Rev. Oliver Tells Of Life In Brazil

The eighth grade geography class had a special treat Tuesday! Bro. Bruce Oliver visited us and told us about the geography of Brazil and many interesting things about his life there.

The fifth grade is studying about Brazil, so they were invited to hear Bro. Bruce, too. With such a big bunch of them, they made a party of it. For refreshments we all got a bite of dried banana. Bro. Bruce brought with him! He brought a cute little "stuffed alligator", too. It was dead, naturally, but it still did not look too friendly. Anyhow—no one seemed to want one.

Bro. Bruce's talk and visit was enjoyed by everyone and we hope he will visit us again soon.

40 million a year. The toll of dental disease is a particular tragedy because the knowledge to reduce the high incidence of tooth decay is at hand, according to Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer.

One of the chief reasons for the decay toll is the heavy consumption of sweets, he said. Sweets are readily fermentable and offer a good nutrient for bacteria to manufacture enamel-destroying acid.

Dr. Holle urged that parents offer fruit or popcorn or cheese to children instead of jams and pastries for between-meal snacks.

The ritual of toothbrushing is still one of the most effective methods of preventing decay. Dr. Holle said. However, he added, the brushing should be done immediately after eating rather than on arising in the morning and on retiring at night.

"In addition to the toothbrush fluoridation of water promises to help reduce substantially throughout a lifetime the dental crippling that now plagues the adult generation," Dr. Holle said. "As part of the preventive program, children should be taken to the dentist as soon as their first teeth are in," said Dr. Holle.

The dentist and the young patient can thus become acquainted under favorable circumstances, free of any discomfort. This type of introduction is much better, happier and more productive than one in which the child is suffering from a toothache caused by dental neglect, he added.

Of interest to friends locally is the marriage Saturday, February 5, of Miss Barbara Havis to Mr. Delbert Ray Robbins of Idalou.

bridegroom's brother, B. J. Robbins, near Idalou. A large fireplace was banked by lemon leaf and was centered with an arch of white pompon chrysanthemums and fern. Baskets of pink gladioli completed the setting.

Recordings of "Because" and "Always" furnished wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white antique taffeta, designed with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace with a high neckline and long sleeves. Her bouquet was of white carnations, and her finger-length veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls.

Miss Carolyn Havis attended her sister as maid of honor. Her dress of pale green antique taffeta was designed like that of the bride and she carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations.

Dale Tanner of Idalou, served as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held. The bride's table was covered with a white cutwork linen cloth over blue and centered with a tiered wedding cake trimmed in blue.

Included in the houseparty were Mrs. B. J. Robbins and Mrs. Jackie Andrews, sister of the bride.

For the wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev., and California, the bride wore a toast linen suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of green orchids tied with gold.

Amarillo Paper Warns "Bond Scheme" Illegal

BY BILL CHERRY
Amarillo Daily News
Staff Writer

Have you sent any U. S. Savings Bonds through the mail lately?

If you have, and you sent them as a member of the chain-letter savings bond scheme that's sweeping the country, you've become liable to prosecution for violation of a federal statute.

"The scheme is a lottery," a spokesman for the postal inspector's office said in Amarillo. "Sending the bonds through the mail is using the mails to further a lottery, and that's illegal," he said.

The statute carries a maximum penalty of two years in prison, a $1,000 fine or both, he said.

The scheme employs a chain letter technique, but nothing except savings bonds are sent through the mail.

A switch on the chain-letter, get-rich-quick fad that was popular during the 1930's, the present scheme operates like this:

A list of ten names and addresses is sold to a new member for two $18.75 savings bonds. One bond is given to the seller of the list and the other is sent to the man at the top of the list. In turn, the new member adds his name to the bottom of the list and scratches off the top name. The new member then sells the list to two other people and receives two $18.75 bonds in return—thus getting back his initial investment.

If the chain bond plan works out according to the charts, the man at the top of the list stands to collect 2,048 bonds worth $38,400. In 10 years the bonds would be worth $51,200. Members of the chain have thought that it might not be a violation of the law because only bonds are sent in the mail, while the list itself is passed from hand to hand.

The postal inspector's office said it makes no difference that only bonds are sent. "You're still using the mails to further a lottery," the spokesman said.

He said the inspector's office must investigate all reports of the chain, and gather affidavits from members. The evidence gathered will be given to the U. S. Attorney for prosecution.

He said there are two cases in this area being investigated at present.

"We like to encourage the sale of savings bonds, but not that way," he said.

Amarillo banks declined to say whether sales of bonds are up or not. However, several recent newspaper and magazine stories of the chain have told of runs on banks for bonds.

The idea in this area apparently started in Quanah, moved to Lubbock and Borger and finally to Amarillo.

A sales talk used in selling the lists is that the Treasury Department has okayed the scheme. Some say that if the scheme had been used during World War II, no bond drives would have been necessary.

But the postal inspectors of five says sending the bonds through the mails constitutes a violation of federal law and violators are liable to prosecution.

How many work-saving appliances have you added—a refrigerator or a range, perhaps. Possibly an automatic washer, dryer or a food freezer. More than likely an air conditioner.

Only Car at its Price*... So Smart! So Big! So Powerful!

Whatever you want most in a car—beauty, size or performance—you get it in extra measure in a Pontiac. In fact, when you choose Pontiac the decision comes very easily—because Pontiac alone, at its price, gives you everything!

For example, take Pontiac's distinctive smartness. Certainly there is no question on this point. Pontiac is the one car that stands apart from all the others.

If it's size and big-car sure-footedness you want—Pontiac's your car! Pontiac's long wheelbase—124 inches in the Star

Chief, shown here, and 122 inches in the 860 and 870 series—is the plus wheelbase that provides the roominess, the comfort, the satisfying road-hugging security that only a big car can supply.

As for performance—once you get behind the wheel you have all the proof you need that Pontiac is way ahead in this department, too. Pontiac's spectacular performance starts with the most modern engine of all—the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8—specifically designed for Pontiac's all-new chassis to give you balanced performance. That means smooth, eager getaway in traffic; power to spare on the open road; and even more of Pontiac's traditional economy, dependability and long life.

All this adds up to a wonderful car and—with Pontiac's remarkably low price tag—a very wonderful buy. Come in soon and talk dollars and cents. If you're in the market for any new car, you'll discover you can easily afford all the pride and pleasure of a big, powerful, luxury-loaded Pontiac.

*You can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars!

County Judge Vance H. Gilbreath introduced the program which consisted of expert pistol shooting in the steady hands of Patrolman D. L. Cooper, accompanied by Capt. K. B. Hallmark, Jr., Texas Highway Patrol of Wichita Falls. The boys and their fathers enjoyed the display of outstanding marksmanship. At the conclusion of the program Capt. Hallmark said:

"I have been a police officer for over 17 years and I have never arrested a Scout or a former Scout. I think it is a wonderful thing that this many fathers and sons can be brought together in an annual event of this nature. I want to pay tribute to the Matador Lions club for sponsoring a movement of such beneficial and lasting significance."

Assistant Scoutmaster Freddie Welling said printed arm bands (red silk) will be worn by the official Scout patrolmen and that none except those wearing the official arm bands are authorized to collect fines.

The banquet room was attractively decorated in footballs, (including a table covered with trophies which supported these large letters: "Regional Champions") Table favors were miniature football players who held the programs at each plate. The meal was prepared and served by the mothers of the Matador Matadors.

Opening the program Lucretia Edwards tendered congratulations to the honor-winning team. "Heartfelt Thanks" for the support of the pep squad and fans was spoken by Kenneth Baker. Following the crowning of the queen, "Music for Mr. Football" was presented by Kay Norman and Kaynita Dunning singing to the accompaniment of Frank Traeweek at the piano. Invocation was by Boss Lion Randall Whitworth.
