TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

A resourceful uncle of mine reflected a seat belt for bugs but decided to hold it off market until after the passing of the automobile.

A man with mud on his hands will invite a certain amount of confusion among strangers, quicker than a man with mud on his boots.

Summer television replacements make it possible to sleep in front of the set with greater assurance that nothing worthwhile has appeared on the screen.

Often a man will stand out in a vast crowd like a soil-polished plow share glistening in the sun from a newly plowed field.

My heart goes out to a strange little bird that attempts to sing from the trees near my home. The futile efforts are painful but the courage to continue fosters the depth of admiration.

Great achievements are often the results of their creators being unaware that they were impossible.

Vital element skimmed from the boiling caldron of modern life is the rich hours of spare time. In some it is like spent money given back to them, and consumed in lethargy, or tossed to the wind in the madhouses of frivolity. It can, of course, be a cup of nectar, sweet with study and meditation.

Be hungry enough, long enough, and you will never throw away another crust of bread.

Some of us go through life receiving criticism that is the property of others. The boyhood acquaintance who licked the pitcher after he had poured syrup on his biscuit, never knew about the lecture my mother delivered after he had gone.

TO FORT WORTH

Mrs. Ted Elliott, with her son and daughter, Larry and Karen, drove to Stephenville, Thursday, for another daughter, Lynda, who has been attending Tarleton State College, and they then spent the week end in Fort Worth visiting relatives. Mrs. J. A. Elliott and daughter, Miss Billie Elliott. They also visited Six Flags during the week end, returning home Sunday.

She will become Matador's third representative at the conference which originated four years ago. The participants hear lectures and exchange ideas on combating crime and juvenile delinquency.

Representing Motley County Farm Bureau at their Citizenship Seminar, August 9-16, on the campus of Baylor University Waco, will be Frances Martin and Coy Franks. Miss Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Martin, and Franks, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Franks of Flomot, will become the third and fourth Motley County students to attend the anti-communism seminar, which was previously held in Huntsville, at Sam Houston State College. Services Ended At Whiteflat Church

MOCKING BIRDS were singing in the Locust and Mesquite trees outside, Sunday morning, as Rev. W. F. Gaede preached the final sermon in the Whiteflat Methodist church. When he closed his Bible and spoke the final prayer he brought an end to worship of almost three-quarters of a century in the small community eight miles north of Matador. The Baptist church in Whiteflat closed several years ago.

The small group of 12 worshippers listened devoutly to the last sermon. There were tears in the eyes of several. At intervals above the pastor's words came the sounds of swiftly moving automobiles on the pavement of State Highway 70 a few paces away.

It was the automobile and rapid means of transportation, together with a general change in the way of life in Motley County, that made it impossible to continue regular services. Many of the former members of Whiteflat churches have moved to Matador and other communities, and operate their holdings in the area by commuting.

Methodist "History of the Northwest Texas Conference" says: "This church is believed to be the first Methodist Church organized in Motley County, although it began the same year as the church in Matador, 1892. R.M. Morris was the organizing pastor. The six charter members were Mrs. M. A. Kimbell, Anna Kimbell, Della Kimbell, Mrs. Laura Burkett, a Mrs. Johnson and a Mr. Bernard. After a few years the organization was suspended, and in 1908 was reorganized by the late R.L. Jameson."

The first church was built in 1912. It was burned in 1955 and rebuilt in 1956. The congregation worshipped in the Whiteflat school house during the time of construction of the new church.

The church has disbanded with 29 members, 13 of whom live in the community. A Board of Trustees has been retained to take care of the further business of the church. They are, J. M. Jameson, H. R. Jameson, and W. R. Tilson.

The Tribune will publish a more complete history of the church in the August Diamond Anniversary edition.

Rites Held For G. F. Vineyard

Funeral services for Gordon Francis Vineyard, 70, resident of Matador for the past eight years, were held at 4 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Gene Hawkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Lockney, and the Rev. James Hancock, local pastor, officiated.

Mr. Vineyard died about 11:30 p.m. Friday in People's Hospital, Floydada. He had been hospitalized for about 12 hours prior to his death.

Burial was in East Mound Cemetery under direction of Seigler Funeral Home.

Mr. Vineyard was a retired farmer, and a veteran of World War I. He was born February 16, 1896 at Fox, Oklahoma and died May 27, 1966 at the age of 70 years, 3 months and 11 days.

He came to Motley County in 1908 from New Mexico, with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Lee Vineyard, who settled in the Folley community near Flomot. He was married in 1910 to Bula McCracken. Three children were born to this union.

Following his wife's death, Mr. Vineyard was later married to Onie Montgomery of Roaring Springs, and to this union were born seven children. They were long time residents of McLean.

After coming to Matador to make his home, Mr. Vineyard and Mrs. Bankie King of Childress were married and continued residing there.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Bankie Vineyard, Matador; seven sons, Mancel, Orangevale, Lloyd, Pampa, Johnny, Idalou, Arthur, Glenrose, Charles, McLean; Robert, Baldwin Park, Calif.; and James, North Man.

Heart Ailment Strikes Doctor

Stanley Hospital Is Closed Monday

A heart ailment suffered by Dr. J. S. Stanley was precipitated by an attack Friday about noon, and resulted in the closing of Stanley Hospital here Monday. Patients were transferred to other hospitals or to their homes, and the hospital doors were closed.

S. J. (Sut) Braselton Jr., laboratory technician will keep his office in the hospital, open to collect outstanding accounts, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. Stanley, a patient in St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock, is showing some improvement, but his physician there has advised him that he must have three or more weeks of complete rest and be relieved of the strain of his professional duties.

Dr. Stanley had previously announced that he would close the hospital on July 1, because of the condition of his own health.

Faced by a similar problem, that of his health, Dr. Albert Travecek closed his hospital over a year ago, but has maintained services on a very limited basis, in addition to his regular office practice.

With two hospitals in operation Matador has been a Mecca for the ailing and injured over a wide area for many years.

Dr. Travecek said yesterday that his own health precluded the possibility of his remaining as the only doctor in the community. He said however that he was taking care of patients, and would use his hospital for emergency purposes during the present crisis.

Vinson said an election must be held, but that it is legal to have only one box where an extremely light vote is expected. Voting judges from various precincts will be in attendance.

An early morning ceremony at East Mound Cemetery Monday paid tribute to the deceased of this area buried there. An address was given by Rev. James Hancock, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Matador, paid special tribute to those who had given their lives in defense of their country.

He said the grave of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington is impressive but that it does not represent more than the war dead in East Mound.

"They are not unknown," he declared, "they were the flower of mankind who left families and friends and answered the call of duty. They were not draft card burners and they believed there was something more important than staying at home."

"They were young men who left love, dreams, hopes and aspirations. Some left young wives and children. We know the unknown soldiers who left us a heritage of freedom."

Old Photos Wanted!

THIS IS AN URGENT APPEAL to Tribune readers to borrow old photographs of early-day Motley County scenes, similar to the two shown here. We have used many hundreds of photos in more than 30 years of publication, and have the engravings from most of them. Now we need pictures and not engravings.

We are already starting our Diamond Anniversary (75th) edition to be published in August. We will publish much of the past history of the county that has been used in previous issues, but we want more pictures. It will be a souvenir edition issue and will sell for 50c per extra copy. We want it to be the best issue we have ever printed and solicit the aid of our readers. Photos will be handled carefully and returned early in September. We will pay postage both ways where readers live elsewhere. Look in old trunks and attics and help record for all time, scenes of this county during pioneer days. We will appreciate your cooperation.

as the result of the county being quarantined. No new cases were found, but as of the writing of this article, the quarantine has not been lifted. No one wants this disease, so as a help in checking your animals, the following is provided. Scabies first shows up around the neck, shoulders or brisket of an animal. At first there is only a seeping of serum from the feeding sites of the mites that causes small areas of crusting of the hair. Itching is intense, so the animal rubs the hair off the affected areas. Soon crusts form to present the typical scabby appearance.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

Cotton seedling disease has been a problem on most farms in Motley County, and to help Motley County farmers evaluate the practice of treatment to prevent seeding disease, four demonstrations are being established.

Caldwell Smith and Billy J. York, Roaring Springs; Roy Grundy, Matador; and Bobby Clay, Flomont, are the demonstrators. Information relative to the material used will be provided as soon as it is determined if the plantings survive the hot dry winds.

4-H members may be interested in the King County 4-H Horse Show at Guthrie on June 4th. I have entry blanks for those interested.

As all Motley County Livestock owners know, all cattle have been checked for scabies.

Deferred grazing is one of the best practices available for improving range condition. Removal of livestock from a pasture for a part or preferably the entire growing season will allow forage plants to resupply food reserves in the root system, make top growth and to produce seed for natural revegetation. Deferment is recommended after drouth, fire or brush control. Couple deferment with proper stocking. When forage is properly used, litter accumulates on the soil surface. This is not wasted, but serves as an aid to more efficient water use, soil stabilization and improved soil fertility.

According to Extension Range Specialist Garlyn Hoffman, use of a "low volume" method of applying herbicides for brush and weed control is a mistake. "We feel that the low volume method cannot be used satisfactorily without susceptible plant damage, with present day herbicides". If 2, 4-D and 2,4,5-T are used, most broadleaf plants including cotton, peanuts, vegetables and fruits would be susceptible. Hoffman also stated the spray droplet size necessary for complete coverage is in violation of the State Herbicide Regulation 1-C, 1965. Before the low volume method can be used, a complete research program should be conducted.

A test plot for the control of salt cedar was established on the Caldwell Smith farm 1 mile south of Roaring Springs on Hwy 70 April 28. Assisting me with the establishment were Ervin Willard, SCS, and Bill Peacock, Roaring Springs FFA.

Chemicals used were Tordon, Fenuron and Urab. Test plots are 135 ft wide. Rain is needed to dissolve the pellets, and the public is invited to observe the results.

Technical School Will Open In Fall

The James Connally Technical Institute, a part of the Texas A&M University system, will offer courses in 15 areas of study when its doors open for the first time in September.

The Institute was created by an act of the Texas Legislature in April 1965. The legislation authorized the Board of Directors of Texas A&M University to establish "a coeducational institution which may offer courses of study in vocational and vocational-technical education for which there is a demand within the State of Texas."

Information on the new educational facility, located near Waco, is now available at the offices of all county agents. According to County Agent Bill Pallmeyer agents have been supplied with a copy of the Institute's general catalog for the 1966-67 session.

Designed For Training
Pallmeyer said the instructional programs of the Institute are designed for training and retaining youth and adults so they may join the state and nation's work force as skilled workmen or technicians. A major objective of the Institute, he added, is to provide occupational training needed by Texas business

High school graduates can be admitted as regular full time students. Mature individuals who have not graduated from high school will be permitted to register if they furnish evidence that their preparation is substantially the same as required of other applicants and have the ability and desire to profitably pursue their desired course of study.

Fees of $3 should be taxed against drivers arrested and convicted for misdemeanor traffic offenses, and court costs should be added in peace bond proceedings, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has ruled.

In other opinions, Carr concluded that Old iron fence which once surrounded capitol ground, and now in storage, can be used at governor's mansion without conflicting with state law.

Historical Award Is Given By State To Midland Couple

(Special To Tribune)

George and Gladys Abell of Midland received the first Texas Historical Preservation Award ever given by the State from Governor John Connally on Tuesday morning, May 31st, John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, President of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Abell recently presented to the Midland-Odessa Air Terminal an Aeroplane Museum, a modernistic building that houses a 1911 airplane that flew from Midland to Odessa and many other articles depicting the history of aviation in the Permian Basin.

The new Texas Historical Preservation Award will be given to those who have made significant and important gifts or contributions to historical preservation programs.

"It is fitting and proper that this first award would go to Mr.

and Mrs. George Abell because they have been long and consistent friends of historical preservation. They made it possible for the State to purchase the first of its new Official Texas Historical Markers in 1962 and thereby started the present program of historical marking", Shepperd stated.

Abell is an independent oil operator and businessman and is active in a number of trade associations and religious organizations.

No Admission Fees to be Charged at Lake Meredith, Congressman Declares

WASHINGTON, (SPECIAL) — Congressman Walter Rogers has announced that no entry fees will be charged this summer to recreation areas at Lake Meredith. The lake will be one of the few major Federal recreation areas to which access will be free of charge in 1966.

"After consultation with officials of the Department of the Interior and the National Park Service, I have been assured that fees will not be charged this year," Congressman Rogers said.

"It has been my conviction that fees for admission to Federal recreation areas should not be charged anywhere in the Federal system. I opposed fees when the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 was before the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, and I opposed admission fee charges when the bill was before the House," Congressman Rogers said.

The Congressman added, "I am continuing efforts to amend the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act to exempt Federal recreation areas from admission fee charges because I believe that the people should have the right of free access to what is, in fact, the property of the people."

Congressman Rogers continued, "I am strongly opposed to the idea that a man taking his family for a Sunday drive should have to pay merely to enter an area set aside for all the people under public ownership."

Recreation facilities at Lake Meredith are being developed under appropriations authorized by legislation introduced and pushed to enactment by Congressman Rogers. Approximately $500,000 is to be spent in the continuing development program during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"Because the work has not been completed it is only proper that Lake Meredith should be exempt from the provisions of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act which requires charging admission and facilities use fees," Congressman Rogers said.

Homage to Johannes

Today isn't Johannes Gutenberg's birthday as far as we know, but it could be. With lawyers asking us to observe Law Day, pickle manufacturers making us aware of National Pickle Week, and merchants promoting Christmas buying throughout the whole year, we ask you now to pause briefly to think of Johannes Gutenberg, the father of modern printing.

Gutenberg wasn't a troublemaker on purpose. He was an aristocrat and master craftsman. But it happened that he invented the type-mold, making movable type possible, and this opened up a real Pandora's box of problems which have bothered civilization ever since. For movable type vastly simplified the printing and dissemination of ideas.

Feudalism had already started to crumble in Gutenberg's time, but it was the hammer-blows of ideas that brought the walls tumbling down. It was ideas printed on paper which proved valuable trouble-makers everywhere. Voltaire, a trouble-maker par excellence, helped speed the French Revolution with thousands of pamphlets. English printers, in the late 17th and 18th centuries, spread ideas which liberalized their country. Overy men in the American colonies, such as Tom Paine, spread the gospel of liberty with news sheets and pamphlets. Ideas printed on paper brought men new ways of thinking of themselves and their futures. Ideas made men dissatisfied with the world hasn't been the same since men in large numbers started to read about public affairs. Government officials everywhere have never been altogether happy with men who print their ideas on paper and distribute these pieces of paper for other men to read. The air has always been full of gossip, rumor and chatter. But thoughts on paper stay there. They can be read over and over again by many people, and the man who wrote the thoughts can be held to account for what he wrote. Printing is the thinking man's medium, print, the ideal way to put over complex ideas.

Bertand Russell said in "Why Men Fight": "Thought is subversive and revolutionary, destructive and terrible; thought is merciless to privilege, established institutions and comfortable habits; thought is anarchic and lawless, indifferent to authority, careless of the well-tried wisdom of the ages."

We're in the business, and so is every newspaper, of putting thoughts down on paper. Nobody has put a laurel wreath on our editorial brow lately, nor given us a testimonial dinner. There are unquestionably some good citizens of our community who would stand in the street and cheer if our walls came tumbling down. That's par for the course.

We'll lay the blame to Johannes, and recommend that each year on this day we all stop to think what a happy, controlled, feudal place this might be, if the man from Mainz hadn't started experimenting with that type-mold.
