Council Defers Decision in Phone Rate Hike

OPLE of Matador were tried their own court here Tuesday. The defendants were charged with being in a drouth aster district for three years not making any money so ould pay a fixed revenue the stockholders of the Gen Telephone Company. If found guilty of the ase in their telephone rates one the penalty will be an increase in their telephone rates ounting to as much as 60%. Fortunately, the jury is also posed of the people; Mayor L. McWilliams, and council Jack Norman, Billy Wason, J. S. Stanley, R. L. Brandon I John Briscoe. The case was rred after 2 1/2 hours of wrangling until the next meeting of the council in March. There was no indication that the council was impressed by the brochure of company figures explained by E. I. Jenkins of Ralls, district manager for the General Telephone Company. He was accompanied by I. E. Honeycutt, Ralls plant supervisor and Troy Fred, local serviceman. Basis for deferment of the decision was figures on toll revenues in Matador office requested by Councilman Stanley Jenkins said he would supply the figures but that they would not change his company's position since "Texas toll" is operated separately from the Matador office (no cost, investment or revenue being considered). Texas toll, Jenkins said, earned 5 1/2% last year. Jenkins made one or more "hinted overtures" to the council that he would be glad to convey to his multi-million dollar corporation bosses an offer of a compromise increase. The council was not interested. Heated At Times. Although heated at times, the meeting retained a friendly dignity until its conclusion. Most of the questioning was done by John Hamilton, local attorney, who told Jenkins he had been employed by local businessmen to protect their interests. County Attorney Howard Traweck, also a representative of the citizenship, questioned Jenkins on the company's bookkeeping. He explained to the telephone representative that the company can spread its operations over a vast area to absorb the losses in a distaster district. "On the other hand," County Attorney Traweck said, "we here in Matador and this drouth area must put all our eggs in one basket. If we lose there is no adjustment. We have lost for three years."

At one point in the discussion Jenkins mentioned the increased cost of taxes but quickly attempted to get away from the subject. He was too late, however, and Councilman Brandon reminded him that city records show the company paid taxes on $25,000 valuation in 1952 (the year the last rate increase was granted) but that for the past two years the company has dropped its valuation to about $13,000 on which taxes were paid. The change in rendition escaped the city's board of equalization. Jenkins made no comment on his company's successful escape from a fair tax payment as indicated by the investment listed in the prepared brochure. Jenkins answered all questions politely to the best of his ability. When the question of service was under discussion Mrs. B. C. Cox, local office manager and her office personnel received the unanimous praise of the council and others attending the meeting. "We have good service," they declared. Mayor McWilliams pointed out to Jenkins that the brochure declared the cost of telephone service increased with the addition of new customers. He wanted to know why and Jenkins said because of the additional equipment needed and the service required. The Mayor then asked him how telephone companies could operate in large cities with many thousands of customers at comparable rates. Jenkins said: "I can't answer that."

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR
 Being absent-minded is a risky method of avoiding the possibilities associated with faulty conscience.
 Silver television antennas waving in the sun are like tall tails swaying at the springs man's ingenuity. Slim fingers reach upward and outward to catch the unseen forces that are capable of transporting a creature through space. Other senses less understood but more efficient are capable of directing the destiny of a soul when heart is tuned to be receptive to Christian faith.
 Time has gained the momentum of a runaway freight train leaping to the rough foot of a rumbering box car containing my existence. The train is not particularly frightening but I wish the conveyance would slow down enough for me to see where I am going, and where I have been.
 Another disadvantage of being absent-minded is that the condition does not invoke enough sympathy from the rich.
 It is probable the neon light is invented by a man not satisfied with burning a candle at both ends, who envisioned the complete dissipation of darkness so could burn the whole thing once.
 In reflecting on the romantic aspects of my life I do not remember a single instance in which a beautiful girl dropped her handkerchief with the expectancy that I would retrieve it. I have been comforted, however, in moments of melancholy, by the tender impulses associated with my recovering a snuff stick - a blithe and buxom maiden while we were playing "Wolf and the River" at recess.

Contract Let For Station

Work has already started on the construction of a modern Texas service station in Matador. Tuesday afternoon Ed Jameson moved heavy Caterpillar equipment against the pillar, smoked-stained walls that were for years known as the "Phillip Graves" service station until its destruction by fire about two years ago. Within a short time the walls were razed and clearing of the property started. The building at the time of the fire was occupied by the Hughes-Cook Implement Co. Mrs. Edith Parker of Amarillo has advised the Tribune that she has contracted with a firm of Lubbock builders to construct a modern filling station on her property. She said the service station will be constructed to the Texas company's specifications.
 She said she had signed a lease with the Texas Company for a period of ten years, with three five-year options (flat rental by the month basis).
 Mrs. Parker said the station will be serviced by Texaco. Agent Jack Barnhill of Turkey, Tex. said the deal which she had culminated with the Texas Company included the building and six lots.
 "If weather permits, the building should be completed in 60 days", she declared.

Former Resident J. A. Hodges Dies At Plainview

Jessie A. (Aph) Hodges, 61, former Matador resident died suddenly at his home at 1110 Milwaukee in Plainview at 11:30 Friday night. Death was attributed to a heart ailment.
 Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the First Baptist Church, Plainview, Rev. Harlan Harris, pastor, officiated.
 Mr. Hodges was born in Grayson County, August 19, 1893. He was married at Plainview to Miss Buna Elizabeth Stewart in 1923. They moved soon to Matador where they resided until twelve years ago when they returned to Plainview to make their home.
 Besides his wife, Hodges is survived by a half-brother, Gordon Hodges, Houston, and two sisters, Mrs. Tom King, Matador and Mrs. O. L. Hale, Spur.
 The Lemon Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements, and interment was in Plainview Memorial Park.
 Relatives and friends who attended the funeral services included Mr. and Mrs. Tom King, Mrs. Curtis King, Mr. and Mrs. John Russell, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Daffern, Jeff Daffern, Mrs. A. Harp and Mrs. Ethel Payne, all of Matador; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Spears, Flomott, and Mrs. Bert Schweitzer, Lubbock.

Polio Fund Tops Goal for County

While a "break-down" of the various communities was not available here yesterday afternoon, the Matley county polio fund or "March of Dimes" has apparently exceeded its goal.
 Randall Whitworth, cashier of the First State Bank and fund secretary reported a total of $1,347.72 collected. However, C. M. Barton, Matador fund chairman, said Roaring Springs had raised $300. It was not immediately convenient to check the reports to determine whether or not the amount had been included in the total. Mrs. Rose Turner of Flomott, county fund chairman, was not available for comment. Mr. Whitworth said the Matador mothers' porchlight campaign netted $175.94. Two basketball games at the school gymnasium brought in $28.21.
 Mrs. Malcolm Morris, chairman of the Whiteflat campaign, has asked the Tribune to express her thanks for the complete cooperation of Whiteflat women in making the house-to-house solicitation. She also expresses her appreciation to the Whiteflat Home Demonstration club for sponsoring the 42 party and "White Elephant" sale" both of which were outstanding successes. All funds went to the polio campaign.

Marion Heald Rites Held At Benjamin

Death Sunday claimed the life of Marion Heald, 39, former Matador businessman, after an illness of about a year. He was a patient in a Knox City hospital at the time of his death, and had been living in Benjamin with relatives of Mrs. Heald, since November. Death was the result of a malignancy.
 Mr. Heald was associated with the Motley County Abstract Company and continued with his work here until November, although he and his family had moved to Dickens about three years ago.
 He is survived by his wife and one daughter, and his mother, who lives in California.
 County Judge Vance Gilbreath and County Clerk Pat Sheridan attended the funeral services which were held at the Christian Church in Benjamin, Monday at 2:30 p. m.
 Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simpson made a business trip to Lubbock Monday.

Arthur Stearns Escapes Death In Tragic Mishap

Arthur Stearns, brother of Elmer and Alvin Stearns of Matador, narrowly escaped with his life last Wednesday, during a freak truck accident in Eunice, New Mexico, when the loaded gravel truck he was driving killed one woman and injured another.
 The tragedy was produced in a few fatal seconds when a heavy oil field truck attempted to make a left hand turn across Mr. Stearns' path. In an effort to bring his loaded truck out of the impending disaster, Mr. Stearns' truck struck the other vehicle.
 At this point the gravel truck began its course of chaotic destruction of life and property. It crashed through a lot of parked automobiles and ploughed into a laundry building bringing death to one woman and serious injuries to another. Mr. Stearns was unconscious but uninjured when taken from the cab.
 Investigating officers said it was evident that Stearns had "black-out" and had no control of his vehicle or recollection of any of the events after the collision, until taken from his truck. Officers placed the blame for the accident on the driver of the other truck.
 Alvin Stearns, accompanied by Henry Ford, went to Eunice immediately after news of the accident was received here. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stearns spent the week-end here in the Elmer Stearns home.

Farm Home Burned After Stove Blast

 The fire is declared to have resulted after the explosion of a faulty butane cook stove. A miscellaneous shower for the Scott family will be held tonight in the Roaring Springs school gym.

Irrigation Test Makes 'Producer'

While Motley county remains outside the enchanted domain of oil production and appears to be in the fringe area of uranium discoveries, it is steadily advancing in a more enduring economy, the combining of irrigation water with its rich soils.
 Last week another irrigation test was developed into a producing six-inch well on the J. W. Cooper farm, three miles east of Roaring Springs. Water rose to within five feet of the surface of the 57-foot well. Braselton Implement Company of Roaring Springs "brought in the producer" and will complete the development. S. J. Braselton, manager of the firm said the well tested 470 gallons per minute and would irrigate 100 acres of farm land.
 At present samples of the water are being tested for mineral content. Mr. Braselton said the water tastes unusually good. Interest in irrigation is greater than at any time in the county's history, and contracts for many wells have been made while others are pending.

Ralls Group Interprets Colorful Indian Dances

One of the most interesting and educational programs on the high school auditorium stage in recent years was witnessed Friday night by a regrettably small but enthusiastic audience.
 Dwayne Reeves, Ralls high school history teacher and eight of his troop of Explorer and Boy Scouts, dressed in colorful Indian regalia, interpreted a number of Indian dances. The program was sponsored by El Progresso and Eternas clubs.
 Previous to the stage performance, Mr. Reeves, who was reared among the Indians on an Oklahoma reservation, made an address in behalf of the truly "First Americans." He then showed color slides of pictures he had made on Indian reservations in Oklahoma, describing in detail the significance of the scenes. The pictures of beautiful Indian girls dressed in buckskin apparel required no delineation.
 The program included interpretations of the following tribal dances: Rabbit dance, Pipe dance, Tomahawk dance with Cleve Cybert in solo role, Deer dance, Eagle dance, Squat dance, Devil dance, Shield and Spear dance, (duet), War dance, Buffalo dance, and Hopi Hoop dance, featuring Gene McCauly.

Beef Briefs

Heavy movements of cattle into the United States have been reported from Mexico border points since the quarantine on cattle imports was lifted at the first of the year.

Relaxation of the foot and mouth disease ban on imports has resulted in extremely heavy shipments at some points.

Movement on the border opening far exceeded that which occurred when the border was previously opened on September 1, 1952, after the first foot and mouth outbreak in Mexico.

The cattle were moving to range and feedlots over the country.

Many went into pastures near the border. Some went to lots in California and Colorado.

A thousand head which moved from the A. B. Whitehead and George Miers Ranches in Mexico and came in at Del Rio went to California lots and to Kansas and Nebraska.

Imports during the first year are expected to total 500,000, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Some border sources indicate that the number may not exceed 200,000.

Consumer income in the U. S. is expected to stay at a high level during the coming year, agricultural economists believe.

Dr. T. R. Timm, head of the Agricultural Economics Department at Texas A&M College, has surveyed the possibilities of consumer buying of farm products during the year.

Indications are that homemakers over the nation will buy meat with about $6 of every $100 they spend for food.

Cattle prices may be a little lower and the amount of money spent for livestock products may get more meat for homemakers than they got for the same amount during 1954.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
A Winner Every Time!

Last Friday at our big basketball game with Centerville I sat next to a fine-looking old man. Centerville had things their way the first half — and he cheered every score they made.

But our boys began to catch up. Then Stretch Brown put us in the lead with a long set shot, — and I noticed that the old fellow was now rooting for our side. "What team are you for, anyway?" I demanded.

"Neither," he replied. "I've got my own team. I figure any kid that does a good job out there is on my team. Root for the individual like I do — and you'll always back a winner!"

From where I sit, maybe it is a good idea to keep our eye on the individual, instead of automatically grouping him on teams you're "for" or "against." We're all individuals at heart, with our likes and dislikes — our right to prefer tea to coffee or beer to buttermilk... our right to "blow the whistle" when anyone tries to regiment us.

Misses Norman, Green And Sturdivant Are First Place Style Revue Winners

Miss Kay Norman, freshman, Miss Christ Green, sophomore and Miss Pina Sue Sturdivant, junior, were judged first place winners in a style revue staged Monday night in the high school auditorium, by the homemaker department.

Other winners, taking second and third places, were Frances Lancaster and Frances McMahon of the freshman class; Barbara Waybourn and La Reece Lawrence, sophomores, and Lucretia Edwards and Rachel Craven, juniors.

Twenty-five girls from the three homemaker classes modeled dresses which they had made, including street ensembles, casuals for sports, and formal frocks. It wasn't an easy job for the judges to select the winners, as all the garments had the touch of professional workmanship and were worn with the poise of professional models.

Mrs. A. L. Fair, homemaker teacher, directed the revue which included a program of readings and musical numbers, as follows:

Junior class modeling first dress, reading, "My Doggie has the Measles", Charles Ezzell; sophomore class modeling first dress, "The Cuckoo Call", Carol Stamper; freshman class modeling first dress, "Bells", Johnny Ezzell; junior class modeling second dress, "Smilin' Through" and "Indian Love Call", by Elementary Choir; sophomore class modeling second dress, "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho" and "Bill Grogan's Goat", by the Stardusters; piano solo, Linda Rae Thompson, song, "Sincerely", the Harmonaires; reading, "Cookies", Butch Waybourn, and concluding numbers, "That's All I Want From You", and "You'll Never Walk Alone", Matador High School Choir.

Readings were by speech students of Mrs. J. R. Whitworth, and choral numbers were directed by Mrs. L. D. Wilkerson.

ROARING SPRINGS GIRLS ARE MARRIED IN CEREMONIES HELD THERE LAST WEEK

Miss Gwen Cooper Becomes Bride of Mr. Baxter Gentry

Miss Gwen Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cooper of Roaring Springs, and Mr. Baxter Gentry, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Gentry of Crowell, were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony, Thursday, January 27, at 5 o'clock p. m. in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Cooper of Roaring Springs.

Rev. R. L. Jameson of Whiteflat, formerly of Roaring Springs, and long-time friend and pastor of both families, officiated.

Attendants of the couple were Miss Elouise Pierce of Roaring Springs and Wayne Shultz of Crowell.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a suit of winter white orlon-nylon linen, with navy accessories.

Her bouquet was of white carnations and blue forget-me-nots with satin streamers, which she carried on a white Bible, a gift from the mothers. For "something old" she carried a handkerchief which had belonged to her paternal great-grandmother, the late Mrs. R. P. Echols. She also wore the traditional "something borrowed and blue" and wore a penny in her shoe.

Miss Pierce wore a pink suit dress with black accessories, and a white carnation corsage.

For a reception following the ceremony, the dining table was laid with an embroidered white linen cloth and centered with a large bowl of Dutch blue iris and white asters with fern and orange leaves.

The tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served by Mrs. J. P. Moss of Floydada and Mrs. Fred Bourland of Matador, aunts of the bride. Presiding at the silver coffee and tea service were Mrs. Billy Charles Cross of Plainview and Miss Kay Carpenter of Roaring Springs, who alternated in pouring.

Attending the wedding and reception were thirty guests, of whom the following were from out-of-town: Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Gentry, Mrs. Sam Russell, Miss Lottie Russell and Kenneth Fox of Crowell; Mrs. Walter McWilliams and Billy Dan (Heavy) Thomas, Matador.

Mrs. Gentry was reared at Roaring Springs, and graduated from high school there with the class of 1954. She attended Texas Technological College, Lubbock, last semester. Mr. Gentry was reared at Crowell, where he graduated from high school. He spent four years in the Air Corps, three of which were in Korea. Upon his return home last summer, he enrolled at Texas Tech, attending one semester.

After a wedding trip to points in South Texas, the couple is at home at 1215 Van Loan Street in Corpus Christi.

Neal Pipkin, Texas Tech student and Miss Patti Pipkin, who teaches in Plainview, spent the week-end at their home here, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Pipkin.

Vows Exchanged by Miss Rene Posey and Gary Laughlin

Marriage vows were exchanged Friday afternoon, Jan. 28 at 5 o'clock, in the First Baptist Church of Roaring Springs, by Miss Rene Posey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Posey of Roaring Springs, and Gary Laughlin, son of Mrs. Baker Bristow of Hobbs, New Mexico, with Rev. C. R. Mathis, pastor, reading the rites.

Miss Wandell Russell of Floydada, cousin of the bride, played the pre-nuptial music, and the wedding march. Miss Kay Carpenter sang "Always" and "Whither Thou Goest", accompanied by Miss Russell.

Ronda Posey, sister of the bride, and Ronald Sweatt lighted the pink candles which were in white candelabra flanking the pulpit before which the minister stood.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white taffeta gown fashioned with tight-fitting bodice topped with rhinestone trimmed bolero of net, and a skirt overdraped with sequined net. The fingertip veil of net was attached to a shell of sequined satin. Her bouquet was of pink and white carnations, carried on a white Bible the gift of the bridegroom's mother.

Miss Norma Redd, the bride's only attendant, wore a pink frosted faille princess style dress with bouffant skirt, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Her accessories were white.

Mr. Cecil Wayne Shelton of Hobbs, N. M. was best man, and Freddie Cargile and J. N. Fletcher ushered.

For a short wedding trip the bride traveled in a white pool-lin suit with rhinestone trim, with black and white accessories.

Mrs. Laughlin is continuing her studies in the Roaring Springs High School, where she is a senior, and Mr. Laughlin has returned to his work at Hobbs. He was reared at Matador and is a graduate of Matador High School, and attended A&M College for one semester.

Pied 'Pinions' BY MRS. M.

Did our feathers fall (but how!) when we learned that an Indian Princess means nothing more in royal parlance, than a bestowed honor comparable to being crowned a football queen. And here we've been so swathed in vanity, to these many years, contemplating our ancestral rank and title.

So we'll just pull in our pinions, acknowledge defeat and admit that maybe our great-great-grandmother was a feather all, only an Indian squaw, inasmuch as football wasn't in the annals as a contribution to the early advancement of civilization.

Anyway, we must have a bit of the savage in our make-up, considering the spine-tingle an organ rendition of "Indian Love Call" gives us, or the chant of the warriors as they go into their weird dances.

And we appreciated the attitude of the little boy in the Quote story:

The current attraction was a western and the horde of Indians in it were up to their usual tactics, Hollywood style.

A small boy and his father, definitely of Indian extraction, filed out with the crowd at the end of the show. "That was a swell movie, Daddy", the boy was heard to remark, "but don't we ever win?"

Self-appointed booster for Lubbock is J. A. Mullins, who has printed on his personal cards, "Unofficial representative of Lubbock—the Best town in Texas."

Mr. Mullins became a subscriber to the Tribune some years ago when his daughter, Doris, (Mrs. Joe Harlan of Amarillo) was with us and learning the hard way how to become a newspaper woman. Incidentally, Mr. Mullins bears a striking resemblance to the late Will Rogers.

There are women in the world who pay the fabulous sum of $600 for one dress from the famed salon of couturiere Valentina in New York City. In the southwest generally, and Texas particularly, the Neiman-Marcus label on a garment denotes quality. Yet we know a modest, unassuming dressmaker in a nearby town whose clientele includes two successful career girls from New York, and a wealthy matron in Dallas, who return to their home-town at regular intervals for visits, and while there, are fitted for seasonal wardrobes. The dressmaker, who is an artisan in the profession, makes not only dresses and suits, but coats, for these discriminating women.

Thought for the day: The secret of happiness is to learn to accept the impossible, do without the indispensable, and bear the intolerable. (Quote).

Youth Is Subject Of Club Program

A round table discussion by four high school students provided an interesting program for El Progreso Study Club at regular meeting Thursday, Jan. 27, in the home of Mrs. J. L. Woodruff.

Mrs. Fred Simpson led the panel in discussing juvenile delinquency with Misses Sara Carson, Rachel Craven, Lucretia Edwards and Pina Sue Sturdivant. Program subject was "Our Youth".

The influence of school, church, and law-enforced curfew were discussed. Without exception, each of the girls stressed religious training as a means for curbing delinquency among young people. They suggested a more expansive recreational program for the community, which would include youth activities during the summer as well as through the school term, and cited the good derived through the program sponsored by the Methodist Church several years ago, when a projector was brought here to direct Methodist Youth ship.

Mrs. A. L. Fair conducted discussion with a number of the freshmen class, "How to Make a Delinquent". Mrs. W. N. Pipkin, leader, used for descriptions from the scriptures of the sects of St. Luke, and the Acts. She also read a book by Theodore Roosevelt, "Roosevelt's more Hill", as follows:

Be just as decent as you can, if you fight, if you fight enough you are perfect. Your playmates are your enemies.

Other members present were Mesdames Forrest Campbell, B. Campbell, W. W. Campbell, A. J. Daffern, G. E. Ben Keltz, W. D. Lipscomb, E. Pitts, Sr., Leonora A. C. Trawick, Jr., Farmington, J. R. Whitworth, U. Harry Willett, Glenn Bill McCaghen and C. bourn and Miss Amy G.

A miscellaneous shower, sponsored by friends of the Roaring Springs community will be held at the high school gym, Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, for Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Scott and family who lost everything when their house burned Monday.

He restoreth your soul...

Here's Dave Judson and Bill Miller. Good friends for a good many years now. They hardly ever "talk" religion—they just always find time to get to Services each week.

There's Susan Brown. She's brought Mary Lou up all alone—her daddy was killed in the war. Susan's a slight little thing, but a pillar of strength. And she's not at all ashamed to admit—she leans all right—on the strength of God.

Janet and Bill were married right in this church—and they come back every week. "Just selfishness on our part," Bill says. "After all, our life together got off to a happy start here... and we want to keep it that way!"

Worship together this week

We are well blessed. The doors of our churches and synagogues are wide open... waiting for us to enter. Set aside a time each week... a time apart from the "busyness" of living. You'll find more joy in each day, if you give some time each week to worship.

And the Wolf family here—will you just look at those boys! They're feeling very grown-up and proud as punch, going to a Service with Mom and Dad.

Pete Taylor sure has grown! Being in the Service has helped him grow up inside, too. As Pete puts it, "A guy's never so big, that he wants to go it alone."

Ever been a stranger in any town? Then you've known loneliness. And you know how comforting it is to come upon a church or synagogue... where the doors are always wide open to everyone.

HIGH EGG PRICES expected by fall

For 5 years, a year of low egg prices has always been followed by a year of high egg prices. Why? Because many folks get discouraged after a low-price year and don't start chicks. The graph tells the story. Average prices are higher in some areas, lower in others, but the down-one-year up-the-next picture is the same everywhere.

Will you be ready with a full laying house?
Let the other fellow quit. We urge all our friends to start a full brooder house to cash in next fall. And start 'em now so you can start getting lots of eggs as soon as prices begin to hit their fall and early winter peak.

Please call or drop in and place your order this week.

AN EDITORIAL

A Glass Door For Public Spending

There has been a mushrooming trend in recent years toward "creeping secrecy" in government—a feeling of public officials that the voters have no right to watch, and therefore judge, the official acts of the men they elect to office.

Public apathy has made it possible for public "servants" to close their meeting doors to the taxpayers, and to deny them the use of public records. In many Texas counties it is now impossible to determine whether the public money is being allowed to fall into disrepair. The citizen can't attend the "executive sessions" of his commissioners court and school board, and he is met with grumbling assent or even downright refusal when he asks to look at county records.

This condition certainly doesn't apply to Motley county. The Tribune believes Motley county has efficiently operated county and city governments and school boards. It believes sincere, conscientious people have been elected to the offices, which in most cases pay them too little for the services they render. On the other hand, elsewhere in Texas at least three or more county officials have been indicted for criminal misconduct of office during the past year. Just as dangerous as the possibility of crookedness in office, however, is the idea that exists in the minds of some public officials that the public should not know how its business is carried on.

This exaggerated bureaucratic "need" of privacy does not tend to stagnate. It tends to grow. Unless it is stamped out at the local level with deliberate care, it tends to spread from a small flame in the brush to a roaring prairie fire.

There now are in the legislative hopper in Austin five bills which we consider effective roadblocks to the runaway limousine of bureaucratic secrecy. Motley county's Representative Elbert Reeves is sponsoring three or four of the bills and will be associated with all of them. These bills have the enthusiastic support of the Texas Press Association and Attorney General John Ben Shepperd. The Attorney General said last week in Austin, that if the bills had been on the statutes a few years before, there could have been no Duval county, where, he said, it was worth a citizen's life to ask for an audit of the county records, or challenge an official's use of public funds.

These bills provide a glass door to public spending. John O. Public can watch the operation while his dollar is being spent. They will provide a printed statement of tax money. About 40 states in the nation have identical publication laws. Texas has a general publication law which covers most of the bills but it is ignored because there is no penalty attached for failure to comply.

One thing is very obvious to the average citizen and taxpayer: and the sincere and conscientious public official. Where tax money is being spent to its intended and efficient use, there will be no opposition. An honest official will not object to the public knowledge of his exercising the duties to which he is elected and sworn to do. It will make his job easier because no mystery can possibly exist about his office and therefore no speculation or "gossip" can shadow his political career.

It is probable that opponents of the bills may point to the newspapers in wanting publication laws enforced because of the revenue they will receive for printing the statements. That is a part of the truth. Newspapers will be paid for printing at a fixed rate. They will be paid just the same as a machinery company is paid for a piece of equipment, a supply company for a shipment of floorsweep, or an audit company for audit service. It is interesting to note, however, that many of the larger papers no longer print legal notices at the fixed rate because of the greatly increased cost of publication which makes it prohibitive to them. Some charge the loss to editorial expense. It will benefit small newspapers like the Tribune but to no great extent (even the amount paid for publication will be made public if the bills become effective). Behind the press of Texas there exists a much greater interest in the passage of the five bills. Every newspaper worthy of the name is dedicated to keeping the people informed to the best of its ability. Informed people will remain free. The voters and taxpayers pay for public service and they have a right to know how it is conducted. Their tax dollars are being spent by public officials and they have a right to know how they are spent. The small cost of publication will be saved many times in the more effective spending of public funds.

The five bills are: HB 12, to require publication of the proceedings of the commissioners courts; HB 13, requiring publication of annual financial statements for school, road, soil conservation and other district; HB 18, requiring immediate payment for the printing of citations in delinquent tax suits and the proceedings for the sale of property to satisfy judgments in favor of governmental bodies (at present the newspaper is required to wait until enough money is recovered to first satisfy the claims—then at a rate below the actual cost of setting type); HB 23, requiring publication of the full text of city ordinances and HB 148, making changes in the mandatory publications act to affix responsibility for causing publications to be made.

If these five bills become law, it will be virtually impossible for officials to hide behind a curtain of official secrecy. The bills not only prescribe what shall be done, but provide a penalty. An office holder is subject to forfeiture of salary and removal from office if he fails to carry out his duty of publishing records.

The Tribune believes the average citizen would like to know how his tax dollar is spent. He probably voted for the official who is spending it but nevertheless he earned the dollar and surrendered it to the tax collector for the purchase of government and service. He has a right to an invoice. He is not going to the courthouse and demand to know how his money was spent altho he has the right. It is his courthouse, city hall and school house and the people who are spending his money are his employees. He is the public.

The Tribune believes the bills deserve the fair consideration of every citizen and public official. Rep. Reeves will appreciate letters from his constituents regarding the bills and the letters will be of immense help to him in securing their passage. He will, with equal fairness which is his natural characteristic, be glad to receive letters opposing the bills if they express the sentiments of the people who look to him as their representative in the State Legislature. He will be guided and strengthened by the opinions of the majority of the people. His address is: Hon. Elbert Reeves, House of Representatives, Austin, Texas.

Cause Of Repeated Accidents May Be Emotional Make-up

AUSTIN—Does someone in your family—or perhaps you yourself—seem to have repeated accidents? It could be due to "accident proneness." That's the phrase coined by the experts—psychologists, industrialists, physicians, insurance men and others on the theory that many accidents result from the victim's emotional make-up.

Studies by agencies interested in health and safety have shown that relatively few people are responsible for a high percentage of accidents. Conclusion: a person who has one accident is more likely to be involved in another than a person who has had none at all.

State Department of Health studies confirm this. For example:

A public utility company, trying to cut accident rates among truck drivers, ordered an investigation of every factor which could be contributing, from weather to reaction time of drivers.

Truck accidents increased despite an intense educational campaign. But when drivers with bad records were shifted to other jobs, the company's driver accident rate fell to a fifth of the former rate.

The transferred drivers? They kept on having accidents in their new jobs and at home.

The experts have traced definite personality patterns in accident-prone people. Almost invariably they are impetuous, following impulses without deliberation or planning. Their decisiveness is, in reality, a drive for independence and self-reliance in the situation of the moment.

For the most part they have a history of neurotic traits in childhood. They simply reach a point, in their failure to handle an emotional situation, when an unpleasant happening becomes a physical and emotional necessity.

Result: an "accident".

While admitting the part accident proneness plays, Texas State Health Officer Henry A. Holle would stress environmental hazards and biologic conditions like fatigue, temporary stress-produced inattention, impaired vision or hearing, and underlying disease.

"Too much emphasis on accident proneness tends to obscure the need of correcting defects in industrial equipment, slum housing, inefficient traffic systems, and inadequate playgrounds."

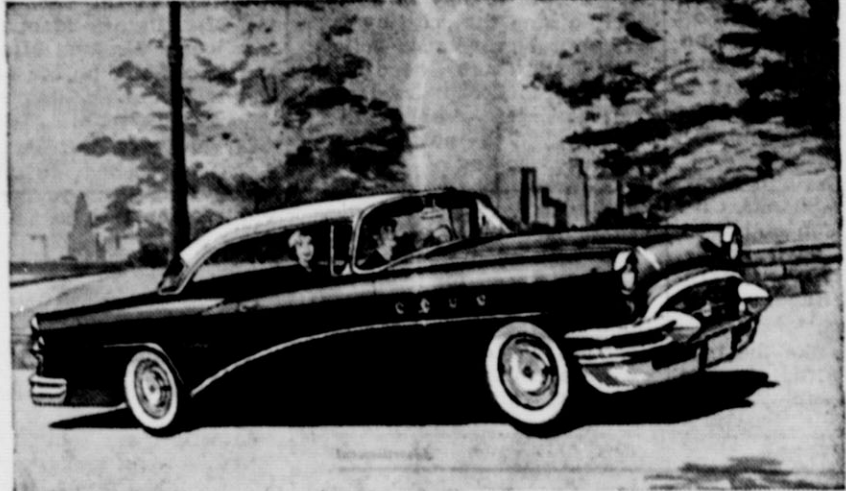

There is another cause for accident prone people. Holle points out that the studies which show them susceptible to accidents shows them to have them well below the general population.
