Candidate Special

The Reporter has a brand new list of all the voters in Hansford County, and Thursday, July 5 will mail a copy to every voter in the county. Already we have ads and write-ups of a number of the candidates, and we are offering the candidates this opportunity of getting their statements to the voters on the eve of the election. This will also afford the merchants a splendid opportunity to get the announcements of their special harvest bargains over the entire county. Copy should be in Wednesday morning at the latest.

Ed Clements Makes Record On Night Delivery Of Wheat

What is probably the all-time record for night delivery of wheat in Hansford county was recorded by Ed Clements of the Black neighborhood last Saturday night. Mr. Clements had some 9,000 bushels of wheat piled in the fields. The weather looked like rain and Mr. Clements got in touch with Jim McRee who has the contract to haul wheat from ten sections of wheat land that Mr. Clements is harvesting. Jim said, "Well why didn't you say you wanted the wheat in the elevator?" and got busy placing 23 trucks on the haul. Sunday morning the wheat was in the R. L. McClellan elevator instead of out in the wheat field.

State, County Taxes Being Paid Rapidly As Penalty Time Limit Ends

Many Hansford County property owners will save themselves the severe penalty that is to be imposed on delinquent taxes beginning July 1st, by paying up the state and county taxes before the expiration date, July 1st. Tom F. Hunter To Speak At Perryton

Tom F. Hunter, candidate for governor will speak in Perryton Saturday night, beginning at 9:00 p. m. The public is invited to attend the speaking. It is quite an honor for Perryton to secure such a speaker.

Panhandle Voters Give Senator Small Ovation In Opening West Texas Campaign For Governor

Judge J. H. Broadhurst, Hayden Hart of Gruver, S. B. Hale, J. H. Buchanan and Bill Miller of Spearman were delegates from Hansford county, attending the all-day conference and campaign planning of the Panhandle Small for Governor organization held at Amarillo Monday of this week.

Judge Broadhurst and J. H. Buchanan attended the West Texas Young Democrat Banquet held in the evening. The Hansford County delegation was greatly impressed with the activities of supporters of Governor Small, and they come back to this county inspired to perfect an organization that will deliver the majority of the votes in this section to the West Texas candidate for governor.

Evidently the entire Panhandle country is determined to stand behind Small again in his campaign for governor. Every county in the entire Panhandle had representatives at the noon day campaign workers meeting. Plans made at the meeting include not only an active campaign in the West Texas District, but aid in the down state campaign. Each representative present at the Monday meeting pledged themselves to a letter-writing campaign that would inform down state voters of the qualifications and desirability of electing Senator Small for Governor.

The evening address at the city auditorium was broadcast, and many thousands people heard the West Texans claim for office. The synopsis of the address as carried in the Amarillo News-Globe follows:

Judge Sturgeon, Pampa City Attorney, introduced the candidate, Mayor Ross D. Rogers presided as chairman. Senator Small began with a discussion of economy in government. "Everybody wants to see the government operated on the lowest possible expenditure commensurate with the dignity and honor of the state," he said. But the people must remember that the legislature cut appropriations to the bone and there is a point beyond which we cannot go.

"When you consider that 35c of your tax dollar goes to support the educational institutions of the state and 46 cents goes for highway construction, and when we recall that there is only 19 cents left for all other expenditures, we begin to wonder, when these candidates come talking about cheaper government, just where it can be brought about."

Senator Small made clear his position with reference to schools. He said he believes a reduction of the amount of tax money going to education would seriously hamper the schools of the state, he said he wanted to see the per capita apportionment remain at $16, the present figure, and declared for a school term of from seven to nine months at least.

"Therefore, I don't believe we can further economize in governmental expenditures at the expense of our schools. To do so, I believe would be false economy. He took up highway building and again showed how his department is operating at a figure which, if reduced, would impede the highway construction program of the state and at the same time throw hundreds of persons out of employment in Texas.

How To Employ Idle Men "Highway building is one of the most sane, practical methods of absorbing Texas' idle labor. We need to continue constructing our highway systems, and to curtail the tax money going to this department would not be for the best interest of Texas," Small said.

Humanitarian responsibility makes reduction of funds allotted to the eleemosynary institutions of the state out of the question, the senator declared. "On the contrary, conditions arising from the depression make it necessary for us to expand these institutions. There are today some 300 unfortunate persons languishing in the jails of Texas who ought to be in institutions for mental defectives simply because these places are full and overflowing. Friends, we've got to make some provision for them at the next session of the legislature. So when a candidate comes shouting to you about economy, ask him if he is going to economize at the expense of the schools of the state at the expense of the highway construction, at the expense of the state institutions.

From my six years experience as a state Senator, I know that governmental costs can't be materially reduced, whoever is elected governor, and I think the people of Texas will appreciate an honest, frank statement on that score."

Discuss Law Enforcement Senator Small was cheered as he took up a discussion of law enforcement, which he considers the paramount issue in this year's race.

"We hear a lot about lobbying, about utilities, about monopolistic tendencies. But friends, Texas has an anti-lobby law as strong as that of any state in the union. If lobbying is running riot in Texas, it is because the chief law enforcement officer of the state, the attorney general of Texas, has failed to enforce the law.

"The attorney general says he is satisfied with the existing law prohibiting the sale of liquor in Texas. But, although he professes to be a dry, he fails to act against the open saloons and the elaborate gambling houses operating in violation of the law in all the larger cities of the state. I say let's enforce all laws until the people vote to change them!"

JOHN R. SMITH FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Although this newspaper has known for several weeks that John R. Smith of Hutchinson county was a candidate for the office of representative from the 124th Legislative District, it has only today been authorized to make his formal announcement through its news columns. Smith is thirty-eight years old, a former newspaper man, and now owns and operates a printing establishment in Borger. He is a World War veteran, having served almost two years with the Signal Corps in France; and before the war served several years as a telegraph operator and station agent for a number of Southern Railroads.

JOHN R. SMITH

He is now serving as Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 2, Hutchinson county, and has ever been known as one of the leaders of Borger in the efforts of its citizens to rid the town of the wild and irresponsible elements incident to all "Boom" towns. His experience as a newspaper man and writer has placed him in contact with the workings of the legislatures of many states, and the workings of that body are nothing new to him.

In the years 1922 to 1924 his newspaper articles, setting out the evils to which lobbying had grown in the legislatures of the Northwest, attracted considerable attention of all believers in clean and responsible government.

"My investigations have led me to conclude that the greatest evil now facing democratic government of the people, for the people and by the people, is the back-slapping, party-throwing representatives of large special interests, better known to the folks back home as lobbyists. The boys from the forks of the creek who have seldom been flattered or led by their neighbors at home, just literally 'Soak it up' like a sponge, and after about the third slap, and the second 'whine-ding' party they are ready to vote for anything any time the paid agent of 'Big Business' requests them to." is one paragraph that caused the members of a certain legislature to spend hundreds of dollars and waste many hours trying to explain to folks at home, when they were trying to get re-elected.

The paragraph was written by Smith, and published in dozens of newspapers throughout the state of South Dakota at about the time the voters began to wake up to the fact that they had been delivered, hog-tied, drawn and quartered into the hands of the flour milling and banking trusts of the Northwest through jokers that had been slipped into every progressive bill that had ever been passed by the state's law-making body. He knows that often the best sounding bills introduced have nullifying clauses, and contradictory terms, that are both cruel and vicious in their effect upon the social and business life of the state and nation.

Smith's campaign slogan is, "I will represent the people of my district, and not the lobbyists and politicians." He does not wish to detract from any of the benefits that may come from the work of former representatives from this district, but does believe that the records clearly, and unquestionably, indicate a serious lack of good judgment on the part of the present incumbent, so he states.

This lack of judgment according to Smith, can be shown in almost every bill introduced by the present incumbent, and in a surprisingly large number of the votes cast by him during his term of office. Some of the high points in Smith's platform include a revision of the gasoline tax law in such a way that the farmer will be able to make affidavit of exemption at the time the gasoline is purchased, instead of having to pay and then file a claim for a refund. He also will urge the joining of all tax collecting agencies, including city, county, school and state into one office, thereby eliminating needless expense for salaries, records and office equipment, and to make it possible for a man owning property in a number of political sub-divisions to pay all his taxes at one place. He is opposed to private monopolies, without adequate supervision and control by state. He will insist on a revision of certain parts of the trucking law, in order that the needs of the consuming and producing public be better served. He earnestly solicits the support of all friends of good government, and hopes to see as many of the voters as possible between now and election day, but if those he is unable to see, will take the trouble to investigate his ability and trustworthiness he will gladly abide by their final decision.

Churches Will Sponsor Picnic July 12th

Members of the First Baptist Church, the First Methodist Church and the First Christian Church of Spearman will sponsor a community picnic to be held at N. T. N. Park July 12th. The picnic was originally planned for July 4th, but harvest work and the fact that many members of the respective churches are expected to be out of the county on July 4th, caused the committee in charge to postpone the date to Thursday, July 12th.

Mrs. J.E. Womble returned this week after having spent two weeks at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. I. F. Douglas, at Shamrock, Texas. Mrs. Douglas has been seriously ill but is somewhat improved at this writing. Jack Douglas, nephew of Mrs. Womble, returned to Spearman with her where he will visit for several days.

Rogers On Legislative Procedure

I had in mind to write some-pass. No doubt had it gone as thing about legislative procedure the earlier attempt by another for the papers in the ten counties member, (and an old member at of this district immediately after that) to the committee on Con- returning from Austin but got substitution Amendments, mine busy making a garden, and a liv- would have met the same fate. ing, that I did not get to it. It was, after a short but hard may seem like "copyganda" at fight on the floor, it passed the this time, but I trust you to give house by a good margin but fail- this consideration, and hope you can ed in the Senate. In fact we use it.

In meeting people, I am im- House, but it was killed in the pressed with how few have much Senate both times.

Since first consideration of any of an idea how the legislature machinery works. I hope in this short article, to give a few inter- esting points.

Texas is so large, and its peo- ple and interest so diverse, that the number of legislators, 150 house members and 31 senators, is not near so large, proportion- ately, as in many states. Yet this large number makes it difficult for anyone member to exert the influence his people often expect of him. They do not think of him as being only one among 150.

Progress of A House Bill
Bills are filed with the chief clerk or may be offered from the floor. They are numbered and the caption read. This con- stitutes the first reading.

The Speaker refers a bill after a bill after the first reading, to the committee to which in his judgment it should go, under the rules. Sometimes on request, there being no objection, it is sent to a committee of the author's choosing, where he believes it will receive more favorable con- sideration. In practice, the Chief Clerk really acts for the Speaker in assigning bills to committees.

Joint resolutions take same course as bills, with one excep- tion. The Joint Resolution is used only for two purposes; to propose an amendment to the State Constitution, and to consid- er legislation by the Legislature of a proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution. Since many proposals to amend the State Con- stitution occur, and very rarely does the State Legislature consid- er Federal Amendments, it may be seen why, when I introduced H. J. R. No 1, to ratify the amend- ment referred by Congress to the Legislatures, known as the Fed- eral Child Labor Amendment; the Clerk would send it to the Com- mittee of Constitutional Amend- ments.

When I learned that a similar proposal had been killed in that committee at the previous session I wanted mine to go to another committee. There being no ob- jection I appealed to the Speaker and was able to convince him that under the rules, it should go to the Labor Committee to which all matters relating to the welfare and the improvement of the con- dition of all classes of wage ear- ners must go. The Labor Com- mittee gave a favorable report with recommendations that it "do be heard against it if opposed and if he is the author must be present. This explains why it so often appears that a member is absent from the floor when a roll is called and he appears "absent."

In the case of the bill referred to just above, when it was assur- ed that the bill would pass over- helmingly, I left the floor to at- tend to other matters and was absent when it was finally passed without a single "No."

HOW BIG A LUBRICATING JOB CAN A QUART OF OIL DO?

HERE is a record of motor protection and low consumption that conclusively proves how big a lubricating job a quart of oil can do. Six strictly stock cars, with one fill—five quarts only—of six different, nationally advertised motor oils were run to "destruction" at the Indianapolis Speedway under AAA Supervision. Under exactly similar conditions the cars were operated until their motors failed. Here is the result: Oil No. 4 went 1713.2 miles; Oil No. 6 went 1764.4 miles; Oil No. 5 finished 1815.9 miles; Oil No. 1 completed 2266.8 miles. Oil No. 3 totalled 3318.8 miles. Oil No. 2, New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, piled up the amazing total of 4729 miles! That was 3000 miles farther than the first oil to go out, and 1400 miles farther than the last oil to fail.

Such demonstrated superior qualities of greater film strength, ability to withstand increased heat, resistance to dilution—such proved performance should guide your future oil purchases. Be safe—look for the Red Triangle Sign.

Under the codes, strike prevention will be vastly simplified when industries create the form of industrial relations boards suggested by General Johnson to the code authorities. Meanwhile, until self-governing industries, which all of them are, set up such agencies for composing differences with their employees, the National Recovery Administration performs the next best service to the public, by pointedly discouraging strikes and lock-outs.

Last week 41 mills in the knitted outerwear industry in the Philadelphia area, with the endorsement of their code authority petitioned NRA for privilege of working their employees 14 hours a week above the 40 hours prescribed by their code, to take up the productive time lost during a 38-day strike last spring. The applicants explained that they were being hard driven to fill orders for sports wear, summer dresses, and bathing suits, and there was a scarcity of extra skilled workers.

In denying the application, Division Administrator H. O. King said the Administration had adhered to the general rule that it is against policy to grant hours in excess of code provisions because shut-downs due to industrial disputes. It was held that "settlement of such disputes by discussion rather than strikes should be discouraged" and that "exemption designed to minimize for either party the unfortunate consequences of strikes are not in accord with sound policy."

LIQUOR DEAL

As reported by the New York Herald-Tribune, the Government has just figured in an extraordinary proposal. According to this account a syndicate had bought up an amount of bootleg liquor estimated as between forty and fifty million gallons. The proposal made to the government was that the liquor was to be released for sale on payment of Federal and State Taxes. The government has so far refused to legalize any known illicit liquor. In the present case, according to the Herald-Tribune, the President himself refused the offer, insisting that the liquor is undoubtedly illegal and that to accept the proposal would place the Government in the position of compounding a felony.

To the dries still struggling with the peculiar ethics of present legalized liquor, the Government seems to be splitting hairs. If the liquor can meet governmental tests and pays the required taxes, it would seem now to be on the same status with any other stimulant. The argument that the manufacturers must be penalized for running the liquor before repeal does not weigh much, as the present holders have bought up the supply since repeal.

Meanwhile the question remains as to what will be done with the liquor itself? If it is illegal, why does not the Government confiscate and destroy it and thus end the argument altogether? The inference that Treasury agents are unable to locate fifty million gallons of liquor has difficulty in passing muster if the eminent respectability of the negotiators is borne in mind. These gentlemen could hardly have been in a position to refuse to disclose the whereabouts of their holdings.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

A great deal more federal money is to be distributed in various ways designed to get ready cash into the hands of the consumers, within the next few months. It will begin about the first of July, after the close of the Government's fiscal year on June 30, and the present program calls for expenditure at the rate of about $400,000,000 a month, for an indefinite period.

This money will go out through numerous channels. The newest of these pipelines from the Treasury to the individual is the drought relief fund of $525,000,000, to be distributed in the ten states where drought has wrought havoc among all classes of farmers.

Recovery Program Continues
There is still more than a billion and a quarter dollars in the fund for homeloans to distressed mortgagors. Some of this is to be put to work to provide employment in the building trades, by the process of making additional loans for repairs and improvements to property on which home loans have been made or which are eligible for such loans.

Money will go out now faster for public works, under the P. W. A. More of the money will go out to finance rural schools. Still more will be spent to continue the C. C. C. camps. The federal Emergency Relief Administration will put another billion and a half into direct employment and poor relief, mostly through and in cooperation with state and local agencies.

Then there are the payments under the wheat, corn, hog, cotton and tobacco contracts, though much of this does not come directly out of government funds, but is collected through processing taxes and distributed by government agencies. The belief in administration circles is now that it will take about another year of government spending at this rate to stimulate business to the point where private capital will find it profitable to come out of hiding and go to work in productive industry.

Admit Some Slips
It is admitted by the Administration's friends that recovery has not come as fast as had been expected, and that some of the government's projects to stimulate it have not worked. There is also a growing realization that business men and capitalists are not showing any great amount of confidence in the government. Until that confidence returns, there will naturally be little inclination on the part of private capital to risk its money.

Where investments are most needed right now are in the building industry. More than 5,000,000 men, normally, are employed in the building trades.

It has been President Roosevelt's hope that under the carefully worked out plan for insuring mortgage capital against loss, private funds in enormous amounts would become available for new residential construction. It now begins to look as if, while there is a great need for new homes, few people are willing as yet to run into debt to buy or to build houses.

Fair and Reasonable Profits
With Congress out of the way until next January there can be no new legislation, and the nation can take time to set back and evaluate what has been enacted, and find out whether it looks, on the whole beneficial or injurious to private capital and enterprise.

There seems to be a feeling that the President will not willingly use the broad powers granted to him in any injurious way, that he is essentially conservative. In his recent statement expressing his plans for the future he took pains to lay stress on the statement that there is to be no interference with fair and reasonable profits. The Administrations friends believe that as things quiet down during the summer, business men will begin to realize that a good many of the things that have frightened them are bogies, without real power to do them harm. Also it looks as though the whole Administration program has now been disclosed.

High Spots Of New Deal
The Federal Government is now in control of the activities of all of its citizens to an extent that three years ago, would have been deemed impossible in America. Three years ago Congress was debating whether it was any part of the government's duty to share the burden of relief for the destitute. Now it is the accepted thing, with proposals for old age pensions and unemployment insurance on a national scale coming to the fore.

Government is now the only important source of credit on a large scale, and besides its direct loans to industry it owns a billion dollars of preferred stock in the banks of the nation. The government now regulates the issuing and trading in of securities, tells industry what rules must be followed in business, regulates interstate communications, tells the railroads how much they may pay their officials and tells farmers what they can grow and how much of it. Those are the only high spots of the New Deal.

There is little likelihood of any change in the attitude of Congress at the next session. That is there undoubtedly will be a Democratic majority in both houses of the 74th Congress. Whether or not it will eat out of the President's hand as readily as the present Congress is not quite certain. But it certainly will not withdraw any of the powers that have been granted to the President.

WELCH YOUTH KILLED BY INDIANS

I will give you a little sketch of the killing and wounding of Mrs. Welch's children by the Indians. Mrs. Welch lived on what is now known as the Will Billings place on the Clear Fork near Mrs. Alexander's. About the 20th of March 1863 Mrs. Welch sent three of her children to Mrs. Alexander's for a bottle of vinegar. After obtaining the vinegar the children started home, Lizzie Alexander, a pretty little black haired girl, about 10 or 12 years old, was to accompany them for a short distance. The children had gotten only a short distance from the house when they were attacked by six Indians. They first killed the oldest little boy by lancing or spearing him a number of times. Then they lanced the next two several times, but both recovered. One Indian got off his horse and was running after Lizzie Alexander, trying to catch her. The little girl screamed, "run here mama and bring the gun." Mrs. Alexander lost no time. As she went out she reached over her head and got her double-barrel shot gun, ran to the yard fence, leveled the gun on the Indian that was running after Lizzie and exclaimed, "Come here you and let my children alone, or I will shoot your heads off," and they left in a hurry. It was supposed it was their intention to capture the little girl and carry her off, but Mrs. Alexander's thoughtfulness and good judgment saved her little daughter from captivity and no doubt saved the other two children from being killed and scalped.

The Indians went from there to the Rock Knob, went to the top of it and then turned west and left the county without committing any more depredations. This was the first crime committed in this community direct. The Indians had committed quite a number of depredations in the southwest part of the county before this. The entire community was thrown into great confusion, there being no organization for protection of the country, and what few men there were, were badly scattered and poorly armed. By the time the men got together all they could do was to follow the trail until night came and wait until daylight. That would give Mr. Redman a full night's run ahead of them.

After this little raid the people were more cautious. The Civil War began upon us, and this country being pretty well drained of men, times got pretty equally. The people of today do not or can not realize what we old old pioneers had to contend with.

I have lost the whereabouts of Lizzie Alexander. Her name was Mrs. C. H. Edwards when I knew her last.

CHEVROLET ANNOUNCES NEW MODEL SEDAN

Detroit, June 23.—A new kneecap model, the Master Six Sedan, is announced by Chevrolet. It is a four door, five passenger sedan with built-in trunk. New features of appearance and equipment distinguish it from other models of the line.

The newest Chevrolet has the appearance of increased streamlining, through the adoption of a modified roof line, to permit the rear panel to blend smoothly into the lines of the trunk, is made of a single stamping.

Advantage has been taken of all available space to provide a commodious baggage compartment. The trunk is 49 1-2 inches wide, 17 3-4 fore and aft, and 19 5-8 inches high.

The spare wheel is mounted at the rear of the trunk; spare wheels carried in fender wells may be had in order.

To provide protection for trunk spare wheel and fenders, a specially formed bumper with a greater arch is used.

The rear quarter windows differ from those used in all other 1934 models. A no draft ventilation unit, pivoted top and bottom and operated by a T handle comprises the entire window. The vertical ventilator post is eliminated by this design.

Interior equipment includes upholstery of mohair or Bedford cord (optional), arm rests at all seats, adjustable sun deflector, adjustable drivers seat, assist-cords, ash tray in front seat compartment, rear window shade, metal robe rail, carpet covered foot rest, dome light, reversed opening screened cowl ventilator, and Fisher no-draft ventilation. The trunk is provided with two hasps, each of which incorporates a lock, a single key fits both.

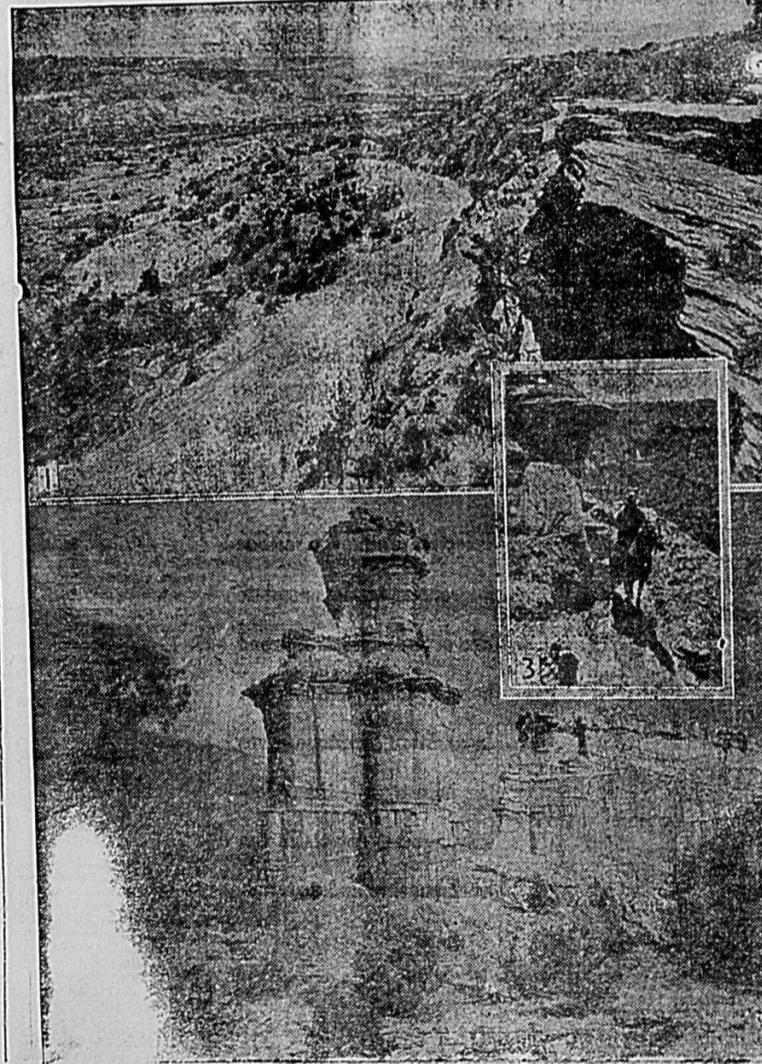

ANVIL PARK RODEO CANADIAN NEXT WEEK

Canadian, Texas, June 26. With the opening date of the Anvil Park Rodeo only a few days off, expert riders, ropers and bulldoggers are gathering at Canadian for their competition in the 12th annual show to be held July 3, 4 and 5, 1934.

The management guarantees that it will be the wildest and wickedest Rodeo ever put on in the Panhandle. Scouts have been busy securing long horned bulldogging steers from east Texas, and the Southwest for Brahma bulls to be used in the riding contest. A number of these cattle have never before been used in Rodeo work. They are plenty wild and fierce. A high fence surrounds the arena, so these wild cattle will not break through. Everybody will be safe on the outside of the arena and in the seats, the pickup man and judges and contestants are going to have to be well mounted to keep out of the way of these cattle.

The Anvil Park Rodeo is not a wild West show, but a real contest rodeo, where no one but real cowhands fresh from the range competes. Contestants come here from all states of the Southwest pay their entrance fees and compete for the handsome prizes awarded in each event. The rodeo is the only sport today that is the outgrowth of an industry.

Marion F. McLain of Sun City, Kansas, producer of annual Labor Day Rodeo in that vicinity has been secured to direct the arena. He has had years of experience, assembled some outstanding strings of bucking horses, and promises a fast, speedy program. The bucking horses for this show are owned by the directors of the association, and it has tak-

Independence!

Since the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776 these United States have made much history. Time and again there have been national crises. And time and again the citizens of the land have risen to a successful conquest of besetting evils, strengthening the deep significance of that first Declaration with each new victory, each new gain. . . And beneath those national victories of which we are so justly proud lies that fine, though intangible thing we call American character! It is the thing that accounts for victories both national and personal—the ability to set a course and keep it. That way lies permanent independence!

Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors, through him that loved us.—Romans 8:37. MORE THAN CONQUERORS? Isn't it enough to conquer? No, not enough. Through him that loves us, we are to be more than mere conquerors. But in what things are we to be more than conquerors? Notice the text says, "Nay, in all these things." What things? These words make their appeal to us because they strike at the very root of all those things that dog our footsteps in all the realms of life. Man is the child of fear. In shadows his pathway from cradle to the grave. It lies in wait for him at every turn of the road. It, must needs, be a great salvation that can lead men to laugh in the face of every foe and defy them to do their worst and that is what Paul does here. "Eternal Light, Eternal Light! How pure the soul must be, When placed within thy searching sight It shrieks not, but with calm delight Can live and look on thee." Sunday School 10 a. m. Sunday Night: Let's swat that "Summer Fall Off" by being in both the B. T. S. and the preaching service. Surely after the two weeks of earnest preaching as Bro. Richards did, we shall be loyal to our Lord's cause by attending the night service as well as the morning service. Help make Sunday night a really great night for the glory of God. Come, we need you!

Sunday School Picnic
Yes sir. We must have a picnic just as soon as the harvest will allow. Let's all get together that we may have one of the largest picnics ever. Come on all ye other churches and join us in an outing for our young folks and ourselves as well. What say ye? Don't forget to give the Lord his part of the wheat harvest! "Honor the Lord with the First Fruits of Your Substance."—Bible.

Prayer Meeting, Bible Study on Wednesday night. We were so glad to have a splendid group at the services Sunday—not as many men as we had hoped to see. We are aware that this is a very busy time, but we want all who can, to attend our services. The theme last Sunday was "Universal Atonement." We are trying to bring some of our prominent doctrines each Sunday morning. Sunday morning we will endeavor to bring another of great doctrines of the church. Our services are brief and we are anxious to make them interesting. We closed a quarter of an hour to twelve o'clock, and shall try each Sunday to do that well. We extend to all strangers, visitor, friend and member a most hearty welcome to all our services Sunday. H. A. Nichols, Pastor.

Birthday Party

Friday afternoon June 22nd at 2:30 o'clock twenty six friends gathered at the home of Nadine Hardin to take part in a birthday party given in her honor. Refreshments were served to the following: Paul Hazelwood, Frank Cook, Peter Vernon, Howard Dean Kelly, Bobby Morton, Herschel Jones, Viola and Joyce Jones, Elinor Faye Womble, Sadie Ruth and Joan and Winnifred Hoskins, Dollie and Leona Sheadeck, Jewel Brandt, Doris Joan and Margory Ellen Russell, Louise Novak, Delores Allen, Carolyn Wilbanks, Mary Alice Campfield, Betty Lou Ellsworth, Rea Roach, and Lora Ann Dodson. Miss Osclee Loftin is visiting in the A. F. Loftin home.

Shower Is Given Miss Mac Richards

One of the outstanding social events of the week, was the miscellaneous shower held at the beautiful home of Mrs. W. M. Glover in South Spearman at five o'clock announcing the marriage of Miss Mac Richards, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Richards formerly of this city, but now of Waco, to Mr. David L. Stinson of that city on July 12, 1934. The rooms throughout were tastefully decorated with cut flowers, of various hues. On the dining room table was an improvised miniature altar of pink and blue with flowing streamers of many colors. As Mrs. A. F. Loftin played softly Lohengrin's Wedding March a little bride, in the personage of Little Joan Hoskins, wearing flowing white satin, with the little miniature altar by the little groom, Master Billy Jack Glover. Little Winnifred Hoskins was train bearer for the bride, she was attired in pink. The little bride and groom marched on and stood in front of the prospective bride, and they taking her by each hand, led her to closed double doors, which when opened, revealed a beautiful blonde girl, Lois Blackburn, attired in a trailing white gown. She made a pretty speech to the honor guests and stepping aside, disclosed a heap of tissue wrapped and prettily tied packages. The bride elect, assisted by her sister, Mrs. J. B. Cooke, unwrapped the gifts, and they were passed among the guests for inspection. Many beautiful gifts were received. Miss Richards deeply expressed her appreciation for the lovely gifts, and endearing words of love and congratulations bestowed upon her.

Mrs. H. A. Nichols gave a delightful reading entitled "Holding a Husband's Love," after which lovely refreshments consisting of iced punch and wafers were served. Mrs. J. P. Richards, sister-in-law of the bride elect, had charge over the register, and at the close found that there were forty-three guests, they were: Mrs. Marvin Chambers, Mrs. Paul Thompson, Mrs. H. B. Towe, Mrs. O. J. Williams, Mrs. J. H. Broadhurst, Mrs. D. W. Holland, Mrs. A. F. Loftin, Mrs. A. H. Wilcox, Mrs. J. M. Laeky, Mrs. Earl Riley, Mrs. Wade Gill, Mrs. Fred Brandt, Mrs. P. M.
