the employees of The News and their families. No one, not even your editor, has any idea whose picture is to be published each week.

The only sure way we have of getting the correct identity of the Mystery Farm is for the owner to come to The News office and identify the farm as being his or her place. When the owner or operator calls at The News office, he will be presented with a beautiful black and white 5 x 7 enlargement of the above picture. The picture is presented with the compliments of the Santa Anna News and is one of our ways of recognizing farming and ranching of this area for the big business it is.

Even if you are not sure you know the identity of the farm, we urge you to take a guess. All you have to do to enter is either telephone us at No. 45, come by the News office and give us your name and who you think the place belongs to, or drop us a postal card with your name, address and who you think owns the Mystery Farm on it. Either way your name will be entered in the contest and you have an equal chance at receiving the free subscription, if you correctly identify the Mystery Farm.

Bargain Days Are Friday & Saturday

Cubs Drop Two Games And Lose League Lead

The Santa Anna Cubs seem to have gone into a slump and have lost the last two games they played. This has cost them the lead in the Little League Standings, but they have a good chance of getting out of the slump and getting back on top again.

On Friday night of last week, the boys took a 17-11 beating from the Coleman Red Sox and then Tuesday night the Talpa Yankees took a 17-10 game from the Cubs.

However, the Cubs were not the only ones in a slump. Last Friday night the Pony League boys were handed a 17-1 pounding by the Novice Pony League boys. At the beginning of the fourth inning, the score was 1-0 for the Santa Anna Cubs. During the fourth inning, the Novice team started a rally that continued until the game was over.

Little League game results for the past week are:

FRIDAY, JULY 1

Novice 12, Talpa 9
Giants 14, Tigers 11
Red Sox 17, Santa Anna 11

TUESDAY, JULY 5

Talpa 17, Santa Anna 10

Being An Editor Is No Picnic

Publishing a small newspaper is no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly; if we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we stick close to the office all day, we ought to be out hunting interesting things to publish; if we go out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job at the office.

If we don't accept contributions we don't appreciate genius, and if we do print them, the paper is filled with junk!

If we edit the other fellow's story, we are too critical; if we don't, we're asleep.

If we clip things from other papers, we're too lazy to write them; if we don't, we're stuck on our own stuff.

Now, like as not some guy will say we swiped this from some other paper.

National Guard To Leave For Summer Encampment Early Sunday Morning

Members of the local National Guard Company, the Tank Company (90mm) 142nd Infantry, will depart from Santa Anna at 6:00 a. m. Sunday, July 10 by chartered bus for North Fort Hood, Texas, where they will attend their annual summer encampment for two weeks. The company is under the command of Capt. Jesse K. Barton.

The training program will consist of firing small arms during the first week and the second week will be spent in the field where they will go through simulated war conditions. This will be a similar program to what they had the past year.

Sixty enlisted men and three officers will make the encampment. The officers are: Capt. Barton, First Lieutenant Billy J. Harvey and Second Lieutenant Bebe Stark. This is about the same number of men that made the camp last year. However, there has been several changes in the personnel during the years time. About ten men have been discharged and about the same number enlisted.

The company was awarded the Silver Certificate for their exhibitions at the training camp last year. They were rated the second best tank company in the 36th Division. At one practice firing session last year, the local company fired 523 rounds of ammunition out of 600 issued, while their opposing team fired only 77 rounds.

Men who are members of the company now and who were members when the division was organized at the beginning of World War II are: Lt. Billy J. Harvey, First Sergeant John Hensley, M/Sgt. Thomas Wristen and Shag Garrett.

The company plans to return home on July 23rd.

Rural Areas To Get Civil Defense Plan'ing

Austin — Civil defense planning for 1956 is going to take a broader view of probable targets and areas of damage.

This means that more than ever before, rural areas will be affected in the planning of federal, state and local civil defense forces.

William L. McGill, state coordinator of civil defense and disaster relief, said that this doesn't imply any lessening of the probability that critical target areas will be struck in case of enemy attack.

"It does mean that a lot of Texans and a lot of other people across the nation who live in very small communities will find themselves vitally interested in civil defense," he said. "Partly because of fallout, it is conceivable that some citizens of smaller communities will find themselves in as great a danger as those in critical target areas."

Plans for 1956 have been released for publication by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. For the first time, they include the possibilities of surface bursts of atomic weapons and the influence of fallout.

The FCDA warned that "special civil defense measures will be required in the areas of contamination from residual radiation. Compared to the areas seriously affected by heat and blast, these fallout areas will be extremely large and may be affected by radiation intensities so high that most civil defense activities will have to be postponed or conducted with great caution."

McGill pointed out that the problem of fallout affects rural and urban communities alike, since the areas over which it can reach damaging proportions are determined largely by size of the weapon, wind direction and other weather conditions at the time of attack.

FCDA authorities noted that planning is being carried on under the assumption that the Soviet Union can make nuclear weapons of varying yields which range from a few thousand to millions of tons of TNT equivalent. As a result, it is also being assumed that any city attacked with nuclear weapons can be "substantially" destroyed.

The advisory bulletin received by state civil defense headquarters also said it is being assumed that if the United States is attacked, the principal weapons will be nuclear bombs delivered by aircraft or by submarines. It is expected that some of these will be detonated in the air while others will be exploded at ground level.

The great threat of radioactive fallout comes from nuclear devices exploded at ground level.

Vets Urged To Take Nest Egg To School

Veterans starting summer school under the Korean GI Bill may have to wait until late in the summer term for their first GI allowance checks, since under the law it takes about two months for the money to reach them, Veterans Administration said today.

For that reason, VA urged veteran-trainees to bring along a "nest egg" of their own to tide them over for the initial period. Very often an entire summer semester may last no longer than two months, VA said.

Once the GI checks start coming, they will cover every month of training completed, so long as veterans make sure their schools file monthly attendance certificates with the VA.

VA gave these reasons for the length of time it takes to make initial GI allowance payments:

First, the law requires the allowances to be paid after the end of each month of training completed, and not before. Further, payment for an initial period of training of less than a full month may be deferred until the end of the following full month. All that accounts for at least one month's delay.

And second, after the end of the month, the veteran must sign a certification stating he was attending class during the month. The school sends this certification to VA. Usually, a veteran's check should go out within 20 days after the time VA receives the certification. This, roughly, accounts for the remainder of the two-month waiting period.

Colleges throughout the country have reported that many Korean veterans have been coming to school without sufficient funds to tide them over until they get their first GI allowance checks.

This has created unnecessary hardships for many veteran-students. Some have taken advantage of the limited resources of college loan funds, but many more have been hard put to remain in school.

Most of the financial problems could have been prevented, VA said, if the veterans would have remembered to bring money of their own to last until their GI checks arrived.

James M. Cliett Owns Mystery Farm No. 12

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Cliett, daughter and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Neely Evans own Mystery Farm No. 12. The farm is located 6 miles north of Santa Anna on Rural Route 2. The farm is being worked by Mr. Evans and Butch McClure, while the Cliett's are living at Hurst, Texas, where he has employment. The drought here during the past few years have caused a lot of our rural population to have to seek employment elsewhere.

The Cliett's purchased the 114-acre farm from Mrs. Earl Watkins about 8 years ago. It was formerly known as the G. O. Herring home place. Since the Cliett's purchased the farm, they have completely remodeled and modernized the house, built a garage, screened in the front porch, built a large tank, and terraced the 100 acres in cultivation. They also fixed an all weather road from the highway to the house.

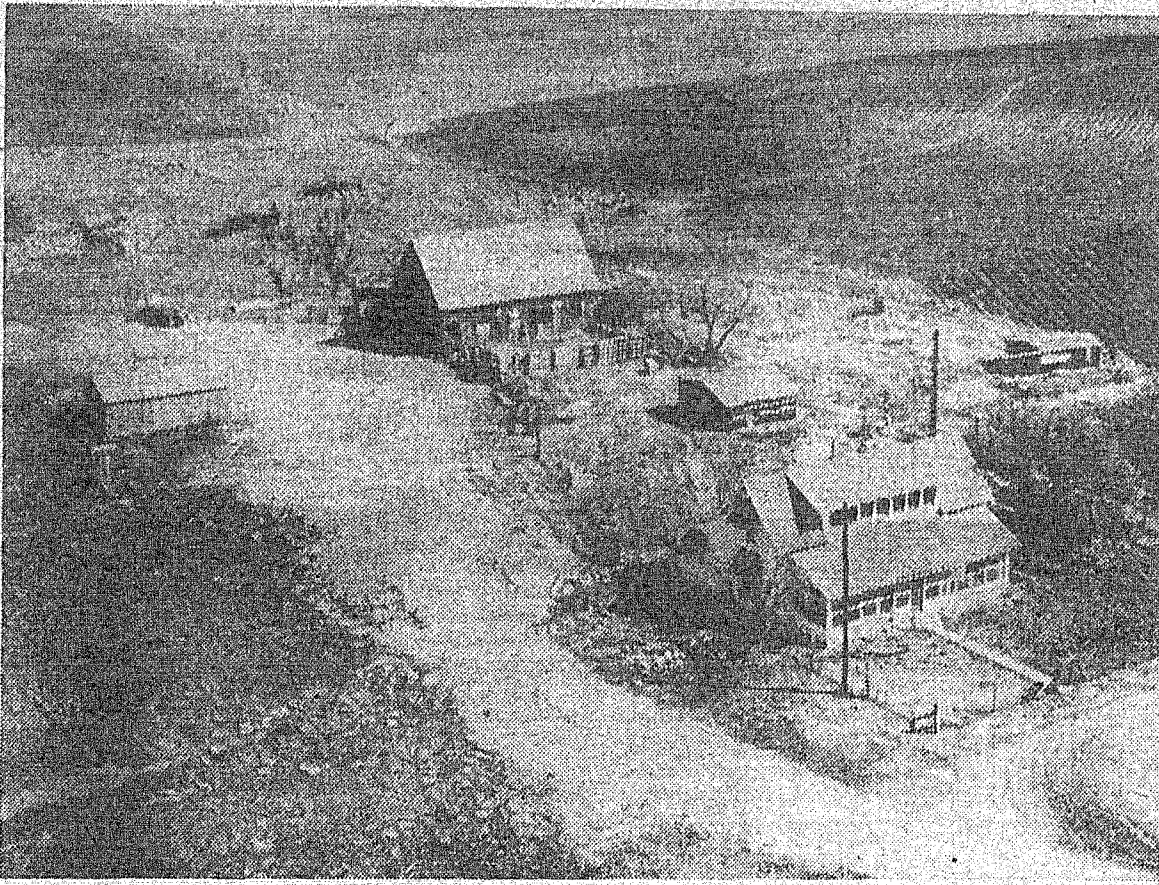

Information is not available just when the place was put in cultivation, but it was probably several years before the turn of the century. The Herrings lived on the place for better than 20 years.

Mrs. Cliett was Evelyn Evans before her marriage on May 2, 1942 to James M. Cliett. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cliett of Hillsboro, Texas. Mr. Cliett's father was a good friend of Mr. Herring before he came to this part of Texas. The Cliett's have one daughter, Molly, who was 11 years old on July 7th. They are members of the Baptist Church.

Mr. Evans is working about 65 acres of the Cliett farm. This part was sowed in small grain last fall and because of the drought and hard freeze in the spring, it did not make enough to harvest. Most of it has been replanted now and is being used to graze about 20 head of cattle. Mr. Evans and Mr. Cliett are raising together. Butch McClure is working the other 35 acres and all of that is in cotton. All the farm work is being done by tractors.

There has not been any fertilizer used on the farm in the past few years, but during times when the weather permitted, they used fertilizer and got good results from it. Plans are being made to use more fertilizer when the weather permits.

As a livestock supplement, they use a lot of kale and hay.

The Clietts plan to arrive at their home about July 15 to spend a two weeks vacation.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

O. C. FISHER

The House passed a Reserve training bill and a foreign aid measure last week before recessing for the July 4 week-end. The reserve bill had been bogged down because of an amendment offered several weeks ago to the original bill. The amendment offered by the negro Congressman from Harlem, which would have forced desegregation of National Guard units, was tentatively adopted and that forced the bill to be pigeon-holed. In the meantime the President appealed to the colored member not to persist in his move; but the latter, flushed with initial victory, said Eisenhower had bad advice and didn't know what he was talking about. The President had insisted that a civil rights amendment to the bill was "extraneous", and was the wrong time and place for that issue to be fought out. He said the move jeopardized national security.

Anyhow, the new attempt to wreck the National Guard, which except in time of national emergencies is under control of the respective Governors, failed when the Harlem member's new attempt was voted down this time by a two-to-one margin.

The 3½ Billion Foreign Aid bill also sailed through the House after lengthy debate. While I strongly favor some portions of the program, such as further military supplies for Pakistan, Turkey and others known to be in need and worthy of our help, I voted against the package bill because of a number of aid items which I felt was unjustified. For example, the $70 million hand-out earmarked for India. And the aid to Yugoslavia, I feel, should be re-examined in view of Tito's love-dovey attitude toward the Kremlin of late. Should we send more jets to Tito until and unless we have more definite assurance of which side he is actually on? Maybe he will stand firm against capitulating to Moscow, but his recent behavior calls for an explanation and certain assurances that have not been forthcoming.

Mrs. Marvin Green and son, Terry, of Corpus Christi, came on Thursday night of last week and visited over the 4th with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McGahee.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bowden of Brownwood were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Burden on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott and their two sons, of Hobbs, New Mexico, visited here on the 4th with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Standly. They were returning home from a visit with his mother at Port Arthur.

Jackie and Willene Schulle of Watonga, Okla., returned home last Sunday after spending two weeks with their grandmother, Mrs. J. J. Gregg.

Electricity Can't Think — But You Can

by L. C. Meyer
Electric System Specialist
Accident Prevention Department
Employers Mutuals of Wausau
Did you ever turn on the electric stove and have the radio slowly turn red, while music started coming from your refrigerator? Or plug in the toaster and have the oven door light up with "I Love Lucy"?

Of course not — because electricity is dependable. If wiring and appliances are in good, safe condition, we will get the result we expect when we snap a switch, plug in an appliance, or turn on a motor.

There are danger signs to heed and precautions to take if electricity is to continue being a safe, dependable servant. A spark or a flash occurring where it shouldn't is a warning of trouble that should be investigated immediately, as it might start a serious fire if the cause isn't remedied.

The first tingle of shock that you feel when a switch is turned on or an appliance is touched is another serious warning to heed — because the second shock could make you feel like the roof caved in!

A shock is usually an indication that a "hot" wire has become grounded or is touching the frame of the device or appliance. Further, it is a condition that will grow worse rather than improve.

Appliances such as washing machines, water heaters and stoves should be properly grounded. Portable electric tools used in garages or basements should also be grounded.

Everyone knows the potential danger of frayed extension and lamp cords. Overloading circuits lowers the voltage and may cause fire if proper-sized fuses are not used.

Where electricity causes injury or fire, don't blame the electricity; blame the person who forgot, overlooked or failed to heed a significant warning.

Electricity provides many comforts and conveniences. Thanks partly to its power, former luxuries are now necessities. In order to continue enjoying these benefits, heed all warnings and observe all precautions. Let smoke curl from the chimney of your home rather than from between your walls! By being careless, you may find electricity lighting up your eyes and ears instead of your tools and appliances — which would be a painful and not too efficient result!

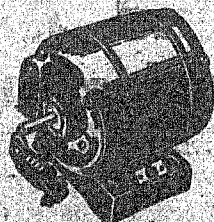

Treat electricity with respect — it is an excellent servant but a totally heartless master. Always remember that electricity can't think — but you can!

Car Ban At University of Texas

Austin — University of Texas freshmen, except Travis county residents and the physically disabled, are forbidden to own or operate automobiles here beginning next Sept. 1.

Beginning Sept. 1, 1956, sophomores also come under the no-car ban, ordered by the Board of Regents for the Main University where 17,500 or more students are expected for the 1955-56 long session.

Tom Sealy of Midland, regent chairman, said the Board's action was on recommendation of the administration and faculty committees, and was "occasioned by the death of parking space and the extremely crowded traffic conditions and congestion now existing at the campus of the Main University."

University President Logan Wilson said the regulation not only will help alleviate the parking situation, but is "considered by the faculty and staff to be a desirable move from an academic point of view."

The office of the dean of student life, the administrative council and other University groups endorsed the idea, Dr. Wilson explained.

"It should be pointed out," he said, "that many leading institutions in the country have had to come to this and even more restrictive measures. I believe the reasoning behind this regulation will be widely understood and accepted by students as well as parents."

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Gregg and children, Helen and Joe, of San Antonio, visited from Saturday until Monday with his mother, Mrs. J. J. Gregg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Closs visited recently with Garland Closs and family in Austin. They brought June and Gean home from a visit there. While gone they attended funeral services for an uncle.

Carolyn Pringle of La Marque and Marti Lehnis of Brownwood visited several days last week with their grandmother, Mrs. G. F. Bartlett. She had returned home early last week from a visit of several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. O. J. Walker and family at Shamrock.

DRIVE TO ARRIVE ALIVE

"Drive to arrive alive!" There's a lot of good common sense packed into that short, catchy slogan the Texas Safety Association, the Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council are using for their vacation driving program this month.

After all, when a driver starts out on a motor trip his goal is to get where he's going and to get there healthy and happy so that he can have some fun. It would certainly defeat his purpose if a careless driving necessitated a detour to the hospital — or worse!

What kind of driving, then, should he adopt to get him to his destination alive — and in good health and spirits?

To begin with it should be courteous driving. The courteous driver is pleasantly relaxed, gives other drivers a break and is always prepared to yield the right of way to prevent accidents. His behavior is in sharp contrast to that of the selfish Hurry Bug who drives along the road with no thought for others. The Hurry Bug is intent on getting to his destination — and heaven help anyone who gets in his way. Don't be a Hurry Bug, make courtesy YOUR code of the road!

Another characteristic of the kind of driving we're talking about is that it's law abiding driving. The intelligent driver knows that in order to stay safe he must stay within the law. He familiarizes himself with the laws of the area through which he intends to drive, and when he drives through that area he OBEYS the laws.

The third major consideration is that driving should be geared to conditions. A motorist should always drive at a speed that's safe for prevailing conditions — conditions of weather, the road, the car, and his own physical and mental state. If he's smart, a driver knows that any adverse condition calls for application of the rule: "Slow Down and Live!" That about sums up the message contained in the July slogan, "Drive to Arrive Alive!" Unfortunately, many motorists will probably consider themselves too smart to follow its advice. To their sorrow they may arrive in a badly battered condition — or they may not arrive at all. Don't let this happen to you!

Every Community Should Be Clean And Healthy

Austin — Every Texas family needs the assurance that it is living in a clean and healthy community, according to Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health. The family needs the assurance that when disease threatens, there will be a local health agency ready to combat it on a community wide basis. Texas now has 47 full time city and county health units covering 57 counties. These 57 counties have 62% of the State's population.

An adequately staffed and financed local health department provides six basic services to the citizens of the town or county. It keeps public health statistics, controls communicable diseases, promotes maternal and child health, enforces environmental sanitation, operates a public health laboratory and works to educate the community for better health. Each local health department will of necessity differ from others and the most effective public health program must be "tailor made" to fit the particular health needs and problems of its own community.

At present 197 counties in Texas do not have full time health protection. Dr. Holle has as one of his goals complete health protection in every county of the state. Some counties now have a large enough population to provide this service but for counties having sparse population, two or more could pool their resources and have the advantage of up to date public health methods.

Dr. Holle points out that giving full time health service to the entire state will require a substantial increase in the expenditure of funds for public health purposes. In his opinion this is the best investment any community can make. Although great strides have been made in maternal and infant health and in disease prevention, Texans cannot be content with less than complete eradication of preventable deaths. A state in which local health services are available everywhere is an important step toward this goal.

CHICK CHATS— Why Feed The Chicken Worms

You can give your farm chicken flock a break by getting rid of those worms that infest most flocks at one time or another.

Whether you have a small flock or a large one, worming your birds is easy today. And profitable to you because of the better health of all your birds. Ideally, your chickens should be wormed regularly during the summer months. Chances are they pick up a lot of worms while on the range. These worms keep the chickens from digesting feed as they should. They also hold back growth at a time when the birds should be growing as much as possible. They may weaken the flock's resistance to disease, making it easier for such a disease as bluecomb to attack this fall.

The risk of damage from worms isn't worth taking because there are good wormers that do a good job in your flock. You may want to use an individual wormer. This is simple, accurate, and you can worm a small flock in no time. Just put the tablet in the bird's mouth, see that it goes down the gullet. This kind of worming treatment involves little time because you are probably getting ready to put your pullets into the laying house anyway. Individual treatments are effective against large roundworms, cecal worms, and tapeworms. You can get products designed for each of these species of worms. . . . Others that work against a combination of them.

Wormers For Drinking Water

If you like the method, you can also get wormers that are put into the drinking water. They have an appeal to many poultrymen because they are so simple to use and work equally well on any size flock. Flock owners say they rid the flock of 90 percent of the large roundworms. Within a short time after putting these wormers into the drinking water, they begin their work of removal of the large roundworms.

Wormers may put a stress on your flock but you don't have to worry about any noticeable holding back on growth or any slow-up in the rate of egg production. Once rid of the worms, your birds feel better, actually increase their egg production in many cases.

Whether you use the individual treatment or the drinking water treatment it pays to get rid of worms this summer. Housing a flock infected with worms isn't good business. A breakdown of the chickens' health later on isn't worth taking the risk now.

New Army Program Goes Into Effect

As previously announced by the Department of the Army, the Army's new noncommissioned officer-specialist program goes into effect on July 1.

The program provides that noncommissioned officer identification and status be given only to enlisted personnel holding leadership positions. A separate category of enlisted personnel, called specialists, includes those who have technical and administrative skills.

Designed to increase the prestige of the noncommissioned officer by restoring him to his traditional position as the backbone of the Army, the program will also preserve the respect properly due the specialist.

Separation of the NCO from the specialist is made in the top four pay grades. On the conversion no one will lose pay.

Effective July 1, titles in the top four enlisted grades are as follows:

NONCOMMISSIONED OFFICER
Master Sergeant
Sergeant 1st Class
Sergeant
Corporal

SPECIALISTS
Master Specialist (MSP)
Specialist 1st Class (SP1)
Specialist 2nd Class (SP2)
Specialist 3rd Class (SP3)
Private and Private First Class ratings remain the same.

New rank insignia will accompany the change for the specialists. The present noncommissioned officer stripes will remain.

News From The State Health Dept.

Austin — Texas' 1954 baby crop turned out to be the biggest on record, the State Health Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics reported Thursday.

The 240,209 live births registered for the year was an all-time high rate of 28.4 births for every 1000 population, bureau statisticians said.

Most of the new babies were boys — 104 for every 100 girls — the summary said, but 861 more male babies than females died during their first year.

"The attrition against the male sex goes on steadily through infancy, childhood, adolescence, maturity, and old age," a statistician commented.

How many mothers of 1954 babies were residents of Texas at the time of the blessed event is not yet known, but every one of the babies are bona fide Lone Star citizens by virtue of state law.

While birth rates were soaring to unprecedented high levels, deaths from selected causes were being cut to the lowest points in history.

"Last year saw the total death rate (7.7 per 1000 pop.), the infant mortality rate (31.0 per 1000 live births), the maternal mortality rate (0.6 per 1000 live births), and the stillbirth ratio (17.3 per 1000 live births) at new all-time lows," the report indicated.

In addition to the reductions posted in infant and maternal deaths, the report said the past two decades have witnessed drastic reductions in deaths from diseases affecting the general population.

There were 99 percent fewer deaths from each of typhoid fever, diphtheria, malaria, and pellagra last year than in 1934. Scarlet fever rates have been cut by 98 percent from the rate 20 years ago. Ninety-six fewer deaths from each of whooping cough and measles are occurring today than occurred in 1934.

Influenza is claiming 90 percent fewer victims today than it did 20 years ago, while tuberculosis is killing 84 percent fewer people than the 1934 rate. Syphilis rates have been cut 81 percent.

Pneumonia, including pneumonia of the newborn, and intestinal disease, including diarrhea of the newborn, are both 66 percent less of a threat to human life than they were two brief decades ago.

On Friday afternoon, July 1st, the 20th Century Club met with Mrs. W. E. Vanderford. This was the once a month social meeting and some were doing hand work. Having a standing invitation to spend the day sometime soon with Mrs. Eva Conley in Temple, this matter was taken up and it was voted, if it meets with her approval, to make the trip on Friday, July 29th, leaving Santa Anna at 5:30 in the morning.

The hostess assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Warren Aldridge and Mrs. Bill Pritchard, served refreshments from the white linen laid dining table. TEST LIFESAVING FUEL TANK

Rubberized nylon has been made into an airplane fuel tank designed to resist rupture at high crash speeds. The tank successfully passed a recent test during which it was filled with water, encased in an airplane wing, and catapulted 300 feet into a steelbacked sandbag barrier. Since many crash victims survive the impact only to die in flames when fuel tanks explode, the new rupture-resistant tank is expected to save many lives. Oil products provide safety engineers with many of their most useful materials.

SPOT OILING OF JOHNSONGRASS GIVES 99 PERCENT KILL

Farmers can now get rid of Johnsongrass completely without swinging a hoe.

Spot application of diesel and naphtha-type oil sprays is proving a practical answer to row crop control of Johnsongrass. At College Station four treatments of such oils killed 99 percent of all Johnsongrass in cotton stands in one season. Four trips over a similar field with hand hoes eliminated only 44 percent of the grass.

Homer E. Rea, agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station who has been working with various Johnsongrass killers, believes that successful spot oiling of Johnsongrass is highly significant.

"It does away with intensive hand labor methods which few farmers can afford these days," Rea said.

Varsol 1, Lightfoot 23, No-weed Oil, Lion 1 and Flit 38 are among commercial preparations to use. An ordinary knapsack sprayer applying a half and half mixture of one of these oils and diesel fuel will do the job, Rea explained. About one-third of a teaspoon of oil mixture on the stem near the base of each plant is sufficient for results. Best kills are obtained on young grass.

Within hours after the initial treatment Johnsongrass usually is shriveled and killed to ground level. To completely eradicate the roots and prevent later resprouting repeated oilings at intervals of seven to 10 days may be necessary. This usually means four to six treatments.

Rea has the cost of application figured at $14.10 an acre, counting oil and labor. The cost, of course, will vary with the amount of oil used and the intensity of Johnsongrass infestation.

COOL OFF AT THE POOL, 2 miles west of Coleman.

Warlike Indians are believed to have known a secret exit to Texas Longhorn Cavern, near Burnet. They often used the cave as a sanctuary, holding many white captives there. The secret exit to this day has not been discovered.

Lots of people have great aims in life, but never pull the trigger.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Habakkuk.
Devotional Reading: Habakkuk 3:2-4, 17-19.

God In Dark Days
Lesson for July 10, 1955

SOMETIMES we envy the serene faith of the prophets of old. If so, it shows we have not read the prophets carefully, for some of them had a faith that was anything but serene. Jeremiah was one of those. Habakkuk was another. Habakkuk lived during the dark days at the end of the time of the little kingdom of Judah. Reading his opening lines, one might think he had been reading our morning papers in 1955. "Why dost thou make me see wrongs and look upon trouble? Destruction and violence are before me; strife and contention arise. So law is slackened and justice never goes forth..." Why does God let such things go on?

Dr. Foreman

This Is Hard To Believe

Habakkuk asked the same question; and got an answer from God that the Lord told him he would hardly believe. Not only was the local scene, in Jerusalem and Judea, dark with violence and injustice, but the farther horizon was darker still. Out of the east the newly resurgent Babylonian empire was rising. Now empires seldom rise peacefully. They come to power with the uproar, and the agonies of war. Empires arise by crushing smaller kingdoms, and Babylon was no exception. If you had asked any wide-awake Hebrew of Habakkuk's time, "What is the greatest national danger you see threatening your country?" he would probably have said: "The imperial ambitions of Babylon." Most Hebrews would have said that the Babylonians, or Chaldeans as they are often called, were the enemies of God's people. But Habakkuk is told something God says is hard to believe: "I am raising the Chaldeans." That bitter, hasty, terrible, violent, godless nation, whose only god was their own might, God was arousing that nation to punish Judah for Judah's sins. What was God going to do about the violence and injustice in Judah? He was going to wipe it out, wipe it off the face of the ground... and use the Chaldeans to do it with.

Is The Remedy Worse Than The Disease?

We can see from reading the second part of Habakkuk's first chapter, that he could not understand, at first, how God could do such a thing as arousing the Chaldeans. How can God use devilish men to accomplish divine purposes? Is it conceivable that a God who is the Holy One, who cannot look on wrong,—is it conceivable that such a God would be silent while the ruthless and cruel armies of the invaders were capturing men and treasure, cities and villages, as a fisherman takes everything in his net? Nevertheless it has often been true that God's good purpose has been set forward by men who did not know nor obey him. When Joseph's brothers sold him into Egypt as a slave, they intended no good by it. Their only motives were greed, cruelty, jealousy and revenge. But God brought good out of it. War is a terrible thing; but as Lincoln suggested, it is quite possible to believe that the horrors of a civil war are God's way of punishing a nation for the injustice of slavery. If a nation will not listen to its true prophets and repent, God can use sterner measures.

Faith Endures

Habakkuk, pursuing bravely his questioning of God, comes out at last to two illuminating thoughts which the Lord gave him. (It may be noted in passing that sometimes the questioning mind gets answered when the unquestioning mind does not.) One is that in dark days, when God is not to be seen, the man of faith must wait. "God does not settle all his accounts in October." The answer to life's riddles is not always given immediately. God's signature can be seen at the end, though not always do we recognize his handwriting at first. The other thought was this: The man of faith must not give up his faith. For faith has the power of enduring life. God may use a "bitter and hasty nation" to punish another sinful one. But God judges all nations, Chaldeans and Judeans alike. Seen in the light of history, we can perceive as a fact what Habakkuk could see only with his inward eye: that the God-defying conquering Chaldean nation would vanish soon without a trace, while the little conquered people of the Hebrews would survive, because in them was the undying seed of faith. Prospects are somewhat brighter now towards curtailing any further spread of two of Texas' primary crop-destroying noxious weeds.

The Texas Legislature in its recent session passed a measure making it unlawful to offer for sale any seed containing traces of nut grass or field bindweed.

Although nutgrass has been present in East Texas fields for many years, its spread across the state has been alarming in the past 20 years. Field bindweed, virtually unknown in Texas 20 years ago, has crept into the state through interstate seed sales from Oklahoma and New Mexico. It has already rendered thousands of acres of once productive land practically useless.

The new seed provisions, amending the Texas Seed Act, also cut down the permissive presence of many other weeds in commercial seeds. These noxious weeds are divided into two groups: "primary" and "secondary". With exception of nutgrass and field bindweed which are totally prohibited, "primary" weeds in excess of 100 weed seed per pound are barred from sale.

"Secondary" noxious weeds in excess of 200 weed seed per pound are prohibited from sale.

This means that presence in commercial seed or more than 100 seeds-per-pound of dodder, curled dock, blueweed, Canada thistle, or Johnson grass — all primary weeds — makes such seed unsalable. However, crops containing Johnson grass in excessive quantities may be sold when labeled "Pasture Mixture."

Secondary noxious weeds, or weeds that can be controlled by good cultural practice in spite of their objectionability, include such familiar species as Russian thistle, Bermuda grass, wild oats, wild onion and garlic, wild carrot, wild mustard, goat grass, puncturevine (goat head), cocklebur, and wild radish. Their prohibition in excess of 200 weed seed per pound of commercial crop seed does not of course, entail prohibition of cultivation of any one for domestic purposes, such as the use of Bermuda grass as a lawn covering.

These new seed law provisions, now in effect, also provide that seed offered for sale must be tested every nine months, instead of once a year as required by previous statutes. This further tightening of Texas seed laws is aimed primarily at making Texas seed restrictions conform to those of surrounding states and to keep our crops free from unnecessary pollution.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON

The necessity for thinking based on spiritual laws rather than changeable physical beliefs will be stressed at Christian Science services this Sunday. On the subject "Sacrament," readings from the King James Version of the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be included.

The following passage will be among those read from Science and Health: "Ask yourself: Am I living the life that approaches the supreme good? Am I demonstrating the healing power of Truth and Love? If so, then the way will grow brighter 'unto the perfect day.' Your fruits will prove what the understanding of God brings to man" (p.496).

From the Bible will be read this passage in Psalms (139:23, 24): "Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me, and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting."

FEWER EGGS, HIGHER PRICES FORECAST FOR FALL

Production from egg laying flocks is expected to dip five percent or more this fall below the same period last year commanding at least seasonal and perhaps higher prices for producers.

"Farmers have raised 10 percent fewer replacement chicks this year," John G. McHaney, extension farm economist, explains. It appears that fall flocks will be six to eight percent smaller than a year ago.

While the number of replacement chicks started over the nation closely parallels farmer's February 1 intentions, in Texas and other South Central states the cutback has exceeded the expected 15 percent mark.

Poultrymen who bought replacement stock during the first four months of 1955 will profit most from the situation because of high egg yields at times when prices are more favorable.

The economist suggests that raisers starting chicks next September still may take advantage of some of the expected favorable prices during the second quarter of 1956.

Austin — School-age children of Texas will be given a second round of polio inoculations before the month ends.

Assurance has been given State Health Officer Henry A. Holle, by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, that manufacturers of the vaccine will have completed production and safety testing of enough vaccine to permit another round of inoculations and booster shots by the end of July.

Fifty five new cases of polio were reported for the latest reporting period, which ended June 25. It brought the state total to 509.

Austin has had 12 cases to date.

Draft Evader Sentenced Two years in the federal penitentiary face Fred D. Jackson of Comanche.

He was sentenced by Federal Judge Ben H. Rice, Jr., when convicted of draft evasion. Jackson handled his own defense.

Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Lonny Zwelner, said that the Jehovah Witness minister refused to work in the Austin State Hospital when ordered to by his draft board — in lieu of military service. Yet he admitted working in a Fort Worth plant that manufactured military aircraft.

Adrian Case Delayed Federal Judge Ben H. Rice, Jr., has postponed until next January a hearing to determine if 75-year-old John Cass Adrian of Austin is "mentally incompetent."

Adrian is a retired Austin mail carrier and Spanish American War veteran.

He is charged with writing a threatening letter to Former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles on May 13, and attempting to extort $800,000 from Giles.

Parr Appeals George B. Parr, "Boss of Duval County", has asked the US 5th Circuit Court of Appeals for permission to file two writs in his fight against charges of income tax evasion.

Parr wants the higher court to vacate an order setting his trial for July 18, and to stop proceedings until the Appeals Court reaches a decision.

Also, he wants the case heard in Laredo. Originally it was scheduled for Corpus Christi, then moved to Austin.

Parr has denied the government's charges that he failed to pay $85,000 in income taxes for the years 1949, 1950 and 1951.

Career Ends Rep. George S. Berry of Lubbock, whose career in public office began 30 years ago, died in Austin last Friday. He was injured in an automobile accident on May 20.

Berry, who was 56, was serving his second term as a member of the Legislature. His first public office was as county attorney of Young County. Later he became assistant district attorney, and for a short time was assistant attorney general.

He was born in Granbury and moved to Lubbock in 1929.

School Squabble A 1000-name petition was presented to Dr. J. W. Edgar, State Commissioner of Education, urging him to cancel certificates of the 110 teachers who struck in the recent school row in Irving.

Filing the petition were Clifford J. Moore and Donald O. Starrett, president and director, respectively, of the Council of Public Affairs at Irving.

They were advised by Dr. Edgar to have an attorney file a brief, supporting their contention, and if he decides he has jurisdiction, then each of the teachers involved will be granted individual public hearings.

Irving teachers struck in protest against the firing of Dr. John L. Beard as superintendent of the old Irving school board. When the district was abolished, and a new one created, the new board rehired Beard.

Dr. Edgar ruled earlier that the Irving school board did not have proper cause for canceling Dr. Beard's contract as superintendent.

Scouts Expand Program Plans are being made for a 40 per cent expansion of the Boy Scout movement in Texas.

Over 100 Scout officials met here to outline a fund drive to be launched Oct. 25. Howard W. Tellepsen of Houston directed the meeting. He is executive vice president of the steering committee.

Patrolmen-Guards Needed Two types of openings exist on the state's payroll.

Homer Garrison, head of the Department of Public Safety, needs 200 patrolmen and O. B. Ellis, general manager of the Texas Prison System wants additional guards.

Applicants must be high school graduates in excellent physical condition. Patrolmen must be between the ages of 21 and 25; guards 21 to 50.

Starting salary for guards is $2700 a year. Patrolmen are paid $275 a month during training; $306 at the end of school; and $315 after six months employment.

Application blanks may be obtained for the prison jobs by writing the General Manager's Office, Texas Prison System, Huntsville; and for patrol jobs by writing to W. J. Elliott, Chief of the Texas Highway Patrol, Department of Public Safety, Austin, or any Highway Patrol District Office.

Texas had 397 drownings last year, most of them from failure to take sensible precautions, says Dr. Henry Holle, State health officer.

State cigarette tax income in June dropped off $38,021 and liquor taxes $32,808, compared with the same month last year, reports State Treasurer Jesse James.

May building construction in Austin showed a gain of 15 per cent over April, or more than double the 7 per cent increase shown throughout the 11th Federal Reserve District. Austin construction also showed a gain of 20 per cent over May 1954.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gilkerson and their two sons, Harvey and John, of Hillsboro, were week end visitors here in the Mark Davis home. Mr. Gilkerson is remembered as our former band director.

Mrs. Cecil Richardson of Graham entertained her daughter, Cathy, with a party on her second birthday, Saturday, June 25th, at their home. The circus theme was carried out in decorations and refreshments. Cake and ice cream were served to the following: Myron and Kay

Supporting Your Town

Merchants who do not advertise are invited to read the following from the American Bankers Magazine, as it might give you a new slant on business, your own business, as well as the matter of building your town.

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own, is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

IT'S THE LAW in Texas A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

THE DEBT IS OUTLAWED

John hadn't made any payment on an open account of his grocery bill for two and one-half years. He was not a dishonest man, but was just a poor manager. After several years, the groceryman sued for the bill.

John's attorney interposed the defense of the statute of limitations, and the groceryman was denied judgment. Yet there was no question but that John owed the money. One may ask why the laws permit such a defense as the statute of limitations, or outlaw an otherwise valid claim.

The groceryman slept on his rights. He should have acted sooner. The courts cannot be used for processing stale claims. Proof of such claims is more difficult. One litigant might wait for the only adverse witness to die, and then sue. Memories grow dim and sometimes are modified to fit one's desired views. So the law says it is no injustice to force a litigant to act within a reasonable time, whereas if he doesn't, injustice is more likely to happen.

Practically all actions have time limitations. With some it is very short, as some claims against a municipality require that notice to the municipality must be given within ten days after the accident. On the other hand there is a 25 year limitation applying to some types of claims involving rights to real property.

Even criminal actions must be brought within a certain period, usually two to three years. An exception is a murder charge, which may be brought at any time.

Lawyers use the word "laches" in certain cases to indicate that the litigant slept on his rights and should be denied relief since "equity aids the vigilant".

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because, the facts may change the application of the law.)

ROCKWOOD H. D. CLUB

Rockwood H. D. Club met in regular meeting with President, Mrs. Tom Bryan, in charge. Old business was attended to. The 4-H girls gave a demonstration on fruit salad with a special dressing which was served to the members later. They demonstrated individual salads which were very attractive as well as nutritious.

The Club presented the girls with gifts to show their appreciation of their time and effort.

Mrs. Tom Bryan and Mrs. Williams served cookies and punch to the girls, Judy Bryan, LaQuinn Cooper and their leader, Mrs. Jack Cooper. Also, Mrs. Iris Heilman, Mrs. Bryan, Mrs. Jake McCreary, and Mrs. Aubrey McSwane.

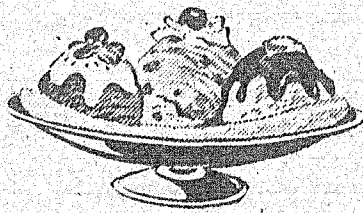

Mrs. W. A. Brandon visited several days near the week end with a brother, Joe English, near May. Mr. and Mrs. Alton Brandon and family of Wichita Falls came to spend the week end holidays with the home folks and he went for his mother and brought her home.

Fourth of July visitors with Mrs. A. L. Oder were her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Herring of Austin and a son, Clifford and wife and their three children, Virginia, Jimmie, and John David of Longview.

This is a heavy price to pay for pasturing private stock on public highways but it will be paid year after year until the drivers demand a stock law that will provide authority, facilities and personnel for counties to impound and sell untethered stock on highways.
