

Goin' Band likely star of last game

Tech's fabulous Goin' Band from Raiderland, directed by Dean Killion, will most likely be the star of the upcoming Tech-Arkansas nationally televised football game.

The Thanksgiving tilt will constitute the final appearance of the season for both the band and the Raider grid team. As the band goes through its rigorous sessions of precision drill, they will no doubt be aware of the importance of an errorless performance before the millions of TV viewers.

We can only hope the football team is equally aware of the importance of TECH BARITONE TO PERFORM—Bill Lucas, assistant professor of music here, will be featured in the guest spotlight Monday at 8:15 p.m. in Municipal Auditorium with the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra. Lucas, who is making his second Symphony appearance, will be performing with soprano Marta Pender and tenor Chris Lachona in a program drawn from the operatic repertoire.

Concert features acclaimed singer

A baritone born on a Louisiana farm who nursed his talent until he sang in the grandest opera houses in Europe will bow for the second time this year with the Lubbock Symphony, today at 8:15 p.m.

The Municipal Auditorium concert features Bill Lucas, who appeared with the orchestra last April for its annual Pops Night. Lucas will perform in "An Evening of Opera," the first such program in Symphony history, along with soprano Marta Pender and tenor Chris Lachona.

LUCAS RECEIVED his B.M. and M.M. degrees from Louisiana State University. But his musical background goes back further than that.

His mother tells him that his first solo was at age three in a church, even though he doesn't remember it, but from that time on, he says, "I was hooked. There was never anything else but music to interest me."

He always intended to perform professionally, and won a rewarding operatic career that spanned two continents: two years in America and eight in Europe.

WHILE OVERSEAS, his performances merited such praise as this: "a warm, vibrant baritone voice, impeccable musicianship, vocal production which is both clear and effortless, and a superb actor," from a Vienna review.

And from Paris: "Full and rich sounding came the baritone voice

Monthly Ag honors revealed by council

Walter Grub, agricultural engineering associate professor, and John Herring, Tulia senior, have been selected as Teacher of the Month and Aggie of the Month, respectively, by the Aggie Council.

Grub was awarded his B.S. from Rutgers University and his M.S. from Cornell University. Prior to coming to Tech in 1966, he was associated with Auburn University, the Louisiana Extension Service, Cornell University and the New York Extension Service.

He is a member of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers and the Poultry Science Association. He has been awarded honors from Gamma Sigma Delta, Alpha Epsilon, and Sigma Xi.

In ASAE, Grub has been Secretary of the Alabama Section, chairman of the Farm Structures Committee of the Southeast Region and chairman of the Farm Structures Committee of the Southwest Region.

Grub's principal research interests include: organic waste

Name dairy may switch

The dairy department may undergo a name change subject to approval by the Board of Regents at their next meeting Dec. 6, said Dr. S. M. Kennedy, vice president for student affairs.

Dr. Juddie Willingham, chairman of the department of dairy and food technology, requested a name change be made.

Willingham said he did not wish to discuss the change because it has not yet been made official.

Kennedy said, "It is an effort by this university to develop real expertise in the field of food technology and food and nutrition, and to develop a food research institute."

It was previously the dairy industry, and is now the dairy and food technology department, but Kennedy said these names are misleading.

"Our principal emphasis isn't on food production any longer," said Kennedy. "This is an effort to catch up with the extent of the program now."

Refining company gives education grant to Tech

A grant of $8,000 was presented to Tech by Humble Oil Education Foundation in the offices of University President Grover E. Murray.

Ken L. Harkins of Humble Oil & Refining Company's Eastern Marine Division staff, Houston, made the presentation to Dr. Murray.

The grant will be divided among the Engineering, Business, and Geology departments, with $3,000 going to Engineering and $2,500 each to the other two.

The gift to Tech was part of a total of $396,000 being awarded by the foundation for the 1969-70 academic year to 94 higher educational institutions nationwide.

Living cost rises as does inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — It cost slightly less last month to put meat and vegetables on the dinner table but other living costs continued upward in the steepest inflation since the Korean War.

And, the government reported Friday, millions of workers had less money to spend in October as inflation and a shorter work-week further shrank the value of the paychecks.

The Labor Department's Consumer Price Index of food, housing, clothing, transportation, medical care and recreation costs rose four-tenths of one per cent to 129.8.

The index based on 1957-59 prices, showed it cost $12.98 last month for every $10 worth of typical family living expenses 10 years ago.

The October rise was a shade less than the average monthly increase so far this year, which is running at an annual rate of about 5.9 per cent.

"The rate of increase in prices has leveled off," said Dr. Joel Popkin, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

But slackening business activity under President Nixon's tight anti-inflation policies led to a 4-minute cut in the average work week of some 45 million rank- and -file workers. The bureau called the cut "a sizable reduction."

Among the largest contributors to the over-all rise in October living costs were new 1970 model cars, up 4.7 per cent, used cars 3.6 per cent, clothing nine-tenths of one per cent, new houses eight-tenths and mortgage interest rates 1.2 per cent.

Ag crop team competes in national crop contest

Texas Tech's Crops team left yesterday to compete in the National Collegiate Crops Contest at Kansas City Nov. 25 and the International Collegiate Crops Contest in Chicago Nov. 29.

Team members are junior Jerry Bigham, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bigham of Lockney; junior Jerry Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Rice of Abernathy; senior John Conner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Conner of Route 3, Seymour; and senior Rex Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harris of Route 3, Colorado City.

They were accompanied by Agronomy Prof. Cecil Ayers, coach.

The team carries to the two contests a tradition of winning in competition involving colleges and universities from over the entire United States, "from as far west as Washington State, Pennsylvania State University on the east, University of Minnesota on the north and Texas Tech University on the south," Ayers said.

Since resumption of the contests following World War II, Texas Tech has led the field in the crops contests.

"Twenty-two National and International contests have been held during the period," Ayers pointed out. "Tech has won first 18 times, second three times and third once at Kansas City. At Chicago, Tech has won first 14 times, second 7 times, and third once."

Tech is the only college to win both the National and International more than three times consecutively. Tech won five consecutive times in the 1952-1956 contests and again in 1962-1966, but broke its own records with consecutive wins in the 1962-1967 contests.

The record was broken again with seven consecutive wins with the 1968 contest. Of the past 34 contests, Tech has been first 30 times. The 30 firsts have usually been by substantial differences over the second place team, Ayers said. The three seconds and one third have been behind the first place team by scores of 4.4 points, 8 points, 12 points and 24.6 points respectively out of a possible 5,400 points.

Ayers said the 1962 and 1964 teams were first in each of the three phases of the contest at both contests. No other team has done this in any one year.

The Kansas City contests started in 1929. The first Chicago contest was in 1923.

Texas Tech teams and individuals during the past 14 years have set 22 out of 24 possible "all time" records in the various phases of the contest, several with perfect scores.

The team and Coach Ayers are expected to return to Tech and Lubbock Nov. 30.

OVERSEERS—D. Burns, left, long time manager of the Pitchfork Ranch and a member of a family which began ranching in Texas in the 1820's, Friday (Nov. 21) was named chairman of the Board of Overseers of the Ranch Headquarters Association, Inc. With him are Overseers Miss Christine DeVitt, representing the Mallett Ranch, and Watt Matthews of the Lamshead Ranch in Albany. The association's Board of Overseers met for the first time at a Lubbock Club luncheon Friday, opening the Ranch Headquarters project at Texas Tech for public support.

$45 million estate presented unassuming Army sergeant

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Bucky Wharton has two hopes. He hopes his seven-year court ordeal is over, and he hopes he doesn't change.

The chances for the first are fair, the second will be up to Wharton.

Army Sgt. Albert Buckman "Bucky" Wharton, 22, was awarded $45 million Wednesday by the Texas Supreme Court as his inheritance of his grandmother's estate—the Electra Waggoner land, cattle and oil fortune.

The Texas Supreme Court upheld lower court decisions giving the property to Wharton. The case has been in the courts since Wharton was 15 when his father, Albert Buckman Wharton II, died, starting a six-way

Ranching group creates project

The Board of Overseers of the Ranch Headquarters Association met at noon Friday (Nov. 21) at the Lubbock Club and constituted the association as a corporation—opening the project for public support—and electing D. Burns, long time manager of the Pitchfork Ranch, as temporary chairman of the board.

Other temporary officers were named, and the board agreed to hold its first annual meeting in the fall of 1970.

The formation of the association was announced by Texas Tech University President Grover E. Murray Sept. 20 at a gathering of ranch people in Snyder.

It was formed, Dr. Murray said at that time, at the request of ranchers to "let everyone have a part in the project to establish an authentic Ranch Headquarters on the site of the new Museum at Texas Tech."

In addition to Burns, the board elected as president, Dr. W. C. Holden, ranch historian and author and professor emeritus at Texas Tech; first vice president, Frank H. Chappell Jr. of the Renderbrook-Spade Ranch at Colorado City and the Chappell Spade Ranch at Tucumcari; second vice president, John F. Lott of the Slaughter U Lazy S Ranch near Post, and secretary, Mrs. W. C. Holden. Ranch Headquarters Director Jerry L. Rogers was named executive secretary.

Chappell was named to head a new committee on fiscal operations. Working with him will be Lott, Mrs. J. E. Blakey Jr. and Charles E. Maedgen Jr.

The first phase of the Texas Tech Museum is scheduled for completion next year, and the Ranch Headquarters Committee already has announced acquisition of five of the historic buildings which will become a part of the outdoor, living museum commemorating the spirit of the men who built Texas' first industry.

Twelve of the 18 initial overseers were present for the luncheon meeting Friday, voting their approval of the articles of incorporation and of the by-laws as they are to be submitted to the general membership at the first annual meeting.

The membership is open to anyone wanting to join the association, with minimal dues of $1 per year for those under 12 years of age and including $5 memberships for single adults and $10 for couples. Other annual memberships range upward to $100, and permanent memberships range upward from $250.

In explaining why the association is open to non-ranch people as well as ranching families, Rogers explained that in the view of the association "a man, like a society, is the sum total of his past." Ranching, so much a part of the history of the Southwest, he said, influenced all the life of the region.

"The tangible reminders of our heritage—the buildings, the objects from the past—give people today a sense of stability, a chronological orientation and a sense of continuity from one generation to the next," he said. "Understanding our historical components helps us to know ourselves."

The corporation was organized, according to its charter, for educational purposes, and members will assist Texas Tech University in "developing, interpreting and maintaining an interest in ranching history."

Properties acquired by the association become the property of the state of Texas when turned over to the Ranch Headquarters, according to the by-laws. Care of items accepted is the responsibility of the university. The depository for historical records and documents will be the Southwest Collection, the regional archive located at Texas Tech.

The association's special interest is in the "restoration and preservation of ranch architecture, ranch furnishings, ranch operational equipment and other items associated with ranching."

The Ranch Headquarters Committee—now designated the Ranch Headquarters Advisory Committee, serving the association—was established in 1966 to investigate the availability of buildings and items for the outdoor museum.
