PRICE SEVEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Five ago Nature pushed the Mountains more than a mile to the sky, like a mighty fence against the plunderers who would follow. The National Park Service will forever man the fortress for the pleasure of generations yet to come.

All the silence of a million years
has been poured into The Basin of peace of man's dreams comes at the night and bathes his soul. The base stars are like tears on the cheek of eternity and time has no place to go.

It is the beginning of the spawning season for boats following the portage of asphalt tributaries to rough water to hold the keel out of the mud. It is with disdain that they wave their tails at the less fluent who fear to pass while presenting the inequality of an unhappy society.

Below Grandfalls, the Pecos is a river without a bosom. It is a ditch across endless greasewood plains, too wide to jump, but humble and born of its splendor.

A friend says he refused to ride a certain mean and ill-tempered horse, because of his back trouble. He says he has a chronic yellow streak that hurts.

The best epigram I have ever heard is: "There are many ways
by which a man can become a failure, but the always positive way
is to never take a chance."

Necessity has been the midwife
of many successes without receiving a deserved credit.

Truth is the basic strength of honesty.

Game Parties Plans Complete

freshments of coffee and cake will while 42 and 84 will be played at the home of Mrs. Albert Traweck.

Those who plan to attend are requested to contact Miss Sue Glenn,
President of El Progreso Club,
in advance, so that the hostesses
might know how many to expect.

$10,000 HANDSHAKE—Glenn Woodruff, left, accepts a check for $10,000 from Dooley Winegeart of the Sentry Insurance Company, following the fire which destroyed the Matador Auto Co. store building January 19. The check represented one policy on the building. Other policies covered the main building and contents. Scene is the location where the building formerly stood. —Tribune photo

Old Landmark Being Removed

An old landmark in Matador, the former West Texas Utilities Co.
plant and Leon Ice Company plant foundations are being cleared away
this week.

The cleanup is following the fire of January 19 which destroyed the Matador Auto Co. storage building and a number of new automobiles. The building was adjacent to the foundations being removed.

Glenn Woodruff, owner of the property said he will construct an automobile storage lot on part of the property, with a needed storage building.

Yesterday heavy machinery was working in clearing the massive foundations. On part of the property is the heavy foundation that once supported a massive diesel engine and generator which at one time produced light and power
for Matador West Texas Utilities
Co. office was located in a sheet iron building that formerly faced Main Street.

Also difficult to remove is the foundation of the former Leon Ice plant, which for many years supplied ice for Matador and eight area towns.

Matador Lions Paid Tribute By Speaker

"DON'T EVER CHANGE THE Father-Son Banquet," Dr. Leon Hill, famed public speaker of Amarillo, pleaded Tuesday night with 256 fathers and sons at the 30th annual banquet held in the basement of the First Baptist Church. He was the featured speaker at the banquet.

Dr. Hill was introduced by Rev. James Hancock, pastor of the church. Dr. Hill is a former Baptist pastor. "Lions Clubs have done more for the youth of America than any other organization," Dr.
Hill declared. "I love young people, and this audience is one of the most refreshing sights I have ever beheld."

Dr. Hill, who is a great comedian, had his audience rolling in the crowded aisles with his rapid-fire jokes. "If we don't start walking more," he declared, "children are going to be born with wheels
instead of feet."

"I would rather live one year
now than any 100 years of world history," Dr. Hill said, "because this is the race of the dreamer.
The world is waiting and someday
is now; somebody is you."

Lion Bundy Campbell, chairman of the Father-Son Banquet, thanked members of the club for their work. He paid tribute to Walter Jones for supervising the cooking
of the barbecued beef.

He paid thanks to the VFW for the aid of members in preparing the meal and the use of the veteran organization's barbecue equipment.
He also thanked the First Baptist Church for the use of the basement, and the Elernas Club for the use of the decorations left from the previous night at the annual Mother-Daughter banquet.

Federal Fund Sought By Hospital District

The following article appeared in yesterday's Amarillo Daily News.

Motley County Hospital District
has made application for a federal fund, it was announced late Tuesday by John V. Stevens, chairman of the hospital board.

The hospital board's action was taken in accordance with a new bill introduced in the state Senate Monday by Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon, authorizing the issuance of special revenue bonds by the hospital district.

The district already has the power to issue tax bonds with an election. This new bill, if passed, authorizes the district to issue revenue bonds without an election.

The new revenue bill was introduced, Stevens said, "because we didn't feel like the taxpayers would approve the bond issue and

City Election Set In April

A city election has been called by the Matador City council for the first Tuesday in April (April 4th).

Purpose of the election is to name three councilmen for a two-year term. Present members whose terms expire on April 4th, are Dr.
J. S. Stanley, Lewis Bostick and L. B. Campbell.

the revenue route seemed the most sensible."

Members of the hospital board
besides Stevens are Calvin
Franks, of Flomot, J. N. Fletcher, Roaring Springs and Farris Fish
and J. M. Hill, both of Matador.

Motley County, which includes the towns of Matador, Roaring Springs, Whiteflat and Flomot, has a population of about 3,000 people.
There are only two doctors in the county — Dr. A. C. Traweck Jr.
and Dr. J. S. Stanley — and both operate their practices at Matador.

"At one time, both Dr. Stanley and myself operated our own hospitals, but now, because of our ages and health we have returned to private practice and are not accepting hospital patients," Dr.
Traweck said.

"Dr. Stanley had a heart attack last summer," Dr. Traweck added, "and I returned to private practice mainly on account of my health. I'm getting up in years.
I'm 69 years old and I'd retire tomorrow if I could sell everything."

Doug Meador, former mayor of Matador, said that residents
now have to go to Richards Memorial Hospital at Paducah, or in some cases to Lubbock, Cros-byton, Quanah or Plainview for treatment.

"The problem of the hospital
board is to find a solution to Mat-ador's problem which is feasible to this area," Meador added, "but coming up with something that will please everyone will be as hard as the devil."

Beans Provide Low Cost Food Of High Protein

by Motley County Home Demonstration Agent

For high protein food at low cost, dry beans are recommended as a tasty meal or meal supplement. A pound of dry beans will cook up into at least seven servings of bean soup.

Dry beans are available in many varieties, but today's specialties are usually the dried pea, pinto, kidney and the great northern bean. When looking for quality in dry beans, select those which are natural in color, uniform in size, clean, and free from pebbles or black mold.

Beans keep best in a jar or can with a tight cover. If properly stored, beans will keep for a long time. If you store them longer than a year they will take longer to cook.

An efficient way to prepare beans is to boil them in water for two minutes, then remove them from the heat and allow them to soak one hour. Then they are ready to cook.

Add fat to the water and reduce the amount of foam that develops while cooking. The beans must be handled with care. Rapid boiling and frequent stirring will cause the beans to break. Tomato catsup, or vinegar should not be added until the beans are tender.

Adding acids early in the cooking will delay softening of the beans.

Born September 5, 1959, at Childress, Texas, was Bryan Reece Timmons. He has blond hair and blue eyes that contain an impish gleam.

Bryan likes to read, and he lists red as his favorite color. When he grows up he wants to be a commissioner.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Reece Timmons of Northfield. Mr. Timmons farms and ranches and Mrs. Timmons teaches English at Matador High School.

this always write, and proponents never do," he said, after the flood of letters began arriving. His bill initially contemplated automatically legalizing over-the-bar sales in wet areas without necessity for additional local option elections. However, there is strong pressure to require separate elections. Connally acknowledged the entire proposal faces "tough sledding."

Governor also revealed that A. W. Moursund of Johnson City, close friend and business associate of President Johnson, has asked not to be re-appointed to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. His term expired last week, but he will serve until Connally appoints a successor.

Connally also hinted that he is considering running for a fourth term. He said, "My future action may be determined by what we accomplish during this session."

He declined to say where he stands on part-mutuel horse racing legislation or daylight saving time for Texas.

RACE ON — The horses bounded out of the legislative starting gate with record speed in the Senate.

Senate Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns approved the measure to legalize horse race gambling in Texas by a six to five vote.

However, newsmen's polls indicate the bill lacks majority support in either house. Proponents virtually acknowledge that — but feel that their prospects are brighter than ever before.

Bill is sponsored by Sen. Jim Hates of Edinburg and Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville. House bill was referred to the Counties Committee.

Senate committee hearing featured arguments on tourist attraction and tax revenue value vs. moral and economic objections to legalized gambling regardless of its visitor appeal and tax potential.

CONSUMER CREDIT CODE — A hard crackdown on certain firms offering credit is the recommendation by a governor's study committee on consumer finance.

Committee found that the public is being defrauded by such organizations as home-improvement firms and small-loan businesses. Governor's recommendation is that the state set up strict regulation of these businesses — all the way from banks and savings and loan associations down to retail merchants giving credit.

Code would set maximum credit charge, limit insurance required for credit transactions, make clear to consumers amount of credit or cash advances and all charges or pertinent data and prohibit deceptive advertising in the field.

Also included in the recommendations was altering the state statutory ceiling on interest rates which the various types of business may charge for credit.

PARK BILL ADVANCED — Legislation to clear the way for establishing the $135,000,000 Guadalupe Mountains National Park was approved by the Senate Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns.

Same measure was heard by the House Parks and Wildlife Committee.

Bill would deed certain state-owned lands in Culberson and Hudspeth Counties to the federal government with restrictions guaranteeing the state benefits from future mineral development in the area.

Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso and Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine are authors. TAX IMPACT VARYING — Impact of optional city sales taxes would vary widely from town to town, according to a study made by the Committee on State and Local Tax Policy.

Committee said Baytown residents, for example, would pay a per capita average of 12.10 a year — while San Benito citizens would pay only $3.45. Other examples: Garland and Grand Prairie, $5.50; Pasadena, $8.45; Odessa, $7.55; Tyler, $11; and Temple, $8.25.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION — Three bills are in the Legislature aimed at forming a Texas Constitutional Revision Commission to investigate whether and how to either revise or rewrite the Texas Constitution.

Governor Connally's bill, sponsored by Rep. Randy Pendleton of Andrews, would set up the commission and provide for a state Constitutional Convention in Austin in June, 1968. It also would give Connally authority to appoint 10 of the 25 members of the commission and call for a November election of 43 delegates.

Rep. Carl A. Parker of Beaumont also introduced a bill setting up the commission. But his would give the governor no more appointments than the speaker, the lieutenant governor and the chief justice of the supreme court.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston has introduced a Senate bill to create the commission with 45 members. The governor, speaker and lieutenant governor each would appoint 15 members under this measure.

FEED LOT LICENSING — Disagreement on a bill to regulate and license cattle feed lots marked a hearing before the House Committee on Livestock and Stock Raising. Disagreement is among cattlemen concerning its merits and among committee members on whether to immediately approve it.

Bill, sponsored by Rep. Tom Holmes of Granbury, would require cattle feed lots with a capacity of more than 1,000 head of cattle to be licensed by the state and to meet state standards.

Motion to approve the bill without submitting it to a subcommittee came out with an 8-8 tie and was thus defeated.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Gov. John Connally's emergency appropriation recommendations to the Legislature held the spotlight at his weekly press conference.

Connally noted that the Senate "apparently wants to study very carefully" the emergency appropriations for which he has asked. He said that plans for San Antonio's HemisFair '68 may have to be "seriously altered" if the Senate takes much longer. Governor asks $3,300,000 in emergency funds for the state's exhibit, the Institute of Texan Cultures.

Legislature could pass an emergency appropriation to finance immediate pay raises for state employees only if Connally asked them to. However, he declined and stood by his original recommendations for increases, effective September 1.

Connally also answered some of the opposition which has lived up since he asked the Legislature to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink. "Opponents on an issue like

"It meets with total-family approval," is what the Jack Rogers family of Abilene say.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, Jim and Jenny live in over 1500 square feet of total electric GOLD MEDALLION comfort, and they like it all. "We like electric baseboard heating because it's quiet," Mrs. Rogers says. "It's controlled heat from room to room. We like to turn off the heat in the bedrooms at night."

The cooling, lighting and extra outlets add conveniences, too. "And we like electric water heating because we're never out of hot water," Mrs. Rogers says. "My electric range is easy to clean, and it doesn't black-up my pans."

Great Big Bend National Park Offers Variety of Colorful Natural Wonders

Embraced in the gigantic curve of the Rio Grande, Big Bend National Park lies just across the river from old Mexico. Here is a colorful region of bold, rugged mountains, imposing gorges and a vast expanse of plains, mesas and desert.

Big Bend travelers are thrilled to "discover" the tremendous variety of attractions in the park. The intriguing Chisos Mountains, picturesque desert and the international features along the Rio Grande, have been called the "Scenic Frontier of Texas".

The eastern approach to the park is over U.S. Highway 385 from Marathon, while the western gateway is through Alpine and over state road 118 to the park. A scenic road, the Camino del Rio, has opened an additional approach to Big Bend National Park, via Presidio and Lajitas. This route leads from Marfa, over U. S. 67 to Presidio, connecting with the Camino del Rio to the park. The east-west arterial highway, U. S. 90, connects with all roads to the park.

Big Bend National Park is about 120 miles southeast of El Paso; 400 miles west of San Antonio; 575 miles southwest of the Dallas-Fort Worth area and 600 miles west of Houston.

Visitors entering Big Bend National Park, follow the old Comanche Trail through Persimmon Gap, then cross the plains and desert before climbing high into the Chisos Mountains. In the center of magnificent mountain scenery, 3,400 feet above sea level, cottages and motel-type rooms provide year-round accommodations. The mountain breezes are cool and invigorating, requiring blankets for comfort during the summer nights. Mild winter temperatures of 70 to 80 degrees may be enjoyed along the Rio Grande, where the elevation drops down to 1,800 feet. The temperature in the mountains is a delightful 10 to 20 degrees cooler.

The geological story of Big Bend is revealed in the arroyos and buttes and the majestic, awe-inspiring canyons along the Rio Grande. The unique rock formations and the 1,800 foot chasms of the Santa Elena, Mariscal and Boquillas canyons have been carved by wind and water through the eons of time. Expansive panoramas of scenic splendor are created by the blue and purple mountains which form a dramatic backdrop for the sienna colored plains.

During April and May the desert is splashed with the brilliant colors of the crimson Pitaraya and the golden yellows of the Prickly Pear. The blossoms of the flaming Ocotillo and the luxurious cream colored blossoms of the Spanish Dagger further enhance the appeal of the spring season.

Hikers and horseback riders can enjoy mountain adventuring on excellent trails which lead from the Chisos Mountains Basin into the remote sections of the park. The spectacular scenery from the South Rim is reached by horseback trips or by hiking into the higher mountains. Trail riders and hikers will also find short trails for leisure mountain exploring.

There is real western flavor on the all-day trail trip to the South Rim of the Chisos Mountains. Skilled wranglers lead the riders through forests of pinyon pine to the crest of the lofty South Rim, some 7,000 feet above sea level. From the top of the "Rim", a thrilling panorama sweeps to the east, south and west, where the "Big Bend" of the Grande swings in a giant crescent, 3,000 feet below the South Rim and 20 miles in the distance. Towering more than a mile above the Rio Grande in Mexico, the striking ranges of the Sierra del Carmen and Sierra Fronteriza dominate the landscape, while the rolling hills and desert expand the vista more than 100 miles south of the river.

The Santa Elena Canyon and Castolon at the western edge of the park, and the Rio Grande Village and Boquillas Canyon, along the southeastern section of Big Bend, are easily reached by automobile. A frontier store, located at Castolon, offers groceries and gasoline while campers supplies, gas and groceries are available at the Rio Grande Village during the fall, winter and spring season. Excellent camping and picnic facilities are provided in the Chisos Mountains and at the Rio Grande Village.

Year-round accommodations in the Chisos Mountains provide a hospitable welcome to Big Bend visitors. Dining room, coffee shop, stores and a gasoline station provide service in the Chisos Mountains. A service station and trailer sites are located at Panther Junction in the foothills. Picnic and campers supplies are also available.

During the evenings Park Naturalists present color slide programs in the Chisos Mountains. This is a phase of the interpretative program which describes the geological, botanical and biological story of the park.

The stark, rugged beauty of the mountains, desert and canyons reflect the grandeur of Big Bend National Park. This land of superlatives extends an invitation and a challenge to explore the "Scenic Frontier" along the Rio Grande.

roy the material that nature has placed there?

The case where burning may help is where the grass has built up a thick mat, and plant roots tend to grow in the mat rather than the soil. This happens when waterings are frequent, and not much added at a time.

It may appear that the grass will green up sooner, but a lot of this appearance is due to the contrast of green and black vs. green and brown.

Farmers interested in soybean production will probably be in Plainview on Feb. 21st. The meeting starts at 10:00 a.m.

Information relative to the production, use and marketing of soybeans will be presented.

Regarding soybean production in Motley County, Jerrel Nimmo of Northfield planted some in skip row cotton, with the patterns being cotton 2, fallow, soybeans 2, fallow, cotton 2, etc. The soybeans were on land planted in cotton the three previous years, with cotton receiving 53 lbs. of nitrogen each year.

Yield of the soybeans was 697 lbs. acre, but where 53 lbs. of nitrogen was added to the soybean land in 1966, the yield was 998 lbs. acre. This reflected a return of $29.00/acre on the unfertilized land, and $41.50 acre on the fertilized land. The increase of $3.00 for each $1.00 spent for fertilizer.

We had to hand harvest strips to obtain these figures, as Jerrel was unable to get a combine for the harvesting, but previous tests using cotton, have shown this method to be very accurate in determining yields.

A meeting of interest to cotton producers will be held in the KoKo Palace, 50th & Q, Lubbock, Wed. Feb. 22nd, starting at 9:30 A.M.

Subject of the meeting is "Improving Cotton Quality". Cultural practices, ginning methods, and block ginning will be discussed.

We all know that the quality of cotton is becoming more of a factor in the price received, so why not plan to attend?

Don't take a chance on soil seed-borne diseases that reduce crop yields. Chemical seed treatment is inexpensive and effective, and the recommended controls are safe and easy to use.

The chemical forms a protective coating around the seed and protects it from micro-organism growth during the period of germination. Seed treatment will not control damping-off after the seedling grows out of the treated zone though. Damping-off organisms develop most rapidly when weather conditions are unfavorable and cause growers to associate damping-off of seedlings with cold, wet weather.

Most commercially purchased planting seed will be treated and this will be noted on the container tag. Growers who save their own planting seed can purchase seed treatment chemicals at most agricultural supply houses. If seed are treated on the farm, the important thing to get is a uniform covering of the protective fungicide over the seed coat. This can be done by a homemade device which will tumble the seed and mix the fungicide thoroughly with the seed being treated.

Be sure to use the proper dosage. Lower than recommended dosage may cause the treatment to be ineffective while excessive rates may damage the seed. If the disease is borne inside the seed, they must be treated by a different method, but detailed information on chemical seed treatment is available at my office for the asking.

Results of low rates of treatment will be shown in a cotton test by Roy Grundy that I will present later.

Humble Buys Standard Oil's Signal Division

Humble Oil & Refining Company will purchase from Standard Oil Company of California the service stations and related properties of the latter's Signal Oil Company Division in California, Oregon, Washington, and Idaho, it has been announced.

The transaction was disclosed by O.N. Miller, chairman of the board of Standard, and M. A. Wright, board chairman of Humble. Approximately 1500 stations handle Signal products in the states involved.
