer. Turn out and beat again. Return to freezer until serving time.

9) Scoop into sherbet glasses. Delicious served with fruitcake. Makes about 1 quart.

MOLDED EGGNOG

1) Chill until mixture begins to thicken and jell.

2) Beat 3 eggs whites to soft peaks. Gradually beat in 1/4 cup sugar.

3) Beat 1 cup whipping cream to soft peaks.

4) Fold meringue into cream, then fold into thickened brandy mixture.

5) Spoon into 6 (8-oz.) oiled molds, and chill until firm. Makes 6 (8-oz.) servings.

HEW Guidelines

Congressman Jack Hightower announced this week he had received a letter from Joseph Califano, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, stating that the agency is "reassessing" their position on the hospital guidelines published in the FEDERAL REGISTER last September.

"Secretary Califano's action was reassuring," Hightower said. "Twice, in as many days, we have seen federal agencies responded favorably to a strong grass roots reaction to proposed guidelines."

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland had announced December 1 that the Department would allow grazing of set-aside acres. Hightower had repeatedly communicated the need for such a provision to Secretary Bergland and other USDA officials, and grain producers from the 13th District and other grain producing areas of the nation had written to emphasize the consequences of not providing it.

In a letter the Congressman wrote October 28 to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare he stated that the proposed health guidelines could result in rural hospitals becoming little more than first-aid stations. He also urged people in the 13th District to write to the Department, and the response was overwhelming. "I received more letters or copies of letters that had been sent to the Department than on any other issue since I have been in the Congress," Hightower said.

Secretary Califano told Hightower that his Department's reassessment of the proposed guidelines was the result of congressional and public concern.

Hightower pointed out that the three major areas of concern were that the proposed guidelines, as drafted, might force small rural or community hospitals to close; that the standard applied to obstetrical units was too strict and would drop many hospitals below the accepted levels; and that the thrust of the guidelines would tend to take decisions out of the local hands.

The HEW Secretary's letter to Hightower stated that they intended to clarify and broaden the exceptions as they applied to rural and community facilities when the guidelines were revised. The current guidelines provide exceptions when patients would otherwise be more than 45 minutes from a hospital. For health care to be available to the majority of the 13th Congressional District of Texas, these exceptions would have to be expanded substantially.

Califano also said that the Department recognizes that the currently proposed standard for obstetrical units may be too strict. There appeared from the proposed guidelines that hospitals in towns as large as 100,000 people would have trouble meeting the HEW standard.

Finally Califano assured Hightower that nothing in the National Health Planning Act or in the proposed guidelines could or would take the decision making process out of local hands. "Neither the Act nor the guidelines can require any local agency, state agency, or the Secretary to close any hospital or hospital service," Califano stated.

Hightower concluded by commenting, "I hope we are seeing a change in Washington that finds federal agencies that know they work for the taxpayer. If agencies can learn to try to find out what effect rules and regulations have on the public, those rules and regulations may start affecting the purposes for which they were intended."

Hightower Expresses Guarded Optimism

Congressman Jack Hightower today expressed guarded optimism that the final rules for wheat set-aside have been changed enough for farmers in the 13th Congressional District to want to participate in the program.

"I have not seen the actual regulations at this time, but from the Secretary's statement we know grazing will be allowed and the local committees are going to have a great deal of discretion in administering the program," commented Hightower. "I am pleased that producers will be allowed to use these acres for grazing." "The very desperate economic situation we have in agriculture warrants producers gaining income in any manner possible. Grazing of winter wheat is a large cash crop in Texas. Most operators could not do without grazing."

Producers will be allowed to graze set-aside acreage with the final cattle pull-off date being set by the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees to coincide with the normal time cattle are removed from wheat acres to be harvested. The period may vary by counties within a state.

In addition to approved cover and practices in the rules, ASC state committees may recommend other practices or cover which will effectively protect the diverted acres from wind and water erosion.

"I want to thank the thousands of farmers and ranchers from Texas and other wheat states who wrote letters explaining this problem to the Secretary of Agriculture," said Hightower. "This is evidence that when we all work together, people do listen and respond. 'I am convinced if we can get people in Washington to listen to logic and reason, we can bring some common sense into other areas of federal government,'" concluded Hightower.

WHERE IN THE WORLD?

Lantana, Florida Has World's Tallest Christmas Tree

The world's tallest Christmas tree, a majestic 132-foot Douglas fir from Columbia County, Oregon, is to be on display commencing Monday, December 5th at NATIONAL ENQUIRER headquarters in Lantana, Florida. It is the focal point of an internationally famed dramatic holiday presentation which has brought millions of visitors to the 7 1/2 acre publication headquarters for the past five years.

Towering more than ten stories above the landscaped gardens of THE ENQUIRER, the tree will be decorated with 11,000 lights, 2,500 feet of garlands, 1,000 colored balls, 200 red bows, 200 3-foot candy canes, 100 snow flakes and a 6-foot silver star at its top. More than three quarters of a million Floridians and tourists are expected to view the spectacle from December 5th through Monday, January 2nd. The tree is lit from sundown to midnight every day of the week. Additionally, 30,000 twinkling lights and the world's newest and most unique model railroad panorama are to delight visitors in a fantasy land of color and drama.

Celebrities and public of fame are expected to join at the official lighting of the tree on Monday night, December 5th. Given to the people of Florida as a goodwill gesture from the people of Oregon, the tree is a donation from the International Paper Company of that state. Its dimensions are awe-inspiring enough to be worthy of listing in the current Guinness Book of Records. Fifty-six years old, the giant fir weighs more than 8,000 pounds and boasts a spread of bottom branches reaching 130 feet in circumference at its base.

Even the circumstances concerning the tree's 3,600 mile journey from Oregon to Florida are historic. It is enclosed in a huge wooden box, donated by Crown Zellerbach Company to protect it from the elements. It was sprayed with a preservative and wrapped in polyethylene before being carefully crated. Special heaters installed in the box protected the tree from sub-zero temperatures encountered in the Rocky Mountains. Since no flat ear exists which can carry the giant, special linking of two cars was necessary in order to properly transport the tree through three changes of railroad systems.

As the tallest Christmas tree in the world, THE NATIONAL ENQUIRER Douglas Fir dwarfs New York City's famed 60 foot tree that illuminates Rockefeller Center.

Santa Claus is planning on making his headquarters in Lantana, Florida, during the 1977 holiday season.

People once measured rank by the length of the toes of their shoes. Some dandies wore shoes 2 1/2 feet long and tied the toes to the knee with chains.

Farm Bureau For Positive Approach

BOSTON — Farm Bureau is for a "positive, realistic approach" to solving agriculture's problems, the president of the 214,197 member Texas Farm Bureau said Monday.

Addressing the organization's 44th annual meeting at the Shamrock-Hilton Hotel, Carol Chaloupka said farmers want to be assured of a fair return in the marketplace according to productive contributions.

More than 1,000 voting delegates from 210 organized counties converged on Houston for the Nov. 27-30 meeting to adopt policies to guide the organization next year.

"We are for expanding export markets and avoiding price depressing surpluses," the Dalhart cattle and grain producer declared. "We favor programs that will permit farming and ranching operations to be large enough for maximum efficiency. And, just as important, we are for cutting costs of production."

"The alternative is to become the same as a public utility — wards of the government — with production rights allocated and with prices and net incomes determined by political planners. The result would be a nation of peasant farmers — bad for farmers and bad for consumers," the farm leader said.

Chaloupka said obstacles to better prices and higher net incomes for farmers include what he called "monopoly power" of labor unions, energy supplies and prices, inflation caused by federal deficits spending, over-regulation by government, inadequate water resources, and taxes, particularly ad valorem taxes for financing public schools.

Chaloupka said the best opportunity for obtaining better prices lies in expanding market overseas.

"Exports are absolutely necessary for our survival as farmers — more so than any other segment of our economy because we operate on the world market," Chaloupka said. "The production of grain is out of every three harvested acres goes into export. Nearly one dollar in four earned by American farmers comes from foreign sales," he said.

He pointed out that American farm exports pay for 85 percent of this nation's petroleum imports.

On a brighter note, Chaloupka said chances for grain exports have improved with news of short harvests in the Soviet Union, China and Poland. He said the U.S. Department of Agriculture predicts extremely strong export markets in the coming months.

"Already we have seen prices of wheat, feed grains, and soybeans increasing substantially," he said.

The farm leader said "George Meany and his cohorts" seek total domination over the nation's economy.

"The monopoly power of labor unions has done more to push up prices and create an imbalance in our economy than any other single factor," he said. "Over-priced labor hurts all our people in two ways. We pay an inflated price for everything this labor touches. We also lose the competitive edge in world markets," he added.

He said the President should invoke the Taft-Hartley Act in any work stoppages that interfere with shipments of farm products such as the recent dock strike. He said the American Farm Bureau Federation has been asked to be ready to use legal proceedings, either "class-action lawsuits or injunctive relief through the National Labor Relations Board."

Chaloupka charged that federal deficit spending causes inflation which he said hits hardest at people on fixed incomes and at farmers who cannot pass along increased costs of production.

"When Congress wishes to fund programs for which there is insufficient tax revenue to pay for, it simply votes to increase the national debt limit," he said. "This is deficit financing, or printing money. There is nothing complicated about inflation — it's merely a hidden tax — a tax that nibbles quietly away at your income," he said.

Chaloupka said the Texas Farm Bureau had gained more than 18,000 member families in this year despite the economic hardships suffered by farmers.

"I believe that our tremendous gain in members in the face of such problems is evidence that producers are determined to work at solving their problems through Farm Bureau," he said. "They want positive, responsible action through an organization that can bring all commodities together and one that can exert maximum influence on Congress."

The state farm leader said that freedom of choice is part of the framework of philosophy that has served Farm Bureau well for many years.

"The cornerstone of our belief is the concept of farmers speaking for themselves through voluntary organizations which they build, finance, and control through membership dues," he said. "There is no short-cut to building an organization that is truly representative of the people it seeks to speak for," he added.

FACTS & FIGURES

Going from high school into the Marine Corps is like starting a first job that's worth $7,768 a year. That includes a base pay of $4,770 and benefits worth another $2,998. Considering that base pay is up from $4,492, it's like getting a raise before beginning the job.

What is included? Medical and dental care, housing, food, uniforms, PX and commissary discounts — and 30 days paid vacation each year.

A young man can reserve a place in the Marines through the Delayed Enlistment program — where he won't have to begin training for up to 365 days. For more information on what the Marines offer the potential recruit, call, toll free, 800-423-2600 (in California 800-252-0241).

Tire Industry Sets New Task Force

Washington, D.C. — The tire industry has formed a special high level task force to direct a massive new campaign for proper tire inflation as a way to save gas and promote highway safety, it was announced today.

The action was disclosed by Malcolm R. Lovell, Jr., President of the Rubber Manufacturers Association. "We hope to secure the cooperation of the oil companies, the automobile manufacturers, equipment suppliers, government agencies and private safety groups in this important effort," said Lovell. "It will benefit everybody by conserving energy and making our streets and highways safer."

The new RMA "Task Force on Tire Inflation" is headed by Thomas E. Cole, RMA Vice President - Tire Division.

"We have three goals," Cole said. "First is to educate motorists about the need and advantage of proper tire inflation. Second is to keep compressed air easily available to him. Third is to promote the use of onboard tire inflation indicators which will show when tire pressure is low."

The Task Force is made up of leading representatives of the tire companies which belong to RMA. It has been divided into five subcommittees to work individually with oil companies, auto companies, tire companies, government agencies and other "concerned" private safety organizations.

"We are going to carry the safety and economy message to every one of these groups, and seek their help," said Cole.

Government and industry surveys have shown that more than 25 per cent of automobiles have seriously underinflated tires.

"This wastes money and endangers lives," Cole declared. "Properly inflated tires can add up to five per cent to your gasoline mileage. They also give longer treadwear. Underinflated tires run hotter, wear out faster, and are subject to early failure which can cause an accident."

AMERICAN LEGION

Among those attending The American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary and the Eight and Forty's annual Southern Area Conference on Children and Youth will be Harvey Holcomb of Odessa, American Legion State Commander.

The meeting is being held in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, December 8-10. Children and Youth leaders of The American Legion and Legion Auxiliary from thirteen southern states are meeting to discuss program plans for the 1978 program year and to work on problems affecting the children and youth of their respective communities.

The theme for the 1978 Children and Youth Program is "Making the Pieces Fit - Accept the Challenge."

Specific areas of interest to be considered at the Conference include: Alcohol and Youth, Immunization, Child Abuse and Neglect and Education and Scholarships. The purpose of the Conference is directed toward implementing the 1978 Children and Youth Program at the community level.
